This boy symbolizes much of the services being provided in Memphis and Shelby County through the Annual Chest-Fund Campaign. Virtually everyone of the Red-Feather Agencies supported by the Community Chest Fund is investing in this boy for the future of this community, and the nation at large. It will be your opportunity to see that this investment is made adequately by your contribution to the Community Chest Fund drive which opens this month.

What's The Worth Of A Baby?

BY MARGARET McCULLOUGH

What is the worth of a child? A baby? Over 9,000 of them were born in Memphis last year, and over 4,400 of them were Negro babies. What is each child worth?

Did you ever think what your Community Chest dollar does for them? Do you know?

Even before these babies are born, trained workers supported by your chest money are planning for them, so they can have a better chance in life.

These people work with two agencies, the Community Council, which helps plan for everybody, Negro and white, and the Urban League, which does special planning to meet special Negro needs.

Besides the paid staff, literally hundreds of citizens, Negro and white, give volunteer services with these two agencies the year around to see our babies may have good homes, united families able to support them, and strong programs in health, education, recreation, and character-building.

URBAN LEAGUE

For instance the Urban League has an interracial board headed by Dr. Peter Cooper of LeMoine College and the Community Council has an interracial committee on Negro Welfare headed by Mr. J. H. Seward, and both have other volunteer bodies. These people give their services. Won't you try to give a few dollars?

Your Chest dollars do a lot beside planning. They provide trained

NEW HEARING FOR HENDERSON

Given Chair Third Time In Carroll Co. Slaying

CARROLLTON, Ga. — (SNS) — Clarence Henderson was found guilty for the third time Thursday of the "lovers' lane slaying" of Georgia Tech student Carl (Buddy) Stevens, Jr., at Carrollton.

Although his execution date was set for November 16 by Judge Samuel J. Boykin, he received an automatic stay of execution when the judge granted a new trial hearing scheduled for December 1.

This was the third time that Judge Boykin had sentenced Henderson to death. Two previous convictions were reversed by the Georgia Supreme Court. The third trial was marked by the disagreement of two crime scientists over whether a pistol traced to Henderson and alleged to be the murder weapon actually fired the fatal bullet.

Defense Attorney Dan Duke said after the verdict:

"I will make a motion for a new trial and will do everything necessary to establish the truth as to the identity of the gun, to show that Clarence Henderson is not guilty of this crime."

A large crowd was on hand to hear the jury announce its decision after almost nine hours of deliberation. During the trial, Dr. Herman Jones, director of the Fulton County crime laboratory, said he did not think the alleged murder weapon fired the bullet that killed Stevens. Jones' assistant, George Cornett, testified that he believes the weapon

Learn Negroes On Team, FSU Cancels Game

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — (INS) — Officials at Florida State University Wednesday cancelled a football game with Bradley University of Peoria, Ill., after learning that the Bradley squad has several Negro players on its roster.

A spokesman for the Athletic Department at FSU said the action was taken after the Bradley athletic director notified the Tallahassee school that they would not consider playing without the Negroes.

The Negroes are the first in the history of the school to play on the varsity. In addition to cancelling the game scheduled at Tallahassee November 24, a return meeting at Peoria next year was called off.

Earlier this year, the University of Tampa journeyed to Illinois to play Bradley. The Negro athletes participated in the game, which Bradley won, 34 to 6.

41 More Cicero Rioters Freed

CHICAGO — (ANP) — Some 41 persons who went on trial last week for participating in the Cicero riot were allowed to go free because of a mixup in police records.

Of the 52 defendants charged with unlawful assembly, one was fined $25 and 10 others $10 each.

When the defendants were brought to trial last week, it was not possible to determine who made the actual arrest—whether it was the sheriff's men, national guardsmen, or Cicero police.

Defense lawyers, therefore were able to challenge the testimony of Samuel Papanek and Mark Jennings, assistant states attorneys, who could not identify the defendants.

The men had been arrested in connection with the July 10, 1948 rioting when hoodlums destroyed the property and personal belongings of Harvey E. Clark, Jr., and his family.

Clark had rented an apartment in Cicero, an illy-white suburb of Chicago. Five companies of national guardsmen had to restore order when rioting broke out.

Well Known Policewoman And Former Political Power Passes Suddenly

NASHVILLE — Miss B. Mabel McKay, Nashville City policewoman for a number of years an active figure in social, civic and political circles, was found dead in the kitchen of her home here at 1015 9th Avenue, North, Saturday afternoon.

The lifeless body of Miss McKay was found beneath the sink in her kitchen by Patrolman James Booker following a visit to the McKay home by one of her friends, Mrs. Lyla Dint.

Mrs. Dint called Mayor Ben West after she discovered a light burning in the kitchen and all doors of the home locked. Neighbors in the meantime had told her that they had not seen Miss McKay during the day. The mayor then called Patrolman Booker who forced his entrance into the house.

According to Homicide Detectives George Balthrop and Harry Mott, Miss McKay had suffered from high blood pressure, and according to their testimony, she apparently died from an internal hemorrhage.

ACTIVE IN POLITICS HERE

Miss McKay had been active in local political circles for a number years, and it was largely through these connections that she was first appointed to the office of police-woman with the City of Nashville by former Mayor Thomas L. Cummings.

She was later discharged by Mr. Cummings, but was re-instated to her position and paid nearly $1,000 in back pay by an order handed down in Davidson County's Part 3 of Chancery Court a few months ago. So sensational was the case that it attracted nationwide attention from the time the suit was filed until it came to a successful termination in Miss McKay's favor last summer.

She was a candidate for magistrate from the first civil district in 1950 and was head of the Negro Democratic League and the Negro Civic Improvement League. She had also been active for a number of years also in Community Chest, March of Dimes and Cancer Drives in the city.

A native of Nashville, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKay. It was pointed out here last summer when the decision was handed down in Chancery Court restoring her to her job as policewoman that one of Miss McKay's relatives was once an employee in the family of President James K. Polk eleventh president of the United States.

She was a graduate of both Flisk and A and I State College. Before her tenure of service with the city which began in 1946 Miss McKay had served for a number of years as supervisor of schools in various sections of the State of Tennessee. She is a member of St. Paul AME Church.

SUPPORTED MAYOR WEST

Miss McKay was a strong supporter of Mayor Ben West in both his political campaigns for mayor of the City of Nashville. She supported Mr. West in 1943 when he lost to the incumbent, Thomas L. Cummings, but supported Mr. Cummings in 1947 against Weldon White.

Attorneys C. L. Ennis and Kenneth Harwell, the latter a former member of the law firm of Williams, Cummings and West, were Miss McKay's attorneys in the suit against the City of Nashville for re-instatement and back pay.

Complete funeral arrangements had not been made at the time THE SUN went to press.

Davis Named To Defend County In School Case

COLUMBIA, S. C. — (INS) — John W. Davis, former Ambassador to Great Britain, was named Tuesday to represent Clarendon County School officials when a suit attacking segregation in South Carolina is argued before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Gov. James F. Byrnes announced in a statewide radio broadcast the appointment of Davis, one-time presidential candidate who maintains a winter home near Charleston, S. C.

Byrnes, pointing out that Davis was solicited general during President Wilson's administration, said he considers him "one of the ablest constitutional lawyers."

OPERATION OF 14 MEMBER BANKS SHOWS THAT PURCHASING POWER HAS BECOME A NATIONAL FACTOR

BY A. M. RIVERA JR.

The successful operation of the fourteen member banks in the National Bankers' Association have shown that Negroes are good mortgage and loan risks and have opened up new economic opportunities for colored people, a leading Negro banker said.

John H. Wheeler, vice president and cashier of the Mechanics and Farmer Bank of Durham, made this statement in the president's annual address before the twenty-fourth convention of the NBA.

NATURAL SAVERS

Wheeler, a Durham lawyer, who was one of the plaintiffs attorneys in the Durham School Equality suit, described Negroes as "natural savers." He pointed out that out of an estimated Negro purchasing power for Negroes exceeding twelve billion dollars, Negroes spend $2 billion dollars for insurance, saving and education. Only items for food and clothing exceed the investment sums of the Negro group. Mr. Wheeler cited a Courier survey as the source of his figures.

Although he said plainly that the national economy could not reach its fullest potentials with any section or group segregation, Wheeler also praised the cooperative efforts of Southern banking and insurance examiners.

He said: "We have through the years been blessed with unusually favorable consideration by both Federal and State supervisory authorities. Their sympathetic and interested consideration has been one of the most encouraging factors in the growth of our banks."

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

At the conclusion of the two day meet the organization voted to re-elect all officers. They are J. H. Wheeler, President; B. Doyle Mitchell, vice president, Industrial Bank of Washington, D. C.; M. C. Martin, vice president and secretary, Danville Savings Bank and Trust Company, Danville, Va. Nettie Bennett Archer, treasurer, Citizens Trust Company, Atlanta, Ga.; Leroy F. Ridley, chairman of the executive committee, Crown Saving Bank, Newport News, Va.

The group voted to meet next year in Memphis, Tennessee.

The convention was welcomed by J. Thomas Lewis Sr., chairman of the board of directors, Consolidated Bank and Trust Co. of Richmond Dr. Robert P. Daniel, president of Virginia State College, addressed the only public meeting of the convention at Ebenezer Baptist Church.

Fraternity Quits Parent Body Over Pledging Negro

BRUNSWICK, Me. — (ANP) — The Bowdoin college chapter of Delta Upsilon fraternity last week became the latest college fraternity to sever relations with its parent organization over the issue of pledging Negroes.

The action resulted from the pledging of a Negro from Boston, Theophilus E. McKinney, last January. The Bowdoin college chapter had been under suspension since then.

John A. Ritscher, Longmeadow, Mass., acting president of the chapter, said it would operate as a local group using the name "Delta Club."

The general fraternity at its September convention at Ann Arbor, Mich., voted to retain the clause which provided that "any duly enrolled male student" was eligible. However, the convention made it clear that the pledging of any Negro would be looked upon as an unfraternal act.

In defending the action of the local chapter, Ritscher said: "When the path of brotherhood diverges from that of freedom, democracy and justice, it is the latter course which we must pursue."

Workshop Opens At Lane College

JACKSON — October 13 Dr. Frank Moore, director, Jack and Madison County Health Clinic and Dr. N. M. Neudecker, Madison County Health Officer, are slated as feature speakers at the Workshop in School and Community Health Education, Tuesday, October 16, which is in session at Lane College. Dr. Moore will speak on "Public Health in Tennessee"; and Dr. Neudecker will speak on "Activities of a Full Time Health Department."

The two-week workshop opened at 1:00 Friday afternoon, October 12, with Julian Bell, director, health and physical education, Lane College, presiding. Featured speaker at this meeting was Dr. Lane B. Morton, chairman, division of humanities, Lane College, who spoke on "Bridging the Gap Between Home and School."

"Among the major adjustments of a young child's life are the adjustments he must make at the beginning of his public school career," asserted Dr. Morton.

Among other things, she stated, "parents should know the importance of teaching their children to observe keenly. Multitudes miss the richness of life because they go through the world seeing nothing as they pass."

Dr. Morton concluded by stating that "if the parent provides a wholesome mental, emotional, and physical foundation for the preschool child and the teacher receives him with a smile, a sympathetic soul, and a thinking love, the beginning child will face the school day with a happy, eager, hearty, ready for the day's work and harboring no thought of fear."

ARCHONIAN ENTERTAIN AT PAJAMA PARTY

On Saturday, October 13 at the home of their Dean of Pledges, the Archonian Club of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority had quite a merry old time at their pajama party. The purpose of the party was to instill in the pledges "a more sisterly feeling toward one another."

The affair proved to be quite spectacular for the sorors of the sorority, who were the guest of pledges until midnight, in that they were entertained by a colorful fashion show, of which the Archonians modeled conventional and beautiful night wear costumes and Delores Purnell won prizes for their elaborate and exclusive costumes. The former wore white silk pajamas trimmed in royal blue, fashioned in one of the latest styles, Chinese pajamas. The latter wore a three piece pajama set which consisted of pants and base fitted jacket, which were royal blue with white monograms on the lapels. Both winning costumes to the enjoyment of the sorors, loyally followed Zeta's National color scheme, "Royal Blue and White."

During the time after the fashion show, both big sisters and little sisters played cards and busied themselves spinning the latest records. Since the big sisters were to leave at 12:00 Midnight, around 11:15 a delicious dinner was served. The menu consisted of English peas with carrots, fried chicken, potato salad on lettuce, hot buttered rolls and hot chocolate with Marshmallows, slices from a beautiful Ice Cream Cake served as dessert added the final touch to the menu.

"Joke Hour" group singing and general conversation centered mainly around the sorority, occupied the remaining time until 6:30 a. m. During the time cocktails were served as refreshers.

At 6:30 a. m. breakfast was prepared and served. Finally at 7:30 the entire group left, each satisfied and feeling closer to each other and intent on going home, determined to "sleep."

Our heartfelt sympathy goes out

MOMENTS OF REFLECTION

A. L. GUERARD

Let us learn to wait, As we strive for our desires; As we attain our objectives, Burning up the hours.

What virtue one possesses, Having learned to wait, What noble things he'll acquire, As he gives and takes.

To many, this lesson Have they as yet to learn; To wait—work all the while, And the good discern. We travelers go far and near, See many startling sights; Grow weary of life's duties; Failing to observe the right.

'Tis well to learn to wait On life's crowning shores. You need not become alarmed; You'll get what is yours.

Some people become disgruntled, Because others—laurels take, You, too, will beget some; Keep a going—learn to wait.

This old world is large enough To afford trophies for each, You have only to learn to wait, For they're within your reach.

At a terrific pace we go, As though that it takes, Aye! We're off the line; We must learn to wait.

We can be just as eager, And go a bit slower, Learning to wait, as we should; We'll accomplish more.

The rarest—the most magnificent gems Are not acquired by haste; But rather they are attained only By learning to wait.

BEHOLD A TREASURE AMONG THE FLOWERS
 Dedicated to Mrs. Mattie Buchanan.

How wonderful to move among the flowers; They cast their sweetness about you.

What loveliness do they portray, When sprinkled with the morning's dew.

They have a way of touching you; They fling their radiance into your heart. You are held under their magic spell.

Of them you feel you are a part, They take you on a heavenly journey. You seem to float right through the air, Your entire being, becomes transformed; You'll find a bit of heaven there! As you move among the flowers, You will experience delightful hours.

Modern Clinic Building

Formal announcement is being made this week of the opening of the new Bailey Physical Therapy Clinic at 1286 Dunnivant St. The clinic is still under the direction of its founder, Dr. P. W. Bailey, widely known physician and civic leader.

Dr. Bailey, a native of Mississippi, educated himself in the public school system of that state. He continued his training at Freespring Academy near Coffeeville, Mississippi, LeMoyne, Walden University, and later at Meharry Medical College where he finished the prescribed course in medicine. He took the Tennessee State Board and passed with high honors.

Dr. Bailey came to Memphis and set up an office at 781 Dixon Avenue, now known as Ioka Avenue. He remained in this location over a period of many years and built a lucrative practice. At the high tide of his career he took post graduate courses, specializing in physical therapy under the late Paul E. Johnson. It has been in the field of physio-therapy that he has con-and the tri-state area at large. Dr. Bailey has served as president of the LeMoyne Alumni Association and is a former president of the Bluff City Medical Society. His church connection

Mt. Olive Art Club At Tri-State Fair

BY LOVIE MONTGOMERY
People of the Mid-South flocked in increasing thousands to witness the contributions of the Negro race at the Colored Tri-State Fair. This number was ever increasing until it reached a peak of 71,000 people. The Fair was staged at the Fairgrounds and it portrayed the progress of the Negro in the Mid-South up to this date.

The exhibitions of farm products, livestock, fruits, handicraft, etc., were too numerous to mention. The Tri-State geniuses made miracles a commonplace in portraying the sciences that engineer the everyday life of the Negro. The faith in the future of our race was rededicated and we know now that the "Machine Age" is not destroying Art—it is simply democratizing it so that it is within reach of every person regardless of level of society. To these contributors we owe a great debt of gratitude.

It was truly gratifying to learn that 71,000 people had paid homage to the contributors who had spent tireless hours in making preparation for these displays. It was also gratifying to know that they had an opportunity to visit the Women's Building and see the Blue Ribbon displayed in the booth of the Mt. Olive Art Club. This ribbon represented that the work done in the club was of the finest and most attractive kind.

It also portrayed that the Mt. Olive Art Club won first prize for the very fine showing. I should like to make mention of a very few of the many fine articles displayed. A beautiful reversible ladies suit made of fine gabardine—A beautiful dress made of the finest wool an made perfect by Vogue Special Designer's pattern—A beautiful crochete bed spread—A fine crocheted table cloth, crocheted dolies of many beautiful designs—fine mats and floor rugs of every kind—a beautiful embroidered silk quilt put together by feather stitching—a quilt piece from a special pattern, kitchen aprons of every kind—a sun bonnet—a pair of baby shoes crocheted—a serving tray with coasters to match—a pair of ornamental dogs—stools—crocheted purse, hat, bag and many fine articles that space will not allow us to mention.

I should like to mention however, that the Art Club is a unit of the Missionary Society, and is now under the supervision of Mrs. Frankie Parker. This club has made astounding progress under Mrs. Parker's guidance and has been very cooperative with the Missionary Society as well as the program of the church. Its meetings are held twice a month and membership consists of non-members as well as members of our own Mt. Olive Church. I should like to mention further that Mrs. Eliza Mims is president of the Missionary Society and has given the club very fine support.

Tennessee Baptist M & E Confab To Meet Here Oct. 23-25

The Seventy-Ninth Annual Session Tennessee Baptist M. and E. Convention will convene in Memphis Tuesday, October 23 through Friday the 25th. The Baptist pastors' alliance is host and place of meeting is Metropolitan Baptist Church, 767 Walker Avenue. This year there is departure from the custom followed through many years. We plan to close Friday night instead of on Sunday night. We find that our pastors are not interested in remaining over in the convention city through Sunday for the afternoon mass meeting. In reality the convention has been closing on Friday night, so far as messages are concerned.

This year we are to attempt an integrated session. The parent body and all auxiliaries will hold at the one church—Metropolitan. The schedule will allow certain hours, or periods, for various groups to carry through their program to the advantage of all the convention. The Metropolitan Baptist Church has ample space for committees and special meetings that various groups may have need of from time to time. Memphis is a great convention city and we believe those who gather with us at this time will receive much inspiration. Come to Memphis and bring along the money to help pay the balance due on our beautiful school site. Dr. S. A. Owen, is state president and pastor of host church.

The Baptist Pastor's Alliance of Memphis of which Rev. Roy Love, pastor of Mt. Nebo Baptist Church, is president, is making ready to entertain the hosts of baptists who shall assemble for the 1951 session of the state convention.

'Harvey', Broadway Comedy Hit, To Handy Theatre, Nov. 19th - Presented By Deltas

"Harvey," a New York Broadway Stage Production, will be played here on Monday, November 19, 1951, at the Handy Theatre under the auspices of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. Curtains will go up for a Children's Matinee at 4:15 in the afternoon and at 8:15 at night. Matinee prices will be 75c for children and the price for adults $1.50 for both performances.

For the first time since the old "Lafayette" players came to Memphis has Memphis had the treat of an all star professional cast. Most of the players have starred in Hollywood in big movie productions. The leading man of the show, Doo-ley Wilson—will be remembered in the pictures, "Casablanca" and "Cabin in the Sky."

The story which is built around Elwood F. Dowd, a middle-aged man with a dignified bearing, and a dreamy expression in his eyes, will bring tears of laughter to any one eyes. He is very polite, serious in nature—and shares everything he has with his lifetime friend, "Harvey" a six foot invisible rabbit. Elwood's sister, Veta and her daughter, Myrtle Mae, wish to have Elwood committed to Chumley's Rest—a sanitarium for mental patients—because they believe if their friends find out about Elwood and his strange friend, it would put their social position in jeopardy—especially since Veta is Fifty years of marital bliss will be the record of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Brinkley, Sr., of 615 St. Paul Avenue, comes next Monday, October 22nd. Joining with them in the observance of their Golden Wedding Anniversary are three prominent sons, and a wide circle of friends. The J. L. Brinkleys, life-long Memphians, are the parents of Prof. J. The story takes place in the Library of the old Dowd Family Mansion where Elwood and "Harvey" set about to disrupt his sister's and niece's social activities, and at the small reception room at Chumley's Rest, where Elwood and "Harvey" disrupt the sanitation.

What happens at the Dowd Mansion and Chumley's Rest is hilarious and as Time magazine said: "Harvey is the funniest and most likeable fantasy that Broadway has seen in years."

Another interesting feature of the Delta's Annual program is the crowning of "Miss Jabbawock." Seven of Memphis' most beautiful girls are vying for the title this year and it promises to be the hottest contest the Deltas have had. The winner will be crowned on the

Washington Warriors, Thunderbolts Explode On Gridiron Tonight

AL. WESTBROOKS, JR.
Booker T. Washington's powerful eleven will be pitted against the St. Augustine Thunderbolts Friday night, October 19. A capacity crowd is expected to jam the BTW stadium to witness the most thrilling game of the football season.

From all indications and advance sales this game is expected to be the biggest drawing card of the season.

Both teams, St. Augustine and Booker T. Washington, are recognized as powerhouses in the prep league. Thursday night, October 11, the high caliber St. Augustine Thunderbolts, were seen in action against the Douglass Red Devils. In a close game, a hustling Thunderbolt, with the co-operation of his teammates led St. Augustine to their second prep league victory, with pin point passing and many baffling plays. The Thunderbolts, "Baffling" lays are proving to be their greatest assets.

The Warriors are expected to take a deep measure of revenge on the Thunderbolts this year, in return for their one-point edge last year.

The Warriors started their season of fireworks, September 21, when they exploded in the face of the Douglass Red Devils, and edged them a 6-0 score. This touchdown was scored by Milton Jones, from the flats in the last minutes of the

City-Wide Observance Of Y-Teen Day Set For Friday, October 26

All over the city of Memphis Y-teen girls of seventeen city schools will be gathering in colorful Recognition Ceremonies. They will bring four hundred girls as new members into their Y-Teen Clubs. A feeling of warmth and fellowship will be felt throughout the schools of Memphis Friday, October 26 when this celebration will be in progress during some period of the day's schedule, either as a part of the individual club meeting period or in an assembly program. All girls will be decked in their uniforms of a blue skirt and white blouse and new members will be identified by their Y-Teen pins.

The Teen-Age Program Committee of the Vance Avenue Branch Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring this CITY-WIDE OBSERVANCE OF Y-TEEN DAY, when girls from all communities will link hands in ceremonies of fellowship, becoming Junior

Members of the Vance Avenue Branch, Y. W. C. A.

The Teen-Age Program Committee is composed of fifteen teachers and housewives who have volunteered their services. This Committee studies the community to see what resources it has for its young girls and what it lacks; the needs and interests of the girls themselves; and the resources of the Y. W. C. A. From these findings, the Committee determines the scope and type of program that the Y. W. C. A. will provide for younger people.

As Junior Members of the Y. W. C. A., girls between the ages of twelve and eighteen, have an opportunity to be of service to others; to have a good time; to broaden their interest, through new experiences; to be a part of a World Organization; to take advantage of the opportunities of leadership and training and a chance to personal growth.

This Y-Teen Day Celebration will be the launching of our fall program season. Activities which are being planned by the Teen-Age-Program Committee for this school year are: Junior and Senior Y-Teen Membership Dance; Christmas, Vesper Service and Hanging of the Green; Advisers' Training Course; Y-Teen Bazaar; Charm Cue Sessions; Advisers and Principals Dinner; Potato Chip Sale; Recognition Service; Southeastern Y-Teen Conference with Y-Teen girls from Memphis attending as delegates; summer program consisting of day camp and other activities; and other programs will be planned as the Committee sees the needs.

We realize that the future of tomorrow depends upon the young people today. Hence, the YWCA has deep concern for its young people. Under the direction of the Branch "Y", the following Y-Teen Clubs are located in these schools, with teachers, who are called Advisers, to assist them in carrying out the program.

Gov. Browning, Crusade For Freedom Speaker At A & I State College

"Atheism and communism cannot stand when compared with the freedom and aspirations of the individual soul," said Governor Gordon Browning opening the "kick-off" Crusade for Freedom program at A. and I. State University.

Also addressing the assemblage of students and faculty members in the university auditorium was Mayor Ben West.

Speaking further, the Governor said "truth is the foundation of freedom and America would not swap the glorious blessings of freedom for all the cursed accumulations in the Russian empire."

Mayor Ben West defining the Crusade for Freedom as a "crusade for the MIND of man" emphasized the fact that the whole idea of the Crusade for Freedom was conceived for the American people, not merely for the government. "It is on behalf of the millions of souls — individuals such as we are — with the same hopes, the same needs and desires, the same drives and hungers, that we come to Tennessee A. and I. State University to participate in the launching of the Crusade for Freedom program," said he.

Lena Horne's Sound Doctrine

Lena Horne, internationally beloved actress, has come forward with some advice which no Negro in America can afford to ignore. She said: "No minority group in the country, within the past ten years, has made the advances scored by Negroes, and we would have made even greater advances if the Communists didn't deliberately try to confuse the issue and stir agitation. Communism offers nothing to the Negro and the United States offers everything," and then Miss Horne gives this cogent warning:

"If I could address young Negro performers, I'd warn them against allying themselves with Commie-front organizations; I'd warn them explicitly to resign immediately from any organization infiltrated by Commies and above all, I'd warn them not to permit the use of their names on letterheads, until they check the sponsorship. The main thing for Negroes to do is to fight actively against Commies, not passively. That's what I intend to do from now on."

That is sound and timely advice. And while there is little danger that many Negroes fall prey to Communism, some few are in actual danger. Thus right now Miss Horne's advice should be heeded by those who are about to be sneered in by a questionable group, purported to be organizing in the interest of Negroes. It is the National Labor Union for Negroes, being called to meet in Detroit October 27. The AFL and the CIO both insist that the proposed organization is Communist-inspired and designed to exploit the Negro for the Communist benefit.

The group spokesmen say that they anticipate 4,900 Negro union members to attend the two-day meeting. It is scheduled to be held at the former headquarters of the Hamilton County Communist Party.

We hope and we believe that Negroes know better than to cast their lot with this group. We have said it many times in the past but it will bear repeating: There is nothing that the Communists can secure for the Negro people in America which they cannot win without Communist help. Indeed as Miss Horne has so well stated: No minority group has made the advances scored by Negroes, and we would have made even greater advances if the Communists had kept out of our affairs. Keep away from

HEADLINES & BYLINES

BY SILAS P. WASHINGTON

The Tennessee A. and I. State University has announced the organization of four divisions, namely the school of arts and sciences, the school of education, the school of engineering and the graduate school.

"However, no mention was made in this release of the establishment of a school of business. Yet business is assuming such importance in the life of the Negro that educators should strive to emphasize business training," said William O. Occomy in his column, "Business Review" October 13, 1951.

The Subject of Negro business, or of business run by Negroes which ever it is, is one on which a conversation has been held and one on which a great deal of ink has been used. Let it be understood at the outset that I, being only a layman, am not presumptuous enough to think that I know all of the answers. I do not, and neither do most of the people, who speak and write with much finality on the subject. However, all agree that, in addition to not having enough business, that which we have is managed improperly.

For this reason, Dr. Frank Sweeney, former President of LeMoyne College, felt that, along with government, economics should be stressed in a Negro College. He said, moreover, on many occasions that he considered government and economics basic needs for the advancement of the Negro. The present LeMoyne head, Mr. H. F. Price, being a student of business in general and of labor in particular, feels very much the same way. Even though my college major was different, a certain amount of business training was required of us because of its basic character. In addition, my professor of economics at the Iowa State College tried to persuade me to take an additional course in economics and at least one in finance. Life's subsequent experiences have made me wish more than once that I had followed his advice. That is to say, my life's experiences indicate the basic need of more and better training in business for our people.

As I have said, I am not an expert in the field consequently I do not care to be as glib about the subject as those I condemn. Yet, I do, on the other hand, feel that this general observation should be made. There is entirely too much snap judgment on and over-simplification of this complicated problem. In the realm of mathematics it is understood that two or more quantities cannot be compared unless they are of the same kind. Two common fractions, for example, cannot be compared unless they are first reduced to a common denominator. Similarly, the performances in business of Negroes, Jews, Italians and Greeks cannot be fully and fairly compared on any sound basis of logic, for it is impossible to completely reduce them to a common denominator. No matter how you try to argue to the contrary, it cannot be done for the present at any rate.

For instance, Occomy, in his column implies as much when he writes: "And if, the Negro lacks such training he is doubly handicapped for unfortunately he lacks the financial resources which his competitors can and will draw upon.

The Communists, they are interested in only one thing: capitalizing upon the sorrows and suffering of Negroes as a means of material gain and political propaganda.

FEW CALORIES, LESS SALT OFTEN REDUCES FAT LEGS

Many of my readers would like to know how to reduce fat legs. This question is difficult to answer because few women provide all the essential details. After all, enlargement may be a glandular or circulatory disturbance, infection or ordinary fat.

Because obesity usually is associated with heavy legs, most women recognize this cause. Fewer calories and less salt often will take care of this problem.

Exercising the legs may help to increase the tone of the muscles and improve the shape of the legs, but shifting fat from one area to another is not as easy as we have been led to believe by those utilizing rolling pins, massage or vibrators.

Lipedema, a somewhat similar condition, is traceable to fatty deposits and the accumulation of fluid. The individual may be stout, but even if weight is lost the legs and buttocks remain the same. Swelling is accentuated by standing and walking, especially in warm weather. The majority of victims are women, and both legs are involved. Although bed rest may decrease the size of the limbs they never return to normal proportions as does milk leg.

The feet usually escape; the skin is soft and pliable, but pressure over the distended parts is painful. Many lipedema sufferers complain of aching of the enlarged parts, particularly during activity.

The defect is not pleasant and may lead to anxiety and tension. Many are ashamed of their legs or feet, that their life is ruined because of their size. They wear long skirts and seldom if ever go to the beach. These women generally stand behind chairs at parties and rarely walk by a full length mirror without taking a peek at their legs.

MART OF THOUGHT

BY FRANKELLE ROBINSON

Not understood. We gather false impressions. And hug them closer as the years go by. Till virtues often seem to us transgressions; And thus men rise and fall, and live and die—
 Not Understood.

There are times in life when all the world seems to turn against us. Our motives are misunderstood, our words misconstrued, a frown or an unkind word reveals to us the unfriendly feelings of others. Our advances are repulsed or met with icy coldness and refusals are issued in answer to our offers to help.

Our hearts are not made of stone and we must sometimes give vent to our emotions. It is a rare person who can patiently bear injustices and have them leave the heart at the close of day. We can never really judge others because we may be measuring giants by our narrow gauges. A thoughtless sentence may destroy long years of friendship and many hearts are lonely for sympathy and a kind word.

One is not necessarily wrong because he does not agree with me, it all depends upon the point of view. Three men were walking thru a forest one afternoon when they came to a steep hill, where a river could be seen in the distance. One man visualized a magnificent structure of stone and steel built across the river harnessing the water to generate electricity. Another saw the lazy river rolling landscape in technicolor, on canvass. The third man imagined a stately mansion atop the hill with a curved three-laned driveway sweeping towards the river.

Each man had the river in mind but the engineer, the artist and architect had varied points of view. Neither could be called wrong. So remember, this we, someone disagrees with you. He may be right, in his fashion. Let us be more tolerant, draw a little nearer to one another and—be understood.

MEALTIME MELODIES!

BY GRACE WATSON
 While marketing in a local grocery, I bumped into a neighbor, Mrs. Davis. We started to chat about the weather and then to gripe about food prices. That led on into a real discussion about food and feeding the family. Mr. Davis is an excellent and experienced homemaker, so naturally, I was listening for some food hints that I could pass on to you.

She was telling me how nutritious, economical and glamorous bread was, when we had to move on to relieve the congestion in the store.

I was impressed with the adjectives she used to describe bread, so I started to analyze her statement. Just how nutritious is bread? Bread and cereal are grain foods and are generally considered fuel foods because they are high in starch. But actually the grain foods supply more iron and more thiamine than do other food groups. When breadstuffs are made with milk, they also constitute large amounts of calcium.

Although bread contains protein, they are not complete. Therefore, bread cannot be used as a meat substitute, but when bread is teamed with meat, milk, eggs, and cheese, it makes a wholesome combination.

Bread is economical because many homemakers use it as a meat extender—bread crumbs in meat loaf, bread dressing for stuffing meats, poultry or fish, biscuits or toast cups as a base for creamed foods. When used this way bread makes it possible to reduce the size of meat servings and at the same time serve a nutritious meat-flavored dish.

When I began to think in terms of bread being glamorous, my imagination wouldn't stretch very far. So I phoned Mrs. Davis and asked how did she glamorize her breadstuffs? She explained that she always use the "right" bread to add a touch of glamour to her meals.

For instance, she uses hot brown bread to compliment baked beans; corn bread topped adds to the goodness of leftover chicken made into a pie; cheese biscuits make an interesting base for creamed chipped beef; blueberry muffins give a distinctive touch to her fruit salad. Nat King Cole and his trio, Duke Ellington and his orchestra, song-plate; hot garlic bread accents her spaghetti dinner; and tiny dump-stress Sarah Vaughan and other

While at Fisk, he excelled in sports. He played on the college basketball team, was a member of the track team, and for four years was a halfback on the football team.

His other college activities include membership in Eta Psi Chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. He was business manager of his college freshman class, belong to the Stagcrackers, the Modern dance group, and the Varsity F Club.
