Southwestern at Memphis

37th Year

MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1955

Vol. 37, No. 2

AT SOUTHWESTERN'S 107TH CONVOCATION President Rhodes introduced the new Dean of the College to the student body. Dr. Jones then delivered the Opening Address which marked the beginning of another school year for Southwestern's 565 students.

Two Deans Added To Faculty List

Southwestern began its 107th session Wednesday with two new deans. Dr. Jameson Miller Jones has taken over Dr. Johnson's position as academic dean, and Miss Jane Leighton Richards has replaced Miss Eleanor Bosworth as Dean of Women.

Dr. Jones, a native of Corinth, Mississippi, was graduated from Southwestern in 1936, with distinction in English and Greek, his double major. While at Southwestern he was a Patterson scholar, tapped to ODK, national leadership fraternity, and Alpha Theta Phi, then Southwestern's honorary scholarship fraternity. He received his Bachelor of Divinity at Louisville Presbyterian Seminary in 1939, and in 1942, he received his Ph.D. from Duke University.

Becomes Youngest Dean

After teaching religion and philosophy at Centre College, Dr. Jones became the youngest dean in the history of the college at the age of 33. Through the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, he was awarded a fellowship in 1952 to study at Oxford. Dr. Jones is the younger brother of Dr. Paul Tudor Jones, pastor of Idlewild Presbyterian church in Memphis.

Miss Richards, daughter of a Davidson professor, was born in Davidson, North Carolina. Her father (before becoming a professor), her brother, and two grandfathers were Presbyterian ministers. Her brother, President J. McDowell Richards of Columbia Theological Seminary in Decatur, Georgia, is currently moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. Miss Richards was gradu-

Student Party Saturday Night

The Student Council will sponsor a dance Saturday night, September 24, in the gym. The dance will be from 8:00 until 12:00. Al Jackson's band is furnishing the music. Fifty cents will admit a couple or stag, and the tickets are to be on sale at the door. All freshmen boys are required to come to the dance with dates.

The "S" Club Dance, previously scheduled for Saturday night, has been postponed until October 7. Coach Johnson, who customarily awards letters and sweaters at the dance, will be out of town scouting a football team this weekend.

84 Pledge Sororities

After three days of rush parties, the five national sororities at Southwestern have pledged 84 girls.

The first day rushees were entertained by skits presented by the members of each sorority. Informal parties were held the second day, and the third day there were formal teas in the lodges. Pledge ceremonies and open houses climaxed the week on Saturday night.

Students To Appear In College Films

Several Southwestern students will appear in a new film series to be produced by Harding College. This series, which is to be called "American Adventure," will be filmed in Memphis by Fotovox. Students who have been chosen are John McKinney, Jim Eikner, Joanna Kindig, George Hearn, Ann Morrison, and Marymax Williamson. Professor Ray Hill will also appear in the series. The films will be made Monday Sept. 26, and Wednesday Sept. 28, at 1:30 in the ballroom of the Nineteenth Century Club.

Freshmen To Hold Special Meeting

The Student Council has called a special meeting of the Freshman class to be held in Hardie Auditorium Saturday morning, September 25, at 10:00. The results of the tests the freshmen took on the contents of the Student Council Handbook will be announced by the Student Council.

Dean Jones Delivers Convocation Address

Southwestern's 107th session opened officially Wednesday morning with the traditional convocation in the Hubert Fisher Memorial Garden. Dean Jameson Jones gave the convocation address on student-faculty relationships, and President Peyton N. Rhodes presided at the ceremony. Convocation marked the beginning of classes and was the climax of a ten-day orientation program for all new students, which included tours of the library, placement tests and counselor meetings.

565 Enrolled

Enrollment figures released by the registrar's office indicate a total of 565 students registered for the 1955-56 session, a 10 per cent increase over last year's 508. There are 307 returning upperclassmen, 40 transfers, and 218 freshmen. Last year freshmen and transfers together numbered 205. These are not the final figures, as some late enrollments are expected, and the number of student nurses has not been released yet. This will be the fourth year the Methodist student nurses have attended classes on the campus.

Hazing Underway

Hazing began on Monday when freshmen donned baby bonnets, beanies and signs. The Women's Undergraduate Board, headed by Sue Carter, has planned group entertainment to be given by the freshmen girls each evening after dinner. Gerald Smith, president of the Sandhadrin, has planned similar activities for the boys.

BONFIRE!

There will be a pep rally and bonfire tonight at 6:15, behind the gym. Tomorrow the football team will meet Sewanee in the opening game of the season. The student body is urged to come out in full force to show the team that they are behind them. Freshmen are especially invited; in fact, THEY had better be there!

Canterburians Organize Philanthropic Projects

The Southwestern Canterbury Club held their first campus meeting Wednesday night, Sept. 21. Several projects for the year were planned. Father Homer Carrier, the club clergy advisor, started the ball rolling by suggesting that donations of old clothes, shoes, and the like be given to the Episcopal mission in Sherwood, Tennessee. The rector there operates a small store and barbers the clothes given him for such farm produce as the people around the community can raise.

The Canterbury Club takes this opportunity to ask all Southwesterners who can contribute any clothing or household goods to demonstrate their generosity. Get in touch with Bob Rickard, missions chairman, to make your donations.

Throughout the year, Canterbury Club will be cooperating with the Memphis Red Feather agency to aid destitute families and individuals in the County area by donating time and labor.

Until this year, the Episcopalians on campus have been rather a defunct organization; but with such a roster of projects for this year, you can be sure that Southwestern will soon become very Canterbury conscious.

For Freshmen Only

*Like the star,
That shines afar,
Without haste
And without rest,*

*Let each man wheel with steady sway
Round the task that rules the day,

—Goethe

Another year is just beginning; another nine months in which all upperclassmen can learn to profit by their mistakes of younger years, and punch jolly sport at the freshmen who perform varied old and battered deeds of wrong. As always, this is the year of the freshmen, by the freshmen and alas, for the freshmen—bless their little crooked signs. The yearlings, who unknowingly serve as genii of past remembrances to their elders (namely, the memory of that first "green" year away from home), should pay keen attention to Goethe's lines. To do your best is to avoid mediocrity in everything you do. By doing your best in supporting your Student Government, attending athletic events, and "digging" for that particularly difficult math problem, you will foster a spirit of achievement which is definitely needed on this campus. Freshmen, the moment is upon you!

Student Council Thinks

Congratulations for the Student Council's quick action! The immediate decision of the council literally "saved" an otherwise stagnant weekend by arranging an all-school dance tomorrow night after the "S" Club party had been postponed. A well known German philosopher once said, "To act is easy, to think is hard." Our student government first thought and planned and then acted. Who could ask for a more up-to-the-minute governing body?

ated from Converse College, Spartanburg, North Carolina, and received her M.A. from Duke University.

She did postgraduate work at Duke and Columbia, later taught at Flora McDonald College, Peace Junior College and Centre College. Although Miss Richards states that she never intended being dean, interest in students as individuals involved her in sponsoring student projects and in helping individuals, and she was approached with the administrative job of Dean of Women at Centre College. She has been Dean of Students and a professor at Converse since 1944. At Southwestern she will teach history in addition to her duties as dean of women.

Shaw Play Planned; Casting To Be Soon

George Bernard Shaw's "You Never Can Tell" will be produced by Southwestern's speech department as its first production of the current session. Casting will start Monday, September 26, and last for about two weeks. Anyone interested in reading for parts can see Ray Hill in his office in the Speech Shack.

The performances are scheduled for December 7 and 8 in Hardie Auditorium.

with Scott Byrd

Well, vast reading public, I am back. And although this is the season for gaudy, wrinkled leaves and for miserly squirrels, my autumnal advice is not to dwell on the flora and fauna, but to go ON THE TOWN! Yes, Memphis is out there, so go on out and do your stuff. (That line was left over from an old M-G-M musical.)

There isn't much in the way of live entertainment this week, but keep in mind that before very long "12" will be doing OUR TOWN, the Little Theater will be doing O MEN, O WOMEN, and a Broadway company will be doing THE PAJAMA GAME. Meanwhile, back at the Silver Slipper, Sunny Fox can be seen heading a floor show which also features La Gitanya, girl exotic dancer.

Also keep in mind (and I hope you are keeping things in mind this year) that Chuck Foster and his exceptionally pleasant orchestra will be playing exceptionally pleasant music at the Peabody.

Width by CinemaScope

The movies do quite a bit of traveling this week, but I'll try not to overwork the James Fitzpatrick angle. The Asian end is held up by Jennifer Jones in LOVE IS A MANY-SPLENORED THING at the Palace. It's not quite as splended as Hun Suyin's book, but Miss Jones and William Holden contribute fine performances to the old story of "East meets West; East loves West." It has color by DeLuxe and width by CinemaScope.

According to the ads, "What THREE COINS IN THE FOUNTAIN did for Rome, SUMMERTIME does for Venice!" My cow, I hope not! From the glowing advance reviews, at any rate, there is every indication that SUMMERTIME (at the State) will be a very good film. Katherine Hepburn is back and Rossano Brazzi has got her in this tale of a spinster's lovely vacation. It was derived from Arthur Lurent's Broadway play THE TIME OF THE CUCKOO and directed by David (Brief Encounter) Lean. It probably will be the best bet this week.

Off We Go . . .

The Warner has THE McCONNELL STORY, another modern day "To Lucasta On Going to the Wars." Alan Ladd is the jet ace, and June Allyson is his wife. When she gets old, I predict that June Allyson will portray mothers who bravely watch their sons go off to war.

Set as far West as Las Vegas, is a movie that should appeal to all our sorority maidens. THE GIRL RUSH is a musical comedy starring none other than the fabulous Rosalind Russell. It's about a woman who thinks she owns a hotel, and it can be viewed at the Strand.

Strangely enough, IT CAME FROM BENEATH THE SEA is not an Esther Williams picture. It is rather a fantasy dealing with a giant octopus and Faith Domerque. THE CREATURE WITH THE ATOMIC BRAIN is its co-feature at the Malco, and it concerns some utterly mad scientists.

If SVENGALI at the Ritz were a gangster movie, someone would be sure to say, "I've done a lot of things in my time, Sveng, but I draw the line at that." What I mean to indicate is simply that George DuMaurier's novel has been made into a film which will delight only those who collect cliches. Donald Wolfit hams as the progressive voice teacher; and Hildegard Neff as the French-Irish Trilby gives a very German performance, which nevertheless is the best feature of the film.

THE NIGHT OF THE HUNTER, directed by Charles Laughton and starring Shelley Winters and Robert Mitchum, is having a banned time in West Memphis. It's arty, but interesting.

Next week my column will be written by someone vastly different (that's not much of a clue, is it?), so I'll be looking forward to reading it just as eagerly as those of you who read down to here will doubtless be. Until then, I suggest that you smash your priceless recordings of "September Song" and rush out ON THE TOWN!

German Student Pens Farewell

Hajo Hug, the German exchange student who attended Southwestern last year, left the following farewell message to all Southwestern students on his departure at the end of the last school year.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am sorry that I didn't shake hands with all of you (excuse me, to shake hands with "you all") before leaving Southwestern. You know, Germans always shake hands, and if you want to know how, go to see Dr. Wolf; he can really show you that. On the other hand, it may have been good that I did not do it, because I will drive a car over to California this summer and for things like that you must not have numb paws, "nicht wahr?"

Travels With Frenchman

Jean, the French student, is going with me. This may assure you that there is at least one Frenchman and one German on this globe who do co-exist peacefully with each another; there are a couple of things to be improved in Europe. This is one of the main things that I have learned in my studies at an American College.

They say, "To depart means to die a little." This is true. It has been a great year for me at Southwestern. Professors, (particularly Prof. Amacker, Prof. Cooper, Prof. Storn, Prof. Lowry, Prof. Hon and Prof. Stein) and students have been good comrades and friends to me. I had the best roomies in the world and these Southern "Belles"—well, you know!

And So, Farewell

Farewell, hot afternoons at "outside reading"; farewell, nights of staying awake with pills, crackers and waterbottles; farewell, ice-cream tickets of Mr. Pack; farewell, student parties, broken windows, German classes, Chapel speeches, Southwestern squirrels, and rides to the drugstore! Have mercy with the new generation of hazing freshmen and remember, once in awhile,

Yours thankfully,
Hajo Hug.

Hooray! School's started—back to the books, to the eight o'clock classes, to the library, and lots of studying. Seriously, I am glad school has started and I am so glad to see everyone—all the "old" people as well as the brand new freshmen. Three months is a long time not to see people you like and I think something should be done about this situation—say like having a three month session on campus from June to August with no classes, just plenty of free time and parties. I doubt this suggestion will ever be accepted as a policy of Southwestern, but it is a nice idea and with all this progressive education, who knows?

Looks as if the year has gotten off to a good start with freshman orientation and rush. Congratulations to all the sororities and fraternities on their fine pledges. Now that rush is over, maybe we can get to more of the more serious things of campus like dances, football games and dates.

Louder, Freshmen

Talking about football games, those "Beat Sewanee" yells from the freshmen sound great from the corner of Robb Hall but louder, freshmen, louder! I'm sure there aren't any people wandering around campus who don't follow the yell's meaning—that is, I hope there aren't any who haven't heard about the Southwestern-Sewanee game this Saturday. I really hope there aren't any people not planning to go because from all reports, this is going to be one good game. How about showing up with plenty of pep and enthusiasm to show our team that we're really behind them.

Just Can't Think

I really should be able to think more things to write about but

I just can't after fighting registration, mixed-up classes and that line in the bookstore. Thank goodness for Freshman hazing, of which I haven't seen too much. I think I'll give hazing a lot of concentration and see what kind of difficult things I can dream up for the freshmen. Nothing original, I'm sure, but I can still remember some of the things I had to do last year. Is there an old Southwestern proverb about getting people (freshmen) to do things to entertain other people (upperclassmen)? Probably not—but thank goodness for freshmen anyway!

Wedding Bells

One last important thing. Congratulations to Pat and Don Carnes, Peggy and Jimmy Carter who are now married, and to Nita Saunders and Lawrence Cater, Marian Cobb and Roxie Lee, and Jane Burns Campbell who are all engaged. Final congratulations to Sue Williams and Jim Winslow, Beth Coe and Bobby Rickard, Elaine Vickrey, and Sarah Adams who are all pinned. Best wishes to all of these people.
See you at the ball game!!

McKinney Requests Help For Yearbook

John McKinney, this year's editor of the Lynx, Southwestern yearbook, would like to talk to students interested in art who could work on page design. Photographers are also needed on the annual. On the business side, persons with ability in salesmanship are necessary to supplement the budget by selling ads. Every student who wants to have some part in the preparation of Southwestern's yearbook is cordially invited by John to see him or a member of the staff.

Lynx vs. Sewanee In Season Opener

The 1955 edition of Southwestern Lynxcat football gets under way Saturday afternoon at two o'clock here at Faragason field when the Red and Black go against the Sewanee Tigers from the University of the South. It will be the initial encounter for both aggregations. Also the game will be the first televised athletic contest in Southwestern history.

Coach Rick Mays has been readying his charges for the past month and has them in tip-top shape for the game. This year will see virtually the same team on the field as last year plus some of the outstanding high school talent from the Mid-South. These newcomers will don the red and black for the first time Saturday and several will see plenty of action. Coach Mays thinks his boys are ready for the game but gives only praise for the always strong Tigers and warns that if the game is to be won, the Lynx must play excellent ball from the starting whistle to the final second.

Starting Lineup Announced

The tentative starting line-up is at left end George Gracey, a junior who in his third season has been converted from a back to end and has shown strong promise as a pass receiver; at left tackle, Tom Tapp, in his first year as a Lynx and showing great promise in practice. Dick Brankstone, a junior in his third year of Southwestern football will start at left guard.

At center will be Jim Breazeale, also a junior with two varsity letters to his credit; at right guard, Gerald Smith, a senior with his greatest year of gridiron warfare ahead; at right tackle, John Oxley, a freshman from Jackson, Tennessee, North Side High, where he was a standout performer in prep league ball for four years, and at right end, Bobby Rose, one of the stars of last season as a freshman, back to take up where he left off as a fine pass catcher.

Young at Quarterback

In the back field, will be Billy Young at quarterback. Bill is a small but wiry field general back for his second season and looking for even greater things this year. At the halfback positions will be Johnny Martin, playing his second year in a Lynx uniform and hoping for another good year, and Jim Higgason, Southwestern's Little All-American and leading ground gainer for two straight seasons. George "Smokey" Russell, Captain of this year's football team and the "horse" when yardage is needed, will be at fullback.

More Gridders Listed

Others who should see action before the game is far gone are linemen Hammack, Browne, Templeton, Milam, Stoakes, Jerden, Hopper, Maxwell, Wadsworth, Simpson, Stock, Holmes, Cleave, Busby, Davidson, Weeks and Wade. In the reserve backfield are Street, Hammett, Crigler, Ames, Turner, Harmon, Kilpatrick, Jones, Ambrose, Merryman, Halliburton, Bowen and Hoover.

From this vantage point we see a good game in the making for all those who turn out at the field and those who will be gathered around T.V. sets all over the Mid-South.

Marine Corps Team To Visit Campus September 26, 27

The Marine Officer Procurement team will visit the campus on September 26 and 27. While on the campus they will talk with students who are interested in earning a Marine Commission.

Qualified students may enroll in one of three courses: the Platoon Leaders Class, Officers Candidate Course, and Aviation Officer Course.

The Platoon Leaders Class is designed for the college undergraduate. Students in this program attend training during two summer vacations from college. The classes are of six week duration. The training will be conducted at the Marine Corps School, Quantico, Va. It is designed to provide the initial leadership development and necessary military introduction to prepare college men for appointment to commission rank in the Marine Corps Reserve.

The Officer Candidate Course is designed for college seniors. Candidates selected are enrolled during their senior year or after graduation. The Officer Candidate Course is a ten week training period conducted at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Va., after graduation.

The Aviation Officer Course is designed for the college student interested in earning a commission in the field of aviation. Applicants for this course must be seniors or recent graduates. On completion of ten weeks pre-commission training he will receive his appointment to the rank of second lieutenant. After receiving his commission he will go to the Naval Flight School, Pensacola, Fla., and Corpus Christi, Texas, for an intensive fifteen to eighteen months of flight training as a Marine Aviation Officer.

Library Staff Ready To Serve Students

After a long summer of little activity, the library staff welcomes the "hustle and bustle" that comes when the students return to school in the fall. As always, the staff will try in every way to accommodate the needs of the students and faculty. Library hours will begin daily at 8:30 a.m. and will end at 10:00 p.m. except on Saturdays, when the library will close at 1:00.

All students are responsible for knowing the rules which are found in "Your Library Privileges and Obligations." The rules for the use of books, etc., remain about the same except for a fine to be placed on persons using the conference and listening rooms longer than needed. One of the forthcoming events planned for this fall is the annual Book Festival November 1 through November 5. Everyone is invited to attend.

Again the Burrow Library welcomes all the students and faculty back to school and hopes that each one will make the library his place for study and full enjoyment of the books.
