Modern Adaption Of Greek Classic To Be Presented

Jean Anouilh's play, "Antigone," will be presented by the Southwestern Players on March 19 and 20 in Hardie Auditorium.

A similar story has been told by Sophocles of Antigone, the daughter of Oedipus, the king who killed his father Laius and married his mother Queen Jocasta. The modern adaption of "Antigone" by the French author, contained a message for his country during the German occupation. The new version applies to a situation that might occur in any country where a dictator sets himself above both religion and the people.

Joanna Kindig and Ben Miller will be featured as Antigone and Creon in this modern version of the Greek tale. George Hearn will portray Haemon, Betty Sims will be Ismene, and Mary Jane Smalley has the role of the nurse. Jim Eikner takes the part of the Chorus, Malcolm Whatley, Glen Milam, and Scott Byrd are guards. Jerry Evans will be the messenger; Barbara Bondurant takes the role of the page, and Ann Morrison is Eurydice, Creon's wife.

In the modern story, as in the old, Oedipus had left the throne of Thebes to both his sons who squabbled over it until they killed each other, and Creon, brother of Queen Jocasta, became dictator.

Heroine is Martyr

Creon's son Haemon is upset over political injustices, but Antigone, sister of the dead brothers, rebels against Creon's denial of burial to the dead brother Polyneices, and interprets the outrage against the corpse as an offense against God and man. She becomes a martyr when she refuses to forget her principles and think only of her personal welfare.

Anouilh portrayed Antigone as an idealist to all patriots of a

Thirteen Students In Popularity Finals

The Student Council is now conducting the annual popularity poll. The finalists for the Miss Southwestern title are Marcia Calmer, Dot Henning, and Robin Sprague. Running for Mr. Southwestern are Joe Eades and Jimmy Higgason. Grace Brown and Neville Frierson are vying for the title of the Most Stylish Coed.

In the contest for the Best All-Round boy are Billy McLean and Buzzy Turner. The candidates for the Most Attractive Coed are Marian Cobb and Elizabeth Rodgers. Competing for the title of Most Handsome Boy are Johnny Byran and Smokey Russell.

Kappa Deltas Hold Open House Tuesday

Alpha Delta chapter of Kappa Delta sorority will hold an open house on Tuesday evening at their lodge. The group's new officers will be announced at this time.

The open house will be held from 6:00 to 8:00 and the entire student body is invited. Mary Jane Crutcher and Elizabeth Rodgers are in charge of the event.

Many Re-enrolled Students Here

Several new students have appeared on the Southwestern campus this semester. Some of these students are transfers from other schools, and others have re-enrolled after service in the Armed Forces.

College Graduate Receives Fellowship

An announcement was made recently that James Ernest Aydelotte III has been awarded a Rotary International Fellowship for advanced study abroad. The grant was made as a part of the celebration of the world-wide service organization's fifty-first anniversary.

Jim, a 1955 graduate of Southwestern, is now a graduate student at Princeton Theological Seminary in Princeton, New Jersey. He

Eleven Beauties Named To Annual

By Betty Sims

Last Friday night, the annual Lynx Beauty Revue was held in Hardie Auditorium. By now, the footlight action is old news, but there are still a few "behind the scenes" squibs to brighten the weekly roundup. Preparation of the contestants began almost a week ahead of time, and we gals were lending everything from eye shadow to evening gowns to earrings and spraynet. The 36 entries themselves were in a dither of last minute dieting and a confusion of new skin treatments.

Eleven Finalists

The finalists were Beverly Hill, Stella Wilson, Carol Ann Greaves, Sarah Morrison, Elizabeth Rodgers, Clara Ann Marmann, Eleanor Smith, Polly Howie, Marguerite Livingston, Kathryn Dean Thompson and Grace Brown. From this group five will appear in the annual as Lynx Beauties and the remaining six as favorites.

When the performance time actually arrived, Southwestern's most beautiful co-eds nervously paced the cloister. They were even more nervous when the time for first elimination came and twenty numbers were read off. (Wonder if they knew how nervous those of us in the audience were?)

Eventually, after much waiting on the part of the contestants, much debate on the part of the judges, and an awful lot of nail chewing on the part of the spectators, the final eleven were announced.

Eikner M.C.'s

As Jim Eikner said, "It's too bad they can't all bear the title because they are all beauties." Speaking of Eikner, he almost stole the show as M.C. (of course he did have an advantage, being the only male behind the footlights.) Seriously though, he did a terrific job of holding things together with appropriate remarks. Ann Hart's intermission interlude was a real addition, too.

Honor Roll Lists Twenty Students

The Honor Roll and the Dean's List were announced today for the first semester. Those students who were on the honor roll have received "A's" in 14 semester hours or more. They are the following: Jane Burns Campbell, Frances Elaine Donelson, Ed Smith Dorman, Carrie Edwards, Lee Wayland Gibbs, Harrylyn Graves, William R. Hackleman, George Harmon, Lynn Margaret Joseph, and Charlene Jayroe.

Others on the honor roll are: Janet Sandra Klow, Anna Pemberton Kremer, Clara Ann Marmann, Charles Eric Mount Jr., Mary Jane Smalley, Gloria Smith, Sarah Seissinger Tice, Robert Ford Welsh, Joanne Evelyn Williams, and Joan Womack.

The Dean's List is composed of students who are in the upper ten per cent of their class and who carry at least five academic courses. The following are on the Dean's list: Leonora Gertrude Anderson, Carol Jean Barbour, Nelie Laura Brown, William B. Burrow, Jane Burns Campbell, Edith Jean Cooper, Edgar T. Crisler Jr., Marianne Curry, Salliejane Dickerson, Frances Elaine Donelson, Ed Smith Dorman, Carrie Edwards, Elizabeth Etter, Bevington Farnsworth, John Hamilton Gay, Lee Wayland Gibbs, Harrylyn Graves,

FIVE OF THE FINALISTS will be especially featured in the Lynx. The remaining six finalists are: (standing above) Marguerite Livingston, Carol Ann Greaves, and Sarah Morrison; (seated above) Polly Howie, Beverly Hill, and Grace Brown.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

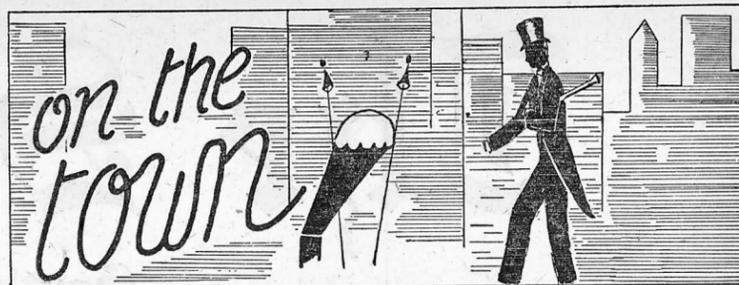

Please Ma'am! Please Sir! Don't tread there! This is a peculiar way to start out a letter to the editor, but the subject that is presented to you is quite different from the regular letters that appear under this caption. It is hoped that a few people will endeavor to meet this challenge and help Mother Nature in her spring-time chores.

Each of us has been instilled with the feeling of loyalty to the school of our choice, Southwestern at Memphis. If we haven't, we should. In showing our faith and loyalty, we may do many things, such as cheering at varsity athletic contests, or simply by passing on a good word about Southwestern when talking to a prospective student. These are but a couple of ways to show loyalty to our Alma Mater.

There is another way to show loyalty, and that is just by trying to beautify the campus. One simple very easy way to help keep Southwestern green, is to use the sidewalks and give the probable sprouts of grass a chance to come out of the ground. It is so much easier to just cut across the barren sodless ground to make a short cut, but this does not aid the growing of grass.

This is a good time to start this resolution of not jay walking across the grassless spots of earth, because of another movement to preserve and increase the campus beauty with shrubs and trees. Let's help out, when possible, and do our part by using the sidewalks, and show pride in our campus.

Sincerely,
Roy Rainey

By Mallory Morris

All men students, women students, their uncles, cousins, grandmothers, members of the faculty, and any or all of their friends are cordially invited to 'get with it' and roll around On The Town during this here now forthcoming weekend.

To begin at the beginning, it may be pointed out that the first theater you come to on South Main Street is the Malco, where a real super-excellent movie has been held over entitled, PICNIC. Anyone over sixteen will certainly appreciate this show and it is highly recommended to all Boy Scouts interested in acquiring a merit badge in zoology. Kim Novak and a bum (played by William Holden) are just two of the many reasons why this show is going to make a lot of people rich.

'Heavy' Lead in State Feature

On the other side of the street and down a block is the State where three thousand wild buffalo star in THE LAST HUNT. Others in the cast are Debra Paget, Stewart Granger, Robert Taylor, and a few stray cowboys. In spite of this cast of thousands, it still may not be the show for you, so please note that a double header is billed at the Strand and should be worth the tariff if you have not seen either show.

BATTLEGROUND, with Tab Hunter is the first, and EAST OF EDEN, with James Dean makes two. Most everyone is familiar with these two shows, so the ordinary inconsequential remarks which would usually follow will be withheld.

At Loew's Palace, THE DEEP BLUE SEA is featured and stars Vivien Leigh and Kenneth More. Don't be deceived by idle rumors that this is about a blue sea. It is, however, pretty exciting.

"The best foreign film of the year," is the phrase used by the New York Film Critics in speaking of DIABOLIQUE, which is showing at the Ritz. A whole host of French people are featured in this highly suspenseful mystery drama which many will agree is a Class A thriller. A special announcement in the advertisement asks that people please not reveal the surprise ending.

Mongols Sweep through Warner

Last, but not least, is the flick at the Warner which is unusually mighty in scope, and this could be none other than—THE CONQUEROR. John Wayne is pretty terrifying as a conqueror, and scampers across the wild and woolly plains of Asia in gay abandon. Susan Hayward is mighty in scope and together they become involved in a saga that cost six million dollars to produce.

The fact that March is International Theater Month will more than likely have little or no direct effect on the lives of most of us, but the fact that '12' is presenting G. B. S.'s "CANDIDA," beginning Tuesday at the King Cotton may. In the cast are Don Williamson, Barbara Cason, Sonny McCalman, and George Touliatos. Again, idle commentary will be held to a minimum by saying that this should be a thoroughly entertaining presentation.

New Show at Slipper

The chances are that one or two may be interested in what is coming off at the Silver Slipper (even though it costs money to get in), so these may be happy to receive the word that Tommy Leonetti and his orchestra will be on hand along with a dancer named Corky Newton. Be on time!

In closing, may the gentle suggestion be offered that if sufficient activities are lacking for a full evening's entertainment, you can always get married. For those desiring to do so, please consult the Yellow Pages for a complete list of Justices of the Peace, and then hasten out On The Town.

Future Planning Day Called Successful

Over one hundred girls participated in Future Planning Day which was held last Monday afternoon in the Chi Omega lodge.

Sue Carter, head of the Women's Undergraduate Board, said, "Interest shown by the large number of girls participating made the event a success."

The meeting consisted of a series of talks by the following speakers: Miss Elizabeth Kittrell, who is a social service worker doing her internship at Gailor Hospital; Mrs. Ruth Sherrill, who is the vice-president of the First National Bank here in Memphis; Dr. Douglas Sprunt, who is associated with the department of pathology at the University of Tennessee Medical School; Miss Thelma Nichols, who is a teacher; Mrs. Van Allan, who is the co-chairman of the Shelby County Republican Party; Dr. Wade Boggs, who was visiting our campus from the Assembly's Training School in Richmond; and Dr. E. L. Queener, head of Southwestern's psychology department.

Mrs. Myrtle C. Nash helped the students to grade their vocational guidance tests and to determine their rating.

A fried chicken supper was enjoyed immediately after the meeting in the Tri-Delt House, and students were given a chance to meet individually with the various speakers.

The Women's Undergraduate Board wishes to express its appreciation to the sororities for giving up their regular meeting time to this program.

Student Government Reports Activities

(The following is the second eight weeks report of Student Council activities in accordance with by-law 15 of the Constitution of the student body.)

Since the last report to the student body (November 18, 1955 issue of The Sou'wester), the Student Council has undertaken projects in several new areas. One of the most important of these projects has been to reactivate a long-defunct radio station on the campus, broadcasting from the speech building located in the center of the campus. The radio committee, composed of Lawrence Cater, chairman, Leslie Read, Graham Hicks, Freeman Douglas, John Faulk, Bob Kollar, Jimmy Davis, and Jim Eikner, have the radio station in operating order and testing periods should be on the air by the time this article goes to press.

Opportunity To Help

When the station is ready for regular broadcasting, instructions as to how to pick up the station on the radios on the campus will be given to the student body. This project should provide a wealth of entertainment for the campus and serve as a valuable media of communication. Anyone interested in working in any department of the station should put their names in the Student Council suggestion box in the social room of Palmer Hall.

The Student Council is now selling Southwestern decals at various intervals in the cloister and after student assembly each Wednesday.

Election Methods Reviewed

On January 10, 1956, the Student Council held a meeting to evaluate the present methods of nominating and electing student body officers and Student Council members. (Constitution of the student body of Southwestern at Memphis, by-laws one and two.) After considerable discussion and a complete review of the present system, the Council voted thirteen to one to retain the existing methods.

Informal dances in the Recreation Room of Voorhies were sponsored by the Council after the basketball games on December 16 and January 14. The proceeds from these dances are to be used to help defray the expenses of the April Fool Carnival which will take place on Friday, April 6.

Original Student Play

Again this year the Carnival will begin with an original play written, produced, and directed by members of the student body, followed by a costume ball in Mallory Gymnasium from 10 P. M. to 2 A. M.

The Council selected the band of Tony Almerico and His Dixieland All-Stars from New Orleans to play for the dance. The price of admission to the Carnival has not yet been decided. All students are urged to help in the planning of the Carnival. There is a $25 award for the author of the play and prizes for the most original costume at the dance. Don Parker and the social committee are busy making plans for the big event.

Chi Omega Sorority Announces Officers

Harriette Matthews was announced as the new president of Chi Omega at the sorority's Storybook Dance last Saturday night in the Panorama Room of the Hotel King Cotton.

The other newly elected officers include Nelie Brown, who is vice-president, Mary Lewis Myatt, secretary, and Nancy Pickens, treasurer. Betty Chalmers is the new pledge trainer.

Religious Groups Announce Meetings

The Westminster Fellowship will have a square dance at Evergreen soon. The date will be announced later.

The Methodist Student Fellowship will meet next Wednesday, March 7, at 5:15 p. m. in front of Voorhies to go to their supper meeting at Springdale church.

Canterbury Club will meet Wednesday, March 7, at 6:45 p. m. in the ATO house. Religious Emphasis week will be conducted March 11-14.

SAE's Entertain With Chisca Ball

Members and pledges of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity will entertain with their annual Black and White ball tomorrow night at the ballroom of the Hotel Chisca, beginning at nine o'clock.

The members and their dates attending will be Gerald Snipes with Suzanne Ellis, Lewis Murray with Fontaine Meacham, Tom Tosh with Lisa Rollow, Robert Templeton with Beverly Curtis, Jettie Bowen with Glenda Bradford, Mike Cody with Nancy Carter, Eddie Horton with Corinne Ridolphi.

Pledges and their dates will be Benny Ferdon with Rae North, Umland Redd with Betty Page, June Davidson with Marilyn Smith, Lee

Trademark Contest Open to Students

Southwestern students have been invited to compete in a college art competition for a visual symbol or trademark for Memphis' new educational television station, WKNO, which plans to operate on Channel 10 within the next few months.

The competition begins March first and all entries must be in the offices of WKNO-TV, 268 Jefferson, by April 1.

Professor Henry Madden said the competition will not be a classroom project but that he will be glad to give technical help to any student who wishes to enter. Professor Madden has the contest rules.

Cash prizes will be $15 and $10. Students who enter will have the advantage of having their work examined by leading advertising people, who will be judges, and winners will be announced both in newspapers and on television.

Also participating in the competition will be students from Memphis Art Academy, Memphis State, and Sienna College.

Registration for Summer To Get Underway March 5

Registration for the first six-weeks term of the Summer Session will be conducted during the week of March fifth through March 10 in the Registrar's Office. Fees may be paid at the time of registration or later; but if they are paid before June 11, the student need not report until Tuesday, June 12, the day that classes actually begin.

A penalty for late payment will be assessed if fees are not paid by 5:00 P.M. on Monday, June 11.

It is important that all prospective summer session students now attending Southwestern register during this period, as after March 10, courses for which there has been little or no demand may be dropped from the schedule. It may also be possible to add new courses to the schedule if pre-registration shows a sufficient need for them.

If a student has any doubt as to his eligibility for the courses he expects to take, he should consult professor or faculty adviser in advance. For instance, Bible 51-52 is not open to students whose total semester hours at the close of the present semester are less than 86.

Campus Challenges

The temptations of Christ were as real as those that confront us as Christians today. The humanity of Christ was striving to darken the flame of Christ's divinity.

As Christ prayed for strength to overcome the first temptaion He must have given thought to how advantageous it would be if He could satisfy the physical needs of His people. However, Christ knew more about people than to make this His mission in life. The depression period in our own country pointed out the inadequacy of the bread line in winning lasting friends and permanently influencing people.

Similar Personal Temptation

As college students striving to develop a strong faith we meet this problem. Sometimes we are tempted to use prayer as a means of telling God what we feel we need. This childish concept is a real barrier to be surmounted if one is to develop a mature prayer life.

Christ, in overcoming the second temptation, realized that He could not win strong followers by winning rapid fame and renown. He knew that the people might gather around Him, but they could be impressed by the man rather than the message. If Christ had chosen to be a worker of miracles, He would not have become our Divine Savior.

Mature Prayer

Sometimes in our prayer life we are like the little boy who prayed that Buffalo might be the capital of New York as he had written on a test. When we ask God for something we don't need, we are saying, "God, I'm not sure You care for me, unless You prove yourself in the dramatic way I am proposing." If we are to have a mature prayer life we must learn to choose only the best for prayerful reflection with Him.

The third temptation of Christ was to use His divine power to crush the Roman empire. If he had done this however, He would not be the Crucified One who leads us to God.

Consider Prayers

Stop a moment and think over the prayers that you have recently prayed. How many of them have been directed toward looking out for "number one?" So often we are tempted to pray for things that will bring us success and satisfaction without adding the words of Christ, "Not my will, but Thine be done, O Lord."

Christ chose the hard road of Service and Sacrifice, and He calls men today to follow Him with the assurance that through prayer they shall receive the strength necessary for the job.

Widgibus

I happen to be writing this Wednesday night, February 29, 1956—a Leap Year. Several boys have asked me to mention this fact and say something about the old idea of girls asking boys in a leap year; only I don't think the boys at Southwestern think its much of a joke now, since every girl who asked a boy for a date tonight, February 29, could have an approved night out of the dorm—courtesy of our Dean of Women, Miss Richards.

Maybe the boys who asked me to say something about Leap Year are just feeling a little left out, since they don't have a date tonight, and probably they would like to see this "girl ask boy for date and have an extra night out" thing become a weekly deal at old Zoo U.

I would like to register a great big protest right now and ask all girls to think about this situation. One night or even one week (a lot of schools have Twirp Week during which dolls ask guys for dates, open doors for the men, and generally behave (in a very nice way) might be fun, but a year is a long time and after some twenty or thirty weeks, things might nearly begin to look bad for the girls.

Just think, girls might end up asking for all the dates, girls might have to start buying tickets and dinners and candy, women might have to start picking up men and waiting five or ten or fifteen minutes in a social room or spend that much time talking to the boy's parents at home while he picks out another tux to wear with the butoniere - she brought. This is getting a little silly, so I'll hush about Leap Year—if I lived in the dorm, I would certainly take advantage of an extra night out and ask a boy for a date!

Congratulations to Harriette Matthews, new president, and to all the other new Chi Omega officers. The Chi Omega's had a very nice dance last Saturday night, and a cute and novel lead-out with all members presented as story book dolls: Marcia Cal-

Cagers Finish Tough Schedule With Three Losses On Road

Record Stands at 9-15 After Finale Against Delta

By Professor Hardwood

The Southwestern Basketeers closed out their season Wednesday night, as they dropped a 76-67 decision to Delta State. Senior Bob Jackson closed out his college career with an 11 point night to boost his 4 year point total to 1,263 points, a Lynx record. Dick Gilliom, the only other senior on the squad, had 22 points against Delta to take game scoring honors. He also had a total of 387 points to lead team scoring for the 1955-56 season. Jim Winslow, the 1957 Captain-elect, scored 18 points.

Austin College and Arkansas State also added losses to the Lynx record during the previous week. Arkansas State stopped the Red and Black 105-81 Thursday night at Jonesboro. Saturday night Austin College dumped the Cats 75-53. Bob Jackson kept pace with Jim Deatherage of Austin College as each of them threw in 22 points.

Southwestern's hardwood record for the year spotted 9 wins against 15 defeats. This can be written off as a fairly successful season since several of their defeats have been at the hands of such potent teams as De Pauw, Tulane, L.S.U., and Mississippi State. This writer sincerely hopes that the Lynx will continue to play these top-flight teams. It is also hoped that even more teams of SEC caliber will be scheduled for the coming season.

The main reason for the large crowds the Lynx drew this year on the road was the tough schedule that they played. Such squads as the Austin College Kangaroos considered the Lynx encounter as one of their top games of the season out of respect for the Southwestern schedule. The local newspaper in Sherman, Texas commented:

"The visitors brought an impressive 9-12 mark that included ten-point losses to LSU, Mississippi State and a 15-point defeat by Tulane into the game."

This is just to remind us at Southwestern that a team's ability cannot always be measured by its record. Southwestern will continue to schedule and play the best teams available and should field a team capable of competing with the best, if players of outstanding ability both on the court and in the classroom, who want to play basketball for Southwestern are af-

Council's Activities Announced

Elaine Vickrey presented a revised constitution of the Publications Board which the Council accepted at its February 14 meeting.

The two members of the Council from the Freshman Class have been very active. An evaluation of the hazing program was drawn up by a committee of the freshman class with suggestions for hazing next year. The freshman class adopted a constitution and has outlined plans for many class activities in the future. The Red Cross campaign on the campus next week will be sponsored by the freshman class.

A very successful Future Planning Day was sponsored by the Women's Undergraduate Board on Monday, February 27. Sue Carter was in charge of the arrangements.

Suzanne McCarroll and the Protestant Religious Council are helping with the plans for our spring Religious Evaluation Program, March 11-14.

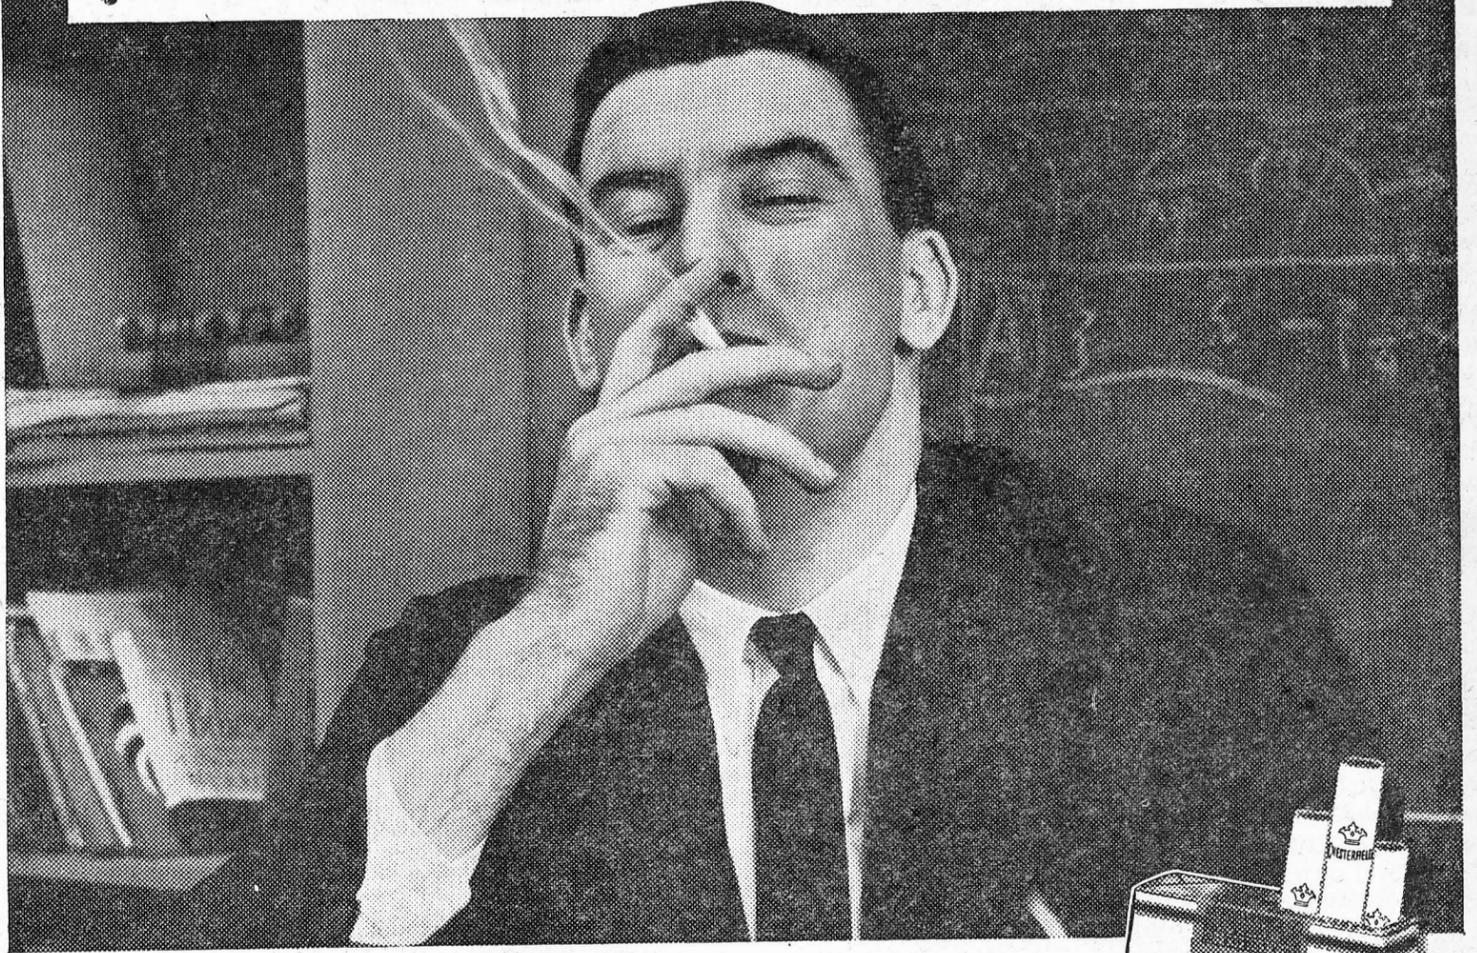

Again I would like to thank the student body, the Sou'wester, the Administration, the Faculty, and the staff of the college for their splendid co-operation.

The Council is eager to participate in any program for the improvement of Southwestern and will welcome any suggestions to this end.
