

LeMoyné-Owen Student Leader's Project Aids Community Youngsters

Robert Charles Lipscomb, 21, of 973 Saxon—is a senior at LeMoyné-Owen, president of the College's Student Government Association and coordinator of a "Teach a Brother and Sister" program he organized for youngsters living in the LeMoyné Gardens area.

Mr. Lipscomb, a graduate of Booker T. Washington High School and the son of Mrs. Willie Mae Lipscomb of the Saxon address, is an economics and history major and hopes to do graduate work in industrial management.

He is on an athletic scholarship and last school year was a member of the cross country and baseball teams and served as team manager for the basketball squad.

Mr. Lipscomb is a member of a large family, five brothers and three sisters, but he is the first in his family to attend college.

He is probably the busiest student on campus, carrying a full study load as a senior, directing student government activities and coordinating the Teach-a-brother-Sister project.

He said he initiated the project to "help keep kids in the community out of trouble" by assisting them with their classroom homework and providing them with recreational activity. About 200 youngsters are involved in the program.

Mr. Lipscomb said "learning sessions" are conducted on Tuesday afternoons at which time the community youngsters are tutored in mathematics, English and history. Saturdays are given over to recreation, mostly swimming.

Ages of the participating youngsters range from 8 to 17. The project is sponsored by the LeMoyné-Owen Student Government Association. Six students of the college, all volunteers, serve as teachers. The project is not funded, Mr. Lipscomb said.

The youngsters assemble on Tuesday from 4:30 to 6:00 p.m. and on Saturdays from 10:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

As president of the Student Government Association, Mr. Lipscomb serves as liaison between college administration and the student body.

About the students at Le Moyné-Owen, he said "I am concerned about them being too apathetic."

"I want them to become more involved in college and community life," he added.

MLGW Opens New Building

The Memphis Light Gas and Water Division opened its new administration buildings—one of the most modern utility buildings in the nation—today to public viewing at an open house last Saturday and Sunday.

Among those greeting guest was H. A. Gilliam Sr. who was appointed to the MLGW board of commissioners in 1968. Mr. Gilliam is second vice president of Universal Life Insurance Co.

The $6.4 million building, which is heated by its more than 6,000 fluorescent lights, was the center of four continuing attractions for visitors. MLGW's 3,000 employees were invited to a special preview Friday night from 6 to 9 and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

More than 50 guides were

H. A. Gilliam Sr. on hand as hosts and hostesses for the guided tour.

The new administration building, the first ever built by MLGW, nearly triples the square footage of its former location at Madison and Third. The new building contains 230,000 square feet. It is located at Main and Beale.

"We are proud of our new building" said Calvin R. Henze, president of Memphis Light, Gas and Water Division. "We are already aware of how the new building will help us give our customers better service."

Voters Pick Dunn, Drop Gore!

FORD WINS AGAIN; KING, MURPHY IN!

Three black candidates in Shelby County proved their popularity at the polls Tuesday. The trio, two of them incumbents, won seats in the State House.

Newcomer Harold E. Ford, 25-year-old Democrat, won over incumbent James I. Taylor, 54, a Democrat who ran as an independent. Ford had very little trouble winning the District 5 seat.

Incumbent Ira H. Murphy,

43-year-old lawyer and a Democrat, posted an easy victory over newcomer Melvin Cummings, a businessman and a Republican. Murphy was returned to his District 6 seat.

Biggest victory among the three winners went to incumbent Alvin M. King, 35-year-old real estate man and a Democrat. He defeated Clifford D. Miller, 57-year-old night club operator and a Republican, by a landslide for the District 11 seat.

These three all-black House races received only a minor share of the election spotlight which was turned on state-wide contests that resulted in the election of a Republican Governor and a Republican U. S. Senator.

Dr. Winfield Dunn of Memphis, the Republican candidate for Governor, surprised many especially black voters, by defeating black-supported

John Jay Hooker of Nashville. Many white voters, we will as most black voters, were saddened by the defeat of U.S. Senator Albert Gore, Democrat. After 18 years in the Senate, Mr. Gore was whipped by Rep. William E. Brock, a Republican of Chattanooga, Tennessee will now have two Republicans in the U. S. Senate.

Democrat Ray Blanton and Republican Dan Kuykendall were elected to the U.S. House of Representatives.

Many black voters in this area began leaning to the Republican side two weeks ago following prompting by black leaders like George W. Lee, Harold Whalum and J. A. Beau champ.

Unofficial count late Tuesday night in the all black races for State House seats showed Mr. King with 8, 486 to 304

MY WEEKLY SERMON

BY REV. BLAIR T. HUNT, PASTOR

Text: "WE ALL DO FADE AS A LEAF." Isa. 64:6

In Autumn there is a rare beauty, a melancholy beauty. Let us go out into the open and read God in nature. Read God as you gaze upon the trees. How grandly true, "only God can make a tree." Read the leaves of your Bible, too, read the leaves of God's trees. There are all sizes and shapes of the leaves on God's trees: they are all God's.

Some of the leaves of God's trees are yellow, red, russet beige, brown, indigo blue, myriad sparkling colors when touched by the sun. Then it is a divine dazzling picture, a divine art gallery of heaven. It seems that artistic angels have left their easels and spilled their paint brushes and paint on God's trees.

Just as the myriad fading and falling leaves are God's leaves whatever their color may be, so we are God's children. Some are brown, beige, russet, red, yellow, black, but we are all God's children and he loves us one and all.

With God's sun flashing on the myriad colored leaves, they seem aflame like the burning bush that Moses beheld. As Moses heard God's voice from the flaming bush we too can hear God's whisper by way of The Fading and Falling Leaves.

Some of the fading leaves have fallen to mix forever with the elements from whence they came. This is according to God's eternal plan. Likewise, so many of God's children have faded and fallen. But thanks be to God "Dust Thou Art To Dust Returneth Was Not Spoken Of The Soul." Some of the leaves of the trees fade and fall before Autumn, some in the Spring, some in the Summer. They wait not for Autumn with its children winds and biting frost. So with God's children they leave us in their Spring Time, in the hey-day of Summer for "There is a Reaper whose name is Death and with his sickle keen, he reaps the bearded grain at a breath and the flowers that grow beneath. Only when God's sunshine upon the rainbow hues of the faded leaves are they divinely beautiful.

Likewise we are beautiful only when God's only begotten son Jesus the Christ shines upon our lives. Let us let the light of Jesus, our crucified Lord and risen Savior shine in our hearts.

Nature is telling us there is no end. The trees know they will come out green in another Springtime so they bring out their glorious banners. The trees are a part of God's nature, and if they bossom again, so will man, who is a part of God's nature, know he is undying. Life is continuous. There is no death just a transition.

Maybe we are in the sunset of life. Let us make it a sunset that tings to the skies a glorious after-glow with the promise of a clear tomorrow.

"There is no death the stars go down to shine upon some other shore, and 'bright in Heaven's jeweled crown they shine forevermore."

Cairo—In his inaugural address, Egypt's leader, Anwar Sadat, called on his people to make "every effort and sacrifice for a battle awaiting us" in pursuit of the path traced by the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

What's keeping you from looking good?
Damaged hair?
Over-processing isn't the only cause of damaged hair. All hair can be hurt by exposure to sun and extreme weather. Or by improper use of harsh chemicals or greasy compounds...or even just brushing your hair without a natural bristle brush.
The beauty experts know how important natural "lubricants" are to your hair—they give it body, lustre and protection. Artificial bristles actually brush away the lubricants...the sun burns them away...chemicals dry them away. And before you know it, you have damaged hair—split ends, brittle, breaking, dry or dull, limp hair.
Now you can bring your hair back to beautiful. Trained beauticians know Clairol condition™—The Beauty Prescription or Troubled Hair™. It softens split ends. It makes dry, dull and limp hair silky, shining and stronger. Takes just two minutes (for Instant Lotion) or a few more minutes (for the Beauty Pack).
If you're concerned about the shape your hair's in, go to the expert, your professional hairdresser, to check it. You'll end up with a beautiful head of hair. And keep on looking good!

MISS CARRUTHERS ANNOUNCES THE OPENING OF 'UNIS OF MEMPHIS' IN METRO SHOPPING PLAZA

Interest in Memphis this week centers completely around the new Metro-Shopping Plaza at E. H. Crump and Danny Thomas. We were invited to see "Unis of Memphis" and the ultra place is an unusually beautiful shoppe. With contemporary furnishings (draperies, paintings and furniture.)

Most of all, the large stock of dresses and ladies apparel are unbelievably gorgeous. In the Fall Collection, we found both the Mid and the Max... and can hardly wait until opening to try some of them. Most of all, I loved the soft Oriental Silks of Thai silks and saris cloths ordered in rhinestones (Dresses and pants) both looked like Fifth Avenue. There were capes and the flying of fringe and pleats.

And we all know about Eunice's hats (that she is famous and talented for making) and her wigs.

One could simply go crazy looking in the luxurious spot. We wondered just how she got such a large stock before opening "Unis of Memphis" is ready...with burglar alarm... and several houses (Texas, New York and Atlanta) called her within the 10 minutes we were there.

I failed to mention the wool plaid skirts and the tweens that always fascinate me...and the new jumper with the stock shirt...the pin stripes, dots, ascots and the double-breasted tailoring.

Opening Days are Thursday Friday and Saturday, November 5, 6, and 7...10 a.m. to 8 p.m. A dress or suit will be raffled off at 5 p.m. each of the three days. Go early to register.

Mrs. Ned Fardacy and Mr. Ed Donze, Special Representatives from the Paula Brooks Company will present a Trunk Show on Thursday and Friday from 12 noon to 6 in the evening.

SUMMER TOURS ENLIVEN CONVERSATION AT EARLY FALL PARTY

Mrs. Shad Stanback was hostess at the first fall meeting in September and was a gracious one when she entertained members of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority. She called the event a Picture-rama Party. Members, who attended the Zeta's 50th Anniversary Boule in Washington, D. C. this summer, brought pictures that they took of the many colorful events given.

Everyone had a chance to get a peek at the pictures during the evening, between sampling delicacies on the Smorgas board (which allowed members) a chance to go to the board again and again...as well as to the bar.

Movies and slides were also shown. Among those who showed up with pictures, slides and movies were Mesdames Margaret Cox, Vwima McChriston, Loreta Kateo, Uloka Jordan, Olivere George, Bertha Ray, Rosa Sias, Sara Dixon, Yvonne Moore, Julia Williamson and L. M. Haley.

Mrs. Anna Morris, who attended Amicea Seminar in Washington and Mrs. LaVerne Weathers (who went on the tour with Zeta Women) also showed movies. Others attending the party were Mesdames Rosetta Peterson, Celia Chaplain and Ezzie Woods who recently moved to Memphis from St. Louis.

The evening was climax with "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Haley through a song and cake.

DR. JAMES S. BYAS is back home after attending a Post Graduate Seminar on Diabetes Mellitus at Emory university Medical School in Atlanta. The Seminar was held at the Grady Memorial Hospital. Dr. Byas was guest at the famed and fabulous Regency Hyatt House.

MR. CHARLES JACKSON, Social Science Instructor at Manassas High is much improved and is home after having been gravely ill in the Baptist Hospital.

Bridge-Whist Tourney Set

A benefit bridge and whist tournament in Father Bertrand's gymnasium, 1169 Kerr Avenue, Friday, Nov. 6, at 7:30 p.m. will provide entertainment and assistance to St. Thomas Catholic Church. Father James Lyke, young community leader, is the church priest.

The affair is sponsored by the St. Monica Sodality Club, an active group of church matrons. Cash and other prizes will be awarded the top winners in each tournament. Mrs. Leroy Yancey, the president, and the committees have worked untrigly to assure patrons of an enjoyable evening.

Mr. Jackson, who is a vital part of MEA (Teacher's Organization) spent the summer in Africa studying. Many teachers were all up in arms...and we at Manassas were strained and worried while "Jack" was so ill. We are all relieved that he is better...and look forward to seeing him again soon at school.

Mr. Jackson is clean-cut...is a very brilliant, down-to-earth and lovable person. We missed him much.

MR. HORACE CHANDLER Cashier at the Tri-State Bank and prominent Memphis business man, is attending the Bankers Convention in Washington, D. C. this week.

MISS VETA ZOO BRIDGES young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Bridges, was home over the week end from Southern University at Baton Rouge. She like Southern very much.

THE AL BELLS are in New York City again this week attending a fabulous banquet. Next week, we will hear about their trip through Europe last Summer.

The Jackson 5 also dominates the Number One sale list in Great Britain, according to New Musical Express, England's major music publication, thus giving their recording supremacy international acclaim.

ABOUT YOUR HOME

Wash day need not be such a chore in your home. Lots of hot water, a good washing machine, and the right laundry accessories should add up to satisfactory results. They should, but too many times they fail.

For example--it makes sense to sort laundry into three piles--white, colored, and hand-washable. White wash responds to hot or cold water, depending on the detergent used. Fast-colored cottons, linens and nylons do better if washed in water.

If you don't know how hard your water is, it could be costing you quite a bit a year in additional soap, fabric damage, lime build-up in pipes, water heater failure and plumbing damage.

The Water Conditioning Foundation at 1780 Maple St., Northfield, Illinois 60093, will send you a free test kit which includes a strip of chemically treated paper with four gray markings. All you do is dip it quickly in a glass of water from any faucet. After removal the gray markings that turn reddish in color will show how hard your water is. If one of the markings change color, you're in good shape, says the Foundation. The test requires only 30 seconds.

Before washing any new colored garment, always check the manufacturer's tag for washing instructions. You may find that the garment should not be washed in the machine at all, but by hand.

Be sure to empty all the pockets and treat stains before washing. A clipping torn from a magazine with colored illustrations can work havoc with your wash. Remember that hot water and soapsuds will set untreated stains.

The Smut Report

The entrance of politicians into the battle of smut complicates the emotional reaction of many. The report of a distinguished commission on pornography, which surprised some because it wasn't the traditional approach, has prompted political figures to blast the report as pro-smut. Nothing could be further from the truth.

The issue is not whether one is for or against smut, or pornography. A glance at the commission's membership will remove doubts on that point. It includes the dean of the law school of the University of Minnesota, the director of the Michigan University Library, judges, psychiatrists, ministers, professors, a rabbi, publishers, broadcasters, the Attorney General of California and a criminal expert.

The recommendation of such a panel warrants careful consideration before being condemned for the commission obviously has no self-seeking motivation. Of course, among the panel is a minority report and various dissenting opinions to various recommendations.

It is not a simple question, not even one complicated question, but many complicated questions that are involved in the report. Those who desire an informed opinion on the report should get a copy and read it; only then can they discuss the questions at stake and recommendations and dissent intelligently.

Meanwhile, the views of the majority of a distinguished panel deserve open-minded consideration.

man (D-SC): "I urge the President to strengthen our military capabilities in the Caribbean."

Some Harsh Views

Nation's Business reports, "Campus turmoil has cut deeply into businessmen's enthusiasm for further contributions to colleges." It quotes a number of more or less typical businessmen's reasons for terminating contributions to colleges and universities. They range from, "I will not contribute to irresponsible college administrators or teachers" to "They can burn down all the million-dollar facilities they desire. I just won't pay to rebuild them." Another businessman believes business should support only those colleges that teach students to be better Americans and useful citizens.

These are harsh views, coming from business leaders and citizens on whom the U.S. educational system must depend for support. On the other hand, they may result in the raising of educational standards to meet the needs of millions of young and serious Americans on whose shoulders will fall the responsibility of becoming tomorrow's leaders in business, industry and government.

Angela Davis' Tragedy

A childhood with a loathsome background of blood, brutality, bestiality and premeditated murder is not an easy environmental potential for Americanism. Surely this must have been the foundation of thought and activism and psychotic compulsion for the inborn brilliance and intellect of Angela Davis.

Having been born in the brawling slums of Birmingham, Ala. and an eye-witness to terror and horror, the strikingly beautiful Miss Davis is a phenomenon that deserves critical attention.

It is too late to assess what the documentation of discrimination, degradation and deprivation that clouded her vision of freedom and justice, but surely the scars must have been awesome to explain her radical compulsion. She is an avowed Communist and committed to social and political change in a pattern which almost parallels her anger at those causing her gruesome and vicious experience.

At the University of California, Miss Davis was a constant paradox, and efforts to remove her from the faculty, at the behest of the Board of Regents, surely must have enflamed her already-extreme sensitivity, and set in ferment the bloody shoot-out at the courthouse in San Rafael, of which she is accused of supplying guns. In New York, Miss Davis is being held on unlawful flight to avoid prosecution in the case and is fighting extradition to California. Long and cumbersome judicial processes are ahead, innocent or guilty.

It is a great tragedy that international and here at home, the unerring spotlight of public opinion is on the outcome of her tribulations.

Whatever the outcome, the tragedy is that one who might have made a significant contribution to the nation's normal political debate and to the eradication of grievous wrongs through peaceful change, has been entrapped with words and deeds.

On Brakes

A recent federal government study indicates that the amount of foot pressure required to apply maximum braking, in many American cars, is greater than many female drivers can apply. Present safety standards allow builders to install braking systems which require up to 200 pounds pressure for emergencies.

In a recent test over fifty per cent of the women tested were unable to exert that much foot pressure. Between 10 and 18 per cent of the women tested could not apply 150 pounds.

Female drivers behind the wheels of cars without power brakes should be aware of this latest National Bureau of Standards report, which indicates about half of them cannot stop their cars in the minimum braking distance.

The South

One of the significant findings of the 1970 census is that a turning-point has occurred in the population growth in the South. For the first time in many decades more people moved into the south than out of it, in the sixties.

The Census Bureau divides the country into four major regions, the South being the most populous since it includes Maryland, Delaware, West Virginia, Kentucky, Oklahoma and the District of Columbia with the eleven former Confederate states: Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas. The population of the region is now 61.6 million.

The South is now very close to the national average in educational attainment and by 1973 will have pulled even with the national average. Already adults from the South are as likely as those from other regions to have had some college education.

But the region still lags in per capita income (though its average is increasing faster than the national average) and family income. Of all the states in the nation, Florida showed the greatest percentage gains in the sixties—in population by 35 per cent, employment by 65 per cent and non-farm income by 130 per cent.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Half-Picked Pocket

It was intermission time at the theater, and the lobby was crowded. Suddenly a patron felt his wallet being eased out of his back pocket. Whirling around, he seized both the wallet and the hand of the culprit.

In due course, the fellow was arrested on a charge of larceny.

At the trial, however, he came up with a defense.

"I admit I had theft in mind," he told the court. "But I never did get that wallet more than half way out of the man's pocket. Maybe I'm guilty of an attempt, but nothing more."

Nevertheless, the court found him guilty of larceny, as charged. The judge said the offense was complete when he took full possession of the wallet and began moving it out of the victim's pocket.

The crime of larceny requires both a taking (even for a short time) and a carrying away (even for a short distance). Nothing less will do. Thus:

A prudent woman shopper kept her purse in a coat pocket, tied by a string to the inside of the pocket. Here, too, a man was caught in the act of lifting the purse out.

But this time, the court held him guilty of attempt only, not larceny. The court said that because of the string binding the purse to its owner, the defendant had never gotten it fully into his possession.

What about a would-be shop-lifter who never gets the merchandise out of the store? Consider this case:

A woman pushing a shopping cart took a package of beef out of the freezer. But instead of dropping it in the cart with her other items, she slipped it inside her purse. An observant employee caught up with her just before she reached the checkout stand.

When she was unable to explain her conduct, the woman was arrested on a charge of larceny. At the trial, she insisted that she could not be convicted because she had never gotten the beef out of the store.

But the court held her guilty anyhow. The judge said she had taken "complete and exclusive control" of the package by placing it inside her purse.

"The fact that the possession was brief," said the court, "is immaterial."

Walt Disney's MICKEY MOUSE

YES, WE ALL TALK

By Marcus H. Boulware, Ph.D.

"Mr. Civil Rights' Orator"

At the height of his popularity, the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., was acclaimed "Mr. Civil Rights." He became during his time, an orator without peer. His followers, especially the masses, brooked no criticism of their idol. He was a true Soul Brother in the sense that he could state a philosophy for carrying out a non-violent Black freedom crusade.

The Moses of his people 1950's was in step with the times. He was aware that effective speakers are leaders. His theological training taught him that one must cultivate the voice and oratorical art. For instance, the Greek orators and actors practiced vocal exercises before breakfast. They were strictly temperate in food and drink. If they lived today, we should have to add liquor, cigarettes, and burning the candles at both ends.

During the first part of his career, Dr. King gave considerable time to writing his speeches. However, when he got extensively involved in civil rights activities, he was forced to discontinue elaborate speech preparation. Just as Ezekiel was commissioned by Jehovah to sojourn among the Israelites seven days to help them gain their freedom, King lived a "rag" all his life and got the Black experience—perhaps too much of it.

When he spoke, he talked as one authority. He knew about things he discussed. Whether one liked King or not, he became more articulate and eloquent. His voice grew indescribably sweeter and more musical each year to the man farthest down. No orator was ever listened to with greater delight and reverence.

Houston—Breaking tradition, the 63rd triennial convention of the Episcopal Church recently agreed to permit women to serve as fully accredited members of the convention's heretofore all-male House of Deputies. The church's general convention is a bicameral body consisting of two houses—deputies and bishops. Legislation requires approval by both.

Urges U.S. Negroes

UPI—Swedish social scientist Dr. Gunnar Myrdal told an audience of Black university students here Monday that negro Americans should ally themselves with other disadvantaged minorities in their quest for social justice.

Myrdal told an Atlanta University audience that negroes actually only make up about 25 or 30 per cent of those victimized by discrimination in the United States. He said Indians, Mexicans, Puerto Ricans, Asians, and poor whites are also victims of discrimination.

"Nothing is more certain than it is of greatest importance that the American under classes be brought to join hands," Myrdal said.

"It is healthy for a democracy that disadvantaged groups join together to press for justice; otherwise justice will not be done.

Myrdal noted that other groups tend to resent "every advantage given only to Negroes."

He cited that as the reason for his refusal to endorse a so-called "Marshall Plan for Negroes."

The sociologist denied the benefits of Black capitalism of significantly aiding Negroes out of the ghettos in which they now live.

"I would like to make such fundamental changes in the social structure that it would be just as possible for you as it would be for a white boy to reach whatever position your intelligence makes possible," Myrdal declared.

Myrdal predicted America "will ride out" its problems. He said the nation needs a "moral and intellectual catharsis" to realize the war in Vietnam is "illegal, unconstitutional, cruel, criminal, and bad, morally bad."

He said this would eventually happen "and will have a healthy influence on other problems in the nation."

Clark Gum Wrappers Mean Money for UNICEF

NEW YORK — UNICEF gets a big boost from Sammy Davis, Jr. who makes his contribution of Clark Gum wrappers to a pre-halloween group of trick-or-treaters. From now until the end of the year, Clark is contributing 1/2 cents to UNICEF for each of its pack wrappers recycled to the company. Feeding Sammy a stick of gum is Kathleen Guzman and accepting the pack from Sammy is Sheila Speller. Both girls are from I. S. 201 in Harlem. Hal Henson, assistant branch manager of Clark Gum (right), lends a helping hand.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Sleep is the best beauty treatment of all. Lack of sleep over a long period can drag a person down to poor health both mentally and physically. Doctors are even using long periods of artificially induced sleep to cure some types of mental disorders.

There's no cream you can buy that will erase the lines put into your face by constantly robbing yourself of rest. This is often a problem to young mothers. The best advice in the world is to let some housework go undone and take a nap during the day with your baby.

One of the quickest ways to lose your mental poise and outward appearance is to couple late hours with over indulgence in alcohol and cigarettes.

Don't fool yourself into thinking that you will be able to cover those circles with makeup. At first this will be possible. However, after a while you'll look like a hag, even under a ton of makeup.

Don't expect everyone to agree with you; variety of opinion makes the world interesting.

ABA Opposes Regional Control Of (EOA) Poverty Law Program

CHICAGO (Ill.)—The American Bar Association has again expressed opposition to a proposed reorganization plan that would decentralize control of the Legal Services Program.

In a letter to OEO Director Donald Rumsfeld, American Bar Association President Edward L. Wright said the proposed decentralization would be a "regression" in the program status which "would be unwise, unwarranted and unacceptable to the legal profession." He noted that Rumsfeld last year elevated the LSP to the status of an independent division within the Anti-poverty Agency with policy and responsibility firmly established at the national level.

Mr. Wright said this status had been sought by the organized bar since the program was initiated five years ago as part of the OEO's Community Action Program.

"On behalf of the American Bar Association and its Board of Governors," he said, "I urged you to reaffirm the independent status of the Legal Services Program at all levels of administration within the agency."

Mr. Wright sent copies of his letter to the presidents of all state bar associations and local bar associations serving the nation's largest urban areas to keep them "informed of this most important professional problem." In a covering letter, he said the proposed change in the legal program now is under study by a special subcommittee of the National Advisory Committee to the Legal Services Program.

Mr. Wright, who served as a member of the advisory committee, said Director Rumsfeld has assured the group that a final decision on the reorganization issue will not be made until its views are received and considered. The NAC is expected to present its recommendations to Rumsfeld in November.

American Bar Association and other bar association spokesmen also opposed the proposed reorganization plan at recent hearings called by the Senate Labor Subcommittee on Employment, Manpower and Poverty. The spokesmen, including John W. Cumminskey, of the American Bar Association Board of Governors, told the Subcommittee that the reorganization "would have substantial impact on the professional independence of the attorney and would interfere in the lawyer-client relationship."

In addition, the bar spokesmen said, the LSP would lose many of its brightest young lawyers and could well lose the enthusiastic support it has received from the organized bar.

"No self-respecting lawyer," they said, "will continue to work in a program where he is subordinate to laymen in professional matters."

The proposed reorganization would give the ten regional directors of OEO, only two of whom are lawyers, a co-equal voice with Terry Lenzner, national director of LSP, in the administration of some 850 legal services projects, employing 2,000 lawyers nationally.

Negro All-Star Game in Atlanta

Grapevine report that proposed Negro College All-Star Classic, which will probably be bankrolled by an international soft drink firm in conjunction with a National League baseball club is very much alive for Atlanta Stadium in 1971. Top ranked All-American football players will be sought and a regional television hook-up in major minority markets, that is big cities, east of the Mississippi, is expected sought.

For the past four years there has been off-and-on talks between representatives of three predominantly Negro Conferences in Atlanta (Regency-Hyatt House, Washington, D. C. and New York City) regarding the game.

Off the record conversations were held secretly in Atlanta, two years ago by A. S. (Jake) Gaither, Florida A&M, Eddie Robinson, Grambling College, and Earl Banks, Morgan State.

Miami sources, with assistance from column reports in the Miami Times, indicate the game is near a fact, through some tight cooperation of the Negro Market Developers, who are prime motivators of such a promotion.

Two Market Developers president - Joe Black of Greyhound, Inc., Charles Boone, Coca-Cola and incumbent Market Developers chief executive Charles J. Smith, III, the latter a one-time director of Public Relations at Savannah State and Florida A&M and now with R-C Cola, are said to be sold on involving their respective firms in the promotional aspects of the game.

Behind the Scenes - there is reported an all-out endorsement by Marino H. Casem of Alcorn A&M and John A. Merritt of Tennessee A&I University.

THE THREE NEGRO CONFERENCE-SIAC, SWAC and CIAA, according to Sunshine State information, are expected to act on the all-star game at their respective winter meetings in December. It seems that long-stalled talks on the game are now being activated and some implementation of the promotion, is in sight.

FLORIDA A&M Alumni are showing up just about everywhere as either head coaches or assistants. For example - "Bog Jim" Williams a Ruler All-America, is defensive coordinator of nationally ranked small college University of Tampa, under Frank Curci. It is expected that Curci will get the head coaching job at the University of Miami next season. Curci is expected to bring "Big Jim" along with him to the University of Miami. Right now, the Tampa Spartans are scheduled to play Florida A&

M University, Nov. 28 in the new stadium, there.

ELROY MORAND, Another Rattler signal caller of the late sixties, is aside to Frank Lauterbur at the University of Toledo, and is said to be one of the most dedicated workers on the staff. Morand formerly was employed at Delaware State College, Dover, Del.

FRANK MERCHANT, topkick at Morehouse College, is also an orange and green product, and is improving the winning image of the Maroon Tigers. Merchant is in his first season on the "Red Hill" and may achieve the .500 percentage his first campaign try.

OVERLOOKED in the news The Milwaukee Brewers have entered into a 1971 player development contract with Evansville of the American Association. The Evansville club, headed by Howlett, will replace the Brewers' top minor league affiliate Portland of the Pacific League, according to owner Marvin Milke.

Evansville joined the American Association last season after previous membership in the Three-I League, and the old Southern Association. The club had been affiliated with the Braves while the National League was in Milwaukee and subsequently with the Minnesota Twins during the past campaign.

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY reports an estimated 6,100 Georgians will die of the scourge in 1971. A new fact book estimates there will be a total of 335,000 deaths in the United States. The leading cancer killer both in Georgia and expected to be lung cancer. A deaths from lung cancer total 54,300 and in Georgia, 1,300.

The society also predicts Georgia will also have 12,000 new cancer cases in 1971. So get a checkup and send a check. DID YOU KNOW? National Football League teams made 76 trades during 1970 and the 113 players involved were the largest number ever in one season. There were also purchases involving two additional players.

In this first season of inter conference trading, there were 28 AFC, 26 NFC and 22 inter-conference deals. The New Orleans Saints were the most active, with 14 trades. The Saints also dealt a way the most players, 11 while acquiring the most draft choices, 6. The Chicago Bears acquired the most players, 13; the Bears and the Saints traded away the most draft choices, 5.

The Atlanta Falcons, the most active team in trades last season with 17, were the least active this year with one. Conversely, the 20 players involved in New Orleans transactions were the most by any team.

The San Diego Chargers were the most active team in the American Football Conference with 11 trades. The 18 players involved in the Pittsburgh Steelers trades were the most by any AFC team.

Braves List 26-Game Slate For The Spring

UPI - The Atlanta Braves announced Saturday they would open a 26-game spring training schedule March 5, 1971, against the Montreal Expos at Municipal Stadium West Palm Beach, Fla.

West Palm Beach is home base for the Braves during the Grapefruit League Season and also for the Expos who will play eight games with Atlanta. In all, the Braves have 17 games scheduled at West Palm Beach.

Atlanta will play five National League teams - the Los Angeles Dodgers, Houston Astros, Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Mets along with the Expos.

Four American League teams are on the schedule - the World Champion Baltimore Orioles, Minnesota Twins, New York Yankees and Washington Senators.

AT 6-5 AND 280 POUNDS, Los Angeles tackle Bob Brown admits, "I'm not the kind who tries to finesse an opponent. You might say I'm crude, I'm like a 16-pound sledge hammer that keeps battering into the defensive ends." Brown theorizes that an offensive lineman should never give a defensive rush man two choices -- an inside or outside path.

"For example, a few years ago, I was confronting a defensive end who had a stinky inside move. So, I shifted a bit to the outside and I could see what was running through his mind. He was probably thinking 'I just can't pass up this opportunity.' What I did was force him into a situation that he didn't handle real well."

Brown employs what he calls a "low profile stance" on the scrimmage line. He crouches low to the ground, with his right leg stretched out behind him. "I started experimenting with my stance last year. Offensive linemen always have lined up the same. Why? Now, defensive linemen have to adjust to reach me. They have to change their style which means I am forcing them to play the way I want them to

Coaches' Advice

Whatever it was that Clark College coach Jesse McCloudy was telling quarterback Andrew Vaughn paid off, temporarily. Albany State Rams Stun M B C Wolverines, 25-10

ALBANY, Ga. Down by 10 points after the first period, Albany State hitched up its belt and went to work, scoring once in both the second and third quarters and wrapping it up with 13 points in the final period to shock Morris Brown 25-10.

The ending was exciting as little used Arthur Cameron exhibited his ware dashing 77 and 47 yards to put the game out of reach for the Wolverines. Cameron, with a display of power and speed, smashed into the Morris Brown secondary enroute his 77 yards jaunt breaking four tackles on the way.

Later in the same period with the outcome clearly established, Cameron again showed his power. Taking a handoff from quarterback Kenie Burke, Cameron powered his way into the secondary and broke several tackles before outrunning the remaining defensive backs on a 47 yard excursion.

Old reliable Sherman Melvin, however, got the Rams back on track after falling behind by ten points. With time running out in the second period, the hard charging full back from Statesboro crashed through from six inches out for the Rams' initial score.

Melvin again got things started in the second half. Following the battle of defense in which Morris Brown's potent running attack was stopped, Melvin broke one from 36 yds out to give the Rams the lead at 12-10 with two minutes left in the third quarter.

The first half, though, belongs to Morris Brown. They out-rushed State 119-57 and racked up 10 points to 6. It was obvious from the outset that the Wolverines came to play. They gave the Rams only four plays following the kickoff before marching to the Rams' 26 only to be denied a field goal.

They were not denied on their next thrust. Giving the Rams a good look at power runner Levi Golpin, quarterback Ron Lawrence crossed up the defense by hauling the skin over himself from six yards out. Larry Henderson, later added a 30-yard field goal and the Wolverines were rolling with a ten point lead after one period of play.

From that point on it was the Rams' defense and a fired up offense that would not believe they were not suppose to win.

Savannah State Homecoming Against Albany State, Nov. 7

SAVANNAH - Coach John Myles and his band of veteran players will meet the Fort Valley State Wildcats on November the seventh in the annual homecoming game at two p.m. in Tiger stadium.

Myles' Tigers, after five games, have won three and lost two, but hold a respectable three and zero record in the second division of this conference. The Tigers, backed by a stand-out defense, have beaten Alabama A&M 29-0, Lane 7-0, and Clark, in their homecoming game 9-3. The losses have been lopsided, as Alcorn won 34-6 and Bethune upset the Tigers 34-21.

The Tiger defense, nicknamed the 'Headhunters', have allowed only 14.2 points per game. Although offensively the opposition is averaging more in rushing and passing, this came about as a result of the team's loss to Alcorn.

The Braves gained over 600 yards totally which accounts for the big difference in SSC's State and the enemy.

The Headhunters are spear-headed by sophomore Joe Gibbs, a player who is relentless and never gives an inch, and is supported by Leonard Garrett, Andre Alston, James Dupree, Max Parker, Senior Charlie Smith, Carlton Moffett, Frankie Harper, Nathaniel Butler and Zank Sears. The 'Hunters' have gotten to the passer on many occasions and the passing secondary has mounted to be a very touch unit having intercepted 11 passes with Harper leading with five.

The offense, featuring Dennis Jones, is really explosive once it gets churning. This is evident in the loss to Bethune as they scored three touchdowns in the last quarter. Jones has gained 362 yards and leads the team in total points.

Endwise, SSC has depth in Lorenzo Bennett, Terry Leggett, and James Wood. To keep Jones from having the entire running burden, Charlie Frazier is a break-away threat. He also is a deadly pass receiver with elusive moves. The number one passer is sophomore Chester Ehts who is averaging 81 yards per game, and freshman Louie Tooks, the second string filinger, is really good.

Morgan State Come Back Stops N.C. A & T, 13-9

BY RICHARD E. MOORE

GREENSBORO, N.C. -- North Carolina A&T pushed across nine quick points against Morgan State here last Saturday but the league leading Bears rallied to win the game, 13-9.

For the third straight year, the two small-college football powers staged one of their exciting duels, this time before 20,000 A&T homecoming fans. In whipping the Aggies for the first time in three years, Morgan upped its overall season record to 6-1, while the loss leaves the Aggies with a 3-4 record.

Morgan's winning points came on an 18-yard pass from quarterback David Freland to flanker Curtis Davis with 5:41 left in the third quarter. Until that time, the Bears had trailed 9-7.

After Davis' fine touchdown catch, placekicker Ron Mayo became rushed, but scooted across the goal-line for a two point conversion to sew up the victory.

It was in the first quarter that A&T showed signs of breaking the game wide open on their second series of downs, the Aggies climaxed an extended drive with a 29-yard field goal by sophomore kicker John Guy. That came with 9:06 left in the period. Moments later, the Aggies got the ball again, this time moving 75 yards to paydirt. The clincher in this drive was a 67-yard touchdown bomb from quarterback Jerome Turner to end Willis Wright, 46 seconds before the quarter expired. Guy's PAT try was blocked, but A&T was ahead, 9-0.

A short kick by Aggie punter James Cunningham midway the second quarter set up Morgan's first points. Cunningham booted the ball only 22 yards to A&T's 29, Davis ran for four yards, then caught a pass from Freland for eight more yards.

Two plays later, Morgan halfback Craig Gee scurried across the goal-line for a touchdown from two yards out. Mayo's PAT cut A&T's lead to 9-7.

Morgan dominated the play in the second half, as running backs Jimmy Joe and John Sykes made enough short yardage on crucial downs to control the ball.

The Bears netted 158 yards on the ground, while A&T could only earn 30 yards. Sykes rushed for 76 yards during the game. A&T's best effort was 39 yards by senior running back, Lorenzo Pearson.

PHOSPHATES SAVE HOUSEWIVES SCORES OF DOLLARS

Did you ever stop to think how much you save each week just on children's garments that are wash-and-wear? Add it up for the whole family, multiply by 52, then shake the hand warmly of the next Floridian you meet. For Florida is where much of America's phosphates come from, and phosphates are what help to make wash-and-wear possible.

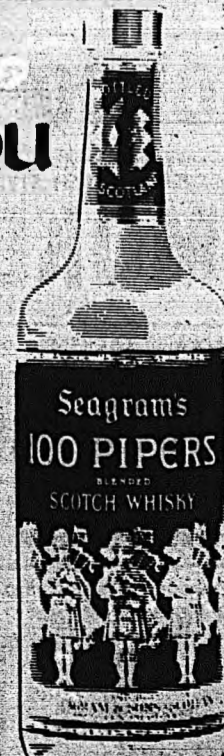

Phosphates, first applied extensively and successfully in the 1930's, are of critical importance in modern laundry detergent formulations because they are the only ingredient yet known which can disperse and suspend dirt, improve the wetting ability of water, isolate objectionable elements in the wash water and perform several other laundry functions well enough to satisfy the American homemaker.

To meet the demand for phosphates in the American home, the soap and detergent industry prodigiously produces detergents which contain billions of pounds of phosphates. A curious idea evolved along with the spreading use of phosphates... that their presence in lake water stimulates the growth of algae, which, when they die, are eaten by bacteria, thereby depriving fish of oxygen.

The idea derived from the enormous post-World War II popularity of automatic laundry machines and dishwashers and the formulation of special laundry detergents to make them perform with maximum efficiency. It is estimated that more than 55 million American homes today have automatic washing machines, and nearly 15 million have automatic dishwashers.

Violence is rampant at many schools today! During the past year, there were fights and brawls following many of the football games. The basketball season saw more of the same. Stabbings and fighting are becoming so prevalent, there is now talk of curtailing interscholastic athletic competition entirely.

I would like to remind parents, athletes and students alike, that varsity athletic programs are NOT an obligatory part of a school's educational program. The inter-school sports program is a privilege granted by state and local Boards of Education. And you don't have to be a mental giant to recognize that black youth has benefited greatly from these athletic programs. Athletics has been one of the few areas where black men have been able to break the barrier and gain the admiration and respect of a sports minded America. It's been a door-opener to scholarships and education... an uncommon opportunity to earn big money and win national acclaim. And very often a stepping stone to jobs with futures unrelated to sports.

Today, when millions of blacks are marching and protesting to gain a greater share of wealth and respect for the black community, it's a damned shame that we allow a handful of unthinking radicals to smash this fine avenue of opportunity.

To those relatively few trouble-makers I say: search your souls. Ask yourselves whether your actions depict a people who are black and proud... or just plain, flat-out ignorant?
