Southwestern At Memphis

A college of liberal arts and sciences, founded in 1848

THE PRESIDENT

Dear Fellow Southwesterners:

Welcome! Welcome to a college community called Southwestern. You are undertaking a serious but exciting adventure in learning, discovery and living. Make the most of your stay on this campus.

One principal purpose of the college is to confront you with the ideas that have been created, evolved and utilized by mankind. The ideas come from the religions of the world, the humanities, the social sciences, the natural sciences, and the arts of communication. These ideas have stood the test of time as the intellectual tools by which men have shaped societies and cultures. Your task is to sort through these ideas and use them to shape your own personal education, philosophy and approach to your life's work.

I am a graduate of Southwestern. I am not an abstraction sitting in Richard Halliburton Tower or a crustacean from the Establishment. I am a real person. I think and feel much the way you do. I share the same values you do. I get concerned about the same issues that concern you.

I am not alone. The people who comprise the faculty and the college staff also are real people. They too share values and concerns as you do. My point should be clear by now. Southwestern is a community. It is made up of real people who talk, learn and help together.

Don't shut yourself away from this community. Be a part of it. Talk to all of us. Seek our help when you need it. Tell us what you think. Give us your advice. Above all, work with us and your fellow students, not against us.

If the community of Southwestern is for real, you must be a part of it. We will be seeking you out too.

Welcome!

Sincerely,

William L. Bowden

SEAL OF SOUTHWESTERN AT MEMPHIS

Circular in form, the red and black seal of Southwestern is centered by a black shield representing faith. Quartering the shield is a St. Andrew's Cross denoting Christianity, and in the middle of the cross lies an open Bible, the heart of Southwestern's being. Each of the shield's four divisions bears a symbol representing a period in the college's history—as a Masonic College at Clarksville, founded in 1848, as "Stewart College" (1855-75); as "Southwestern Presbyterian University" (1875-1925); and finally as "Southwestern At Memphis" when it was moved to Memphis.

The intertwined sprigs of oak and laurel under the shield signify strength and victory. Surrounding the shield on the other three sides are the words "Truth, Loyalty, Service"—the fundamental precepts of Southwestern.

SOUTHWESTERN'S ALMA MATER

Dear Alma Mater, kind the fate
That links our lives with Thee.
For God's own power that made Thee great
Is the truth that makes us free;
Thy torch has touched our hearts with flame.
Our yearning souls refined;
Through Thee we learn the higher aim,
And train the truer mind.

Thy stalwart towers of solid stone,
Thy vaulted arches strong.
Inspire our loyal hearts each one
To fight against the wrong;
Our lives reflect the beauty of
Thy stately cloister'd halls,
And characters grow genuine
That dwell within Thy walls.

O Leader to the larger light,
Southwestern, 'neath Thy wings
Thy sons in reverant love unite,
And each his tribute brings;
And dreams such dreams as old men dream,
And visions young men see,
Keep lighted in our hearts the flame
Once kindled there of Thee.

SOUTHWESTERN'S FIGHT SONG

- ON THE PROWL -

Southwestern will win the vict'ry again;
The Lynx cats are on the prowl.
We follow the law of the fang and the claw,
And the Red and Black will leave their track
All over the foe, wherever we go.
Tonight's our night to howl!
We're leavin' our lair, you'd better beware
For the Lynx cats are on the prowl!

MEMPHIS ON THE MISSISSIPPI

Tennessee had been a state only twenty-three years when Memphis was laid out by Andrew Jackson and John Overton of Nashville in 1819. The city was incorporated in 1826 with a population of only 500. Today Metropolitan Memphis boasts a population of over 800,000 and is proud of its rapid growth.

Located in the middle of one of America's richest agricultural regions, Memphis, "The Cotton Capital of the World," is the hub of the agricultural activity in the Mid-South. In the Cotton Exchange on Front Street, on third of the Nation's cotton crop is bought and sold. The heyday of King Cotton is past, however, for the key to the Memphis economy is diversification. Location, agriculture, transportation, and industry all serve to make Memphis great.

Memphis has taken her place, too, as the cultural center of the seven-state Min-South. In addition to excellent library and educational facilities, the Memphis Symphony Orchestra, Civic Ballet, the Memphis Academy of Arts, Brooks Memorial Art Gallery, and Memphis Little Theater all contribute to the cultural life of the city.

Recreational facilities are many and varied. Persons liking to fish and hunt will find in a close radius of Memphis some of the finest grounds for these sports in the nation. At convenient points throughout the city are facilities for golf, tennis, archery, bowling, softball, ice and roller skating, swimming and horseback riding.

Southwestern came to Memphis from Clarksville in 1925. Both city and school have grown together. Memphis affords many opportunities for students to augment their academic learning experience with cultural growth, and it is hoped Southwestern students will take advantage of these opportunities.

THE COLLEGE

Southwestern is a fully accredited, privately supported, co-educational college of liberal arts and sciences. Southwestern as an entity is composed of a managing administration headed by the President and a faculty of 100, of which 76% have their Ph.D. degrees. The student-faculty ratio is ten to one. Twenty directors, elected by the Synods of Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana of the Presbyterian Church, determine the policies of the college.

The college was founded when the Clarksville Academy at Clarksville conveyed its property to the Masonic Lodge of Tennessee, and was merged into the new Masonic University of Tennessee. The program was expanded from that of the Academy, Latin and Greek, with reading writing and arithmetic added in the interest of a well-balanced curriculum. A prominent Mason and Presbyterian, W.M. Stewart, was chosen as the first President. Later, when the Synod of Nashville began supporting the school, it was renamed in his honor.

In 1861 the school became a college of the Presbyterian Church in the United States. Prior to the Civil War there was a Presbyterian College in each synod. However, the effects of the war were pitifully destructive, and the hardships of the reconstruction era intensified the burdens. The colleges were closed; in some cases the buildings were literally torn down and the equipment destroyed. But the Presbyterians were determined to rebuild their schools.

In view of this poverty and the consequent impossibility of reestablishing all of the educational institutions owned by the Presbyterian Church before the war, Dr. B.M. Palmer, of New Orleans, and other church leaders suggested that all the synods unite and build one university for the whole territory. This plan was finally approved, and after years of agitation and endeavor, Southwestern Presbyterian University came into being in 1875, having taken over as a nucleus the properties of Stewart College.

About 1900 the church came to realize that the institution was badly located for the territory it was to serve, and an attempt was made to move it. That proposed removal was defeated by the action of the court, and as a result the Church lost much of its enthusiasm for the college and neglected it. The tide was at low ebb, but then it was found that Memphis wanted the college and the Synods wanted Memphis to have it. Thus it was, in 1925, under the leadership of President Charles E. Diehl, that Southwestern came to Memphis. Also under the Diehl administration the College became co-educational. A crossflow of stimulus between the College and the city has characterized its Memphis history and both have gained vitality and prestige from the association.

Dr. Peyton N. Rhodes became President in 1949 and served until 1965. He carried forward the original ideas of quality into the College's many new phases of development and expansion. Campus facilities nearly doubled under the Rhodes administration and adult education was expanded, with Southwestern being singled out as the leading college in the nation in the field of continuing education. Dr. Rhodes exemplified through his campus administration, as well as through his other local and national interests, the Southwestern tradition of service to church and community.

In 1965, Dr. Rhodes retired and Dr. John David Alexander, a Southwestern graduate, was chosen as the new president. Dr. Alexander served the college until 1969. In January of last year Dr. William Bowden accepted the position which he presently holds - President of Southwestern.

STUDENT FINANCIAL AID

A full description of the financial aid program for students at Southwestern may be found in the college catalog or in the "Admissions and Financial Aid" brochure available in the Admissions Office, Room 100 Palmer Hall.

All financial assistance is awarded by the Faculty (Selection) Committee on Student Aid, and is administered by the Director of Financial Aid and his assistants in Room 102 and 106 Palmer Hall.

During the Orientation Week at the beginning of the academic year, those incoming students who have been awarded financial aid in the form of work opportunities, Educational Opportunity Grants, or National Defense Student Loans are given instructions concerning the particular requirements for receiving each form of aid.

For example, the recipient of the N.D.S.L. must sign a loyalty oath and a promissory note each year before receiving the loan and must endorse two checks (one in September and the other in January) payable to him in the amount for which he has been given credit in the cashier's office, so that the check may be deposited to his account. Further, the student is responsible for keeping the Financial Aid Office informed of any change in his permanent address, or of any plans to transfer to another institution, or to discontinue his education at Southwestern. This is necessary to enable a financial aid officer to have an "exit interview" with the student, to work out a repayment schedule, to review 'deferment' or 'cancellation' possibilities, etc.

Those students who have been awarded employment opportunities by the Committee are assigned to particular jobs by the financial aid director, and during the academic year receive their monthly checks from the same office. During the summer months, College Work-Study Program checks are endorsed in the Cashier's Office, where at least 80% of the amount of the check must be deposited in the student's account until his bill for the ensuing year has been paid. The student must present his "time sheet" properly completed and signed by his work supervisor, between the 20th and the 22nd of each month in order to be included in the payroll for that month. The student must also meet his work obligations to the satisfaction of his supervisor, and according to the conditions and policies established by the Committee.

The Educational Opportunity Grant checks, made out at the beginning of Term I and Term II, are payable to the recipient and must be endorsed in the Financial Aid Office.

All other grants and scholarships awarded by the Committee are credited to the student's account in the Cashier's Office. Should the financial aid credit in a student's account exceed at any time the amount owed by him for the year, that excess may be withdrawn by the student or may be left to meet future college charges.

It is particularly important for students who wish to renew their financial aid to note the requirements for renewal, and meet such deadlines as are stated. A renewal request on the proper form must be in Room 102, Palmer Hall, by February 1. The Parents' Confidential Statement on the basis of which the financial need of a student is determined- must normally be submitted to the College Scholarship Service by January 15.

Further details may be obtained from the catalog or brochure, or from one of the offices listed above. Inquiries concerning the Student Financial Aid Program at Southwestern, or some aspect of it, are always welcomed.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Orientation and Registration

All students entering Southwestern for the first time are to be present for orientation week, which immediately precedes the opening of college. The orientation period is designed to acquaint new students with the traditions, ideals, and regulations of Southwestern and to afford them an opportunity to plan their courses of study in consultation with members of the faculty. During orientation week the new students, in addition to discussing their courses of study individually with a member of the faculty, meet with the representatives of various student organizations, take aptitude and classification tests, receive instruction in the use of the library, attend social events, and hear talks by administrative officers of the college. The dates of the orientation period are listed in the college calendar. New students who arrive when the orientation program is over or well under way, in addition to missing necessary instruction and information, will be subject to considerable inconvenience.

Academic

The Bachelor of Arts, Sciences, of Music degree is granted on the basis of 120 term hours of college work with a C average, or 120 quality points. That is, a student must have the number of quality points equal to the number of hours he has. Quality points are given by grades as well as hours. An "A" counts three quality points per hour, a "B" counts two, a "C" one and a "D" or "F" count none. The grade point system of averages counts "A" as four points, "B" as three, "C" as two, "D" as one, and "F" as none.

No student may carry more than 16 credit hours in Terms I and II or more than 8 credit hours in Term III. Not more than three courses under the same instructor may be taken for credit without special permission from the Dean of the College

In order to change a course, a student must have the permission of the instructor. If any irregularity is involved in the course change, a student must present a petition, with his faculty adviser's signature on it, to the Classification Committee. More information may be obtained in the catalogue.

FRESHMEN COLLOQUIA

Southwestern inaugurated last fall a new program of freshman colloquia for all incoming first year students. Purposes of this program include the following four:

- to help personalize faculty-student relations early in the college career.
- to give incoming freshmen an early experience of freedom and creativity in higher education.
- to provide a small group context that may facilitate bridging the gap from secondary school to higher education.

-to give both faculty and students a chance to pursue interests that may overlap departmental lines or that may be focused differently from the ordinary departmental course.

The faculty leader for each colloquium will also be faculty advisor to the students in his group, ordinarily ten in number. Certain occasions in which all the colloquia join will give added dimensions to the colloquium experience.

Colloquia, with the exception of the option referred to as the Man course, run for Term I, and new groups will be formed for Term II. Enrollees in the Man course will normally continue for both terms, new groupings occurring within the structure of that course itself.

Actual class meeting arrangements will vary from group to group, but most groups will probably meet in faculty homes from time to time. Most groups will include creative or research writing projects as part of their work. It is intended that the development of ability to communicate effectively in writing will be an integral part of the colloquium experience, as indeed it must form a part of higher education at all levels.

At approximately monthly intervals, all faculty and student colloquium participants will come together for speakers, films, performers, of other common experiences. These common experiences planned jointly by faculty and by students currently at Southwestern, will focus on topics of current and personal interest to college students, such as political activism, drugs, the new morality, and the changing nature of higher education.

The latest issues of periodicals are in the periodical room, while back issues are available at the center desk, if unbound, and in the main stack area if bound.

In addition to regular circulating books which can be checked out for two weeks, there are many "reserved books." These, placed on reserve by the various professors, may be obtained at the desk for two hour periods. Monday - Friday, after 4:30 PM, they may be checked out over night, and are due the next morning at 10:00. Reserve books may be checked out Saturday after 10:15 AM and are not due until Monday at 10:00AM.

The fine on regular books is $.05 per day. However, the total amount due will be cut in half if the fine is paid when the book is returned. This policy does not apply to reserve books.

SPIRIT OF HONOR

The Honor System at Southwestern is a tradition, an inheritance, and an opportunity all rolled into one. It is a tradition because it has remained a valued possession of Southwestern students since the early days of the college. It is an inheritance because each entering class receives it from the previous class as a gift to be proud of and respect. Above all else, it is an opportunity because it allows the fullest possible expression of individual life in harmony with community life.

Within the Honor System Southwestern students have found a moral ideal by which to guide their actions. That ideal is absolute honesty to oneself and to others in all aspects of life. It is not only a guide for college life; it is also a principal which Southwestern students believe to be fundamental in ethical life, both during and after college. As a result of that belief, an atmosphere of trust and respect has developed in the college community. This atmosphere, besides being an enjoyment in itself, facilitates the attainment of the objective for which the Honor System was established.

That objective is the spiritual, moral, and intellectual development of the individual student. This is promoted and encouraged by the freedom and responsibility the student gains by virtue of living within the Honor System. Each student is personally responsible for his own work, his own actions, and his word. But with that responsibility - which is actually a freedom - goes another and larger responsibility: that of protecting his and others' freedom by encouraging in others adherence to the Honor System and removing those who prove that they cannot live honorably. As the student fulfills his responsibilities, he accomplishes more than personal growth. He guarantees that the freedom which he enjoys will be perpetuated; that the idealism of the community will be more nearly realized; that the spiritual, moral, and intellectual development of other students will be enhanced.

This is accomplished through the manner in which the Honor System is administered. It is done by the students themselves through an elected Honor Council.

THE HONOR COUNCIL

The Honor Council is composed of two men and two women from each of the upper classes. The freshman class elect one man and one woman each fall. The Council is solely responsible for seeing that the Honor system functions effectively. Its purpose and responsibilities are listed by the Honor Council Constitution as follows:

ARTICLE I

Name and Purpose

Section 1. The name of this body shall be the HONOR COUNCIL of SOUTHWESTERN AT MEMPHIS.

Section 2. The purpose of this council shall be to foster a spirit of honor at Southwestern; and to investigate and to act upon cases of cheating, stealing, or lying (in official matters) on the part of students in connection with academic work or campus life.

ARTICLE II

Oaths and Pledges

Section 1. Each student who enters SOUTHWESTERN shall sign the following statement affirming his understanding of the Honor System:

I understand the Honor System at Southwestern, its implications, and my responsibility to it.

ARTICLE III

Instruction

Section 1. To insure the cooperation of the Faculty in the support of the Honor Council and the Honor System, the Council shall at the first of each Session discuss the system with the faculty, reminding them of their obligation to report violations, asking them to request the full written pledge on their work, asking them to remind students before each test that the test is to be pledged and to clarify in the minds of their students which work is to be pledged and which is not to be pledged.

System can, and has for over one hundred years, foster an atmosphere of trust and openness that is essential to the freedom of the academic community.

It is important to remember that the Honor System is yours and not the responsibility of only those few people serving on the Honor Council. The Honor System can work only through the cooperation of all who live under it. I urge each of you to understand the Honor System and how it operates, and most important understand why we have the Honor System.

As a freshman I found the Honor System one of the most impressive parts of Southwestern. I hope it will be of such value to you.

Sincerely,
Claude Stayton

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

Letter from SGA President

It is both my pleasure and responsibility to welcome you, the class of 1975, to Southwestern. This year will prove to be a unique experience for you. Southwestern has changed significantly in the last few years and is presently undergoing even greater transformation. In academic and social life Southwestern has progressed; a more individually oriented curriculum, an improved Freshman program, liberalized social rules- all these are signs of the college's acontial striving for improvement. The Student Government Association has actively participated in initiating these advances.

The SGA has recently restructured itself. Three years ago the senate was abolished, thus creating a lack of formal structure for the embodiment of ideas. A new constitution has been approved, creating the Student Executive Board. This board includes members from the Honor Council, Social Regulations Council, Publications Boare, Student Center, and Board of Commissioners. The main body of student government work will still be carried out by the commissioners.

Southwestern has a commendable past and an even more promising future. Much of the responsibility for the fulfilling her potential is yours. You can make Sothwestern a better school by becoming involved in all parts of campus life- academic, extra-curricular, and social. I sincerely hope you will actively participate in Student Government.

Again, welcome to Southwestern and good luck in these next four years.

Sincerely,
Jackie Rutledge
President

COMMISSIONS

The Southwestern SGA works under a system of Commissions. Anyone interested in working on any of these, please see the respective commissioner.

Athletics

Commissioner-Clark Williams

The AC is maintained to attempt to create school spirit in support of athletics, both varsity and intramural. In carrying out this object, the commission works with the Athletic Department, Pep Band, and student body in the pursuit of an ever-improving program. Among other things, each year it sponsors the SAU trips to out-of-town games and a health week.

Education

Commissioner-Hershel Lipow

The chief function of the Education Commission is to inform the Southwestern community on issues of educational reform and to present a forum for topics of national and international importance. The Commission seeks to foster an atmosphere conducive to academic excellence by carefully reevaluating existing academic structures and urging debate on their continued relevance. The commissioner and two other appointed students serve on the faculty Educational Development Committee and help to maintain a liason between faculty and students. Previous projects have included an experimental college and course evaluations by students.

Elections

Commissioner-Rob Riley

The purpose of the Elections Commission is to insure fair and effective elections on campus throughout the year. All student referendums as well as Student Government and campus Honor Council elections must proceed through this commission, which will divide the work of publicizing, running, and tallying the elections.

Membership of the Commission consists of the Commissioner, vice-president, secreatry, publicity chairman, and twenty-four members, six from each class. These twenty-four members are appointed by the officers of the commission and the presidents of the four classes. The commission elects its own Commissioner, who is approved each spring by the Student Government Association.

Social Activities

Commissioner-Bob Tigert

The Social Commission is responsible for maintaining and improving the social life on the campus. Specifically, it plans any dances, concerts, or social functions sponsored by the college, as well as coordination of all social events sponsored by all campus organizations through planning of the school social calendar. The Commission functions under the Student Union structure. Anyone interested in working with the Commission should see the Chairman.

Student Welfare

Commissioner-Bill Jones

The Welfare Commission seeks to determine and act upon student needs and desires of a collective or individual nature. Acting on its initiative or as a liaison between students and administration, the Welfare Commission has worked to attempt to improve conditions in numerous areas including: food service, bookstore, freshman orientation; and many individual suggestions and complaints.

Membership is open. Individual members work in areas of their own interest with the support and aid of the whole commission. Policy is determined by the students. The Commission is an active, progressive vehicle for change.

Religious Activities

Commissioner-Parkys Casslebury

The Religious Commission is one of the most diverse organizations on campus. Its main objective for the '71-'72 school year is to get people to confront each other and to confront themselves; to bring the campus together in situations both of fun and of serious discussion; to help the students and faculty grow, through contact with other people and through contact with their own inner selves. The main activities the Religious Commission is sponsoring will be the annual fall retreat, and religious chapels.

Intercollegiate Relations

Commissioner-Judy Warren

The Commissioner of Intercollegiate Relations holds responsibility in two main areas: 1) in keeping the National Student Association and other campuses informed of activities and changes on Southwestern's campus, and 2) in keeping Southwestern informed of, and participation in, conferences, seminars, and other programs of an intercollegiate nature.

Publications Board

Commissioner-Bill Douson

The Publications Board selects the editors and business managers of the campus publications. The commission is responsible for the proper conduct and the financial management of the Sou'wester, the Lynx, "Ginger," and the "Handbook." The editors of the publications are responsible to the Publications Board, and, any suggestions concerning these publications should be submitted to the Commissioner via a mailbox in the Student Center.

The Publications Board is also responsible for publicizing information which affects the entire community (dances, athletics, and elections excluded). All announcements should be submitted to the commissioner or the Publicity Coordinator two days in advance.

Women's Undergraduate Board

Commissioner-Ann Brantley

The Women's Undergraduate Board, composed of a cross-section of representatives from the women's groups on campus, promotes coordinated activities for the women students at Southwestern. WUB's purpose is to cultivate a strong school spirit, bring attention to good scholastic standing, and foster a spirit of honor among all women students. The board sponsors annually, the Student Counselor Program to aid new students with their adjustment to the college environment, several get together for women students on campus, a tutoring program in cooperation with Mortar Board. It also works throughout the year with the Dean of Women toward more and better coordination of activities for women students.

Men's Undergraduate Board

Commissioner-Clayton Lewis

The purpose of the Men's Undergraduate Board is to help orient incoming freshmen males to the college community. This is done on a counselor-counselee basis. Counselors are selected from upper classmen who have shown concern for the welfare of the college, who are available to attend the orientation period with their advisees, and who are able to contact their advisees over the summer.

BSA

Chairman-Ron Register

The Black Student Association was founded in an effort to foster better understanding between the Black and White students on Southwestern's campus. It provides social activities sponsored by Black students, and several times each year the members present a cultural interchange program. The BSA coordinates its campus activities with other organizations within the community.

Student Publications

The Lynx

The Lynx is Southwestern's yearbook, issued each year. It contains an account, mainly pictorial, of the school year- its activities, personalities, organizations, and social life.

The Editors are chosen in the spring by the Publications Board. They, in turn, select their staff from those applying at the publications meeting held during orientation week.

Co-Editors: Hoyt Harris, Mike Williams

Sou'Wester

The staff of the 1971-'72 Sou'Wester intends to expand the role and focus of our college newspaper. We believe that instead of remaining little more than a campus bulletin board, bound by the limits of supposed objectivity, the Sou'Wester can and must become an active catalyst in the foundation and promulgation of student opinion. Interest and involvement in affairs beyond the isolated campus is a necessity in modern education. The employment of a totally different printing process, that of the offset press, and the creation of a permanent staff receiving credit in communication arts, will hopefully result in a new feel and style for the Sou'Wester that can benefit all elements of the campus and bring about meaningful action where it is needed.

Editor: Mark Lester

SFA

The SFA is a weekly newsletter providing a communication link between students, faculty, and administration. Any event or meeting concerning the Southwestern community will be announced in the SFA.

Co-Editors: Scott Wild, Neal Rice

"Ginger"

"Ginger" is a student periodical. Since it is a new publication, it is completely open to new ideas and improvisations. The magazine offers a wealth of creative material- both written and artistic. "Ginger" gives the creative mind a place to speak.

Editor: Charlie McElroy

"The Handbook"

The purpose of "The Handbook" is to help new students, and sometimes old ones, become better acquainted with Southwestern by providing information about all campus organizations, regulations, and traditions.

SOCIAL REGULATIONS COUNCIL

The responsibility given students at Southwestern has manifested itself through the established Honor Code and the Honor Council for many years. The freedom given the student in this capacity places an inherent responsibility of supporting and getting involved in the system and spirit of honor. Recently, an added burden has been placed in the hands of students with respect to governing their social and moral conduct on campus. We, as students, have the opportunity "to establish through initiation, ratification and coordination all student social legislation." We must also "adjudicate offenses thereto and act as an appellate court for the council's constituent groups and for the Administrative deans of the College.

For those reasons the Social Regulations Council was formed which consists of eighteen voting members; a president, eight elected class representatives and nine ex officio members. There are seven constituent organizations represented on the council at this time by the ex officio members; these are the Pan Council, the IFC, Student Union, Welfare Commission, Men's Dorm Board and Women's Dorm Board, and the BSA.

The key to the success of the Social Council is the word cooperation. The council must work together with the support of every student to effectively bring about just social legislation that will concern not only the campus in general, but the constituent groups represented.

No legislation, old or new, can be considered legally binding until approved by the council itself. Since we do have a relatively small student body, any regulation concerns the individual either directly or indirectly and thus all major organizations must have a part in determining what regulations exist.

The Social Regulations Council must depend on the individual student to assume responsibility to help report violations, to enforce the regulations decided upon by your elected representatives and to recommend every new or revised legislation.

LETTER FROM SRC PRESIDENT

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome you to Southwestern and further clarify the role of the SRC and the potential we have for progress through this organization.

This is the fourth year of the SRC's existence. Since its formation we have been able to liberalize college rules to include visitation in dormitories, elimination of curfews for upperclass women and second semester freshmen women, doing away with dress rules and certain alcohol restrictions.

The SRC has not been wholly responsible for this drastic change from the Southwestern of four years ago. The trend of all colleges and universities has in recent years been towards increasing student freedom and responsibility. So too, is the case with Southwestern's administration and student body. Change has come to this campus largely through student committees.

The entire idea of a student committee responsible for the social legislation and adjudication of a campus is unique, indeed. The SRC is capable of becoming a truly dynamic example of student responsibility and maturity. Its continual success demands a strong fellowship of students, faculty, and administration. However, the primary need is for all to be aware of the SRC - its potentials and its risks - for a fuller and richer development of the entire community.

Sincerely,
Susan Smith
President

SOCIAL REGULATIONS

Since the area of social regulations is as wide as there are social activities, successful jurisprudence depends on and insists on corporate and individual responsibility. As an adult member of the college community, the student is expected to respect the social contract which makes that community possible. Offenses thereto will result in disciplinary action.

These specific rules form the bulk of the "written code" and are worth remembering.

1. Alcohol: All students are subject to the laws of Tennessee. Also, college regulations prohibit drinking in certain public places such as the student center, the library, classrooms, etc.

2. Dress: The student is allowed to use his own judgement in this area. In accordance with Tennessee health regulations, shoes must be worn in the refectory.

3. Parietals: Parietals will be decided by the dormitories at the beginning of the year.

4. Guests: The college considers guests to be the responsibility of the student who invited them to the campus.

5. Firearms and pets are not allowed to be kept on campus.

SOCIAL FUNCTIONS REGULATIONS

In the interest of establishing a more pervasive and cohesive sense of community on campus, the Pan-Hellenic and Interfraternity Councils, in conjunction with the Social Regulations Council, request that all fraternities, sororities, and independent groups refrain from planning their individual social functions on dates that conflict with the following: Homecoming Dance; IFC and PAN Dances; Dances; Dilemma; May Day Dances; Student Center Weekend; and any other function of a campus-wide nature that is announced in advance.

For this purpose, the social chairman of all sponsoring groups will notify, at least three days in advance, the Commissioner of Social Activities or the president of IFC or PAN. Any group wishing to reserve specific calendar dates must submit a petition to the Commissioner at least three weeks in advance.

All groups sponsoring entertainment after 8 p.m. will invite at least one nonstudent-legal adult to their function.

"THOMAS W. BRIGGS STUDENT CENTER"

The Briggs Student Center was completed in May of 1966. Located in the building are the Lynx Lair, Grill, school publication offices, campus bookstore, lounges, television, pool tables, a pinball machine, and various other offices.

The Student Center is administered by the Student Union Board which is composed of an Executive Board elected by the students, and an Administrative Board of interested volunteers. The Executive Board for the 1971-72 school year is:

Mona Mizell
Jeannette Birge
Jane Howse
Rick Barkley
Clark Williams
Susan Schaeffer - ex officio

To All New Students, Concerning Social Programming

Here at Southwestern, the social commission is faced with an interesting task. In addition to planning all the major dances, we are in charge of concerts, our un-coffee house (the Common House), several inter-collegiate programs, (including student talent exchanges), and we offer a "counselling service" and files for programming. Different members of the Commission are in charge of sound, lighting, and other technical aspects of management of a dance, theatre, and a concert stage. We also have funds allotted for special projects (such as mid-week movies, student projects, etc.).

So we are diversified, active, and we can use any student help which is offered. The Social Commission is a member of both the Student Union Board and the Student Government Association. There are nine divisions within the Commission itself: Dances, Concerts, Common House, Intercollegiate Relations and Organizations, Proposals and Projects, Special Interests, Publicity, Secretarial staff, (plus the Treasurer and other non-official offices such as maintenance, equipment management, etc.).

Bob Tigert
Commissioner of Social Activities

Educational Activities

Here at Southwestern, we believe that the truly educated person is not only one who has learned all that his nooks can teach him, but is also one who continually tests and strengthens his knowledge by living and working with others. Listed in this section are various activities, some of which are under the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of Education, all of which provide opportunities for students to apply and use their knowledge in areas outside the strictly academic sphere.

Student Recruitment

Like most private colleges, Southwestern is involved in the continuous process of recruiting good students for each year's entering freshman class. Students already enrolled at Southwestern are often the best recruiters since they can tell their friends about the College.

Since first-year students usually have many friends who are still in high school, we would especially like to encourage our freshmen to talk with their friends about Southwestern. The Admissions Office can provide you with recruitment brochures and application forms. We will also be pleased to receive names of prospective students or discuss their chances of being accepted for admission.

Kinney Program

In September, 1956, the Danforth Christian Service Project was established on Southwestern's campus. The program focuses on commitment and craftsmanship in order to help the student realize his role in the community as well as in the campus.

In 1966, the project was renamed in memory of Dr. Lawrence Kinney.

The Kinney Program is totally student co-career planning.

Honorary Organizations

To those people who have excelled in their particular field and have also maintained a great interest in the world around them, a well-earned tribute is owed. Honorary organizations serve a dual purpose: to recognize those who excel in their academic fields, and to promote interest and further knowledge in that particular field of study.

Alpha Psi Omega

Alpha Psi Omega is an honor society for those achieving a high standard of work in dramatics. It permits wider fellowship for those interested in the college theatre. Admission is gained by acquiring a total of 150 acting and production points through participation of various dramatic activities at Southwestern. In order to maintain membership, a member must earn 25 quality points a year. Students wishing to become pledges of the group and work toward membership should make application to the faculty advisor, Professor Ray S. Hill.

Mortar Board

Southwestern's chapter of Mortar Board, the first and only national organization of senior college women, seeks to recognize outstanding senior women and to promote the ideals of leadership, scholarship, and service.

Each candidate for active membership must have an accumulative average equal to ten percent the highest grade on the grade scale added to the all campus average. Membership is limited to a maximum number of ten senior women who are tapped in May of their Junior year. At that time Mortar Board also honors the most outstanding sophomore woman chosen by the group.

Service projects carried out by Mortar Board on the Southwestern campus last year included selling a student activities calendar, and sponsoring a tutoring service and a scholarship banquet.

Omicron Delta Kappa

ODK, founded at Southwestern on May 25, 1927, is a national leadership honor fraternity for men. The organization is based on the idea that leadership of exceptional quality and versatility in college should be recognized, and that outstanding students, faculty and administration members should meet on a basis of mutual interest, understanding, and helpfulness.

Membership is restricted to junior and senior men and is on the basis of achievement in one or the five phases of campus life, scholarship, athletics, religious and social affairs, music, speech and dramatics arts, and publications. Men students must have an average of at least 2.4 to be tapped.

Each May, ODK honors the most outstanding sophomore man selected by the group. It traditionally sponsors once a year a visiting speaker of note, and together with the Mortar Board sponsors a scholarship banquet, honoring top scholars in each of the four classes.

Phi Beta Kappa

Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest Greek letter society in America, and, more importantly, it is the oldest (and perhaps the only) fraternal society devoted to the recognition of excellence of scholarship in the liberal arts and sciences.

The national organization was founded in 1776 at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia. The Gamma of Tennessee Chapter on campus was initiated in 1949.

Election to this organization is the highest scholastic honor which can be conferred upon a student. To be eligible, a student must have an average of at least 3.5 over seven semesters of approved college work.

Pi Kappa Lambda

Pi Kappa Lambda, national honorary music fraternity, rewards and distinguishes outstanding work in the musical field. Alpha Epsilon Chapter at Southwestern is composed of faculty members who elect students not exceeding 20% of any one class on the basis of their records in all subjects. The chapter was established May 14, 1949, and is open only to candidates for the Bachelor of Music degree.

Psi Chi

A national honorary psychology fraternity, the Southwestern Psi Chi chapter was established in 1952. The fraternity, which is associated with the American Psychological Association, affords its members contact with the profession of psychology, in order to give them and others a greater interest in and further understanding of the science of psychology.

Membership, by invitation only, is limited to students who have at least a "B" average in twelve hours of psychology.

Sigma Pi Sigma

This national honorary physics fraternity offers its members a chance to keep abreast of the latest developments in their science, both on campus and on the international scene. This honorary organization works closely with the Society of Physics Students, which is open to all students.

A student must be a physics major in the upper third of his class in order to be eligible for induction into Sigma Pi Sigma.

Departmental Organizations

Knowledge simply learned is simply forgotten, but knowledge that is employed will become a meaningful part of the person. Such an opportunity is provided by the department organizations, where members meet to share and enjoy experiences discovered in learning.

Music

Madrigal Singers

The Madrigal Singers is a student organized and led group which specializes in music of the 16th and 17th centuries. The group performs many times during the school year for many different clubs and organizations. Membership is by invitation after audition.

The Organ Guild

The Guild Students Group is a branch of the American Guild of Organists. All members are students who are presently taking organ lessons. The main goals of the group are learning about organ construction and music, as well as touring and playing different organs in Memphis and the Mid-South.

The Southwestern Singers

The emergence last year of the southwestern Singers, a lively group of fun-loving individuals preaching a gospel of popular music, enabled director Tony Lee Garner to add spice to his already expansive music program. And this year promises even more variety. Once again, The Southwestern Singers will perform concerts of a religious nature, while a new group, the First Generation, will focus on contemporary sounds of the "now generation" - folk, rock, and show music. While it's a lot of work, it's geared to anyone with an ear for music and a penchant for pure enjoyment.

SCIENCE

Society of Physics Students

The Society of Physics Students is a national organization of professional physicists. The Southwestern student affiliated chapter sponsors visiting lecturers in various fields of physics.

Membership is open to anyone interested in physics. The purpose of this organization is to keep students and professors aware and informed about the latest developments in physics on our campus and also on the international scene. This organization is closely related to Sigma Pi Sigma. Professor Edward Barnhart is faculty advisor.

American Chemical Society

The American Chemical Society is a national organization for professional chemists. Southwestern's student affiliated chapter, established in the spring of 1964, has been extremely active. Programs include monthly seminars given by distinguished invited speakers, students, and faculty members. Dr. Richard Olcott is the faculty advisor.

PRE-MED CLUB

Southwestern's Pre-Med Club is an established group of students whose interests lie in the varied fields of medical science. Meeting once a week, the club sponsors programs such as film showings, lectures by prominent professionals in the field of medicine, and informal faculty-student discussions concerning the preparation of students for medical school application. The club has a pre-med advisor who welcomes the opportunity to talk individually with club members about their academic and career plans for the future. The highlight of the year is normally a well constructed tour of the University of Tennessee Medical Units here in Memphis. All in all, for a Southwestern student with aspirations to the medical profession, membership in the Pre-Med Club is a must.

MATH CLUB

The Math Club, a relatively new campus organization, attempts to foster an interest in mathematics outside of the classroom. At the monthly meetings speakers and films not only inform, but also challenge the members with thought-provoking lectures and problems. Of wide appeal is the annual Faculty-Student Math Contest at which time the students and profs compete against each other. All interested students should see Professor McCall.

Religious Organizations

There are two religious organizations on campus: College Life and Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Along with these structured groups are numerous prayer groups and Bible studies. These groups all provide an informal setting for students to meet and discover increasingly the relevance of a faith in Jesus Christ for the student.

FELLOWSHIP OF CHRISTIAN ATHLETES

Fellowship of Christian Athletes, an organization founded in the early 1950's, has become one of the most prolific organizations in this country.

Its purpose is "To confront athletes and coaches, and through them the youth of the nation, with the challenge and adventure of following Jesus Christ..." Possibly due to its founders, FCA has been incorrectly interpreted to be an organization for varsity athletes. FCA is open to all athletes and anyone interested in following Jesus Christ.

For the past several years the Southwestern FCA has regularly gone to Wisconsin Elementary School here in Memphis and aided in coaching the children there.

FCA will meet weekly this year. The information concerning the time and place will be posted at various places on campus. Anyone who thinks he or she might enjoy FCA please contact Mike Sadler in room 110 Bellingrath or Jackie Rutledge.

COLLEGE LIFE

College Life is a gathering of collegiate Christians who enjoy sharing their faith in Jesus Christ. It meets each Sunday night in a sorority house. The programs consist of singing, sharing, and speakers. The aim of College Life is to give Christians an opportunity to share the revolutionary change Christ has made in their lives and to enjoy the fellowship of other Christians. College Life is not an exclusive organization, but it is open to all members of the campus and invites everyone to attend.

THE GREEKS

SORORITIES

Women's Panhellenic Council

The Southwestern Panhellenic Council is a body composed of three representatives from each chapter of the National Panhellenic Conference sororities here at Southwestern. The purpose of this body is to arbitrate any disputes or rivalries which may arise among the constituent groups, to regulate and coordinate all rush procedures on this campus, and to serve as a representative voice for all the sororities to the Administration, the college community, and to the civic community.

The Pan Council sponsors two scholastic awards. Pan also has a biannual Pan Weekend, alternated with IFC Weekend, on which individual sororities have individual parties which culminate in a large, schoolwide formal Pan dance.

Alpha Omicron Pi

AOPi was founded January 2, 1987, at Barnard College, Columbia University, New York. The founders were Jessie Sallace Hughan, Helen St. Clair Mullen, Stella George Stern Perry, and Elizabeth Heywood Wyman. The Sorority now has 94 active and 193 alumnae chapters in the United States and Canada.

The AOPi chapter at Southwestern was founded November 20, 1925, and was named Kappa Omicron after its neighboring chapter, Kappa at Randolph-Macon and Omicron at the University of Tennessee.

Gwen Martin.....President

INTERSORORITIES

Southwestern's intersororities have as their purpose the recognition of outstanding sorority women and the promotion of friendly relations among sorority women. There are two national intersororities on campus. Both were founded at Randolph-Macon Women's College. Members meet for lunch in the intersorority colors on certain days of the week.

Pi

Members of Pi wear green and white with the traditional arm band. Composed of fifteen members, the organization recognizes a May Day Pi as the final new member of the year.

S.T.A.B.

S.T.A.B. members wear red and white with the ribbon and dagger of S.T.A.B. They honor a Founder's Day S.T.A.B. each March as the thirteenth member.

FRATERNITIES

INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Inter-Fraternity Council has as its dual purpose: the regulation of fraternity activities and the development of close relationships among the various Greek groups and the community of the college as a whole.

The executive council consists of the presidents and two representatives from each of the six groups on campus. This year the president of the council is Stan Hamilton.

The IFC is fairly autonomous in regard to legislation and executive direction. However it does work closely with the Social Regulations Council, the Social Commission, and the Administration so that goals may be achieved in the best interest of the individual groups and the college community at large.

Rooted in the belief that an individual's participation in fraternal group life can meaningfully broaden his total education, the Inter-Fraternity Council will continue to encourage both the exercise of meaningful traditions and progressive change.

Alpha Tau Omega

Founded September 11, 1865, at Richmond, Virginia, Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity is one of the largest social fraternities today, with 129 active chapters.

Established on the Southwestern campus in 1882 when the college was still at Clarksville, ATO was the second national fraternity on campus.

Rick Barkley.....President

Kappa Alpha

Kappa Alpha Order was founded at Washington College, now Washington and Lee University, in Lexington, Virginia, on December 21, 1865, by four students who sought to develop learning, gentlemanly conduct and high moral standards. The Order seeks to stimulate the chivalrous ideals of the Christian gentleman, manly honor and respect for womanhood which are part of the heritage of the old South.

Alpha Epsilon Chapter was founded November 16, 1887. Presently there are 94 active chapters of the order and approximately 60 alumni chapters. Kappa Alpha is the largest fraternity in the South.

Jim Hendrix.....President

Kappa Sigma

Kappa Sigma Fraternity was founded in the United States on December 19, 1869, at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville. The fraternity traces its origin to the 1400 at the University of Bologna, Italy.

Today Kappa Sigma has 134 active chapters and 79 alumni chapters in the United States and Canada. Phi Chapter, founded at Southwestern on April 12, 1882, during the 482nd year of the Fraternity's existence, was moved to Memphis with the college in 1925.

Rick Shamel.....President

Pi Kappa Alpha

Founded at the University of Virginia March 1, 1868, there are now 150 chapters throughout the United States.

Due to the meaningful traditions of Theta chapter, once the Grand Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha, the fraternity's national headquarters was established across the street from the Southwestern campus.

Phil Doss.....President

Sigma Nu

Founded at the Virginia Military Institute in 1869 as the Legion of Honor, Sigma Nu Fraternity ranks in the top six among American College Fraternities with 149 active chapters and over 100,000 initiates. Truly a national fraternity in scope its chapters are located in almost all of the fifty states.

Epsilon Sigma Chapter of Sigma Nu at Southwestern was installed in 1934. Recognizing the value of its members developing into well-rounded individuals, Sigma Nu stresses the importance of good scholarship along with social life and the participation in campus activities of their choosing as factors in achieving this goal.

Sigma Nu at Southwestern is rich in tradition, and because of the close and lasting ties made while in college it has strong support from its area alumni chapter.

Mike Sadler.....President

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

SAE Fraternity was founded at the University of Alabama in 1856. Since the founding, SAE has grown into the largest national collegiate fraternity with over 171 active chapters and 86 alumni chapters. Originally SAE was to be a strictly southern fraternity, but due to the efforts of mothers of members of the local chapter located here at Southwestern, the fraternity grew in every part of the United States.

The local chapter of SAE here at Southwestern, Tennessee Zeta, boasts of a fine and loyal history not only to the national fraternity, but also to the campus as well. It won the highest award from the national fraternity in 1966 for being the chapter that exemplified the most spirit and zeal.

Tommy Sides,.....President

Independent Men

Gamma Delta Iota, the non-fraternity, is open to any students who wish to participate. With a long history of activities on campuses throughout the nation, GDI has recently become active on Southwestern's campus.

Last year the non-fraternity men completely reorganized the Independent Men in order to increase participation in all phases of campus life. New and old students who are unaffiliated are cordially welcome to participate in the activities of this group.

ATHLETICS

Southwestern recognizes that sports and training in physical education are of value to the individual and that intercollegiate athletic competition can be both entertaining and broadly constructive. The College, therefore, maintains both an extensive intramural and varsity program. However, Southwestern still holds to the premise that these must complement, not overshadow, the academic. Thus the College gives no athletic scholarships, giving every student a chance to earn a place on a team, and its admissions and academic standards require a student athlete to maintain the same level of scholarship as other Southwestern students.

Southwestern is a member of the five school College Athletic Conference and its intercollegiate teams are known as the Lynx. The College enters competition in nine sports: football, basketball, tennis, golf, track, cross-country, baseball, wrestling, and swimming.

The intramural program is extensive and all students are encouraged to participate. Fraternity, sorority and independent teams participate in flagball, basketball, volleyball, softball, golf, track, tennis, handball, badminton, and pool, among others.

There are also various athletic organizations, whose purpose it is to create interest in athletics and to promote school spirit.

Men's Intramural Board

The Men's Intramural Board, composed of representatives from the six fraternities and the independent men, has charge of all men's intramural athletics. It sponsors tournaments among the fraternities and independent groups.

Women's Athletic Association

The WAA, under the guidance of elected representatives from each sorority and independent women, controls all women's intramural athletics. It sponsors tournaments between the sororities and independent groups.

"S" Club

The "S" Club is composed of all men who have earned letters in one of the varsity sports (golf, football, tennis, cross-country, basketball, baseball, track, wrestling, and swimming).

Pan-Olympic

Pan-Olympic, founded in 1948, is an honorary women's athletic association. It is designed to create more individual interest in intramural sports. New members of Pan-Olympic are selected at the end of each academic year by the old members. Members are selected because of their outstanding performance in one or more intramural sports during their first three years at Southwestern. Each member is given a red blazer with the Pan-Olympic emblem on the pocket.

Southwestern Athletic Union

The Commissioner of Athletics serves as president of the SAU. The commission is composed of class representatives as well as a vice president and secretary-treasurer.

The purpose of the SAU is to provide for, increase, and maintain school spirit; to provide a campus-wide organization to which all students may belong and in which each may work towards a unified goal; to actively support, through a well organized program, the total athletic effort of Southwestern at Memphis, including varsity sports, intramural activities, and other events in which a large part of the student body participates; to encourage attendance at every athletic event; to plan and defray costs of out-of-town trips to athletic events; to plan and provide for any and all other such activities as shall be fitting to such an organization.

Pep Band

The Pep Band is a volunteer student organization composed of those with some musical ability, who are interested in promoting school spirit. The band plays at all home football and basketball games. Rehearsals are held at a time decided upon by the members.

CAMPUS EVENTS

All-Sing

Kappa Delta sponsors an All-Sing each year to raise funds for its philanthropic work. Each Greek letter organization presents two songs, and the fraternity and sorority winners are awarded trophies.

May Day

The May Day Fertility Faire - Ballons, the Maypole Dance, and play. Heaven only knows what else happens. Always a surprise.

Derby Day

Derby Day, sponsored by the Sophomore Class, is held each year in the fall. Each class competes in the day's track and field events and a Derby Day Dance is held that night.

Homecoming

Homecoming festivities usually fall during the month of October. The student body elects a queen and the "S" Club and football team each selects a princess.

Fraternity and sorority lawns are decorated and judged on the basis of originality and appearance.

Annual events include a pep rally, bonfire, football game, fraternity open houses, and the Homecoming Dance.

Stunt Night

To further its philanthropic work, Alpha Omicron Pi sponsors Stunt Night. Following presentation original skits by each sorority and fraternity, trophies are awarded to the winning groups.

Student Union Weekend

Each year the Student Union plans and executes the Student Union Weekend which highlights the year with social and recreational activities. Some of the social events are a night club complete with folk groups, jazzy combos and talented campus entertainers decided upon by auditions. Recreation includes contests such as a bridge tournament, skill driving course, and a pancake eating contest. The winning sponsored group claims the President's Trophy for the year. The weekend is climaxed with a dance complete with a big name band.

Carnival

Zeta Tau Alpha sponsors a carnival each year to provide funds for its philanthropic work. Each Greek, independent, or class group is allowed to enter a booth in the carnival. After paying an entrance fee, which goes to Zeta's philanthropy, each participating group is free to keep all the proceeds from its booth.
