Grand Jury Acts Inspires State In Capitol Classic On Collazo Indictment

WASHINGTON. D. C - A Federal Grand Jury acted with unprecedented speed Priday to indict Oscar Collazo for first degree murder and felomous assault in the November 1 attempt to assassinate President Truman

The District of Columbia Jury returned two murder counts against the Puerto Rican Nationalist in connection with the slaving of White House Guard Leslie Coffeit during a wild shooting melee in front of the President's Blair House residence

Two assault counts were returned in the wounding of Police Guards Joseph H. Downs and Donald T. Birdzell, both of whom are recovering in local hospitals

The jury said Collazo and his slain companion, Griselio Torresola, attacked Mr. Truman's guards "with intent to kill."

Collago himself received wounds in the blazing gun battle a week ago last Wednesday.

Friday, dressed in prison garb, he was transferred from Gallinger Hospital to district jail by automobile with motorcycle police escort. The classic is played. U S. attorney's office indicated h will be arraigned in court

American Red Cross Works For Democracy

BY LOIS S. JOHNSON WASHINGTON - (ANP) - The principle of service is as American as "democracy" or "representative ara Thrift club, recently. At this government " Yet the idea cannot be taught by precept alone. Young the Bazaar and Tea, which the club people must be encouraged to make this American virtue a part of their lives through daily practice.

To help teachers accomplish this, a laboratory for service is available through the program of the American Junior Red Cross in the schools. During 1950, over 19,000,000 young people enrolled for service is over 95,000 elementary and secondary schools in the United States - public, private, and parochial.

Through the international program of Junior Red Cross, they joined hands in a common effort for mutual good with some 33,000,000 other Junior Red Cross members in 55 countries around the world.

The Carver Vocational School Maroon and Gray Panthers knocked the Beach High School eleven, of Savannah, Ga., from the ranks of unbeaten Big Seven Conference teams by squeezing out a 8-6 victory, Friday night, at Herndon Memorial Stadium.

Trailing 6-0 at intermission, the Maroon and Gray Panthers put on a smashing ground and air attack in the second stanza to deadlock the count 6-all, then went on to by chalking up an automatic safety late in the fourth period. BEACH SCORES ON 31-YARD PASS

Beach broke in the score column in the second period, when Quarterback Claud Robinson fired a 31yard pass to William Wilson. Robinson fired a 31-yard pass to Robinson try-for-point-after-touchdown was no good. Earlier in the game, the Beach gridmen had halted a Carver drive on their two-yard line

The Panthers stormed back in the second half, marching 47 yards on a sustained drive to even the count 6-6. Jesse Holliday started the fireworks by hitting Quarterback Greenberry Jinks with a 27-yard aerial. Levon Green moved the ball to the Beach 18, and Howard Calhoun wandered to the six on a reverse to set the stage. Holliday powered his way over the double stripes for the TD.

The Panthers started another sustained drive, late in the fourth period, with Holliday passing to Jinks for 11 yards on the first play from scrimmage. Then Green and Holiday teamed with Herb Adams to move the ball to the Beach eightyard line.

Are the fights the family at home and the boys in the tavern see on television the same as those the lans see in person at the ringside" In boxing as well as in other ports there have been some lively debates as to whether or not TV comes close to reproducing the real thing.

We all still remember the Vancient" days of radio when any refemblance between the fight the radio announcer saw and the one in the ring was purely, accidental. In these days the announcers were selling the broadcasts.

Today fights are telecast apparently with a minimum of talk by glib announcers. A number of writers have hinted that even television does not accurately tell the story of the fight as one sees it in the stadium For example, one reporter in St.

Louis says this about the recent still should have enough left to out Sanly Saddler Charley Riley contest voint him. there:

" Fans who saw both the actual fight between Charles Riley and Sandy Saddler at the Arena and the retelecast of the bout over KSD-TV were amazed at the difference of the two versions.

fight, and then poured it on during "At The Arena the bout was so the last half. thrilling that spectators stood on their feet, cheering and applauding On television it seemed there was THE SPORTS considerable clinching. You yawned at the picture but at The Arena there was no time when you felt like going to sleep." This ringsider prefers to see the fight in person, himself, but he cannot compare the two versions. For Chicago I may experiment by seeing the first five rounds of a Sam's draft call may be a little bout on television across the street from the Chicago stadium, then rough on young ball players but viewing the last five in person at it is sure to be a blessing in disthe stadium guise to old ones.

It Depends Upon The Outlook

We cannot withstand the temptation of passing along to our American friends the following little news nugget culled from a release out of Windsor, Ontario Friday. The story deals with a 5-day jail sentence imposed on a Canadian Ben Labelle, for the shooting to death of the barking puppy of a 14-year-old boy with one bullet and then turning to the gated to attend the important conboy asking the youth, "Do you want one too?"

Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan angrily told Labelle: "The one absolutely unselfish friend a man can have in this selfish w world _____ is his dog. In this callous rage you brought to an end the joy this boy knew in such friendship."

What a great spirit for a judge! What a wonderful age. Nashville; Taylor Seals, Lexspirit and example in humane consideration for a dumb animal! But is not that the spirit of Christ in relations to suffering and service? Take a look at the slavings and other violent deaths our own people suffer at each other's hand. Compare these with the action of the Judge in this case. Here is a man who is sentenced to a five-day jail term for shooting a dumb animal to death. We have known cases where Negroes have slain each other and were dealt with lightly and in some cases, with no more severity than the offending Canadian. It all depends upon the outlook, we would say.

Book Week

This is National Book Week for children. It is a good time in which parents, teachers and public librarians, working cooperatively, can do a good job in channelling the reading habits of children and to give them a new and greater appreciation for books. But, in addition to the little for the next five years, it was anones, adults themselves have an opportunity to renew or increase their reading customs and catch up on books which keby all of us sometimes at least, have on our list to be read but because of pressing business we are never quite able to do.

Since the first observance of the week back in 1919, we have been going along without much serious thought to the week. We have been content to read the signs and posters in the Libraries and in the magazines which herald Book Week. But beyond this outward demonstration we have done year little else. It is altogether possible however for us to find in Kirkeby also negotiated a separit a new devotion to the finest and best in art and culture. ate deal with the management of the famed London Palladium, show We can make use of this week as a time when we can set place of the British Empire, for the aside idle gossip, so common among the idle and unemployed "Deeps" to play an annual engagepersons of our nation, and give ourselves wholeheartedly to ment at the spot. this rededication to culture and art and the related tools of our civilization.
