

Firemen Accuse Railroad, Brotherhood Of Bias

Contempt, Bias Laid To Railroad Firemen

MACON, Ga.—A charge of discrimination and contempt of court was made in Federal Court against the Central of Georgia Railway, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen here Tuesday by five firemen.

The plaintiffs, firemen on the railroads line from Columbus to Birmingham, Ala., claim that they are being discriminated against in violation to a court order issued March 25, 1952, by the late Judge A. B. Conger.

During Tuesday's proceedings before Judge W. A. Boothe, counsel for the petitioners presented three hours of evidence and rested the case.

An attorney for the Central of Georgia said that if there had been acts of discrimination they had been by the brotherhood and not by the railroad, since the brotherhood sets regulations for work by firemen on the railroad.

Counsel for the plaintiffs, John Sillard, concluded that the "real complaint" is against the brotherhood, but the railroad had to be made a party to the action since any court order for relief would have to apply to both parties.

The court order of 1952 restrains the railroad and the brotherhood from denying the plaintiffs and others of "their respective rights to assignments as firemen . . . based upon seniority, because they are Negroes or because they have not been permitted for required to take or pass examinations to qualify as locomotive engineers."

Negro firemen are not permitted to take examinations to qualify for jobs as engineers, nor are they allowed membership in the brotherhood.

Under old regulations, firemen are denied full seniority rights since they did not take the tests to qualify as engineers.

Major Simpson, Al Marshall, Will Covington, Jim Mullins and Marion Vincent also claimed that a "swing man" was added and takes the fifth run of each of the five men each month, causing them to lose mileage and more than $100 in pay monthly.

CLIFFORD ALLEN

Clifford Allen Enters Race For Governor

NASHVILLE, Feb. 4 — State Sen. Clifford Allen of Nashville announced today his candidacy for governor of Tennessee in the August 7 primary election.

"I earnestly invite all of you who are tired of hypocrisy in government, who are weary of double-talk, who are weary of inefficiency and higher taxes, to join with me in my campaign," Allen told a press conference in his Nashville office.

Allen, a dominant figure in Tennessee politics since 1949 when he was first elected to the state senate from Davidson county called for a "new order and a new concept of public service" in the governor's office.

He said this was needed "in order to protect the rights of the motoring public from higher in-

Freedom To Criticize South African Government At Stake

NEW YORK — "The right of all those living in South Africa freely to criticize the government of their own country . . . is at stake" in the trial of the 95 citizens of all races charged yesterday with high treason, said John Gunther and the Very Rev. James A. Pike, Co-Chairmen of the South African Defense Fund.

The statement appeared in a message for the accused sent to Bishop Ambrose Reeves, Chairman of the Treason Trials Defense Committee in South Africa.

The government claims that the accused "hampered or hindered the South African government by organizing campaigns against certain existing laws, namely the pass laws; the Group Areas Act (racial grouping in trade and residence); the Bantu Education Act (which seeks to destroy the century-old

Opportunities In Navy Show Some Improvement

By Samuel P. Perry, Jr.

NEW YORK CITY—(ANP)—According to a recent report released here by the American Civil Liberties Union, the life of a Negro in the U. S. Navy is better than ever before.

Author of the report, Mrs. Ruth Dornhewer Dilson asserted, "Practically no discrimination in the pattern of life on shipboard or on Navy bases exists."

"It is asked that the Navy extend its policy of non-discrimination by improving the chances of a Negro for promotion."

The report also strongly suggested that Negro officers in the Navy be appointed to tours of duty at the Pentagon, to admirals' staffs, at Naval bases and to embassies and overseas missions.

Under old regulations, firemen are denied full seniority rights since they did not take the tests to qualify as engineers.

Major Simpson, Al Marshall, Will Covington, Jim Mullins and Marion Vincent also claimed that a "swing man" was added and takes the fifth run of each of the five men each month, causing them to lose mileage and more than $100 in pay monthly.

Burning Of Cross Puzzles Police

BEND, Ore.—(ANP)—The mysterious fiery cross atop a hill near here last week has local authorities puzzled.

The cross flared for 20 minutes but was finally extinguished by the Bend Fire Department. An investigation of the incident was begun but police are still at a loss about how it started and why.

Deputy Sheriff Buzz Livingston, gave up the idea that the incident might be tied in with Ku Klux Klan action against Negroes. As far as he knows, the Klan is non-existent here, he said, and there are only two Negro families living in Bend. Both are old-timers in the area, however.

There is no Indian-Klan tie in either the Warm Springs Indian Reservation is 50 miles away, but the Indians and whites got along well, Livingston explained.

Public Confidence Increased By Gains Over Heart Disease

This is the first of a series of seven articles presented by your Heart Association to inform readers of this newspaper about the progress being made in the fight against heart disease.

The heart that beats inside your chest is a fist-sized, four-chambered pump, which in the course of a Biblical lifespan, beats almost 3 billion times.

Save for a brief between-beat rest, it keeps a right on working — day after day, year after year. Contrary to popular belief, the heart is not a "delicate organ. It is tough, and amazingly durable. From the standpoint of mechanical perfection, no pump created by the genius of atomic age science can surpass it.

Equally miraculous is the circulatory network through which it pumps your 11 pints of blood at the rate of 166 gallons per hour, delivering food and oxygen to the billions of cells which make up your body.

It is a beautifully organized reculating and waste-disposal system. Set either wholly or in part, it is not immune to sickness and disaster.

The extent to which this is mirrored by some grim statistics: Diseases of the heart and circulation, now responsible for about 54 percent of all deaths, affected more than 10,000,000 Americans, among them 500,000 children of school age.

Full Employment Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON—(INS)—A Federal Full Employment Bill to provide jobs through public works projects was introduced in Congress Wednesday as Democrats charged the administration with working "to bring about a recession."

The legislation was offered by Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), at the same time a bi-partisan group of 35 house members was petitioning spreading unemployment in depressed areas.

Gore's bill would create a Federal Public Works Administration, with a 500 million dollar fund, to allocate money on a nine-to-one basis to states desiring to construct job-providing projects.

Gore was joined in his demand for Federal action by Senator Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), who accused the Eisenhower administration of making an earnest endeavor to bring about a recession.

Gore said he could "make no other interpretation" than this from testimony of former Treasury Secretary George Humphrey and his then Under-secretary Randolph Burgess in explaining the administration's "tight money" policy, Gore added.

"But I do not believe they wanted to bring it to the extent that we have it."

Kerr told the Senate that from the standpoint of "achieving its objectives" he believes the Eisenhower administration could "take a great deal of pride in the recession."

Gore observed in reply that this was "one of the principles of the tight money policy."

Gore added he did not wish his

Three St. Louisans Get Prison Terms As Peddlers

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(ANP)—Three persons who previously had been found guilty of possessing and selling narcotics were sentenced to federal prison last Monday by United States District Judge Randolph H. Weber. All had been found guilty of selling heroin to David W. McNeely, of Chicago, Negro, undercover agent of the Bureau of Narcotics, who was shot and seriously wounded last fall when making an investigation for the bureau.

Mrs. J. C. Pinnister was sentenced to six years for selling 15 grains of heroin for $40 last Feb. 24 and for selling 13 grains for $30 on Feb. 25.

Walter Carpenter was sentenced to eight years for selling 190 grains

Savannah Public Housing Suit Argued Friday

NEW ORLEANS, La.—The Savannah public housing suit was argued again Friday, before the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit in New Orleans NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund attorneys seek to have the appellate court reverse the dismissal of the case by a federal district court in Savannah on July 19, 1957.

The case was originally filed with the U. S. District Court for Southern Georgia on May 20, 1954, on behalf of 23 Negro families. Named as defendants in the suit are the Public Housing Administration, the federal public housing agency and the Savannah Housing Authority.

The suit was first dismissed on October 21, 1955 on motion of the defendants NAACP Legal Defense Fund attorneys appealed the ruling and on November 30, 1956, the dismissal action was upset by the U. S. Court of Appeals and sent back to the district court for trial. After a full trial on the merits, the district court again dismissed the case.

This case involves racial segregation in federally aided public housing and is the first case in which the federal agency has been joined as a defendant. Attorneys for the Negro families seek to enjoin the racial segregation policy and to enjoin the use of federal funds for segregated projects.

NAACP Legal Defense Fund atorneys in this case are Thurgood Marshall and Constance Baker Motley of New York, and A. T. Walden of Atlanta, Ga.

Charles Wells, 26, pleaded guilty of possessing and selling marijuana to an undercover agent of the Bureau of Narcotics. Judge Weber deferred sentencing pending a report from the probation office on Wells' physical condition.

Mrs. Bernice Taylor pleaded guilty of selling about 500 grains of heroin for $525 last May 11. She also pleaded guilty of a $20 sale of heroin last June 11. It was pointed out that she has no previous record and Judge Weber deferred sentencing pending a report on her from the probation office.

Simmons, Installation Speaker For Frontiers

"The American Negro has not narrowed his thinking solely to his own economic, social and religious conditions in this country," said Dr. William James Simmons of Tennessee State University, "but his thinking concerned with business and human activities throughout the realm of this country and all other countries."

He was guest speaker at the installation services of the Memphis Chapter of the Frontiers of America club which was held at the First Baptist Church on Lauderdale St. last Sunday.

"Negroes are an intricate part of this country's international relations—the Ralph Bunche, the Louis Armstrongs and many others," continued Dr. Simmons, a Presbyterian minister, who is now dean of men and professor of philosophy at Tennessee State University.

He explained that the Negro's concern is not relegated to a particular concern is evidenced by the great social and business strides he has made from total slavery and "shame on the Negro, who thinks he has a restricted concern and shame on the American, who tries to relegate him to a restricted concern," continued the professor, the Negro is the concern of the whole world.

Turning his attention to the economic condition of the country, the speaker, who appeared on the Columbia Network Church of the Air in 1950, said that a "depression is coming. Four million persons are out of work. Of that number 65,000 are located in Tennessee."

Speaking on the market of several items, he said liquor industries had a good year in 1957 and are expecting a better year in 1958. Drugs stores reached a record level of business.

Shoe industries did a four billion-dollar job last year which is nearly two million less than the year before. Department stores reached a peak. Soft drink companies sold about 200 bottles per capita. T. V. sales are going down.

He urged "beware of buying entertainment when you can get it free. He had reference to "Pay T. V." The speaker said life insurance is the biggest industry of our times. "It was the first business Negroes entered that was honored by Negroes. He said Negroes companies sold $66 million last year. Dr. Simmons went on to point out: (Continued On Page Eight)

Americans are very friendly to a stranger and Washington, D. C. motorists are very courteous—This was expressed by Wolfgang Kaufman of Essen, Germany, who has been touring the United States about three months. The statement was made during a press conference at LeMoyné College, Tuesday.

Kaufman, son of the famous concert pianist Theodor Kaufman, came to this country to take a first-hand look at racial integration and segregation. He is employed with the United States Information Agency in Germany. He is also taking a look at the American brand of art, music, stage shows and movies.

When he was asked what he hoped to do with information gathered here during the tour, he replied "to be able to answer questions concerning America" whenever he was asked by his fellow countrymen.

Kaufman, who served as a medic and was wounded twice in the Nazi campaigns in 1938-42 in France, Poland and Africa during World War II, said his formal training was in instrumental music, specializing in violin.

Leading Citizen Is Jailed On New Orleans Bus Incident

By O. C. W. TAYLOR

NEW ORLEANS—(ANP) — Mrs. Fanny R. Casanova, school teacher, president of the local Dillard Alumni, Methodist church leader where she holds important office in the Women's Society of Christian Service and Wesleyan Guild, was arrested by New Orleans police on complaint by a bus conductor that she was seated in front of a screen which separates the whites and Negroes in the Crescent City.

According to Mrs. Casanova she had ridden from uptown on a South Claiborne bus which is nearly always almost completely occupied by Negroes. As she approached the downtown terminal the bus began to unload. A white woman then demanded that she get into the back seat and let her have the seat in which she was sitting.

Mrs. Casanova, according to her statements told the jury that she was enroute to the doctor and would

Move Would Be Administration's Reserve Weapon

By ALVIN SPIVAK WASHINGTON—(INS)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday that a tax cut "could be" his administration's reserve weapon to revitalize the economy if an expected mid-year upturn fails to develop.

The President, his throat husky from a slight cold, told his news conference that a tax reduction "would have a very real, great stimulus on the economy, no question about that."

But he added that in "going too far with trying to fool with our economy" the government could "get something else started." He recalled that a year ago the big problem seemed to be inflation.

TO BOLSTER ECONOMY Mr. Eisenhower, who held the news conference despite a sore throat which seemed to make it difficult for him to talk, had been asked if he might propose a tax cut to bolster the economy—even at the expense of a bigger deficit —if business doesn't improve.

At his last news conference — two weeks ago, the President said he would prefer a slight deficit to a tax increase because a boost in taxes could thwart the economic upturn.

The President's mood ranged from forceful solemnity, as in his defense of assistant Sherman Adams, to joviality, as in his references to his own physical condition.

He began the conference by saying: "In view of the condition of my vocal chords, it would be very helpful to me if you'd ask very long questions that could be answered 'yes' or 'no'."

National Dental Health Week Observed Here

A group of Memphis dentists have been going from public school to public school talking about the "care of teeth," lecturing and passing out literature, in observance of National Dental Health Week, which will end Saturday.

Dr. I. A. Watson, Jr., vice president of the Shelby County Dental Society, said about 21 members of the society were engaged in the project of visiting all city schools and as many county schools as possible.

He went on to say that for good teeth and a healthy mouth children and adults too should (1) eat right foods (2) breathe fresh air (3) play in sunshine (4) get plenty of sleep (5) visit a dentist regularly (6) brush teeth after each time you eat and before you sleep, (7) and after brushing rinse the mouth thoroughly with a glass of warm water in order to remove the loose particles.

Dr. Watson went on to explain that although dental caries (tooth decay) cannot be prevented entirely by the use of available preventive measures can do much to reduce the amount of dental decay. Only the dentist can detect decay in its early stages and fill the cavities in order to prevent more decay.

Some communities are adding fluoride to their water supplies to help prevent dental caries. Some authorities said this has reduced decay up to 65 percent.

Dr. P. W. Northcross is president of the dental society.

She was taken to a nearby precinct where she was immediately paroled. Then she went to her physician for treatment of wounds resulting from the rough handling by the police.

In court Friday the case was not heard but was continued for an indefinite period. Just ten days ago an appeals case was heard in New

Our second star in today's article is Joseph Neal. I am spotlighting Joseph by special request of some of the young ladies that I know from other set's around the city. Our Douglass boy Joe, seems to be quite popular especially at Washington and Hamilton. I know someone who had better check on that, eh Natalie?

Joseph lives with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Richard Owen of 2196 Curry Ave. In school activities Joe is a member of the S.O.D.'s (Sons of Douglass) and the variety basketball team.

After high school our star Douglassite plans to further his education at Los Angeles City Junior College in Calif.

ASSIGNMENT: LeMOYNE COLLEGE

BY MELVIN GREER

FRANK LOCKHART

Frank Lockhart is launching what he hopes won't be a flopnik.

This time he's the mastermind behind a trip to Xavier University, New Orleans, La., which is supposed to occur off Wednesday, February 12. The Mad Magicians will encounter Xavier's Gold Rushers down there in the Crescent City Friday, February 14 and Frank wants to tag along to take in some of the sights.

He's not driving down there alone however. Jean Brown, Chester Cade, Johnny Terry McGraw, Inez Terrell, David Acey, Darnell Thomas, John Ella Wells, and Marvin Pluckett, all popular LeMoynites, are scheduled to make the trip with him. Professors Caselle Knox and George Thompson have made plans to go along with Magician Coach Thomas Barton and Athletic Committee Boss Charles W. Phillips who will accompany the team. The Pep Squad also will make the trip.

ALPHA PHI ALPHA is all set for its big, annual "Sweetheart Ball" which will be presented at Currie's Club Tropicana Friday night, Feb. 14.

Huge crowd turned out to see Players Incorporated present "Romeo and Juliet" Saturday night at C. Arthur Bruce Hall. Religious Emphasis Week has been observed the latter part of this week (February 5-7) so as not to conflict with Negro History Week observance slated for the entirety of next week.

TOP ELEVEN BOARD OF Voters has returned the following rating for the week of February 3-7.

WE WONDER WHY

"BETSY" GETS BOOT

Due to alleged mechanical difficulties, Frank Lockhart will not drive his famed, aging auto, the ancient "Old Betsy", a '49 Chevy, to Xavier. The real reason, however is that he fears that Betsy will embarrass an old car owned by a friend of his, Raymond Webb, who attends Xavier. Webb, according to reliable New Orleans sources, purchased a beat-up Mercury to compete with Betsy should Betsy make the journey down that fat. According to members of the Xavier clan like Leroy Homes, Prof. Douglas Porter, William Garret, Walter

KC Receives Final United Fund Gift

The third and final allocation of $14,435.80 has been received by Knoxville College from the 1957 United Negro College Fund national campaign, President James A. Colston announced today. "This amount brings a total received by Knoxville College from the 1957 national appeal to $36,256.79," he added.

Knoxville College is one of the 23 private, accredited member institutions of the United Negro College Fund.

The first of America's education chest, the College Fund has conducted annual campaigns to help meet the yearly operating costs of its member schools since 1944.

The financial aid received each year from the UNCF by Knoxville College represents approximately 10 per cent of its budget, or that amount not met by income from endowment, tuition and recurring grants," President Colston said.

Third Inquest Probes Death Of Seven Children In Chicago Fire

Building Inspectors Suspended In First Move

CHICAGO—(NNPA) — The third inquest was held Friday into fatalities caused by fire in the slums on the South Side before a coroner's jury investigating the deaths of seven children in the fire which on Jan. 23 destroyed the four-story building at 4211-13 Lake Park Avenue.

Will Contestors Contend Deceased Mentally Incapable

By LOUIS LAUTNER

WASHINGTON—(NNPA) — Theodore A. (Skeets) Matthews, an undertaker who died leaving an estate of about $500,000, without a will, was a physically sick man and mentally not capable of managing his own affairs as early as April 16, 1956, according to certificates of physicians who attended him.

These certificates are on file in the District Court here as a part of the proceedings in which Mrs. Gladys Floyd, who later went through a wedding ceremony with him, was appointed conservator of his estate.

The right of Mrs. Matthews to share in "Skeets' estate as his widow is being fought in two proceedings pending in the District Court here.

OBJECTIONS FILED
His niece, Mrs. Bernice Gordon, and his nephew, Phillip Matthews, have filed objections to the appointment of Mrs. Matthews as administratrix of the estate on the ground that neither she nor their uncle was competent to enter into a valid marriage on Oct. 2, 1956.

They allege she married Hiram Lloyd on June 30, 1924, and that marriage had not been legally dissolved.

As to their uncle, they contend that he was not mentally capable of entering into a valid marriage. The petition for the appointment of a conservator, ironically, was filed by Bernice and Phillip on March 14, 1956.

Army Files Charges Against Officer Accused Of Insult

FRANKFURT, Germany—(ANP)—The U. S. Army this week filed charges against a white officer, 1st Lt. William B. Morton, 32, after he refused to shake the hand of a Negro officer who had arrived to take over the ambulance company Morton commanded.

Morton, who was charged with conduct unbecoming an officer, at first resigned then withdrew the resignation and agreed to stand a hearing.

The man Morton snubbed was Capt. Carl J. O'Kelley, 34, of Tucson, Ariz. However, O'Kelley did not file the charges. The Army filed them after transferring Morton from O'Kelley's command.

HAND REFUSED
According to an Army spokesman, this is what happened: O'Kelley arrived December 27 to take over the ambulance company and, greeting Morton in the orderly room, stuck out his hand in the traditional Army custom. Morton ignored him and said he would not shake a Negro's hand.

Morton has since hired a civilian lawyer to plead his case. He is Franklin J. Potter, who remarked: "I don't believe a man can be forced to shake hands with another."

Morton hails from Detroit but is now making his home in San Antonio, Texas.

Protection Of Human Rights Still Vital Issue—Humphrey

WASHINGTON — Protection of human rights remains a vital issue before the Senate as long as it is an issue in the nation and in the world. Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) declared Friday in calling for further action at the present session of Congress.

Senator Humphrey said the "minimum goal" for this session should be changing the Senate's rules to prevent future filibusters on civil rights legislation, pledging an effort toward that objective before the session ends.

At the same time, Senator Humphrey introduced legislation designed to bolster the Civil Rights Act of 1957 and announced his support for additional new civil rights legislation now being developed by Senator Douglas.

"Some have spoken of this as a within the next 15 years. Some assert that the nation's failure in this area results from a combination of factors.

LAWS OUTLINED
Some laws, it is believed, have outlived their usefulness in their present form, and need revision in the light of changed conditions, while others can be interpreted in a more realistic manner to meet present situations.

Although appropriations for Federal aid have been made, such appropriations are inadequate to meet the responsibility. These appropriations are limited to certain areas and are too narrow to cover the broad front that must be mobilized.

It is essential that the educational system be enabled to broaden its curriculum, increase its guidance service, and reach out to a more realistic utilization of community resources.

LEGISLATIVE DIRECTOR

Robert Oliver, who was the legislative director of the Congress of Industrial Organizations before its merger with the American Federation of Labor, says "only a continually expanding economy, with conditions of full employment, can provide a favorable framework within which the specific problems of young entrants, into the labor force can be constructively resolved."

"Present high level of unemployment in many areas, with an average of over 3,000,000 unemployed for the nation as a whole, will inevitably wreak a heavy toll on youth as on other workers."

He further expressed the view that with an expanding economy that utilizes the productive potentiality of the entire population, the United States will be able to afford tremendous expansion of the various types of activities that will prevent most, if not all, juvenile delinquency."

NEW YORK—(ANP)—All but 21 of the complaints charging discrimination or bias filed with the New York State Commission Against Discrimination since its inception were filed by Negroes seeking relief, according to the commission.

The survey showed also that 70 per cent of 3,241 of the 4,582 charges filed during the last 12 years were based on discrimination because of color.

The survey covered the period July, 1945, when the commission was formed, to Sept. 30, 1957.

NEW YORK — Nominations for the Spingarn Medal for 1957 will be received until March 1. Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, announced here Monday.

The medal, awarded annually by the Association to a Negro American for distinguished achievement, was instituted in 1914 by the late J. E. Spingarn, then chairman of the NAACP Board of Directors. Winner of the award for 1956 was the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., leader of the successful Montgomery, Ala., bus protest movement. The medal was presented to Dr. King at the Association's 48th annual convention in Detroit on June 28.

The field of achievement may be intellectual, cultural, artistic, commercial, scientific, educational, or other. Former winners include such persons as Jackie Robinson, pioneer major league baseball star; Carl Murphy, publisher; Miss Paul R. Williams, architect; William H. Hastie, jurist; A. Philip Randolph, labor leader; Dr. Ralph J. Bunche,

Dr. Toussaint T. Tilden, manager of the Veterans Administration Hospital, Tuskegee, Ala., since July 1, 1946, is retiring January 31, 1958, after a period of 34 1-2 years of service.

When he died in 1939 Mr. Spingarn left a fund sufficient to continue the award to perpetuate the life-time interest of my brother, Arthur B. Spingarn (the Association's current president), of my wife, Amy E. Spingarn and of myself in the achievements of the American Negro.

The award, a gold medal, has long been recognized as the most coveted honor in the field. It has served to focus attention on distinguished merit among Negro citizens, to reward such merit and to stimulate the aspirations and ambitions of young Negroes.

Nominations should be sent to the Spingarn Medal Award Committee, NAACP, 20 West 40th Street, New York 18, N. Y.

ACROSS the February sod and dew,
We pause here to remember you;
The guiding light, the kindly hands
Lead us still across the sands —
That Love calls life, we struggle still Where mountains fell beneath thy will. —
O that our bold hearts could embrace
The courage that lent thee heavenly grace.

GONE but never forgotten, the years
Keep green where memory's burning tears
Well along the vistas sweet
Where we again can hear thy feet
And the soft voice that made more bright
The hour that you took your flight,
Across the February sod and dew,
Time pauses to remember you.

Humphrey Aide Promoted To High Position

WASHINGTON — Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (D., Minn.), has announced promotion of a Negro staff aide to new responsibilities with the professional staff of the Senate Subcommittee on Disarmament.

Cyril E. King, native of the Virgin Islands and the first male member of his race to be employed on the staff of a United States Senator, has been chosen by Senator Humphrey to be in charge of research for the important Disarmament Subcommittee which Senator Humphrey heads. The promotion is a substantial boost both in salary and responsibility, in recognition of King's effective work, Senator Humphrey declared.

King has been on Senator Humphrey's staff since three months after he was sworn into office in January, 1949.

In entering upon his new role, King declared he looks with "great pride upon his long friendship, and association with, as well as admiration and respect for Senator Humphrey." He declared he regards the new assignment as "a great challenge," and that he is "especially pleased that it will afford me the continued pleasure and inspiration of being associated with Senator Humphrey" as committee chairman.

Sunday School Lesson

THE CHURCH TEACHES THE WORD

International Sunday School Lesson For February 9, 1958.

MEMORY SELECTION: "Take heed to yourself and to your teaching; hold to that, for by so doing you will save both yourself and your hearers." — (1 Timothy 4:16)

LESSON TEXT: 1 Timothy 4:6-16

This is the first of three lessons which will deal with Christian education, and discusses the teaching ministry of the church. The aim of the lesson is to acquaint us with the value of religious education and its proper place in our scheme of life.

All of us agree that each citizen must be aware of the question of religious education in the United States. And every church member, or potential church member, is in need of religious education, regardless of the church to which he belongs, or even if he does not choose to belong to any church.

There are sixty to seventy million Americans who do not actively belong to a church.

Obviously some system of religious education is needed in the public schools. We need not ever look forward to the time when everyone goes to a public school, for there are disadvantages to such a system. Many great Americans feel that the public school system of our country is the great democratic heritage that binds us together. And fight, close-knit denominational divisions do have, as a former Harvard President says, a "divisive" influence among the people. This is something we must avoid, while seeing to it that our children get a proper religious education.

These comments, based on outlines of the International Sunday School Lessons, copyrighted by the International Council of Religious Education, and used by permission.

IMPORTANCE OF TASK

In making the announcement of King's promotion, Senator Humphrey stressed the importance of the crucial task which confronts the Disarmament Committee in its efforts to influence and help point the way toward an effective disarmament agreement.

"Emphasis upon this question of disarmament at the recent meeting in Paris of heads of member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization testified further to the great significance of the role of the Committee on Disarmament in the fulfillment of the quest of the free world for a just and lasting peace," Senator Humphrey said.

The Subcommittee which King will serve is made up of some of the most influential members of the Senate from both political parties, including representatives of the Committee on Armed Services, the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, and the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Previously Cyril King served on Senator Humphrey's legislative staff. When the new research position with the Disarmament Committee became available, he was Senator Humphrey's "first choice" for the promotion.

Va. Senate Passes Measure To Close Troop-Patrolled Schools

RICHMOND, Va.—(AP)—The bill pushed by Gov. J. Lindsay Almond to close public schools whenever they are patrolled by Federal troops passed the Senate last week.

On two Senators refrained from voting — Stuart Carter of Botetourt and Edward Haddock of Richmond.

All three of the Senators from Northern Virginia, the liberal part of the state, were among those voting for the bill.

The bill provides for the automatic closing of any school whenever Federal troops patrol in the vicinity of the school when the cause of the closing has been removed. The bill now awaits House action.

Senator Haddock said he did not vote for the bill because he did not think it was needed. He pointed out that legislation passed by the last Virginia General Assembly provides for the closing of schools by the Governor when integration takes place.

He said he was glad the Governor had not taken action "because I do not want laws to be any kind of a whip which would be controlled about our schools."

Senator Carter said legislation like the Little Rock bill "only tends to widen the heart of bigoted white and colored people and serves no constructive purpose."

Senator Carter said he did not favor the use of Federal troops, but he regarded the Little Rock bill as another step in "massive resistance" which he feels will invite trouble in Virginia.

$535,529 Distributed In Third UNCF Allocation

NEW YORK—The United Negro College Fund had distributed a third appropriation of $535,529 to 31 member colleges from the proceeds of its 1957 campaign. Announcement of the allocations was made by Dr. P. D. Patterson, UNCF president and director of the Phelps-Stokes Fund.

Since the College Fund was chartered in 1944, it has raised approximately 10 per cent of the combined operating budgets of its member colleges each year, according to Dr. Patterson, founder of the organization.

"Allocations from campaign contributions are used by the colleges to provide scholarships, buy equipment and augment faculty salaries. Scholarships help deserving students who could not otherwise remain in school, continue their education. Salary increases often prevent valuable faculty members from seeking higher paying appointments elsewhere," Dr. Patterson said.

ADDITIONAL SHARE

In February, 1958, these colleges will also share in an appropriation of $130,000. This will be the final allocation of money raised in a separate five-year capital funds appeal which ended in 1956. The capital funds campaign raised a total of $17,750,000.

"Capital funds money made it possible for many UNCF colleges to erect urgently needed new buildings and repair old ones," Dr. Patterson stated.

"These improved facilities have added to the institutions' fundamental usefulness and have contributed vitally to the whole advancement of education in the South."

Consumer Research Seeks Bald Volunteers

LONDON—(INS)—Britain's Association For Consumer Research is asking for bald volunteers to find out whether anything really will grow hair.

The experiment stems from the flood of "hair-restorers" on the British market. The volunteers - 20 of them - will be asked to accompany their scalp with various preparations while the Association keeps a close watch for any sign of budding fuzz.

This experiment will be backed up by a consultation with scalp specialists and chemical analysis of the "baldness cure."

An official of the Association said gloomily:

"We have a strong impression that none of the cures on the market does much good, but we want to make absolutely certain."

Other survivors include a daughter, Deloris Brooks, Toledo, stepdaughter, Mrs. Ann Baker Los Angeles; brothers, Charles, Resner, Seymour and Stegner Brooks, and sisters, Mrs. Verma D. Hovens and Mrs. Wanjette Coleman, all of Toledo.

Florida Court Again Thwarts V. D. Hawkins

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. U. S. District Judge Duzer A. DeVane this week refused to issue a temporary injunction enjoining the University of Florida from refusing to admit V. D. Hawkins to the University.

The U. S. court in June of the last year had refused to issue a similar injunction. The U. S. Supreme Court has been asked to review the U. S. District Court's decision.

The U. S. Supreme Court on two occasions ruled that Mr. Hawkins was entitled to immediate admission. Each time the Florida state court failed to order the University to admit him to the Law School. Finally, on October 14, 1957, the Supreme Court refused to review the third refusal of the state court to order the University to admit Mr. Hawkins and sent him to the federal court.

Refusal to admit Hawkins to the Law School during the past 8 years "has resulted in irreparable injury

Along The Sports Trail

BY SAM BROWN

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON

Again the Booker T. Washington High School Basketball Warriors appear to be headed for another prep league championship, judging from the regularity with which they have been turning back all opposition in recent games. According to reports, the Warriors have just notched their 60th consecutive game in league competition.

The Bill Fawkes coached team has been the one team at which the other teams shoot year after year. It seems that it will be similar to a shot in the arm, if the other teams could just defeat the hated Warriors. Each year the Warriors are like the stream in Tennessee's poem, "They go on forever."

HEADED FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

With another strong team this year, the Warriors will be shooting for all honors before the season ends, the prep league district and state honors. All of their loyal rooters will be pulling hard for the team to go all the way. On their better performance record, they should be able to bring all competition aside and bring the state championship to Washington.

Of course, the season is not yet over, and unless the members of the team become too complacent let up in their other games, we can't see any team overtaking them. True, the inevitable is going to happen, but unless the Warriors play part of the here in the story of the "Hare and Tortoise" it will not take place soon. We might "vigilance" etc. etc. as a reminder to the team.

SEMI-PRO LEAGUE

The Memphis Semi-Pro Baseball League will soon make plans for the coming season. The league has done much to create more interest in amateur baseball in Memphis than any other group. We regret that the high schools don't put as much emphasis on baseball as they put on other sports.

We recall, however, the time when boys took to baseball as naturally as a duck takes to the water, but it seems that is not the case any more. With other sports making inroads on the interest of the youngsters, many boys prefer football, basketball, tennis and other sports to baseball. This is all right, but to us baseball still is the "Great American Sport."

1000 BOYS

Memphis is very much a sports minded and practically all forms of sports are participated in the city. So, with the thousands of boys engaged in sports in the city, perhaps there are enough for more of the sports to suffer.

There are other sports, golf, tennis, swimming and softball, to engage the attention of the youngsters of the city, and we are looking to the time when just as much interest will be in these sports as there is in baseball, football and basketball. Memphis still is a good sports town.

Long ago when George Washington became first president, New York was Capital of the U. S. A. Then the people wanted a new Capital. So the President built a small city. A Machine That Reads

An experimental device the size of a portable typewriter that can read handwritten numerals or identify numerals as they are being written has been announced by Bell Telephone Laboratories. The machine can, with modifications, be used to read handwritten letters, according to Roy Freeman, local Southern Bell manager.

The machine may eventually become important in any situation where it is necessary to write and identify large quantities of numerals, Freeman added.

For example, Freeman said each long distance ticket used in the Bell System contains 20 to 30 handwritten characters. Approximately two billion of these tickets are processed each year. A technique for picking up the information on these tickets with a machine rather than the human eye would be a tremendous aid in preparing telephone bills, Freeman said.

The machine recognizes numbers as they are being written and indicates the numeral by lighting up the correct digit on a numbered panel.

To recognize previously written numerals such as those on a long distance ticket it is necessary to write with a pencil containing a conductive lead. The ticket is then inserted in the machine in a special slot under a plate that has seven sensitized lines.

The machine determines which sensitized lines have been crossed and indicates the proper number by illuminating a numeral on the lucite panel. This information could be transferred to an accounting machine, computer or other data processing device.

Several experimental models have been built at Bell Laboratories. Each is completely self-contained.

The device is operated from flashlight batteries and requires no outside power source. Its small size is made possible by the use of transistors.

Warriors Still Stumbling; 'Cats, Tigers, Hamilton Win

BY MELVIN GREER

Booker T. Washington's gasping winning streak, now at an impressive 60-in-a-row if the Warriors got past Manassas last night (Thursday), is still not out of danger. Not if 1958 is any indication of how the Warrior casemen perform in the second part of Prep League play.

In 1956, it is recalled that a fifth place Douglas team almost turned the Warriors back in their own gym. It took two overtimes for the nervous BTW quintet to stop the Douglassites -- who hadn't won in one loop hit the entire season.

It was in this year that the Warriors were also handed their last basketball defeat in the City of Memphis. William Roach, now Manassas head cage coach, was head Barrets Chapel mentor when Barrets stunned the Warrior, 61 to 63, in that contest.

LOOKED BAD AGAINST 'CATS The William Fawkes - tutored Washington machine has also apparently begun to stumble again. Last Thursday evening out at Melrose, the Warrior casemen stumbled past Frank "Babyface" Lewis Melrose Golden Wildcats in a 69-64 thriller. It was a big let-down from their 70-25 drubbing of Jake Peacock's strong Lester Lions only two nights before.

And the early loss of Carroll Holman, who was injured in BTW's first game with Manassas, has also hurt the Warriors' chances of maintaining that victory streak throughout the remainder of the season. They are running out of the substitutes for George Oliver, Larry Williams, Rick Mason, Charlie Fobbs, and Billy McKissack.

They don't have a substitute for Center John Gray. Without him, their winning skein would undoubtedly

LeMoyné Crippled

Don't look for LeMoyné to defeat Alabama A and M College tonight (Friday) at LeMoyné's C. Arthur Bruce Gym. Magician Arthur Thomas Barton is virtually down to his last man. Due to reasons almost purely academic, only a few Magicians will be able to see the Warriors tonight -- Marvin Doggett, Chester Collins, Sam Parks, Esler Hart, Cleophus Eudson, Charles Gregory, and maybe Walter Harris, Augustus Johnson, Rossie Ballerina Braden and Andrew Washington will not play. The other two members of the LeMoyné team -- Marvin Rayford and David Acry, did not return for matriculation the second semester.

The Magicians will tackle Fisk College Bulldogs of Nashville Monday night (Feb. 10) in their last home game of the season. The game was originally slated for Tuesday night, but was postponed because of another mix-up in STAC scheduling.

MELROSE, HAMILTON, MANASSAS WIN

Melrose, Hamilton and Manassas won the opening rounds of league play No. 2 Tuesday night. Melrose flogged Father, Bratrand 51-27 as George "Chin" Davis reaped 15 points, while Kermit Stacker with 16 points led Hamilton's improving Wildcats over collapsing Lester, 48-43.

At Manassas, the Manassas Tiger virtually eliminated second-place Douglas from the championship race with the Washington Warriors by trouncing the Douglass quint 54-39 as Willie Hunt hit 32 points for the Tigers. It was the highest scoring loop contest of the current season.

Deltas Outline Plan To End Bias

WASHINGTON — (AP) The Delta minority community resources conference meeting here recently was informed of the five-point program initiated by the Delta Sigma Theta sorority in the area of job opportunity.

One of its projects was conducted by the Delta's Southwest region, which called a meeting of teachers and guidance counselors of ninth grade students to meet in Shreveport, La., in February. These teachers coming from Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas will be briefed on the latest findings in the field of job opportunities and community techniques.

Another meeting will be conducted in Indianapolis in April by the Delta's Midwest region. Principals and guidance counselors attending this Indiana meeting will hear new developments in the field of advanced counseling and testing methods.

In a review of 145 pro-segregation laws adopted in 11 states in the past four years, Southern School News said nine of them had been declared unconstitutional. Of these, 10 concern the principle of pupil assignment upheld in North Carolina but ruled invalid under state laws in Virginia and Louisiana.

"Little Rock" bills have already made some progress through the legislatures of Delaware and Virginia and have been proposed in Georgia, South Carolina and Mississippi. WASHINGTON'S EDITOR LABELED "JEALOUS"

Es too bad Jerry Standler took so much of his time and little know how in trying to injure the prestige of Melrose, and its columnist, in Tuesday's issue of the Memphis World. Standler wrote a scurrilous article attacking Melrose and Marcellus. Unfortunately for you Standler, I do not think enough of you to take me precious time out to elaborate on such an unimportant attack.

You attacked me in your so-called "exclusive article" for giving my basketball team top "recognition" in the paper. You fibbed when you said that I had bestowed of many new "star" players and of coach Lewis' ability to "outwit the coach" of the decade, coach Fowkes. No where in the Memphis World can you find these such remarks under my name. Many readers of your "exclusive article" labeled you as being "jealous" of the Melrose Column. You are apparently being highly criticized by your fellow students for not producing a "top rate" column and you are taking your resentment out on Melrose and Marcellus. It looks pretty bad when a "first year scrub" as you, Standler, try to attack a "veteran in the field" as I. So take a hint from the wise.

SPORTS OF THE WORLD

BY MARION E. JACKSON

"A SALUTE TO AMERICAN FOOTBALL"

Football as a sport parallels the American dream. It is an institution as completely native to this land as baseball and ham and eggs. Builders of the rugged and manly sport have demonstrated all of the genius of the men who from the landing on Plymouth Rock worked to fashion an industrial empire which is incomparable the world over. The game has had its engineers, its designers and draftsmen, its strategists, statesmen, diplomats and planners. It had to have these qualities to become a unique institution that has contributed so much to the youth of the United States.

Here's a salute to football. The 100 Per Cent Wrong Club believes it deserves a tribute. For the men who kept faith with the sport since its crude beginning in 1869 when Princeton played Rutgers the first intercollegiate football game at New Brunswick, N. J., have wrought well. They took a game that was probably invented in England in the 11th century and revolutionized it into a sport that today captivates millions upon millions and initiated new concepts of player participation and audience response that is unknown outside the Western Hemisphere.

The faith that this country has in football is shown by its growth. In 1946, football participation totaled 1,500,000. Figures for 1956 reveal 1,725,000 playing today. There are 7,484 high schools with football teams alone. There are approximately 1,000 college teams in the United States and Canada.

Football attendance was up 14 per cent in 1957 and the total attendance of 15,050,000 was the highest since 1950. The popularity of the game is dramatized by the fact that television carried the 1957 Army-Navy Game on November 30 into an estimated 14,791,000 homes. A growing awareness of the value of football to American life is recognized in thousands of sports clubs throughout the nation who annually pay homage to the game with awards, banquets, and tribute ceremonies which have even such notables as President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Throughout the years, pioneer firms like the Atlanta Daily World, The Coca-Cola Company, and the Atlanta Life Insurance Company, have backed rugged manhood through support of athletics, and the pivotal contribution of these firms have gone far beyond the playing field, into a longer life and cementing of family ties which make for a strong America.

Thus, we must list as builders of our nation, alongside the college and university presidents, the athletics and it will stand four square sponsors who through their support of every phase of athletics made this dream come true.

NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE DRAFTS TOP TAN GRID ACES

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—National Football League teams completed their draft selections last week at a meeting here and ten talent came in for careful scrutiny. In November, the teams selected some of the outstanding stars, Jim Pace of Michigan, by the San Francisco Forty-Niners, and Leonard Lyles, of Louisville, by the Baltimore Colts.

Some of the choices last week included Bobby Mulgoda, star halfback of undefeated Arizona State, by the Philadelphia Eagles; John Baker, tackle for North Carolina College, by the Los Angeles Rams; Danny Lewis, halfback, Wisconsin, by Detroit Lions; John Samples, Maryland State back, Baltimore;

Branch Rickey of the pro game. He symbolizes the finest in the American ideal for his Stars and Stripes team. He established his milestone of fair play with his fine teams at Massillon High, Ohio State, Great Lakes and has continued this concept unflinchingly with the Browns.

Jim Brown and Milt Plum, our red-blooded Two Friends award winners are standard bearers of aggressive, competitive and many athletes. Their prodigious feats cannot fully be recited here.

A. S. (Jake) Gaither is a Paul Bunyan-type coach. His lifetime record is 102 wins, 17 losses, and 4 ties. Florida A. M. record was 10-0-0 and he annexed the mythical national championship.

Fred T. Long was in exile from football (three years ago). He returned to his beloved Wiley College to rebuild the Wildcats fortunes and hand them their best season since 1935. His record was 10-0-1. Lenny Lyles is an all-around player in the tradition of Red Grange. Ben Stevenson, Harry Gilmer, Willie Gallimore, Henry Mosier, John (Big Train) Moody and John Crow.

Vice-President Nixon pinpoints athletics as these men have saluted it in addressing the American Football Coaches' Association. He said: "I believe that competitive body contact sports are good for America's young men. I think further that healthy rivalry between institutions is good for spectators as well as participants. Young Americans need the fighting spirit, the determination, the team work and discipline which competitive athletics inevitably instills.

"I realize there is some school of thought which contends that competitive sports are harmful because some have to lose and the loser suffers psychologically. "My answer is that our young men are going to enter a competitive world where they will experience failure as well as success. Let's not kid ourselves, they won't be properly prepared for life if they have been shielded from the disappointment of failure. "My only objection to competitive athletics is that there is not enough of it."

Football, America salutes you!

No Pick Made For Baseball Hall of Fame

BOSTON—(INS)—The year 1957 will be a blank in the baseball hall of fame at Cooperstown, N. Y. No one was elected to have his name inscribed on a bronze plaque to be hung alongside the game's immortals. This marked the first time since 1930 that none of the nominees received sufficient votes to win the game's highest honor.

Max Carey, star outfielder and base stealer of the Pittsburgh Pirates and manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, received the highest number of votes of the 266 men eligible to be voted upon. Carey received 166 votes. He needed 145 in second place with 112 votes was Eddie Roush, New York Giants star and outfielder. Third with 99 votes, the same as he received two years ago, was the former New York Yankee pitcher Charlie Ruffing. Hack Wilson, ex-Chicago Cubs outfielder was in fourth place with 94 votes.

Hank Aaron At Odds Over New Contract Terms

By International News Service

All is not sweetness and light in the camp of the world champion Milwaukee Braves.

Hank Aaron says he is dissatisfied with the 1958 salary terms offered him by the Braves. Aaron, the home run and runs-batted-in king of the majors as well as the national league's most valuable player, made about $30,000 last year.

Aaron, who will be 34, today, had this to say about his salary difficulties: "To my way of thinking, a fellow who has a good year is entitled to a raise. The one I was offered doesn't amount to much."

Rumors are circulating in Milwaukee that the December trade between the Braves and the Chicago Cubs hasn't been completed. That was the deal in which the Braves got pitchers Bob Rush and Don Kaiser and infielder Ed Haas in exchange for catcher Sam Taylor and pitcher Taylor Phillips.

Lewis was an outstanding runner for the Wisconsin Badgers this season, and was the best prospect available by the time the champion Lions got their pick.

Williams and Burton have another year of eligibility and might not be available for pro football next season. Burton, a teammate of Mulgoda, was the leading college scorer in 1957.

Lewis, the Notre Dame track captain, was injured most of last season, but he had an outstanding record in his freshman and sophomore years.

Barron's did not play last season. Neither did Roberts, whose eligibility was cut short by the recruiting scandal in the Pacific Coast. He was Southern Cal's leading ground gainer in 1956.

Jackson and Williams are others whose college careers have another year to run.

Wisdom consists in rising superior both to madness, and to common sense, and in lending 20 Man-O-War, famous thoroughbred, who coming its dupe.

CHICAGO—(INS)—The American League exhibition game pre-season series announced Monday in Chicago lists of 167 games with National League Clubs.

The 1958 spring training schedule is featured by a swing-away from such traditional city rivalries as the Chicago White Sox vs. the Cubs and the New York Yankees and the once Brooklyn but now Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Yankees, prior to their season home opener April 15 against the Boston Red Sox, play the Phillies at Yankee Stadium April 12 and meet them again the next day at Philadelphia.

The White Sox play Washington at Davenport, Ia., on April 12 and clash again with the Senators the next day at Indianapolis. The Sox open their home season against Detroit April 15. The Yanks play the top number of spring games, 36, of which 25 are against National League clubs. They battle the St. Louis Cardinals seven times and are down for 10 games with the Phillies. The White Sox have 34 battles listed—23 against National League teams, with 11 against the Cards. The Red Sox have arranged 32 games—14 with National League opposition and 13 against members of their own league. Five other games will be played against minor league teams. Jake Gaither Says New NCAA Conversion Rule Won't Hurt

BY MARION E. JACKSON

A. S. (Jake) Gaither, coach of the national championship Florida A. & M. Rattlers does not believe that the new conversion rule adopted by the American Football Rules Committee and adopted by the NCAA will seriously affect play next fall.

Gaither in Atlanta to be honored at the 22nd annual 100 Per Cent Wrong Club Jamboree where Florida A. & M. was presented the W. A. Scott II Memorial National Championship Football Trophy, declared "It is about as easy to place kick three yards as it is to kick two yards."

The matter continued: "Seldom does the ball go for three yards to rush or pass the ball for three yards than it is to go for two yards on the goal line."

Florida A. & M. scored 343 points last fall while yielding 41 and posting a 10-0-0 season. His Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference champions tallied 51 touchdowns and made 34 out of 51 conversions. The Rattlers in 10 games attempted one field goal pushing or passing in four downs on the goal line. The defense tightens up the passing area is restricted. Gaither was emphatic in deploring SIAC restrictions on "red-shirting" freshmen athletes. The rule was adopted by the SIAC in 1956 and has been violently opposed by institutions who play an intercollegiate schedule.

Gaither decried this stating "Red-shirting in our conference applies to freshmen. In the larger schools, it applies to sophomores. This is a policy where by the game does not play in any of the games his first year, but is drilled in the fundamentals so that he will be prepared to enter on the varsity squad the following year."

Since so many boys do not graduate from college in four years due to Army interruptions, reduced scholastic loads when on probation and working, and changing majors, cuts on "red-shirting" therefore is ridiculous. In our colleges, the athlete is permitted four years of eligibility and only three years in major schools.

"This permits a boy to play his time out even though it takes four and a half to five years to graduate. Personally, I think it is good. I feel any boy who is able to remain in school is entitled to all the benefits of intercollegiate athletics as they are part of his education and certainly prepare him to earn a decent wage and maintain a good standard of living after graduation."

"The NCAA does not see fit to eliminate "red-shirting" which certainly improves the quality of play as it had no desire to make weaker who were adding by the rules and regulations of the various conferences. "In my opinion, our schools need stronger teams and not weaker ones."

NEW YORK—(INS)—If there is any possible way to sum up the work, you can always depend on somebody in the fight racket to find it.

Some time ago the World Championship Committee of which Julius Helfand is chairman, as he is also of the New York State Athletic Commission, and the National Boxing Association agreed on a continuation series to fill the well-worn title vacated by Carmen Basilio.

It was agreed six men should battle it out for the title and those so designated were George Barnes, Australian and British Empire champion; Virgil Akins of St. Louis; Gu Turner of Philadelphia; Leo Logan of Cuba; Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., and Gaspar Ortega of Mexico.

So far so good. Or was it? Barnes decided that he wanted no part of the set-up, so he was automatically eliminated.

Logart eliminated Ortega and Martinez eliminated Turner. That left Logart, Martinez and Akins. Now it was up to the sages of the fight racket to decide who was to fight whom in the next bout and who was to draw the bye. The International Boxing Club would like to match Logart and Martinez for the title with the winner contracted to fight Akins within 30 days.

Helfand, acting on behalf of all his associates, decided to have the boys pick names out of a hat to see who should fight whom. And he decided that the draw should be made, not in his own office, but in the office of Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring magazine.

But now comes a hitch. The managers of Logart and Martinez swear they will have nothing to do with such a draw. Akins, of course, is willing. The Logart and Martinez camps would like to read Akins out of the picture.

Now comes the $64 question: If only Akins makes the draw will he automatically be designated as the world champion?

If so, the fight mob wants to know how you can make a champion by drawing a piece of paper. These three are seasoned fighters each with nine or ten years of ring warfare behind him and each has a well spotted record.

You might call them good average fighters and none could possibly be considered another Jack Britton, Ted 'Kid' Lewis or Sugar Ray Robinson, and Mickey Walker could have chased all of them right out of the ring.

Still they're the best the ring has to offer these days and the fate of nations will hardly be decided no matter which is finally accepted by the public, which is always the final arbiter.

CHIEF AGGIE "DUNKER"—Charlie Harrison, giant 6-6 center with A&T College Aggies, is one big reason his team is up front in CIAA standings.

Besides his outstanding shooting skill, Harrison is the team's rebound leader. In one game last week he swept the boards clean with a total of 30 rebounds.

Recalling the placements made by the Rattlers, Gaither noted "What is the difference between fourth down and three yards to go when you are going for a touchdown and six points and one down on the three-yard line which to make two points. In both cases, the odds are very great against any team scoring except by a kick."

"What does this mean? In my opinion, an underdog would rather try for more than almost certain loss. In the case of the favorite teams, it does not make much difference after it gets in the lead and time is favorable. "It is tough to make three yards games—25 against National League clubs. The Orioles meet the Cubs 15 times.

Cleveland has 33 games scheduled. Twenty of the Indians' 27 National League games will have them pitted against the New York Giants.

Detroit, with 32 games listed, has seven against the world champion Milwaukee Braves.

Kansas City's 34-game program features 18 National League battles. Washington is listed for 33 contests—10 against the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Helfand, acting on behalf of all his associates, decided to have the boys pick names out of a hat to see who should fight whom. And he decided that the draw should be made, not in his own office, but in the office of Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring magazine.

But now comes a hitch. The managers of Logart and Martinez swear they will have nothing to do with such a draw. Akins, of course, is willing. The Logart and Martinez camps would like to read Akins out of the picture.

Now comes the $64 question: If only Akins makes the draw will he automatically be designated as the world champion?

If so, the fight mob wants to know how you can make a champion by drawing a piece of paper. These three are seasoned fighters each with nine or ten years of ring warfare behind him and each has a well spotted record.

You might call them good average fighters and none could possibly be considered another Jack Britton, Ted 'Kid' Lewis or Sugar Ray Robinson, and Mickey Walker could have chased all of them right out of the ring.

Still they're the best the ring has to offer these days and the fate of nations will hardly be decided no matter which is finally accepted by the public, which is always the final arbiter.

CHIEF AGGIE "DUNKER"—Charlie Harrison, giant 6-6 center with A&T College Aggies, is one big reason his team is up front in CIAA standings.

Besides his outstanding shooting skill, Harrison is the team's rebound leader. In one game last week he swept the boards clean with a total of 30 rebounds.

Reasoning By Comparison Still Fallacious

On Tuesday the junior senator from Georgia took the floor of that important body, and perhaps with tongue in his cheek, proceeded to deplore some recent acts of violence which have occurred in the Brooklyn, New York high school involving members of the two races.

Senator Herman Talmadge said to the group that the citizens of Georgia were sympathetic with the people of Brooklyn as a result of the trouble they were having in their schools. He said: "It has been suggested that the President send troops" to Brooklyn to preserve order in the schools as was done in the case of Little Rock. In the first place, there is no comparison between what has happened in the two places. In Little Rock the issue was upholding the federal court and the Constitution of the United States.

The senator was careful not to mention anyone who is supposed to have suggested sending the troops to New York, so we think it fair to conclude that no one has suggested such a course. Therefore, we can only conclude that our senator was simply indulging in a little cheap politics.

Our senator's comment also reminds us that he has not followed the logic of leaving problems to local control when possible. For instance, when he was governor he refused to leave the segregation question to the various cities and counties. In 1954 after the segregation ruling he promptly sponsored legislation aimed at preventing any school district from complying with the decision.

The Great Day In This Geophysical Year

This geophysical year got underway in a big push for these United States. It is quite an historical significance that on the eve of the second month in the year, Cape Canaveral supplied ample answer to the Soviet's worship around their newly christened Sputniks, which they set off with the speed of the wind to the tune of some 18,000 miles per hour.

No poet's imagery can imitate in spirit and let fall in numbers of martial meters the song that a nation would be so happy to sing, could some one put the epic in marching lines. So, we have our Explorer; it assuredly asserts that the Sputnik family shall not have a monopoly on the elements; that the cause of peace is ever ready to match any challenge to it.

So, to the cause of peace was the Explorer born. It came in time to set at rest the stigmas that followed the ill-fated Vanguard and to set aside whatever political triffle that had arisen in the wake of the Russian Sputniks. We are happy the Explorer succeeded, and believe others will follow. May the nation not encounter the disservice of those who make political war on what they call foreigners, those minorities in whom might be planted the answers to the nation's problems.

The Explorer roars on—and so does the hope of the United States and the free world.

Move Would

Dulles is seeking "any possible approach that we can make that will be appealing and which might lead after proper preparation to some kind of meeting." But Soviet Premier Nikolett Bulganin hasn't offered much hope—and it would be fruitless to meet without advance preparation because "you would just be glaring at each other across the table" and doing nothing.

Moon Rockets—As Eisenhower and his scientific advisers would be "the last to predict" how soon man will reach the moon but they are working out a program of possibilities and probabilities in "outward" space achievements. The defense aspect "will be pushed."

Public Confidence

(Continued From Page One) most health problem and the leading medical challenge of our time. Until only two or three decades ago, the view was widely held that "nothing can be done about heart disease," which was seen as an inevitable forerunner of death—something quite beyond the reach of medical science.

In years past, this same fatalistic viewpoint prevailed regarding such "epidemic" diseases as smallpox, typhoid and yellow fever, diphtheria, and bubonic plague. As the infectious diseases succumbed to medical science, so have many other disorders of the body been remedied or cured by new advances in drug therapy and surgery.

Pessimism and despair are now being replaced by hope and assurance that medical research, in the not-too-distant future, will provide the knowledge needed to control most diseases of the heart and circulation.

Brilliant victories already have been scored in the diagnosis and treatment of heart and circulatory diseases. There is today a general awareness that some forms of heart disease can now be prevented, a few can be cured, and that almost all cases can be helped by proper treatment—especially after early diagnosis. As a result, people now realize that no medical problem—and this specifically includes the heart disease—is necessarily beyond solution.

Furthermore, public confidence is increased because there now exists the machinery for a concerted and planned all-out assault upon the heart diseases—a nationwide program of research, education and community service, spearheaded by the American Heart Association and its affiliates and chapters.

In this fight, the stakes are large. The right answers can mean the difference between adversity and prosperity, sickness and health, life and death for many millions of Americans—including generations not yet born. The door is wide open for every man, woman and child to have a part in the fight against heart disease. This opportunity is opened to you through your support of the 1958 Heart Fund.

45th Anniversary Marked By Delta Sigma Theta Sorority

Nationally, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. celebrated its 45th anniversary during January. Alpha Gamma Sigma chapter observed this milestone with a Founder Day Banquet on January 25 at University Life Insurance Company Lounge.

More than 60 Deltas attended the occasion which also marked the close of probational activities for Mrs. Maryann Strozler Roach, who was received into the group. All members were adorned becomingly in black, except Soror Roach who wore white. Soror made an impressive scene as they moved through the various phases of the evening's activities.

The president, Mrs. A. Maceo Walker ably presided during the formal ceremonies assisted by Miss Eurline Couch, vice-president, Miss Geraldine, recording secretary, Mrs. A. W. Willis Jr., corresponding secretary, Miss Rosa A. Robinson, financial secretary, Mrs. E. A. Wither, treasurer, Mrs. H. A. Gilliam, chairman, and Mrs. Russell Sugarman Sr., sergeant at arms. Miss Eurline Couch was Dean of pledges, Chairman of the Founder Day Committee was Mrs. W. Gibson, who was assisted by Mrs. Joseph Westbrook, Mrs. H. A. Gilliam, Mrs. Vesto Smith and Mrs. Gladys Greene and the president.

A cocktail hour preceded the banquet, and members gathered in groups to sing their favorite sorority songs, spontaneously directed by various sorors to the accompaniment of Mrs. Carla C. Walker. Mrs. Joseph Shannon addressed the group briefly, giving the highlights of the history of the national organization, and calling for tribute to the Delta founders. Her expressions were enthusiastically received by the group.

Delta Sigma Theta, Inc. was founded in January, 1913 at Howard University, Washington, D. C. Nearly 300 chapters have been formed throughout the country since that time. Alpha Gamma Sigma chapter was established at Memphis in June, 1934 with five Deltas, graduates of various colleges. Organized by Mrs. Sue Cowan Williams of Little Rock, Ark., the five charter members were Sorors Cecilia Irwin Story (deceased), Wilona Nicholson (deceased), Radie Broome Clark, Juanita Perkins, and Hilda Smith. Soror Florence Cole McClellan who had distinguished herself internationally in the music world had been made an honorary member at Wilberforce University. She also joined this group.

By September, 1936, the group had grown to 12 members with the addition of Sorors Lillian Peck Campbell, Lillian Jones, Velma McLemore, Rosa A. Robinson, Vivian Dandridge White and Kate Fuller. These ten Deltas were so closely bound together in the spirit of Delta that they cooperated wholeheartedly in each endeavor; and just two years after being established, Alpha Gamma Sigma was hostess to the chapter of the Southern Regional Conference.

In addition to participation in all the projects of the national program, Alpha Gamma Sigma has instituted and maintained several local projects of note. To mention a few: Have furnished a room in the Vance Avenue Branch of the YWCA; furnished a cyclorama for the stage of the Abe Scharif YM-CA; raised funds and completely furnished an eight room house for dormitory use by LeMoyn College; has annually provided gifts and entertained for underprivileged children at Christmas. Annual donations of books and other necessities have been made to high school libraries.

Alpha Gamma Sigma chapter has presented numerous scholarships to high school students on competitive basis. Many artists of national fame as well as local artists have appeared under the auspices of the chapter contributing to the culture life of the city. As part of a national project May Week, the chapter has carried out various programs, with its Breakfast for MLady an outstanding annual event. Other contributions to various civic and charitable endeavors are likewise recorded in the records of Alpha Gamma Sigma.

Fifteen sorors have distinguished themselves as chapter presidents through the years; Cecilia Irwin Story (deceased), Juanita Brinkley, Wilona Nicholson (deceased), Hilda Smith, Marion Gibson, Lillian Campbell, Vivian White, Rosa Robinson, Mildred Daniels, Addie Jones, Ophelia Shannon, Althea Price, Alice Gilchrist, Mary Collier, and Harriet Walker, now in office. National offices have been held by two sorors. Soror Addie Jones was Southern Regional Director for four years, and Soror Nell Roulhac was elected Grand Secretary while residing in Memphis— is currently in office.

Alpha Gamma Sigma chapter of Delta Sigma Theta sorority is grateful for the support it has received through the years from the citizens of Memphis. The organization pledge to continue to gear its program toward meeting the needs, both cultural and charitable, in the community.

Counterfeiters On 3-Year Probation

TOLEDO, Ohio — (ANP) — Two men who combined their talents to produce 90 counterfeit bills in $20 denomination to provide their families with Christmas cash were put on probation for three years each last week.

Erskin V. Guyton, 33, a printer, and Earl F. Banks, 29, a photographer, each pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court.

Turning his attention to labor, Howard W. Wauer, Reuther, director of president of UAW, said "If labor could elect a president of the U. S., he would be of it. Labor cannot achieve until it receives equal pay for equal service." He explained Reuther's proposed "Share The Profit plan."

On concluding Dr. Simmons said "Negro wants more of everything which will make him free. And where is the Negro's place? It is right up there where everybody else is. Never has there been before one government with two groups of citizens talking so much about going to heaven than the Afro-American and the Anglo-Saxon, and both are nearer hell than any other group on the face of the earth."

He was introduced by Rev. James A. McDaniel, a member of the club. Following his speech an open forum on Economics was lead by Rev. McDaniel, Howard E. Sims, instructor of history and economics at LeMoyn College, and Thaddeus T. Stokes, editor of the Memphis World.

Installing the 1958 officers was L. H. Boyce, outgoing president, who said "leadership is a trust, not a possession. The success of an organization depends upon its leadership." Installed were: Rev. H. Clarke, pastor of the First Baptist Church where the meeting is being held, president; Taylor C. D. Hayes, vice president; J. T. Chandler, secretary; Dr. E. Frank White, treasurer.

The "Little Rock Story" was a very handy topic for the Russians and they used it widely to depict how the United States practiced "racial segregation," said Kaufman. When he was asked by another reporter, "how did the racial segregation practiced in this country prove to be more harmful in international affairs than the segregation Hitler practiced on the Jews?"

Kaufman explained "the law of Germany at that time condoned the pure-race idea. The United States calls this country, the home of the free, land of liberty and its constitution guarantees these things to all citizens."

When he was asked about "how the general populace in Germany felt about the United States," he said that since 1933 there has been tension between the two countries because of the Nazi period. We are trying to straighten that out," said Kaufman.

He told how the Information Agency operated in Essen. "We have about 40,000 books about America which are circulated in three bookmobiles in 48 small communities. Each bookmobile contains about 3,000 books."

He continued, "Most of the reading material is circulated among adults, high school and college students. We also have about 2,000 copies of films, recordings of American music." Aside from the circulating library there are also adult education centers all concerned with knowledge about America. "We have studied about the rapid strides the Negro has made in 50 years. We have also watched closely the difficulties arising after the Supreme Court's 1954 decision on public schools," continued the visitor.

He said the reason he selected LeMoyn college to study school segregation in higher education, it was suggested by advisors in Washington, D. C. He also pointed out that it was directly in enroute from Louisiana, where he had visited, to Louisville, Ky. where he was scheduled to go when he left Memphis.

When Kaufman, a native of Hamburg, was asked his opinion of war, he retorted "I don't believe that damn lie and romanticism about dying to keep your country free."

He is married and the father of a six-month-old son.

REALTIME MELODIES!

February 2 - 8 is Dental Health Week. Actually February is becoming known as Dental Health month, but if we are going to have good dental health, we've got to practice dental health the year round. Really, practicing dental health is not a big job. It simply requires a little time and thought and the reward is so big if you think in terms of the little effort, needed to reap the big reward. "N o w what is the effort? Just take care of your teeth. What is the reward? Good teeth, a smiling beauty and longer life for you."

Leola Gammon

So you see there's nothing really difficult about good dental health for those of us who have teeth. And for the unborn babe who's on his way, the expectant mother can give it that good teeth foundation through eating the right food too. She will also help keep her own. This doesn't mean a lot of fancy or rich foods. It simply means eating balanced rations. Won't you think about and practice good dental health so that you and your teeth can have a long and happy life together.

This month the Memphis Council in cooperation with the Memphis Dental Society is distributing "They're Teeth" handouts. The milkman who is one of your community helpers, is leaving this handout with your milk order.

On the back of this handout you read "They're your teeth. How do they look? How do you feel? How long will you have them? Most of the answers are up to you. This is a good time to ponder the benefits of being "true" to your teeth. How do you go about being true to your teeth? Actually quite simple: Simply Brush Them Right: Make it a habit to brush them after each meal and before going to bed. Next best to brushing is a good swishing rinse and you can do that at school, at work, or most anywhere you are after eating. You will find it leaves a fresh taste in your mouth too.

Simply: Treat Them Right by making a habit of going to your dentist for a check-up at least once every six months. He wants to be your friend, but he can't unless you visit him as he advises. He can help you have the nice teeth by— Cleaning and checking your teeth and gums regularly, filling cavities while they are small, advising you on ways to take care of your teeth. Simply: Eat Food that it was directly in enroute from Louisiana, where he had visited, to Louisville, Ky. where he was scheduled to go when he left Memphis.

WAYNE D. OVERHOLSER'S new Western thriller DESPERATE MAN

He smiled. "I thought you wouldn't—or maybe I was just hoping." I mounted and he added, "Tell Bess what happened in town. I didn't tell Gil."

When I rode into the Anchor yard, I saw Gil sitting on the porch. I didn't want to see him again. I veered off toward a shed where Barney Lux was shoeing a horse.

I said, "Howdy, Barney." He said, "Howdy," and kept right on. He was a big sour man who never used two words if one would do. I don't know how long he'd worked for Bess, but he was here when we came. Bess was the only one who liked him. I think that was because he was satisfied with the wages she paid him, and that was the best cowhand in the park.

Shorty Quinn, Bess's other rider, came out of the barn. He called, "Don't you Munro boys have nothing to do but come over here and spark the Nordine girls?"

"Can you think of anything better to do?" I asked. Shorty was about ten years older than Lux, and as different from him as day is from night. Kitsy was fond of him. He'd worked for the Nordines as long as Kitsy could remember.

With Shorty, there was no mystery about why he stayed. He was bound to Anchor with the loyalty that is characteristic of cowboys. He played the mouth harp he liked to sing. He'd go to town about once a month and turn his wolf loose, and Ed Veach would throw him into the cooler every time.

I tied my horse in front of the house and walked up the path. The Nordine ranch was the oldest one in the park, and Bess's and Kitsy's folks had been among the earliest settlers.

Bess was sitting beside Gil when I came up. She said, "How are you, Dave? You haven't been over here for weeks."

"That's why I'm here today," I said. "Didn't want to neglect you any longer." I sat down on the porch and leaned against a post. "Where's Kitsy?"

"Baking a cake," Bess said. Bess was twenty-five years old, but she looked older. A trace of gray showed in her dark brown hair. She was a big woman, about five feet, with good legs and ankles, and strong arms that could wrestle a calf at a branding fire almost as well as a man. She was a fine rider and could shoot with the best, and she knew the cattle business from A to Z. She liked men. But the astonishing thing to me wasn't her...

As soon as I finished eating, I went outside and saddled up. I waited until my father left the house. I said, "I'm not leaving."
