Delta Invitational Meet Saturday

Freshman Vespers Tonight in Garden

Tonight at 6:15, the last of two Freshman vespers will be held in Fisher Memorial Garden. The speaker will be the Reverend Frank Soules of Chattanooga, Tennessee, who will speak on the subject, "The Persecution of Christ on the Christian Campus."

The service will be conducted by members of the Freshman Class. Larry Kennon, class president, will preside. The call to worship will be presented by Bill Teague. Richard Park will read the scripture selection, and Charles Hammett will deliver the prayer.

Special Music

Sandy Calmer will sing a vocal solo. Ed Stock and Sandy McLaren are in charge of the music.

Rev. Soules is now serving the Central Presbyterian Church of Chattanooga as assistant pastor and as Director of Christian Education. He takes an active interest in young people's work in Chattanooga by acting as adult adviser to the Knoxville Presbytery Council and directing the city youth work.

Youth Worker

The Freshman Council asked Rev. Soules to address the student body at Southwestern because of his active participation in youth work, his reputation as an outstanding inspirational speaker, and his interest in Southwestern.

The vesper service has been planned by the Freshman Council and a class vesper committee. Serving on the committee are Mike Luffer, Ann Evans, Sara Jean Jackson, Joan Waggoner, Sam Martin, John Gay, Joe Sullivan, Richard Park, Bob Welsh, and Mary Farish.

Dick Crawford, Harriette Mathewes Named As Honor Council Officers

The officers and members for the 1956-57 Honor Council have all been elected. Dick Crawford is to be the president of the group. Dick transferred to Southwestern from Arkansas State College where he was vice-president of his class. At Southwestern, he is secretary of Kappa Alpha fraternity, and is a member of the Southwestern Singers. Dick is a political science major.

Harriette Mathewes is vice-president. She was recently elected secretary-treasurer of the Senior Class. Harriette is president of Chi Omega, and served as treasurer of that sorority last year. She was queen of the April Fool Court, and was a member of the Homecoming Court. Recently, she was selected as the sweetheart of SAE.

Representing the senior class on next year's council will be Mary Lewis Myatt, Louis Dodez, and Billy McLean.

Mary Lewis was pledge mistress and is now treasurer of Chi Omega. She was a student counselor for three years, and as a sophomore was Southwestern's Maid of Cotton.

S. Nu. President

Louis Dodez was formerly secretary of Sigma Nu and is now president of Sigma Nu; he has participated in intramural sports and was a candidate for Vice President of the Student Body.

MIKE CODY AND BOB JACKSON will be two of Southwestern's representatives at the Delta Invitational track meet tomorrow. Lynx entries in this annual event hope to win some of the trophies pictured here, which have been donated for the Delta Invitational by various Memphis firms.

YWCA Discusses Plans

The Southwestern YWCA met Tuesday, May 8, at the Tri Delt house. Beth LeMaster, who was recently elected as new president of the organization, reviewed the past year's activities and previewed plans for the coming year.

Among the plans mentioned for the school year 1956-57, was a service project to help the Happy Acres home for retarded children.

Luther Steinberg Will Play at KS Stardust Formal

It's definite now.

Luther Steinberg is coming.

He'll be here Saturday night at the Kappa Sigma Formal at the Chisca Hotel—and all his boys will be there too. Together they're known as Luther Steinberg and his orchestra, with the rockiest music anybody ever heard. In fact, Luther is so good that the Kappa Sigs are having him start half an hour early, so that there will be three and a half hours of dancing, from 8:30 to 12, in the Chickasaw Ballroom.

The center of attraction, outside of Luther and his boys, will be the decorations, which features approximately 900 glittered stars suspended from the ceiling, and large cut-out stars about each fixture. The dance, appropriately enough, is the Stardust Ball.

The Kappa Sigma sweetheart for next year will be announced at the fraternity formal, as will the new officers.

Three Southwestern Co-Eds Reign Over Day's Activities

The Delta Invitational Track Meet will be held on this campus tomorrow afternoon at 12:30. Three Southwestern co-eds have been named to reign over the day's activities. Stella Wilson, Nancy Carter, and Beverly Hill are the lucky girls.

Opinion, Please

by Mary Ann Lee

Question: What changes would you suggest to improve freshman hazing next fall?

Answers:

Bill Teague, freshman: We need more upperclassmen participation. The freshman need to have a little fear put into them. However, paddling does more harm than good. If we're going to use anything on the freshmen, it should be a whip!

Walker Wellford, sophomore: A shorter period of hazing would encourage more spirit, I think. There should definitely be more penalties for freshmen who don't wear their caps and signs.

Elizabeth Locke, freshman: We should make them do my second year Greek homework. I really don't believe in hazing, though.

Skip Schoneburg, sophomore: The hazing period should be shorter and better organized. Freshmen dread hazing when they come, but they soon lose interest when the upperclassmen don't haze them. The freshmen should help keep up the spirit of hazing. The way it's been

'57 Publications Need Editors and Managers

Applications for the positions of yearbook editor, yearbook business manager, newspaper editor and newspaper business manager will be accepted through next week, according to Publications Commissioner John Farris. A salary of $200 will be paid for each position. Applicants must be juniors by the Fall term with satisfactory scholastic records.

The Publications Board will meet Monday at 2:00 in room 114 Palmer. Wednesday in chapel the Publications Commissioner will report to the students on activities and prospects of both the Sou'wester and the Lynx.

Dr. Storn Honored By Spanish Club

The Spanish Club held its annual breakfast meeting at the Zeta house Thursday morning, May 10. About forty Spanish students were present. The breakfast which began as a tradition by Dr. Storn, was held in his honor. The Spanish students of Southwestern presented an autographed book as a present.

The Spanish Club officers this semester have been President, Betty Faye Hand; Vice-President in charge of programs, Sally Stockley; Vice-President in charge of social functions, Lola Lyles; Secretary, Sue Robinson; and Treasurer, Gloria Smith. Professor Southard has served as adviser this year.

Stella, a sophomore, was selected Queen of the event by the entire student body. She is a member of Kappa Delta sorority, of W. F., and has been a cheerleader.

Stella was runner-up in the Miss Tennessee contest last year, having been chosen "Miss Covington." Her picture will appear in the beauty section of the Lynx this year.

Track Meet Princess is Nancy Carter. Nancy, who is a sophomore, is editor of Kappa Delta and co-chairman of the Religious Seminar. She is a member of the YWCA and has been named a student counselor for next fall.

Chosen by the S Club, Beverly Hill will also bear the title of "Princess." A member of Chi Omega, Beverly was a winner in the Lynx Beauty Revue. She also belongs to the YWCA and to the BSU. She is a freshman.

Nearly 100 track and field athletes representing nine colleges will compete in the meet which begins tomorrow at 12:30 when the field events get under way. Track events will begin half an hour later.

Defending champion Memphis State will be on hand, as will contestants from last year's runner-up, Mississippi State. Other teams participating are from Mississippi Coll., Murray (Ky.) State, Sewanee, William Carey, Arkansas State, Delta State, and Southwestern.

Besides the fifteen standard events, six relays have been scheduled and a trophy will be awarded to each winning team.

TV Script Writer Anne H. Bailey Chapel Speaker

Anne Howard Bailey, Southwestern alumna, was chapel speaker Tuesday. Miss Howard ('45), returned to tell about her trials and tribulations as a successful television scriptwriter.

While at Southwestern, she served as Sou'wester editor. "I always knew I wanted to write," she stated, "but I didn't know exactly what I wanted to write."

In the years following her graduation, Miss Howard wrote advertising copy for radio.

Finally, after she went to New York, one of her TV plays was accepted, and her career as a television dramatist was underway. She has written for such shows as Circle Theatre and Robert Montgomery Presents, and has served as script editor for Circle Theatre. "Currently, I'm free-lancing," she says.

Miss Howard is a Kappa Delta alumna.

Salute to Freshmen Class

The present freshman class has certainly outdistanced all the other classes this year by their numerous activities. At the present time they are sponsoring a vesper service this evening in Fisher Garden.

The first project of the class was to construct their own constitution. One important step that their officers took was the appointment of several committees on which many of the freshmen worked. This aided in strengthening the class unity and promoted their feeling of being a "class."

The freshmen had their own class party later in the year in the gym which was very successful. The campus Red Cross drive was sponsored by the freshman class. Having recently struggled through the ordeal of hazing, they presented a petition to the student council regarding this enigma of freshman training. Just this past week they sponsored a vesper service for the entire student body and another one will be held tonight.

Other classes have possibly shown an equal portion of vim and vigor at Southwestern, but in some manner, once a class graduates from the lowly rank of freshmen, all class activities seem to melt away. Somehow the former enthusiasm of being a class "in itself" is lost.

We hope that this freshman class will continue to be a real class and by its participation in school life furnish a much needed incentive to the other classes.

The Administration

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS by Dick Bibler

"SPLENDID INTERVIEW - HE'S ECCENTRIC, BIGOTED AN' CONSERVATIVE. HELL MAKE A FINE ADDITION TO THE FACULTY."

'Dan McGrew' Campus Style

by W. M. Morris

It was many and many a year ago, in a kingdom by the zoo, That a big shot there lived, who you probably don't know, By the name of Dan McGrew; And this Lynx-cat he lived, with not other thought, Than to late-date with women named Lou!

A bunch of the cats were whooping it up, In the Lynx Lair's dingy back room;

The kid that handled the music box,

Was hitting a jag-time tune; Back in the rear in a hot bridge game,

Sat dangerous Dan McGrew, And watching his luck was his late date that night,

A chick who was known as "Lou." When out of the night (which was twenty below),

And into the lair and the glare; There stumbled a freshman straight from the dance,

Who was loaded—but not for bear; He looked like a lad who was failing his work,

And about to get kicked out of school;

But he tossed a quarter in change on the bar,

And called for free drinks — the fool.

There were none who could place the stranger's face,

For he was such a horrible crud, But we all drank his health—except Dangerous Dan,

Who was thinking of drinking his blood.

There are men that somehow grip your eyes,

And hold them hard like a spell; And such was he and he looked to me,

Like some pledge from the pits of hell.

With his nerves on the loose, and the frustrated stare,

Of a student in Analyt class, He drank three bottles of soda pop straight,

Then started to eat the glass;

I began to wonder who the gentleman was,

And what he was planning to do;

Then I looked around, and watching him,

Was this same chick, known as Lou.

The guy went stumbling around the room,

And he seemed in a kind of daze; Til' at last the old piano fell,

In the way of his wandering gaze; The music major was taking a break,

There was no one else on the stool. So the stranger staggered across the room,

And flopped down there like a fool, In his tuxedo shirt that was smeared with dirt,

He sat and I saw him totter; Then he clutched the keys with his bony hands,

Liberace could not have done better. Then all of a sudden the music changed,

So soft, that you scarce could hear;

But you felt that your life had been looted clean,

Of all that it once held dear; That someone had stolen your date from the dance,

That her love was a devil's lie; So the only thing left for you to do,

Was to bring "iron justice" or die! The music almost died away,

Then it burst like a pent-up flood; And it seemed to say, "some upper-classman would pay,"

And his eyes were blind with blood; The thought came back of a horrible wrong,

And it stung like a frozen lash; And the lust awoke to kill—to kill—

Then the music stopped with a crash;

And the freshman turned and his eyes they burned,

With Scott Byrd

Well, my deadline is fifteen minutes away with comprehensives, other exams, et cetera coming, so I'll just dash you a note to let you know that there is something to do ON THE TOWN! (But don't be half-safe; look up the date of the Lyrical Ballads and study your Xenophon notes like a Trojan.)

The movies this week look less than magnetically attractive, although there are a couple of pseudo-goodies. Susan Hayward returns midst the mountains of Mississippi for TAP ROOTS at the Warner. This is a 1948 version of the classic by the famous Southern writer James Street, with additional dialogue by Lionel Wiggam. Julie London (who has since cried me a river) is featured as one of Miss Hayward's relations, and Van Heflin is cast as a would-be relation of them both or either. (Have you noticed the subtle influence of WAITING FOR GODOT on my literary style?)

Swamp Story

Another tender Southern story can be viewed at the Strand. SWAMP WOMEN was produced by a former Memphian, but in all honesty, I must admit that it isn't anything to mortgage the old plantation over. Marie Windsor and Carole Mathews are swamped by stagnant flora and fauna and they seem right at home.

Out West at the Palace, James Cagney turns in another fine performance in TRIBUTE TO A BAD-MAN, but you may have some reservations about the film. (If you have no reservations, then I suggest that you contact either your travel agent or the American Consulate.)

The Ritz has an excellent film concerning war in Israeli. HILL, 24 DOESN'T ANSWER stars (no, not Grace Kelly; despite the fact that when the telephone rings, you'll scream) Haya Hararit, Edward Mulhave and Michael Wagner. It should be the best movie from Israeli in years.

A real international episode complete with spies is THE MAN WHO NEVER WAS at the Malco. Gloria Graham still has the sadistic make-up man from NOT AS A STRANGER, but the espionage episodes involving Clifton Webb are genuinely fascinating. ON THE THRESHOLD OF SPACE, a science-fiction thriller with Guy Madison, perches precariously at the State. It may not be the last word in science, but it certainly isn't the last word in fiction.

Ralph Flanagan Featured

The Peabody has Ralph Flanagan for the weekend, and he'll play for anyone who wants to dance. Tana Leigh does interpretative dancing at the Silver Slipper along with Corky. (Who?)

Keep a couple of plays in mind for the future. "12" will present Anouilh's and Fry's RING ROUND THE MOON, featuring the Touliatos brothers, on May 22 and after. The Little Theatre will star Martha Owen in JENNY KISSED ME by Jean Kerr for a space after May 25. They will come to you live from the Hotel King Cotton and the Pink Palace, respectively.

My fifteen minutes is up; and before I turn back into a pumpkin, let me just wish you luck ON THE TOWN! (I had a coy childhood).

In a deadly, hateful way; In a tuxedo shirt that was glazed with dirt, He sat and I saw him sway. Then his lips went in, in a kind of grin, And he spoke and his voice was calm, "Boys," said he, "you don't know me, "You don't know just how mean I am; "But I want to state that my words are straight, "And you know so well they're true; "One of your seniors late-dated on me, "That one is—Dan McGrew!" Then I ducked my head and the lights went out,

And a .45 blazed in the dark; Then the lights came on, and a woman screamed, And a man lay stiff and stark; No trace of a wound did they find on the man, Or the faintest sound of a breath; The freshman had missed—but the noise from the gun, Had scared the critter to death; For flat on his back, and as dead as could be, Lay Dangerous Dan McGrew; While the freshman just stood there in front of the bar, Fondly gazing at Lou. This story has a moral, of course And one so very true; Don't ever late-date on a freshman's mate, If his date is a lady named Lou.

Vogue Magazine Sponsors Contest

How would you like to win $1,000 cash, or two marvellous weeks in Paris, plus top consideration for a job on VOGUE, the world's leading fashion magazine?

VOGUE's 22nd Prix de Paris Contest, for senior college women, offers you these wonderful prizes. If you're going to be a senior next year, and you're planning a career in writing, publishing, advertising, merchandising or decorating, you have until October 15 to enter VOGUE's famous Prix de Paris Contest.

The first prize in the Prix de Paris is $1,000 cash, or two memorable weeks in Paris, flying both ways, all expenses paid. The second prize is $500 cash. Each of ten Honourable Mention Winners will receive $25 cash. First and Second Prize Winners and the ten Honourable Mention Winners will receive top consideration for jobs on Vogue, Glamour, House & Garden, Vogue Pattern, Book and Vogue Knitting Book . . . all Condé Nast publications.

The next fifty top ranking contestants will be recommended for jobs by VOGUE to stores, advertising agencies and other magazines.

Writing ability, grasp of subject matter, general intelligence, originality and demonstration of special talents are the points on which contestants are judged.

Using VOGUE as a textbook, Prix de Paris competitors must complete two quizzes of four questions each, based on actual editorial problems. The first quiz will appear in VOGUE's College Issue (August 1); the second will be in the December issue of VOGUE. Those who satisfactorily answer both quizzes will be eligible to write a 1,500-word thesis on one of the topics in VOGUE's Americana Issue of February 1, 1957.

Enrollment blanks are available upon request from the Prix de Paris Director, VOGUE, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York 17, New York.

the track team.

Neville Frierson, another junior representative, was recently elected as student council representative for the junior class. She was secretary-treasurer of her sophomore class and served on the dorm board for which she will be vice-president next year. Neville is personnel chairman of ChiO, and was selected KA Rose.

Louis Zbinden, also of the junior class, served as president of his freshman and sophomore classes. He was a cheer leader, and has been an officer in KA for two years.

The three chosen to represent the sophomore class for next year are Sandy Calmer, Sam Martin, and Ed Stock.

Sandy Calmer is a member of ChiO, and was president of her pledge class. She was the freshman representative to the honor council, and served on the YWCA

Invitation of membership in this group of representative women students is extended on the basis of character, scholarship, and activity points.

Jane Burns, secretary of Tri Delta, has served as a class officer and has been on the honor roll and dean's list. She is now S.T.A.B. president.

Bennie Ann, member of Stylus and Sou'wester staff, is new president of ZTA.

Retiring president of AOPi, Mim is new secretary-treasurer of the student body and vice president of Pi Intersorority.

Anne is vice president of Tri Delta and of the Y, a member of Stylus and of Eta Sigma Phi.

Last year's outstanding sophomore, Suzanne, is co-chairman of the Student Counselors and a member of S.T.A.B. She has served as commissioner of religious activities and as a class officer.

Harriette, president of Chi Omega, was queen of the April Fool Court and SAE sweetheart this spring. She is also a S.T.A.B. officer.

A member of Pan-Olympics, Jerry was elected to Pi Intersorority, of which she is now secretary-treasurer. She has been a Y officer and is secretary-treasurer of Zeta.

Mary Jane, rush chairman of Kappa Delta and co-chairman of the Student Counselors, ranked first scholastically in last year's freshman class.

Tri-Deltas Honor Seniors

Delta Delta Delta will honor the 1956 Southwestern Senior women with a Pansy Dessert Saturday afternoon at 3:00 in the Fisher Memorial Garden. Invitations are extended to the women of the faculty, the faculty wives, and the presidents of each sorority. At this time the winners of the Tri Delta scholarship will be announced.

The highlight of the afternoon will be the showing of fashions from Mam'selle modeled by Meryl Davis, Ann Evans, Mary Farish, Peggy Moffett, Sara Morrison, Julia Simmons, and Elinor Smith.

She is a student counselor. Sam Martin was social chairman for the Evergreen Westminster Fel-

QUEEN OF THE DELTA INVITATIONAL track meet will be Stella Wilson. With her court, track team princess Nancy Carter and "S" club princess Beverly Hill, she will reign over tomorrow's activities and give trophies to individual winners.

Campus Challenges

Matthew 5:16. — Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.

How can we live the life of a witnessing Christian of the college campus? Can we witness by being in a horrid fear of associating with our fellow students, thinking that we can be influenced by some evil action performed by them? The point is that we cannot say that since there are some students on the campus whose character is not of the highest virtue, that we have to withdraw from the college community life.

Calvin once said that we must live like monks on main street. Christians should live a normal life with their fellowmen, showing by their own examples the correct way that followers of Christ should live. A Christian life isn't a morbid life, but a life that is full of joy and happiness.

Yet, what about us average people on the campus who participate in activities and who bear the name Christian because the name has been attached to us by our society. How do we witness for Christ?

Well, it's almost too sad to reflect about. For our witnessing, by the way we live, is almost zero. We think it's cute to talk about the boy or girl who is quite intelligent, but yet who has some unusual characteristic. In walking along the corridors or on the campus grounds, we nod our heads or speak to the campus leaders, but yet we give a blank stare to someone whom we think is a little odd. In our fraternity, our student body, and class elections, we hold some trite dislike of a person because of what he believes in.

But we say we are human, we can't help it. Yes, we are human, but the joy of living is living a full Christian life in every degree. We don't steal or break the moral laws of God, but yet by being petty and trite to our fellow students, we surely are not living a Christian life.

Peter Marshall was a man who lived with Christ everyday, and through whom shone the expression of Christ in everything he did. In giving ourselves wholly to Christ, we must bear with love and patience our fellow man, remembering always that our every act and deed is watched by him. May we ever bring someone to Christ, not away from Him. Is our light hidden, or is it shining forth, like the rays of the sun, driven by the force of our love of Christ for our fellowman?

Baseballers Drop Three At Finish

Southwestern's Lynx dropped their final three games last week to end the season with a 5-13 record. About the only bright spot on the scene is that the Lynx lose only one man from this year's squad, that being Crawford Street, co-captain and centerfielder.

Last Friday Arkansas State slapped down the red and black 9-6. Rast was the winner as he struck out 10, walked 12, and yielded 6 hits. Bob Rose walked 3, ko-ed 7, and gave up 9 bingles.

Crawford Street and John Dunlap led the Lynx at the plate with two raps apiece. Dunlap also had two R.B.I.'s.

Saturday Southwestern used five men on the mound as Union slaughtered the Lynx 23-6. Southwestern had only 8 hits, 3 by C. D. Kilpatrick. Smith and Coffman led the 15 hit Union attack with 3 hits each. Lowery was the winner, while Joe Weeks was charged with the loss.

The final blow fell Wednesday at Memphis State came from behind to defeat the Lynx 7-5. Robert Elam picked up the win as he struck out 9 while going the distance. Bob Rose was on the short end of the battle, giving up 7 hits and striking out 3.

Andy Gandy led the Lynx stickmen with two hits, one a home run to right center. Joe Boals also hit a round tripper to right center when he lined one over second and between the fielders. Dennis Harrison banged a four-master for the Tigers.

Attendance showed a remarkable increase at our last home game as Memphis State turned out in force for the contest.

Field Day Climaxes Sorority Competition

Sorority and Independent teams competed in the intramural Field Day this afternoon to round out the year's program in women's athletics.

Each group placed representatives in tennis, badminton, archery, golf, and ping-pong. The golf matches were played at Galloway.

A trophy will be awarded to each winning team and the Intramural trophy will go to the group that has scored the most points in all sports throughout the year. This trophy is currently owned by Tri Delt.

the past two years is sort of a joke.

Albert the Alligator, postgraduate: I'm for vice.

Bob Rickard, senior: Make the freshmen memorize the Anglican Catechism and then confine them to two hours of Bartok in the music room.

No Golfers Qualify At SI Tournament

At the Southern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament held in Athens, Georgia, on May 3, 4, and 5, Southwestern was represented by seven of its linksters. Those traveling to Athens with Coach William R. Maybry were Billy McLean, Lewis Bledsoe, Skip Shoneberg, John Mostellar, Bart Rainey, Bob Welsh, and Bobby Weaver.

The SIGT is a 72-hole medal play tournament with 36 holes of the 72 played as qualifying rounds. The low 40 players and ties played the final 36 holes. None of the Lynx were able to qualify but a creditable showing was made by the locals.

The Lynx closed their season yesterday with a three-way match with Memphis State and Mississippi State.
