Monday, March 3, 2008 -- (Meditation: John 3:16-17)
God, when I realize that I am only one among millions of people on the earth, I feel how insignificant I am. And when I think of how small our world is compared to all the stars that are light-years apart, I feel how small I am. Yet, as small and insignificant as I am, You call me to faith and fellowship with You. God, thank You for creating me, for knowing me, for loving me, and for saving me. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Tuesday, March 4, 2008 -- (Meditation: I Corinthians 13:4-7)
God, I pray for those who have grown up and started a home of their own, but who are still treated like children . . . I pray for those who are still trying to live up to their parents' expectations . . . for those who have to prove themselves over and over again . . . for those who are still hounded by the words: "I'm only trying to help," and "It's for your own good." God, may those who are treated like this take their identity from being YOUR child, not from being TREATED like a child. Grant them reconciliation, freedom, and joy. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Wednesday, March 5, 2008 -- (Meditation: Colossians 3:23-24)
God, there are tensions in our business among competing values. The needs of our stockholders, our employees, and our customers sometimes conflict. Help us to distribute authority, responsibility, and accountability fairly. Help us to serve our customers, to serve each other, and to serve our community. God, may our corporate values honor You. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Thursday, March 6, 2008 -- (Meditation: I Thessalonians 5:16-17)
God, there is a big difference between reading prayers, and praying them. Soften my heart that I may pray them. Still my mind, that I may listen for Your guidance. And make quiet my soul, that I may hear Your still small voice. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Friday, March 7, 2008 -- (Meditation: I Peter 5:6-7)
God, the discipline of surrender goes against everything I hear in life: "Take control!", "Just do it!", "You are the master of your fate!" But God, try as I might, I know I am not self-sufficient. Only You are trustworthy. Show me Your ways, O Lord. In Jesus' name. Amen.
