

“Pulling Back the Sheets: Hip-Hop and Sexuality”

JEFF JOHNSON

February 26, 2008

7 p.m.

McCallum Ballroom

Free and open to the public

Best known for his appearances as Cousin Jeff on Black Entertainment Television’s “Rap City,” Johnson discusses the exploitative nature of today’s hip-hop music and why it should contain more positive messages.

Sponsored in celebration of Black History Month by Rhodes’ African American Studies Program, the Black Student Association and Office of Multicultural Affairs.
