I Am ...

Rhodes students think—and act—from head and heart.

Latoya Newsom '06 saw a need: to mentor neighborhood girls in academic, social and domestic matters, equipping them with a larger vision of the world and their place in it. She founded and directs I Am ..., a rigorous program for teens and "tweens," followed by an intensive "graduate course" in academics and career planning. As an alumna she continues to work with the girls who have now learned the lesson taught to Latoya by her mother: don't let anyone else define who you are.
