ELECTION RESULTS SEEN AIDING CIVIL RIGHTS

Possibility Of Securing Rule Against Filibuster

NEW YORK — The results of the elections, viewed as a whole, are encouraging to the advocates of civil rights and "may enhance the possibility of securing an effective anti-filibuster rule in the Senate at the opening of the 86th Congress," Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive secretary, said here in a post-election statement.

The NAACP leader also indicated that "the chances of rejecting proposals to curb the Supreme Court may have been improved" as a result of the election inasmuch as some of the strongest advocates of such legislation will not be returning to Congress.

The text of Mr. Wilkins' statement follows:

"The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is heartened by the election results which it views on the whole as a triumph for liberalism and an affirmation of civil rights. There is regret for the loss of Governor Averell Harriman who has been in the forefront of the fight for civil rights in the councils of the national Democratic party. But the election of Nelson Rockefeller places in Albany a man who, in his own right, as well as by family (Continued on Page Six)

Sentenced To Serve Six Months, Pay $500 Fine

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (SNS) — John Kasper, who only recently was released from Federal prison for violent segregationist activities, Saturday found himself again facing jail for more of the same.

An all-male, all-white jury found him guilty of anti-integration crimes under the charge of "inciting to riot." He was sentenced to serve six months in the workhouse and to pay a $500 fine. Kasper, who occasionally smiled at the prosecution attorney's remarks during the closing hours of the trial, jumped to his feet when the verdict was announced, shouting: "No, no." His counsel, a defrocked former Chattanooga judge, said sentence would be appealed.

CALLED "SUPREME EGOIST"

The case against Segregationist Kasper was summed up by Assistant District Attorney Reeder B. Parker, Jr., who called Kasper a "supreme egoist" who lit the fuse of an already tense situation. Parker called Kasper a "self-styled savior of the South from New Jersey." The prosecutor said Kasper came to Nashville because he was "a supreme egoist like Adolf Hitler in the embryo stages and also to feather his own nest."

Kasper's prediction of violence if schools were integrated here was referred to by the prosecutor. "Notice this time table," Parker said. "First the Kasper speech on Capitol Hill. Then the Fehr school disorders. Then lo and behold it came to pass at Hattie Cotton" (Hattie Cotton School was dynamited in September, 1957).

"I'm sorry it's only a misdemeanor," continued Parker. "A man can get more (time) for stealing a good-sized hog." The prosecutor said Kasper had done more to promote the cause of communism in this country than have the Communists.

13 Escape Injury, But Left Homeless After Raging Fire

Thirteen persons were left homeless by a flash fire which completely destroyed their four-room frame house at 1464 Menninger Ave. Thursday evening. Left homeless were the two families who occupied the house. They were: Isaiah Stovall, Sr., 35, his wife, Mary Elizabeth, and their three children, Isaiah, Jr., 15, Willie James, 12, and Eugene, 10. Also Foyice Clark, Sr., his wife, Lillie Mae, and their six children, James, 7, Ruby Gladys, 4, Margaret, 2, Foyice, Jr., 1, and Denn's and Derwin, twins, five-month-old twins.

Mrs. Clark said she believed the blaze started from a gas cook stove, which apparently ignited some loose wall paper. She said that she had lighted the oven of the stove to heat the kitchen.

She said, "It happened so fast she and her husband barely escaped with the children" when the flames enveloped the entire house. The blaze had gutted the house when firemen arrived.

Mrs. Stovall said the house was owned by Mrs. Nellie Mitchell of Youngstown, Ohio. Mrs. Stovall said she didn't believe that the house was insured. They were given temporary shelter by nearby neighbors.

KNOW YOUR LIBRARY

by MAUDEAN THOMPSON SEWARD

What can Shakespeare, the greatest poet and dramatist in the English language, tell us about man and his relation to God's moral order? Here this question is answered as eight masterpieces of the theater are explored in light of the universal moral problems they dramatize. Dr. Howse has drawn together the important Shakespearean criticism and comment and has directed this toward one end: the illumination of human nature and moral responsibility which each of these eight plays presents. In the tragedies of Hamlet, Othello, Macbeth, King Lear, Richard III, and Julius Caesar, Dr. Howse points out the tianic conceptions of the nature of life, the complexities of character — and the eternal conflict between good and evil. In the Merchant of Venice and The Tempest he shows the enrichment of human sympathy and stimulation to moral nature to be drawn from these plays — and their invitation to independent judgment on the greatest issues of life.

"Spiritual Values In Shakespeare" is rich in values for sermons, talks, collateral reading, for ministers, teachers, students — all readers of Shakespeare. It brings a better understanding of eight great plays — and also a deeper insight into the moral qualities reflected in the works of the world's greatest dramatist. Great literature and the spiritual values are subjects which have long claimed the attention of Dr. Ernest Marshall Howse, the author of our book this week. Get "Spiritual Values In Shakespeare" by Dr. Ernest Marshall Howse at the library today and read it.

Memphis Lad Has Zip Gun; 5 Men Arrested

Local police came in contact with something new for Memphis — a teenager with a zip gun, usually associated with delinquent juveniles in big northern cities.

Reportedly police found the zip-gun, hand-made, in possession of a 16-year-old lad who had been brandishing in a Harlem House lunch counter at 701 S. Lauderdale St., last Thursday.

Police reported they confiscated the gun and sent the lad to juvenile court on charges of "carrying a pistol, affray and assault and battery."

In court, L. E. C. Swain displayed the homemade gun, which the lad had when he engaged in an argument with five men who were in the Harlem House at the same time.

Only one of the men, Willie Starnes, 22, of 729 Mississippi Blvd., was fined $26 on a disorderly conduct charge in connection with the argument. The other four men were dismissed.

Ghana Banquet To Honor Abbott

CHICAGO, Ill. — Honorable J. E. Jantzen, head of the Ghana Mission to the United Nations, will be the principal speaker at a banquet celebrating the 88th anniversary of the late Robert S. Abbott, newspaper publisher, on Monday evening, November 24, at the Wabash Y.M.C.A.

The affair is under the auspices of the Afro-American Heritage Association's Committee on African Affairs chaired by Mrs. Christine Johnson.

They blamed the Democratic sweep on the recession, weak or divided party organization, and the political power of organized labor. Some talked of the need for more personable, colorful and aggressive candidates.

The Democratic victory will produce a sharp increase in Democratic voting margins on congressional committees. In the 85th Congress, the Democrats controlled Senate committees by a one-vote margin and House committees by a four-vote spread.

In the next Congress, the Democratic margin will be at least three votes on Senate committees and 8 to 10 votes on House committees. On some of these committees, the entire top echelon of Republicans has been wiped out.

solon Seeks Ban Of Non Whites In Great Britain LONDON (AP)—A British legislator last week pressed the government for a ban on all non-white immigrants.

Cyril Osborne told the House of Commons it is time someone spoke up for the white man who lives in this country.

He charged that colored immigrants had stimulated the unemployment problem in this country, introduced diseases such as leprosy and tuberculosis, taken a big hand in organized prostitution and drug-peddling, and "turned many old Victorian houses into slums."

"If no control is put on" Osborne told the House, "I am dreadfully afraid we shall have Little Rocks and Notting Hills over and over again."

No government spokesman took up Osborne's charges.

GOP Faced With New Leaders For 86th Congress

By WARREN DUFFEE WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower will have to depend on a new set of congressional leaders—some of them relatively inexperienced—to guide the fight for the Republican Party in the heavily Democratic 86th Congress.

GOP forces in Congress, reduced to their lowest numerical strength since New Deal days, were stripped of more than one-third of their leaders through deaths, retirements and election defeats.

The most notable among the missing will be Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland, who quit the Senate to make an unsuccessful race for governor of California. Senate GOP Whip Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) was expected to succeed him.

Dirksen, a man of conservative bent who was once a follower of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio), has been a consistent supporter of the President's programs. He first came to the Senate in 1951 after 16 years of service in the House.

HOUSE WHIPS REMAIN In the House, both GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (Mass.) and Whip Leslie C. Arends (Ill.) will be on hand. But 10 of 19 standing House committees will have new ranking Republicans, many of whom have considerably less experience than their predecessors.

In the Senate, the top Republican on five of the 15 standing committees will not be present when Congress reconvenes in January. In both Houses, the wholesale defeat of Republicans will reduce their numerical strength on committees.

Committee leadership is important because all legislation is framed in committees and most issues are settled there.

Surveying the wreckage of their party, GOP leaders were convinced of the need for an agonizing reappraisal of their party's organization and campaign tactics.

Several causes of defeat They blamed the Democratic sweep on the recession, weak or divided party organization, and the political power of organized labor. Some talked of the need for more personable, colorful and aggressive candidates.

The Democratic victory will produce a sharp increase in Democratic voting margins on congressional committees. In the 85th Congress, the Democrats controlled Senate committees by a one-vote margin and House committees by a four-vote spread.

IN THE NATION'S CAPITOL

By LOUIS LAUTIER, For NNPA and Atlanta Daily World

Independence Aspirations

The United States, as every school boy knows, grew out of the revolution of the thirteen American colonies against the British Crown. This country, therefore, is expected to support the aspirations of colonists for self-government and Independence.

In the case of the Philippines, the United States willingly gave the islands their independence, after 48 years of American rule. On July 4, 1946, the independent Republic of the Philippines was proclaimed and former President Truman formally recognized the islands as a separate and self-governing nation.

But the United States has not always been on the side of the colonies. There have been times when it appeared that this country was supporting the colonial powers against people who were fighting for independence and self-government.

Significantly, in the United Nations General Assembly Thursday, the United States voted for the resolution which accused the Union of South Africa of having broken its pledge under the United Nations Charter by espousing segregation.

OBLIGATION OF NATION with four abstentions, cited the resolution, adopted, 70 to 6, obligation of member nations to promote human rights "without distinction as to race, sex, language or religion."

The United States has abstained from voting on similar resolutions in the last six sessions of the General Assembly.

The five colonial powers — Australia, Belgium, France, Portugal and Great Britain — voted against the resolution. The Dominican Republic, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and Spain abstained from voting. South Africa abstained itself from the debate and voting.

The United States, by joining in the rebuke to South Africa, showed a growing realization of the importance of colored peoples, especially those of Africa and Asia, to the free world.

Joseph C. Satterthwaite, Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs, recently discussed the question of what should be United States policy toward the diverse independent territories now emerging toward varying forms of self-government and aspiring for independence.

"Having long recognized the traditional colonialism 'is coming to an end,'" he said, "the United States supports the principle of orderly transition to self-government and eventual self-determination in the interests of all parties and peoples involved."

"The speed of this evolution, we believe, should be determined by the capacity of the African popu-

Former Atlantan Elected Chicago Sanitary Trustee

CHICAGO—(NNPA)—The Democratic sweep of state and local officers in the election Tuesday resulted in Christopher C. Wimshis, a lawyer and former Atlantan, becoming a Sanitary District Trustee.

He was one of three Democrats elected to the Sanitary District, long a Republican stronghold. The election of three new Democratic members makes the lineup now 6 to 3 in favor of the Democrats.

Among the three Republicans who were defeated was Dr. J. B. Martin, a board member since 1946.

Edward W. Snead was reelected a County Commissioner of Cook County. The Democrats made a clean sweep of the 10 county commissioner places. Jesse Owens, famous track star, running on the Republican slate, was defeated.

the Sudan to the north, Uganda to the east, and the other African countries which are headed toward independence. Africans in the Belgian Congo also will demand independence and self-government.

It is not the "moderate" African leaders who are demanding independence and self-government. It is the militant African leaders. Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah was no "moderate" African. The British jailed him for sedition, but let him out of jail to form a government.

In the last two years, four new states have come into being in Africa, the Sudan, Morocco, Tunisia, and Ghana. The United Nations has set 1960 as the date for the independence of Somalia (formerly Italian Somaliland), Nigeria and Sierra Leone in West Africa, and Nyasaland in Central Africa, and Uganda in East Africa are progressing steadily toward self-government.

The United States should develop a program to assist the newly independent states of Africa to become strong and work out their own destinies without outside interference.

Southern Jaguar Cats Trample Tenn. State In Mud, 23 To 14

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Southern University Jaguar Cats handed Tennessee State's big Blues a 23-14 spanking before 5,000 rain-soaked unbelieving fans. This was Coach Edward C. Gentry's second loss of the season and the first Tiger defeat on home grounds in eight years.

5,000 See Big Blues Lose Third Home Game During Past 8 Years

With 6:05 til intermission, Lancaster's toed a 3-pointer from 15 yards out to lead the Tigers 9-7 at halftime.

Catching fire in the third period, Gentry-coached Sam Bowen, 190, sophomore halfback, parsed and ran Tennessee back into the ball game.

Bowen passed and Billy Bentley ran, moving the ball to Southern's 17. Bowen scored from there on a perfect roll out, capping a 58 yard drive set up by Cal Sorrell's pass interception at his own 42.

Striking back in the fourth frame, Southern scored two quick TD's with less than six minutes remaining in the game. Quarterback John Thomas engineered a 60-yard TD drive in six plays, hitting end J. D. Griffin in the coffin corner from 33 yards out with 5:19 minutes remaining. Two minutes later, on the first play from scrimmage, Williams scampered 47 yards to paydirt, and icing the game when end Lloyd Norwood recovered Tennessee's only fumble.

"They outmanned us and outlasted us," Gentry commented after the game. "I think Bowen and Bentley played a very good game, and our defenses held real well. Southern's two platoon kept us in the hole because with our green, injury riddled club, we could not meet them man for man."

End Chuck Walker, who was playing with a tightly wrapped elbow suffered a possible broken leg. Bentley was also taken to the hospital with cracked ribs and Earhman got a terrific hip job that may keep him out of action against Lincoln next Saturday.

Cyrus Lancaster put Southern back in the game with a perfect 75 yard punt return with 13:15 remaining in the second period. Southern forwards begged Bentley to punt from his own 42. Lancaster took the ball on the 25, eluded two tacklers and was spring loose with a key block by Prentiss James, 200 pound tackle, on the 40 freeing Lancaster to spring all the way along the side-

Manassas Beats Bertrand, 14-6

Johnny Johnson's Manassas Tigers celebrated homecoming last Thursday night at Melrose Stadium by subduing the tough Fr. Bertrand, 14-6.

Manassas has been invited to over the Thunderbolts since 1954 when the Tigers beat out a 32-7 triumph. Last season the two traditional rivals fought to a 20-20 stalemate.

Fr. Bertrand scored first when its fine fullback, Carl Bush, went over from the one. The TD lead climaxed a 29-yard drive early in the first period. The 'Bolts had recovered a Tiger fumble in Manassas' territory. Try for the PAT failed.

Manassas came right back and tied the score when End Willie Hunt caught an aerial from QB John Simpson and raced for the score. Eugene Davis ran the extra point to give Manassas a 7-6 lead.

Manassas increased its lead midway the fourth quarter when Hunt picked up a Bertrand miscue on the Thunderbolt 25 and went the distance. Davis ran the point to make it 14-6, which turned out to be the game's final score.

Manassas has been invited to play in the Blues Bowl game. Fr. Bertrand has two more contests on its schedule, against hapless Wonder High School Lions and the always-strong Howard High Tigers of Chattanooga.

Manassas finished with a 3-1-1 league record to the Douglass second place. Bertrand's final loop record was 1-3-1.

Melrose Beats Mobile Central Bears, 48 To 0

Touchdowns were run by: Rainey Franklin, 2; Arthur Holman, 2; Albert London, Willie Thomas, 1; and Edgar Perkins, 1. QB Charlie Lee kicked the 6 extra points.

The most spectacular TD of the game came when Holman broke loose for 95 yards early in the fourth stanza to score the first six points of a 28-point quarter.

Last season the Central outfit clipped the Wildcats 14-12 at Mobile to hand them their only 1957 defeat.

Lincoln Tigers Defeat Central State College

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—The Lincoln University Tigers defeated the Raiders of Central State College (Wiberforce, Ohio) by a lopsided score of 38 to 0 in a game played today on Lincoln's field, before a homecoming crowd of approximately 5,000.

Lincoln scored easily in all quarters but the third against the Ohio team which prior to Saturday's game were rated 4th in rushing defense according to the latest NAIA statistics charts.

John Brudley, Lincoln's All-America candidate ran it over for the touchdown. Lincoln's left halfback Levis Heffner ran the conversion over for two points. Score Lincoln's 8, Central State 0.

Lincoln took over the half a few plays later when Central State kicked on fourth down to the Lincoln 30 yard line. A series of run-line at which Carl Lee ran it over and played game Lincoln a first down on the Central State 25 yard line for the touchdown on a hand-off from center. Ezell Brewer, Lincoln quarterback, passed to Feffer for the extra point. Score at the end of the first quarter, Lincoln 16, Central State 0.

Lincoln scored again in the second quarter when Raymond Hooper blocked a Central State kick on their seven yard line and ran it over for the touchdown. Brewer ran it over for the extra point. Score at half time, Lincoln 24, Central State 0.

Weight: John Boyd, featherweight; Cecil Boyd, featherweight; Aaron Hackett, lightweight; Clayton Palmore, lightweight; James Stepler, welterweight; Melvin Brown, middleweight; Elijah Red Wallace, lightweight.

All boys interested in joining this crew are asked to call the team's coach, Roscoe Williams, at FA 3-3359, or Williams assistant, Herbert Hunt, at WE 6-7876.

DEMON ON DEFENSE AS WELL AS OFFENSE is this 172 lb. tackle-tackleback of the Forrest City, Ark., Lincoln High School Tigers who will oppose Memphis' Douglass Red Devils in the Annual Nursery Bowl Classic Thursday night at Melrose Stadium. He is Lafayette Twillie, team captain who will be in there helping to keep the Arkansas champions undefeated. The Tigers shipped Douglass in an early season thriller.

Along The Sports Trail

BY SAM BROWN

Just what benefits to baseball will result from the recent realignment meeting here last week are yet to be seen. A shift in the franchises of two or three clubs, involving the Texas League and the American Association in particular, failed to materialize.

George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Minor Leagues, who called the two day meeting, was almost apologetic if not downright disappointed when he addressed the more than 100 baseball officials from seven minor leagues, as well as representatives of the major leagues.

In his statement, he said, "I am sorry but I must tell you once again there isn't much to report. We came down here hoping that some of our major problems would be resolved, but as of this hour we still haven't made much progress. It seems that difficulties arose when Milwaukee got permission to move its Wichita farm club to Louisville, already a member of the American Association, which left a vacancy in the Association. To have made some shifts would have affected other leagues, hence the attempt at realignment."

Other leagues were present with problems of their own, which might have been resolved if the first problems could have been worked out. So, the big question, "What's wrong with the Minor Leagues? Perhaps, someone will come up with an answer shortly. One that will lift the minors out of the doldrums of poor attendance, long jumps for many of the clubs, and general prosperity for all concerned."

In speaking of realignment, the members of the Negro American League have been plagued with such problems for years. Each year attempts are made to realign some of the cities, to get franchises in other places, and in general try to find out what is wrong with baseball, if anything, short of the major leagues. The Negro American League can say this is nothing new to them.

In some circles there appear to be difficulties in the majors as attendance has been down in several cities during the past few years. It seems that other sports made inroads into the attendance at baseball game, with the result that baseball is losing some of its popularity, and that others are gaining in popularity.

Some fans, and they are among those who pay the freight, say that the major leagues are killing the minors, and that so much radio and the sending of major league games into minor league territory, by TV are making the minor league fan more league conscious, and hence he loses interest in minor league games.

Perhaps, baseball needs some new innovation from time to time to help it keep pace with progress. Just what these new techniques might be, or what novel addition could be made, we can't say. However, there must be someone somewhere who has the answer, or can work out the answer.

A few years ago, night baseball became a part of baseball operation, and no one will deny that it has been a boon to the game, with more and more night games being scheduled by the various clubs. This despite the fact that Wrigley Field in Chicago is not yet equipped for night ball.

Then the signing of Jackie Robinson by the Brooklyn Dodgers, who was the first Negro player in the major leagues, and the many other signed since then, has been a shot in the arm for baseball. Maybe the novelty of these has worn off, so the major minds of baseball must keep abreast by devising other methods of maintaining baseball's popularity.

Speaking of night baseball, the Los Angeles Dodgers will likely break the record of 56 games they broke the Cardinals in 1955 with night games next season. Although, the schedule has not been released, it is likely that more night games will be played in the Coliseum. The Dodgers management is concerned with the request of fans asking for more after sun down games, as the sun is tough on fans as well as players.

Bethune Cookman Wildcats Blank Morris 38 To 0

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — (SNS) — Bethune Cookman College Wildcats took the measure of Morris College Saturday to the tune of 38-0, in the 1958 homecoming for the Wildcats. What started out to look like a drab affair in the first two quarters, broke open in the first play of the second half and saw Matthew's boys spring loose from all over the field.

With three minutes and twenty one seconds left to play in the first half, quarterback John Heggs dropped back from the Morris 28 and passed to Captain King Green on the 7 and he stepped over for a 6-0 score. Heggs tried to run for the extra point, no good.

In the first play of the second half Earl Sykes, leftback for the Wildcats took a handoff from quarterback Donald Burke, cut across from the right side and ran 57 yards for the second TD. Burke ran for extra point 14-0 after Burke intercepted one of Morris' passes on Morris 30 and the Wildcats sustained a 15 yard penalty. Otis Williams took a handoff from Burke and ran all the way. Burke's pass for point, no good, score 20-0. Late in the third quarter Crawford, right end for the Wildcats, blocked a punt and recovered on the Morris College 9 yard line. Lucimus Jackson picked up 7 to the 2. Jackson again went to the TD line then Burke crept over for the next score. Extra point, no good, 26-0. After an exchange of punts early in the fourth quarter, Earl Sykes on a handoff traveled 20 yards for the next TD. Extra point, no good, 32-0. The scoring ended after James Crayton, halfback for Bethune intercepted Riddick's pass on the Morris 47. ## A Step Forward Toward A Sensible Solution

The election of Mrs. Charles E. White, the mother of five children to the School Board in Houston, Texas by an overwhelming majority is indeed a step forward. Not is this a progressive move, it is a pattern for other cities in the deep South to follow. Regardless of race or creed, all the children of a school district should be represented.

Her comment upon election betrays that fine spirit. Running as she did on a platform of integration and federal aid to schools was unique in that it was an important straw pointing the way the wind is gradually blowing. To win, Mrs. White had to receive a substantial white vote and the victor had two white opponents.

There are other thousands in the deep South area who are not in favor of the destruction of our public school system for the proposed private school plan. This vote would show how the voters on this important occasion would express themselves on this question.

Mrs. White stated that she did not run for this position in order to represent only Negro children. This is a broad viewpoint and such a position should encourage others to seek representation on school boards for representation of all children alike.

This is a step in the direction of a sensible way in which this school question can be settled. The best minds working together, with a mutual understanding have priority over the rabble and the opportunists.

Congratulations to Houston, Texas and Mrs. White.

A Follow-Up Editorial Captioned "Needed Legislation"

A few days ago a United States Senator and a Senator-Elect journeyed to Atlanta to get a first hand version of the bombing of the Jewish Temple. They were Senator Jacob Javits and Senator-Elect Kenneth Keating, both of New York state.

Senator Javits had introduced legislation in the upper House for the government through FBI to be empowered to intercede in bombings of public places.

Senator-Elect Keating, a member of the Congress in the lower House, had introduced similar legislation in the Congress. In that, it is obvious that the two have in mind effective legislation for the curbing of this bombing evil.

Peaceful Approach To Race Problems Urged

MIAMI — (UPI) — Florida Atty. Gen. Richard Ervin said Friday that southern states cannot expect a softer stand by the U. S. Supreme Court or intervention by Congress to help them with their segregation problems.

"The best that can be done is for each community to come to peaceful grips with the problem when confronted with it," Ervin told a Miami Kiwanis Club meeting.

"That there should be compromises and accommodations and degrees of understanding between the White and Negro races is unquestioned," Ervin added.

But he emphasized that none of his remarks should be interpreted to mean "we are in any way advocating a capitulation in our fight to preserve segregated public schools." He said he was attempting to give an honest appraisal of the legal situation.

Ervin offered several suggestions to "delay premature and workable integration" but he said he did not know whether any would prove successful.

The suggestions included: Use of the state's pupil assignment law to prevent mass integration; separation of the sexes in the public schools; voluntary integrated schools; a constitutional amendment permitting parents opposed to integration to withdraw their children from integrated schools with some form of tuition assistance in private schools.

Start Plans Now, Collins Tells State

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. — (UPI) — Gov. Leroy Collins has put Florida's on notice that they must get ready to accept some racial integration in the public schools.

Collins said he does not know what school in what locality should be the first to lower the color bars. That is up to local school officials and not the governor, he said.

But state and county education leaders should start planning for it now in a "frank and forthright manner," he said.

If they don't the governor warned, the courts will step in and the state will have no control over what might result.

"If we face up to this realistically, there is no reason on earth for anyone to assume the result will be widespread desegregation," Collins told a group of Palm Beach County political, business and industrial leaders.

Collins is the second state official in two weeks to sound this warning. Assistant Atty. Gen. Ralph Odum, the state's chief legal expert on racial matters, said that Florida must make a start toward some desegregation or else abolish the public school system.

"We cannot think in terms of abandoning our public school system," Collins declared, saying in effect that mixed schools are better than no schools at all.

"Ignorance is the greatest enemy known to human progress. The ranks of the nations of the world in per capita income and public health are identical with their rank in literacy."

"It is tragic that now, when Florida is making its greatest strides in improving its public school system, there are those who are willing to abolish that system," he said.

Our Pool Of Unused Talent

JOHNNY BLACK needs more opportunities. It is an old plait of Negro youth, a great majority of whom became "little crippled horses" under the Plessy-Ferguson doctrine of "separate but equal" education. It is new in that the National Urban League is desperately trying to do something about it. League leadership strongly and wisely contends that the fight for equality must include jobs and skills, as well as other civil rights.

A WIDELY distributed League pamphlet, entitled "Tomorrow's Scientists and Technicians," points up the issue. It shows Negro students down to the magnets of science, pointing out that some of them "undoubtedly, have in them the metal of aptitude and ability required of those who serve that hard master, Science."

Then the question is asked: "But how many of these young people will go further and become, in fact as in their dreams, tomorrow's scientists and technicians?" The obvious answer is: "Not many!" They face a multitude of frustrations, including open and hidden defiance of the law of the land, which would see erasure of inequality and non-opportunity for every American youth.

"HERE, then is one of the wastes of human resources that have shamed us in the face of the Soviet educational challenge," the League pamphlet says. "Here is a great pool of dormant, unused talent from which we can draw the young men and women we need to man the research laboratories and engineering teams of tomorrow. This is no game of guess or gamble . . ."

"What we need to do, then, is to give our annual crop of embryo scientists and technicians — regardless of color or race, or creed — the incentive and the guidance, and where necessary, the financial help they must have if they are to realize their potential for themselves and the nation."

THIS OBJECTIVE to help reduce the appalling waste of the nation's human resources is noble. It is no wonder that governors of many states, including some in the hard core resistance areas, have joined in the declaration of "Equal Opportunity Day" on November 19.

This is an American dream and a MUST, if our nation is to grow and advance further in face of a highly competitive world, more and more color and rights sensitivity. Johnny Black needs unlimited opportunity to learn and master America's job for home and abroad!

Dr. Byas was married to Miss Olivia Byas; two sisters, Mrs. Lucy Horton (for years with the Truancy Department of the Memphis Board of Education who now resides in Chicago) and Mrs. Rufus Towers of Chicago; a brother, Mr. Victor Byas of Chicago and a niece, Mrs. Carolyn Ephraim who made her home with him. Among the other group of relatives who came down for his last rites were his sisters-in-law, Mrs. Rivilan Cooke, a retired Baltimore, Md. City School principal.

Miami Manhunt

A NEW SUSPENSE NOVEL By WILLIAM FULLER

CHAPTER 16
REMEMBER very little of what I thought or did in the next few minutes after I'd discovered Joan Morris' body. I remember running through the French doors to the little patio beyond them—the murderer must have come across that — and thrashing uselessly and stupidly around in the banks of foliage that choked it on three sides. I remember leaning on the wash basin in the bathroom and staring at my reflection in the mirror above it, seeing the greyish pallor of my face, the thick puffy shadow beneath my eyes.

And then—as incongruous as it might seem, with Joan's once lovely body turning stiff and cold a few yards away from me, with her murderer perhaps still in the immediate vicinity, perhaps even waiting for me—I stood under a steaming hot shower and scrubbed myself viciously with a wash rag, as if by so doing I could scrub away all connection with the horrible thing that had happened.

The hot water at least snuffed me out of my shocked numbness. Emotions swept me in waves. The first one was a mixture of grief and of pity for what had been this laughing girl who had a great love of life. My second emotion was one of cold, hard, sustaining anger at the person or persons who had done this thing. And a breath-quenching, muscle-hardening, all-consuming desire to lay my hands on the person or persons who'd done it.

My third emotion—the one that had perhaps been clamoring for attention ever since I'd walked into the bedroom with the drinks — was one of fear. Fear for myself. Of what might happen to me. The instinct for self-preservation may at times — and this was one of them — be a shameful thing. They say a man who deliberately sets out to drown himself will fight for life to the last ounce of his strength. The instinct for survival now dominated my thinking processes completely. Joan was dead. Murdered. And, unless I did something drastic, and that very quickly, I was a lead-pipe cinder to take the rap for her murder. I was already under suspicion for Marta Blanding's disappearance. I wouldn't have a chance to beat this rap. They would have everything they needed on me except motivation. And I knew they could dream that up without much trouble. hang it on me and make it stick. My detective friend Wade would love this. He'd rush into it with his sleeves rolled up and when he'd finished I would have had it. Everything was in their favor. In their eyes I was a punk. There were four people who'd seen me

Collins Sees Demo Sweep As Boost For Integration

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Gov. Leroy Collins said Thursday he sees the Democratic sweep of Congress as a possible boost for his plan to solve the integration issues.

The governor said he thought it was a "fair assumption" that Tuesday's election results would help congressional approval of the plan, which would establish civil rights commissions in each state to decide racial questions.

He pointed out the election returns showed a feeling on the part of the people, he said, that the present administration "has not addressed itself actively and aggressively to the solving of our domestic problems as well as our foreign problems."

He said there is a demand by the people for "constructive solutions in all these areas," one of which, he said, is the matter of solving racial tensions.

He pointed out the solution will not be found at either extreme, but somewhat along the philosophy of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D., Tex.). He certainly is no extremist, Collins said. Johnson's leadership in the Congress has been moderate and reasonable but at the same time active and aggressive.

Collins said he did not see the Democratic cut into GOP state legislative ranks as getting the state away from a two-party system. He called Florida a "no-party" state.

(Continued from Page One) I make all things new." In these days of baffling and unsolved world problems we find ourselves asking "What is man that thou art mindful of him, and the soul of man that thou visitest him? More than ever we are in need of the powerful renewing influence in human lives and relationships expressed in prayer, said Prof. Washburn.

The Prayer Fellowship is under the sponsorship of the Y. M. C. A. Religious Emphasis Committee of which Prof. Washburn is chairman. Other members of the Committee and many of whom are working closely in the promotion of the affair are: Rev. D. M. Grahman, Rev. J. L. Netters, Dr. J. W. Golden, Chairman L. A. Thigpen, Jr., Rev. Roy Love, Rev. H. H. Jones, Bishop J. O. Patterson, Prof. M. Falls and Dr. Cooper E. Taylor.

The Y. M. C. A. is urging all ministers, religious leaders and other interested citizens to join in making this one hour of this one week of November 9th-15th a successful one for Christ.

It was too much for me. I shook my head to clear it. It didn't help. My thoughts squirmed and milled in futile convulsion. I walked through the front door, half-stumbled down the steps and the staggered path to the sidewalk. I turned toward the filling station I'd remembered.

Halfway down the block, pulled up at the curb behind trees, I saw a dark sedan. My shocked nerves failed to flash warning signals.

I was opposite the car now. The front left door opened and a man squirmed out of the back seat. The two men stood side by side not more than five yards from me. Moonlight filtered through the leaves and branches of the tree behind them and bounced off the shining muzzle of a gun in the right hand of the man who'd been behind the wheel.

I'd be a sitting duck if I tried to run. Sc I just stood there, feeling empty.

"Why?" I asked, though I didn't much care. At least I wouldn't have to belabor my numbed mind for a decision any more. The decision was a being made for me. It was easier that way.

"Never mind why. Move!" The arrogant and overbearing tone of his voice snapped me out of my lethargy. I wouldn't be shoved around without at least paying lip service to resistance. "You talk real tough," I said. "I am real tough," he said. "Thanks, anyhow, but I think I'll walk."

"Now?" the second man asked. The first man nodded. The second man stepped toward me, his body slightly crouched, his hands in front of him, like a fighter. There was enough moonlight to show me the sap in his hand.
