Delta Sorors Celebrate

Members of Alpha Upsilon, Epsilon Kappa and Memphis chapters of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority met Friday night, Jan. 9 at the home of Soror Sallie C. Bartholomew to observe the 67th anniversary of the founding of the international, interracial Greek letter sorority.

Seventy-five sorors recalled the founding of the organization at Howard University, Washington, D. C. through a skillfully written and dramatized play that was presented by both undergraduate chapters.

A color film of past regional conferences and national conventions was shown by Soror Mary Collier.

Soror Aitenna Foster furnished both piano and guitar music and was accompanied by Soror Yvonne Smith on bongo drum.

A special feature of the celebration was the presentation of Miss Brenda Smith of Book or Washington High School who is Memphis Junior Miss. Miss Smith was showered with frillies and pretties and cash donations from the members.

A mid-year summary of local chapter activities included a report from the Mental Health Committee to the effect that $240 had been paid to the Memphis Mental Health Association for the services of a licensed beautician to take care of the beauty needs of the female patients at the psychiatric hospital on Poplar Street.

Also, an evaluation of the monthly visits to the patients at Bolivar, Tenn. was given. Groups of members donate 4 hours each per month to visiting, serving and entertaining a ward of 60 patients. It was agreed that the 200 hours of personal time a year have made some of the patients a-

L. H. Boyce, insurance executive of Universal Life Insurance Company, was elected to the bank's board; Dr. T. R. M. Howard of Chicago, Ill., and Rev. B. L. Hooks, former criminal court judge, were elected to the bank's advisory committee.

Mrs. Lillian C. Dorsey, program director, North Bolivar County Farm Cooperative, Inc., is presented with the first of 5,265 cases of food products shipped by Jen's, Inc. and Wilderness Instant Fruit Fillings as a gift for an estimated 10,000 needy black people in Mound Bayou and the surrounding Delta communities in Mississippi.

50-Ton Food Gift Is Sent To Mound Bayou!

MOUND BAYOU, Miss. — The North Bolivar County Farm Cooperative, Inc., received a delivery of 5,265 cases of fruit fillings as a gift for an estimated 10,000 needy in this all-black community of Mound Bayou and the neighboring Delta communities.

Mrs. Lillian C. Dorsey, the farm co-op program director and Andrew James, director of the Tufts-Delta Health Center, will coordinate distribution of the food.

The shipment, consisting of various food products of Jen's Inc. in Duluth, Minn., prior to Christmas. It has traveled over 1,000 miles to reach Mound Bayou, which was settled by ex-slaves in 1887.

The farm co-op, owned and operated by black people, planted its first seeds in April '68 and is dedicated to conquer hunger and poverty through their own initiative and the cultivation of their richest resource, the soil.

In donating the food, Jen's F. Paulucci, chairman of Jen's Inc., national producer marketer, Jen's hot snacks, convenience foods, and Wilderness desserts, said: "I am happy to be able to contribute to this cause because the people in this area have the determination and courage to make a better future for themselves and the land where they live."

Mr. Paulucci has offered to give the farm co-op marketing and promotional assistance to further develop a sales program for their locally grown crop.

A brutal beating early Saturday snuffed out the life of 32-year-old Mrs. Oia Mae Maxwell of 243 Simpson.

A pool cue, beer bottle, knife and screw driver were the weapons used by her assailant, according to investigating officers.

Patrolman W. H. Thomas and D. W. Kirk said they received a call around 7:20 a.m. Saturday to the Fuzzle Lounge at 1402 Menager where they found the severely beaten victim lying on a mattress which had been placed on the floor.

The lounge is owned by the victim's husband, Hosea Maxwell; 39. He was charged with the slaying.

The arresting officers quoted Mr. Maxwell as saying he had called police after he and his wife had argued over a period of several hours after closing the lounge earlier Saturday.

The officers said Mr. Maxwell told them he had alternately beaten his wife with a pool cue, beer bottle, knife and screw driver.

The officers said they found Mrs. Maxwell's body covered with cuts and bruises.

She was pronounced dead at John Gaston Hospital at 8:50 a.m. Saturday morning.

Prisoner Route At City Jail Changed Following Complaint

Memphis police have been ordered to take prisoners into police headquarters from an open area at the side of the building rather than from an underground parking garage as in the past.

Police Chief Henry Lux said the change was made for convenience and not because of complaints received by the department.

There have been complaints from some prisoners that they were beaten while in the garage. Police officials insist the change did not stem from the complaints.

A recent complaint from the NAACP charged that a prisoner was beaten in the garage. Previously squad cars carried prisoners into the garage and officers led through a tunnel to an elevator in the basement. The elevator carried the prisoners to the booking area.

Chief Lux said last week that prisoners would be taken out of squad cars in a small alcove on the west side of the building and would be led, in the open into the building.

The chief said "This will be more efficient" and that basement disambarking was "lost time." "And we'll eliminate the traffic congestion we've had occasionally in the parking garage."

The event marks the conclusion of a month of activity conducted by men of the church.

Rev. Mr. Owen will deliver a special message at the 11 a.m. hour. An all-male chorus will sing.

Memphians Pay Tribute To King

About 2,500 Memphians commemorated the birthday of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. at a Thursday night observance held at the Auditorium.

A large picture of Dr. King, topped with roses and surrounded with candles and bouquets occupied centerstage behind the speaker's podium.

A letter from Bishop Joseph A. Durick, of Nashville diocese, commending Dr. King's plea for justice and love was read during the observance.

A mass at St. Teresa (Little Flower) Catholic Church was devoted to Dr. King's life. Part of his last sermon was used and a large photograph was displayed during the service.

More Black Liquor Stores

City Councilman J. O. Patterson Jr. has called on the City of Memphis to make it possible for more Negroes to own package liquor stores.

In a statement, he said: "In light of the announced proposal to increase the number of permitted licenses for the operation of package Liquor Stores within the City of Memphis it is my intention to request that the council amend the proposed ordinance so as to allocate all or a substantial majority of the proposed licenses exclusively for the use of members of the Memphis Black community who have for many years been desirous of owning and operating Liquor Stores in our City but have been refused such.

It is my understanding that of the 150 licenses now outstanding only 5 are held by Negroes. It seems to me that the City ought to take whatever steps that are necessary to correct this deplorable situation: one that has systematically excluded Black Memphians from the ownership and operation of this form of private enterprise."

Baptist Tea Will Benefit College

Plans are underway for the 12th annual Baptist International Tea, scheduled for the West Hall of Ellis Auditorium, Sunday, Jan. 25 from 4 to 6 p.m.

Mrs. Nancy Givans, coordinator, and Rev. Ben L. Hooks chairman, agree that the upcoming tea will be the "biggest and best."

The tea is sponsored by the Memphis Baptist Pastor's Alliance and cooperating Baptist churches in Shelby County.

Each table will represent a nation and the general theme will be: "Christianity Takes a Tour."

Mrs. M. L. Robinson will be the program chairman.

Training classes to provide 250 disadvantaged persons with skills needed by Memphis employers have been approved for financing with federal funds, according to State Employment Security Commissioner Mrs. Leo R. Burson.

The training will be offered at the Memphis Skill Center at 591 Washington St. and is intended to alleviate manpower shortages in several occupational fields, Mrs. Burson said. The 52 week classes will be conducted by the Memphis City School System under contract with the State Department of Education. Starting dates are to be announced.

To provide flexibility for the training, the classes will utilize an occupational "cluster" approach, Mrs. Burson reported. She explained that "clusters" are groupings of educationally or industrially related occupations at about the same skill level or in a "Skill ladder" progress... which allows each trainee to progress as far as he is able.

Five occupation "clusters" clerical occupations, production machine operations, upholstery, commercial food service, and welding occupations will be included in the training project for the disadvantaged in Memphis area, Mrs. Burson said.

The tired and weary Magicians of LeMoyné-Owen, back home after three games on the road, are faced with back-to-back contests this weekend in Bruce Hall.

They will host Lincoln University of Jefferson City, Mo. on Friday night, Jan. 23 and then meet Bethel on Saturday night.

LeMoyné-Owen defeated Lincoln, 105-91, earlier this season at Jefferson City.

This will be the Magicians' first crack at highly rated Bethel. Both LeMoyné-Owen and Bethel compete in the western division of the Volunteer State Athletic Conference.

Magicians Must Tackle Lincoln And Bethel!

The Magicians will complete the January portion of their schedule next week when they face two more VSAC members. They meet UT-Martin, Jan. 26 at Martin and go across town Jan. 23 to tackle Christian Brothers. LeMoyné Owen defeated both of these teams on the Magician court, taking UT Martin, 81-66 and CBC, 63-53.

LeMoyné, now 10-4 overall and 2-1 in the conference, has dropped its three road games last week. Tougalo surprised by getting even with the Magicians, 102-86, and Union came out on top, 67-53. LeMoyné lost to Lane by the forfeit route

At Tougalo, one of the Magicians said "We didn't play our usual game." In the defeat by Union, LeMoyné coach Jerry Johnson took the blame saying he erred by snatching guard Herbert Carter and holding him out too long. At Lane Coach Johnson pulled his team from the court with three seconds to go in overtime. This resulted in the 2-0 forfeit to Lane. Johnson protested a foul call and said the clock was permitted to tick off seconds after the foul had been called. The score was 85-85 when he pulled his team.

Brain Electricity

Science is constantly developing theories and telling us new things. Some time ago, it was revealed that there was an electrical brain activity, produced by cells which build up an electrical charge and then flash miniature lightning bolts to adjoining brain cells.

We won't pursue the discovery further but it is a significant one. Maybe in years to come a student, failing in his classes, will be able to obtain a supply of electricity that sets his brain to thinking.

Without reference to any persons in this area, we believe there are many individuals who need some kind of lightning in their heads. The only way they can be made to think is for someone to make it much easier.

Fires In N.Y. Legislature

ALBANY, N. Y. — The New York state legislature now knows a lot more about "heated" demonstrations at first hand.

Black militant youths from New York City set fire to at least one set of draperies in an anteroom of the visitors' gallery and in several other parts of the State Capitol and warned: "There'll be a great many more fires unless better legislation is passed to take care of the urban crisis."

The demonstrations by some 150 youths came as the State Legislature was okaying a resolution okaying Jan. 15 as "Dr. Martin Luther King Day." The date was the late assassin's birthday.

Capitol state police put out the small, almost harmless fires but made no arrests.

The youths shouted from the visitors gallery: "You're not doing us a favor by giving a bill for Martin Luther King. He's dead. You killed him."

"We want to be heard," some of the other youngsters shouted. "How come we can't talk about education."

One of the gripes of young blacks, in addition to the fact that defacto-segregated non-southern schools are not turning out black graduates who can meet the standards set up, is that only 1.9 percent of the college population of the United States is non-white although blacks make up more than 55 percent of all graduates of New York City high schools.

Some of the black youths also yelled "freedom for the 21."

This was a reference to the fact that 21 alleged Black Panthers are being held in jail, some in $100,000 bond on conspiracy charges in an alleged plot to dynamite department stores and commuter train facilities.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
I'm in love with a married man. He knows this but he thinks it is just a crush. Do you think I should talk to him? Worried-Cat.

Answer:
No, I do not unless you are looking for trouble. He probably is trying to be kind to you by telling you it is a crush as perhaps it is. I do not know how old you are but teenagers do get crushes on older men if they are associated with them and if the men are attractive. Teenage is a time when girls are in love with love and if any male who is fairly attractive comes within their orbit they can imagine themselves hopelessly in love. When they get over one such case the same thing is liable to occur again when they meet someone else. But take my advice and stay away from married men.

BIBLE VERSE

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

1. Who is the author of the above statement?
P.—Tex.

Answer:
I suppose some of it is jealousy and because these people are thrown together so much every day. As there are always bad eggs in every profession there are obliged to be some in the medical profession but the whole group should certainly not be classed as loose livers. The majority of nurses are fine, dedicated people.

WOMAN to WOMAN

By Patricia McCormack

NEW YORK UPI—Females have a reputation for being able to talk longer than males, louder than males, and on a greater variety of topics—including some they know very little about.

This gift of gab isn't the only female superiority. Women also have a natural ability to learn foreign languages more quickly than men.

The language expert who says so, Albert-Josef Schardl, credits the female's keener hearing.

"Women can hear certain sounds at certain frequencies that men don't hear... or hear as well," he said. "Since so much of learning to speak a language depends on how well you hear it, the woman has a certain built in advantage there also."

On the negative side for females, however, the president of Schardl Linguistic System noted that women generally don't learn as accurately as men.

"Men have a tendency to be much more methodical in their approach and pay attention to details," he said.

Schardl speaks six languages in addition to English. They are: French, German, Russian, Hungarian, Spanish and Italian. He also can get by in another seven spoken languages and can translate written works from a few more.

Knowledge of all these languages comes in handy for his change of moods.

"When I'm depressed," he said, "I speak Russian. It has five words to one in English for the word 'depression,' for example. If you are in the dumps, you really can wallow in Russian."

"Spanish is the gay, the happy language. There are six ways of saying 'I love you' in Spanish."

"French is the precise, the delicate language. It's the superior language. Europeans insist on using French for their legal contracts. That's because it's so exact."

German? The language expert described it as a language full of rich words to describe feeling. "That's why it's best for psychiatry, as he sees it."

Of course, what other language has -hee-hee, hee-haw, ha-ha, ho-ho, tee-hee, chuckle, chortle, guafaw and other words to describe rib-tickling?

Now all your U.S. Savings Bonds pay higher interest.

Now it's official. Now one of the safest investments in the world brings you new and higher returns. Now your U.S. Savings Bonds pay the highest interest in history: a full 5 per cent when held to maturity of 5 years and 10 months. (4% the first year; 5.20% thereafter to maturity.) Previously, these Bonds earned you only 4 1/4%, if you held them for seven years. The new interest began June 1, 1969. So all of the Bonds you own, no matter when you bought them, have been collecting higher interest since that time. Those Bonds are still replaced if lost, stolen or burned. You can still buy them through Payroll Savings or the Bond-a-Month plan.

Regardless of your other investments, can you think of any easier, better, or safer way to build a nest egg for yourself? It's nice to know that you are doing a little something for Uncle Sam, too. The $52 billion in U.S. Savings Bonds now outstanding in the hands of millions of Americans go a long way toward keeping your country financially strong. There never was a better time to take stock in America. There's a man at the place where you work who can start you on the Payroll Savings Plan right now.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America. With higher paying U.S. Savings Bonds.

IN CASE YOU DIDN'T KNOW It is a strange thing that religion has been so involved in modern day sports. Take for example, the Mormon Church founded by Brigham Young, and which boasts the internationally famous choir, with its base in Salt Lake City, Utah, has much prejudiced morals. To pinpoint this, Mormon theology holds that there are three heavens in the next life. To attain the highest rank in the top heaven, a man must hold the priesthood and be married for "Eternity" to attain in the in the top heaven and hold a place in one of the church's top temples.

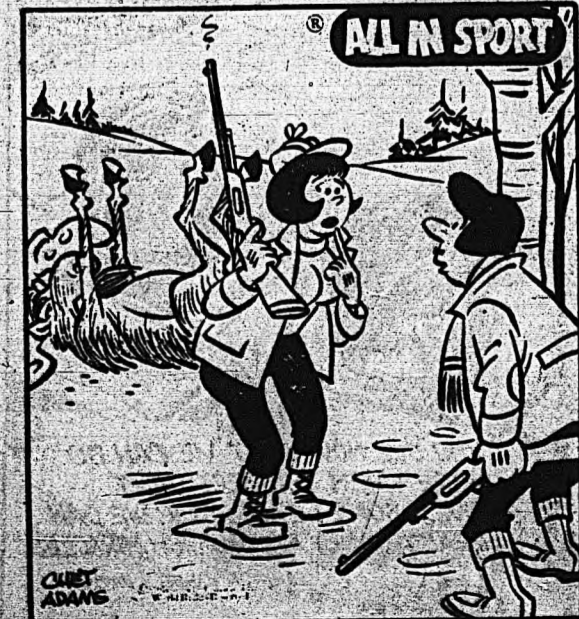

Will's Knee Cast Removed

INGLEWOOD, Calif.—(UPI)—Will Chamberlain's hope of returning to action with the Los Angeles Lakers this season was given a boost when he had the cast removed from his right knee in which he tore the tendon. Dr. Robert Kerlan, orthopedic specialist for the NBA club, refused to make a prediction when the famed center would be ready to play but indicated Chamberlain was making progress in his recovery.

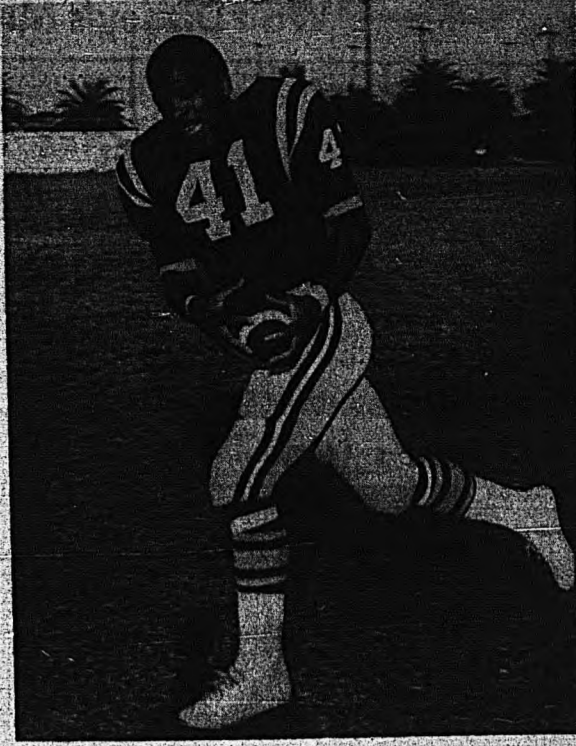

"Internal" healing has occurred," Dr. Kerlan said. "Will is able to walk without a cast or external aid. He will begin immediately on a hydro therapy and very light exercise program which will last about two weeks. "At that time another evaluation will be made and a gradually increasing exercise program will begin. We are happy with Will's progress at this time but cannot consider the operation a success until he is playing again."

HARMON WAGES

Miller writes letter Marvin Miller has written me a letter about that. He says, "by focusing on Curt Flood's salary, your article successfully obscured the issue." Marvin Miller should have more faith in the general public. No newspaperman is so good that he can fool the people and "obscure the issue" for long. Miller contends opinions have been used before by owners of another age...those who defended slavery more than a century ago. "I can't claim to be the great emancipator Marvin Miller is but I'm going to give him all the time he likes to explain to me how some 18-year-old kid demanding a $100,000 bonus, a new car and maybe a little something, too, for his father, is being stripped of his "rights and dignity."

Curt Flood May Open Dikes On Organized Ball

NEW YORK UPI — After flood - chaos.

That's the contention of the commissioner of baseball and the presidents of the American and National leagues regarding the federal suit brought by St. Louis Cardinal-Philadelphia Phillie outfielder Curt Flood.

Flood, resisting the trade, which will send him from the Cards to the Phillies, has challenged baseball's reserve clause, which binds players to the teams with which they originally sign unless traded or sold.

As far as organized baseball is concerned a victory for Flood could have seven disastrous results—including the end of organized baseball.

American League President Joe Cronin and National League President Chub Feeney, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn and the 24 clubs have been directed to show cause before U. S. District Court Judge Dudley B. Bonsal, Jan. 20 or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, why Flood's request to be made a free agent should not be granted.

FLOOD'S SUIT IS FILED Flood's suit is filed by former United Nations Ambassador Arthur Goldberg after the star centerfielder's request to be made a free agent was refused by Kuhn. The suit is being backed by the Major League Players Association and its executive director, Marvin Miller.

Scribes Ignore Alcindor's Rip Past Reed, Votes Favor Knick

NEW YORK — Alvin Reed, the big man of the N. Y. Knickerbockers, is the East's top pivot. It may be based on the fact that Milwaukee's Lew Alcindor did not make his move, to take over the National Basketball Association, until the New Year arrived.

Since New Year's Day, Lew has passed Reed in rebounds. He has also passed Jerry West in the scoring leadership—lifting his per game pace from 24.6 to 27.2. Before Will Chamberlain returns, Lew promises to be No. 1, NBA — en route to a possible 1970 loop title.

Philadelphia's Billy Cunningham plus a pair of talented New York Knicks — Willis Reed and Walt Frazier — were the top vote-getters on the Eastern Division squad which will compete in the National Basketball Association's 20th annual East-West Game, Jan. 20 in Philadelphia.

The eight-man team, announced by Commissioner Walter Kennedy, was chosen by sportswriters and sportscasters who regularly cover NBA action in the 14 franchise cities. After the Western Division choices are released later this week, the 14 NBA (coaches will select two additional forwards and two guards for the East and West to complete the lineup for the midwinter classic. The game will be nationally televised in color by ABC-TV starting at 8:30 p.m. (EST).

Cunningham, a 6-6 forward who is second in the league in scoring average, piled up 13,625 out of a possible 14 points (one full vote from each NBA city). This was the second consecutive year no Eastern player was named unanimously to the team.

It will be Cunningham's first starting assignment. Joining him at forward is John Havlicek of Boston, appearing in his fifth All-Star Game. Reed, the agile New Yorker named to the team for the sixth time, will start at center. Frazier and Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson will open at guard.

Also named to the East team were forward Gus Johnson of Baltimore, rookie center Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee and old pro Hal Greer, the guard of the hosting Philadelphia 76ers. Since each club must be represented in the All-Star Game, the coaches will pick at least one Detroit Piston in completing the dream team.

The Eastern Division All Stars and their point totals: FORWARDS — Billy Cunningham, Philadelphia, 13,625; John Havlicek, Boston, 12,092; Gus Johnson, Baltimore, 7,648. CENTERS — Willis Reed, New York, 13,250; Lew Alcindor, Milwaukee; 10,106. GUARDS — Walt Frazier, New York, 13,431; Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati, 12,481; Hal Greer, Philadelphia, 7,992.

Peace Pipe Smoked By Baseball's Kuhn

MILWAUKEE, WIS. UPI — Baseball Commissioner Bow-Kuhn has carried a peace pipe to the former home of the Braves.

And while he couldn't promise a return to major league baseball for the city, he promised the backing of his office. Kuhn, who was the attorney for the National League when Milwaukee filed an antitrust suit in an effort to keep the Braves in 1965, denied baseball held any grudge over the litigation.

"When I think the sponge should be thrown in for Milwaukee, I will say so," Kuhn told the 17th Annual Baseball's Writer dinner where he was cited for distinguished service to the sport. "I do not think so now, and I hope that time will never come."

Kuhn admitted there was a "serious problem" in Seattle where prospective buyers of the Pilots' franchise have been asked to make good on a $3.5 million loan. The American League has given the Seattle group until Jan. 22 to resolve its problems, and there has been wide speculation the team would be sold to Milwaukee or Dallas-Fort Worth interests.

Any decision on moving the Pilots would be up to the American League owners, Kuhn said, and nine of them have to approve it.

We made the college of his choice the college of our choice

What do you do when you've got a student who's taken to sea good college...and you're out of ideas? Put your dreams in your pocket and settle for something that's not just a question facing Bobby Hicks.

His case came to our attention and we looked into it. He had all the qualifications: good grades, desire, and ambition. So we supplied the one thing he lacked: money. Through a grant to Winston-Salem State University from the U. S. Reynolds Tobacco Company, he was able to hold onto his dreams.

Reynolds grants promise to help students like Bobby Hicks. People who help R. J. Reynolds by buying Winston-Salem State University cigarettes are helping the dreams of students like Bobby Hicks.

Salem State University broadens the school's curriculum. This educational grant to aid the case of Bobby Hicks and teaches only one lesson: that of commitment to equal opportunities for all Americans. But it's one of which we're especially proud. Because we believe that, ultimately, education is the key to unlocking the shackles of poverty and crippling black people into the ranks of American progress.

People have helped R. J. Reynolds by buying Winston-Salem State University cigarettes. They've helped the dreams of students like Bobby Hicks.
