Teaching Philosophy

➤ Pedagogical Creed: I am convinced that the act of learning can be likened to that of travel. If the student is in the same position at the end of the semester as where he/she began at the beginning, the professor has failed to lead, the student has failed to follow or the material has failed them both.

➤ Student Objective: To become SOPHISTICATED READERS of text, culture and experience!

Course Description

➤ This is a READING INTENSIVE course that will survey several works of African American fiction distinguished in their meriting of the Pulitzer Prize or the National Book Award. While the course will be dedicated to the literary and thematic particularities of each work, it will also pursue the question as to why these works have risen to national notoriety and public prestige. Through the collective treatment of African American award-winning fiction, this course will encourage the Ellisonian effort “To see America with an awareness of its rich diversity and its almost magical fluidity and freedom…” Authors may include: Ralph Ellison, James Alan McPherson, Gloria Naylor, Alice Walker, Toni Morrison, Edward P. Jones and Jesmyn Ward.

Required and Supplementary Texts

➤ Ellison: Invisible Man
➤ Jones: The Known World
➤ McPherson: Elbow Room
➤ Morrison: Beloved
➤ Naylor: The Women of Brewster Place
➤ Ward: Salvage the Bones
> Walker: The Color Purple

> Gibaldi: MLA Handbook for Writers of Research Papers (Supplementary)

Course Requirements

> Thematic Essay Exams (2): There will be two three-page thematic essay exams throughout this course. These exams are designed to evaluate the student's ability to articulate an understanding of how the texts covered within the class speak to a particular theme central to the discourse. Each exam will offer the student a thematic prompt on which the student must write a three to four page critical essay. The exam will be due by the beginning of the class period following the date made available. All essays must be in acceptable MLA format and submitted via Moodle in a MS Word document.

> Papers (2): Each student is required to produce two papers of varying lengths. These papers serve as the midterm and the final papers. Both of which must be in acceptable MLA format and submitted via Moodle in a MS Word Document. Consult MLA handbook or http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/557/01/ for assistance.

  - Critical Essay (Midterm): A four to five page paper engaging a specific element covered within the first half of the course. This paper should be a close reading and/or thematic treatment of a piece or multiple pieces of literature that explores the ways in which the literature fits into the larger American narrative. Paper length is non-negotiable. Paper must be in acceptable MLA format and submitted via Moodle in a MS Word document.

  - Final Essay (Research): A seven-page paper exploring a central idea, theme, trope, symbol, motif, et cetera. This paper should be inspired by one or more of the readings from the course and should effectively make use of an identifiable critical lens. Being a research paper, outside sources are required. Paper length is non-negotiable. Paper must be in acceptable MLA format and submitted via Moodle in a MS Word document.

> Participation/Quizzes: Although this course is reading intensive, class sessions rely heavily on classroom discussion. The student is expected to show up for class prepared to engage his/her colleagues and professor in a serious dialogue over the text. After one week of absences, one-third letter grade will be dropped; anything in excess of two weeks of absences may result in a withdrawal or failing of the course. http://www.rhodes.edu/collegehandbook/10372.asp Quizzes will be administered if class appears to not have done the reading.

➢ Academic Dishonesty and Plagiarism: All work submitted in this course must be original to the student and to the class. There is no tolerance for recycled or plagiarized work. If the student engages in any act of plagiarism or academic dishonesty, he/she will fail the assignment/class and be reported to the honor council. http://www.rhodes.edu/studenthandbook/2175.asp#DisVio
