Carver Moves To No. 2 Spot In Grid Race

Having nothing else to do last week, the league-leading Melrose Golden Wildcats invited the unsuspecting Merry High grid iron outfit to Memphis for a Friday afternoon contest and then proceeded to beat the devil out of the visitors from Jackson, Tenn.,

The smashing win over unhappy Merry was typical of undereated Melrose's victories this season. In four Prep eLague outings, the Wildcats turned back Manassas, 46-0; Hamilton, 30-0 (in the mud); Father Bertrand, 40-7, and second-place Carver, 32-0.

Co-champion with Booker T. Washington last year, the blockbusters of Melrose appear headed for a clear claim to the 1964 loop title.

They still have three to go, going against winless Douglass this Thursday night, the tricky little Lester next Wednesday night and the Washington Warriors on the night of Friday, Oct. 30.

Melrose coaches Eldridge Mitchell eJsse Wilburn and Charles Evans just about emptied the Melrose bench as the Friday afternoon scrimmage progressed.

The Wildcats tallied twice each quarter, with Jimmy Ward and Sylvester Hoskins scoring two each and Bobby Smbith, Eugene Evans, Willie Dawson and LeRoy Motton one each. Bridgeforth ran the lone extra point.

IN ACTION THIS WEEK, Carver went against Lester last night(Wednesday), Melrose will examine Douglass tonight (Thursday), and Manassas and Booker T. Washington will stage their traditional battle this Friday night. The Manassas Washington annual tussle dates back to more than 30 years ago when the Tigers and Warriors were the only Negro high school aggregations in the Memphis area.

On the turf last week, Hamilton, Manassas and Carver moved up the ladder. Hamilton (2-3) surprised by trouncing Washington (1-3) by a 30-14 score; Manassas (3-2) got by Lester (2-1) with a 28-20 tally, and Carver (3-1) undid Father Bertrand (2-3), 25-0.

THE MANNER IN WHICH Hamilton defeated Washington is one for the books. All of Hamilton's points were scored as a result of Washington fumbles and blocked punts.

The Wildcats of Hamilton tallied early in the first period when Clyde Brooks lifted a BTW fumble and raced 83 yards for the TD, and again on a safety late in the quarter when a BTW punt was blocked in the end zone.

Washington went ahead in the second frame on two quickies. Jim Slaughter went 56 yards for a marker, and then came back to rack up another TD from the 10 after brother Willie Slaughter and Napoleon Young had moved the oval to the scoring position.

The Wildcats knotted the count in the third after recovering a BTW fumble on the BTW 12. After teammates moved the ball to the four, Lorenzo went over for the 6 points.

The 'Cats blocked another BTW punt in the fourth and it was covered by Alphonso Peoples behind the goal line.

MANASSAS' TIGERS made a strong late rush to upend the Lester Lions. The Lions tallied in the first after a 66 - yard drive with Anthony Biggs going over. Biggs also converted.

The Tigers tied it in the second on a 40-yard heave from QB Wilbert Trigg to his brother Charles who trotted 28 yards for the TD Another throw from Trigg to Trigg accounted for the extra point.

Lester went ahead early in the third when Sylvester Hayslett plunged from the three after teammates had moved the pigskin 72 yards, Biggs ran the conversion Manassas came right back and knotted the count again on a 24-yard pass from Alfred Miller to Raymond Webb. Miller passed again

LINDA KELLY

Death Ends Girl's Sad Mission!

There was sorrow in the heart of 14-ear-old Linda Kelly last Sunday. Her friend's mother had died the previous day of a respiratory ailment at John Gaston Hospital. Linda was a girl who liked to offer consolation at a time such as this. So, she wrote a letter to her friend:

Dear Joyce:
I'm very sorry to hear about your mother. This is a letter to you from me in your need of sympathy. In my prayers I will not forget to ask the Lord to give your family strength and to keep it together.
Your friend always,
Linda Kelly.
P. S.: May we take up a neighborhood design?

After writing the letter, Linda delivered it in person.

Linda, one of eight children, an 8th grader at Carver High School and a part - time secretary for Gospel Temple Church of God in Christ, had been residing with her grandmother, Mrs. Louella Clark, at 114 E. Olive. Her mother, Mrs. Bessie Lee Kelly, and the other Kelly children live in Foote Homes at 398 - F South Lauderdale. Her father, Fred Kelly, lives in Chicago, Ill.

After delivering the letter to Joyce Lewis, also 14, at her home, 1354 Michigan, Linda settled down with Joyce and other children to watch a "western" on TV.

In the front room, Joyce's father, Elder Roy Lewis, and friends were praying and mourning the passing of the wife and mother of the house, Mrs. Emmaline Lewis, who was a missinary and co -founder of Penecostal Church of Jesus Christ which holds services in the basement of Clayborn Temple at Hernando and Pontotoc. They had planned her wake for this Friday night at Lighthouse Apostolic Church, 34 East Colorado. Her funeral was scheduled for Saturday in Mississippi. Mrs. Lewis was the mother of nine children.

Without warning, the adults in the front room were shaken out of their state of mourning by the sound from a shotgun blast. Linda had been shot accidentally by Brenda Lewis, 12.

Elder Lewis later explained that the children had entered a discussion about the "western" and Brenda picked up his loaded shotgun to demonstrate. He said the gun "went off" just as she picked it up.

The gun was reported on the bed in the backroom. Elder Lewis said he had loaded the gun about a week ago because of prowlers in the neighborhood.

Linda was shot in the chest and died shortly afterward. T. H. Hayes & Sons Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Elder Lewis has moved his children from the home for the time being and they are residing with relatives and friends at undisclosed address.

No charges were placed against Brenda, who was quoted as saying "People won't like me now."

BEALE STREET PROJECT IS EXPLAINED BY LANE

City Commissioner Hunter Lane Jr. this week issued a statement explaining the proposed Beale Street Urban Renewal Project. Commissioner Lane released the statement after receiving several letters protesting the proposed project. Here is his complet statement:

"In view of a considerable volume of mail I have received from property owners and tenants within the area being considered by the Memphis Housing Authority and the City Commission as an Urban Renewal Project, I felt that some response through the news media would be in order. The content of these letters demonstrated a need for a better understanding of the status of this project and what the project actually would accomplish.

"The matter which was deferred by the City Commission last week was not approval of the project itself but approval of an application by the Memphis Housing Authority for funds from the Federal Government to be used in conducting a study of the area. This study would determine in detail the condition of the president buildings in the area and the possible reuse of the land. The City Commission, after seeing the results of the proposed study, would have to give its approval again before the Beale Street Urban Renewal Project could proceed.

"There are two very important facts which the Commission will take under consideration and which should be known to every resident of the Beale Street area. One is that the preliminary survey indicates that of the 625 major structures in the area, slightly more than 90 per cent considered to have some deficiency. Of this 90 per cent, approximately 75 per cent are considered to be substandard to the extent that they will require demolishing. 297 of these major structures are residential. If these substandard units are eliminated, better housing for the present occupants will have to be provided, and the City Commission will have to be satisfied that this is being done before approval of the project will be given. No one is going to be turned out of his present home or business without some assurance that he can relocate in better surroundings.

"The second factor that should be considered is that the Beale

Grider Aims For Undecided Voter

A Democratic Representative from Shelby County will be more effective in the coming Democratic Congress than a Republican will, George Grider, Democratic congressional candidate for the Ninth District, told a television audience last week.

"As a very practical matter," he said, "any program for Memphis and Shelby County can best be attained by a representative who belongs to the party in control of the Congress . . . and there can be no doubt that my party, the Democrats, will have that control."

In a talk directed "To The Undecided Voter," Mr. Grider urged WMCT viewers to compare local Congressional candidates from the standpoint of experience, proposed programs for the Memphis area, potential effectiveness, and ability to make contributions at the national level.

"I believe my aims for service on a national level are useful," Mr. Grider said. "I hope my experience as a Navy commander of ships can be of value in helping to cut waste in military speng while keeping our defenses strong. And I hope to work for establishment of a Private Enterprise Corps, so voluntary representatives of each

Rev. Kyles Returns To Monumental Pulpit

After an extended period of illness, the Rev. Samuel B. Kyles has returned to the pulpit of Mounmental Baptist Church where he has pastored for the past five years.

The popular pastor - evangelist had the highest praise for the staff of the West Tenn. Hospital where he literally pastored from his hospital room for a year.

Much inspiration was given the minister, from the hundreds of letters, cards, phone calls, telegrams, contributions, and visitors, from all over the country, who remembered during the entire stay. 'Its just wonderful to have such friends who are so thouhgtful at such a time," he said.

"Our church held together marvelously well during my absence and my sincere thanks go to all the faithful members and my darling wife, for helping to make my stay as worry - free and comfortable as was humanely possible. A vote of thanks goes to the leaders of our church and to our assistant pastor, Rev. M. C. Smith for a job well done," Rev. Mr. Kyles added.

Regarding a call to another church out of town, Rev. Mr. Kyles stated that he would be remaining in Memphis and is now in the final stages of completing transactions for the purchase of a new church building.

An invitation is extended to all to visit oMnumental Church at 50 So. Parkway West. Services are held every Sunday at 11:15 a. m. Evening serves are at 7:30 p. m. Sunday School at 9:30 a. m.

State Baptists Scheduled To Make Decision

The Tennessee Baptist Missionary and Educational Convention will meet in its 92nd annual session in Nashville, Oct. 20-23. Meetings will be held at the Fifteenth Ave. Baptist Church.

Meetings of the Woman's Auxiliary, Young People's Department, Laymen, Usher and Choir groups will also be held, according to Dr. S. A. Owen, convention president. The convention is expected to draw about 500 messengers from affiliating churches and associations. Dr. Owen will complete 28 years of service as convention president.

An important item on the convention agenda will be whether to develop Owen College in its present site or in a new location. The college, which now occupies 10.35 acres in downtown Memphis, holds options to a 60-acre tract of land in the Lakeview Gardens section.

Men With Unloaded Rifle Arrested On President's Route

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (UPI) — Police Chief Hubert Kemp said Oct. 9 two Negro men were arrested on President Johnson's motorcade route while carrying an unloaded .22 caliber rifle.

Kemp said the men were taken to police headquarters for questioning.

"There is no indication of any evil intent," Kemp said.

He said the men told officers who seized them about six blocks from War Memorial Square, where the President spoke, they had just purchased the rifle at a pawn shop. One of the men was carrying a box of rifle shells.

The men, who were not immediately identified, were arrested on a street on which President Johnson's car was to pass en route to the square from the Nashville Airport.

Glowing Tribute Paid Dr. Speight

The Rev. Jarrette C. Atkins, rector of Smmanuel Episcopal Church, paid a glowing tribute this week to the late Dr. William Oscar Speight Sr. who served the church as its senior warden. Father Atkins' tribute follows:

"WILLIAM OSCAR SPEIGHT was indeed a dedicated physician and a devout Christian. He was a lover of souls so that he made himself a friend to all those whom he encountered in the 79 years of his life. He possessed a constant spirit of serenity and calm that enabled him to meet the trying situations of his life and those about him with a courageous and confident hope, and an unfaltering trust in God. Most of all, William Oscar Speight was a faithful steward, that is to say, he gave freely without ever counting the cost, all that God entrusted to him — his time, his skills and his treasures.

"He was a saintly man but his sincere piety was never such that he could not laugh. He possessed a keen sense of humor so that he was constantly bringing joy into the lives of others. He was never too busy to play with little children and to embrace them with arms of love. He was a man of great stature and an humble spirit.

"Although our acquaintance with him did not extend over a long period of time, we do feel especially blessed for the privilege of meeting him along the way. The world is nobly blessed that he lived and richer thereby. The life of William Oscar Speight is his monument and it will remain forever in the hearts and minds of those who knew him. The greatest tribute which we can offer to his memory as individuals and as a community is to keep alive the flame of love and brotherhood which he gave his own life to enkindle."

Barry Says LBJ "Power Hungry"

By WILLIAM THEIS
United Press International

WITH GOLDWATER IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST — (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater attacked President Johnson Saturday as a "power-hungry, prideful man" who is trying to lure the voters with "big brother" politics.

The GOP presidential candidate, campaigning through the Pacific Northwest en route to Salt Lake City, promised voters in Spokane that he will not "threaten, promise, or bribe" to get their support. Speaking of Johnson, he said:

"I ask you to let this power-hungry, prideful man know that the American people are not babies and do not need to be babied. I ask you to work with me to win this election — not for what I can promise you, not for what I can offer as a bribe, not what I can offer as a threat — I ask you to join in this crusade to return the power of the government to the people, to you."

Goldwater, leaving San Francisco complained that he is fighting a "shadow" opponent who won't risk a face to face debate on the issues. But he conceded that Johnson is doing just what he and other GOP leaders advised Vice President Richard M. Nixon to do in 1960. Nixon ignored their advice and faced John Kennedy in a series of television debates which many Republicans believed cost him the election.

Of Johnson's refusal to debate Goldwater told a group of University of California students in San Francisco:

"He's in the same position Dick Nixon was in when we told him not to debate Kennedy .... You don't give your opponents an audience."

Goldwater repeated his criticism of Johnson's refusal to debate at Spokane where he said "our foreign affairs are in shambles, and my opponent refuses to even discuss them with you or debate them with me."

At Spokane, the GOP candidate again attacked Johnson's running mate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota. He said Humphrey's roots are deep in socialist radicalism. He said voters are "disturbed by the grave possibilities that election of the opposition is really the election to power of the best-known spokesman for radical left wing theories in this country."

Cool 'N Breezy

Around the Big "H" With Barb, & Bev.

This week the spotlight falls on a very versatile young man in the senior class. He resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Ingram at 1709 Rayner. He is a member of Union Valley Baptist Church and is active in the youth choir. Around campus he is affiliated with many organizations. A few of them are the H Club and the Diplomats. He is the captain of the football team. He is none other than Larry Ingram. After graduation Larry plans to continue his education at Delaware State College. Hats off to a charming young man!!

FADS AND FASHIONS

There are a few more new fashions around the campus this year. This time girls are wearing large, colorful bows. Many of the junior and senior girls keeping up with the style are Patricia Dixon, Katherine Thompson, Patricia Lee, and Anita Tharp and Linnie Lee. Some of the boys wearing the "Parka," jackets are Lorenzo Forest, John Williams, James Elmore, and Kenneth Robinson.

Church Of Christ Supports Project For Understanding

NEW YORK CITY — The Committee for Racial Justice Now of the United Church of Christ announced here this week a special grant of $1500 to support a project for inter-racial understanding and education on the campus of the University of South Florida at Tampa.

The project involves university students in helping Negro public school children in remedial reading and cultural enrichment programs. It also includes a cultural exchange program among Negro and white professional people in the Tampa area. It is conducted by the Florida Conference of the United Church Board for Homeland Ministries (Campus Ministry Division) and the Council for Christian Social Action.

The Committee also announced a grant of $500 to the Akron (Ohio) Citizens Committee for Equal Opportunities in Housing in which ministers and lay members of the denomination are actively working to defeat an anti-fair housing charter amendment on the ballot in the coming election. An emergency grant of $200 was made to aid in publishing a civil rights newsletter of the Continuing Committee of the Clergy in Cleveland, Ohio.

Wesley E. Scott Mourned By Many

WESLEY E. SCOTT

Services for the late Wesley Ellington Scott, educator of 630 Walker Avenue, were held last Wednesday from Avery Chapel A.M.E. Church. His pastor, Rev. J. L. Gleese, officiated. Graveside services were held Thursday afternoon at National Cemetery.

Mr. Scott, who was 71, died at Kennedy Veterans Hospital on Saturday, Oct. 3. He was born in Washington, Ga., and had been in the Memphis public school system 35 years as teacher and administrator before his retirement in 1959.

Mr. Scott held a bachelor of science degree from Atlanta University and a master of science from Northwestern University. He was one of the first appointees of the language and literature section for the Memphis City Schools and West Tennessee Educational Congress, and public relations representative for the National Council of Teachers in Memphis and West Tennessee. He was an instructor at Tennessee A&I State University Extension School, and a former instructor at LeMoyne Normal Institute.

Mr. Scott was also active in civic and church affairs. He was Sunday School superintendent at Avery Chapel and Bethel Churches; steward, trustee, honorary member of the Conference Branch Missionary Society; dean of the Institute of the South Memphis District Annual Conference; former president of the 25th Ward Civic Club, and a non-commissioned officer during World War I.

Social Workers Perform Wide Range Of Services

WASHINGTON — (NNPA) — The wide range of services provided by social workers, most of whom are women, is suggested by the principal areas of social work. A discussion of these areas follows.

Public assistance workers are employed largely by State and local government agencies or public welfare programs which extend financial assistance to needy persons such as the disabled, blind, or aged; unemployed persons; and dependent children. Their duties include determining their clients' needs and whether they are eligible for financial assistance or other needed social services.

Family service workers in private agencies are primarily concerned with providing counseling services to families and individuals. They seek to strengthen family life, by improving interpersonal relationships, and to establish satisfactory relations between the family and community.

Child welfare workers in government and voluntary agencies deal with the problems of children. They may find foster homes or institute legal action for the protection of neglected or mistreated children, arrange for homemaker services during the illness of a mother, arrange for adoptions or placements in specialized institutions, counsel youthful delinquents, or advise parents on their children's problems.

ing teachers" employed by school systems also help troubled children, including those who are excessively shy, aggressive, or withdrawn; failing in school subjects for no apparent reason; hungry or ill; or truants. Workers consult with parents, teachers, principals, doctors, truant officers, and other interested people.

Medical social workers employed by hospitals, clinics, health agencies, rehabilitation centers, and public welfare agencies deal directly with patients and their families, helping them meet accompanying illness, recovery, and rehabilitation. Usually these workers function as part of a medical team composed of doctors, nurses, and therapists.

Psychiatric social workers attend patients in mental hospitals or of psychiatrists, psychologists, and other professional personnel, these workers help patients and their families to understand the nature of the illness, enlist the patients' aid in using the help available, and guide the patients in their social adjustment to their homes and communities.

Social Workers in rehabilitation services assist emotionally or physically disabled persons in adjusting to the demands of everyday living.

Probation and parole officers and other correctional workers, who are hired primarily by Federal, State, county, and city governments, assist probationers, parolees, and juvenile offenders in their readjustment to society. They make to the courts. They also counsel their clients and may help them find jobs. In addition, they fre-

J-U-G-S MAKE PLANS FOR LIVING ADS BALL

Although the calendar still says October, Memphis club women are busy with plans for the Annual Living Ads Balls that were made Saturday when Mrs. Ann Nelson served as hostess for the October meeting.

Mrs. Sarah Chandler, president of the group, presided and heard a report from Mrs. Josephine Bridges, general chairman of the ball.

Members on hand to assist with plans for the "benefit" (that has been the top affair for more than 10 years) were Mrs. Pearl Gordon, Mrs. Hester Miller, Mrs. Helen Cook Mrs. Dolores Lewis, Mrs. Jerry Little and Miss Marie Bradford. The only member absent was Mrs. Nedra Smith who accompanied her husband to the Grambling - Tennessee State game in Louisiana over the week-end.

MRS. ELIZABETH SIMON ENTERTAINS KNOXVILLE MATRON

Mrs. Emmitt (Elizabeth) Simon was hostess .... and she was assisted by Mrs. Josephine Bridges in entertaining for Mrs. Simon's attractive cousin, Mrs. Alma Jean Moore, popular Knoxville business woman who made a real hit in Memphis .... and was the excuse for the quick yet pretty party.

The bar was open all evening with Mr. Simon and Mr. Frank Williams serving at the bar. Mrs. Lacenia Cain and her caterers served the food.

The spontaneous get - together was a gathering of a large number of friends. "Twas pure pleasure to relax comfortably in the large club and try on the many pretty wigs that Mrs. Moore (who owns a Beauty and Wig Shop) brought to Memphis .... and she did hold all of us spell - bound.

Assisting Mrs. Simon and Mrs. Bridges in receiving was Mrs. Mildred Williams. Others noticed during the evening were "Neet" Watson, Pearl Spann Bruce (a bride of a week), Jewel Speight, Ann Willis, Leola Gilliam, Nell Northcross, Heeln Cook, Vivian Willis, Ann Nelson .... and with her was her mother -in- law, Mrs. O'Ferrell Nelson, Sr., Esther Brown, Cecelia Westley, Katherine Thornton, Margaret McWilliams, Mae Fitzgerald, Gwen Conley, Pearl Gordon, Joan Johnson, Evelyn Robinson, Grace Young, Dorothy Evans, Norma Jean Griffin and Helen Prater.

OF WIDESPREAD INTEREST to Memphians is the recent marriage of Mrs. Marilynn Halfacre to Mr. Raymond Cotton. The bride is a Memphis city teacher. Mr. Cotton, a native Memphian, recently arrived back in Memphis and has been here with his aunts, Miss Jim Ella Cotton and Mrs. John Cox.

Taking the spot light in Memphis this week was R. C. Owen who stopped off in Memphis enroute to New York . . . and was guest of Rev. J. A. McDaniel. Mr. Owen plays professional football with the New York Giants. He has plaed with the Baltimore Colts and San Francisco Forty - Niners. Is in Public Relations with J. C. Penney and Co. play in Dallas Sunday.

In the air this week are discussions of the World's Series ..Going up to St. Louis for the Series last week were DR. AND MRS. W. H. YOUNG who were accompanied by DR. B. B. MARTIN.

Going up to New York for the World Series last week - end were MR. AND MRS. A. MACEO WALKER .... Accompanying them was their small daughter, "Candy."

DR. GWENDOLYN BELL, Memphis girl, is now professor at Tennessee State University. Dr. Bell, who is the granddaughter of Mrs. Bessie Nolan on Ridgeway, received her doctorate last summer from the University of Iowa.

The Brookes' home has been humming again with youngsters again getting off to school. This year it was pretty little Mona who entered Peabody College at Nashville. Mona, who was Phi Beta Kappa at Fisk last year, has won many other honors and scholarships.

MR. ANDERSON BRIDGES, a well liked fellow and coach around town, was named the new president of the Men's Club at Emmanuel Episcopal Church last week.

MR. THADDEUS STOKES former editor of the Tri - State Defender who once served as editor of the Memphis World, has replaced MR. STANLEY SCOTT at the Atlanta Daily World in Atlanta. That handsome young Stanley, who is a member of the Scott Syndicate and popular all over in Newspaper circles, took a position with United Press International out of New York. Before coming to Memphis where he too was editor of the Memphis World, Stanley worked at the Atlanta Daily World (for thirty years the only Negro Daily that can be found on your steps in the morning that belongs to the Scott family). He was a graduae of the School of Journalism at Lincoln University and did work in Journalism at Kansas U. Mr. Stokes too was brought to Memphis from Atlanta by Mr. C. A. Scott, General Manager of the chain of papers and the Daily Paper seven years ago. Mr. Stokes received his training in journalism at Kent U. in Ohio.

Several Memphians went up to Covington to the funeral services of MRS. CHAS. McCADDEN, Sr., mother of Mr. Charles McCadden of Tuskegee. Coming up from Tuskegee with Mr. McCadden were Mrs. McCadden, their two boys and Dr. C. C. Allen, a long time friend. Those that we glimpsed the few minutes that we were there were Mrs. Minnie Woods, Mrs. Claudie Foster and Mrs. Forestine Lewis.

MRS. MILDRED RAYNOR DAVIS, Assistant Principal of a Chicago City School, and MRS. MORELAN DAYE Detroit Social Worker, have returned to Memphis after being here last week with their dear mother, Mrs. Alice Raynor who passed at John Gaston Hospital on Sunday. Mrs. Raynor, a pioneer and a gracious lady of the South, has two daughters in Memphis, Mrs. Juanita R. Turner who is a walking genius in Math and Mrs. Bernice Howard who is also a city teacher.

The newst thing around town is "THE VILLAGE VANGUARDS" owned and operated by "Tops" Sawyer and Courtney Harris .... and the unusual spot on Porter Street is a beautiful one for sure.

We are thrilled to know that MR. C. C. (Chew) SAWYER seems to be improving.

Memphians all around are extremely happy to see Dr. Stanley Ish, Jr., up and out after having been ill. Especially are his patients glad to know that he is back in his office.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT LEE (She Jim Ella) of Southern University at Baton Rouge .... MR. JAMES (Jimmy) Wells, Jr., of Los Angeles ....and Mrs. Sarah Moyees of Cincnnati arived here the first of the week for the funeral services of their father, MR. JIM WILLS (as he was afectionately known to his friends) Mr. Wells has been a leading citizen and one outstanding in real estate even though he was modest in his business deals.

Mr. Harvey Atkins, prominent Cleveland gentleman and father of Dr. Leland Atikns of Memphis, is now touring the Far East. Mr. Atkins, who is in the city hall in Cleveland, was in Memphis this summer when his plans had been made for his trip abroad. He was especially anxious over Bangkok in Thailand, some of the Islands in the East Indies and the Olympics in Tokyo where he is now and other points in Japan.

Weaver Elementary School Events

WILLA GOODMAN

Weaver Elementary School students, P.T.A. members, and faculty members are doing big things under the principalship of Leonard Holley.

Just recently one of the seventh grade students, Willa Goodman, of 3459 Weaver Road, won second place in a 4-H project. The meeting was held at Shadowlawn School. The judge was W. O. Sewell (poultry specialist from Agriculture Service, Knoxville, Tenn.) Her project was "Raising Chickens." Willa had been given 50 baby chicks to raise in May by the 4-H Club supervisor. She raised all the 50 baby chicks, and with unnecessary expense.

The P.T.A. fellowship meeting held in the school's cafetorium was a blooming success. Presided over by the P.T.A. president, Mrs. Maude Williams, the members and the president discused the possibility of having the serivce of a bookmobile twice a month for the Weaver School students. Approximately 60 attended.

One of the faculty's newest members, Clarence Branch, along with the students of his homeroom class, presented a chapel program, Wednesday, Oct. 7, that was very educational and timely. The program was entitled "Fire, Public Enemy No. 1."

Another addition to Weaver's faculty and student activities is Alfred Rudd and the Weaver Chorus under his tutorship. This chorus, which is an A Capella, is composed of talented students in grades 7 through 8.

Last but not least, Weaver School is publishing a weekly newspaper with Dwight Ford, a three times 4-H Club winner, as editor. The paper, which will be distributed each Monday at three cents a copy, is entitled "The Weaver Chronicle."

14th Ward Civic Club Slates Meet

The 14th Ward Civic Club will meet this Saturday, Oct. 17, 7 p. m. at Avery Chapel A. M. E. Church, Trigg at Neptune St.

Roscoe McWilliams, the president, is urging all members to attend the meeting.

Monroe High School Is Desegregated

MONROE, Ga. — Monroe Area High School was desegregated without incident Monday when two Negro girls entered. The pupils were formerly students at Walton County School (for Negroes), having requested transfers on school opening day, Aug. 31.

Walton County School Supt. Clyde C. Pearce Jr. said the girls were admitted after the administration did "a lot of soul - searching" and "found no reason, except racial, not to transfer the students." The Walton Board of Education announced over a month ago that the transfer applications from the two Negro girls would be approved.

Meanwhile, school officials explained, during the first six -week grading period, the desegregation policy to the 740 white students at the Monroe Area High School. One official said the students were told that desegregation was the law of the land and that they had to be law - abiding. There was also hope by school officials that they could retain "more control locally" by making the desegregation decision without a court decision.

Your reporter is ill and will not be able to give you a complete report on the conference held in Memphis, Tennessee last week, however, she attended as a member of the delegation from Ripley.

The annual West Tennessee Conference was held at Trinity CME Church on Wells Avenue, beginning Wednesday morning. Bishop Julian Smith and Presiding Elder C. W. Allen were in charge. The business meeting was conducted by Rev. Dewitt T. Alcorn.

The conference was kept in high spirits even though many changes were made. Many touching songs, sermons and prayers were heard throughout the sessions. People were there from far and nearby towns and cities.

Good food, prepared so that the il land they well could enjoy it, was served along with free coffee. Rev. P. G. Hentrel, the host pastor and his members are to be commended for their fine hospitality. The church was beautifully decorated.

Mr. Saul Moore of Ripley was also a busy man, day and night, during the sessions. I don't think he took ample time to sit at the table and ea, bu, he kep that smile.

We appreciae our presiding elder, Rev. C. W. Allen, coming back to us temporarily. We hope he can stay.

SEMINAR AT LeMOYNE TO AID 10TH GRADERS

LeMoyne College will conduct another humanities seminar for 10th grade students attending high schools in the Memphis area, it was announced by Lionel A. Arnold, dean of the college.

The seminar will be held on Saturday mornings from 9 to 12, beginning this Saturday, Oct. 17, and continuing through April 177.

History, literature and French will be taught and serving as instructors will be eight members of the LeMoyne faculty Dean Arnold, Dr. Clifton H. Johnson, Dr. Juanita Williamson, John W. Whittaker, Vincent Kohler, Miss Marilu Sanchez, John E. Paynter and Mrs. Julie B. Paynter.

The college conducted similar during the summer session and the second semester of last school year.

Registration is scheduled for 8:30 this Saturday morning.

"The humanities seminar endeavours to help Negro youth in areas in which they have had very little opportunity to fill the gap which exists between their level of cultural achievement and that of majority young people of a corresponding age," declared Dean Arnold.

Two LeMoyne Coeds On WKNO Feature

Two LeMoyne coeds will appear Oct. 27 on College News, a new weekly program series sponsored by WKNO-TV. The feature is scheduled for Tuesday nights, starting at 8.

Appearing for LeMoyne will be Miss Geraldine Gray, a senior, who spent a "Junior Year in the North' last school year at Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass., and Miss Lilla Ann Abron, a junior, who was a visiting political education scholar the past academic year at Morgan State College, Baltimore, Md.

Misses Gray and Abron will tell of their experiences on the two campuses.

Crime Is A Problem Which Should Concern All Citizens In A Community

The increase in crime is, beyond all doubt, one of this country's most pressing and difficult domestic problems. Senator Goldwater has dwelt on it at length in the course of his campaign. President Johnson also has pointed to its gravity. It has been the subject of innumerable articles, editorials, columns, speeches. And the evidence bears out this deep concern. The Federal Bureau of Investigation has reported that during the first six months of this year its crime index showed an ominously large nationwide increase over the comparable period in 1963. The violent crimes, led by rape, were all up. So were crimes against property.

Particular notice has been devoted to crime in the larger cities although, of course, the rural and suburban areas have a serious crime problem as well. In city after city, people, primarily women, are afraid to venture onto the streets at night.

Yet a city can have safe streets, and at least one does. U. S. News and World Report tells that revealing story in a feature article in its September 28 issue.

The city is Milwaukee, Wisconsin. The article begins with these words: "What makes a city law-abiding? Come to Milwaukee, one of the most law-abiding cities in the U.S., and you find it takes more than a good police department, tough prosecutors and honest judges. It also takes solid citizens. Public officials agree that it is the whole civic climate in Milwaukee that keeps crime down."

The article goes on to examine in detail the city's methods of dealing with crime of all kinds. And that was a job worth doing—for, in its population, Milwaukee is the mosit crime-free city in the land.

If Milwaukee can keep its crime to a minumum, so can this and other cities. If every citizen will fully cooperate with police and other officials, we think crime can be materially reduced. Just refuse to protect those whom you know are engaging in criminal acitvity.

The Candidates On TV

Campaign officials boosting Senator Barry Goldwater say they are attempting to buy as much time on television immediately following campaign appearances of President Lyndon B. Johnson as possible.

In other words, they want a contrast. They say frankly they believe Senator Goldwater will show up to advantage if he follows the President on the television screens of America.

They also believe the President will never agree to debate the Republican candidate and think Goldwater would win any debate between the two.

This is ironical, for it is generally conceded that the late Democratic President, John F. Kennedy, won the 1960 election in his four debates with the Republican nominee, Richard Nixon, the first of the four having been especially disastrous for Nixon.

And President Kennedy had said, before his death, that he would meet the Republican nominee in televised debates in the 1964 campaign. It appears now that this pledge by Kennedy, and any reluctance on the part of President Johnson, to meet his opponent, might work to the public relations advantage of the challenging and willing candidate.

The only sure way for President Johnson to avoid any possible disadvantage would be for him to agree to at least one or two televised debates.

National Bible Week

We live in an all-too-casual world — a world in which almost everything, including religion, seems to be largely taken for granted. Far too few of us give a little time each day to reading the Bible — to seek and to find in it help toward meeting the problems and confusions of our age.

That is why National Bible Week, observed October 19-25, now takes on greater meaning than ever before. It is sponsored by the Laymen's National Committee, Incorporated, which is an All Faiths organization. This year the chosen theme is a tremendously timely one: "THE BIBLE: GOD'S WORD — MAN'S HOPE — IN UNITY." How much that can mean to us all!

It is anticipated that many millions of people will observe the Week and make it the outstanding and far-reaching success it deserves to be. But that is not enough. Every week should be a Bible week, every day a Bible day.

The greater our material abundance, the more faithfully we should build and sustain our spiritual values.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

More Knowledge Of Africa Said Needed

WASHINGTON, D. C. — "Americans need to know more about Africa," a New York publisher told the American Negro Leadership Conference on Africa meeting in Washington, D. C. (Shoreham Hotel) last week.

Noel N. Marder, President of Educational Heritage, Inc., sponsors of the newly released Negro Heritage Library, said that because of its "unique relationship" to America, the African continent — particularly sub - Sahara Africa — was "inextricably bound to the development and fortunes of our own country."

"Teachers, librarians and curricula experts should give priority to African studies," Mr. Marder continued "America's national community must have an accurate and wholesome appreciation of African culture in it, so to understand that it was from African origins that the American Negro emerged to give so much life and vitality to the American experience. It is noteworthy too that so much of the vital raw material that goes into our total gross national product originates in Africa," he said.

of Whitehaven. Master plans have been developed for both locations.

Dr. Charles L. Dinkins, president of the college, stated that something ought to be done now to improve the physical conditions of the College. "We have gotten ten more years of life from building formerly occupied by Siena College and St. Agnes Academy, and the same conditions which led to their decision to relocate are now affecting us. If the convention decides to relocate, a number of alternative suggestions for use of the present property will be presented. An immediate effort would be made to raise the funds to purchase the 60 acres," said Dr. Dinkins.

Dr. Dinkins pointed out that federal assistance would be sought if the convention votes to make the move. The college was visited last March by Dr. Orin Cornett, director of the Division of Higher Education of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Messengers will also have opportunity to see the new Convention Headquarters in Nashville, located in the Union Protective Building, one block from the entertaining church. Rev. Charles H. Fitzgerald, newly-appointed director of promotion for the convention, is in charge of the office.

Street Interceptor Sewer which runs from the medical center area into the river will be included in this project. This means that two-thirds of the anticipated cost of this sewer, or approximately $1,330,000, will be paid with Federal Government funds, with local taxes being used to pay the balance. This will result in a considerable tax saving for local property owners.

"I know that the thought of moving out of a location where you have lived or done business for a number of years is naturally disturbing, but I think that you can see the overall benefit to the city and to many of you individually which would result from the elimination of the many substandard buildings in the project area. Those that are not substandard will not be touched, in accordance with the usual Memphis Housing Authority practice in other Urban Renewal areas.

"In closing let me mention one other thing. All the letters which I have received contain the statement that if this project is carried out, the writers will vote for the Republican ticket in November. This decision is the free choice of every voter, but I would suggest that this course of action would not necessarily cause the project to be abandoned, unless of course, the entire Urban Renewal Program enacted by the Congress was abandoned in the next meeting of that legislative body."

to Webb for the extra point.

Opening the fourth, Reuben Hall of Manassa scooted 40 yards for nother tally and Miller threw to Curtis Broom for the extra one. Lester then staged a 67-yard drive and Haylett went over from the one. Try for extra point failed.

Manassas iced the victory late in the fourth on a short heave from Miller to Houston Chaffin. Miller threw to Webb for the extra point.

FATHER BERTRAND'S 25-0 defeat at the hands of the strong Carver machine was somewhat of a surprise. It was a surprise because many Bertrand fans expected a closer score.

Bertrand's Thunderbolts, due in New Orleans this weekend for an engagement Friday night, lacked the necesary blocking and were erratic in their attempts at breaking up the Carver Cobras' passing attack.

Too much cannot be said of Carver's steady quarterback Robert Jones whose great arm threw four touchdown passes. He passed to Larry Stevenson in the first from the six for a marker, again in the second (36 yards) to John Jackson for a tally, and twice in the third to Raymond Jones and to Jackson for six-pointers. Raymond Jones kicked the one extra point.

139 New Public School Districts Desegregated

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — New desegregation reported in September increased to 139 the number of Southern public school districts that desegregated this fall for the first time, Southern School News said in its October issue this week.

The 11 states in the South have a total of 583 desegregated districts with policies to admit Negro students to the same schools with whites. These districts represent more than one-fourth of the 2,255 public school systems having both races enrolled. The South has another 734 districts that either have all-white or all-Negro enrollements.

According to records of Southern Education Reporting Service, this year's increase in new desegregation, at the kindergarten through high-school level, slightly exceeds the 135 desegregated districts added during school opening in the fall of 1963. Texas, which accounts for half of the 583 desegregated districts, leads the 11-state area in the number of newly desegregated districts this fall and last. The number of new districts acting in each state this fall and the total desegregated are:

State	New	Total
Alabama	4	8
Arkansas	11	24
Florida	5	21
Georgia	6	10
Louisiana	1	3
Mississippi	4	4
North Carolina	25	65
South Carolina	15	16
Tennessee	15	60
Texas	28	292
Virginia	25	80
TOTALS	139	583

ESTIMATES

Complete figures on public school enrollment still are unavailable at the end of September, but estimates obtained by Southern School News correspondents in 10 of the 11 states indicate that the number of Negroes in schools with whites remained below two per cent of the 2.9 million Negro students in public schools. A reliable estimate was unavailable in Tennessee. Last May, an SSN survey determined that the former Confederate states had 1.18 per cent of their Negro students in schools with whites during the 1963-64 school year.

Figures available at the end of September indicated that the pace of new desegregation in the South this fall continued at about the same as last fall, when desegregation activity increased considerably over previous years

In the border area, where 93 per cent of the school districts have desegregated, Kentucky added one new desegregated district and Oklahoma, three. The six border states and the District of Columbia—with 771 districts having both races enrolled—now have 720 districts with desegregation policies.

The Southern and border region combined has a total 1,303 desegregated districts, representing 43 per cent of the region's 3,026 districts having both races. The region has 3,093 other districts that either are all white or all Negro.

Few incidents accompanied the new school desegregation this August and September. One in the past month occurred at an Atlanta High School. The school, which shifted to a predominantly Negro enrollment, had fights between white and Negro students, and some whites sought transfers.

Educator Sees Automation Allowing Too Much Leisure

TALLADEGA, Ala. — For all its advantages, automation has spawned some "very serious problems, two of them unemployment and, delinquency," a college official declared Wednesday.

Dean Cohen T. Simpson, during the Opening Convocation at Talladega College, said science and technology have evolved automation which, in turn, has provided Americans with "abundant leisure time," time they have spent "almost entirely in fun and games." Such use of this time "is not sufficient and we see results in the mischief which is being done by both adults and youths ....", he said.

And things could get worse, Dean Simpson said for "science continues its progress. Soon, our mechanical devices will take over much of our thinking, for the process of cybernation is now well in an advanced stage of infancy." He foresees automation replacing "supervisors, control engineers and many white collar workers, thusly compounding the problems as we know them now."

The hope, the salvation of mankind he said, appears to lie in more attention to creative use of the leisure time automation has provided. At least two remedies are being developed or planned, Dean Simpson pointed out.

We're spending two billions annually on concerts and recitals, for one thing and, will probably spend seven billions in 1970. These - concerts and recitals - encourage art and "give both direction and meaning to life itself," he declared.

The other remedial program is suggested in H. R. 12406 introduced this year in Congress. The bill would establish a National Humanities Foundation, thusly lending support to art and other activities which would siphon off excess time, energy and ability upset by automation.

Robinson Cites Need For Role In African Affairs

WASHINGTON—In he keynote address delivered at the opening session of the second American Negro Leadership Conference on Africa, Dr. James H. Robinson, founder and director of Operation Crossroads Africa, charged the Conference with the "responsibility of serving as a catalytic agent in helping to relate Africa and America."

Also addressing the opening session here, Sept. 24, was G. Mennen Williams, Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs. Mr. Williams reviewed the history of American Negro interest in Africa citing particularly the monumental work of the late W. E. B. DuBois, a founder of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and, through the NAACP, a pioneer in the establishment of the Pan-African Congress.

The United States, Mr. Williams said, does not propose to tell African states how to run their affairs, nor does this country propose to see non-African nations intervening into African affairs.

Dr. Robinson said the Conference must "keep before both the legislative and executive branches of government, as well as the people of the United States, the need to improve, strenghen and enlarge our constructive policies towards Africa. It has the responsibility of developing better communications and relations between the American Negro community and Africa . . . and of devising an effective strategy for transforming its aims and objectives into positive and constructive action."

He further called upon the Conference "to broaden its organizational and operational basis to reach other segments of Negro leadership in business, mass media, youth organizations, labor and religious groups" all of which "should be an integral part at policy level of whatever organized effort is decided upon."

There is need also Dr. Robinson said, "to provide the basic support for a continuing secretariat from within its own ranks. If our aims and objectives and the reasons for the continuing conference are as important as we say they are, then it behooves us first to lay a solid foundation with financial support for an adequate and competent staff, through which we can work both in this country and in Africa."

A. Philip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and one of the six signers of the call for the second national conference on Africa, presided.

Louisiana Law Seen As Threat To Civil Rights

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The Louisiana law against subversive activities is a threat to every person and group working for civil rights for Negroes in that state.

This is one of the main points made by a group of Negro and white attorneys in a brief filed with the U. S. Supreme Court for the Southern Conference Educational Fund (SCEF), New Orleans.

They are appealing refusal of a three - judge federal court in Louisiana to stop state prosecution of James A. Dombrowski, SCEF executive director, and Benjamin E. Smith, SCEF treasurer.

Smith's law partner, Bruce Waltzer, is also charged under the law, which carries a penalty of 10 years in prison. The three were arrested last October after raids on their homes and offices.

The raids and arrests were made by city and state police at the request of the Louisiana Joint Legislative Committee on Un -American Activities. The state legislature has since cut the committee's funds from $60,000 to $10,000 a year.

Barry Says LBJ

President Johnson has no intention of keeping his farm promises and is giving "parttime" attention to the space effort.

He termed Russia's threeman space flight "shocking news," and called for a "major re-direction" of the nation's space efforts.

Hard-pedalling the farm issue, Goldwater also denounced what he called Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman's "Gestapo." He said the only way Johnson's farm program could be made to work "is to place farmers under federal police control."

The GOP presidential candidate jumped the gun on the major farm speech he had been slated to make Friday at the National Corn Picking contest in Sioux Falls, S.D., when he spoke to an estimated 15,000 persons from the steps of the Kansas state capitol.

SAYS PROMISES BROKEN

Goldwater, to cheers, said Johnson had told Midwest voters what the Democrats will do for the farmers. He added:

"They made the same promises in 1960—promises that haven't been kept. And they haven't any intention of keeping them."

In a speech prepared for delivery at Milwaukee, Goldwater said President Johnson tried to pass himself off as "smart and big-hearted" but that the voters do not believe it. In contrast, the GOP presidential candidate said, the message of his own campaign is:

"Stop the spead of socialism at home and communism abroad."

ON LIVE TV

Goldwater sounded his campaign theme in a speech prepared for delivery at the Milwaukee Arena, the first rally address of his campaign to be televised "live" nationally.

"Of course, nobody wants to be or worried or frightened or insecure," Goldwater said in Milwaukee. "But do you really believe that government can make you rich and happy and confident and secure?

Is that what you think freedom is, something somebody in the White House can give you if he feels like it?

"Do you really believe there is somebody so wise and prudent and powerful that he can—or will—give you those things if you just put him in the White House? Do you really believe him when he tells you how smart and big-hearted he is?

MY WEEKLY SERMON

By

REV. BLAIR T. HUNT,
PASTOR,
MISSISSIPPI BLVD. CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"ALL GOD'S CHILLUN GOT WINGS"

Text: "Oh That I Had Wings Like A Dove!"—Psalms 55:6.

More than 300 years ago there came to this great land of opportunity groups of black men . . . slaves, if you please. These African slaves found a religion beautifully adapted to their needs. The folk-lore of the Old Testament gave a rich outlet or emotion and worship. Jesus retook his place as the bleeding lamb . . . a Savior who bore all suffering and wiped away all tears. The Negro preachers were "wings" on which the black man was carried into glory.

The Negro preacher created a heaven, as a miraculous escape from a dire world . . . a luscious compensation for earthly suffering. The expression of all this poured forth in the spirituals hymns of the Negro and by the Negro. These spirituals were pregnant with soul meaning and the comforts of heaven. Illustrative of the mythical aspirations and eternally-vaulting hope of the Negro is that sprightly beautiful old spiritual, "All God's Chillun Got Wings" . . .

"I Got Wings . . .
You Got Wings;
All God's Chillun Got Wings . ."

And thus we come to the re-emphasis on our subject, "All God's Chillun Got Wings" . . .

True, all of us have "wings." Some of our "wings" have not sprouted. Some of our wings are soiled. Some are broken . . . some singed . . . some are white, brown, black, yellow.

Too, many of God's chillun who have "wings" have never "flown." They have not flown because they have never had a chance to fly. The r wings have been clipped by circumstances over which they had no control.

Our black, brown and yellow wings have been soiled, broken crippled and clipped by ignorance crime, poverty, and misdirection. We have not been able to spread our wings because of odds against the Negro. — discrimination, prejudice and caste, which assail us to our hurt and to the hurt of the whole nation. Remember, the hater is hurt more than the hated.

The Negro and the underprivileged and unfortunate white man are like birds, doves, with broken wings, clipped, non-flying wings.

Too, our feathers have been plucked. We sometimes pluck out our own feathers, to our own hurt.

We pluck and pluck out the wrong feathers, such as goodness, love, temperance, peace, optimism, faith. We then try to fly, but can't!

Yet, ome feathers needed to be plucked out, such as hatred, envyings, strife, dishonesty, etc. They are dead weights. They keep us from flying!

"Let us "wait (attend) upon the Lord," and we "shall mount up with wings as an eagle."

Yes, "I've got wings, wings of music, wings of physical strength, wings o fmoral stamina, wings of faith, wings of religion, wings once soiled, but now cleansed by Calvary's blood . . .

"I've Got Wings . . .
You've Got Wings . . .
All God's Chillun Got Wings!!

Wings which are soiled, broken, cripped and clipped. They must be cleansed, healed, and made whole by a continued and intelligent application of the ointment of education, the liniment of goodwill, the bond of brotherhood, through Jesus Christ.

"All of God's Chillun Got Wings", all of God's chillun want to fly. All of God's chillun should "fly" and move into the realms where God's chillun belong.. — in that land of many mansions, where one may "chat with the Father and argue with the Son and talk about he land where he came from — for I've Got Wings, You've Got Wings—all of God's chillun have got Wings!!!

Box Office Funds Seized For Taxes, Charles Balks

DALLAS — (NPI) — The seizure of $8,000 in box office receipts to satisfy back taxes owed by someone connected with a Ray Charles concert here last week, caused the famous singer to refused to perform and touched off what was described as the worst disturbance at Memorial auditorium since Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson was spat upon by anti-UN demonstrators last October.

Charles himself "has absolutely no liability with the tax people," Tom McGarrity, his agent, emphasized.

Some 400 blues fans rioted smashing tables, windows, furniture and a popcorn stand, and causing a total of $3000 in damages, after they were told that Charles would not perform. Charles did appear on the stage at the intermission but never performed.

Ellis Campbell, Jr., district director, Internal Revenue service, said seizure of the receipts was to pay back taxes "owed by someone connected with the show."

He said IRS regulations forbade him to name the person who owed the taxes, but there were reports it was one of the show's minor promoters.

Charles' agent Tom McGarrity explained afterwards that the popular blues singer and recording artist refused to perform because he was not paid as stipulated in the contract.

"Our contracts calls for getting paid at the intermission," Garrity explained. "When we went to get our money, we found it was locked up by the IRS."

Garrity also said that it was deemed wise for Charles to stay out of the "hassle between the government and the guilty party."

NAACP Publishers Candidates' Records On 1964 Rights Act

NEW YORK — The positions of President Lyndon B. Johnson and Senator Barry Goldwater on the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the vote on the Act by all members of the 88th Congress are featured in a pre-election issue of The Crisis, official monthly organ of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"The acts and attitudes of candidates for national office on the passage and enforcement of the (Civil Rights) Act is the overriding civil rights issue in the national campaign," a statement in the magazine on the "Official NAACP Position on the Presidential Campaign" asserts.

The position of both major party Presidential candidates on this issue is clear, the article says.

"In public statements and private conversations," President Johnson "used the weight of his office to assure that the strong bill reported by the House Judiciary Committee would not be weakened by undesirable amendments. When the measure was under strongest attack, he refused to compromise So far as he could, he acted constructively to effect passage of the Act and was instrumental in securing its overwhelming approval by both Houses of Congress."

POSITION CITED

Of Senator Goldwater's position and role, the article says: "He voted against the Act and voted against invoking cloture to end the filibuster against the bill. In so doing, he was one of only six Republican Senators who voted against cloture and voted against the bill as well."

Of 114 amendments proposed, Senator Goldwater voted on 38. "The only amendments he supported were of a weakening nature, including those offered to delete from the bill the public accommodations and equal employment titles.

"Senator Goldwater has asserted that the public accommodations and equal employment titles of the Act are unconstitutional and that their effective executive would require 'the creation of a police state."

The magazine listing of the vote of members of Congress on the Act significant listing of 100 congressional districts in which the potential Negro vote ranges from 17 to 87 per cent of the total.

The NAACP voter registration campaign alone accounts for an increase in the number of registered Negro voters of more than 1,160,600 in 27 states, the magazine reports. The campaign has been conducted in 45 states.

The Crisis has a nationwide circulation of 120,000. Reprints of the section on the presidential election are available at 5 cents a copy.

DELTAS WILL PRESENT EBONY'S FASHION FAIR

The "Spanish Flair" in fashion will be highlighted in the Ebony Fashion Fair sponsored here by the Memphis Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta, Wednesday, Oct. 28, at 8 p.m. in the Music Hall.

Mrs. Ernestine Cunningham, general chairman of the fair, one of major social events of the season, expects a record crowd exceeding any one social event in the organization's history.

Miss Maggie L. McDowell, publicity chairman, said that arrangements are well underway to draw a capacity crowd this year, and predicted that this year's showing will be uniquely different, provided by an added touch of "intrigue."

The intrigue she explained, will result from a mystery plot woven into the fabrics of the show's program. Characters will include a mysterious lady in red, a romantic hero, and a fashion mystery to be solved.

Featured in the show will be high fashions from the top fashion centers of Florence, Rome, Paris, and Barcelona, as well as New York and Los Angeles. Selections from such leading counturiers as Christian Dior, Balenciaga, Yves St. Laurent, Biki, Eleanor Garnett, Oleg Cassini Norma Norell, James Galanos, and Scaasi were chosen, along with choices creations by top Negro designers.

Fashion surprises include four unusual ensembles designed exclusively for Ebony Fashion Fair 1964 by of Spain's most famous fashion creators. Exactly what these costumes are remains top secret until near the end of the show.

The fair, produced by Ebony Magazine, is a traveling fashion show sponsored by local civic and social organizations for the benefit of charity. Lasts year, the show attracted an attendance of 100,533 to its 67 shows from coast to coast. The total raised for charity alone amounted to more than 150,000. Since its inception in 1958, the show has raised more than $700,000 for designated charities.

The show is appearing for the 4th time in Memphis.

HOSTAGE—Congo Premier Moise Tshombe sits stolidly in Orouba Palace in Cairo, held hostage by U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser. At right is one of Tshombe's secretaries. Tshombe was held when he arrived for the nonaligned nations conference because Congolese troops surrounded the U.A.R. and Algerian embassies in Leopoldville.

Tshombe Leaves For Leopoldville

PARIS — (UPI) — Premier Moise Tshombe left Paris Tuesday aboard an Air Congo jetliner for Leopoldville after a bizarre odyssey that included his detention in Cairo as hostage for United Arab Republic and Algerian embassy personnel in the capital of the Congo.

Tshombe was taken into custody on his arrival in Cairo for the summit conference of non - aligned nations. He was held under house arrest for four days and released only after the U. A. R. and Algerian embassy staff and dependents were allowed to leave Leopoldville for Brazzaville in the former French Congo.

Tshombe came to Paris for a medical checkup. He said he did not eat or drink for three days because of fear that he might be poisoned by U. A. R. President Gamel Abdel Nasser's men.

In two news conferences in Paris, the Congo premier charged that he was barred from the conference and held under house arrest because of Nasser's ambitions to control Africa. He also called for an investigation of his detention by the Organization for African Unity.

Before leaving for Leopoldville Tshombe emphatically denied report that South African pilots had been or would be used in military operations against the Communist rebels in the Congo. The non - aligned nations have condemned South Africa because of its white supremacy policies and have been critical of Tshombe's employment of white mercenaries.

Non-Aligned Nations Get Anti-Bias Plea

CAIRO, Egypt — (NNPA) — Freedom from racial discrimination was included in a five-point program of action submitted to the second non-aligned nation's conference here by Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India.

Administration "Inherited" Cuba, Rusk Declares

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk denied Thursday that the administration has been delaying major decisions on Viet Nam because of the U. S. elections.

Rust also replied to Republican attacks on U. S. - Cuba policy. He said the Democrats inherited the problem of a Communist Cuba from the Eisenhower administration and that finding a "cure" is more difficult than "prevention" would have been.

In a wide-ranging news conference Rusk also delivered the strongest warning yet against any Indonesian attack on the Philippines. Such an attack "from any quarter," he said, would be regarded as an "attack on the United States" and it would be "reckless indeed" for anyone to doubt this U. S. commitment.

ASKED ABOUT POLICY

Asked about "whispering" that the administration is considering new policies in Viet Nam but holding them until after Nov. 3, Rusk replied:

"South Viet Nam is a major issue of war and peace . . . this is not a matter which any president of the United States can deal with in electoral terms."

". . . The President has made it very clear to his own principal advisers that the decisions that are required with respect to South Viet Nam have nothing to do with the American elections. . .

"We are not concealing anything or postponing or marking time or refusing to make the decisions that are required by that situation because there is an election going on in this country. No president could do that."

DECLINES PREDICTION

Rusk declined to predict whether the United States might untimately move toward "deep involvement" in Viet Nam. But he said "We are not going to pull away from our commitments to the security of Southeast Asia, and specifically South Viet Nam."

On Cuba, Rusk said. "The present administration was not responsible for the prevention of a Communist Cuba. We were confronted with the problem of cure, and cure is more difficult than prevention."

This was in reply to campaign statements by Sen. Barry M. Goldwater and Rep. William E. Miller urging greater efforts to free Cuba. Miller this week urged U. S. recognition of a Cuba government in exile.

Consumption of natural gas in the United States has risen 258 per cent since 1946. Last year alone gas consumption increased 4.2 per cent to a record 14.7 quadrillion Btu's. Gas also accounted for 29.7 per cent of the nation's total energy consumed in 1963, not including liquids extracted from natural gas. Annual consumption of gas has more than tripled since World War II.

Negro Vote May Reach 7-Million, Figures From NAACP Field Show

ON THE JOB TRAINING — CLEVELAND, Ohio — The U.S. Department of Labor recently signed its first and largest contract in the Ohio-Kentucky-Michigan region with the Urban League of Cleveland. The contract provides $211,000 for an "On-The-Job" Training project for occupations in which workers are needed.

Standing behind them are, left to right: Kenneth Banks, who will direct the project for the UL; Harold James, Manpower Development Specialist, Regional Office, Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training, and William G. Thomas, director of Job Development for the Cleveland Urban League.

Registration Continuing In Many Areas Of Nation

NEW YORK — Incomplete, preliminary figures received from NAACP representatives and others in the field indicate a registration of nearly 5,500,000 Negro voters in 34 states and the District of Columbia as of Oct. 1.

Althea T. L. Simmons, coordinator of the NAACP nationwide voter registration drive, pointed out that registration is continuing into the early part of the month in 13 of these states. She also noted that no reports had been received at NAACP headquarters from 16 states, most of them with Negro populations. Moreover, final reports are yet to be received from most of the 34 states represented in the present survey.

On the basis of the reports and the continuing stepped - up drive to enroll every eligible Negro, Miss Simmons ventured to estimate a registration of about 6,500,000 by Election Day, Nov. 3. "The figure may well approach 7,000,000," she added.

12 - MILLION POTENTIAL

Nationwide the potential Negro vote is about 12,000,000. A significant portion of this potential lives in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and other southern states where Negro registration is kept low through systematic programs of repression, reversal, trickery and intimidation.

The heaviest Negro registration is reported for such pivotal and big electoral college vote states as California, Illinois, Michigan, New York and Texas, in each of which the present estimate is about 300,000. There has also been a significant increase in Negro registration in key southern states — Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina, and Virginia.

The preliminary and incomplete NAACP survey indicates the following Negro registration in the 34 states and the District of Columbia:

Arizona, 8,030; Arkansas, 165,000; California, 450,000; Colorado, 21,000; Connecticut, 9,000; Delaware, 22,000; Florida, 385,000; Georgia, 240,348; Illinois, 500,00; Indiana, 65,000; Iowa, 12,000; aKnsas, 65,000; Kentucky, 72,000; Louisiana, 175,000; Maryland, 210,000; Michigan, 363,520; Minnesota, 11,000; Mississippi, 28,000; Missouri, 100,000; Nebraska, 3,000; Nevada, 4,030; New Jersey 13,000; New York, 550,000; North Carolina, 234,073; Ohio, 225,000; Oklahoma, 50,000; Pennsylvania, 350,000; Rhode Island, 7,000; South Carolina, 175,00 Tennessee, 294,974; Texas, 325,000; Virginia, 105,312; Washington, 12,000; Wisconsin, 20,000; and the District of Columbia, 101,000.

Legal Abortions Among Wealthy Whites Top List

NEW YORK — (NNPA) — Wealthy white women are taking the lion's share of the legal abortion practice in New York City.

City health authorities reported last week that the white legal abortion rate is five times higher than the Negro rate and 26 times higher than the Puerto Rican rate.

An exhaustive study said a 20-year review of "therapeutic abortions" in the city showed nine of every 10 abortions were sought by white women. Most of these women were identified as "private service" patients who were treated at the "more expensive" hospitals.

Therapeutic abortions" are legal in New York, but the study indicated that they are becoming "less available" to the women from low-income groups, particularly Negroes and Puerto Ricans.

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 465 "Of hundreds of orders issued by General Sherman during the Atlanta Campaign, none affected the citizens of Atlanta more intimately and painfully than Special Orders No. 67, which provided for their exile," Franklin M. Garnett, author of "Atlanta and Environs," wrote.

It decreed [see No. 456 in this series], "The city of Atlanta being exclusively required for warlike purposes, will at once be vacated by all except the armies of the United States, and such civilians as may be retained."

From mid-September into October 1864, Atlanta families struggled southward, seeking relatives who would take them in. Some Negro servants accompanied them, but most of the slaves took their chances to the North, within the lines of their liberators.

Union forces and civilian authorities had not organized housing and feeding for them, and many of the Negro refugees were thrust into conditions worse than they had left.

Mental Health Centers To Get Federal Help

WASHINGTON — Construction of community mental health centers for the first time will be partially financed in 1965 by Federal grants-in-aid of $35 million.

This is the first appropriation under a $50 million three-year program of Federal assistance to finance center construction. Grants will range from one-third to two-thirds of the building cost.

Recent signing by President Lyndon B. Johnson of the appropriations bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare budget of $6.5 billion makes funds immediately available to begin actual construction of these centers.

They will form the nucleus of the new national mental health program to provide comprehensive treatment of the mentally ill in the patients' home communities.

Grants will be administered and awarded to eligible sponsors of the centers by the National Institute of Mental Health of the Public Health Service under terms of the Community Mental Health Centers Construction Act of 1963 (Public Law 88-164).

To meet terms of the Act, the centers must provide a minimum of the following five essential services to patients: inpatient treatment, outpatient treatment, partial hospitalization, with around-the-clock emergency service available in at least one of these. Centers must also provide consultation and educational services to community agencies.

Training Contract Of $211,000 First Of Kind In North

CLEVELAND, Ohio — The U. S. Department of Labor recently signed its first and largest contract in the Ohio-Kentucky-Michigan region with the Urban League of Cleveland. The contract provides $211,000 for an "On-The-Job" Training (OJT) project for occupations in which workers are needed.

Ernest Cooper, executive director of the Cleveland UL, said the contract will benefit approximately 350 unemployed workers, mostly from racial minority groups. The project comes under the Manpower Development and Training Act, and was signed by Mr. Cooper and Davis A. Frey, acting regional director of the Department's Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training in Cleveland.

"This project will provide a real opportunity for a significant number of unemployed here to acquire new skills and good jobs upon completion of the training", Frey stated.

The Urban League will administer the project for the next 12 months by establishing and staffing an office for contract area employers to develop independent training programs. The Urban League will call upon its National Skills Bank to provide a number of applicants.

Mr. Cooper said that, "a number of employers in the community have already indicated a desire to participate in the program. With employers paying workers while they are in training, the cost to the government is comparatively small".

"The best thing about this is that the trainee will definitely have a good job once he completes his training course," Cooper concluded.

N. Y. Municipal Committee To Raise Funds For Colleges

NEW YORK — The Honorable Paul R. Screvane, President of the City Council of New York, addressed the New York City Municipal Committee of the United Negro College Fund at the Americana Hotel recently. Representatives from 73 departments of the City of New York attended the opening meeting of the committee, which seeks to raise money for the Fund's 32 independent Southern colleges from municipal employees in New York City.

"The Fund is a means of setting right the tragic imbalances that have kept one-tenth of our nation from self realization," Mr. Screvane said. "I see the Fund, which is supported, after all, by all parts of our community — white and black — as an expression of the wish to redress the injustices of past centuries and to give the Negro, as swiftly as possible, the opportunity to participate fully in the American dream."

The sponsoring group for the Municipal Committee is composed of the majority of City Commissioners, Borough Presidents and other departmental heads. Nearly every city department has one or more active committee members.

The committee was organized for the first time in 1962 when $12,375 was raised. In 1963 the committee raised $16,415. The goal for 1964 is $25,000.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner is Honorary Chairman of the committee. The Chairman is Lloyd Peterson, Secretary of the New York City Transit Authority. Deputy Fire Commissioner Robert O. Lowery is Secretary. Others at the speakers table were Dr. F. D. Patterson, President of the UNCF and Randolph O. Rankin, Assistant to Mr. Screvane.

The National UNCF goal for 1964 is $3,000,00. Naerly $2,000,000 has been raised so far this year.

Press Cited For Tax News Coverage

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — Georgia's press has performed an "outstanding job" of bringing comprehensive coverage of tax news to citizens of the state, says A. C. Ross, District Director of Internal Revenue.

In recognition of National Newspaper Week, beginning October 12, Mr. Ross pointed out that newspapers have not only been alert to the rights and responsibilities of taxpayers, but have helped to make the public aware of the stake each has in a sound tax system.

"The Georgia press is a major force in helping to make the American tax system of voluntary self-assessment effective in our state," the Director said.

Mr. Ross added: "A fine example of the cooperative spirit of public service shown by the press here in printing information on special tax aspects of the recent hurricane. Bringing the information on casualty losses to Georgia victims of the storm helped to reassure and assist our citizens on their tax situation."

The Director went on to point out that the Georgia newspapers will "play a vital role in a few months. They will be the chief means of bringing the changes in the 1964 Revenue Act to the public, publicizing themb, and bringing helpful information on the effect to Georgia taxpayers."

Vaunted Blue And White Tigers Suffer 1st Loss

By EARL S. CLANTON III

GRAMBLING, La. — In spite of a brilliant second half effort, Tennessee State Big Blues got knocked from the undefeated ranks, 20-18, by Grambling College eleven here Saturday, Oct. 10.

Outscoring John A. Merritt's Big Blue's 20-6 in the first half the Grambling Tigers saved their victory when Eli Smith intercepted Eldridge Dickey's pass with just 31 second showing on the game clock. ....

* * * *

Senior guard Rob Reed set up the game's first TD by recovering a Grambling miscue on Grambling's 27. In nine plays, Dickey fired a bullet to Johnny Pride for the talley with 10:18 to play in the opening stanza. The Big Blues 3-1 on the year missed the extra point run and this spelled eventual doom for the Nashvillians.

* * * *

"I knew Grambling went for the two point plays," coach Merritt confessed. "We got behind and had to continue going for the two-point conversions and Grambling defense us wel."

After the intermission pep-talk, the Merrittmen stormed back that had Grambling hanging on the ropes before 8,000 Bayou fans with the clock running out. Dickey found his firing range as Bill Tucker opened up Merritt's ground game in a desperate effort to overhaul Grambling.

* * * *

Ending the third period, Johnny Robinson snagged a 22 yard TD offering from Dickey to cap a 69 yard-seven play wrive. Bowens carried the ball five times during the drive and Robinson caught two passes. One of the passes was for the score with seconds showing on the clock.

Kept alive by two key penalty calls, Tennessee State drove 95 yards for the games final TD in 12 plays. Starting on their own five, Dickey popped over from the one with 5:20 left in the game.

* * * *

Trailing Grambling's fullback Hank Dyer who ran for 72 yards in 13 carries, Big Blue setback. Bill Tucker ploughed 71 yards in 15 tries. Johnny Robinson hauled in pass receiving honors by catching 6 for 106 yards and one circus catching touchdown. Quarterback Dickey did his best to end Grambling seven-year domination over Tennessee hit the target with 12 of 22 aerials and added two touchdowns upped his total to 8 for the season.

"The boys played a tremendous second half," Coach Merritt praised. Robinson and Dickey did a fine job on offense, and Danny Pride in his first ball game for Tennessee State was outstanding both ways.

Manassas Tigers

Hi, this is Chandean Cooper and Sylvia Coleman with the latest happenings around Manassas High School.

Tragedy — a sudden, stark and ghastly — has struck the Manassas school senior class of 1964-65. This stunned class along with his family and relatives mourn the death of Johnny Earl Boykins, born April 13, 1946.

Johnny was a person whose warm personality had touched all our lives. Though not all of us approved his every act, we noted his courage, his dedication, his manly good-looks, his wit, his eloquence, his human touch and his achievements toward human society.

To many of us, Johnny was not only a friend but a brother. Though gone, he still speaks, and now, none can silence his voice.

For he lived and died as a bright star in the constelation of human thought and activity. So we blink at the horrendous vision of John-

But I must add that Claude Humphrey did a splendid job in our line."

* * * *

Moaning his season first loss Coach Merritt revealed, "we couldn't get together in the first half. Plus that fact that some of our young backs made some mistakes that hurt us. I have said all along that we have a young ball club and they will make mistakes. You can't make mistakes against a club lige Grambling and win."

3 White Youths Held In Shooting Of Negro Youths

NEW ORLEANS — (NPI) — Three white youths, one 20 years old and two only 16, were arrested last week accused of riding through a Negro section of the city and shooting and wounding two Negro youths standing on a corner.

The victims stated that the attack was unprovoked and that the white youths in an automobile, just opened fire without warning. Both boys were wounded in the leg with buckshot from a shotgun.

This is only one of the many times someone has ridden through this section shooting at parked automobiles, breaking picture windows and shooting through walls and doors. The type of house in this section is above average, ranging in price from $17,000 to $30,000 and occupied by Negro business, professional and trades people.

The white youth, Michael Riesi, was placed in jail and the two juveniles were remanded to the juvenile authorities. The latter two lads live within the very shadow of the home for delinquent boys, which, by the way, was once "home" to Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong.

ny's death, and hang our heads in shame that such a barbarous deed could be done in our society today.

God rest your soul, Johnny, but the greatest burden of sadness belongs to us, and we accept it. On us in the days ahead lies the obligation to bring the greatest meaning out of your death.

Death is a punishment to some, to some a gift and to many a favor.

Bethune-Cookman Defeats Morris Brown, In Homecoming Battle

Color And Pageantry Marks Morris Brown's Annual Homecoming

ATLANTA Ga.—(SNS)—The Bethune-Cookman College Wildcats, of Daytona Beach, Fla., wrapped up their third consecutive victory of the 1964 football campaign Saturday by defeating the Morris Brown College Purple Wolverines, 18-6, in a big Homecoming game, at Herndon Memorial Stadium.

A bright sun and blue skies beamed on the grid fans on hand for the homecoming festival, which was marked by color and pageantly. All of the sideline festivities were superb including the pre-game parade, presentations of the lovely grid queens, and the half-time show by the Marching Wolverines.

In their debut before a hometown fans the Purple Wolverines rose to formidable strength on the defense, but failed to find the offensive drive and scoring punch they have been looking for.

The Maroon and Gold Wildcats broke in the score column early in the second period. QB Stanley Edwards, of Pittsburgh, Pa., pitched a 16-yard-pass to Wilbert Jones, of Delray Beach, Fla., and on the next play Willie Hannah, of Leesburg, Fla., streaked 23 yards up the middle to pay-dirt. The try for points was no good, and Bethune-Cookman led, 6-0 at half-time.

queens and fraternity sweethearts were presented by Miss Delores Davis, and Professor Colonius Davis, general chairman of the Homecoming Committee, made remarks and announced the winners of the beautiful trophies donated by the Gulf Oil Corporation and the Atlanta Coca-Cola Bottling Company.

Another half-time feature was a sparkling variety show by the Marching Wolverines, under the direction of Band Director Cleophas Johnson. The 100-piece Morris Brown Band saluted President Frank Cunningham on his birthday and he in turn greeted the homecoming throng with remarks and a welcome to alumni and friends from the Press Box.

The Wildcats went 29 yards to pay-dirt in the third period after Johnnie Douglas of Lakeland, Fla., covered a Morris Brown fumble. Hannah and Elijah Gipson, of Panama City, Fla., moved the ball to the Morris Brown 2, and Edwards went in for the the score. Again the try-for-points failed.

WOLVERINES SCORE

Morris Brown scored with 7:21 left in the third period, when Oswell Jones intercepted a Bethune-Cookman pass and stepped 15 yards in the end zone unmolested. Roosevelt Russell's attempted placement was wide.

The Wildcats came back and marched 51 yards for another touchdown late in the third period, with QB Edwards passing 14 yards to Jones and 33 yards to Jerry Simmons, of Bartow, Fla., for the pay-off. An attempted placekick was blocked.

The Purple Wolverines got their offense clicking in the fourth period, when QB George Brown of East Point threw three straight strikes two to George Bowman of Atlanta; and one to Eddie Fennell of Savannah, Ga. This drive was halted on the Bethune-Cookman 12.

An account of the Homecoming Parade and the winners of trophies for the most ingenious floats will be published in a subsequent issue of the Atlanta World.

EATING IS BIG SPORT TO GORMANDIZERS, FANS

By CHARLES J. LIVINGSTON
(Negro Press International)

Every student of journalism knows that it is the unusual, rather than the usual that makes top news. If a dog bites a man, it is hardly news, but if the man bites the dog, then that is news in the most unusual way.

This rule applies especially to the Sport of Eating, which becomes a pastime when it is carried to extremes by those who indulge in it for the entertainment of others.

Most normal humans do not regard eating as a sport, but a necessity, but to the gormandizers who indulge in it professionally, and the fans who idolize these bellypadders, it is as much a sport as baseball, football or fishing.

This column was inspired by the memory of an eating contest which took place in Kingston, Jamaica, some time ago. It was "a contest to end all contests" and matched perhaps the two greatest grubbers in the world. The Kingston tale is related chiefly for its unusual aspects, because eating contests are by no means restricted to the West Indies. Grub fests, as a matter of fact, are held annually in the United States in such places as San Francisco, Cleveland and Aurora, Ill. I have personally attended three of these "Eat 'Em Ups," here and abroad.

To gain the right perspective for this gourmet tale, let's go back to the comic strips. All comic fans are acquainted with the feats of "Hamburger Wimpy," Popeye's gluttonous pal; how he downs dozens of 'burgers at single sittings. But Wimpy is a piker compared to the men who participate in today's real life grub fests. In the United States there are men who would eat Wimpy under the table in any kind of grub contest, and the two men featured in the Kingston contest I am about to relate, would make him look like a fasting monk during Lent.

The stars of the Kingston contest were a professional glutton called "Eating Joe," who received that name tag after he was paid to devour two turkeys at a country fair, and his opponent, "John the Grubber," chief challenger to the city's eating title held by Joe.

Their eating contest, which was well advertised in advance, was to take place on a knoll just outside the Kingston city limits, and a large crowd recognizing that this was to be the contest of contests, was on hand.

Now grubbers, like boxers, like to warm up before a contest. So enroute to the eating site, "Eating Joe" downed a large bowl of soup to get the wringles out his tummy, while John primed on some crackers and cheese.

Joe arrived on the scene first, supremely confident of retaining his title. John, however, decided to play possum. He parked at the foot of the knoll, just out of sight, and sent his spies to check on Joe. Soon one returned with a report that Joe was impatient and had decided to sharpen his appetite by devouring every comparative small item in sight.

John's sstrategy was to keep Joe waiting and perhaps force him to overeat himself before the contest started. But the reports he was getting gave no indication that Joe was any way near saturation in his tuneup. In fact, they were discouraging.

"What has he eaten so far?" John asked one emissary. "A huge bowl of grapes." "What else?". "A bucket of mangoes." "Anything else?" "Yes," said the informer, "he ate a five-gallon pot of rice and peas and cod Fish and said he is positive he can still put away the whole side of beef and tray of vegetables that is on the contest menu for both of you."

"What?" yelled Joe, as he turned around and headed for home. He figured there was absolutely no point in trying to eat against a glutton like Joe, who remained the champ of the Kingston Grubbery.

Ivory Coast Gets

ABIDJRU, Ivory Coast — (NPI) — A new civil code, abolishing polygamy and contract marirages was adopted by the National assembly here last week. The code sets the legal marirageable age at 18 for boys, 16 for girls, and defines stringent conditions governing marriage, divorces, civil status and inheritance of family property.

While the code slashes deeply into tribal tradition the government will allow a "transitional" period of up to four years to enable the citizens to become accustomed to the changes.

Delegations from the ruling Ivory Coast Democratic party (PDCI) will fan out throughout the country to expalin the new regulations to the population.

Sinclair announces the most important gasoline improvement since World War II

Exclusive Nickel Compound 10 times more effective than other additives in combating harmful engine deposits!

All cars need new Nickel Compound, only Sinclair gasolines have it. Never before used in any motor fuel, this new Nickel Compound gives your engine smoother power...saves you money on repairs by reducing wear...solves many winter engine problems, too.

Tests prove power restored in many cars by Nickel Compound. Exclusive Sinclair Nickel Compound gives older car engines restored power that's often better than an expensive tune-up. If you have a new car it will help you get all the engine power you should be getting.

Engine wear reduced up to 29%-you save on repairs-replacements. With new Sinclair Dino or Dino Supreme your engine should last longer...seem younger. That's why you'll save on repairs and new parts. Save on motor oil, too.

Engines start almost instantly even at 25° below zero. New Sinclair gasolines assure quick, sure starts in cold weather – less winter engine wear, too. And new Nickel Compound gives extra protection against stalling due to carburetor icing. Let this new Sinclair power discovery give your engine new Dinosaur power...fill up at the sign of the Sinclair Dinosaur.

American Express Credit Cards are now honored at 25,000 Sinclair Dealers.

Schoolheads Realize Segregation Defects, Authority Declares

By DARCY DeMILLE

FLINT — (NPI) — A visiting education authority last week stated that increasing recognition by educators and members of school boards of the detrimental effects of racial imbalance and de facto segregation in schools is "evident in many parts of the country."

She is Miss June Shagaloff, administrative assistant for education to Roy Wilkins, NAACP executive director.

Miss Shagaloff, who conferred with local and state NAACP figures and several members of the Flint Board of Education, elaborated: "What is significant, is the growing realization that even though problems of imbalance and de facto segregation may not be the creation of boards of education and administrators. they have a responsibility to try to correct them."

"In Michigan," she pointed out, "these problems appear to be severe."

Miss Shagaloff also noted that New York, New Jersey, California, "have state policies that clearly recognize that segregation of any form is extremely harmful to all children.

"These policies, she continued, "acknowledge the responsibility of educators to work for solutions to the fullest extent possible."

CAN'T EVADE PROBLEM

"In effect, what is said is that boards and administrators can't evade the problem by saying that it is caused by housing patterns," she maintained.

The education expert pointed out that in some situations it "may not be possible to desegregate every student, but everything must be done to eliminate it (segregation) to the maximum."

Finding solutions to imbalance and de facto segregation is "vital to both white and Negro children from the academic view point, Miss Shagaloff insisted.

In addition, she added, "you can't learn anything about Democracy when segregated."

"For school board to be swayed by bigots ,or to evade the issue, can only lead to serious conflict and extended litigation," she argued.

Miss Shagaloff then listed the following possible solutions to imbalance and de facto segregation revising school districts (in some cases undoing gerrymandering), careful selection of sites for new schools and addition to existing ones, and "pairing" of schools.

"Pairing," she explained, "can be used when there are two elementary schools with adjoining districts where one school is mostly white and the other preponderantly Negro. The districts are combined and one school offers the first three grades and the other the fourth through sixth grades.

Miss Shagaloff stated that the NAACP "has never proposed that children be bussed all over a city. This is a misrepresentation fostered by northern style bigots" she charged.

POST OFFICE DEPT. EFFECTIVENESS — WASHINGTON — Henry W. Dixon, Jr., special assistant to Postmaster General John A. Gronouski, explains operation of the postal service's equal employment opportunity program during recent meeting with the Nation's 311 ranking postmasters. He said equal job opportunities in recruitment, placement and promotion had "become a reality for more than 90,000 Negroes in the Post Office Department's 34,000 post offices and 10,000 stations and terminals. Malcolm X Turns On Former Mentor

MECCA, Saudi Arabia — (NPI) — The controversial Malcolm X. erstwhile No. 2 man in the Black Muslims organization, has renounced the philosophy of black racism and denounced Elijah Muhammad, Black Muslims' leader, as a religious "faker."

This became known last week when Malcolm received a certificate from the office of the Supreme Iman - Sheikh Al - Azhar, while it tests to his conversion to the orthodox Islamic faith, under the name "Malik El Shabazz." The certificate is a means by which American Negroes can embrace Islam and be recognized as citizens of the Muslims with the full weight of the Muslim world behind him in all their religious activities.

The renouncement and denunciation were contained in two letters which Malik El Shabazz wrote to a friend in New York last Month. He told of embracing the brotherhood of man and that "I shall never rest until I have undone the harm I did to so many well-meaning innocent Negroes who, through my own evangelistic zeal, now believe in (Elijah Muhammad) even more fanatically and more blindly than I did."

Earlier this year, Malcolm broke with Elijah Muhammad, who advocates black separatism, and founded his own non - sectarian nationalist organization. He has spent much of the year in Mecca studying with the grand imams of Islam — ranking scholars of Islam and working with the Muslim World League.

2,000 Mourn At Funeral Of Clara Ward's Relatives

PHILADELPHIA — (NPI) — The double funeral service held here last week for the father and uncle of Clara Ward, noted gospel singer was a nine - hour affair with more than 2,000 mourners crowded in the auditorium of Faith Tabernacle Baptist church.

A team of 25 nurses and 30 ushers were on hand to administer first aid to the distraught mourners and at least 15 ministers from local churches were in attendance.

The bodies of the deceased — Cedric Ward, 67 - year old father of Miss Ward and the Rev. David Murphy, her uncle — were in silk-lined caskets placed end to end at the front of the church and surrounded with dozens of floral pieces and wreaths. Directly behind the two caskets were four foot crosses of large white dahlias with a bleeding heart fashioned from white dahlias with a group of red roses in the center and red streamers trailing from it.

The eulogies were delivered by the ministerial team of the Reverends W. H. and Monroe Northeast Baptist church; Frank Washington Fourth Baptist church; E. Theodore Lewis, Faith Tabernacle; J. A. Winn, L. G. Carr. Music was furnished by the Eureka Glee chorus, Male chorus, and Mrs. Edna Tucker, soloist. The Rev. W. L. Bentley delivered the opening prayer.

Christine Keeler's Ex-Friend Again In Trouble In London

LONDON — (NPI) — Aloy in (Lucky Gordon), 33 - year old Jamaican singer boy friend of Christine Keeler, Britain's notorious party girl was arrested again here last week this time on a charge of possessing "an offensive weapon" — a knife.

The arrest was made in the Soho district.

Last year, Gordon was arrested and convicted on a charge of beating Miss Keeler. He was sentenced to three years in prison, but the sentence was subsequently quashed when it was proved his ex - girl friend had sought to railroad him.

Miss Keeler wound up in prison for a nine month term for ruse but was released on good behavior after serving six months.

In the recent incident, Gordon pleaded not guilty to the charge and was released on bail.

Small Business Class Well Attended

WASHINGTON — (NPI) — The second Small Business Administration management training course opened here last week in the SBA Development center with some 30 small businessmen attending.

The course, which offers weekly evening refresher classes in accounting, planning, taxes, sales and merchandising, buying and personnel will run for eight weeks.

Some 88 businessmen representative of such businesses as photography, beauty and barber shops, real estate, accountancy and drug stores, successfully completed the first course recently. Each participant received graduation certificates from SBA Administrator Eugene P. Foley, during appropriate ceremonies at the Development center.

Sunday School Lesson

QUALIFICATIONS OF CHURCH OFFICERS

International Sunday School Lesson for October 18, 1964.

MEMORY SELECTION: "Let the elders who rule well be considered worthy of double honor, especially those who labor in preaching and teaching."

—(Timothy 5:15).

LESSON TEXT: 1 Timothy 3: 1-13 Titus 1: 5-9.

Today, in the fast - paced world in which we live, the question for our consideration is what the church can do to encourage higher moral standards among its members.

Pursuing our studies in I Timothy, we perceive that the writer makes a transition from worship of the church to the ministry of the church.

The verses we are studying today spell out, in no uncertain terms, the rule of conduct to be followed by those who would claim offices in the ministry.

These rules, however, were rigorous for a reason. In the days of early Christianity, each church was an entity unto itself. There were no conferences, synods, or councils at that time. The bishops, elders and deacons (all offices mentioned in our studies) were elected by, and responsible to, their own congregation, and they exercised great authority over the church and its members once elected. Therefore, men of high moral calibre were desirable for these offices.

In the days about which we read churches were small in congregation — indeed, there was no special edifice in which the people congregated to worship. Rather it was in a back room somewhere — maybe in somebody's house. Therefore, the number of officers needed to carry on the work of the church were relatively few in number, as opposed to some of the larger, well established churches in cities of any size today. There was usually a Bishop, who was to be responsible for carrying on the work of the church, and whose duties it was to be hospitable to traveling missionaries. There was also a deacon — whose realm of service lay in ministering to the needs of the moment. And because of the compactness of the Christian ministry, they were under intense scrutiny — hence the rigidity of the rules laid down for their behavior.

And if high moral character was so valuable in these servants of the Lord in such compact surroundings, how much more desirable those same commendable traits are today, when the church circle embraces so any hundred and thousands more people, and where the influence exercised by church officers is therefore more widespread!

Paul says: (1) a man is to have only one wife, and he must have the respect and obedience of his children. This is good; it gives a man stature in the eyes of his family, himself and the world. (2) a man should know how to conduct himself in the House of God. He should serve gladly where he can, no matter how menial the task might seem. The opportunities are endless, and the goal mutual it should be a matter of teamwork to make the church a living, breathing thing, dedicated to salvation of man's immortal soul in Christ. (3) a man should be in good standing with the world . . . "a man must have a good report of them which are without." For by his actions is he judged, and the church for which he stands.

And (4) A man must be sure in his own personal relationship with God. Whatever his belief, he must accept them in good grace, as the Lord's will. No matter how sorely tried, he must have faith in God, holding tenaciously to his belief in the future, and trying to see the purpose intended, beyond his sufferings.

Hard to do, sometimes? Yes — but then Jesus never promised the way would be easy. It never was, it is.

we study the hardships, the martyrdom that befell his followers as recounted in the Bible. Yet, in their strivings, their failures, their renewed efforts, we glimpse the heights to which man is capable of rising under the most adverse of circumstances. Are we so different today?

Prospects For Group Brights, N. Y. Mayor Wagner States

NEW YORK — (NPI) — "The ladder to a brighter future is missing" for the Negro — who has inherited the slums, the poverty and the privation, "but not the prospects," New York Mayor Robert Wagner declared last week.

The mayor made the statement in a speech at a luncheon session of the 18th annual conference of the National Association of Intergroup Relations Officials.

The three - day conference of specialists in the civil rights and race relations fields was held at the Park Sheraton hotel.

Wagner said that problems confronting the Negro community in New York could not be compared with those of earlier immigrant groups.

"To begin with, the mayor said the melting pot is gone, even as a concept. As a concept we reject it today in favor of acculturation, which is a kind of pressure cooker with separate compartments."

Wagner said the Negroes, unlike earlier immigrant groups, faced the twin problems of racial discrimination and lessening job prospects because of the increased automation in industry.

The mayor said New York was beginning to take a "multiple approach" to the plight of the Negro community by establishing priority programs for "education and training and for employment itself."
