Subject: This Week at Rhodes

•As we head into the winter season, I want to remind everyone of our inclement weather policy which is found here <http://www.rhodes.edu/about/2178.asp#monsoonsnsuch>. Briefly, the decision about whether to cancel classes or close the college will be made as early as possible and communicated to local media. It will also be posted via voice mail on the campus weather line—843-3943.

•I am happy to announce that Rhodes will be hosting the American Mock Trial Association's 23rd Annual National Intercollegiate Mock Trial Tournament (Semi-Final Round) on March 14-16, 2008. Congratulations to Professor Mark Pohlmann and his team members for successful action last weekend.

•The Rhodes Learning Corridor held an Open Gym on Saturday morning in the Bryan Campus Life Center. Cypress students came to campus and played volleyball, basketball, and racquetball. Dance lessons were also a popular part of the program. The event which was staffed by college volunteers, community partner volunteers, and Cypress faculty volunteers, was a great celebration of our engagement in Memphis.

•Thursday is the day many of us look forward to all year. Our annual holiday luncheon is a wonderful occasion when faculty and staff have the opportunity to share a great meal and catch up with friends after the tiring days at the end of the semester. I look forward to seeing you there.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS TO EVERYONE!
