The Year

January 20

Martin Luther King Day Celebrated Nationwide For The First Time.

January 28

Just 73 seconds after lift-off, the Challenger disappeared in an orange and white fireball. Millions of people around the world witnessed the tragic death of seven dedicated Americans.

February 25

Corazon Aquino is sworn in as the new Phillippine President.

Ferdinand and Imela Marcos flee Malacanang Palace.

April 26

A nuclear reactor at Chernobyl explodes.

May 25

America joins hands to fight hunger.

HANDS ACROSS AMERICA gave Americans the opportunity to stand together to fight hunger and homelessness in the United States. All proceeds will be distributed as a project of the USA for Africa Foundation. Funds will go directly toward helping the hungry and homeless in the United States through emergency relief, existing programs and long-term development projects. Rhodes' professor Michael McLain is serving on the committee to appropriate funds in the Nashville area.

July 4

Statue of Liberty's 100th Birthday

On July 4, 1986 six million happy onlookers watched what has been called the grandest Fourth of July bash ever. After a two-year makeover costing $75 million, Lady Liberty was standing prouder than ever. The fireworks celebrating her birthday and facelift was described by New York mayor as "the best . . . since Nero set Rome on fire."

July 23

October 11-12

Ronald Reagan and Mikhail Gorbachev meet in Iceland for arms talks.

December 1

Tennessee

For the second time in the twentieth century, a Tennessee courtroom has become the setting for fundamentalists waging war against what they called anti-Christian themes in American Schools. In the town of Greeneville in East Tennessee, seven fundamentalist Christian families were able to persuade a federal judge that evolution and much worse was again being taught at the expense of their beliefs. The school board is appealing the ruling.

House speaker Ned McWherter was chosen to become Tennessee's 46th governor. He is succeeding Republican Governor Lamar Alexander. It will be interesting to see Alexander's next political move — possibly to D.C.?

Kellye Cash, Miss Tennessee, claims the title of Miss America 1987.

Memphis

THE BEST . . .

Each year, readers of Memphis magazine declare the "creme de la creme" of the city. The following are some excerpts from that article . . .

Best Jukebox

Alex's

Best DJ

FM 100's Ron Olsen

Best Local Singer/Band

Good Question/Reba and the Portables

Best Local Character

Prince Mongo

Best Happy Hour

Houlihan's

Best Bartender

Sonny Clark and Larry McCandless from Huey's

Best Place To Be Seen

Peabody Lobby

Best Of The Best

Kellye Cash, Miss America 1987

Best Place To Go On A First Date

The Peabody — other nominees included the Med's Trauma Center

The information on these two pages were obtained from Memphis magazine, Volume XI, No. 9, December 1986.

*Dear God,
give me a goal impossible to reach
so that when I reach it
I'll know that nothing is impossible!*

— Alice-Joyce Davidson

Wien, Wien, Nur Du Allein . . .

Last April, amidst warnings of terrorism, a group of Rhodes German students set out for Vienna, Austria with their fearless leader, Johann Bruhwiler. After studying the German language in the morning, the students struck out on their own to study the culture and lifestyle of Vienna. There were operas to be seen, concerts to be heard, museums to be experienced, and life to be lived in this new cultural sphere. Like Falco, these jet-set Rhodesians heard "Vienna calling."

France

Oxford

British Studies is a six week program now conducted at St. John's College at Oxford. During the program, students attend lectures by eminent British authorities on the Arts, history, philosophy, and literature. In addition to the experience of living and dining in the sixteenth century buildings of the college, students made weekend excursions to Stratford-on-Avon, Canterbury, Stonehenge, and other places rich in the cultural history of England.

A group of Rhodes students spent their summer amidst the beauty of Yellowstone National Park. An experience such as this is not easily forgotten. One remembers questions from tourons (tourist + moron = touron) such as "Is old faithful hot or cold steam?" or "How old does a moose have to be before it turns into a buffalo?"

Yellowstone

The Year Abroad

Each year, students from across the United States set out for a year abroad on the European continent . . . Greece . . . France . . . Germany . . . Italy . . . Austria . . . Each person has his own reasons for making this journey — ranging from the broadening of his horizons to a personal quest. Regardless of reasoning, the time spent abroad is enriching. Among those travelers were Rhodes' own Lee Nimocks and Julie Rold. Lee spent part of her time in the French provinces. She is pictured in Arles Theatre.

During my year abroad, I was determined to fulfill one quest: to find the best pizza in Europe. Fie on culture; fie on my education — in my heart of hearts I knew what I wanted. So, with a pair of trusty sidekicks, I consulted the Grand Oracle to discover the answer. After wrestling with the ferocious guard monkey and losing my companions in the monkey's jaws, I found the answer (or so I thought). I set off to Greece to wait patiently outside taverna after taverna — but, alas, my waits were in vain. Note the obvious disgust on the faces of my two new companions, who died shortly after this tragic pizza eating episode.

But, finally, I was to discover, at long last, the best pizza in Europe. After many trials and adventures which are too numerous to relate, I fished from the canals of Venice my reward and at long last my strife was over! AH!!

— Julie Rold

"That big river's still rolling through Memphis . . ."

"... and on Beale Street, they still play the blues."

OPENING CONVOCATION '86

Another Year . . .

The SGA sponsored a day of appreciation for the staff of the refectory called ARA Appreciation Day. Peter Scott and David Dubard ask the age old question, "May we serve you?"

Another 12,000 Dollars!

The Cows Are Coming!

The "Bovine Bash" during first term went to benefit Heifer Project. Laura Miller and John Rosser were chosen as Mr. and Miss Bovine for the day.

The crowd is awe struck as Charlotte McLain milks her cow with consumate skill.

Chuck Orvis — hard at work.

We're All Kids At Heart

The circus brings out the child in all of us, and the Royal Lichtenstein Circus was able to make everyone forget about first term exams looming overhead. The audiences were delighted by the sidewalk troupe.

McCOY TH

Julie Owens and Ann Lyon starred in the first production of the season, "Wonderful Town".

Kurt Low and Preston Becker in rehearsal.

EATRE

Sisters Ruth and Eillen have some unwanted company.

Zoe Caldwell

Zoe Caldwell brought her one-woman show to Rhodes. The show was called "Lillian" as was based on the life of Lillian Hellman.

McCoy Visiting Artist

McCoy Nominees

Michael Updegraff won the award for the Best Actor in a college drama for his role as "Smike" in "Nicholas Nickleby".

Sarah Jones won the award for the Best Actress in a college musical for her role in "Cowardy Custard".

Florence M. Johnson was nominated for Best Actress in a college drama for her role as "Maria" in "Twelfth Night".

Mark-Landon Smith was nominated for Best Actor in a college drama for his role as "Sir Andrew" in "Twelfth Night".

Each year Memphis Magazine nominates the best performances in Memphis theatre from college and community productions. The McCoy Theatre yielded the above nominees to the 1986 Memphis Theatre Awards.

The RAs this year were a vibrant, active group of intellectuals who lived in singles. They were into roommate problems, dorm damage, and chainsaws. Not only emotionally stable, they brought a measure of social sunshine into their resident's lives with such successful Commons Events as the Evergreen Haunted House. Notwithstanding these menial chores, the RAs loved to help everyone with their problems. ANY problem . . .

Mortar Board is a national honor society of college students. It recognizes service, scholarship, and leadership among its members, who are selected in the second term of their junior year. Their induction into Mortar Board signifies their continuing commitment to these ideals. The 1986-1987 Mortar Board members represent most disciplines of study at Rhodes, and are active in the spectrum of campus and community life. Traditional Mortar Board service projects at Rhodes include calendar sales, helping at registration, honoring the housekeeping and grounds staff, and honoring students' exceptional scholastic performance.

Pub Board

Serving as the governing body for campus publications, the Rhodes College Pub Board oversees The Lynx, The Sou'wester, Southwestern Review, Faces and the Freshman Handbook. Besides selecting new editors, the Board, in its monthly duties, also drafts editor contracts, approves budgets, and beginning this year, members help proof and edit copy. The Pub Board is composed of a commissioner, who, in addition to presiding at meetings, is also in charge of reporting to the SGA; the Editors; and elected representatives. All members of the Pub Board work towards improving Rhodes College publications.

Omicron Delta Kappa

Omicron Delta Kappa is a national leadership honor society that recognizes outstanding juniors and seniors for their scholarship and leadership roles in campus activities and service. ODK strives to provide opportunities for student leadership skill development as well as to foster open lines of communication among student organizations, faculty, and administration.

International House

Third row: Tom Crichlow, Bob Barnett, David Carter, Tom Horton, Peter Frielinghausen.

*The International House (IHOP*) is Rhodes' foreign language dormitory and also serves as the campus organization responsible for international awareness on campus. Working closely with Rhodes' Department of Foreign Languages and international students, IHOP benefited the campus with lots of fun projects this past year. They began the year with the BOVINE BASH and raised $750 for Heifer Project International, a charity which sends surplus livestock to underprivileged areas. IHOP also launched PREMISES, Memphis' only regular foreign film series this year. It held its annual Christmas and Mardi Gras parties, as well as International Week, packed with many events of international interest. IHOP has had a busy year indeed, and next year look like more of the same, from Language Tables in the Rat to Visiting Artists.*

Astronomy Club

The Astronomy Club was founded several years ago for the purpose of stimulating interest in and increasing understanding of observational astronomy. The club has access to a wide range of telescopes, including the college's 31' reflecting telescope, the largest such instrument in the Mid-South. Activities of the club include weekly observing sessions, along with various field trips to local planetaria and sites with greater stellar visibility, etc. The club is also looking forward to the launching of its first manned spaceship in early 1990, code-named BIG DIEHL, the project includes the extensive training of several freshmen to serve as astronauts on this journey to another solar system.

Honor Council

One of the unique aspects that places our ivy in a league of its own is the system of honor that is at the heart of the institution. The system exists to promote a feeling of trust amongst the members of the Community at Rhodes. This year the Honor Council has focused on continuing to promote this system of trust on our campus, by communicating with the students on how to improve our system.

SRC

Rhodes strives to be a college community where students can develop to their fullest potential, not only as scholars, but also as caring members of the community. Thus, they must have freedom of choice in as many areas as possible so that through experience they may acquire a mature attitude of responsibility toward their community. The primary purpose of the Social Regulations Council is to serve the community by upholding the Rhodes ideals and protecting the rights of the individuals through a system of general consideration rather than through arbitrary and confining sets of rules. The SRC believes that by regulating social life in the above manner the students' need for cooperation and responsibility will be achieved.

Canterbury Club

The Canterbury Club has existed at Rhodes for the past few years, but when a student picked randomly was told about the club's existence, they asked, "What's the Canterbury Club?" The Canterbury Club is the group of Episcopalian students here at Rhodes. The club meets every week for a service in Voorhies chapel. Due to poor organization in the past, the club has not been publicized and consequently the services have been poorly attended. This year, however, the new officers are working diligently to make the Canterbury Club a vital part of the ministry to the Rhodes Community. They assist Father Baltus in organizing special events and services here on campus and when the opportunity arises, off campus. Last spring, the Bishop of the Diocese of West Tennessee officiated at a service held in Risher Gardens and then joined the students for an enjoyable dinner. For the 1986-1987 year, the officers hope to have this as well as other events for the students to enjoy.

Inter-Varsity

First Row: Patti Mooris, Bill Casteel
 Second Row: Chris Coleman, Anna-Marie Basarrate, Leslie Rea, Ann Junkin, Laura Miller, Lynn Sullivan, Kristin Denmon, Colleen McAllister
 Third Row: Robin Vallelunga, Peggy Gallalee, Lori Vallelunga, Joan Margraff, Alan Harris, Gayle McFarland, Steven Brammer
 Fourth Row: Zara Zeringue, Bianca Brindley, Wendy Ruckel, Todd Emily.

"The purpose of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship is to nurture and encourage the campus body in fellowship with Christ," stated its General Coordinator Colleen McAllister. "We strive for an environment in which people feel free to be honest and to develop their relationship with God. And we want to reach out and share with others our experience with Christ." The vision of growth in and witness for Christ prompted all of Inter-Varsity's activities during the year: Weekly Large Group meetings, centered on fellowship, worship, and teaching, while Small Group bible studies, provided for deeper spiritual interaction and reflection. IV served both the campus and the world community with such projects as the Third Annual Pig Roast, workdays for Habitat for Humanity, and child-sponsoring through the Christian Children's Fund. In its fellowship, worship, teaching and service, IV hoped to affect and empower those at Rhodes and beyond for the cause of Christ.

B.S.U.

Even though Rhodes' Baptist Student Union was in only its third year, it has grown to an effective campus ministry. In February 1986, the BSU took a road trip to New Orleans to work at the Rachel Sims Baptist Mission downtown. The BSU also reached out to Memphis' Dismas House, a halfway house for ex-convicts. The BSU started the 1986-87 year with a month's preparation for a weekend of revival with the Memphis Chinese Baptist Fellowship. This revival team also served in activities at Memphis First Baptist Church, Peabody Baptist Church, and the Shelby County Baptist Pastor's Conference. Officers were Greg Carey (president), Glenn Tillery (Vice-President), Michelle Murchison (Secretary), and Laura Briscoe (Treasurer).

F.C.A.

The purpose of Rhodes' F.C.A. is to provide students, both athletes and non-athletes a time of Christian fellowship. With opportunities to go on retreats with other college F.C.A. groups and to compete with other fellowships in various activities, such as volleyball, depth is added to our group which meets weekly. Throughout the year, many famous speakers come and share what it means for them to be a Christian. Some of our speakers have included Pro Football players Reggie White and Calvin Clark, the Rainbow Man, Rollen Stuart, and the "World's Finest Female Basketball Handler," Tanya Crevner. Probably the most exciting campus activity F.C.A. is involved in is the sponsoring of the annual Ping-Pong tournament which is open to the entire campus. During the 1985-86 school year, over 200 people participated. The proceeds from the tournament are donated to a local charity.

Rear: Todd Moore, Ray Brown, Aaron Kaufman, Jonathan Taylor, Mike Mangrum.

Kinney Program

The Kinney Program continues to take turns for the better, especially with the addition of Steve Musick as the full-time director. Our main goal, as this year's coordinators, has been to increase Kinney's visibility and effectiveness by not only channeling students to local agencies, but also by establishing a community of Kinney volunteers on campus.

We have asked three seniors to reflect on how their years of community service have enhanced their time at Rhodes:

"In the past four years at Rhodes, I have made use of opportunities through the Kinney Program to coach a YWCA after-school service soccer team and a cerebral palsy wheelchair soccer team. The smiles and hugs from these kids made all the time and energy worthwhile. I have also had the opportunity to volunteer at the Crisis Center. My experiences there have made me take a long, hard look at my major in psychology and gave me some direction concerning my career.

I highly recommend the Kinney Program to every student for a very rewarding experience and a chance to learn about the Memphis community."

— Laura Miller

"My primary involvement with Kinney has been through Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Memphis. I have had a little brother for a year now and it has been an experience that I have been able to grow through.

When I first began, I had many feelings. I hoped and thought I would get along great with my little brother. He would always love it when I came over and we would think of each other like brothers. As it turned out my little brother was very quiet and reserved. I had a hard time just talking to him; however, over the past year our friendship has grown and I can say that we are true friends now. We are not the closest of friends as I had envisioned, but I feel as if we genuinely like each other.

I doubt that we will become especially close in the few months that remain for me here at school, but to me that's not really important. I know that I can't be everyone's savior or idol, but if I can accept playing even a small role in someone's life then I have accepted something as important as I could hope to."

— Greg Goodwin.

Kinney volunteers converse with interested parties at the Kinney Fair.

"Volunteering through the Kinney program has been an integral part of my college experience." It has given me the opportunity to look beyond myself to the outside world — to help others, to learn more about myself through interpersonal interactions, and to see how each person is a small but uniquely contributing part to the experience of living."

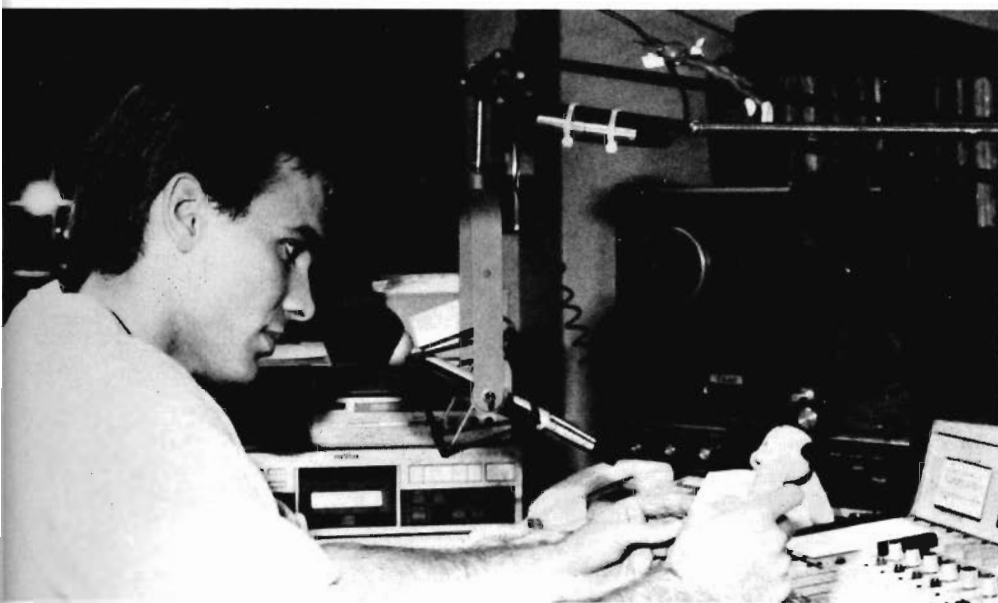

— Mindy Gard

We thank Steve Musick for his whole-hearted enthusiasm and support and we hope that those of you who participated in the Kinney Program have benefited from your involvement as much as we have.

Affectionately, Betsy and Susan

On his shift, Steve Hutson broadcasts classical music.

"You are listening to WLYX Memphis: a broadcast service of Rhodes College, FM 89.3"

I usually begin with Bach or Albinoni. Acid Baroque follows the hectic beat of the rock DJs well. I have to calm down the listeners who've just had two hours of New Rock. (Oingo Boingo, yourself.) Rock musicians (?) look angry on the record jacket. My classical composers are serious, often sad, young, idealistic. Their pictures belie their music, which is pure joy.

Music puts emotions into me: happiness, longing, forgotten things. I am solemn, confronted with the responsibility of presenting these important things to the listeners. I never know what effect I might have.

One night I began with a Mahler symphony, and considered a Shostakovich string quartet, but the downward trend to despair frightened me.

Beethoven symphonies make fall afternoons more glorious. I only hope they don't make anyone drive off the road, if they're listening in their car.

"We welcome questions and comments from our listeners, or any requests you have tonight. Our number at the station . . ." Telephone: "Could you please play Beethoven's 5th Symphony?"

or: Rhapsody in Blue?"

or: Pictures at an Exhibition?"

or: "It's one of those with a number in it. Like Something Number Three by Somebody. In G."

or: "Hey. Led Zeppelin. Now. Aren't you still playing rock?"

or: "I don't know what it's called, but it starts, 'ba ba baba bom,' then all these violins come in like, 'dee dee dum dum doodle . . .'" or "What are you playing now? My husband thinks it's Mozart, but I'm not sure."

or: "Please play something slow and sad. I feel very sad tonight."

The quiet in the student center roof is wonderful. I play music for myself and for the air. I imagine students reading, couples listening at the end of their workday, music lovers conducting in secret, people listening in bed before they fall asleep. I try not to talk too much. Classical announcers should never intrude in the experience of the music.

Friends visit me. They bring suggestions of pieces to play. Then I have to hide the copy of People, from which I get my arts news.

Sometimes off-campus people come up, strangers who have heard my shift: "Hi, I just wanted to meet you in person." or, "Oh, are you the announcer? The same announcer I was just listening to? You do not look how you sound." Yeah.

Now I know much more about classical music than I ever would by listening to the radio or to my own small collection. Though my technical appreciation has increased, I still know the music by the emotions it brings me, familiar ones, fresh, every time. Now I love small ensembles, intimate, close-miked. I have also met some new symphonies with wonderful melodies.

Being heard and not seen cures shyness gradually. There is power in this music for us, and hope. I don't need too many words up here. Music is enough.

Changing records, cleaning them, cueing them up, filing them away, filling out logs, taking readings. Comfortable routine. Final selections, midnight signoff. "At this time, WLYX, Memphis, Tennessee, ends its broadcasting day . . . This is Kathryn Murphy, wishing you a pleasant evening, and inviting you to join WLYX as it returns to the air with jazz tomorrow at 8 am. Classical music returns tomorrow afternoon at 3. Thank you for listening."

WLYX FM 89.3 is an important aspect of Rhodes' public image as well as a source of experience and entertainment for students on WLYX's volunteer staff. On the air from 8 am to midnight, WLYX offers an eclectic blend of jazz, classical, and rock music and a small bit of reggae, Blues, Bluegrass, and British Isles Folk Music. The Beach, the Blue Brew, Folklore and the Shelby County Farm and Poultry Show are a few of the contributions by volunteer announcers from the Memphis community. Radio Rhodes' general manager Karen Luvaas has renewed the production studio, giving students the opportunity to produce shows like Faith County and Instrumentally Speaking in the past, and this year's feature, Vocal Chords.

— Regina Murphy

There is no other radio station in Memphis that offers music that appeals to such a wide range of tastes. I think our strength is in the freedom each individual DJ has on the air to develop his or her own approach to presenting music to the Memphis community. WLYX serves its purpose as a creative outlet for the campus, but I think there is a need in this school to develop a true communications program to provide students access to good facilities in radio, film and television production. Students interested in these fields as careers need to develop their talents professionally. It would also be to the benefit of this school to circulate publicity written, purchased and directed by its own students rather than hired production companies.

Smiles, hugs, balloons, and screaming girls have always characterized Women's Bid Day. This year was no different. Everyone turned out in full force to watch the KD's, Chi O's, AOTT's, and DDD's welcome their new pledges. Later that night, the Dealers, a local Memphis band, entertained the entire campus in the Amphitheater. The new pledges danced and partied until the wee hours of the morning.

F r a t

This year men's Bid Day was not held on the same day as women's. However, the women turned out to watch the new pledges run into their respective houses. The SAE's chose to use fireworks to welcome their pledges, while everyone else was greeted with clapping and cheering.

Seniors

The senior section of the Lynx has always been unique in that it gives each person a chance to express him/herself individually. Imagination, creativity — not to mention boldness — can be seen in the expressions of the 1987 class of Rhodes College.
