66 DEBS TAKE OVER PARADISE

There were 2,000 or more in spacious Club Paradise last Friday, May 7 to see the Kappas present 66 debutantes to Memphis society. It was the fraternity's 15th annual presentation.

Mothers, fathers, grandmothers, uncles, aunts, sisters, brothers, other in-laws and friends joined the Kappas for this colorful occasion, one of the highlight events of the year.

The debs and their escorts, along with their equally young friends, soon found-out what adults do or try to do at big-time social events, and it wasn't long before they took over the dance floor and showed their elders how to execute the latest steps.

Melvin Conley, principal of Douglas High, and Floyd Campbell, principal of Melrose High, both top men in the Kappa fraternity, presided over the presentation.

The debs drew oohs and aaahs from the attentive audience, especially from the lucky ring-siders. There were hundreds of onlookers who didn't see much of the debs mainly because their tables were too far away from the center of activity.

Most of the debs and their friends danced at the club until 3 a. m. and then struck out for the home of Deb Christy Haynes for breakfast. They were at it again Saturday evening at the home of Deb Shirley Peace.

Presented were: Charessa Dyanne Horner, Margaret Jean Naylor, Fayette Harris, Regina Johnson, Sherry Yvonne Jefferies, Jean Hope Redic, Joyce Ann Cochrane, Madeleine Lenoir Cooper, Helen Frances Woods, Lynne Ulen, Charlotte L. Hendricks, Judith Anderson, Margaret Y. Killbrew, Cheryl Louise Means, Ann Moore, Sarah Harbin, Aubrey Leigh Jones, Loretta D. BTW Team 3rd In State Auto Meet

In state-wide competition held at the Fairgrounds, Booker T. Washington High Schools auto mechanics team finished third. Student mechanics raced each other and the clock to find trouble in fuel and electrical systems, fix them, and get the cars assigned them running properly. The students were provided with 10 new, but fouled - up automobiles. Professional mechanics from the Chrysler - Plymouth Corporation, which provided the cars, saw to it that 10 things were wrong in them. It was the boys' job to find the faults. It took the Tech high team, consisting of Kenneth Ulrich and David Archer, one hour and 35 minutes to fix their car and capture first place.

Some of the troubles they found included a bolt in a fuel line, a broken battery cable, a stopped-up carburetor jet, a grounded distributor rotor and a plugged air intake. Each malfunction had been carefully concealed by the company engineers. Second place, after two hours and 33 minutes, went to Whitehaven High School's Carl Evans and Richard. Calvin Taylor and Horace Slaughter of Booker T. Washington High took third place after two hours and 39 minutes work. The Washington team's instructor is veteran auto mechanics teacher, Williams B. Parker. The winning teams were given trophies. First prize also includes a trip to Chrysler - Plymouth's national trouble shooting finals in Detroit in June and a chance to win some of the $16,000 in scholarships to be given to the best and most promising student mechanics. Three other Memphis teams, two from Nashville, and one from Jackson, Tenn. competed.

Shuttlesworth Asks Protection Of Rights Workers

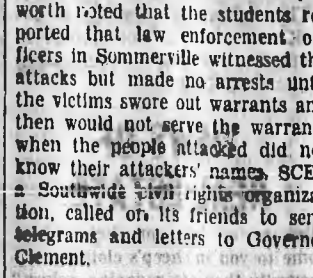

NEW ORLEANS, La. — The Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, president of the Southern Conference Educational Fund called on Tennessee Gov. F. G. Clement to "act immediately" to protect the lives of young civil rights workers in Somerville, Tenn. Somerville was the scene of hoodlum attacks on young people seeking service at two eating-places on May 1. The students plan further such tests. In a telegram to the governor, Mr. Shuttlesworth said: "What happened in Somerville is a disgrace to a state that we had thought was moving forward in the area of human rights. We call on you to act immediately to see that the Civil Rights Act of 1964 is complied with in Somerville, and that the lives of civil rights workers are protected."

The May 1 tests were carried out by about 50 local Negro students accompanied by four white civil rights workers from the North. Five eating establishments were tested. At two of them, the students were served and invited back; at a third they said they were cursed but served; at the other two, Negroes were served but the whites accompanying them were refused and attacked and beaten. One Negro was also attacked and stabbed. He was James Gray, 17, Somerville. The telegram from Mr. Shuttlesworth noted that the students reported that law enforcement officers in Somerville witnessed the attacks but made no arrests until the victims swore out warrants and then would not serve the warrants when the people attacked did not know their attackers' names. SCEF, a Southwide civil rights organization, called on its friends to send telegrams and letters to Governor Clement.

Long Time Before Desegregation In State, Peters Says

ATLANTA, — (UPI) — State School Board Chairman James Peters said Monday it may be a long time before there is widespread school desegregation in Georgia. He told the board of directors of the Georgia School Boards Association that this does not mean the state will lose some $100 million in federal funds. Peters said he believed most systems in Georgia will comply with the 1964 Civil Rights Act. He predicted Georgia would move slowly toward integration because of strong feeling against it. Peters said, however, that local districts cannot expect commutation from Washington and must to end discrimination in many areas.

For Christ's Sake, A Reply To "Honest To God" by O. Fielding Clark, pictures a three-story universe as a framework for the theology of the average layman: hell is "down there" heaven is "up there." How does this kind of thinking fare in the space age? A hundred new earth satellites fly around the earth, and probes are launched to the planets. Navigating the globe every hour or so, Russian and American cosmonauts found nothing to change their views on their acquaintance with God. What is the layman to do, in this time of the new "clear science with its electron microscope and some sub-atomic orbits estimated by computers? When every specialty is a closed system, can theology pull them together into one universal view? Discussions of theology today still echo the shocks of the Darwinian theory of evolution and the Copernican revolution, in astronomy. Assimilation of new data into church ritual and the theology will require decades and centuries. The Challenge of Bishop Robinson to start thinking was widely heard, reaching into the mass media of England and the U. S. A. A score of reviews, fifty letters, and several critical articles are here collected in the "Debate" edited by David L. Edwards. Christianity today must clarify its own message. There is a new urgency to do so as Christianity is confronted by other world religions on a dimly shed planet. Call today and get a copy of For Christ's Sake, A Reply To Honest To God."

Nat'l Insurance Week Goal Set At $80 Million

Good weather, and a strong start in promotional activity gave early indications that the National Insurance Week goal of $80 million in new business would be reached by America's 45 leading Negro life insurance companies, with the caption "When You Care Enough, You Buy Enough Life Insurance." Agents of member companies were provided with judges bearing the legend. Negro companies began restructuring from mutual societies and limited values insurers more than a generation ago, in anticipation of great market growth, the NIA spokesman said. Many executives were privately concerned that the opportunity to do business with white companies might cause Negro families to reject these tradition insurers. The reorganizations and investments in new equipment and new product has been indicated by mounting support from Negro families, the spokesman added. Presently, Negro families have more than $2 billion in protection with Negro companies, and are receiving over $80 million each year from these firms. Prominent among Memphis insurance companies participating in the promotional activity during National Insurance Week are: Atlanta Life, Union Protective, Golden Circle, Universal Life and North Carolina Mutual.

MR. JOSEPH WESTBROOK ATTENDS TWO DAY CONFERENCE AT NEA HEADQUARTERS. Mr. Joseph W. Westbrook, Supervisor of Secondary Education, Memphis City Schools, was invited to participate in a two-day conference on Human Rights at the NEA Headquarters May 10 and 11. Theme of the conference for 1963 is "Equality of Educational Opportunity." A Responsibility of the Total Profession.

The purpose of the conference is to consider steps which the teaching profession might take in relation to the drive for equality of educational opportunity and to suggest appropriate action through NEA. Representatives are urged to seek answers to some of the difficult problems facing leaders working to preserve public education in America.

Mr. Westbrook was asked in a letter to give his personal contribution at the meeting so that they might be able to secure his ideas. He knows his problems and mentions items that he feels should be considered by the conference. Some of the findings of the 1964 Conference were: (1) That demonstrations have not been directed against education but against inadequate education and intolerable conditions in education. (2) That the concern about the equality of education by protesting students and their parents should be directed to constructive channels. (3) That educational Associations and civil rights organizations have more areas of agreement than disagreement. (4) That awareness and understanding are needed by educators (5) and that they would like to have educators speak frankly on the quality of education being offered.

Among outstanding educators to preside and speak are Dr. Nathaniel E. Kullman, Jr. and our own Dr. Elizabeth Koonz, President-elect of the Class Room Teacher of NEA. It has been felt that educators seem to talk to themselves at meetings and conferences and through journals. Educators, as a result, are being asked the question of how NEA can make a contribution and many civil rights leaders asked in to speak for CORE, NAACP, NEA URBAN LEAGUE and the Department of Classroom Teaching.

Civic rights leaders to speak for the occasion are Dr. Martin Luther King, Mr. James Allen, Dr. Martin Deutch, Dr. Lon Dotson, Dr. Robert J. Havighurst, Dr. Frances Keppel, Dr. Jeanne Noble, Dr. Frank Reisman, Dr. Samuel Shepherd of St. Louis who has often visited and conferred with educators in Memphis. Dr. Charles Silverman, Mr. Roy Wilkins, Dr. Benjamin Willis, Dr. Whitney Young. Sessions and entertainments are being held in the O'Barnd Room at the Horace Mann Room and in Crabtree Auditorium of the NEA Building.

Views Of REAL ESTATE

"Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves." "Ye shall know them by their fruits, do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles?" - St. Matthew 7 Chapter, 15 and 16 Verses - The Holy Bible.

MORALE FACTOR-SALES MANAGEMENT

A desirable level of morale in a sales force is furthered by recognizing the relationship between motivation and good work. Men work best and most happily only when their activities and the success which they thereby attain lead to the realization of their desires, their ambitions, or even to the attainment of their life's objectives.

Motivation may be thought of as making the men succeed in reasonable proportion to their capacity. Unless a salesman is properly motivated, he cannot attain more than a mediocre level of success. He will lack the stimulus which comes from proper motivation to perform in more than an ordinary manner.

Experience has shown that workers like to be motivated in a proper manner, since they all desire to do their best work. Some sales managers, therefore believe that it is just as great a crime to send an improperly motivated man to a territory as it is to send out one who is not properly training.

This is perhaps true because most workers and salesmen are not an exception lack the necessary inner drive to succeed to the extent justified by their qualities and training. Not many men fail intentionally. They fail either because they lack those moral qualities requisite to success, or because they have not been motivated in such a way as to draw from them their greatest contributions. It is said that failure comes most often from not doing what we intend to do.

By the way, force without love for the persons problem and his or her welfare is no motivation at all.

Miscarriage Of Justice

A dangerous tradition in Southern courts must soon come to an end if our theoretical process of justice is to ever have real substance.
A very good case in point is the mistrial declared May 7 when an all-white Alabama jury was unable to agree on a verdict for a Ku Klux Klansman accused of slaying a white Detroit mother, Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, who participated in the Selma-Montgomery march on March 25th.

Reprisals In Selma

Our attention has been called to news reports from Selma, Ala., alleging that in reprisal for taking part in racial demonstrations, Negroes lost their jobs and are unable to get help through normal relief channels.
It appears that the Agriculture Department has been stymied in attempts to level barriers set up by segregationists. It seems to us that if the federal government could provide protection for thousands in the Selma-Montgomery March, the very least the government could now do is to get immediate relief to Negroes who are apparently hungry because of their participation in the march.

STATEMENT PRESENTED TO CONGRESS TO STUDY

WASHINGTON - (NNPA) - More than 70 prominent lawyers, including professors of law and deans of law schools, have agreed that Congress has power to outlaw the collection of poll taxes in State and local elections.
In a statement issued Thursday by the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, the lawyers declared that Congress has the "clear power and authority, if not the duty" to abolish all State and local poll taxes as a condition for voting. The lawyers issued their statement at about the time a bipartisan group of Senators, headed by Sen. Edward P. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.), are V. Drinan, S. J. Dean of Boston Voting Rights Bill that would eliminate the poll tax. Their proposal also called for a speedy court test of the ban.
Clarence Mitchell, NAACP Washington bureau chief and legislative chairman of the Leadership Conference, said the statement was being presented to Congress as additional support for the poll tax ban. Among those signing the statement were Eugene V. Rostow, Dean of Yale Law School; the Rev. Robert V. Drinan, J. Dean of Boston Law School; and Prof. Mark DeW. Howe, of Howard Law School. Six professors in Southern law schools also endorsed the statement.
The lawyers said both Section 5 of the 14th Amendment and Section 2 of the 15th Amendment gave Congress the power to prohibit the poll tax. They noted that the Senate Judiciary Committee, in 1941, reported that a careful examination showed they "were motivated entirely and exclusively by a desire to exclude the Negro from voting."

"George Wallace Integrated Alabama," Accuses Senator

MONTGOMERY, Ala. - (UPI) - An angry state senator Wednesday said that George C. Wallace integrated Alabama.
Sen. Bob Gilchrist of Hartsville, a political enemy of the governor, said Alabama under Wallace was guilty of "one irrevocable act of stupidity after another" in dealing with racial problems.
Gilchrist said Wallace "for political expediency... sacrificed the people of Alabama."
The senator said an administration-backed resolution recommending that school boards refuse to comply with federal desegregation demands - the subject of a filibuster which began Tuesday - was "another grandstand performance," Gilchrist said the 1964 Civil Rights Act "ought to be called the Wallace act."
"Southern senators will tell you confidentially that Alabama's position is primarily responsible for the Civil Rights Act," he charged.
"We tried to make a national issue for publicity and it backfired," Gilchrist said Wallace's famous stand in the door to block desegregation of the University of Alabama was "prearranged. We created an atmosphere of defiance knowing there was going to be no defiance."
Wallace vowed "segregation forever" when he took office Gilchrist said, and "Martin Luther King picked up the gauntlet and beat the people over the head with it."
"George C. Wallace integrated Alabama. He didn't do it intentionally - I hope."
The senator said he believed in segregation but that local officials could handle their problems best without interference from the state.

MY WEEKLY SERMON
By REV. BLAIR T. HUNT, PASTOR, MISSISSIPPI BLVD. CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"A GOOD MOTHER'S POWER"
TEXT: "I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith, that is in thee, which first dwelt in thy Grandmother, Lois, and thy Mother, Eunice." II Timothy 1:5.
The mind can see a gleam of joy in the apostle's eye as he writes about a faith "unfeigned," that is a faith sincere, a faith real. Aged Paul is happy because the young preacher, Timothy, could carry on when he is gone, but when the aged eye glows as it contemplates this promising youth, the forces back of Timothy are not forgotten.
This unfeigned, sincere faith dwelt first in a grandmother and then in a mother. Each mother had broken off a piece of her own faith and planted it in the heart of the growing child that it might become a mighty entity, a part of Timothy's nature in pushing forward the kingdom of God. Yes, each generation is to forge a new link in the chain of causes that send down the blessings of God to those who come afterward.
In this case, we have an example of what an unaided mother can do, because, while Eunice was a Christian, Timothy's father was a Greek, a non-Christian. So Eunice must have been a truly good mother to have made such a success of her son. It is an example of the power of a good mother.
What constitutes a good mother? paint, powder and perfume of modern times?
Home careful is motherhood. The baby is in her arms; he lies on her bosom. His chubby fingers play in her hair. His cheek is against her neck. His arms are around her neck. His little feet trample her lap. Long before he can talk, his dimples, like tiny mouths speak of his love of her. The mother and her child, a picture of many and our savior Jesus the Christ who loves us with a greater love than mother, a picture of my mother and me, a picture of your mother and you, thank God for mothers.
They are the power-houses of the world, yesterday, today and forever. Thank God for your mother.

What is described as an important race is the countywide at-large post No. 3. The Rev. William Holmes Borders, pastor of Wheat Street Baptist Church, ran unopposed as a Republican. He will face the winner of a special runoff election, May 19, between Goodwyn Gates and Henry Grady Back. Neither received a majority in the primary.

Two Negroes, the Rev. J. D. Grier, Democratic primary winner, and Mrs. Ella Ramsey Martin, unopposed Republican, will face each other in the 132nd District.
In the 133rd District, two other Negroes will battle it out in the general election. Atty. William Alexander, Democratic winner, will take on the Republican victor, Dr. C. Clayton Powell.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for May 16, 1965.

MEMORY SELECTION: "I have set the Lord always before me; because he is at my right hand, I shall not be moved." (Psalm 16:8)

LESSON TEXT: 1 Samuel 16:1-13; 2 Samuel 5: 1-12.

In the lesson under study today we analyze the prerequisites of a great leader chosen to be of service to God.

We would look far to find a more shining example than that of King David. A humble shepherd lad, he was, nevertheless, chosen over his taller, older and stronger brothers to be the second ruler of Israel. Certainly the great Samuel, trusted emissary of the Lord, must have had misgivings when confronted with the gentle David, comparing him with the mighty Saul; but, staunch shepherd of the Lord that he was, Samuel was well aware that God put faith, not in physical stature, but in the heart and mind of the man. Therefore, David being of God's own choosing, Samuel carried out his appointed task unquestioningly.

David in no wise disappointed the Lord and the faith He had in him. Throughout the years between his anointing and his assumption of the king's role he disciplined himself and prepared himself for the task before him. Even during the times when the realization of his dream seemed destined to be shattered, he never lost faith or conducted himself in an unseemingly manner. Rather, adversities and setbacks seemed to strengthen him and make him more self-reliant and wiser.

Despite attacks on his life by the jealous Saul, he remained steadfastly loyal to Saul and to the members of Saul's family. He married one of Saul's daughters, and he and Saul's son, Jonathan, were as close as blood brothers, even up to the time of Jonathan's tragic death. Fairness and justice were integral parts of David's nature.

It was the same fairness that prompted him to conquer and establish the ancient fortress of Jebus, in northern Judah, as the site of the new government of a united country. It was a central point, easily accessible to both the northern and southern tribes — the hitherto warring factions — now united under his rule. Thus he paved the new sense of unity that pervaded the land.

We cannot read the psalms that flowed from his pen without feeling most keenly the assurance he felt in God's care. He was ever conscious of the fact that he was God's chosen instrument, and to this end he submitted his spirit to the divine will, constantly seeking guidance when he was troubled by the problems that confronted him.

Leadership has always been an important factor throughout history. Many have been the leaders who changed world events because of the kind of leadership they gave. It was through the leadership of Paul that the Christian church was established, to cite but one example — and what a far-reaching effect his leadership had on generations upon generations!

However, it is a sad fact that leadership, per se, is not necessarily a virtue. It can lead to disastrous results when, as was so amply demonstrated in World War II, it is mis-directed by selfish motivations and a lust for power takes over.

What the world needs today is more leaders who are dedicated Christians. The churches need such men; so does the field of politics and government. The world is growing smaller as man's conquest of the elements and distances proceeds apace, and, as peoples of differing backgrounds, religion, and national habits are drawn closer together, so does the need grow greater for men of vision, of patience, of steadfast spirit, to come to the fore — dedicated men "after God's own heart."

Negro Ministers Offers Prayer In U. S. Senate

WASHINGTON — (NPPA) — Dr. James F. Kirkland, minister of the Union Baptist Church, Philadelphia, is believed to have established a precedent for his race when he gave the opening prayer in the Senate at noon on Wednesday, May 5.

He was invited to perform the traditional opening ceremony by Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) who acted as president pro tempore in the absence of Sen. Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.).

Dr. Kirkland's prayer follows: "Eternal God, our Heavenly Father, into Thy presence we come with grateful hearts. To thank Thee for the blessings which Thou hast given us, for in Thy presence is fullness of joy, and at Thy right hand there are pleasures forevermore. We thank Thee for Thy guiding hand, Thy protecting care, and Thy sustaining grace. We thank Thee for the message which has come down to us over the centuries. 'Hear, O Israel: The Lord is our God, the Lord is one.' Great is Thy faithfulness, Ours may ever hear Thee, O God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, the God of our Founding Fathers; for in thee, the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, the God of our Founding Fathers, for in thee we find the great center around which all worlds must ultimately revolve, the great equilibrium without which the mighty world processes which now baffle the keenest perceptions or our wisest statesmen and profoundest philosophers cannot be permanently solved, the great rock that the weathers agents of communism and secularism cannot erode.

"Bless our Nation, every segment of our fair land, all derivatives of whatever nature or name, north, east, south, and west. May we never forget that we have brought to this large place in world history, for us, for favor, but for service — to a blessing to all mankind. Fire the moral and spiritual fiber of the Nation, that we, as a nation, may never forget that things in themselves are too poor to make us rich, too low to raise us to happiness, too limited and narrow nature. Heighten our moral and spiritual horizon, that we may dedicate all that we have and are to Thee. Make us for Thyself, make us like Thyself, for our souls are restless until they rest in Thee. In Thy name we pray, Amen."

How Did You Feed Your Child? What About These?

NEW YORK — (NAPS) — In ancient Greece, babies were fed broth made of HONEY — and in colonial days, American children had daily glasses of BEER!

What you fed a baby boy was not as important as HOW you fed him in ancient Ireland. To insure a young son's future bravery, an Irish mother would offer him his first meal of food on the tip of his father's sword!

"Blue for a boy, pink for a girl" is almost a ritual of baby-dressing today, but centuries ago all babies wore red, a color their parents considered particularly hateful to the devil.

Like many 17th century boys, the future King Louis III of France had to wear dresses till he was eight! But a century later, English boys had grown-up air — thanks to a law requiring all His Majesty's male subjects over the age of three to wear a cocked hat.

While children's clothing and diets of old may seem strange to us, their games and toys would look familiar. Dolls with movable limbs have been found in Egyptian ruins, and the game of pat-a-cake was played by youngsters as far back as 364! In warlike ancient Sparta, however, boys passed up play in favor of military training, and even the girls were toughened up in a rigorous physical fitness program.

Children have played their part in legend and history for many centuries. Remember the story of the Pied Piper of Hamelin? Enrag-

Plans Mapped For NAACP Summer Project In Dixie

NEW YORK — Fifteen national groups — religious, labor, civic and fraternal — have been invited to cooperate with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in a three-state southern voter registration drive this summer.

Representatives of the organizations met recently with Gloucester B. Current, NAACP director of branches and field administration, and Miss Allene T. L. Simmons, coordinator of the summer project, to map plans for recruitment of 800 to 1,200 volunteers to work in Alabama, Mississippi and South Carolina.

The organizations were invited to sponsor volunteers and help finance the project for a period of eight weeks. The estimated cost per volunteer is $200.00 including transportation and maintenance.

Interest in participating in the project was expressed by the organization representatives and definite commitments are now being received.

The NAACP, Miss Simmons explained is seeking as volunteers stable young adults in good health and with a mature understanding of their responsibilities in such a project. There will be orientation sessions for volunteers before embarkment on the summer program.

In addition to the registration drive, there will be some tutorial courses for elementary and secondary school children in South Carolina, Mississippi and Mississippi. Effort will be exerted to get more Negro children to enroll in previously all-white schools.

While recognizing the possibility of resistance by the white population in the three states, Mr. Current expressed the conviction that violence will be averted in light of the probable enactment of the pending voting rights bill and other developments.

"We certainly hope to avoid arrests or any violent conflict and will do nothing to invite such reactions," he said. "However, we will not be deterred from our objective by the possibility of harassment and even of violence. There's a job to be done, and we intend to get it done effectively and peacefully."

Field headquarters for the project will be established in Jackson, Miss., Birmingham, Ala., and Columbia, S. C., with a series of area offices in each of the states. The project will be under supervision of the NAACP.

The project will get under way in South Carolina on June 2; in Alabama, June 21; and in Mississippi, July 5. It will terminate in each state on August 27.

In Mississippi the project will be under the guidance of Aaron Henry and Charles Evers, president and field director, respectively, of the state NAACP organization. Dr. John W. Nixon, president, Alabama NAACP; Julian Hall, field director; and W. C. Patton, voter registration field director, will be in charge of the work in Alabama. In South Carolina, the Rev. L. D. Quinley, Newmarket, field director, will supervise the project.

Attending the planning meeting in New York City on April 29 were the following: Mrs. Evelyn Dixon, president, Brooklyn unit of the National Association of Negro Business and Professional Women's Club, Inc.; William H. Oliver and Horace Sheffield, United Automobile Workers, Detroit; Leo Skull and Jerry Braun, Americans for Democratic Action; Richard Lerner and Alex Miller, Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith; Ann G. Wolfe, American Jewish Committee; Rabbi Balfour Brickner, Union of American Hebrew Congregations; Caroline Pezullo, National Catholic Social Action Conference; Lothar Nachman, American Veterans Committee; Ruth Hughes and Jean M. Whittle, Young Women's Christian Association; Louise Puetzel, United Church Women; Rev. Harold K. Schulz.

MILITANT DEFENSE of the continuing need for the Negro Press as a merchandising and advertising aid to American industry was stressed in New York City at luncheon meeting of Amalgamated Publishers, Inc., by John Sengstacke, president of API, and president and publisher of the Chicago Daily Defender. It's Started! The "Win A Recording Artist For A Day" contest which has put some of the hottest acts in show business up for grabs. Jackie Ross, whose "Selfish One" skyrocketed her to stardom, is the lucky teen whose letter — explaining why he or she wants to win Jackie — is adjudged best. Miss Ross just closed a highly successful engagement at the Regal theatre Chicago.

The Radiants are also in the contest. Maurice McAllister, leader of the trio which has had two successful hits — "Voice Your Choice" and "We Sustain 'Ain't No Big Thing" — reports that he is ready to wash dishes, mop floors, or anything else that teenagers around the nation might want him to do.

Leonard Caston, however, the mellow baritone singer, states that he is ready to do only one thing. "Watch television with whoever wins me." Leonard, a real jack-of-all-trades, plays six different instruments and has made an enviable name for himself in the instrumental jazz world. His favorite, though, is Hammond organ.

Little Milton Campbell, whose apartment was recently burglarized, is another artist up for grabs. He is riding the crest of three straight hits — "Blind Men," "We're Gonna Make It," and his new one, "Who's Cheating Who?"

Dirigutive Sugar Pie DeSanto is yet another contest prize. She has had a number of hits including "Soulful Dress," "Slippin' Mules," and her current "Jump In My Chest."

Sugar Pie and Little Milton have vowed, after the contest is over, to stamp Billy Davis, their manager, for putting them in this ridiculous position of having to do manual labor needlessly. They have both agreed to abide by the wishes of their fans, but "we'll get 'Billy' has become their motto. Sometimes, of course, they call him names other than his real one.

Fontella Bass and Bobby McQuire, who shook up the nation with their recording of "You'll Miss Up A Good Thing," are also in the contest. I guess they will be won ax.

Aaron Brown, member, New York school board and chairman, New York State committee on problems of big cities; and Herman Long, president, Talladega (Ala.) College.

GORDON Carey, Congress of Racial Equality (CORE); Otis Finley, National Urban League; June Shagoloff, NAACP and David Seely, Equal Education Opportunity Division, U. S. Office of Education spearheaded a symposium on "Points of View" of civil rights groups.

Along The Sports Trail

BY SAM BROWN

The forthcoming world heavyweight championship fight between champion Cassius Clay and challenger Sonny Liston, originally scheduled for Boston has been moved to Lewiston, Maine for May 25, and will be staged in an arena seating some 5,000 fans. This will not effect the closed circuit TV showing in hundreds of theatres throughout the country.

The heavyweight division of boxing is having its troubles just now, as champion Clay is in the so-called doghouse of the powers that be that control the game in most of the states. It stems from the reported agreement of the Liston and Clay handlers before their other meeting when Clay dethroned Liston. After this fight, things will likely clear up for all concerned.

Now, that Lew Alcinder celebrated 7 foot 1 inch high school basketball player of New York City has signed to attend UCLA, the talk has reached the place of how much influence the alumni of various schools have in helping their alma mater in recruiting star athletes.

Alcinder, it is reported had offers from many of the leading schools in the country with a basketball program, and was perhaps the most sought after athlete in history a few days ago, we were in Winston Salem, N.C. site of Wake Forest University, and read a release that Alcinder was to visit the Wake Forest campus, but at the last minute a call came through cancelling the visit.

The story mentioned that Jackie Robinson had visited the young man in addition to several others, and a few days later the announcement came that Alcinder had decided on UCLA. The question was asked, "Did Robinson have anything to do with the decision?" Robinson is an alumnus of UCLA.

On the legal scene, Bobby Smith, outstanding athlete of Melrose High School has signed a grant-in-aid with Tennessee Tech, stopping all the various predictions as to where he would attend college. It also stopped the talk of Smith receiving a scholarship to attend Mem-

The Melrose track team finished first in the region play last week, and the Golden Wildcats of track are rated a good chance to take the state honors at the Fairgrounds Saturday. Other teams figured to give Melrose some trouble are East Tennessee's Oak Ridge, Catholic High of Memphis, Manassas, Nashville's East High and several others of the more than 50 schools competing.

Carver High appears to have the Prep League baseball title all wrapped up and will be ready for the playoffs which will get underway in the next few days.

In major league baseball, the world champions St. Louis Cardinals and the American League pennant winners last year, the New York Yankees are having their troubles getting away from last place. As so often mentioned at this stage of the race, it is still early.

There has been a rash of injuries among baseball players this season, that has handicapped many of the teams that are expected to battle for the pennant in their respective leagues. With players like Mantle, Howard, Maris, Bill White, Ken Boyer, Tommy Davis, Frank Robinson and the like, out of the lineup, the team must suffer.

Urges Negroes Not Be Taught Karate Skill

JOHANNESBURG, S. Africa — (NNPA) — Racists in South Africa, fearful that some athletic clubs may teach nonwhites the ancient skills of karate, have appealed for legislation to restrict training in the art to whites.

In a letter to the Interior Ministry, the all-white Amateur Karate Association said it considers karate "as dangerous as a weapon."

"What do you think would happen," the association wrote, "if 25-Bantu learned karate? They could have the country in chaos overnight."

Karate is a method of offense without weapons in physical encounter, in which the hands and elbows play a principal role.

Late last month, Mr. Bates discovered that a committee from the M. M. Eberts American Legion Post had been talking with city officials about buying the two city-owned swimming pools.

Both pools have been closed since last June when a group of Negroes, including Mr. Bates, were refused admission to the white pool.

WASHINGTON—(NNPA)— Carl E. Barge, an appointee to the Federal Power Commission accused of being "a leading Deerfield, Ill., segregationist," was questioned again last Thursday by the Senate Commerce Committee.

After the session, Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), the committee chairman, said no action was taken on the nomination.

Last April 3, the Americans for Democratic Action sent a letter to Magnuson, opposing Barge's confirmation on the basis of "his segregationist history."

The ADA absolved President Johnson of blame in appointing Barge to fill the FPC vacancy, saying the White House could not reasonably be expected to know of the appointee's "leadership in segregationist activities."

The delay in Barge's confirmation hinges on the question of whether he accurately described the part he played several years ago when he testified before the committee on a Deerfield, Ill., housing controversy.

Leon Shull, ADA national director, said a pro - segregationist speech made by Barge on a bond issue referendum at Deerfield "brought to public view the community's plan for solving the 12-day old racial integration issue, by condemning the Progress (Development Corporation) properties and obtaining the necessary public support for the bond issue."

NAACP Calls For Expansion Of Executive Housing Order

NEW YORK — The NAACP has called on President Lyndon B. Johnson to expand the Executive Housing Order originally issued by President Kennedy.

In a letter to the President on May 5, NAACP Executive Director Roy Wilkins called attention to the fact that "discrimination and segregation in housing lie at the very root of the wide range of problems which beset the Negro."

Segregated housing conditions, Mr. Wilkins said, "not only reinforce de facto segregation in schools and public facilities, but also seriously jeopardize progress in other areas of civil rights."

Specifically, the NAACP asked that the executive order be extended to prohibit discrimination by all federally-aided banks and lending institutions, whether chartered, regulated or insured by the Federal government.

Also, the order should be made retroactive to include all federally-aided housing built prior to November, 1962. The current order covers only housing built since that date.

Administrative regulations should be rescinded which have resulted in excluding certain types of housing such as one-and-two-family owner-occupied homes, even though federally-aided.

The President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in Housing should be given "specific authority and broader responsibility to insure vigorous and effective implementation."

If these recommendations were followed over 80 per cent of existing housing would be barred from discrimination. The present order covers only approximately 10 per cent of housing in the country.

The NAACP proposals were discussed at length at a conference in Washington, May 6, which civil rights leaders had with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. Revere, executive director, and Robert L. Carter, general counsel, who pointed out the inadequacies of the present order.

The conference with the Vice President, which continued for several hours, was called by the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing of which Algernon D. Black is chairman. In addition to the NAACP and other civil rights organizations, the conference was attended by representatives of religious, labor and civic organizations affiliated with the National Committee.

First Freedom Ride North Is Staged By CORE

Syracuse, N. Y., May 6, 1965 — Twenty-one civil rights workers from Selma, Alabama arrived here aboard a bus in the late afternoon of May 6 on the first Freedom Ride North sponsored jointly by CORE and SNCC. On the side of the bus were signs saying "Belma-cuse," an abbreviation of Selma to Syracuse, and "Freedom in 1965." Coordinators of the Selma group are Scott Smith, Jr. and John Hewitt.

Some 400 persons, including members of seven upstate CORE groups and local residents greeted the riders at the bus station and marched with them to Clinton Square for a rally addressed by CORE National Director James Farmer. Speaking to over 1800 persons, Farmer chided Mayor William Walsh for having "skipped town" after asserting earlier that he welcomed the Selma riders.

The day after their arrival, the riders went into action, picketing the Niagara Mohawk Power Co. in protest over its discriminatory employment policy and picketing at the jail where John McDowell, Executive Secretary of Syracuse CORE has been imprisoned since April 24. He had been arrested on that date, along with other members of a local CORE team attempting to negotiate with officials of Niagara Mohawk. Out of a total work force of 1500, the company employs only nine Negroes, all of whom are in menial positions.

The Freedom Ride North has been announced in a joint press conference by CORE National Director James Farmer and SNCC Executive Secretary James Forman. The announced aim of the Freedom Ride was to "dramatize northern hypocrisy on the race issue."

Other Freedom Rides are being planned.

Sen. Thurmond Says Rights Leaders Want Lawlessness

CHAPEL HILL, N.C.—(UPI)—Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C. predicted here Sunday night civil rights leaders will "never be satisfied with less than the total destruction of society based on rule of law."

Thurmond said the civil rights movement is "an insurrection rather than a reform movement." He said the "campaign of civil disobedience seeks to undermine, through defiance, the whole spectrum of the rules of society. The movement seeks to undermine the rule of law itself."

Thurmond was speaking at the Carolina Forum, a student political organization on the University of North Carolina campus.

He said that recent years "have witnessed increasing erosion of the Constitution in the form of evasion, usurpation and circumvention, which in turn, has constricted individual freedom, inhibited diversity, deluded stability and invited disorders."

Thurmond said the voting rights bill now before congress is a proposal to "pervert the Constitution" and is "particularly profane for it masquerades as an attempt to enforce a provision of the constitution itself."

He said it is the "most abysmal departure from, and contradiction to, the constitution which has confronted this congress and the nation in a century. If not in all time."

He said the bill would invalidate a whole spectrum of voter qualification procedures currently imposed by a number of states, particularly the requirement for proof of literacy.

On the Selma, Ala., march, Thurmond said the "complete disorders to study and make recommendations for dealing with the problems that confront the people of our nation; and (3) to stimulate communication among the members of the Party and others in developing a common approach to the nation's problems.
