Eighteen Girls To Vie For Maid of Cotton

Southwestern at Memphis has always had its share of lovely lassies from which an eager young bachelor may choose, or from which a choice for the Maid of Cotton may be chosen. Certainly Southwestern can be proud of Miss Hilma Seay, 1947's Maid, now Mrs. Billy Marks Hightower of Memphis.

This year's Sou'wester Maid of Cotton will be picked tonight from the representatives of the six fraternities and five sororities on the campus.

Sorority Entries

Ladies first, going around sorority row. Representing Alpha Omicron Pi will be Marion Forsythe and Beth LeMaster; Kappa Delta is entering Harrylyn Graves and Elizabeth Rodgers. Chi Omega's entries are Nelie Brown and Judith Deavenport; Tri-Delt will sponsor Jane Burns Campbell and Mary Ada Latta. Across the row Zeta Tau Alpha's entries are Joanna Sloan and Jane Turner.

Fraternity Choices

Representing the fraternities are: Pi Kappa Alpha, Sara Lee Ford; Alpha Tau Omega, Sue Carter and Kip Shoaf; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Erwin Hansch; Kappa Sigma, Suzanne McCarroll; Kappa Alpha, Carolyn Caldwell and Marymax Williamson; and for the last Greek letter abode, Sigma Nu, Dolly Cooke.

First Round This Afternoon

All these lovely young ladies, who are at least 19 years of age and are (at least) 5 feet 5 inches tall contested the first round of their "Title Match" this afternoon and the finals will be held in Hardie Auditorium tonight. The winners will go from Hardie's stage tonight to the National Contest with Southwestern's hopes in their stead.

Maid's Itinerary

A grand tour has been planned for the national Maid of Cotton. More than 40 cities in the United States, Canada, and Europe will welcome the Maid and every day will be a different, exciting whirl, full of personal appearances, radio, television, newspaper interviews, and fashion shows. The lucky girl will be chosen here in Memphis on the 28th of December.

Dr. Tuthill Attends NASM Convention

Dr. Burnet C. Tuthill, Director of the Memphis College of Music, will represent the School at the thirty-first annual meeting of the National Association of Schools of Music. The sessions this year will be held at the Jefferson Hotel in St. Louis, Missouri, on Friday and Saturday, following Thanksgiving Day. Southwestern has been a member of the NASM since 1937.

Founded in 1924 by a small group of leading schools for the purpose of establishing higher objectives in music education, the Association has since grown until it now includes some 225 of the leading universities, colleges and conservatories in this country. Many of the Nation's foremost music educators will be in attendance.

In addition to being the official representative, Dr. Tuthill is also Secretary of the Association since its founding in 1924.

Tri Deltas Banquet On Founders' Day

On Monday night, November 21, the Tri Deltas will celebrate their founding, when the Memphis alumnae entertain the chapter with a banquet. It will be the first event to take place in the newly remodeled lodge. The members and pledges will serve appetizers to the alumnae. For entertainment the pledge class has planned a skit.

A presentation will be made to the Tri Delt alum who has been selected as the "Woman of the Year." After the banquet, members and pledges with their dates will go to the Peabody for dancing.

Dream Man Star Of Torch Dance

Psychologists say a dream is a manifestation of the unconscious. No one will describe the Torch Dream Man that way tomorrow night, but he is "out of this world," I promise you.

In that case I don't see how any sweet young college thing, whether she be coquette, flirt or prospective Phi Bete, could think of missing the Torch Backward Dance from 9 to 12 tomorrow night in the gym.

I know it will be a great temptation for some coeds to come stag—either for revenge or "just to make the rounds"—but some of you must bring dates, or the consequences are obvious. So if you haven't gotten a date yet, you girls might think about it tonight at supper or during the evening social at the library. But don't despair; you have another alternative — some gentlemen friends have been known to wait until mid-afternoon of "the day."

So, however you come, (and remember YOU can't be a wallflower this time) stag or drag, tickets are 50 cents.

P.S. : Freshmen have one o'clock permission.

Freshmen Hold Tuition Charges Raised First Meeting Fifty Dollars Per Term

The newly elected officers of the Freshman class have already begun their year's work and have many big ideas in mind for their class. At their first meeting, November 4, after the opening prayer by president Larry Kennon, and the adoption of the proposed agenda, the officers discussed the possible activities of the class and decided upon certain actions to be begun immediately by the appointed committees.

Vice-president Mike Lupfer was put in charge of a group to plan a vesper service given by and for the Freshman class. Freshmen on this committee are: John Gay, Lynn Jaseph, Richard Park, Sarah Jean Jackson and Anne Evans.

The officers felt the need of a constitution for the class to avoid any possible difficulties. The constitution will be written and proposed by Publications' Board Representatives Elaine Donelson, Lee Gibbs, Hall Henderson, Ann Morrison and Bill Hackleman.

In order to express the ideas of the class concerning hazing, and to offer suggestions for improvements in the hazing program, a group of recently hazed students was selected to discuss the problems. In this group are Dianne McMillan, class student council representative, Bill Teague, Sam Martin, Elizabeth Elliot, Beth Coe, and Sandy Calmer.

Other ideas discussed by the officers were a sponsored drive, charms of distinction, a class roster, class scrapbook and bulletin board, chapel programs by the Freshman Class, and periodic reports of the actions taken by the class and officers.

An item of special interest is the all day social function which the class hopes to sponsor soon after Christmas holidays.

Anyone who wishes to serve on a committee or to offer suggestions for class activities may talk with the president or any other officer.

President Peyton N. Rhodes announced Wednesday a $50.00 fee increase per semester in Southwestern tuition beginning with the session of 1956-57. Following is a complete text of the president's statements which were made in student assembly.

"It would be extraordinarily helpful if, from time to time, officials of the college and the parents of Southwestern students could sit down and discuss together mutual concerns relating to the development of their sons and daughters. Only rarely is this possible, and we must resort to letters or what appear to be impersonal bulletins.

Unanimous Decision

"After careful study by administrative officers, the Board of Directors at its recent meeting voted unanimously to establish a College Health and Activities Fee of $50.00 a semester, beginning with the session of 1956-57, in addition to the existing tuition charge at Southwestern. I wish in this letter to mention some of the reasons for this action and to explain how this fee will increase the effectiveness of the Southwestern educational program.

"Since the college has always tried to keep the total cost to the student as low as possible without sacrificing the quality which characterizes Southwestern, tuition charges have remained unchanged since 1949. Your own personal budgets will remind you that costs have gone up markedly in the last six years. This is true also at the college. To maintain educational excellence we have to face realistically this general rise in costs.

Maintenance Costs Up

"Another important element affecting the decision made by the Board was the recognition that over the years the college has added more and more services for the student. In the past two years the Burrow Library and the main wing of the Neely Mallory Memorial Gymnasium have been added to the college plant. We believe few colleges offer better library or gymnasium facilities, but such added structures mean increased costs of operation and maintenance. In addition, our general program of student activities and services is always growing and improving.

"Most colleges charge additional fees for extracurricular athletic, dramatic, and artistic participation, health and personnel services, library facilities, the college newspaper and literary publications. Southwestern has not favored this, but as costs continue to rise we have become more conscious of the

Stylus Deadline Set On Literary Entries

"Stylus," the Southwestern literary organization, has set December 1 as the final deadline for the submission of manuscripts for its winter issue. It will contain short stories, poetry, and one-act plays which the members of "Stylus" have selected as best representing Southwestern's literary output.

Among the works printed in last spring's magazine were several which won awards at the Southern Literary Festival and in the Atlantic Monthly contest. Any Southwestern student may submit a typed manuscript to a member of "Stylus," and the manuscript will be presented anonymously to the group. No manuscripts will be returned. Scott Byrd, Ann Barr, and Edith Jean Cooper are the editors.

Student Body President Issues Council Report

The following is the eight weeks report of Student Council activities in accordance with By-Law 15 of the Constitution of the Student Body.

The Student Council began its activities this fall by administering the Orientation and Hazing Programs. During Orientation, lectures and tests on The Student Council Handbook were given to the new students by the members of the Council.

The hazing program was administered through the Sanhedrin headed by Gerald Smith, and the Woman's Undergraduate Board under the supervision of Sue Carter. Many new suggestions were made for improvement of hazing all of which will be submitted to next year's Council.

Hazing ended with a party in Voorhies basement given in honor of the new students by the Women's Undergraduate Board. Sue Carter made the arrangements for the party.

Two Elections Run

The Elections Commission, headed by Gerald Smith, has conducted elections for Homecoming Queen and freshman class officers.

Robin Sprague, Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Body, has handled the correspondence of the Council, recorded the proceedings of the meetings, and handled the finances of the Council in accordance with the budget.

Suzanne McCarroll, Commissioner of Religious Activities, has worked with the Protestant Religious Council and the Committee on Convocations and Religious Life in sponsoring Religious Evaluation Week. The P.R.C. headed by Suzanne, has provided readers for Dr. Diehl every afternoon and is currently sponsoring a drive for local, national, and international welfare projects.

Oversee Publications

Roxie Lee, Commissioner of Athletics, has worked with the cheerleaders and "S" Club in stimulating school spirit, and has met with the Faculty Athletics Committee to discuss various matters pertaining to athletics.

Elaine Vickrey, Commissioner of Publications and Publicity, has worked with the Publications Board to see that all campus publications are functioning properly. Elaine also has been responsible for publicizing various Student Council functions, as well as serving on several committees.

Don Parker, Commissioner of Social Activities, with his Social Committee, had charge of all details for the Freshman Mixer and the Stu-

fact that these various provisions, valuable and desirable, are claiming too large a percentage of the flat tuition charge of $250.00 per semester, all needed for instruction.

"I should perhaps add that the cost of providing instruction for one student is approximately $425.00 per semester, so that even if the full tuition charge of $250.00 were available for this, only about 60% would be covered by what the student pays.

"It was against the background of this kind of thinking that the Board in its recent action determined to maintain the tuition charge at its present level but to add a general College Health and Activities Fee of $50.00 per semester. This fee will apply to all the services mentioned above as well as to a new and most desirable item which every parent will welcome; namely, accident, hospitalization, and surgical insurance on every student. This insurance will be effective not only while the student is on the campus but during holidays, such as Christmas, also.

"In some few instances this $50.00 fee, established by the Board with reluctance but out of necessity, may present a real financial problem and hardship. If it does and if that fact is brought to my attention, officials of the college will be glad to work with the parents concerned in attempting an appropriate solution.

"We are proud of the kind of students who are in Southwestern, and will continue to do everything in our power to provide them with the best academic, spiritual, social, and physical environment."

dent Council Dance, which had to be planned very rapidly because of the cancellation of the "S" Club Dance. Don and his committee members also planned the Homecoming Dance which proved to be a fine success. Right now the Social Committee is working on the calendar for the second semester and making plans for the April Fool Carnival.

Bonfire Builder

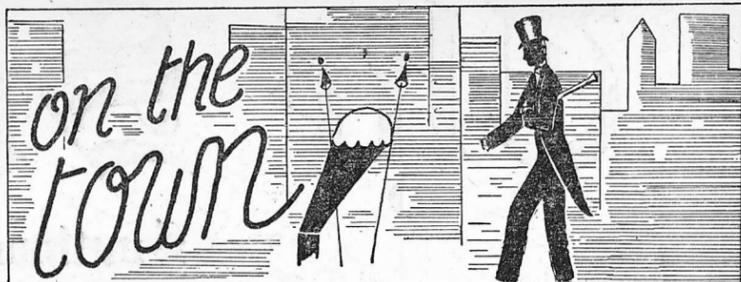

Lawrence Cater, Senior Class President, assisted by Doyle Moorhead, has built the bonfires for our pep rallies. Also Lawrence is chairman of the committee which is trying to reactivate a radio station on the campus. This project is being delayed by mechanical difficulties at the present, but it is hoped that these can be overcome in the near future. Also on this committee are Freeman Douglas, Bob Kollar, John Faulk, Leslie Read, and Jim Eikner.

Sallie Myhr Thomas, Senior Class Representative, is serving as chairman of the Student Library Committee. Other members of this committee are Marcia Calmer, Nancy Carter, and Scott Byrd. It was largely through the efforts of Sallie Myhr and Harriette Mathewes that the library staff agreed to open the library at 8:00 a.m. rather than 8:30 a.m.

Suggestion Box

Billy McLean, Junior Class President, is in charge of the Student Council Suggestion Box. Billy has worked with Don Parker in obtaining a list of bands for the Homecoming and April Fool Dances.

Harriette Mathewes, Junior Class Representative, is responsible for all filing in the Student Council Office. She has participated on numerous committees and was chairman of the committee to select candidates for Who's Who in American Colleges. This committee was composed of all the officers of the Junior and sophomore classes and the two junior commissioners on the Council.

By SCOTT BYRD

Well, here it is Thanksgiving Time, and whoever said that Hope is the thing with feathers probably never knew a turkey. Not intimately, anyway. But before I shed a bitter tear of any sort, I must say that I'm more excited about going home than in going ON THE TOWN!

Not that this weekend won't be one of the best Memphis has offered in some time—at the movies, I mean. Joseph Haye's Broadway play about an ordinary family held captive by three criminals (desperate ones, yet) is the subject for THE DESPERATE HOURS at the Strand. Two Old Masters, Humphrey Bogart and Fredric March star with a marvelous supporting cast under the direction of another Old Master, William Wyler. It should be utterly taunt.

At the Palace is THE VIEW FROM POMPEY'S HEAD in which Dana Wynter plays an old plantation mistress. It's based on Hamilton Basso's novel about the return of a native to a Southern town, and also stars Richard Egan. I was a little confused at the Southern writer who looked so much like Hemingway, wrote so much like Faulkner, and was as blind as Homer; but it's a good slick picture. Marjorie Rambeau is excellent in a small part.

THE SHRIKE at the Malco features the highly praised performance of Jose Ferrer in his original role from the Pulitzer-Prize play. June Allyson is the lucky Shrike whose prey cannot escape, and it should be interesting to see how she manages to stop being the sweet-little-wife-type. Joy Page plays the dove Jose prefers. It should be quite good.

Yet another adaptation of a famous work will be on view at the Ritz. It's OTHELLO by William Shakespeare. Whatever one thought of Orson Welles' MACBETH of recent memory, the word is that this is a highly interesting production (and it was a prize-winner at one of the international film festivals.) Mr. Welles enacts the Moor and Suzanne Cloutier portrays Desdemona. I'm very anxious to see it.

Alec Guinness stars in TO PARIS WITH LOVE at the Warner; and it's one of his lesser efforts. Robert Mitchum is still THE MAN WITH THE GUN at the State, and Jan Sterling is right in there too.

Marie Powers will once more sing the lead in Gian—Carlo Menotti's English opera THE MEDIUM at the Municipal Auditorium Tuesday, November 22. It's a powerful and beautiful work which shows the destroying fear which can come from a touch with the unknown. The shorter and lighter opera THE TELEPHONE will be performed along with it.

Leo Peeper and his orchestra are playing nothing less than music at the Skyway in case you're celebrating something.

Does the sound of bagpipes sooth your jangling nerves? Well, hold on to your kilts, the Scotts Guards Regimental Band will be presented at the Auditorium at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday. They've gotten raves everywhere and were even held over in New York.

Flash . . . G.B.S Spectacular has been cancelled in favor of an evening of one-act plays which will be presented early in December. It will be Southwestern's first dramatic presentation of the year, so keep your eyes peeled for more choice tidbits of information on it. (Thank you, Louella.)

I've go to go now and check on the bus schedule to Pompey's Head. (I reckon there's a Mulberry in everybody's life.) You have a nice Thanksgiving too, after you've been ON THE TOWN!

On Thanksgiving

What is Thanksgiving anyway — Pilgrims and turkey and pumpkin pie and the Mayflower? To some people that is exactly what it is. To others it is a five day class break, a time to attempt to write term papers, sleep late in the morning, catch up on back homework, and eat three home-cooked meals a day.

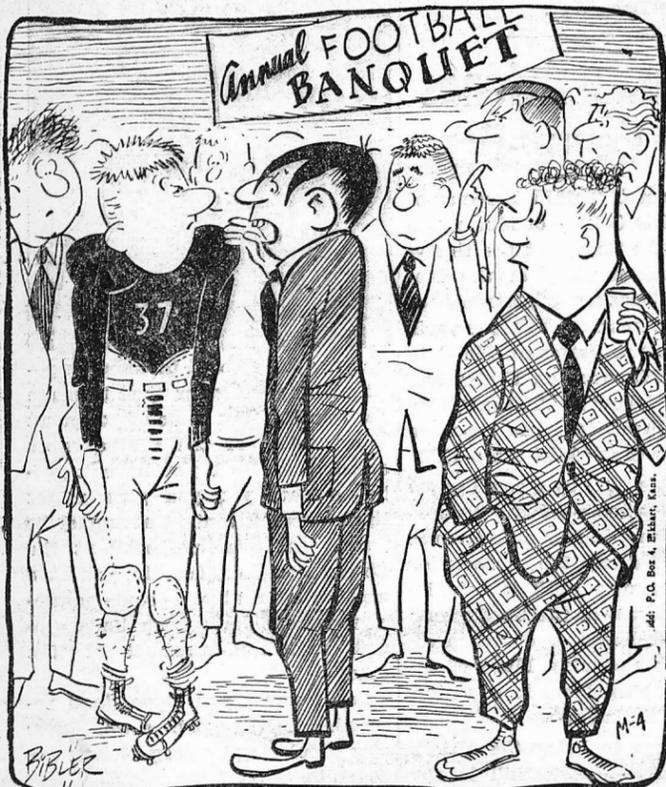

It is a time for going home, seeing the old gang, partying until too late at night, and returning to college too tired to do anything and too exhausted to care. A frantic buying of plane, train or bus tickets, a wild dash somewhere, a hectic struggle of gay times,

Widgibus

Congratulations to the new Sigma Nu Sweetheart, Sue Williams. Sue was presented with a bouquet of red roses and a Sweetheart pin at the Sigma Nu formal last Saturday night. The boys' Knighthood Ball turned out to be a very nice dance, and everyone agreed that the castle wall, complete with a drawbridge and a couple of knights, made for very effective decorations.

Another Sigma Nu in the news—did you know that our Student Council President, Mr. Joe Eades, popped the question last weekend to Miss Vernon Ware and these nice people are now engaged? Best Wishes to Joe and Vernon.

All those groans from the volleyball players are probably caused by the fact that Ghi Omega, Kappa Delta, and Zeta Tau Alpha are tied for second place in the volleyball tournament and all ties have to be played off which means two more games for each group. Congratulations to the Tri-Delts who took first place in the tournament with six wins and no losses.

I hope Dolly Cooke, Charlotte Robinson and Fay Rice get their pictures made soon. Seems these three girls and the photographer never get to the same place at the same time. (I heard someone in chapel today say they had practically memorized that picture schedule).

Since eight week tests are over, people are beginning to look a little happier and the Southwestern Social calendar seems to be full again. The last football game of the season against Hendrix was played this afternoon and we hope everyone showed up with a lot of pep and enthusiasm to back the team. Hope you didn't forget the AOPi open house after the game.

Tonight eighteen girls representing five sororities and six fraternities will take the stage in Hardie Auditorium at eight for the last part of the judging in the campus Maid of Cotton Contest.

Saturday night Torch announces their new Dream Man at their annual backward dance to be held this year in the gym. (If you haven't asked someone it's not too late now. Remember, girls how we fuss about the boys not asking us to dances, and this time it's really up to us to see that everyone gets to the Torch Dance. Why don't a frustrated trip back, and that's Thanksgiving vacation. The general theme is: Thank goodness we're going to have time to get more tired than we already are.

Some groups give baskets of food and clothes to the needy. Some individuals give a little extra to their church or the campus PRC drive. While much of this is done with a great deal of sincerity, there are always some who think: Thank goodness I'm not so unlucky. Another group thinks: Only three weeks after Thanksgiving until Christmas and thank goodness Christmas is coming.

Of course there is another way to look at it. Eight week grades have just come out; maybe I'd better not go home. Term papers are due December first; think I'll stay in the library. No sleep since early September; I'll just hibernate in the dorm.

This has sounded like a somewhat bitter and sarcastic discourse on the subject of the forthcoming vacation. All of these things are to some degree true of each of us, but fortunately the story doesn't end here.

The day of Thanksgiving is not an abstract idea which has developed into a national holiday nor is it just a symbol of freedom and Americanism. It is not just a single day set aside for the counting of one's blessings and being content with one's present existence. And it is not just a day of superficial prayer and praises.

Thanksgiving is a personal day, a day for thought, prayer and re-evaluation. Not a time to thank God that we are not as unfortunate as other men, but a time to see things as they really are, the good and the bad. A day on which to thank God for the time in which we live, the school which we may attend and the possibilities we have to grow and improve ourselves and our world.

It is not just a one day incident but an every day spirit. And so we shall thank God, for the freedom to live our own lives, the knowledge to form our own ideals and the opportunity of being a part of this, His greatest creation.

Pi Brings Out Williams Twins

Pi Intersorority brought out Jo and Sue Williams on Tuesday. Bringing out two girls at one time broke tradition for the Pi's. The twin sisters from Calhoun City, Mississippi, are sophomores who have taken active parts in campus activities at Southwestern.

Both girls are student counselors, participate in intramurals, and serve as lab assistants. Jo is music chairman of Zeta Tau sorority, a member of the YWCA Cabinet, and was secretary of her pledge class. Sue is ZTA Panhellenic representative, sweetheart of Sigma Nu, and has served on the dormitory governing board. After graduating, they both plan to enter physical therapy training.

Sue Williams Named Sweetheart of SN

At Sigma Nu's Knighthood Ball last weekend, Sue Williams was named Sigma Nu Sweetheart. Following the leadout, Sue was presented a bouquet of red roses by Dot Henning, last year's sweetheart. She also received a miniature Sigma Nu pin.

Sue, a sophomore from Calhoun City, Mississippi, is a science major. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority and was recently chosen for membership in Pi Intersorority.

The dance was in the Empire and Balinese Rooms of Hotel Claridge. Professor and Mrs. Frey and Professor Patterson chaperoned.

Lynx Blast Miners— Win Fifth Game 46-21

Touchdown was the big word as Southwestern pushed across seven tallies to overwhelm Missouri School of Mines 46-21 last Saturday afternoon. Led by the clever quarterbacking and adroit passing of Billy Young and the hard running of Johnny Martin, who scored 22 of the 46 Lynx points, Southwestern showed too much offensive punch for the heavier Miners.

The first half produced a close battle with Southwestern carrying a 20-14 lead into intermission. In the third quarter the Lynx put on their scoring clothes and marched to the end zone three times to wrap up the game.

Higgason Scores

Southwestern received the opening kickoff but couldn't move the ball. The Miners took over on their own 48 but were stopped on a fourth down gamble for yardage, and Southwestern took over. Five plays later Jimmy Higgason was in the end zone. John Martin kicked the first of his four conversions and the score was 7-0.

The Missouri Miners retaliated quickly with Roger Feaster going the last five yards off tackle for the score. A few moments later John Martin racked up seven points to put Southwestern ahead 14-7. The Miners struck back fast with Bob Hammond romping 35 yards for a Miner score. Dale Rockwell converted to tie the score again at 14-14.

Young Passes For Six

Young passed to Bobby Rose to give the Lynx a 20-14 halftime lead.

The third stanza saw the black and red roll to paydirt three times good for twenty points. Bill Young passed to Jettie Bowen for one of the scores and hit Martin with two aeriels good for the last two tallies.

In the fourth period Charlie Hammett threw a jump pass over the line to Joe Weeks who scampereed 45 yards for the final Lynx score. The Miners pushed across their last tally in this frame also, with Dale Rockwell going over from the three. The conversion was good and the game ended with the Red and black in front 46-21.

Basketballers Begin Practice

The Lynx basketballers are busy preparing for their opening game with Millsaps in Mallory gymnasium December 1. Coach Johnson has been working with returning lettermen Jim Winslow, Dick Gilliom, Johnny Maxwell and captain Bob Jackson. As soon as football is over, the varsity squad will be strengthened by last year's starting guard Billy Young.

Newcomers who show promise of strengthening the squad are freshmen Joe Boals from Treadwell, Danny Logan from Gilliam, La., Red McMillion from Covington, Va., and Ray Gwinn from Hayti, Mo. All these boys have played a lot of high school ball and should give some of the veterans a real go for their money. With practice only two weeks old it's hard to say just who will be the starters, but when the first whistle blows you'll see a fast and hustling ball club.

The schedule for the season is:

- Dec. 1—Millsaps (H)
- Dec. 3—Tulane (A)
- Dec. 5—LSU (A)
- Dec. 8—Union (H)
- Dec. 12—Miss. State (A)
- Dec. 16—Drury (H)
- Dec. 28-29—Monroe Tournament
- Jan. 3—Arkansas State (H)
- Jan. 6—Birmingham-Sou. (A)
- Jan. 7—Howard (A)
- Jan. 14—Sewanee (H)
- Jan. 21—Birmingham-Sou. (H)
- Jan. 28—Wabash (H)
- Feb. 4—Wabash (A)
- Feb. 6—DePauw (A)
- Feb. 8—Chattanooga (H)
- Feb. 11—Sewanee (A)

Council Report

Louis Zbinden, Sophomore Class President, had charge of ticket sales for the Homecoming Dance and is presently working on a project to put additional coat racks and bookshelves in the dining hall.

Polly Howie, Sophomore Class Representative, has served on several committees and plans to help Louis with ticket sales for other Student Council functions.

Larry Kennon and Diane McMillan, the recently elected members of the Council from the freshman class, have shown a keen interest in the Council's activities.

Frosh Officers Busy

Already the freshman class officers have met and appointed several committees to study projects for the freshman class such as a class party, class vesper, and chapel program. A committee headed by Dianne is studying ways to present a more effective hazing program.

The Council would like to invite all students to attend its meeting and to use the Student Council Suggestion Box in the social room of Palmer Hall. There have been several good suggestions in the box this year and we hope to have many more.

Among the letters in the box have been several complaints from students about the conduct in the Reading Room of the Library. The Council urges each student to respect the other persons' wishes to study and keep at least this one place quiet for study. Each of us recognizes the problem and it can only be solved through co-operation and consideration.

Decals Ordered

The Council has ordered a new stock of college decals which should be ready for sale after Christmas. A water fountain was placed in the Lynx Lair at the request of the Student Council.

The Council plans to conduct a careful study of the method of nomination of the officers of the Council and to consider any improvements which might be made in this method. It is our hope that the Student Body will take an interest in this endeavor and contribute constructive criticism and advice.

For the Student Council, I should like to thank the Student Body, the Administration, Faculty, and Staff of the College for the splendid co-operation given us, upon which the success of the Council depends.

Joe Eades,

President of the Student Body

Tri-Delt Volleyball Winner; Three Teams Finish in Tie

Undefeated Tri-Delt is in first place in the sorority intramural volleyball tournament this week. Kappa Delta, Chi Omega, and Zeta Tau Alpha are tied for second place. These three teams will play off the tie at a later date, and the All-Star teams will be announced when the tournament is over.

Tomorrow Southwestern will enter Memphis State's volleyball tournament. Other teams include Ole Miss and Arkansas State. Our team will be composed of Ann Underwood, Grace Morris, Jane Burns Campbell, Mary Frances Files, Mimsy Townshend, Sallie Myhr Thomas, Sue Robinson, Kathryn Dean Thompson, Betty Russell, and Ann Barr.
