

Meredith Gets Haircut During Weekend Visit Here With Wife!

James H. Meredith was in Memphis during the weekend. He wasn't shadowed by U. S. marshals, but they were nearby just in case.

Meredith arrived here late Friday and was joined by his wife who came up from Jackson State College where she is a student.

They were guests of unnamed Memphians. They spent some time, too, with Mr. Meredith's cousins who live here.

Mr. Meredith got a haircut Saturday at Bradford's Barber-shop on Walker Avenue near LeMoyn College. He was scheduled to arrive at the shop at noon but didn't show until around 2 p.m.

J. A. Bradford, the proprietor, cut his hair. He congratulated Meredith for being courageous. Meredith said "Thanks." No one asked him any questions. They just looked at him, admiration showing in their eyes. He was accompanied to the shop by a local lawyer.

"He's smaller than I thought," said Mr. Bradford.

Meredith also attended to some personal business, such as getting clean clothes.

Reporters and photographers were after him. Some found him and some didn't.

Newsreel cameramen for the networks were believed given opportunity to hold private audiences with him.

Meredith left early Sunday afternoon for the return trip to University of Mississippi at Oxford. He was driven back by eight U. S. marshals.

Mrs. Meredith flew back to Jackson, Miss., later in the afternoon. Her husband's cousins accompanied her to the Municipal Airport. She appeared upset by photographers who trailed her. She wanted to get on the plane without being recognized.

At the close of the week, Meredith was eating his meals in the Ole Miss cafeteria without incident and attending classes without marshals obviously close to him. Friday, he went through one of the regular lines in the cafeteria, selected his food and paid his own check. A few students moved to another line. Marshals sat with him during the meals.

Hecklers, who hiss and hurl epithets, are Meredith's biggest bother. He has answered a few. While he was picking up a huge box of mail in the campus Post Office, Meredith just laughed when one boy called out: "What you doing, picking up you NAACP check?"

Meredith challenged another boy who shouted from a distance: "Are you happy here?"

"Come over here if you want to talk to me," Meredith said. The boy backed up.

On another occasion when Meredith walked from a classroom, a youth shouted: "Your life is short."

Meredith returned to the campus without incident and took his evening meal in the university cafeteria. One student sat down at the table with him Sunday night. When Meredith finished his meal and got up to leave another student walked over and shook his hand.

But when Mr. Meredith left the cafeteria a small crowd of students jeered him and called him names. He is being guarded on campus by nearly 20 marshals.

The jeering continued Monday evening at an increased scale. With fewer soldiers on campus, more than 500 students gathered in front of the cafeteria while Meredith was eating dinner. They yelled insults and one student threw a rock through a window. Marshals escorted Meredith out a back door under the protection of two sentries who were ready with tear gas grenades.

Consolidation Will Save $31 Million In Twelve Years!

Taxpayers would have saved money if consolidated government had been in operation during 1961, according to a study just released. The study deals with the estimated financial effects of the adoption of the proposed charter calling for consolidation of the governments of Memphis and Shelby County.

This report presents estimates of the probable financial effects of the proposed charter of the consolidated government of Memphis and Shelby County. Financial data for Shelby County are for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1961, and for Memphis for the year ending December 31, 1961.

If consolidated government had been in operation during 1961, the elimination of duplicate and overlapping services would have reduced expenditures by approximately $1.6 million. By 1970 such annual savings are estimated to be $2.7 million, and by 1975, $3.6 million. Total savings over the 12-year period between 1964 and 1975 are

PAINTER ACCUSED BY GROCER

Douglass Arrest Arouses Citizens

Citizens of the Douglass area were aroused last week over the action of a storekeeper who accused a painter of attempted theft. After hearing conflicting testimony and two character witnesses who spoke in behalf of the arrested man, City Judge Boushe fined Jimmy Lee Scott $25.

Mr. Scott, a painter and member of the maintenance crew at LeMoyn College, testified that he and his family traded regularly at the store. On the evening he was arrested, Tuesday of last week, he said he entered the store, picked up a 10-cent package of snowball cakes and went to the cold drink box. He told the court he put the package of snowball cakes in his pocket, "which was in plain view," as he reached into the box for a cold drink. Scott said he also was planning to purchase ice cream and bananas.

It was at this point that the manager of the store approached Scott and accused him of stealing. The manager contended that he was outside the store watching through the window. He claimed he saw Scott take the package of cakes, wrap them in a handkerchief and placed it in his pocket. Scott contended in court that he did not have a handkerchief. The manager claimed Scott visits the store frequently but seldom buys anything. Scott said his family does most of its buying from the store.

Scott was seized inside the store before he had a chance to get to the counter. Representing him in court was Atty. H. T. Lockard. His character witnesses were Dr. John A. Buehler and Otha Brandon of the LeMoyn College.

Mr. Scott was arrested at Medlock's U-Save Food Store No. 2 at Warford and Mt. Olive Road.

500 Students Ill At Arkansas State

PINE BLUFF, Ark. — Nearly 500 students at Arkansas State College here were stricken during the weekend with food poisoning. Health officials said the illness apparently came from a high protein food served at the noon meal Saturday.

Conditions of the students were termed not serious. Most were treated at the campus infirmary and dismissed.

Rumors Creep In From Millington

Rumors creeping out of Millington claim scores of Negro troops were pulled out of their units and held on the base while their white mates were moved on to camps near Oxford, Miss.

Another rumor insisted Negro soldiers are quartered in a special area at Millington.

Another report said Negro soldiers in Oxford during the rioting were later returned to a nearby camp or to Millington. Several of them were attacked by mobs while there.

KC Enrollment Up

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — The upward swing of the population during the years of World War II has made itself felt at Knoxville College as the student body exploded from a high of 653 last year to 747 this year. The student body has outgrown the chapel's seating capacity.

Dr. W. Herbert Brewster, pastor of East Trigg Avenue Baptist Church, is being honored this week for the 32 years of ministry and service he has given the South Memphis congregation and community. Also being honored is his wife who is well known for her leadership as director of church activities.

Churches, ministers and civic and community leaders are joining East Trigg Baptist in paying special homage to Rev. Mr. Brewster and his wife.

The prominent minister is being honored for his achievements as executive secretary of the Tennessee (Regular) Baptist Convention, as founder and director of the Dr. Brewster Theological Clinic, as dean of the Baptist Ministers' Conference and as dean of the Shelby County (General) Baptist Association.

Rev. Mr. Brewster is known throughout the nation as a singer and composer of hymns, anthems and gospel songs.

He is the author of many sermons and also is recognized as a poet.

East Trigg Avenue Baptist Church has long stood out for its outstanding work in the community. At one time, the church attracted many white worshippers. Anniversary ceremonies began Wednesday night of this week and will continue through next Monday night at the church.

Attack Victim Kills Youth As He Stands At Her Window!

If men knew their fate many of them would try to avoid it. Surely 18-year-old Jesse Stewart of 852 Baltimore would have taken a different road early Saturday morning if he had known death was waiting for him at 2748 Enterprise.

Twenty-four year-old Mrs. Willie Mae Woods of the Enterprise address didn't know for sure that Death was hovering over her house but she was prepared to give it a big boost if an intruder tried to crawl through her window again. She had been criminally assaulted a month ago.

Sure enough, the intruder returned. It was 1 o'clock Saturday morning. Mrs. Woods was awakened by a noise at the window. She reached for a 12-gauge double-barreled shotgun she had kept at the side of her bed since the previous attack. She leveled the gun at the window.

When the intruder lit a cigaret lighter to look inside, Mrs. Woods pulled the trigger.

The person at the window was hit in the upper chest and neck by the double blast. He was dead on arrival at John Gaston Hospital.

Mrs. Woods identified him as the person who committed the previous attack. Papers on the youth revealed that he was Jesse Stewart.

CHARGED WITH STEALING MEAT

Boushe Fines 2 Pregnant Women

Two young mothers, both pregnant, were fined $25 each last week in City Court by Judge Boushe. The women were charged with stealing meat from Smith's By-Ry Grocery at 611 Chelsea. "These are tough cases, but what else can you do? They were guilty," commented the judge.

The judge sat back and listened as the two mothers fought back tears and told their stories.

Mrs. Barbara Foster, 24, of 545 N. Seventh, said: "My husband's gone and I've got a sick baby and the people at the hospital say the baby's going to die if it isn't fed. My husband left me and I've got six children to feed," cried Mrs.

Margaret Smith, 30, of 256 Auction, "Fined $25 each," the judge said. Shooked, Mrs. Foster said: "Thanks, yeah, thank you, judge," and then she let out a scream that could be heard outside the courtroom.

Judge Boushe later said relatives of the mothers or the juvenile court could take care of their children.

St. John Host To State Baptists

The 90th session of the State Baptist Missionary and Educational Convention, Inc., will convene with the St. John Baptist Church (Vance Ave.), Rev. A. McQueen Williams, pastor, Oct. 23-26.

The theme for this year is "Advancing Toward New Frontiers." Dr. S. A. Owen, pastor of the Metropolitan Baptist Church, is serving his 26th term as president of the organization, under whose auspices Owen College operates.

A musical program sponsored by the choirs of local participating churches will be the feature of the Pre-Convention Program to be held at the St. John Baptist Church, Monday, Oct. 22, at 8 P. M.

The Rev. Kelly M. Smith of Nashville, dean of the Tenn. Leadership and Education Congress will conduct seminars during the convention.

Church Plans Confab

Inside Memphis

MEMPHIS IS HEADQUARTERS for several newspaper persons who have come from afar to cover the James Meredith story at Oxford, Miss., and all of them set up camp in Ernest Withers' Studio on Beale Avenue. Which is OK with Mr. Withers because he's got a camera and will travel.

CHIEF AMONG THE OUT-OF-TOWN newspaper folk commuting between Memphis and Oxford are Dave Jackson and Larry Steele from Jet's Chicago office, Dorothy Butler Gilliam of the Washington Post, Jimmy Hicks of the New York Amsterdam News and Moses Newsome of the Baltimore Afro-American.

JIMMY HICKS WAS DOWN EARLY but was advised to leave the Oxford campus. He sat it out in Memphis while the rioting was going on a week ago.

KOSCIUSKO, MISS. POLICE OFFICIALS bumped into Jet's Dave Jackson and Larry Steele while they were attempting to interview James Meredith's father. The cops pointed to the highway and suggested that Dave and Larry get on it and keep going.

ERNEST WITHERS AND HIS TRUSTY camera were touring the trouble areas this week with Dorothy Butler Gilliam.

ANOTHER LOCAL PHOTOGRAPHER who is shooting for Memphis and out-of-town papers is young Mark Stansbury, a good man with a camera and at a typewriter.

SENSATIONAL ARTIST TO SING IN LeMOYNE'S BRUCE HALL

Grace Bumbry Here Friday Night!

Grace Bumbry, the much sought-after mezzo-soprano whose voice has been described as beautiful, magnificent, ravishing, bronze-like, smooth and powerful, will thrill Tri-State music-lovers this Friday night, October 12, in Bruce Hall on the LeMoyn College campus. The concert, which includes four spirituals, gets underway at 8:30. The noted artist will be accompanied by Franz Rupp.

Tickets to the concert are on sale at LeMoyn, Owen College and the Goldsmith's Central Ticket Office. They also are being sold by LeMoyn alumni.

The 25-year-old, St. Louis-born Miss Bumbry, a gravely handsome woman who moves with the elegance of a dancer, skyrocketed to international fame in two years. Critics in Germany and France are calling her the first great Negro Wagnerian singer.

Wrote one German critic: "Miss Bumbry possesses a powerful voice of astounding quality! An extremely refined artist with the exquisite culture of a superb singer. She makes an audience hold its breath with her glimmering pianissimo.

rous notes to the brilliant high A passed the test magnificently."

Loud applause and cheers showed how completely she had won over the music lovers of Berlin.

Another German critic: "The sensational Grace Bumbry celebrated a triumph! The singer combines a brilliant inborn musicality with a remarkable stage presence and a fine vocal command rarely matched. Her voice is extremely smooth and flexible with a marvelous piano and pianissimo as well as impressive full voice."

American critics were carried away too. Pendleton of the New York Herald Tribune said: "The packed house showered her with applause. She sings with regal simplicity and her wide range, from its low sou-

MEMPHIANS GIVE GAY HARVEST PARTY AT CLUB HOUSE

One of the best yet (and truly the best of the early Fall season) was the Harvest Party given Friday evening at the Memphian's Orleans Street Club House. Mr. "Bill" Weathers (one of the club's founders) was general chairman and at his side (as usual) the dynamic Mrs. Weathers who assisted him in receiving early and green-in-gentry guests. The place was crowded early with fashionably dressed guests who were glad to get into their fall clothes and go out after the summer months. Members assisted a bar-tender at the bar. Others assisted in the Buffet room where a long table was filled with caviar, oysters, smoked oysters and open face sandwiches, and hors d'oeuvres of all sorts.

Guests of the evening noticed were an English Newsmen from Northern England who stopped over in Memphis enroute back to New York City after going to Oxford. He was with Dr. and Mrs. Vasco Smith and Atty. and Mrs. Russell Sugarman, Jr. Others noticed were Mrs. Johnetta Keady Hoay (there for a few weeks from the West Coast), with Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Walker (the new Memphian member and manager of the North Carolina Branch was their sister, Mrs. Estalyn Ross also a new comer in these parts. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roberts, Mrs. Marjorie Ulen, Mr. and Mrs. John Randall and Mr. R. Cowan.

Mr. Clarence McFolland, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scruggs, Mrs. Frances Davis, Mrs. Lillian Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell, Mr. Thaddeus T. Stokes, Mrs. Ruby Gadson, Mr. Elmer Henderson, Dr. and Mrs. W. O. Speight, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Peace, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hayes, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Harding, Mrs. Taylor C. D. Johnson, Mr. Elmer Henderson and Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Haygood (the pastor of the Parkway Garden's Presbyterian Church who came with Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Robinson, members of the club.

Memphians Members and their wives seen receiving along with the Weatherses were Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Bodden (newly weds of two months), Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fletcher, Mr. Oral Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wynn, Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Johnson, Mr. Mack Lofton who escorted Mrs. Milan Williams, Mr. George Stevens, Mr. Lonnie Walker, Mr. Howard Sims, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Davis, Mr. Claiborne Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Crawford, Mr. George Mims, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilkerson.

LEMOYNE COLLEGE PRESENTS GRACE BUMBRY IN CONCERT FRIDAY

LeMoyné College will present (as a part of their cultural program) Grace Bumbry, young Mezzo-Soprano who is expected to draw the same large crowd here Friday evening. She has drawn in Europe and all over America, making front page news for another young American artist.

Miss Bumbry was presented last year at a glittering White House Party where she was invited by Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy. "The 25 year old singer, who flew from Paris to perform at the State Dinner, said, "This is the highest you can go when you sing for the President of your Country."

In two short seasons Miss Bumbry has become one of the most sought after singers on the continent. She made her debut at the Paris Opera in 1960 as Amelie in "Aida" created a sensation. She was so highly regarded in Carmen that the Paris Company starred her in the role in the Troupe's good-will tour in Japan. She has won headlines throughout the world and high critical praise. Her repertoire will include selections by Brahms, Liszt, Schubert, Peri, Gluck, Torelli, Strauss, Verdi and a group of Negro Spirituals.

The very stunning young artist hails from St. Louis. She has won such prizes as the Marion Anderson Scholarship, the John Hay Whitney Award and has performed in Bayreuth, Germany

Germany where she also received much acclaim. Miss Micki McGraw Reigned As Queen Over Father Bertrand's Homecoming Activities.

Preparations began two weeks ago at Esther Bertrand High when members of the senior class selected three female students to vie for the coveted title of "Miss Bertrand High School, Co-eds choices were Miss Micki Jean McGraw named (1962 Queen) Miss Betty Laster, second alternate and Miss Jacqueline Walker, first alternative.

Pretty Micki McGraw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McGraw of 258 West Essex and Queen for a year is a member of the Pep Squad and the Athletic Club, sings and is a member of the choir at the Friendship Baptist Church where she is a member. She is a member of the Co-Ette Club, Inc. and is all and all a good sport. She plans to enter Lincoln Univ. next fall. She was escorted during her reign by Wm. Try also a student at Bertrand High. Runner up to Miss McGraw was Miss Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Walker of 699 Billington who has the distinction of having been born in Calcutta, India where she spent her early childhood. She plans to enter Spelman College next year. Second alternate was Miss Laster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Laster of 755 Mosby who plans to attend the University of Illinois. Miss Walker was escorted by Donald Moss and Miss Laster was escorted by Grady Terrell both students at the Catholic High school.

MISS GWEN NASH TO BE WED TO CAROL BOSWELL IN DECEMBER

Of much interest is the recent announcement by Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nash of the approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Gwendolyn Nash to Carol Boswell, son of the late Mr. Lee Boswell and Mrs. Imogene Boswell of West Englewood, New Jersey (and formerly prominent in the Orange Mound Community in Memphis). Mr. Boswell, who now resides in Seattle, is the brother of the late Miss Odell Boswell. Miss Nash, a city teacher is well known in the younger set. She has contributed much through the J-U-G-S to civic and social circles.

THE LATE MR. L. O. SWINGLER: Mrs. Lewis O. Swingler received many flowers from out-of-town friends. Of the approximately more than 100 designs sent to Mrs. Swingler and family of the late Mr. Swingler, many came from out-of-town friends and organizations. Those especially noticed came from Roy Milton, orchestra leader and childhood friend to the deceased in Tulsa who sent a large design of orchids by jet from his home in Los Angeles even though his wife, Mrs. Thelma Greene Milton (who lives here) had already sent flowers.

Stewardess Now Assigned To D.C.

WASHINGTON—(NNPA)—Pretty Malrene White, of Detroit, a stewardess with Northwest Airlines in Minneapolis for the past two months, has been assigned to work out of the Washington airport terminal.

A former economics major at the University of Chicago, Miss White applied for the position four years ago and was accepted following a public hearing. She is the first colored stewardess to be based in the District of Columbia.

Her mother, Mrs. Ernestine White, is a former resident of Atlanta, Ga. and now lives in Detroit. Both her mother and her father, the late Jerome White, were employed at one time on the staff of the Atlanta Daily World, the South's first and only daily colored newspaper.

J. A. McDaniel, Executive Secretary of the Memphis Urban League. Rev. McDaniel continued, Mr. Swingler entertained for his friends much more than most people and far more than many of his friends.

DR. AND MRS. W. H. YOUNG are back after several weeks in Texas at Dr. Young's native home, Tyler.

BISHOP J. O. PATTERSON is taking his usual rest and is hunting in Montana where he has caught much game on previous hunting trips.

MISS ALISON VANCE is also back after two months on the coast where she was house guest of Atty. and Mrs. Willard Wood along with Mrs. Wood's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Lewis, Sr. Miss Vance and the Lewises were entertained in grand style during the two summer months by many old friends and by friends of the Lewis' children.

MRS. JUANITA Turner, instructor of Math at Manassas High School and a devout worker at St. John Baptist Church, was honored by members of her club, The Willing Workers at a "This Is Your Life" program. Coming to Memphis for the program were Mrs. Turner's sisters, Mrs. Mildred Kaynor Davis of Chicago and Mrs. Maureen Day of Detroit whom she glimpsed enroute to the station with Mrs. Robert Fields, Sr. who dove them down and who also appeared on the program.

MRS. VASCO SMITH flew in Friday evening from New York City where she spoke for the NAA CP's Kick-Off Drive.

Public Meeting On Charter At Macedonia BAPT.

MISS VIRGINIA DELORIS McLEAN

Neighbors of the North Memphis area of the city will join together Thursday night, Oct. 18, 8 p. m. for a public meeting at Macedonia Baptist Church, 1444 Austin Street in the Hyde Park community, to discuss the pro's of the proposed Charter for Consolidation of city and county governments. Rev. L. M. Morganfield, pastor of Macedonia, stated that his congregation welcomes an open discussion since it is part of the educational program of the church and "will help voters be better informed on a very important issue." Rev. M. Winfield, well-known civic leader of the 42nd Ward, stated that "It is a wonderful opportunity for all voters to come and ask questions about how the changes being made will affect the Negro population of the city and county." Sponsoring the meeting are the Hyde Park Civic League, the Hyde Park Housewives League and the Wapeka Housewives League. Macedonia Baptist is centrally located, just one block off Chelsea.

MARY MARTEL Two Young Girls, 'Nagged' And 'Love Sick', Tell Mary Their 'Problems'

Dear Mary: I am 15 years old and am having trouble with my mother. She wants to know everywhere I go, with whom I am going and how long I will be gone. This embarrasses me for she will ask me these questions in front of my friends and sometimes says no, I must stay home and iron my clothes or clean up the house. What can I do about her? Nagged. Dear Love Sick: I think the young man has made it remarkably clear that he wishes to break off his association with you. Telephone calls will only prolong your agony over the breakup. Try to reconcile yourself to your situation, chalk it up to experience and learn from it. Your next move will be to try to widen your circle of friends as soon as possible. I am sure there are other boys in your group who would love to date you. Dear Love Sick: I am so much in love I can't eat my meals or sleep at night. Last night my boy friend told me he was in love with someone else and would not be dating me any more. I begged him to telephone me sometime, just so I can hear his voice. He never would promise. What can I do so I will not miss him completely. Lovesick. Dear Love Sick: I see your mother as a person who loves her daughter and is interested in her welfare and good name. I see a woman with deep concerns for her daughter and a wish to protect her from what could be too many experiences, too soon. Suppose you try talking over your plans with your mother in advance and see that she meets and gets to know your friends and their parents. This might make quite a difference in her attitude.

Young Dies At 78 NORFOLK, Va. - Death claimed P. B. Young, Sr., publisher of the Journal and Guide since 1910, Tuesday night, October 9, at a Norfolk hospital which he entered on September 21. He was 78 years of age.

He became critically ill on September 27th, rallied for a few days, then suffered multiple complications. The immediate cause of death was broncho-pneumonia.

His elder son, Bernard Jr., joined the paper's staff in 1929 and the other son, Thomas, in 1932. Both are still with the paper, the former serving as Editor-in-Chief and the latter as President and General Manager.

Between 1946 and 1948 the Journal and Guide received three Wendell Wilkie awards for outstanding performances in journalism and has consistently won various awards from the National Newspaper Publishers Association.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday, October 13, at noon at Grace E. Church. The services will be conducted by the Rev. Richard B. Martin.

Mr. Young was one of the organizers and first vice president and a member of the Board of Directors of the Southern Regional Council, with headquarters in Atlanta. He was one of the founders of the council's predecessor, the Southern Commission on Interracial Cooperation.

PASSAGE OF RACIAL HATED LAW URGED

LONDON - (NNPA) - The Labor Party has called for a law making incitement to racial hatred an offense, as well as racial discrimination in public places.

The Party's National Executive issued a statement Sunday which said the preaching of racial hatred is "damaging the multi-racial Commonwealth" and has led to the "worst crimes of the 20th Century."

In 1943 President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed Mr. Young to the original Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) and served for two years.

Four Virginia governors named him to state commissions.

Mr. Young attended public and private schools in North Carolina and studied at St. Augustine's College during the three years he was an instructor in printing at that institution.

He was the second generation of a newspaper family. His late father, Winfield Young, founded and published for many years in Littleton, N. C., a newspaper he named "The True Reformer." It was by working with his father and on "The True Reformer" that Mr. Young got the inspiration for the career he followed during a distinguished lifetime and his distinguished apprenticeship in printing and publishing.

management between the county court and the county commissioners. Some accounts are kept on a cash basis; some on the accrual basis. Driver Issue Puts Montgomery On Feet Again

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (ANP)—This city was last week staggered by a "strange" bus strike which saw the bus company and the drivers' union taking sides against the city on two counts—one of them racial.

The hiring of two Negroes as bus drivers was one cause of the white bus drivers' walkout, said a spokesman for the National City Lines, owner of the Bus company. Both the company and union blamed city officials for not preventing the Negroes from getting the jobs.

Arkansan Seeks Little Rock City Manager Position

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (ANP)—A 48-year-old Negro optometrist is seeking a seat on the city manager board in this city that in 1957 was the scene of a school integration fight that was heard around the world.

MEDIATOR PRESENT
They are backed in this charge by the federal mediator who has been sitting in on negotiation talks.

The mediator, Wiley Roberts, said: "In most cities, franchise taxes (on bus lines) have been reduced or even eliminated. An increase is most unusual."

Meanwhile, bus riders in Montgomery, while either hoofing it to work or taking cabs, were reamined in graphic fashion of the many long days a few years ago when Negroes of this city played this role on a voluntary basis.

At that time, Negroes were fighting to sit where they pleased on buses.

"They won that fight," one Montgomery observer pointed out, "and now, they're taking over the driver's seat."

Dr. William H. Townsend is opposing two white men in the November 6 general election in his campaign to capture Position 4 on the City Board of Managers.

An 11-year resident of Little Rock, he says he will not represent any one group or race on the Board but would represent all residents of the city if he is elected.

The well-known doctor's opponents are Harold E. Henson, Jr., 34 executive vice president of the Bank of Arkansas, and Arthur J. Jones, 65, a retired lawyer.

Houston Carrier's Promotion Hailed

HOUSTON, Texas — (ANP) — A Negro mail carrier's promotion to the Dallas Regional Post Office department was cited here last week as an example of what is happening across the nation.

John Butler, a former Houston mail carrier, is now the administrative assistant of employee relations for the regional office in Dallas.

He was honored at a banquet at the Rice hotel sponsored by the local National Alliance of Postal Employees.

Hollis Bach, a member of the Civil Service Appeals Board, Washington, D. C., said at the banquet that Butler's promotion was an example of the postal department's policy of promoting Negroes.

Hulan Jack Still Seeks Clear Name In Bribery Count

ALBANY, N. Y. — (ANP) — Hulan E. Jack, who lost the coveted post of Manhattan Borough President when he was convicted on a bribery charge in January 1961, is still fighting to clear his name.

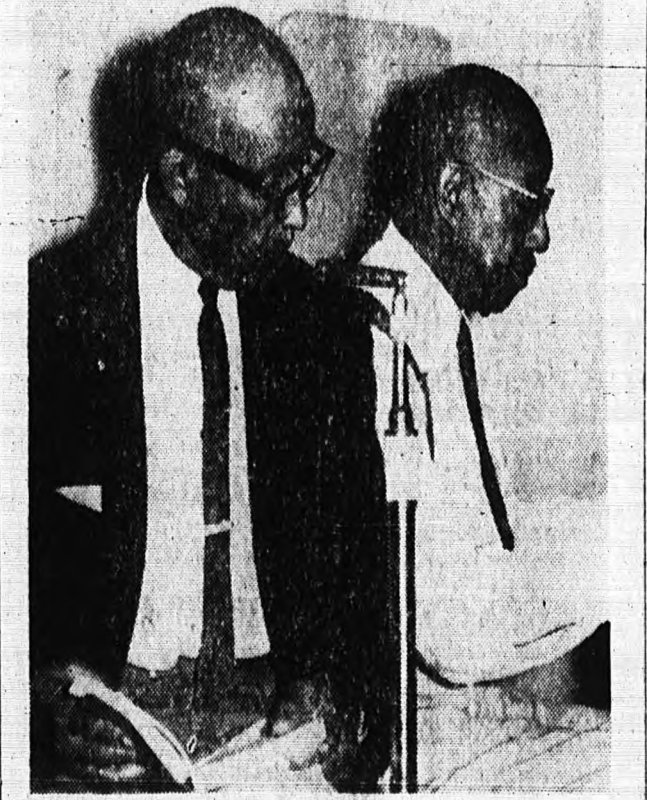

The Court of Appeals last week heard arguments on Jack's appeal from his much publicized conviction that knocked him from his highly paid and influential job.

Jack was found guilty of two violations of the City Charter in having accepted $4,400 from Sidney J. Ungar, a lawyer and real estate operator who did business with the city.

The money was used to remodel Jack's apartment in Harlem. It was described by both Jack and Ungar as a loan.

The City Charter forbids any officer or employee of the city to accept anything of value "knowingly and intentionally" from anyone having business with the city.

While many of the world's major airlines operated at a loss during 1961-62, South African Airways showed a profit of approximately $400,000.

RECORDING SESSION — Eubie Blake and Joe Jordan getting set for recording session of "Golden Reunion in Ragtime". Record-maker Fletcher Smith taped it in 32 hours in emotion-swept musical history.

Oldtimers Jordan, Blake Meet After Fifty Years

Fanny Brice rose to stardom and "Memories of You" became a jewel in the showcase of American popular music through the genius of the two old gentlemen seated at the piano, above.

They are Joe Jordan, 80, and Eubie Blake, 79. Along with 71-year-old Charley Thompson and "Ragtime Bob" Daich, shown above with Jordan and Blake, they produced a record album of their first meeting in 50 years. In it ("Golden Reunion in Ragtime") they play the music they wrote and played and traced America's popular music to its beginnings as "classical" Ragtime of Missouri.

Jordan wrote "Lovey Joe" for Fanny Brice. Blake wrote "I'm Just Wild About Harry" in addition to

Pecan Crop Is Like Growing Money On Trees

"Perhaps as much as $900" will grow on the pecan trees of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Carson of Eastman, Ga., this year," says State Agent Augustus Hill of the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service.

That's the amount this colored farm family may gross off pecans, one of their sideline crops, Mr. Hill explains.

The Carsons have 34 pecan trees they planted 21 years ago shortly after the Farmers Home Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture made them a loan to buy a 102-acre farm and lift themselves up from a dozen years of sharecropping and tenant farming.

"We planted the trees," says Mr. Carson, "because we knew this slow-growing crop would increase our determination to stay here and work hard to pay for the farm in order to be here when the pecan harvest came."

The family paid for their farm in seven years, added 68 acres the next year, and then waited four years more before their trees began bearing fruit. That was in 1953. This year they expect 3,000 pounds of nuts, their best harvest, not only because more of their trees have come into production and others are maturing toward maximum output, but also because they have followed research recommendations for fertilizing their trees given them by Associate County Agent Washington Bush.

LEADING PRODUCER
The Carsons are now among the leading pecan producers in southwest Georgia, largest pecan area in the United States. Last year the State produced 78 million pounds. This year production is expected to drop to 14 million pounds in Georgia and 81 million in the Nation in a kind of up and down cycle.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson sell their pecans to one of the 28 shellers and processors in the State. The industry has grown to 136 such firms throughout the country to supply bakers, ice cream manufacturers, and the market for canned and packaged nuts.

Like other growers of quality nuts, the Carsons receive anywhere from 15 to 20 cents a pound for their pecans, depending upon the supply. With the supply down this year, they may receive between 25 to 30 cents a pound, or nearly $900 for the crop — equivalent to returns from five bales of cotton.

Whatever the price, it will be almost like money growing on trees for the Carsons who also expect to produce on their 170-acre farm about 45 bales of cotton, 4,000 bushels of corn, 11 tons of peanuts, 10 tons of field peas, 70 hogs, a dozen calves, 300 dozen eggs, and a few turkeys.

"This kind of production spells a good living for the Carsons," says Mr. Hill. Three of their 10 children are in college at Fort Valley State.

PLAINDEALER EDITOR JAMES HAMLETT DIES

KANSAS CITY, Kas. — (ANP) — Heart attack was cause of death last week of James A. Hamlett, Jr., 56, retired editor of the Plaindealer. In failing health for four years he was confined to his bed a week before passing away. His father, the late Bishop James A. Hamlett, retired senior bishop of the C. M. E. church, died last February.

General officer of the CME denomination, he was editor of the Western Index, official organ of the church. In 1951 he was delegate to the World Ecumenical Congress in Oxford, England, and visited in France, Germany and Holland before returning home.

Native of Mason, Tenn., he was reared in Topeka and in early manhood lived in Kansas City, Kas., where his parents bought a home. Later he was married to the former E. Ma Ellis of Beggs, Okla.

For 33 years Hamlett operated the Plaindealer in its own building here. It has wide circulation in the southwestern part of the nation.

GAVE UP WORK
Failing health forced him to give up his publishing work in 1954. His Week End Chats, a column, in his newspaper, gained him recognition as a forceful writer. He contributed articles to Time magazine and to the Associated Negro Press in Chicago.

He was for 12 years assistant traffic director of this city and two years acting director. Interested in politics he was a familiar figure at conventions and other meetings throughout Kansas and at the national conventions of both parties.

The editor earned the B. A. in journalism from University of Kansas and M. A. in sociology at Baker university, Baldwin, Kas.

In business he was president of Twin City Hotel corporation which for several years operated the Parkview, a large hotel in Kansas City, Mo.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Erna Hamlett; son, James Hamlett III; mother, Mrs. Lena A. Hamlett; two sisters, Mrs. E. B. Payne of Houston, Texas and Mrs. Annie Mai Miller of Kansas City, Mo.

Negro GI's Serving On Mississippi Front Lauded

WASHINGTON — (ANP) — The bravery and patience of the professional soldier — and especially the Negro soldier — was lauded by a Washington correspondent who is still in Oxford, Miss., covering "the tragedy at 'Ole Miss'."

Richard Starnes, writing for the Washington Daily News, wrote: "The dignity of the Negro soldier has been little short of inspiring. The ingrained discipline of a professional soldier is a useful shield, of course, but soldiers are human, and the conduct of the Negro troops here is a proud chapter in the history of that sojourned people.

"In a dismal panorama of hate and violence, this has been one small shred of decency, and it can't help but advance the day when men can again live together in peace in Mississippi."

According to a member of Mrs. Green's staff, Woods E. Eastland, 17, son of the arch-segregationist, is attending St. Stephen's private school. The school admitted its first colored student last year.

one has already graduated and is teaching, and the other six are on their way.

Pecans and the other foods they grow are important not only for buying education, but also for good eating for the whole family, says Mrs. Julia T. Hamilton, their home demonstration agent. She points out that Mrs. Carson likes nothing better than baking pecan pies and rolls and other pastries and desserts she learned to make at home demonstration meetings.

Pledge New Effort Against Senate's Anti-Filibustering

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) — Renewed efforts to seek modification of Rule XXII, the Senate rule that requires a two-thirds majority to halt a filibuster, have been promised for the next session of Congress.

Senators Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) asked support of their colleagues for such an endeavor in a letter sent out Friday.

Without the change, they said, there would be "no real chance of obtaining meaningful civil rights legislation."

Their letter added that the Senate "needs a clear-cut anti-filibuster rule to permit a majority of the elected members to vote after a full and fair debate," and concluded that "an orderly and proper time for a motion... is on the opening day of the new Congress."

When the move was announced in the Senate by Senators Humphrey and Hart, two New York Republicans, Jacob K. Javits and Kenneth B. Keating, promptly pledged their support.

SEARCH FOR PEACE WINNER

KHARTOUM, Sudan — (NNPA) — Martin Mayer, 23, a first year law student at the University of Khartoum, was named one of four world-wide winners in an American Search for Peace essay contest.

Dr. Emma Kittles rejoined the faculty at the beginning of the second semester of the past school year.

Sanctions Against Mississippi Started

NEW YORK, N. Y. — A board program of economic sanctions against ultra-segregationist Mississippi has been launched by CORE. All of CORE's 60 branches across the country will be mobilized to participate. It was stated.

The program calls for dissuading new industry from locating in Mississippi, urging the federal government to cancel construction of any segregated facilities in the state and challenging in the courts the right of the state or any of its cities to income tax exemption on bonds sold to build segregated facilities.

"The federal government in effect is presently subsidizing those bonds by making them tax-free," explained James Farmer, CORE national director at the press conference. Regarding the outcome of legal action to end this tax exemption, Carl Rachlin, CORE's chief counsel, said: "Of course there's doubt about whether it can be done, but it's our belief that it has to be tried."

Tougaloo College, Mississippi's only integrated educational institution, was founded in 1869.

Sunday School Lesson

WHAT IS GOD LIKE?

International Sunday School Lesson for October 14, 1962. MEMORY SCRIPTURE: "Truly I perceive that God shows no partiality."

—(Acts 10:34. LESSON TEXT: Psalms 145: 8-20; Isaiah 40: 28-31; John 4: 23-24; Acts 10:34; Revelation 4: 11.

Today we will attempt to explore what we believe about the nature of God so that we can relate ourselves in a meaningful way to His will for our lives.

"I believe in God." This is a momentous affirmation. No declaration of faith is more fundamental and more far-reaching in its implications than this one. What we believe about God shapes our attitudes and sets the course of our living. We must know something of what God is like if we are to discover His will for our lives and our world.

What do we mean by the word "spirit"? We can get the best clue by looking at ourselves. We have bodies, but we are also spirits. When a friend falls in love, we can see certain outward expressions of his love, but we can never see love. Why? Because it is spiritual. So it is with God. We can see him at work in his world. He reveals himself in the beauties of nature and in the lives of Christlike men. These we can see, but God himself we cannot see. "God is spirit, and those who worship him must worship in spirit and truth." (John 4:24)

A central belief of our Christian faith is that God is the creative and sustaining Power responsible for all existing life. The creative work of God is a refrain that runs through the Bible from Genesis to Revelation. We find ever, where in ourselves and in our universe, unmistakable evidence of the handiwork of God. The order and beauty of creation show us that the Creator is a Being of infinite intelligence and beauty. As the scientists continue to amaze us with new discoveries revealing the vastness of this creation order, it can be likened to a hymn of praise to the sustains his creation. This means that he lives in a constant and meaningful relationship with all that he has created.

The highest form of creation is a person. Therefore, we believe that God is personal. We are made in the likeness of God. From this creative act of God we receive our worth and dignity as persons. And since God is personal, he knows each of us, and we can have personal fellowship with him. We cannot have fellowship with an impersonal force. We can have fellowship only with one who can enter into our joys and our sorrows. Through his personal love and concern God becomes for us an understanding companion, a faithful guide, a source of strength.

God is our Father. Let us picture in imagination all that we think a good father should be. Our heavenly Father is all this and much more. The Father loves and cares for each one of us. He rejoices with us and suffers with us. When he judges us, he always does so with a fatherly concern. And as a father, God shows no partiality to any of his children.

All that we have been thinking about God was revealed in his disclosure of himself in the person of Jesus Christ. Picture in your own mind what Jesus was like. He loved all sorts of people; he was always kind and thoughtful; he gave himself to the needs of others with complete abandon; he demonstrated a generous and sympathetic concern for those who had sinned; he was willing to sacrifice himself to reveal the depth and wonder of his divine love.

Now say to yourself, "God is like that." Jesus made this truth central to our faith when he said, "He who has seen me has seen the Father." (John 14:9)

Open House For Goodwill Homes

Goodwill Homes for Children will hold its third annual Open House Sunday, Oct. 14, from 3 to 5 p.m. The public is invited.

Goodwill Homes is located at 4590 Goodwill Road off Shelby Drive one block north of the Shelby Drive and Hornlake Road intersection. The home serves dependent children, who for some reason have to live away from their own families; usually children from broken homes. The area served is Memphis and Shelby County. The home has a capacity to serve 22 children, 11 girls and 11 boys.

The agency receives its operational funds through SUN contributions.

John A. Parsons, president of the board of directors, and other board members will help Mrs. Mildred T. Heard, executive director, receive guests.

YWCA Staff Members And Volunteers At Confabs

The staff and a few volunteers were busy the week of Sept. 23 in attendance at YWCA workshops and seminars.

Mrs. Addie G. Owen, branch director, attended the Southeast Executive Directors' Seminar at Lake Jimaluska Assembly in Waynesville, N. C., Sept. 25-29. The focus was upon the role of the administrator in a changing community in expanding services to women and girls, and in developing volunteer and staff leadership.

Miss Barbara Neal, teen-age program director; Mrs. T. H. Watkins, Mrs. Cooper E. Taylor, and Mrs. A. W. Jefferson, members of the World Fellowship Workshop, in Little Rock, Sept. 25. The objective of the workshop was to strengthen leaders' awareness of the relation of the Y. W. C. A. to the world Y. W. C. A. Mutual Service program and resources, program ideas and publicity techniques for YWCA's to take a hand in world affairs.

Arkansas Baptist College Gets New President Oliver

By JIM BOOKER

LITTLE ROCK — (ANP) — Arkansas Baptist college celebrated its 79th annual fall opening and featured the inauguration of its new president, Atty J. C. Oliver of Chicago with special ceremonies at the college September 30.

The program, representing the first of its kind to be promoted for sometime by what has been called the "oldest continuing college in Arkansas," attracted alumni, former students and friends of the institutions.

The newly elected president, Attorney Oliver, a student, teacher and former coach at the college delivered his inaugural speech as an important part of the program. The Chicago attorney is a nationally known orator, and churchman having a record as one of the leaders in the National Baptist Sunday School Congress. His platform calls for action to place Arkansas Baptist college in the North Central Association, a national accrediting agency.

Bert Williams, the great Negro comedian who died in 1922, was the first Negro performer to crack Broadway.

VIEWS OF REAL ESTATE

By JESSE L. WILLIAMS

"He that cometh to me, I will in no way cast him out."—Bible.

In a business as involved as that of selling real estate it is obvious that records must be kept if any semblance of order is to be maintained, and order is the difference in success and failure in any business. Hundreds of properties are listed. Each has a wide variety of data to be transcribed onto cards or into books.

Comings and goings of salesmen, contacts with prospects, notification of property owners that their holdings have been submitted, execution of various forms and leases—all these things and many others have to be carefully recorded for the guidance of the office force and its executives. If any executive, salesman, or broker says he can recall everything, that is a very good sign the business is a very good small one. The executive, broker, or the salesman has plenty room in this business for much needed improvement. The salesman's success in business is ultimately reflected by the records he keeps.

The sales kit with which the owner, executive, or broker equips each salesman is very important. It consists of an elaborate series of records which are compiled in the office for the assistance in bringing forth at the right time much of the sales material that the salesman will need in connection with the deal at hand.

Every salesman engaged in the real estate brokerage business should become thoroughly acquainted with the listing cards used in that office. Listings are the salesman's stock in trade, and if they are poorly made the process of selling is going to be of the same character, for poor salesmanship usually takes place in the selling of any poorly made article. A property well listed is already half sold. Anyone listing property need a working knowledge of appraisals of real estate now.

Mrs. Settles Hosts Del-Monte Members

Del-Monte Social Club meets Oct. 30 at the home of Mrs. Alan Rogers, 1161 Beachwood.

Last meeting was at the home of Mrs. Willie Mae Settles of 1059 Marechalneil, with Mrs. Mae Shipp conducting the opening session. Mrs. Lillie Pryor was reported ill. Mrs. Ruth Anderson, president. Mrs. Jennie Forbes, secretary. Mrs. Viola Macklin, reporter.

Major Edward Bowes was a man who believed in the people. He thought in terms of their problems, sorrows and joys. He had a large sympathy and understanding. That is why he had one of the greatest radio audiences in America. Not only did Major Bowes give pleasure to millions of listeners but he helped them as well. One of the ways he helped them was by the verses he recited over the air, verses that have the homely quality that carries the conviction of sincerity and makes personal the message of comfort and inspiration each contains.

In his book you will find many familiar favorites, your favorites as well as the Major's verses which radiate the same friendliness and good-fellowship that long characterized the inimitable broadcast programs to which they contributed so much.

Some of the men and women who composed these heart-warming lines have famous names, others are cloaked in obscurity. But those of use who can appreciate the simple inspiration which these living verses bring us, are grateful to the famous and unknown alike, and grateful to the Major for the service he rendered in making a collection which will be an unending source of pleasure and encouragement.

I will share by favorite with you this week; which is a prayer:

A PRAYER

It is my joy in life to find At every turning of the road, The strong arm of a comrade kind To help me onward with my load.

And since I have no gold to give.

And love alone must make amends.

My only prayer is, while I live, God make me worthy of my friends!

"Plan now to worship with Pentecostal Temple, Sunday, Nov. 11," said Gwendolyn Poindexter, chairman and Elder R. L. Williams, co-chairman.

Beale St. Baptist Plans Pre-Choir Day Program

By REV. P. L. JOHNSON
First Baptist Church, Beale St., pastored by Rev. James A. Jordan, will hold a pre-choir day program Sunday, Oct. 14, at 3:30 p. m.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Lula W. Williams. Visiting churches scheduled to participate are: Zion Hill, New Salem (4th St.), Unity and Open Door Baptist. The public is invited to attend the program sponsored by Eddy B. Huley.

Another affair to be given at the recently remodeled church is a fashion show Sunday, Oct. 21 at 3:30 p. m. It is being sponsored by Mrs. Rose Bowers and Mrs. Sadie Ambrose.

To really appreciate the remodeling job being done on the church, in addition to the much-talked paint job on the exterior, one must see the beautifully redecorated main auditorium of the historic church, which is up one flight from the street-level first floor, where prayer services are held daily at 12 noon. For a mid-day lift, stop in and pray. The pastor conducts the services.

Equal Protection Cases Re-Argued In Supreme Court

WASHINGTON—Two cases of extreme significance to NAACP activity will be re-argued in the U. S. Supreme Court this week by Robert L. Carter, the Association's general counsel.

The first case, to be heard on Oct. 9, concerns a Virginia statute which would bar the NAACP from sponsoring law suits designed to secure constitutional rights for Negro citizens. The Association has asked the Court to strike down the statute as an unconstitutional abridgment of the "due process" and "equal protection of the laws" clauses of the Fourteenth Amendment.

The Virginia law was passed in 1956 as part of that state's "massive resistance" program and would bar the NAACP and its local and state units from underwriting the costs and providing counsel in litigation instituted to test the validity of state-imposed racial discrimination. According to the law, such activity constitutes "unlawful fomenting and solicitation of legal business" and makes lawyers participating in such cases guilty of malpractice and unprofessional conduct.

NAACP Protests Bias In Dakota

RAPID CITY, S. D. — Following a sit-in demonstration at a restaurant here which refuses to serve Negroes stationed at nearby Ellsworth Air Force Base, NAACP Field Secretary Leonard H. Carter called upon Defense Secretary Robert MacNamara to declare "off-limits" to all Air Force personnel all local establishments which discriminate against Negro servicemen.

The NAACP branch here, composed chiefly of servicemen and members of their families, staged a sit-in in a restaurant on Sept. 30. The owner promptly closed the place, ordered the group to leave and threatened to summon the sheriff.

In a letter, dated Oct. 2, Mr. Carter urged the Defense Secretary "to investigate immediately this situation and remove the humiliating practices of segregation and discrimination confronting Negro airmen in Rapid City."

Citing threats of violence, Mr. Carter also wrote to Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy suggesting that the FBI "closely watch developments to insure the safety of our members."

GIBSON CONVICTION

The second case to be re-argued by General Counsel Carter later in the week, asks the Court to reverse a Florida contempt conviction of Rev. Theodore R. Gibson, president of the Miami NAACP branch and rector of Christ Episcopal Church there.

Father Gibson was convicted in 1960 by a Florida state court for refusing to produce NAACP membership lists or to identify as members of the Association names of persons read to him by a Florida legislative investigating committee. The Florida Supreme Court upheld the conviction which imposed a sentence of six months' imprisonment and a fine of $1,200.

In its arguments before the Supreme Court the Association has contended that it is a violation of the constitutionally guaranteed right of freedom of association to compel Father Gibson to bring these records to committee hearings and answer questions concerning membership in the NAACP of persons alleged to be Communists.

The implications of the case are of extreme importance, as answering such questions would result in the discrediting of the legitimacy of the organization and the loyalty of its members, without showing that either Father

NAACP Asks 11 Senators To Muzzle Eastland In Probe Of Oxford Riots

WASHINGTON (NNPA)—A Senate investigation of the actions of U.S. marshals at Oxford, Miss., will serve no other purpose but to "give comfort and false implication of Senatorial support to the wanton lawlessness" which made their use necessary, the NAACP warned last week.

In a telegram to 11 Senators, the NAACP Washington Bureau chief Clarence Mitchell said the announcement of such an inquiry by the Sen. James O. Eastland, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, was made by a man who "does not come into this dispute with clean hands."

Mitchell wired the Senators, six of them Republicans, that Eastland a Mississippi Democrat, has been the "chief of the antagonists" of the United States Supreme Court. He urged the lawmakers to do all they could to prevent Eastland from "using the Judiciary Committee and its resources as a propaganda weapon to promote or defend unconstitutional conduct."

HARM CLAIMED — Eastland's speeches in Mississippi and on the floor of the Senate, Mitchell warned, "have done incalculable harm in sowing disrespect for the highest court of our land." The NAACP spokesman then gave an account of the happenings on the night of Sept. 10 in Eastland's hometown of Ruleville, Miss., when three persons were injured by gunfire as they sat in the living room of the home of Herman Sisson. Sisson had been active in promoting registration and voting.

Mitchell said other gunfire was directed at the homes of Joseph McDonald and Robert Tucker, who also were active in assisting with

Grads Of Newnan's Central Hi School In Varied Fields

NEWNAN, Ga. — (SNS) — It has often been said that many times we can judge the concern by the product. If that expression can be applied to schools Central High School can take pride in the excellent records that some of its graduates have attained in various fields of endeavor.

By name Central High School in Newnan, Georgia is relatively young. It began operation in 1955 as a result of a merger of Newnan's Howard Wainer High School and Coweta County's Grantville Training School. Since that time, Central High has made rapid progress under the quiet, efficient leadership of Prof. F. A. Dodson who serves as its principal. Prof. Dodson has effectively served the youth of Newnan and Coweta County for seventeen years.

This year, Central High was placed in Class AA as a result of increased enrollment. It has approximately 775 senior high school students. The school practically stands alone in the State as a Class AA school located in a city as small as Newnan (Approximate Population: 12,000). Central High is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

With a staff of 30 persons who "love to teach," Central High serves students of Newnan and Coweta County in grades nine through twelve.

As an indication that Central High's graduates excel in varied undertakings, the following persons are cited:

Rufus Stevenson (CHS '58, Morehouse '62) was one of the first Georgians to complete training with the U. S. Peace Corps. Presently, he is serving as a Peace Corpsman in Africa.

Ira Turner, Jr. (CHS '62) received many citations during Naval Training at San Diego, California. He became a Recruit Chief Petty Officer of his Company, even though he was the youngest man in his Company. Upon graduation from Basic Naval Training, he was selected as one of the "Honorary" of his Battalion. Only one "Honorary" is selected from each company.

Miss Jacqueline Gibbs (CHS '58, Tennessee State '62) is a teacher in the Kansas City, Kansas Public School System.

William H. Hall (CHS '61) made the Dean's List during his freshman year at Howard University. Hall is entering the School of Pharmacy. He had an outstanding record in his chemistry and zoology classes at Howard.

Miss Darba A. Cook (CHS '62) has successfully completed training in the Marine Corps. Miss Cook was the first young lady in this area to become a "Woman Marine."

Howard Lynch (CHS '60) was observed by a Scout for the Boston Red Sox as he played baseball with his Air Force team. As a result of impressive performance, Lynch will play with the Boston Red Sox on trial when he completes his Air Force enlistment period of service.

Mrs. Clara Dodson Horsley (CHS '58, Spelman '62) is employed as a Social Worker in Dayton, Ohio. Mrs. Horsley had to pass an Ohio Social Worker's Examination in order to qualify for her position.

In addition to the named graduates, many other Centralites have earned good records in a large number of colleges and specialized schools, in military service, and in the world of work. All persons who are associated with Central High take pride in the Centralites who represent their families, their school, and their home county by rendering good service in their varied undertakings.

Young Medic Becomes Chief Resident At Texas Hospital

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — (ANP) — A history making event quietly unfolded on October 1 at the Robert B. Green Memorial hospital here when Dr. Robert L. M. Hilliard, became the first Negro in the South to become the chief resident of the obstetrics-gynecology department of a major teaching hospital.

The hospital, The Robert B. Green, is a 300-bed, charity institution operated by the Bexar County Hospital District, W. B. Forster, administrator. The hospital district also operates a 250-bed long term, convalescent and geriatric sanatorium.

Dr. Hilliard, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hilliard, of this city relieves Dr. Jerald King who has been the chief resident of the service since July 1, 1962. The position of chief resident rotates among the senior residents of a department. Dr. Hilliard will serve through December 31 when Dr. King again becomes the chief. Then, on April 1, 1963, Dr. Hilliard assumes the post until he completes his training.

Dr. Hilliard is a 1947 graduate of Wheatley High school in San Antonio. He received his bachelor of science degree from Howard university, Washington, in 1951 and was graduated from the University of Texas Medical branch, Galveston, in 1956.

He took his internship training at the District of Columbia General hospital in Washington. Upon completion of this training, he spent 13 months at the Lackland Air Force Base hospital where he attained the rank of captain. While there he spent one year in the department of surgery and the re-

Lawrence's Work Shown In Nigeria

NEW YORK — (KNPA) — An exhibition of 35 paintings by Jacob Lawrence, regarded as one of America's foremost colored artists, is being exhibited this week at the American Society of African Culture's West African Cultural Center in Lagos, Nigeria.

The show, featuring 25 paintings from Lawrence's "Migration of the Negro" series and ten works from "The War Series" will run for two weeks. It then will be sent to Ibadan where it will be shown at the Miami Artists and Writers Club's Cultural Center.

Don't Be Like Mississippi, South Carolinian Asked

NEWBERRY, S.C. — (UPI) — South Carolinians were asked October 6 to avoid a second Mississippi crisis by obeying federal integration orders without violence or bloodshed.

Dr. Nell T. Truesdell, president of the Christian Action Council and a Presbyterian minister who once served in the State House of Representatives, said many South Carolinians are "deeply concerned" with what happened in Mississippi during the integration crisis there.

"What happened in Mississippi probably had to happen," said the church leader. "But it does not have to happen again. If there should be a recurrence, it would be a double tragedy - double because we had not learned from the first incident."

"But it must not happen in our state," he said. The Christian Action Council is composed of religious leaders from eight Protestant denominations in South Carolina. D. Truesdell's statement was made at the request of its executive board, but was not meant to represent the feelings of all South Carolinians.

"We may not know what the future holds for our state, but there are certain things we can and should know. Not the least of them is the course we must take to the decree of the federal government," he said.

South Carolina is now fighting public school integration cases at Clemson College and in the public school systems of Clarendon, Darlington and Charleston counties.

Monroe, N.C., Law Aimed at NAACP

MONROE, N. C. — In a move which is obviously designed to curb activity of the recently organized branch of the NAACP here as well as union organization, the City Council of Monroe has adopted a solicitation ordinance containing many stringent restrictions.

The ordinance, which was described by the "Monroe Enquirer" as having "more teeth" requires that anyone soliciting paid membership in any club, association or union must obtain a license from the chief of police.

Several prerequisites to the license are required including "two letters from persons of known good moral character substantiating the character of the applicant," fingerprinting, the name of the association and a list of names and addresses of its officers.

New Miss Seeking Entry To Ole Miss May Be Meredith Companion

JACKSON, Miss. — (ANP) — Embellie Jones Meredith may see at least one friendly face on the campus of Ole Miss next February if a pretty Negro majorette — now a senior at Jackson State College — has her way.

Afonete Marie Bracy plans to enroll at the University of Mississippi when the second semester begins in February. If accepted, she would be the first Negro female to enter the school.

A native of nearby Raymond, Miss. Bracy submitted her application to Ole Miss last July. She said she received a letter from the university two weeks later notifying her of receipt of the application.

LETTERS RECEIVED — "Since then I have received a letter from the campus bookstore and another campus shop," the pretty senior said, "and I assume I am to be accepted."

Miss Bracy is a physical education major currently attending Jackson State in the first semester of her senior year. She has said she wanted to attend the university in order to take dancing and swimming classes in her major field which are not offered at Jackson State.

She said when she wrote for the application forms early last summer she did not mention that she was a Negro, but that when she returned the completed forms July 7 she enclosed a picture.

Miss Bracy said she had not planned to reapply for the spring semester "since I don't think it is necessary. I assume I have already been accepted."

She had no comment on the difficulties being faced by James Meredith who was enrolled at the university Monday as the 114-year-old institution's first Negro student. Meredith also was a transfer from Jackson State.

Lease Cancelled For Secretary Of African Envoy

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) — The white secretary of an African Ambassador lost her apartment last week because she freely admitted that she planned to entertain colored guests.

Miss Lorette Desableau, 22-year-old French secretary to Ambassador Jean - Pierre Kombet of the Central African Republic, was told her lease had been canceled and she would have to move from her flat in the 2100 block of California Street, N. W.

The building's owner, Mrs. James T. McCarthy, a widowed grandmother born in Ireland, told reporters she had not been told that Miss Desableau had planned to entertain Negroes in the apartment.

She said her white tenants would object, and some in fact had done so. When confronted, Miss Desableau admitted her intentions, she said.

Miss Desableau signed a lease calling for $105 a month for the apartment and left a $50 deposit with Mrs. McCarthy. After she had gone to look at the place in the company of her colored chauffeur, an electrician saw her leaving and reported this to Mrs. McCarthy. Mrs. McCarthy then acted to cancel the lease.

At the State Department, Pedro A. Sanjuan, Deputy Chief of Protocol who has been pushing a drive for better housing for foreign diplomatic personnel, said he planned to have a talk with Mrs. McCarthy.

Elks Head Denies Opposition To Medicare Bill

PHILADELPHIA — Grand Exalted Ruler Holson R. Reynolds of the Improved Benevolent Protective Order of the Elks of the World has denied published reports that the order, he heads, is opposed to the K-medic Administration's Medical Care for the Aged proposals.

Stories were carried in newspapers across the country that the I. B. P. O. E. W., the largest fraternal organization of its kind, with over 450,000 members, had turned down Medicare at its recent convention in Detroit.

Speaking from the Grand Lodge headquarters Mr. Reynolds stated, October 2, 1962, that the I. B. P. O. E. W. has taken no stand regarding Medicare.

The Grand Exalted Ruler declared that neither he nor the Grand Lodge acted on Medicare at the convention. He explained that he had referred the question of Medicare to the Elks' health commission for detailed and thorough study.

The decision on whether the I. B. P. O. E. W. would endorse Medicare will be decided by the findings and recommendations of the commission, Mr. Reynolds concluded.

Liston Can't Ever Win Taxin' Bout In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA — (ANP) — It may be another "taxin'" matter to Sonny Liston but it's like a letter from home to the City of Brotherly Love.

City Revenue Commissioner Martin Rotman announced that for every $100,000 Liston earns, the city will get $1,625.

Why? Because Liston as a Philadelphian must pay the 1.625 per cent wage tax on his purse.

Blew Darts At Negroes, Must Study History

LOS ANGELES — (ANP) — Four young white men whose idle hours were spent blowing darts from a homemade blowgun at Negroes, will have plenty of home work to keep them busy for the next few months.

Judge Richard F. C. Hyden sentenced all four to take an adult school course in Negro history at Dorsey Adult school this semester. And they must maintain a "C" average or better in the course.

The four "new students" are Dennis K. Dahl, 21, a welder; Gilbert B. Ollivas, 21, a machine repairman; Edward Jackson, 20, a clerk; and Mark A. Wolf, 20, a draftsman.
