

PRE-FALL RULING ON LITTLE ROCK CASE SEEN

APPEALS COURT JUDGES INVITE EARLY ACTION

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — The U. S. Court of Appeals has indicated it will rule before fall on an appeal from a district court ruling suspending integration at Little Rock, Arkansas' Central High School for 2 1/2 years. Hearing was set Thursday for August 4th.

The indication came Wednesday in an order issued by the court inviting parties to the case to ask for early action on the appeal. It came about the same time that a motion was filed seeking an early hearing.

The motion was filed in the U. S. Court of Appeals Wednesday asking that a hearing on an appeal from the order suspending racial integration in Little Rock, Ark., schools be held Aug. 4.

Wiley A. Branton, Negro attorney from Pine Bluff, Ark., said he thought the August date would give both the school board, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and other Negro groups involved adequate time to prepare their arguments. Branton is representing the NAACP in the case.

The appeals court earlier Wednesday set a seven-day deadline for either side in the case to motion for a hearing date. Otherwise, the case would have had to be placed on the September docket of the court beginning Sept. 10, about the time the schools start their 1958-59 year.

The court said that "if neither the appellants or the appellees desire to have the appeal submitted and decided promptly, they may within seven days from the date of this order petition this court for an early hearing."

The order was issued by Judges John B. Sanborn, St. Paul, Minn., Harvey M. Johnson, Omaha, Neb., and Martin D. Van Oosterhout, Sioux City, Iowa.

The order said the court would permit submission of the case on the original papers, rather than consume the time necessary to print documents.

The appeal is from an order by U. S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley authorizing the Little Rock Board of Education to suspend its plan for racial integration until January, 1961.

Complaints Charging Bias In U. S. Employment Increase, Report Shows

President's Committee Suggests More Safeguards

WASHINGTON, D. C. (NNPA)—The number of complaints filed with the President's Government Employment Policy Committee, charging discrimination in Federal employment, has increased, the second annual report of the committee shows.

The report covers the period from May 1, 1956, to last Jan. 18, the third anniversary of the date on which President Eisenhower established the committee.

In this period a total of 70 cases have been filed with the committee, an average of about three cases a month, as compared with 23 cases a month in the period covered by the first report.

The committee regards this as an indication that its facilities and services have become more widely known and utilized, rather than that discrimination in the Federal Government is on the increase.

In cases where the committee believed evidence warranted a finding of discrimination, the report said, it outlined its reasoning to the agency and recommended the particular corrective action to be taken.

NO DISCRIMINATION FOUND

In some cases the committee made a finding of no discrimination but felt that personnel policies and working conditions might lead employees to feel that they were victims of discrimination.

In such cases the committee made a finding of no discrimination but suggested the revision of practices and the establishment of safeguards designed to prevent the possibility of discrimination in the future.

Of the 70 cases referred to the committee for review and an advisory opinion, discrimination was found in 10, no discrimination was found but corrective action recommended in 4, and a finding of no discrimination was made in 51.

The report shows that 271 cases have been settled by the agencies and reported to the committee.

Of that number, corrective action was taken in 53, complainants were satisfied with explanations in 45, complainants failed to prosecute complaints in 28, and findings of no discrimination were made in 145.

Of the 70 complaints disposed of by the committee, three came from Jews, two from Seventh Day Adventists, one from a Catholic, one from a white person, and 63 from colored employees.

Of the 271 complaints disposed of by the agencies and reported to the committee, 243 came from colored employees, eight from Jews, six from Latin-Americans, two from Indians, three from Seventh Day Adventists, three from Catholics, and one each from a Chinese-American, a person whose religion was not identified, a Protestant, a Filipino, a Jehovah's witness, and a white person.

Mrs. McCleave was the discoverer of Marian Anderson and Vera Little, famed opera singers. She was also a singer in her own right. (Continued On Page Eight)

DUTY OF ADVICE
The committee has the duty of advising and assisting Federal agencies in eliminating employment discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, or national origin.

The public members of the committee are the Rev. Archibald J. Carey, Jr., Chicago, chairman; Branch Ricketts, Pittsburgh, vice chairman; Milton H. Blow, New York City, and Mrs. Jane Warnock, Eagle Butte, S. D., alternate public members.

Government members of the committee are J. Ernest Wilkins, Assistant Secretary of Labor; Charles...

'All Confused' Over Taylor's Candidacy For State Post

The president of the East Hollywood Civic club, Rev. J. Madison Tytus of 2573 Houch Ave., told the Memphis World this week he was "quite confused about a petition" he received from Andrew "Tip" Taylor's Memphis headquarters.

Rev. Tytus said the petition asked that "members of my club endorse the Citizens for Progress which will endorse Taylor Tuesday as a candidate for governor of the state."

The petition stated in part: "We therefore urgently recommend that the Citizens for Progress endorse and vigorously support the Honorable Andrew T. (Tip) Taylor for the office of governor."

Rev. Tytus said: "The confusing part of the matter is Taylor has been scooped in the press as being an avid segregationist. He also advocated non-compliance with the U. S. Supreme Court 1954 school decision. Our civic club could not endorse any candidate for govern-

Two Boys Killed By Overturned Tractor

JOHN GAMMON AND HARRIS FRANKLIN BOTH 14, KILLED INSTANTLY

Two Arkansas lads who were residents of Gammon Community near Marion, were killed instantly when a tractor overturned and crushed them in a ditch about 2:15 p.m. Sunday.

Fatally injured were John Berry Gammon, 14, and Harris Franklin, 14, who was reportedly operating the tractor when it overturned.

The tractor threw the two lads in the ditch after the tractor was driven on a soft shoulder of the road. The tractor, still in gear, rolled down into the ditch pinning both boys beneath it, according to an investigation.

The Gammon lad was the son of Mrs. Leoda Gammon, a writer for the Memphis World, and John Gammon, Jr., a successful farmer.

Young Gammon, born in Memphis, was a ninth grade student at Hamilton high school in Memphis. In 1953 he was awarded the Junior Championship in a Live Stock show by the Memphis Packing Co. for his prize-winning hog.

He was a member of Memphis Chapter of Jack & Jill club, active in Sunday school, and a member of a 4-H Club.

The Franklin lad was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathews Franklin of Marion.

Funeral service for the Gammon youth will be conducted at 11:00 a.m. today (Friday) at the T. H. (Continued On Page Eight)

Girl, 16, Complains That Policemen "Roughed" Her Up

A 16-year-old girl complained to the Memphis World about "two local policemen roughing" her up and later harassing her with "dirty language and improper advances."

The girl, who is a sophomore at Booker T. Washington High School, said one of the policemen "kicked her down the steps at her home twisted her arm and then kicked her against as they forced her into a patrol car to cruise around in the Florida Street area looking for her "boy friend" who allegedly had escaped while being questioned by the officers.

Tobias Reviews Race Progress At Freedom Midpoint

CLEVELAND — Although substantial progress has been made in the Fight for Freedom, "the task ahead is enormous," Dr. Charles H. Tobias, chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, warned in his keynote address prepared for delivery here Tuesday night as the Association opened its 49th annual convention.

The 400 delegates were welcomed to the convention by Gov. C. William O'Neill, Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze and Dr. Nathan K. Christopher, on behalf of the Cleveland NAACP, host to the convention. The six-day assembly ends on Sunday, July 13.

Recalling the launching 47 years ago of the NAACP ten-year fight to get rid of racial discrimination and segregation by 1963, the centennial of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, Dr. Tobias reviewed the progress made since that time and indicated what remains to be done in order to achieve the NAACP goal.

TIME FOR REDEDICATION
"We are now at the half-way point in the ten-year Fight for Freedom," Dr. Tobias declared. "It is time for a progress report... It is time for re-dedication of our efforts and the final charting of our course of action."

The campaign was launched at the Association's 44th annual convention in St. Louis in 1953 in response to a proposal placed before the delegates by Dr. Tobias. In tonight's prepared address, he reviewed advances made since 1953 in the fields of education, employment, housing, voting, transportation and the armed services.

"The first and most far-reaching step toward fulfillment of our goals was the momentous decision of the Supreme Court handed down on...

S. C. FARM TENANTS SHOT, BEATEN, JAILED

JOHNSTON, S. C.—A prominent white peach grower allegedly shot a Negro tenant in the leg, beat the tenant's wife and then filed assault and battery charges against the pair following an argument here June 30.

The victims, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hickson, parents of 12 children, are free under $1,000 bond and face a preliminary hearing July 14.

The Hicksons in a statement to a reporter for the South Carolina edition of the ATLANTA WORLD, accused Frank Barry, their employer, of attacking them after a Negro overseer had supposedly reported a lag in their work.

The overseer, Otis Stimpkins, also of Johnston, reportedly told Barry that the Hicksons were "half picking" the peaches and grumbling over being poorly paid.

Barry, according to the Hicksons' statement, came to the peach orchard and began using profanity against Hickson, who was in the tree at the time.

WOMAN STRUCK
When Mrs. Hickson intervened, Barry allegedly struck her in the face with his fist and broke her glasses, fractured her nose and knocked out a tooth.

Mrs. Hickson reportedly was knocked unconscious by the white farmer, who was said to have rushed to the house and returned with a pistol.

He allegedly fired three shots, one hitting Hickson in the leg and the others barely missing two Hickson children who were working along with their parents.

The Hicksons had been working for Barry about eight months, it was reported, Hickson reportedly earned $3 a day, his wife $2, and each child approximately 50 cents.

Following the alleged beating and shooting, one of the white overseers from Florida called police.

THREATS CLAIMED
Barry reportedly told officers that the Negro couple had threatened him with sticks and stones, and that he shot in self-defense.

Barry brought charges against the Hicksons of assault and battery with intent to kill, and the Negro couple was taken to the Edgefield County jail where they remained until bond was raised.

Mr. and Mrs. Aulse Walker, parents of Mrs. Hickson, paid $500 bond for their daughter's release on Saturday and another $500 for Mr. Hickson's release on Monday, July 7.

No charges have been filed against Barry, but the Hicksons indicated that they would take action later.

Mound Bayou To Observe Its 71st Anniversary

MOUND BAYOU, Miss. — (SNS) — Mound Bayou, Miss., the oldest and largest all-Negro town in the United States, will be 71 years old tomorrow (Saturday).

Mayor B. A. Green said this week that Sunday, however, will be the day of celebration. The celebration will be held in the high school auditorium with Father John LaBeauve, pastor of St. Gabriel's Catholic Mission, as the guest speaker.

Mound Bayou was founded in 1887 by Issah T. Montgomery and his cousin, Benjamin T. Green. Both men were former slaves of Joseph Davis and his famed brother, Jefferson Davis, defeated president of the Confederacy.

"VERY IMPORTANT DAY"
Mayor Green said, "This is a very important day in the life of our community, as it is in the life of each individual, because it is the day that we came into being as a community, and our growth and progress are measured largely by our birthdays. It is on this date every year that we come together to give thanks for what has been ours to enjoy and to rededicate ourselves to the task of carrying on a work so nobly started by our founding fathers.

"And, as proud as we are of our accomplishments for the past 71 years, Mayor Green continued, "we are not unmindful of the fact that the friendly and cooperative attitude of our neighboring towns has been and will continue to be an important factor in the development of our community. We sincerely solicit the continuation of that friendly attitude."

Are you a good story teller? Do you consider the story as an important educational tool?

There is power in a well-told story and its qualities are diverse. If it were only for its pure entertainment value, its ability to gain and hold attention, we should cherish it.

A teacher asked a class why did they think that the minister told them the story of the imprint of the dog's paw in the cement floor? And one little boy answered "Well, it kept us quiet." As an educator, do you consider this a low-level value of a story, if so, you must at least concede its validity.

Because it has this attention-holding power, the story is the shortest and and often the most effective way of driving home a point. Of one of the most popular preachers of our times it is said, "He is a master of the use of illustration."

Stories can relieve tensions, in class, on the playground, at home, and many other places. The story can effect a happy relationship between the storyteller and listener. The storyteller parent or teacher here too knows her advantage. There is a special report which results from the enjoyment together of a venture into storyland. Shared wonder, shared thrills, shared insights produce an association that is precious.

You may have tangible wealth untold. Caskets of gold and silver of gold. Richer than I you could never be. I knew someone who told stories to me.

The story can develop the imagination and cultivate a sense of humor. A sense of humor is as important as imagination in the development of a religious personality.

If you would like to be an effective story-teller, please call at the Vance Avenue Branch of the County Library and get a copy of The Storyteller in Religious Education by Jeanette Perkins Brown.

Bodenhamer Says Vandiver Middle Of Road On Bias

United Press International
MOULTRIE, Ga. — Rep. William T. Bodenhamer of Tift County kicked off his campaign for the Georgia governorship Saturday with a charge that his opponent, Lt. Gov. Ernest Vandiver, is a spendthrift with tax money and a "middle of the road" on segregation.

An estimated crowd of 1,500 jammed the Colquhoun County Courthouse lawn to hear Bodenhamer break loose his summer campaign with a charge that Vandiver hired as his "chief aide and chief advisor" Robert H. Jordan, brother of C. L. Jordan, who heads the controversial integrated "Koinonia Farm" near Americus.

Bodenhamer, former executive director of the State Rights Council, laid down a platform of more rural roads, electric and telephone rate reductions, a "middle of the road" income tax, and a firm stand on segregation.

The Tift lawmaker, a Baptist preacher in his south Georgia hometown of Ty Ty, lashed out at the Atlanta newspapers, opponents of the state's county unit system and the bi-racial Koinonia Farm.

The candidate's campaign workers mingled through the crowd, collecting funds for Bodenhamer's "Dollar for Decency" in milk buckets. A barbecue was held after the speech.

Mr. Carroll, husband of Mrs. Samelen White Carroll a teacher at Booker T. Washington high school, died at his residence suddenly, July 3. He had been afflicted with a heart condition a number of years.

Aside from his wife, survivors include two brothers, one in Port Gibson, Miss., and another in Arkansas.

RESCUE OF AMERICANS IS DELAYED

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba. — (UPI) — An unexplained delay in the release of 32 Americans and one Canadian still held by Cuban rebels developed Wednesday.

No helicopter was sent out from the U. S. naval base here because of a scout plane, making its regular run over rebel-held territory, failed to receive a "pick-up" signal from the ground.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Lincoln White said "it is not clear as to what is causing the delay" in freeing 32 U. S. servicemen, two civilians and a Canadian. But he suggested that "conditions of terrain and other factors" might be responsible. He did not elaborate.

The rebels released one more American civilian Tuesday night. He was Raymond Elmore, of Haynesville, La., assistant manager of the Ermita Sugar Mill. He was kidnapped June 26.

U. S. Vice Consul James Wiecha, who has been negotiating with the rebels for the past 10 days, came out with Elmore. He said he would fly back Wednesday to rejoin U. S. Consul Paul Wolkam who is the main American negotiator.

Wiecha declined to talk to newsmen Wednesday and Rear Adm. Robert B. Ellis, commander of the naval base, also maintained silence on the status of negotiations with rebels.

Eugene Gilmore, acting political counselor at the U. S. Embassy in Havana, said before returning to the Cuban capital Tuesday night that "the process would be a slow one." Gilmore flew here early Tuesday for private talks with Ellis and other American diplomats.

Their conference presumably concerned the status of negotiations but no details were made public.

Raul Castro, brother of rebel leader Fidel Castro, said in a letter received here Tuesday night that no definite date had been set for the release of the remaining captives.

Meanwhile, the Cuban government indicated it might resume military operations against the rebels shortly even if the 32 remaining hostages were not released. A communique issued after a meeting between President Fulgencio Batista and the chiefs of the armed forces late Tuesday said a "prudent period of time" had been granted U. S. authorities to negotiate for the release of the men.

Memphian Will Ask Johnny Mathis To Come "South"

BY MELVIN GREER
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (SNS) — Something big and exciting which has been kept hush-hush here for four weeks now has been let out of the bag—or will be at this moment.

Frank Lockhart, Jr., of 1321 Hemlock St., a junior at LeMoine College, is scheduled to meet Pop Singer Johnny Mathis in Las Vegas, Nevada, sometime between July 15 and August 16. Purpose of the confab—with arrangements reportedly to be made by Mathis—is to discuss the singer's first tour of the South.

This seemingly utterly ridiculous piece of news is on the level, too. Lockhart has several letters from contact the singer anytime he desires. He would not reveal the address.

Lockhart and Mathis have been communicating for nearly a month now about the proposed tour which would take the singer into Memphis, Nashville, Atlanta, New Orleans, Birmingham, and other principal Southern cities. Mathis has never toured any further South than St. Louis, Mo.

How did Frank get to know a big singer like Johnny Mathis? It was learned from his sister, Miss Ann Lockhart, that her brother met Mathis by coincidence last summer in Chicago. Ill. where Frank was on vacation. This is probably how Frank found out how to contact the balladeer who, incidentally, receives some 2,000 fan letters a day.

AGAINST SOUTHERN TOUR

—Mrs. Helen Noga, Mathis' discoverer and manager, is reportedly against the Southern tour. Lockhart said that he hopes to persuade Mrs. Noga, who does most of the singer's talking, to change her mind.

Sources close to the singer report that a Mathis tour of the South might be dangerous for the singer in that he has an enormous following here of Negro and white fans, something which might be resented by biased Southern officials. Lockhart hopes to convince the managers that such a trip would be "completely safe."

The meeting with Mathis might be Lockhart's big chance. He says that he has always wanted to go into show business, but so far hasn't received an opportunity. A baritone, he was a torch singer at old St. Augustine High School (Now Father Bertrand) and once was a paid entertainer at Tony's, a Memphis night spot. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Frank Lockhart, Sr., at the Hemlock Lockhart address. Lockhart also has Mathis' address, and says he can comment.

LETTERS AUTHENTIC

The letters are authentic. They're in Johnny's own handwriting, and have the name of his sponsor, John and Helen Noga, on the return address. Lockhart also has Mathis' address, and says he can comment.

Alaska Is Now A State Officially

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — President Eisenhower signed into law Monday, a bill to admit sprawling Alaska as the 49th and largest state in the Union. He promptly chided Congress for not passing similar statehood legislation for Hawaii.

The President, who long has favored statehood for both territories, signed the historic Alaska bill in a simple White House ceremony, with photographers and newsmen recording the event.

He later issued a statement hailing the Alaska legislation but noting that he was "extremely disturbed" over reports that no action is contemplated by the current Congress" on legislation to admit Hawaii.

"I personally believe that Hawaii has qualified for statehood equally with Alaska," he said. "The thousands of loyal, patriotic Americans in Hawaii who suffered the ravages of World War II with us and who experienced the first disastrous attack upon Pearl Harbor must not be forgotten."

After signing the bill, the happy President turned to his special counsel, Gerald Morgan, and commented: "Now we have 49 states."

CATCHES ERROR

But quickly remembering the legal technicalities that must precede the territory's formal admission into the Union, he added hastily, "Maybe we don't... until the plebiscite."

He referred to the fact that the people of sprawling Alaska must hold special elections this fall to ratify the conditions under which their territory will become one of the United States.

But Alaskan Gov. Mike Stepovich predicted that the territory will enter statehood by a margin of 10 to 1 to make Alaska the first state to enter the Union since Arizona was admitted in 1912.

Once the bill was signed into law, President formally advised Stepovich of his action, as required by one of the provisions in the legislation.

"As you start the procedure that will, I hope, result in the admission of Alaska into the Union as a state," he wrote, "you and the people of Alaska have my very best wishes."

Pisa Leans More, May Not Make It Another 300 Years

PISA, Italy (UPI) — The Leaning Tower of Pisa has gone too far, city fathers said Monday. They asked engineers all over the world for help to keep it from toppling.

Scientists Sunday measured the 784-year-old white marble bell tower and determined that during the last 12 months it tilted another 1.5 millimeters—one and a half times the annual rate of lean.

The distance was too small to be noted by the human eye, but year by year it all adds up. Authorities said that at the current rate, the tower would hardly last another 300 years.

Last Rites Held For Miss Pearl Maple Here

Last rites were held here for Miss Pearl Maple, well-known civic and social leader, Wednesday at Emmanuel Episcopal Church, with interment in Mt. Carmel Cemetery.

Miss Maple, who died suddenly at her 1962 Mississippi residence on Saturday, July 5, was born in Pelahatchie, Tennessee. She attended school in Nashville, Tenn., Louisville, Ky., and here in Memphis. She matriculated at LeMoine College for two years.

Miss Maple was active in a number of civic and social organizations. She was a member of the city and state Federation of Women's Clubs, World Fellowship of the YWCA, the Ruth Circle Club, and the J. H. Adams Chapter of the Eastern Star. She was a devout member of the Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Miss Maple was the recipient of numerous honors in her last years. At one citation she was given a plaque of the Lord's Supper.

She is survived by several nephews and nieces, Dr. and Mrs. I. L. Scruggs of Buffalo, New York, Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Delley, Hearne, Texas; Henry Scruggs of Detroit, Mich., a devoted friend, Mrs. Mary D. King of 753 Ayers St., and other relatives and friends.

Rev. Cannon Moore officiated at the funeral services, with S. A. Qualls and Sons Funeral Home in charge.

"YOUR COLUMNIST" is writing to you this week from Chicago, where I am the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. T.R.M. Howard at their Lake Shore Drive apartment. Just before leaving New York, Mrs. Julian Kelso (with whom I went to New York) and I were lavishly entertained by friends, many of them her old acquaintances.

On my last evening here I was guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Irons, who live on the River Drive in New York and who took me to three night spots. The first was the "Little Red Rooster" where we went to a birthday party honoring the former Miss Ezelle Lanier of Memphis. We were thrilled to run into her sister, the former Miss Frances Lanier. Both are married to New Yorkers. We went to three dinner clubs. Courtesies were also extended me at the Air Terminal in New York by Mr. Emile Jones, a former Memphian, whom I was glad to see.

Incidentally may I remind you that the Irons (Juanita, is Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Chandler's sister) were in Memphis lately, enroute to Rio de Janeiro, in Brazil and to Martinique. Emile plans a trip to Europe in October and so does Frances Lanier. Ezelle is just back from Nassau. The people in these parts are really traveling abroad this year. Many that you know Mrs. Kelso cancelled her trip to Puerto Rico because of the unrest and now plans to join her father and his new bride, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Walker, in Los Angeles next week.

On my last day in New York we were guests at a swanky party given at the "Rainbow Room" in Rockefeller Center on the 65th floor, where Mrs. Mollie Alcon entertained again. Inevitably again we were along with Mrs. Stanley Ish Sr. and Mrs. Mildred Anderson of Little Rock. The following morning we attended a TV Show at NBC at the invitation of Mr. Dave Hepburn.

Mrs. Howard, the Howard's darling little 3 year old son and the driver, Willie, were surely a sight I liked as I stepped off an American Airlines plane in a storm with the Howards (he running for congressman in Illinois) I have been lavishly entertained by their wealth of friends. Among those showing me courtesies through the Howards have been Mr. and Mrs. Modest, Atty and Mrs. DeForest Williams, Mr. and Mrs. "Jimmy" Carter who send best regards to Mrs. Nellie Humes, Mr. Roy McFarland (a former Memphian) and Mrs. Murry Marvin, Dr. and Mrs. Johnson and Atty and Mrs. "Bill" Starks where we attended a most fashionable party Saturday evening and the party was every bit of the word fabulous. There I ran into many Memphis friends and greetings to Memphis. Among them were Atty, Marshall Bynum, Atty, "Ted" Coors of Milwaukee, Atty Jesse Mann, and Mr. and Mrs. "Tom" Horton, who are just back from Chile, Argentina, Brazil, Martinique and Guadeloupe.

Beautiful courtesies were also extended me by relatives whom I have not visited for two years or more. Mr. and Mrs. Earle Gentry offered to turn over their beautiful black and white Coupe de Ville during the day and other relatives, Dr. and Mrs. William Moses Jones, their brand new station wagon, and Dr. and Mrs. Chas. Ruiner, old friends.

But it seems that these offers always come when one does not need them and with the Howards I did not. Hello was sent to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Turner, Jr., whose young son, Homer was graduated from the Lab School at the University of Chicago with my 16-year-old cousin, Jean Andre Jones, who is now touring Europe with a student group at the University of Chicago for three months. I was thrilled to know that Jeanie is quite fond of Homer, who will enter Massachusetts Institute and the World's Fair in Belem.

A group left the party at the Starks to go to a Bon Voyage party honoring Miss Lucille Ish, who is the sister of Mrs. Maceo Walker.

Coming in for a month's vacation at their Country Michigan home were Atty and Mrs. A. A. Lattin and their family who will visit with their father, Mr. Jet Ish.

Ghana Embassy Wedding Is Called Off: Claim Conflict

BY RON STEPHENSON

(NOTE TO EDITORS: Mr. Stephenson is a British journalist and this article expresses his own opinions and should not be construed as the opinions of ANP or the papers it serves.)

LONDON—(ANP)—Recently at the Ghana high commissioner's office in fashionable Belgrave square, the wedding of Deputy High Commissioner J. E. Jantuah should have taken place. To the utter surprise and chagrin of the guests, they were told upon arrival that the wedding was postponed.

This marriage should have taken place at St. Marylebone register office but was cancelled because of an objection lodged by Miss Nah-Ah-Pong Thyra Jacobson who flew from Accra to stop the wedding. She claimed that she was married to Mr. Jantuah according to local African custom.

The bride-to-be, Miss Matilda Owasu, a Ghana law student, was dumfounded and since then has not been available for comment.

MARRIAGE HELD UP Enquiries are to be made into the claim by the registrar general's office. In the meanwhile, the marriage cannot take place. Mr. Jantuah stated that while he was formerly engaged to Miss Jacobson, there was no impediment to his marriage under English law, Ghana law or tribal law.

This is the second time within a few months that an African diplomat has been involved in matrimonial tangles in this country. The first was a member of the Nigerian delegation who, a year ago, was even arrested for stealing his fiancée's watch.

The real difficulty seems to be the grafting of two entirely different systems. On the one hand, Africans have their tribal laws and customs which are sacrosanct and different from anything known in European society. Any African, embracing European local standards, is likely while in Europe to disregard his tribal laws and customs, completely forgetting that if and when he returns home he will be subject to those laws from which there is no escape.

The British on the other hand are trying very hard to accommodate these alien rituals in that they endeavour to find a compromise. There is no doubt they will decide after consultation with Ghana, that if Mr. Jantuah is not married by Ghana or tribal law, he may be married here. But, if he is in fact married under either of these laws, he will not be permitted to contract another marriage in England.

Dr. Avery D. Weisman and Thomas P. Hackett of Harvard Medical School based the technique on the psychiatric understanding that human minds maintain their balance by constantly "testing reality." Human minds want to know such things as these: What is responsible for that noise I hear? Am I at home or at the office or in the street? What is going off with the distant talk? Is it day or night?

RISK OF DISTURBANCES When you suddenly deprive the minds of seeing people of the eye-way of "testing reality" you're risking disturbances in their understanding of time and place and what is going on around them. "Black spot delirium" follows. Weisman and Hackett substituted the stomach-way and the nose-way of "testing reality" for this eye-way. They worked with six patients 57 to 86 years old who had had surgery for detached retinas, the removal of cataracts, and similar conditions.

One man had been in Italian army cook in his youth. In his mind this was the most glamorous period of his life. He loved spiced foods and coffee mixed with wine. His "black spot delirium" was dispelled and prevented from returning by the simple "medicine" of the doctor sitting at his bedside, drinking and eating his favorite drink and foods with him, and talking about the dangers and glories of being an army cook.

HAD LIKED GARDENING One woman patient had been an enthusiastic flower gardener all her life. The doctor saw to it there were carnations by her bedside.

Anne Carnes Bartholomew Reveals Wedding Date

MISS ANNE C. BARTHOLOMEW

Announced today is the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Anne Carnes Bartholomew, who will become the bride of Mr. Walter Bernard Harris of Mount Vernon, New York. The couple will pledge their vows in a church ceremony on Saturday evening August 30, in Memphis.

The bride-elect's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Calfrey V. Bartholomew of Memphis. Mr. Harris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Harris of Mount Vernon, New York. Miss Bartholomew is the granddaughter of the late Mrs. Annie Carnes Atkinson and the late Mr. Alfred C. Carnes of Whitehaven, Tennessee. Her paternal grandparents Mrs. Odie Bartholomew and the late Mr. Oscar Bartholomew. Mr. Harris is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gus Cypress and Mr. and Mrs. Saly Harris of Maekimburg, Virginia.

Miss Bartholomew was a former teenage president of the Memphis Chapter of Jack and Jill of America Inc., a member of Zephyr Social Club, F. B. L. A. National Honor Society and Captain of the Cheering Squad prior to her graduation from Hamilton High School.

She was the first Tri-State Defender-Celebrity Girl. She spent two years of her college career at the University of Dubuque, Iowa where she brought honors to her school while serving on the University Forensic Squad, became a member of Zeta Phi Sorority in which she still maintains membership, was freshman representative to the Student Senate, dominant house government representative and was an attemptant to the 1956 Key Queen.

Miss Bartholomew earned her bachelor of Arts Degree from Howard University June 6. While at Howard she was a member of Alpha Chapter, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc. and Kappa Sigma Debatist Society, and United Christian Fellowship.

Mr. Harris is a senior at Howard University where he is majoring in Economics and marketing, and is a member of the Business Club. He traveled extensively in the United States and Foreign Countries while serving four years in the U. S. Air Force.

Hope To Save One Out Of 2 From Cancer Is Revealed

LONDON (UPI)—Advances in cancer research in the United States provide hope that one patient in two will be saved from death by cancer instead of one in three, as at present, a gathering of experts was told Monday.

Dr. John R. Heller, director of the national cancer institute, Bethesda, Md., said in a report to the Seventh International Cancer Congress that the one-in-three rate means 150,000 lives saved annually.

"But with present knowledge and resources we should be able to save one in two, or an additional 75,000 a year," Heller said. "Even the prevention of cancer is not beyond hope of achievement," he added.

Heller made clear, however, that cancer mortality rates will remain staggering until the disease yields its secrets.

If present incidence and mortality rates continued, he said, "We may anticipate that 40 million persons now living will develop cancer during their lifetime and that 26,000,000 of them will die of it."

Two thousand cancer experts from 63 nations were attending the week-long congress. The United States and Britain, where the campaign against cancer is particularly intense, sent more than 500 delegates each. Russia sent 54. A report on U. S. government findings on any possible link between cigarette smoking and cancer will be made to the congress Tuesday by Dr. Harold F. Dorn, chief statistician for the U. S. National Institutes of Health.

giving off their fragrant "reality testing" scent in her blackened world.

Reporting this new scientific know-how through the New England Journal of Medicine, Weisman and Hackett acknowledged that doctors have always known that eye-banded patients need "sympathy" and "support" from them. But that knowledge is too general, they said; it lacks specifications. Find out what appeals to the patient's stomach or his nose of his memories beforehand, they advised, and they make use of whatever it is when "black spot delirium" threatens.

Columbia Nite Club Arson Case Declared Mistrial

COLUMBIA, S. C. — The long drawn-out arson trial of Raymond White, 34-year-old Columbia Negro nite club owner, was no nearer completion this week after a Richland County Sessions Court jury reported they were "hopelessly deadlocked" and a mistrial was ordered.

The jury deliberated four hours before calling it quits late Thursday.

White, operator of the Circle Inn, is charged with arson in the December 1956 burning of the Savoy Club, another Negro nite spot.

Two Fort Jackson soldiers—the chief state witnesses—said White hired them to set fire to the Savoy.

Most of Thursday morning's session was taken up with arguments over a defense motion for a mistrial, based on publication by a newspaper of a story that a defense witness had been arrested for lying in the witness stand shortly after he stepped down.

The article reported that Willie "Snake" Pressley, a witness for the defense, committed perjury when he testified first that he had attended the preliminary hearing in this case, and then under cross examination, stated that he did not know where the pre-trial took place.

Defense Attorney Eugene Rogers had moved for a mistrial in the case on the grounds that the newspaper article was highly prejudicial to the defendant.

Presiding Judge G. Duncan Bellinger, who denied the motion, instructed the jury to disregard the newspaper account, saying that "if it (the witness' testimony) was so obviously false, then the article in the newspaper did not add anything to the opinions of the jurors."

Atty. Rogers, resting his case for the defense, said the jury should not convict White on the testimony of "those two self confessed arsonists." He referred to Ronald Eugene Hughes, 20, and Eddie Harold Jones, 17, who earlier testified that White paid them $200 to burn down the Savoy Club.

Rogers termed the pair like drowning men, "trying to drug Raymond White down with them."

In referring to Pressley's testimony, Rogers said he was "very confused and very mixed up."

Solicitor T. Pou Taylor told the jurors that the defendant is "laughing up his sleeves" at them, and was defended on the stand by witnesses who are "the biggest liars I've ever seen."

Commenting on the testimony of the two youths who admitted setting fire to the nite spot, Taylor said: "If the truth hasn't come from their lips, I've never heard the truth come from that witness stand."

Judge Bellinger, in his charge to the jury, noted that accessory before the fact of arson, with which White is charged, can bring from not less than two years to not more than 20 years imprisonment.

La. Paper Says "Pay To Register" Report Erroneous

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—The News Leader, local Negro weekly, said last week that a news story which said the "First Ward League, Inc. would pay $15 to every Negro registering before the books closed for congressional primaries," was erroneous.

The account in the Leaders aroused the wrath of the Louisiana legislature, which reached with a bill extending the state law banning buying of votes to include vote registration.

The Leader's managing editor, Leslie Barnum announced, "We aren't sponsoring it, we merely carried the announcement. Of course we are sympathetic with their desire for more voters."

Later a front-page announcement said the first report was "erroneous," that the newspaper learned every new voter would be eligible to participate in a drawing for $15 sponsored by the organization.

Legal Action Seeks Marshall's Return To Arkansas Inquiry

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Atty. Thurgood Marshall, New York chief counsel for the NAACP, is the subject of legal action, instituted by Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett last Wednesday.

Bennett wants to have Marshall appear in court to answer questions about activities of the NAACP especially the organization's Legal Defense fund.

Several months ago, Bennett filed suit in a state court for an injunction to prevent the NAACP and the fund from practicing law as corporations in the state of Arkansas. The suit is still pending.

RANDOLPH EXPLAINS WHY HE'S FOR CONG. POWELL

NEW YORK — (AP) — A Philip Randolph, international president, Brotherhood of Sleeping Car porters and AFL-CIO vice president, made it clear last week that he is behind Representative Adam Clayton Powell 100 per cent.

Powell is running for re-election to Congress from Harlem's 16th district, on an independent ticket with the support of the Republican party. He was dumped by Tammany Hall recently in favor of New York City councilman Earl Brown.

In a pamphlet circulated through out the country, Randolph, who is also chairman of the Independent People's committee for Powell, listed his reasons for breaking the congressman.

He said: "In this hour of crisis of the Civil Rights Revolution any citizen who offers himself to a Negro community for election to public office should be faced with the question: 'What is his record in the struggle for civil rights?'"

"If he has a bad record, he ought to be ignored."

"If he has a good record, he ought to be considered."

Upon a basis of this test which about the bid of Congressman Powell for reelection?

In terms of his record in the Congress, I propose to support and vote for him for the following reasons:

- (1) He has waged a courageous, consistent, continuous, intelligent, and honest fight for civil rights in and out of Congress.
- (2) He was Congressman Powell who attached an amendment to the school construction bills to deny federal funds ed his reasons for breaking the congressman.

In choosing Miss Ward and her Ward Singers as the top gospel group of the country, the Special Citizens Voluntary Committee of Abyssinian Baptist and New York City said: "We based our selection solely on the fact that in the midst of a changing world, where rock and roll has taken its toll of youngsters and adults, the Ward Singers have given something to God's music and to His gospel that has echoed around the world."

Columbus Police Change Brutality Hearing Rules

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Rev. L. L. Dickerson, president, Columbus NAACP, announced last week that the branch has scored a signal victory when the Columbus Police department changed its rules governing brutality hearings.

For several years the branch has been working on the matter of alleged brutality and has come to an impasse when police officers refused to permit a person filing a charge of alleged brutality to be accompanied by a lawyer.

Early last month the Columbus NAACP suggested six changes in police department procedures. Police officials announced that complainants may now be accompanied by a lawyer, invitations sent a person to appear at Police Headquarters will be delivered by mail of by a plain clothes officer in an unmarked car when time is to be saved, and the officer against whom the complaint is being filed, is not to be present at the time of the filing of the original complaint. Among suggestions rejected was one calling for the establishment of an independent hearing board to handle cases of police brutality.

Dickerson said, "We are glad for these changes, we now have more certain footing for our work in this area."

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. — (AP)—Faced with the prospect of having to either admit 31 Negro children—to previously all-white schools in the fall, the city school board has been working out an assignment policy which it hopes will exclude the applicants from the schools for reasons other than race or color.

Police Net Ex-Con, Cache In Flat Raid

CHICAGO (AP)—The narcotics bureau squad had rewarding results when it raided last week the apartment of an ex-convict, Richard Burke, 33.

The squad uncovered heroin valued at $100,000 in the pantry of Burke's flat. The drug was in eight 20-ounce packets, which could be "cut" to bring about $5,000 an ounce in the trade. It was found hidden in cereal and spice boxes.

Burke, released from Stateville penitentiary in 1956, after serving two years for the sale of narcotics, refused to tell where he had gotten the heroin.

"I didn't squeal the last time," he said, "and I'm not going to this time."

Police made the raid after receiving an anonymous call that a large quantity of dope could be found in Burke's apartment.

The motion-picture industry makes films available for school-room and general educational use.

This is a program now in its 13th year and during this period more than 600 motion pictures have been selected by committees of educators in almost every field of teaching.

It is a program administered by teaching film custodians and one nonprofit affiliate of the Motion Picture Association. Many of the country's distinguished educators are on its board of directors, and industry leaders of the motion-picture industry work hand in hand.

The major producing companies, without financial returns, set up preview facilities for committees of educators with 16-millimeter prints of the picture selected and then distribute the prints to the 16-millimeter film libraries maintained throughout the country.

MANY PRINTS DISTRIBUTED

Some idea of the extent of this program is evident when it is realized that more than 75,000 different prints have been prepared and distributed.

In the series are crime prevention films.

Beginning more than 15 years ago, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer produced a series of dramatized incidents proving that crime doesn't pay.

Some of these incidents relate to serious crime like arson, armed robbery, and murder. Some have to do with racketeering which milks the public, such as dishonest charity solicitations, and such civilian practices as smuggling.

These pictures have very wide distribution in theatres throughout the United States. The crime prevention bureaus in several states have availed themselves of these pictures on 16-millimeter film for use in juvenile courts and elsewhere after the theatrical distribution has been completed.

Contract awards for future construction set a new national record in May and pointed to reversal of the recession.

The board is under federal court order to end segregation in public schools with the beginning of the fall term. At the same time, it is faced with a state law that will automatically close any school that is integrated. The applications of 31 Negro pupils have been pending several weeks, while the board has been frantically seeking a way out.

DEPENDS ON COURT TESTS

This plan on which the board is working and is based on the hope that the assignment policy holds up under court tests. Should it fall, then public schools will be closed and perhaps private and segregated, neighborhood schools, sponsored by small groups of white parents, will come into being.

There are three major divisions in the practical application of the assignment policy.

First all applications of the Negro pupils will be screened on individual basis as to proper scholastic standards, residence requirements and similar points. This first line of resistance is expected to weed out many of the applicants.

For those who pass the initial phase, there will be a re-screening to see if their acceptance would be in the interests of the individual children, as well as that of the entire community.

LAST STEP "TRICKY"

Finally, should these tactics fail, the board will, as its last defense, use factors other than race or color, on which the children might be eliminated. An important point here is that the board must be prepared to defend itself to the point where the federal courts will be left "holding the bag" on deciding if the children should be admitted or not. If the court so decided in favor of the child or children, the decision must also embrace that of the specific school to which the individual child desires admission.

Leontyne Sings At Covent Gardens

By RUDOLPH DUNBAR

LONDON (AP)—American soprano Leontyne Price, whose only previous appearance in London was in "Porgy and Bess" at the Stoll Theatre in 1952, was called in to replace Anita Corquetti, world famous Italian soprano in the title role in "Aida" at Covent Garden last week.

Miss Price, 30, appeared at the Garden July 2, after Miss Corquetti became ill.

Miss Price has been singing "Aida" in Vienna, and she will appear at the Verona Festival in Italy later this month.

Miss Price is not the first lady of color to sing at the famous festival. Matilda Dobbs sang there several times with glittering achievements. But for a colored lady to have been chosen to sing at the Covent Garden, in the place of such a diva as Anita Corquetti, must be considered a golden opportunity for the American singer.

Sunday School Lesson

SOCIAL JUSTICE AND THE GOSPEL

International Sunday School Lesson for July 13, 1958.

MEMORY SELECTION: "Whatever you wish that men would do to you, do so to them; for this is the law and the prophets." (Matthew 7:12.)

LESSON TEXT: Matthew 5: 13-48; 23: 23-26.

Today's lesson shows that Christianity is more than mere external obedience to laws. Since it is based on justice and love, our motives and attitudes are of prime consideration.

In last Sunday's lesson we saw that justice has been one of the persistent themes of the Christian religion. Throughout the Scriptures-- both Old and New Testaments-- we find many passages that deal with the subject of justice. It is no exaggeration to say that justice is a basic concern of the Christian religion.

Today we want to examine the views of Jesus as they related to justice. We must ask ourselves, was this, for him, too, a primary concern? How did Jesus interpret the idea of social justice? Are his ideas about justice still important to us today? Will they help us to eliminate the injustice so rife in the world today?

The Scripture passages from the fifth chapter of Matthew constitute part of the Sermon on the Mount. This wonderful Sermon has been called by many the "rules of the Kingdom of God." It furnishes the standards by which man is to live.

The Sermon is concerned with personal relations. It deals chiefly with everyday relations between one person and another. It does not deal with the problems which beset our social institutions, and therefore this would seem to indicate that these problems are to be solved at the personal level.

LITERAL INTERPRETATION

In Jesus' day people were inclined to a very literal interpretation of the laws in their application to living. "An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth" was their conception of justice. But this law of retaliation, after all, was at least an effort on their part to achieve justice. Jesus, however, strove to set this law, and many others, aside, and to give a deeper meaning and purpose to these laws than just the literal words. "46 For if you love those who love you, what reward have you? Do not even the tax collectors do the same? 47 And if you salute your brethren only, what more are you doing than others? Do not even the Gentiles do the same?"

Some of the words of Jesus in the Sermon on the Mount did not accept the common interpretation of the law. His interpretations of the real meanings of the laws were radical to those who listened at that time, but Jesus sought to simplify the principles that gave rise to the original commandments. Jesus charged us to have a concern for our fellow men, loving them, and doing the best we can for them not because we would have anything to gain from them in return, but because universal love of one's fellows was true Christianity in its purest form. A Christian must, necessarily, being a Christian, take the view that God created the world not for a favored few, but for all men.

Therefore a true Christian, while vitally concerned with worship and the reverence of God, may not rest in peace as long as there is crime, delinquency, mental or physical illness, or men and women who have old beyond the years of usefulness who are going uncared for.

During the year, Miss Mayberry represented Section B of the NHA at the President's conference on Citizenship in Washington, D. C., and worked with the NHA Executive Council at Washington, as well as serving as president of her state NHA organization.

Disparity Noted In Methodist Pastor Salaries

CHICAGO — (ANP) — A disparity in salaries paid Negro and white pastors of the Methodist denomination was noted in a report appearing in the June issue of the New Christian Advocate, professional journal for pastors put out by the Methodist Publishing house.

The report said that the average Methodist pastor's (white) salary in five jurisdictions of the church is $4,733. That for the Central (Negro) jurisdiction, is $2,331.

Of the 81 white conferences, 17 now have reached an average of better than $5.00. For the Central jurisdiction, the averages range from $1,396 in the Central Alabama conference to $3,266 in the Delaware conference.

The report was prepared for a special 70-member commission now studying the denomination's jurisdictional system.

MRA Conference Said Answer To "Little Rock"

CAUX-SUR-MONTREUX, Switzerland—The Moral Re-Armament Summit Conference here will feature especially prominent delegations from the Middle East and Africa as well as Europe, according to an address by Dr. Frank Buchman which keynoted the opening of this year's conference.

In a speech which was read to the representatives of five continents by Senator Kurt Schloch, last year's President of the Swiss Senate, Dr. Buchman said, "Caux opens this year with the inspired vision of Chancellor Adenauer who wrote to me: 'Europe must unite. Otherwise peace cannot be maintained. You must give this your personal attention.'"

"The Middle East awaits the open hand and heart of the West," Buchman continued. "I greet those from the Middle East. Fifteen Arab rulers cabled me they were anxious to be in Caux this summer. They said, 'Here in your London home we have met friendship never experienced.'"

Dealing with the issues in the Far East that affect Europe, Buchman said that "a new statesmanship" in Holland was finding a response in Indonesia. He affirmed that the Philippines would have a large part in answering Communism and uniting the free nations of Asia. He recalled the phone call of President Garcia of the Philippines a few hours after he reached Washington two weeks ago, in which the Philippine President thanked Moral Re-Armament for the answer it was bringing in Asia.

The MRA initiator, who is himself at Mackinac Island, Michigan, mentioned the global impact of the of the current sessions of the MRA Summit Conference there and the enthusiastic response of Washington to the MRA ideological plays being presented there now. He said that a high government official had written him saying, "This is what we must all work for. It is the answer to Little Rock."

3 Get Indeterminate Terms For Knifings

BOSTON (ANP)—Three Negroes from St. Matthews, S. C., working at Suffolk Downs race track as stable hands, were sentenced to indeterminate terms at Concord reformatory in Superior court last week.

They had pleaded guilty and been convicted of stabbing two white brothers at a branch resort last May 17. The victims were James E. 18, and Roger Salvage, 23.

The assailants were Thomas L. Shelton and Harry Green, both 21; and Otis Joyner, 23. According to police, the three Negroes jostled a white woman on a sidewalk, and two brothers, remonstrated with them. This led to the knifing.

Convict Ex-Realtor Of Larceny Count

DETROIT (ANP)—Worshard Riggins, 55-year-old former east-side real estate broker, was placed on three years' probation with the first six months in the House of Correction last week after pleading guilty to larceny by conversion.

Police said Mrs. Elizabeth Evans, 29, gave Riggins a $300 cash deposit last Oct. 19, to apply on the purchase of a home.

Later Riggins informed Mrs. Evans that the owner had withdrawn the house from the market and he would refund her money.

On Dec. 12, Riggins gave Mrs. Evans a check in the amount of $300, but the check returned from the bank marked "not sufficient funds."

Mrs. Evans said she has tried on numerous occasions without success to collect the deposit given to Riggins.

Further investigation disclosed that Riggins operated as a real estate broker from 1951 to 1957, when

Court Slow, So Father Skipped Support Payments, He Claims

WASHINGTON, D. C. (NNPA) — A father Thursday told District Juvenile Court he skipped support payments for his two children because the court was slow in catching up with him.

Judge Austin L. Fickling, substituting for Juvenile Judge Orman W. Ketcham, said: "You took care of your creditors before these children."

"I know if I didn't they'd get me," said the man. "I had four garnishments last year. I was worried about the court payments but I know the court could get me."

A court probation officer recommended letting the man off with $40 cash payment on more than $700 arrears.

He was only one of four defaulting fathers given jail sentences Thursday. Another, in arrears $495, was told to pay $350 immediately or go to jail for 120 days.

Still another was saved a jail sentence because his employer had arranged to assign $10 each week from his wages to the court for support of his children, until he makes up $271 in arrears.

A probation officer suggested cancellation of at least $100 of the Industrial Union Fights Court Nullification Bill

WASHINGTON (ANP)—The Industrial Union Department of the AFL-CIO is protesting bill H. R. 3, now before the House of Representatives. The Union says the bill made into law, "would wipe out or nullify past Supreme court decisions."

The Union secretary in urging the congressmen to defeat the bill pointed out that "the only fields that would remain unaffected by passage of this bill are those where sole federal jurisdictions is specifically spelled out in the Constitution."

Carey said that the bill be also be "used to restrict or destroy collective bargaining, organizing and virtually all other legitimate union activity."

"IT UPSETS ME"—Jackie Robinson, filling on NAACP speaking engagement in Houston, Tex., Saturday night, said the abuse suffered by Vice President Richard Nixon in South America last month "stemmed from the way colored people are treated here." Robinson, who poses here with little Michael Sweet, was the guest speaker during an NAACP Freedom Fund banquet. He said he was upset over the recent decision by Federal District Judge Harry J. Lemley suspending integration in Little Rock, Ark., public schools until 1961. "It's that kind of thing that really upsets me when I hear people say that colored people should be patient," the athlete said. (NNPA)

 - Blessed is she who scours and scrubs; for well she knows that cleanliness is one expression of Godliness.
 - Blessed is she whom children love; for the love of a child is more to be valued than fortune or fame.
 - Blessed is she who sings at her work; for music lightens the heaviest load and brightens the dullest chore.
 - Blessed is she who dusts away doubt and fear and sweeps out the cob-webs of confusion; for her faith will triumph over all adversity.
 - Blessed is she who serves laughter and smiles with every meal; for her buoyancy of spirit is an aid to mental and physical digestion.
 - Blessed is she who preserves the sanctity of the home; for hers is a sacred trust that crowns her with dignity.

Dear Eleanor, We have moved into a new neighborhood and are going to have a housewarming. Should we invite neighbors whom we haven't met yet?

Mrs. L. of Macon
Answer: Invite only your friends. You should wait for your neighbors to call upon you before extending them any invitations.

Dear Eleanor, Is it ok for a party of all girls or all boys in their middle teens to be given in the home of one of them in the evening without the parents or some other older person actually being in the house during the whole period?

—Anne
Answer: A chaperone is needed only in mixed groups, under the circumstances. Young people need the support, however, of their parents in such social activities and parents should not fail to appear at some time during the evening to greet the guests and lend the feeling of family solidarity.

COOK WITH CARNATION for ground beef that stays juicy, never crumbles!

Exciting New Cheeseburger Recipe:
CARNATION BUNBURGERS
(Makes 6 servings)

1/2 cup (small can) undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK	1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 egg	1/2 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 pounds ground beef	1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 cup fine cracker crumbs	1/2 cup finely chopped onion
	1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper

- Blend all ingredients together until well-mixed. Form meat mixture into 12 thin patties (about 1/2 cup each). Place each patty on hamburger bun half, covering completely. Place Bunburgers on broiler pan.
- Broil 5-7 inches from heat for 5 to 7 minutes (or to your family's taste). Top each Bunburger with a cheese slice. Broil until cheese bubbles (1 to 2 minutes). Serve with potato chips and relishes.

Richer coffee flavor, too, with Carnation Evaporated Milk!

Carnation in the Red and White Can has twice the richness of ordinary milk. No other form of milk will do. So when you fix ground beef the better Carnation way, it keeps moist, firm and tender - whether baked, broiled or pan fried. Try it in this wonderful new kind of cheeseburgers.

Recipes on the Labels!
Every Carnation label has a good, tested recipe your family will enjoy. Look for them!

Help For Premature Infants

The science of dietetics, like many other sciences, has made great strides in a comparatively short period of time. A vast literature of new knowledge and information has been gained.

A fresh testimonial to meat's worth in dealing with specific health problems appears in the June edition of the Journal of Diseases of Children, an American Medical Association publication.

This dietary supplement, given within two to four weeks after birth, has particular value in increasing red cell volume and circulating hemoglobin mass and building iron reserves.

The right diet is one of the most potent of medicines.

A Man-Made Miracle

The Salk vaccine is a modern miracle—for those who use it. But for the Salk vaccine, thousands of men, women and children now walking, running, playing and working would be in hospitals and treatment centers trying desperately to regain the use of ruined arms and legs.

Actually, there is nothing miraculous about the miracle of the Salk vaccine. The vaccine introduces into the blood stream tiny doses of polio virus so weakened that it can no longer cause paralysis.

The miracle of the Salk vaccine is a man-made miracle. It was made by men who delved deeply into nature's mysteries to find out what caused polio, and then used nature's own protective forces to combat the crippling so often caused by the disease.

Take advantage of this modern miracle. Get your polio shots now.

School Board In Vague Suit Reply

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—The Durham board of education waited until virtually the deadline for filing and then answered a federal integration suit of two Durham Negro women who sought to enter their daughters in white schools, with a vague reply.

The mothers filed the suit last month. Besides asking admission for their children, they requested a declaratory judgment that racial segregation on the basis of color is unconstitutional, and asked a permanent and total racial segregation in North Carolina.

In the reply, filed in U. S. Middle district court more than a week ago, the Board of Education skirted the issue by saying that the mothers had not stated a claim or cause for which relief could be granted.

The board's main contention, however, was that the plaintiffs had not exhausted administrative remedies available under the state's Pearsall Plan.

JAMES KEENE'S powerful new novel JUSTICE, MY BROTHER!

CHAPTER 17 AFTER SUPPER I helped Julie Hageman with the dishes, then the two of us went out to sit on the front porch and test the cool night breeze.

"That sure paints me a prime jackass," I said. If I sounded bitter it was because I was. No man likes to be reminded that he's second best all the time, not even to his own brother.

"When I got up and stepped past her, she said, "Looks like I've said too much."

"It's been plenty."

Her hand came out and held me. "Smoke, I'm sorry. But you wanted the truth, didn't you? The truth or a lie? What was the difference? The impulse hit me and I reached for her, not easy like I'd always figured on doing, but rough, a man's way when he is determined to take what he wants and all her hollering be damned. She came to her feet and against me hard enough to jar some of the breath from her. Then I had her locked tight in my arms and was kissing her, not gently, but with enough stored-up passion to let her know size wasn't a handicap.

"When I turned her loose, she stood there looking a little bewildered. I had the wind up then and really spouted off. "Is that what you want? A lot of bruises that you can admire in front of your mirror after a buggy ride? Hell, boy, I don't have to go to Cord if that's what you're after."

"When you love me, you give me the power to hurt you. I never wanted that power, but you forced it on me."

"That's all right," I told her. "I'll take the chance."

"It's not all right!" Her sharpness came as a surprise, then she made her voice soft again. "I wish I could say that I love you, Smoke, but I don't think you'd want me to say it if I wasn't sure."

"I guess it's Cord you love," I said. "It sort of figures."

"Love him? I don't think so. Yet there's an excitement about him that I've never found in another man. He's like a wild horse, Smoke. Very handsome and very dangerous and there's always that challenge there, asking you to try and tame him. You may know that others have tried and failed, but pride, being what it is, convinces you that you might be the one to succeed."

She looked at me, then reached out for my hand. "Smoke, I don't love him. I'm just—fascinated by him."

"I guess that settles that," I said. "I sure ain't very fascinating."

"You aren't your own man either," she said bluntly. "If you want to know the truth, no woman could take you seriously because if you said something today, there's no guarantee that to-

Tennessee Gov. Discounts Tale Of Ga. Brutality

BENTON, Tenn. (UPI) — State officials Tuesday discounted the claims of a former Pennsylvania policeman who said his family was mistreated and illegally held in Polk County, Tenn.

Gov. Frank Clement's press secretary, Howard Anderson, said a preliminary investigation showed that Maurice E. Sherman's wife, son, daughter-in-law, and two grandchildren "were not ill or harshly treated."

Sherman, 67, of McClellsburg, Pa., charged that his family was arrested in Oakman, Ga., June 22, and taken illegally to Benton, Tenn., where the women were stripped, searched and held overnight.

He branded Polk County Sheriff Bud Payne's rebuttal "lies" and said the sheriff, in trying to defend his actions, "warped the whole picture out of proportion."

Payne said the Sherman family was arrested because the women fitted the description of two robbery suspects wanted in Polk County.

He said the family waived extradition and was taken to Benton where they were permitted to use the jailer's apartment and were treated "with utmost kindness."

The state, after a preliminary investigation, backed Payne's story and said it found nothing to corroborate Sherman's charges. The investigation will continue.

Sherman wrote letters to Clement and Georgia Gov. Marvin Griffin demanding action. Gov. Griffin declined to comment on the case.

Sherman said he planned to file suit against Polk County but would first wait on any action by the governors.
