Cong. Kuykendall Raps Dr. King!

Inside Memphis:

D-DAY IN MEMPHIS: Pollumen were cooling it until things out of hand last Thursday morning. The sound of breaking ther King, exharted even high glass, the yells of gleeful looters and the quick disappearance of Martin Luther King and some of his aides gave the itchy cops their big moment. They dropped their cool, patted their helmets, flashed dubs and mace cans and headed for the thousands of protest marchers who were trapped on Beale Street.

They sprayed gae in faces and brought their clubs down on heads, any face and any head, as long as the tace and head belanged to a Negro. Some very young students, just entering their teens, felt the sting and thud of a club. "It hurt me to see them beating those young children," said one white observer.

Jesse Turnet, a member of the County Court and NAACP president, was sprayed with gas. Fred Davis, a City Councilman, got nothing but gas in his face while telling the on-rushing cops "I'm a City Councilman," McCann Reid, editor of the Tri-State Defender, three up his hands and yelled "I'm with the press," but that dide" help. They sprayed him with gas and punched him with a club. Hareld Whalum, newly elected president of Union Protective Life Insurance Company, criticized policemen for cursing in the presence of ladies and they knocked him down.

And, so it went. The guilty and the innocent were caught

THE BIG NET: Last Thursday was to have been the big day, a day to prove to Memphis and Mayor Loeb that Negroes were solidly behind the 1,300 striking garbagemen. Dr. King had called for a march to end all marches. He and some of the local ministers called for a work stoppage for one day and urged students to cut classes. Hundreds didn't go to work and thousands of students played hookey.

It could have been a glorious day, but it got out of hand before it started. Some students warned their teachers that they would be back after the march and wreck their cars. There were disturbances on most of the Negro high school campuses between 8 a.m. and 9 a.m., the biggest one at Hamilton where a cop clubbed a girl during a chase after students hurled rocks and bottles at the policemen.

Apparently, leaders of the Big March had not reckoned with the power of "Blank Power" youngsters and street corner cowboys. These leaders had detected drinking among some of the youngsters and they noted that many of them were armed

When Dr. King finally arrived and took his position at the head of the march, scores of youngsters rushed to the front of King shouting "We want Cermichael."

Sensing trouble, the Rev. James M. Lawson Jr., the No. 1 local leader, suggested that Dr. King drive off, out of sight, until the rowdy group could be calmed down. King's aides advised him to go ahead with the march.

Store windows on Beale and on Main Street were smashed by a small group but many of the other youngsters in the march couldn't resist taking part in the looting.

AND, THEN, THE MAN CAME: The Army trucks, loaded with 4,000 National Guardsmen (a few of them Negroes) rolled into town. And, the State Transpers came. And, there was a curfew. The whiskey stores were closed and "No Beer" signs went up. Bot, there was deinking just the same and some more head-beating and bloody heads. There were fires and some more loating. And, there was fear all over town. Negroes as well as

WASHINGTON - Congressman Dan Kuykendall delivered "Setting the Record Straight on Memphis" speech before the U.S. House of Representatives this week, a speech that was highly critical of Dr. Martin Luther King's recent visit to Memphis.

An 11th grader at Mitchell Road High School in deep South Mem-phis, the boy was given an appro-priate funeral at historic Clayborn Temple AME Church on Hernando, headquarters for supporters of 1 300 striking grabagemen and the point from where Martin Luther King stasted his unsuccessful protest march last Thursday morn-

The Rev. B. T. Dumas officiated and touching and stirring words were said by others. Burial was in Now Park with N. J. Ford and Bons Funeral Pariors in charge.

His palibearers were young men who had been his friends—Burk Gooth, Rudy Gray, Charles Davis, Tommie Lee Crosley, Lawrence Richmond and Bamund Taylor.

Larry lived with his father, Mason Payne, at 3023 Parker Road. His mother, Mrs. Lizzie Payne, resides at 855 Mason, Apt. 175, in the Fowler Homes housing project.

The fatal shooting took place in Folwer Homes, about a mile from the Street area, and two blocks from a Sears branch store on South Third which had been taken over by looters.

Police cailmed Larry was one of the lotters. They first announced he was shot near the store. Later, they agreed with witnesses that the boy was shot at Fowler Homes. ership for this violence is like a Police officer L. J. Jones, who shot and killed the boy, swore he shot in self-defence. The deceased was the brother of Mrs. Marcie L. Rooks, Mrs. Kira M. Tidwell, Miss Carolyn Payne, Clayton Payne of Pensacola, Fla., and Calvin, Carl and Malcolm

About 300 people were in the church at beginning of the funer but the number of mourners had increased to nearly 1,000d towar the end of service.

Among those participating were Alonso Weaver, principal of Mitchell Road High; the Rev. H. Ralph Jackson, Eddie Harris and the Rev. Harold A. Middlebrook.

There were no uniformed policeemen at the funeral.

The mother, Mrs. Payne, wept throughout the rites. She insisted that the white steele casket be opened at the end of the service Although previous plans called for keeping it closed.

Throughout the service, Mrs. Payne cried: "They shot you down like a dog."

rowed car by his aides when last Thursday's march got out of hand on South Main Street at Beale.

Meanwhile, there is growing optimism in Memphis. Key white business and ministerial leaders are banning together hopeful of convincing Mayor Henry Loeb and union leaders that the strike has gone far enough and should be ended.

The Memphis World learned that top businessmen are ready to put pressure on the Mayor as a means of ending the two- month-old Memphis Ministers Association on Monday of this week urged a "summit" meeting of church, civic and political leaders to bring an end to the sanitation strike and racial friction. The Association also called for a meeting with the Interdenominational Ministerial Alliance, a predominant Negro group, before the summit meeting.

Loeb contends that the strike is illegal, refuses to recognize the union and has said time and time again that he will not permit a union dues checkoff. The checkoff is the main issue with the union. The President Bows Out be announcement in a television address to the nation Sunday night by President Johnson that he will not be a candidate for the Democratic Party nomination for re-election came as a thock to many and a surprise to almost everyone except a few of his close associates.

admit it was a shock to us because we did not see President Johnson as one who would quit under pressure. On the otherhand, we had secretly thought since open division developed between members high-up in his own party over the President's policies in regards to war, it might serve the country's best aterest if he were not a candidate for re-election.

Bur thoughts went back to former President Truman's administration in 1952 when the nation was involved in the Korean War, Early in March or before, Mr. Truman announced he was not a candidate for re-election and no such division developed in high places and in the open over the Korean War.

President Johnson had every right to seek re-election and we believe his position and control over the Democratic Party machinery could have given him the nomination.

So we must give the President credit for his courage and judgment for taking an action which should eliminate the aspects of politics from his conduct of the war,

And for the record, we must state that it is regrettable that Senator Robert Kennedy, the second most prominent Democrat in the nation, would take open issue with the President over the war. We believe this division at the top among leaders of the party in control of the government will have the effect of delaying agreement by the North Vietnamese Communists to come to a peace conference over the war.

Of course, all Americans want the war stopped as soon as possible with an honorable agreement, but we do not think the mass of Americans desire peace at the price of what would amount to surrender.

And right here, we must give credit to former Vice President Richard Nixon, the way-out-in-front runner for the Republican nomination, for not having shown openly too much criticism against the conduct of the war. If anyone has a right to disagree with the President, it would be a member of the opposition party. Yet the Republicans have shown less open disagreement with the conduct of the war than have members of the President's own party. This is strange to us. Unnecessary politics Local NBL should not be injected into the conduct of the war.

However, the President's action in reducing the bombing attacks should make it clear again to open-minded persons everywhere that the Communists are responsible for prolonging the President Johnson's action has certainly weakened the positions of both Senator Kennedy and former Gov. Wallace.

We hope there will be no further open disagreement with the President by prominent members of his party over the conduct of the war,

The Washington March Should Be Called Off

(From the Atlanta Daily World)

Reactions across the country is almost unanimous in a verdict that the proposed march on Washington, headed by Dr. Martin Luther, King, Jr., should be called off. Apparently the appeal that such action be taken seemed to have picked up more steam since the unfortunate tragic repulse at Memphis in which there $15. was violence and at least one death.

This piece is to emphasize more intensely that this march be called off for the following reasons: First, the grave danger of violence as took over in Memphis in which the National Guard had to be called; second, the danger of the march getting out of line at the beheast of some rlot opportunist who might have infiltered the movement in a sabateur fashion for the purpose of discrediting the civil rights movement on the whole, and to embarrass some of those in Congress eagerly backing the measure; third, grave doubt that at this time the march will have any faverable impact on members of the Congress.

Cur own U.S. Senator Edward Brooks, holder of the highest elective office by a member of our racial group, has expressed fear that violence will erupt in a march in Washington.

At least two members of the Congress have stated they would seek an injunction against Dr. King and other leaders of the proposed Washington march.

All in all, the best minds and students of history would indicate that the best interests of the civil rights measure and that of our particular racial group would be served were the whole

MY WEEKLY SERMON

REV. BLAIR T. HUNT,

MISSISSIPPI REVO CHRISTIAN CHURCH MEMPHIS, TENN.

TAG: MY WEEKLY SERMON SUBJECT: "SINGING" TEXTS: "Sing sloud unto God."

Oh Come, Let Un Sing Unto The Lord." - PSA, 95:1. "I Will Sing With The Spirit, And I Will Sing With Understanding Aiso." - COR. 14:15.

Singing is a Religious Duty. In creation "The morning Stars Sang together." At the Birth of our Lord and Savior, The Angles converted the Heavens into a choir left and sang. In the Upper Room before going to the Garden of Gethsemane, Jesus and His 11 Disciples sang a song. We know not the song nor the sound; we only know they sang. John, banished on the island Patmos. saw and heard singing in Heaven.

Yes, singing is a Religious Duty. Singing is a Gift of God. Therefore, let us sing unto our bord. The Good Book tells us to sing with Spirit and with Understanding. The question comes, " Do we mean what we sing?" We sing, "Onward Christian Solders," but we fail to march onward to church. We sing, "Oh, For A Thousand Tongues To Sing, Etc.," and we don't use the one we have to sing in the choir. We sing "Blest Be The Tie That Binds," and then we let the slightest offense break the tie of fellowship and friendship. We sing, "Throw Out The Life Line," and then spend Sunday throwing out the fishline. We sing, "There Shall Be Showers of Blessing," and we don't go to church if it looks like rain. And on and on we sing but do we mean what we sing? Let us sing unto

Let us remember sacred mus is a channel of the power and the presence and the purpose of God, There is a comforting power in music. Examples: "What A Friend music. Examples: "What A Friend We Have in Jeaus." "Sweet Hour of Prayer." "Come Ye Disconsolate" Let our singing be means of bringing cogniort and peace to them that are wary and heavighaden and togshed with sorrow.

There is industing power in singing the songs. the Lord. Example: "My Faith gooks Up To Thee," "There is a Wideness In God's

"There is a Wideness In God's Mercy." Jasus Calls Us O'er The Tumuit." Let us sing To Streng-then The Fainting, impart courage in the doubting, fire noble ambitions and with our voices kindle hope in the hopeless that they may raise their eyes to behold the

Jesus Face.
Thank God for our consecrated choirs. The melody of their voices fills our ears, and Divine Truth Pours Into Our Hearts.

Thank God For Congregational singing. The singing of Hymns, Gospel songs, the old Spirituals tends to draw our souls away from the cares of life and center them on God. Singing together makes us forget the spiritual isolation in which many of us live and has a unifying affect.

May we sing with the spirit and with understanding till our poor lips ping stammering tongue lies silent in the grave. Yes, let us "Sing Aloud Unto God."

May we pray: Oh Thou Great Source of All Melody, Thou Who Art Infinite Harmony and Whose ways are rhythm, Give to Us to Partake in the Joy, The Glory, and the Lord, But Pray don't lie unto the deep content of serving thee through song, Amen.

Shortness Ut Breath

Health Educator Hamilton County Tuberculosis Association

As long as you are breathing easy, you don't give a thought to it. When you do become aware of your breathing, it's usually because you're short of breath. Shortness of breath may mean nothing or it may be a sign of something seriously wrong. You are short of breath if you are aware of labored uncomfortable breatiling, 'a struggle' to breathe,' to grasp for breath.

Don't confuse shortness of breath with just rapid breathing. If you are in a hot, humid room or you are very upset, you may breathe much faster than usual. Panting is normal in these circumstances.

Epilepsy Merger Permits Cut

WASHINGTON, D. C. - The reccent merger of Epilepsy Association of America tand The Epilepsy Foundation has already resulted in a 30 percent reduction of paid staff and an 18 per cent reduction in administrative costs.

The reductions were announced by Neal Gilliatt, president of Epilepsy Foundation of America, which was officially incorporated on Jan. 1. after merger negotiations lasting more than four years.

Mr. Gilliatt said that the two

Your professional beautician knows the answer....

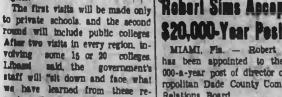

Why does some hair break off when combing?

Your hair is precious and delicate ... and none of us like to see It break off for any reason. Scientists tell us that excessive use of hot combs and over-processing of hair with chemicals often are major causes of brittleness resulting in hair breakage. But hair that is naturally curly and tangles easily frequently breaks off in everyday combing. Notice how irritated your scalp becomes when you comb in contrast to the way your beautician does?

Your professional beautician knows that ourly hair mate and tangles so easily that it should be softened before combing. Hit By Gardinals

ST. LOUIS - The St. Louis Cardinals betrayed their National League partners last year by violating the NL's long-standing unwritten rule that the pennant race must go "down to the wire."

In breaking the '87 race wide open in August, the Cardinals disrupted a series of dramatic campaigns which had seen NL clubs battling right down to the final week-ends and even down to the final day of preceding seasons.

The consensus during spring training, however, is that no club can repeat the Redbirds' surprising performance of 1967 and the Cardinals themselves do not expect to perform an encore in 1968. The learne is too evenly balanced for any club to run away and hide. The old league's slogan - "anything can happen in the N. L., and usually does" has been accepted by everyone who follows the lesque's activities. The jump from sixth place in 1956 to a cakewalk in 1967 by St. Louis added credence to the theory.

Practically every National League team heads into a new season with an eye on the pennant, having in mind the bizarre developments which have unfolded in recent years, Prior to the Cardinal jump six notches in the standings last year, the memory of the Dod gers performing the same feat in 1965 and the same Card nals dropplug from the role of Wor ... This reaching out to accliam films dealing with broad issues in the church's domain, says Dr. James M. Wall, "represents a considerable advance beyond the views of an earlier church generation that a "religious film has to make explicit noises about morality, God, and-or the church."

The winners, he elaborates, "deal with the ambiguity inherent in anyany situation where decisions are made." All bring out the complexity of today's living.

Winning sedections are: Up the Down Staricase (focusing upon ghetto education). The War Game (a graphic depiction or the effect of nuclear holocaust). The Battle of Algiers (a dacumentary-type movie of the struggle for independence), and In the Heat of the Night (a study of racial tension). Algiers and the last received joint awards from the National Catholic

Office of Motion Pictures.

Editor Wall a member of the NCC film awards panel, in the March 21 issue of the Methodist bi-weekly Christian Advocate, significance in a motion picture lauds Up the Down Staircase for playing up the "frustrations of unmotivated children" and for bringing into sharp relief the cheering results "when a teacher-pupil relationship breaks down into a simple person-to-person confrontation."

Similarly, he likes In the Heat of the Night because this film, while devoid of false, sentimental sympathy, is a "sensitive portrayal of in faith — the new mind-set and the conflict between two men who discover their own humanity by age"? accepting rather than distorting the potential they find in each

The Battle of Algiers - showing the "painful attempt" by the French to stem revolutionists - is cited by the Christian Advocate editor as a forceful reminder that these are difficult days to be white and 'in

The War Games, Dr. Wall says in the analysis Film Awards Focus on Church Subjects, "should jar us into an awareness that we now rent life in three categories; racial live in a world where the alternatensions, war and ghetto educa- tive to love could be total destruction."

> While he concurred in the selection of these four motion pictures "they deal in conventional answers to conventional questions."

He finds these answers "tradi-tionally within the framework of understanding and human confrontation" - on only one level. while failing to probe beyond the tastes of conventional audiences Asserting that old questions are "inadequate." Editor Wall is sorry that he was unable to persuade several other NCC judges to join in his preference for Bonnie and Clyde, a film about a desperado couple. tures What he likes in particular about this controversial film is that "the message of violence-easily-come-by rebaks open new questions about violence as a solution." Indeed, he says, "it doesn't 'answer' its questions but it poses them in such a way that the audience is forced to re-look at its own presupposi-

The meaning of this for Christian churches, says Editor Wall, is that it outlines a "far more significant struggle within the churck. He challenges:

"Are we to continue to meet the problems of the 20th and 21st centuries with the mind-set and questions of the 19th centur, or questions appropriate to a new

In short, he makes clear, the attitude of organized religion on This movie demonstrates, says such films "indicates how it looks Dr. Wall, that racial harmony be- at the world" right now.
