

KASPER, SIX OTHERS CONVICTED

Clinton, Tenn. Riot Case Sends In Convictions

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — (INS) — John Kasper and six Clinton, Tenn., defendants were found guilty of criminal contempt charges by a federal court jury in Knoxville Tuesday after two hours and 20 minutes of deliberation.

As the verdict of the all-white jury was announced, there were several loud gasps in the courtroom filled with friends and neighbors of the 10 defendants.

Judge Taylor deferred sentencing until the re-trial motions were made. He allowed the convicted to remain free on bond. They can receive a maximum penalty of six months in prison and a $1,000 fine.

The verdict was returned after the jury of 10 men and two women deliberated for two hours and 20 minutes, and brought audible gasps in the federal courtroom, crowded with friends of the defendants.

Judge Robert L. Taylor gave the defense 20 days in which to file a motion for re-trial, which the defendants' attorneys indicated they planned to do.

The jury announced a verdict of "guilty on all three counts" of conspiring to willfully violate a federal court injunction calling for the peaceful integration of the high school.

As the decision was handed down, even John Kasper, outspoken New Jersey segregationist, had a hard time finding words to describe his feelings.

"I'm surprised," was all he managed to mumble to a group of well-wishing middle-aged women who crowded around him with words of encouragement.

The guilty verdict brought this comment from J. Benjamin Simmons, Kasper's attorney: "This trial doesn't mean a thing. If the Supreme Court rules that the original injunction was illegal, you can throw anything that happened here out the window."

The seven defendants found guilty were Kasper, Lawrence Brantley, William Brakebill, the Rev. Alonzo Bullock, Clyde Cook, Mrs. Mary Nell Currier and W. H. Till. Four of the defendants were acquitted.

The trial ended with the jurors marching out tight-lipped and refusing any comment concerning their decision. Even the alternate jurors would not give their opinion of the case.

Alternate jurors Mrs. Margie Day and Mrs. Nola Fesler said as one person, "we have all made up our minds not to give any opinion and we're going to stick to that decision."

Henson Nelson, one of the four Clinton defendants not convicted, shook his head sadly after the trial and said:

"I don't feel no better now than if I had been convicted."

Mrs. Currier, the only woman convicted, said:

"I feel just the same now as when this trial started — Good."

"God is still on his throne, John," one of them cried, "everything will turn out all right." Kasper nodded mutely.

Defense Attorney William Shaw told newsmen:

"We're very disappointed. I still don't think the government proved its case."

Robert L. Dobbs, chief defense counsel, said he too was "surprised," and asserted:

"We will appeal this case if we do not get a new trial."

Applicants Step Up Drive To Enter Memphis Univ.

The number of Negro students seeking enrollment at Memphis University is increasing according to the institution's registrar, R. P. Clark. He is reported to have said he had knowledge of 10 applications from Negro students, but he had no way of readily determining how many more had been received by his office, since he had not had an opportunity to process the great influx of applications received in the last week.

Two Men Treated For Burns At Hospital

Two men were treated for burns at separate city hospitals after a gas line, where they were working, exploded at 52 Lucca early Tuesday afternoon.

The men, employed by the Memphis Light, Gas and Water Division, were identified as Joe N. Williams 4654 Getwell St., a Negro; and B.M. Skinner, 1684 Ozan.

Williams was treated at the company's service station and released. Skinner was taken to Methodist Hospital where he was suffering first and second degree burns of the face, shoulder and other parts of his body.

The explosion resulted after the repair crew cut through a main gas line with an acetylene torch. It is believed that a spark set off the fumes while the crew was attempting to stop the break.

Little Rock Board Of Education Backs Supreme Court Decision

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — The local Board of Education went on record as endorsing the Supreme Court's May 17, 1954 school decision, last week.

The endorsement came in the form of a four-page document prepared by Virgil Birkman, superintendent, last Saturday.

In effect the report said that the Supreme Court's decision supercedes Arkansas' segregation school laws.

The school board called for "gradual integration" of the races starting on the high school level this fall.

Attorneys for the school board pointed out "that whenever the laws of a state conflict with those of the United States. There is evidence of growing tension about the "integration plans" which are scheduled to become effective when the fall school session starts.

15 Men Sought On Beating Charge

GREENVILLE, S. C. — (INS) — The Greenville Sheriff was searching for 15 white men Wednesday who are accused of beating up a Negro because he was taking care of a white neighbor's children.

Claude Cruell, 58, told police he was minding his white neighbor's seven children Sunday night when 15 white men suddenly broke into his home, chained him and beat him with fists and clubs. Cruell said he was minding the youngsters at the request of his white neighbor, Sherwood Turner, who was taking his wife to the hospital for an emergency operation.

Cruell lives with his wife on a 100 acre farm 15 miles north of Greenville.

Eleven Hundred Employees Presented With Safety Pens

Eleven hundred employees of the Memphis General Depot, who have worked 8,102 years without a disabling injury were today presented with safety pens and cards for their adherence to safety rules on the job.

Fifteen-year records, amassed by 116 Army Depot employees were rewarded with the green and white "no-accident" award pens.

Some 224 employees who worked less than five years without a lost-time accident were given "no-accident" cards, while the largest group consisting of 760 employees, received safety pens for five through fourteen years of accident free work.

Tuskegee's Foster Joins Southern School News Staff

NASHVILLE — (ANP) — Two new directors have been added to the board of the Southern Education Reporting Service, Dr. Luther H. Foster, president of Tuskegee Institute and Bert Struby, editor of the Macon, Ga., Telegraph. Dr. Foster fills a vacancy which occurred when P. B. Young, Sr., of Norfolk Va., resigned more than a year ago.

Struby succeeds Virginia Dabney of the Richmond News-Leader. There is one other colored member, Dean George N. Rudd of Flisk University who succeeded the late Dr. Charles S. Johnson.

The Southern Education Reporting Service has received its support from the Ford Foundation subsidiary, the Fund for the Advancement of Education. (Continued on Page Two)

SENATE ACTS TO LIMIT RIGHTS BILL TO VOTING

Liberal Senators To Fight For New Bill Next Year

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D) Ill., strongly indicated Tuesday night that, if the Senate passes a watered-down civil rights bill, supporters will renew their drive for a stronger measure next year.

Douglas made the statement on NBC's television "The Big Issue" as the Senate appeared ready to discard the disputed section three and approve a bill which generally protects voting rights of Negroes.

Asked whether backers would "come back next year" if the bill is limited mainly to voting rights, the Senator said that this provision "does not carry out the full protection of the 14th Amendment."

This was an apparent reference to Section Three, which would permit the government to obtain injunctions to protect rights other than voting.

Douglas participated in the debate and question-and-answer program with Sens. Richard B. Russell (D) Ga., John L. McClellan (D) Ark. and Jacob Javits (R) N. Y.

STEP FORWARD — Douglas, a leader of the proponents, said voting rights represent "a good step forward," but he said he thought the 14th Amendment which has abridgment of citizenship, "should be protected also."

Referring to the conviction of John Kasper and six co-defendants at Knoxville, Tenn., Russell said: "The verdict in the Clinton case proves the falsity of the charges."

You Take Profit

Lawrence Dodd, a British authority, believes that taxation becomes theft at the point where the taxpayer can say to his government: "Very well, you take the profit (or estate or income) and leave me the tax!"

That situation is reached when the tax rate passes 50 per cent. The top federal individual income tax rate in this country is now 91 per cent.

Meharry Medical College Graduates In Internships

NASHVILLE — (ANP) — The 53 Meharry Medical College graduates in the Medical Class of 1957 achieved the distinction of being assigned to internships in 22 hospitals in 13 states.

The wide distribution of these interns in hospitals all over the country is especially significant. Formerly Negro interns had difficulty in securing assignments outside restricted areas. Now Negro hospitals are hard put to find enough interns to carry on their essential work.

Diversity of its graduates' origin and services has always been a significant feature of Meharry's history. Since 1875, it has graduated more than 6,000 men and women from 47 states, 12 foreign countries and 22 different religious affiliations. Its living alumni now reside and practice in 39 states and 17 foreign countries.

Attorney's Home Hit By Explosion

CHATTANOOGA — The home of a leading Negro attorney was damaged by an explosion, early Wednesday, according to a report made to police.

Wife of Atty. R.H. Craig, said that the explosion, believed to have caused by dynamite placed on or near the porch damaged the front door, window as well as the porch.

Mrs. Craig said there were some incidents leading up to the explosion, but she refused to spell them out. Her husband was not available for a statement.

Atty. Craig recently petitioned the county council to hire some Negroes for county jobs.

The house is located in a predominantly white section.

Both Parties Join Forces In Voting For Amendment

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The Senate by a 52 to 38 vote Wednesday threw out the most controversial part of President Eisenhower's Civil Rights bill and reduced the measure mainly to the protection of voting rights.

Pleas for its retention came from Sens. Jacob K. Javits (R) N. Y., Pat McNamara (D) Mich., Joseph S. Clark (D) Pa., Clifford P. Case (R) N. J., Thomas H. Kuchel (R) Calif., Hubert H. Humphrey (D) Minn., and Paul H. Douglas (D) Ill.

The adoption of the amendment-killing section III marked a sweeping victory for Southerners and sharply lessened the prospect they will wage a prolonged filibuster against the legislation.

RIGHT OF INJUNCTIONS

Section III would have authorized the attorney general to get court injunctions to enforce rights other than voting privileges.

"Southerners, branding the provision as 'obnoxious' and 'un-American,' believed it could be used to compel racial integration in schools, parks, theaters and other public places.

With the section eliminated, the certified bill would allow the only against those interfering with government to obtain injunctions voting rights. It also would set up a civil rights division in the justice department, and create a presidential commission with subpoena powers to investigate racial discrimination.

NO ADMINISTRATION COMMENT — There was no immediate comment forthcoming from administration officials over the Senate action.

A filibuster still could be staged against the bill. Another storm is whipping up over Southern insistence on a jury trial for persons who violate injunctions against interfering with voting rights. As the

Lt. Lee, Little Man With Big Voice, Wins Republican Victory

The little man from Memphis who wears a big straw hat and carries a big political stick in Shelby county won a moral victory during a meeting of the State Republican Executive Committee at the Hermitage Hotel in Nashville, Monday before an estimated 500 people and 38 state committee members.

The little man with a big voice is Lt. George W. Lee, who led the fight for the Old Guard Republicans to table a resolution proposed by the New Guard which would change a section of the rules on the selection of county committee.

The section provides that each precinct in which as many as 150 votes were cast in the Republican primary in August 1954, shall be given an additional five members of the county committee as a bonus.

The fight erupted after Mrs. Lewis Donelson, New Guard, vehemently opposed the section. She proposed that the section be changed to provide that one delegate from each precinct with a bonus of one delegate for every 200 votes or majority thereof in the presidential election.

Lee controls nine district in Memphis, which automatically put him in control of the largest number of votes in Shelby county. He went on to explain that he had finally succeeded in 1951 to have the section considered by the county committee in 1951 after working for it a number of years.

The rule is so written until any county of a certain size couldn't get around not electing two co-chairmen — a woman and a Negro man. Purpose of the rule is to prevent the Republican party from pushing Negroes from the party's policy-making level.

Mrs. Dan Allen, amid tears and shouts, exclaimed that hundreds would be lost to the Republican party in Shelby county if the rule were adopted. Taking part in the

Additional $11,500 Pledged To Goodwill Homes For Children

An additional $11,500 was pledged in the Goodwill Homes For Children drive during a second meeting of the Negro division at Metropolitan Baptist church on Walker Ave. where approximately 100 ministers congregated Monday morning.

The pledges were made mostly by ministers of churches in and outside of Memphis.

Approximately $29,000 has been pledged since the drive in the Negro division was kicked-off during a luncheon-meeting at Pentecostal church on Wellington St., July 17. Goal for the Negro division was set at $30,000. The total goal has been set at $180,000. Of that amount Radio Station WDIA has pledged $40,000.

Mayor Edmund Orville made the main appeal for pledges. He said, "This project — an undertaking by a citizen group, is a wonderful thing to bring us together and make us like and tolerate each other. This home for unfortunate children will be almost as good as building another church," continued the mayor.

He urged the pledges to raising the money immediately so that the full pledge can be paid before the first of next year. He suggested that a report-meeting be held every Monday until the pledged amount is paid.

Bailey Brown, heading the drive, revealed that the white division had about $100,000 in pledges which about

Members Must Decide On Fate Of Pastor, Judge Shaw Rules

BY GEORGE M. COLEMAN

ATLANTA, Ga. — (SNS) — Members of Mount Pleasant Baptist Church will have to decide for themselves whether or not their pastor is to continue as head of the church, a Fulton Superior Court judge ruled Wednesday.

And they were advised to use one of the oldest known methods to achieve a "just" decision. "Prayer."

NEXT CONFERENCE
Judge Claude D. Shaw, who identified himself to a partially filled court room as chairman of the Board of Deacons of the Baptist Church he is a member of, thus sent the matter back to the next conference of the church.

The conference was announced for the first Friday following the second Sunday in August. Members of the Church were instructed to use prayer to determine whether to keep or dispose of the Rev. Benjamin Weidon Bickers, as pastor of the church.

The court had been asked to enjoin and restrain the minister from filling his pulpit or continuing in other religious duties connected with the church until charges brought against him by a young woman have been settled.

Judge Shaw had failed to sign a restraining order, but ordered Rev. Bickers to show cause why the wishes of the petitioners should not be granted.

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM
"It would be impossible for the court to rule on the guilt or innocence of the pastor," Judge Shaw declared.

He said he based this ruling on constitutional guarantees of religious freedom "that we Americans enjoy."

The judge explained he was familiar with the doctrine of the Baptist Church and declared that "undoubtedly the Baptist Church is the purest form of Democracy on the face of the earth."

The founders of America believed this to the extent that they put into the "law of the land" matters related to the "freedom of religious worship," he said.

Judge Shaw said he was taking into consideration there were apparently two opposing groups involved in controversy; over charges made by a young woman against the minister.

He observed that "that matter" will be decided by another court later this week. Judge Shaw also revealed he had taken note that "nine deacons, out of a total of 23" seemed to believe Rev. Bickers guilty.

"I understand," he added, "there is another group that believes he's not guilty."

He apparently referred to a reported vote of confidence given Rev. Bickers last Sunday during a meeting at the church. The court was told a vote of 86 to 16 favored the minister.

A spokesman for the blond good-looking 38-year-old preacher said today Graham was "just about exhausted" and that he had gone off to an undisclosed place in the country "to rest and meditate."

Graham also plans to put in a little time on the golf course, according to the spokesman, and will return to New York Tuesday for a rally in the evening at Madison Square Garden.

The mass of people at Saturday night's meeting was so huge that Graham couldn't ask for those making "decisions for Christ" to step forward as they do at his other rallies. But some 2,500 persons stood up when he asked for those who wanted to make such a "decision."

Philander Smith College News

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. — Rev. Paul W. Grimes of Chicago, Pastor of the West Ridge Community Church, will deliver the address at Philander Smith College at its Summer Commencement Exercises Sunday, July 23, at 3 p.m. on the South Lawn of the Administration Building, 19th and Izard Streets.

The Rev. Mr. Grimes, a graduate of Garrett Biblical Institute, is Secretary of Evangelism of the Rock River Conference (Methodist Church) and has been Chairman of the North Central Jurisdictional Committee on Executives of Evangelism for the past eight years. He is also Program Director of the Des Plaines Methodist Assembly, Des Plaines, Illinois; and President of the Board of Trustees of the Chicago Deaconess Home.

College President, Dr. M. Lafayette Harris, will preach the baccalaureate sermon at 9:30 a. m. at Wesley Chapel Church, 11th and State Streets.

Music for both services will be provided by the Summer Session Choir.

Miss June L. Green, a spring graduate of Philander Smith College, will go to the Belgian Congo this fall as a special term missionary of the Methodist Church, according to an announcement from the Church's Board of Missions.

She will serve a 3-year term as a religious education worker.

A native of Springfield, Ohio Miss Green was elected to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" for two successive years. She was president of the College Women's Association and the Student Christian Association, and was active in the All-Campus Commission and the Pan-Hellenic Council.

Miss Green, along with 34 other young people, began June 23 a six-week orientation program at Scarritt College for Christian Workers, Nashville, Tenn. The training is designed to introduce them to the missionary vocation, teach them the fundamentals of Christian theology and inform them about the parts of the world to which they will go.

Miss Helen Lois Colen of Warren, Arkansas, a senior at Philander Smith College, has been chosen the recipient of the Third Annual UBEA-Smead Award for Outstanding Achievement in Business Education.

The award, which consists of a year's professional membership in the United Business Education Association, a special letter covered binder with winner's name printed in gold on the cover, and a current volume of BUSINESS EDUCATION FORUM, a national professional magazine for business teachers will be formally presented to Miss Colen during the Awards Day Program Friday, July 26.

The mass of people at Saturday night's meeting was so huge that Graham couldn't ask for those making "decisions for Christ" to step forward as they do at his other rallies. But some 2,500 persons stood up when he asked for those who wanted to make such a "decision."

Recipe of the Week

by Louise R. Prothro

PET MILK HOME ECONOMIST

When you come across a recipe that's so different and sounds so good that you can't wait to try it, and then the results are a huge success with your family, you know you've discovered something! That's just how I felt the first time I tried APPLE CAKE PIE made with my Pet Evaporated Milk recipe. It's a really new kind of dessert, with a moist, cake-like texture, but -like pie chockful of tender apple slices. The apple flavor is all through it, accented with cinnamon and nuts. And made with Pet Evaporated Milk, it's far richer than ordinary milk could ever make it. In fact, it's so rich and delicious that my family likes it almost as well as apple pie. I usually serve APPLE CAKE PIE plain, but for really special occasions, I top each wedge with a scoop of vanilla ice cream. I hope you'll try it, too, and soon, because I know your family is going to say APPLE CAKE PIE is one of the best-tasting desserts you ever made!

- APPLE CAKE PIE
- 4 cups thinly sliced pared apples
 - 1-2 cups sugar
 - 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1-2 cup finely cut, unsalted nuts
 - 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
 - 3-4 teaspoon baking power
 - 1-4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 well-beaten egg
 - 1-3 cup Pet Evaporated Milk
 - 3 Tablespoons water
 - 1-2 cup melted butter or margarine
- Put apples into a round 9-in. baking dish or cake pan. Sprinkle over apples a mixture of 1-2 cup sugar and the cinnamon. Top with the nuts. Let stand until needed. Sift together into a 2-qt. bowl the flour, 1 cup sugar, the baking powder and salt. Mix in another bowl the egg, milk, water and melted butter. Add, all at once, to flour mixture, and mix until smooth. Pour batter over mixture in pan. Bake near center of 325 oven (low moderate) 1 hour, or until top is brown. Cut into pie shaped wedges to serve. Serve warm or cold.

Billy Graham Leaves New York For Needed Rest

NEW YORK. — (SNS) — Billy Graham slipped out of New York Sunday for a much-needed two-day rest after scoring one of his biggest religious victories at a gigantic rally attended by 100,000 persons, including Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The famed evangelist drew the record-shattering crowd to Yankee Stadium Saturday night despite temperatures in the 90's. It was one of the biggest religious turnouts in U. S. history and the largest crowd to flock to the Bronx ball park since it was built.

A spokesman for the blond good-looking 38-year-old preacher said today Graham was "just about exhausted" and that he had gone off to an undisclosed place in the country "to rest and meditate."

Easy-To-Make Cookies

- Make these cookies from the new chocolate chip cake mix. They'll be ready to serve with fruit or ice cream, for picnics and in-between snacks. You'll love having a ready supply of delicious goodies for many occasions.
- Chocolate Chip Brownies
1 package instant chocolate chip cake mix
1/4 cup water
1 egg, unbeat
1/4 cup softened butter
1 cup chopped walnuts
- Place about half of the cake mix in mixing bowl. Add water, egg, and butter. Beat well with wooden spoon. Add remaining mix and nuts; mix thoroughly. Spread batter evenly in two greased 8x8x2-inch square pans. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Cool; then cut in bars. Makes 32 bars.
- Chocolate Chip Cookies
1 package instant chocolate chip cake mix
1 tablespoon maraschino cherry juice
2 eggs, unbeat
1/4 cup softened butter
1/4 cup drained chopped maraschino cherries
- Place about half the cake mix in mixing bowl. Add cherry juice, eggs, and butter; blend well. Then add remaining mix and beat until smooth. Stir in cherries.
- Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheets. Bake in moderate oven (375°F.) about 12 minutes. Makes about 3-1/2 dozen cookies.

BISHOP AND MRS. J. C. PATTERSON, SR. HONOR NEWLY WEDS WITH RECEPTION

A beautiful in the tradition of the season of brides took place Monday evening when Bishop and Mrs. J. O. Patterson, Sr. honored their son and his pretty young bride (of almost a month) with an elaborate reception given at their stately Mississippi Blvd. home with members of the bride's family coming from Deaware for the event. With a back ground of evergreens, the large lawn presented a picturesque setting for the reception, and so did the pretty home.

BRIDES' TABLE

In the center of the bride's table was a lovely arrangement of calla lilies and green leaves that was surrounded by green foliage. On either side stood glowing white tapers in crystal candelabra. A crystal punch bowl stood on a side serving table.

ASSISTING

Mrs. Leland Atkins and Mrs. Robert Lewis, Jr. both aunts to the bride, directed the reception and were in charge of arrangements and greeted each guest. Miss Ann Fletcher introduced guests to the receiving line made up of Mrs. J. O. Patterson, Sr. who wore a beautiful blue lace and crepe set off by a deep purple orchid. Bishop Patterson, Mr. J. O. Patterson, Jr., bridegroom; the bride who wore an exquisite very full ballerina length frock fashioned with a pink satin sash. She wore a white orchid pinned at the waist line. Mrs. Leon Anderson, the bride's mother who chose a stunning white silk chiffon that featured deep turquoise figures and Mrs. Pauline Dyson, the bride's grandmother who flew in Monday from her home in Wilmington wore a very pretty blue lace. Both Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Patterson wore deep purple orchids.

Miss Peggie Ann White and Miss Jewel Gentry registered guests. Mrs. Arthur Mason, the groom's aunt and Mrs. Vivian White served at the punch bowl. Others assisting in serving and inviting guests to the gift rooms were: Mr. Curtis Garrison, Miss Delois Terrell, Miss Elene Word, Miss Versie Fletcher, and little Miss Janet Patterson, the groom's sister who wore a pretty yellow silk orquid frock. Males who assisted were Maurice Bullett, Walter W. Gidson, Jr., Augustus A. White, III, Frederic Letcher, Arvis A. Letting Jr. and Steve Wigley. Mrs. U. Holmes and caterers were in charge of services.

RELATIVES

MRS. VIVIAN WHITE COMPLIMENTS DELAWARE MATRON

Over 40 guests attend Party in Gardens of Dr. and Mrs. Jones Home.

One of Memphis' most attractive gardens, that of Dr. and Mrs. C. S. ones at 1130 South Parkway East, was the setting at a Saturday for a barbecue given by their sister, Mrs. Vivian White who complimented Mrs. Leon Anderson, Wililmington, Delaware matron with whom Mrs. White visited this summer.

Attending the party were 47 guests including members of the Links, Inc. and organization to which both Mrs. White and Mrs. Anderson belong. Guests enjoyed the breeze on the hill-side sloped garden where a large brick terrace is topped by a colorful canopy. Another patio on the side was separated by a mass of very large azaleas. Food was served after mid-night.

Mrs. Anderson wore a very colorful stripe of white red and Kelly green. Mrs. White, who was assisted in receiving by her sister, Mrs. C.S. (Addie) Jones, wore black and white. Most of the ladies wore Indian prints and fricks bordering on the South American trend.

Guests were Mrs. Esther Luster Woods of Omaha, Neb. and a native Memphian; Mrs. Curruthere Bland, Mr. C.C. Sawyer, Mr. John Brinkley, Jr. Father and Mrs. St. Julian Simpkins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lewis, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Leland Atkins Mr. and Mrs. U.S. Bond, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Young, Dr. and Mrs. J.E. Let's Eat Turkey This Summer

Let's eat turkey this summer! A few years ago this might have been considered just a quaint idea, as turkey until recently was a "special" day dish, for Thanksgiving and Christmas and perhaps a few other times, generally during the holiday season.

Now, any day in the year may be turkey day. Leo W. Smith of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food Distribution Division suggests—including the hottest summer day—because whole turkeys and turkey parts are being sold in convenient forms, sizes and weights—and frozen and packaged, or freshly drawn and ready to cook. Turkey also is available ready to eat, canned, frozen or cooked all good for hot weather meals and snacks.

In recent years, the turkey industry has expanded rapidly and with vast improvement in production and marketing practices it is now possible for consumers to enjoy turkey the year round. Per capita consumption of turkey the past 20 years has more than doubled from 2.2 pounds in 1936 to 9.1 pounds in 1956.

Turkey is and will continue a "plentiful food" throughout most of the summer. Smith reports. Mid-South markets will be well supplied with turkeys and already are featuring them as attractive sale items. Budget conscious, taste-conscious home-makers will want to take the most of this abundant supply.

TRIGG AVE. FELLOWSHIP CLUB

The Trigg Avenue Fellowship Club has made plans for a Fellowship Tea, Sunday afternoon, July 28, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Taylor of 1319 Barbour St.

The public is invited.

Officers of the club are Miss Venita Grigsby, president; Mrs. Thelma Taylor, secretary; Mrs. Minnie Nelson, Club reporter.

Turkey is a substantial food, and yet it's an easy food to eat and to digest. Its texture and its flavor are just different enough from other poultry meat to give the family main dish a change of pace. Like other meat, it's rich in protein, for building and maintaining both tissues and fats, to supply energy. Turkey is a good source of iron, an essential part of the red blood cells. It contains phosphorus, which combines with calcium to build bones and teeth. Turkey also is a source of B vitamins, particularly Niacin.

When St. Stephen Baptist church celebrates the annual Young People Day at 3 p. m., Sunday, July 28, Rev. R. W. Norworthy, pastor of Mt. Moriah Baptist church will be the guest speaker.

There will be organ and piano music followed by 15 minutes of inspirational singing by the Young Peoples chorus, which will precede the main feature. The public is invited to attend.

Supervising the program are Calvin Casey, chairman, and Mildred Douglas, chairman of publicity.

MISSION-MINISTERS WIVES CIRCLE

Plans were submitted for a social outing to be held Saturday Aug. 17 at the regular meeting of the Mission-Ministers Wives Circle, held Sunday, July 21 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter King 819 Alaska.

Starting at 4:30 p. m., the group sang devotions and the Circle's theme song, "Keep My Heart."

During the business session, the Ways and Means committee reported that it will sponsor a Three Score Rally for benefit of the trustees. Date of the event will be announced in the very near future.

Special spots are also being planned by the Sick Committee which stated that there has been decided improvement among the members.

Following the meeting, the hostess served a buffet luncheon.

Attending the meeting were: Mrs. E. J. Campbell, Mrs. Hortense Jones Crivens, Mrs. Anna Braxton, Mrs. Annie Nichols, Mrs. B. Jones, Miss Marguerite McCall, Mrs. L. Roseman, Mrs. I. Covington, Mrs. L. King, M. Galtier.

Letter Carriers Baseball Team Picking Up Speed

The Letter Carriers Baseball team is picking up speed in the direction of the championship of Division Three.

The daffy little southpaw, Melvin "Bubber" Mathis, won his fifth game of the year by beating Ellendale 10-1, last Saturday at Lincoln Park. Mathis allowed only three hits and struck out 14 batters.

The Magnolia Eagles are making a desperate effort to win the second half Championship of Division One. The Memphis Dodgers won the first half Championship.

Harvey Branch has been the stand-by for the Eagles. Last Sunday at Klondike, Harvey beat the Blues and his former teammate, Tommy Dailey, in a pitching duel 3-0, allowing the Blues only 2 hits and striking out 17.

In Division Two, the Orange Mound Tigers won the first half championship and made an unsuccessful attempt at capturing the second half. They are practically out of the running now, standing only a mathematical chance.

The Klondike Athletics and Hardwood Stars are running neck-and-neck for the coveted honors. Hardwood lost to Orange Mound in a play-off for the first half of the championship.

In Division Four, the Hunter Fan Mchawks are making a strong bid for the second half, after winning the first half by a narrow margin. Close behind is the Tate Red Sox who have added much strength in the final cut and stand, and could easily throw Hunter Fan into a tie and play-off. It will be youth against experience, and age, and almost anything could happen, with only three more games left to play. Beyond a doubt there will be plenty of action.

WOMEN LAUNCH ATTACK ON CANCER AMONG GROUP

NEW YORK — The Woman's Auxiliary of the National Medical Association announced Tuesday plans in cooperation with the American Cancer Society to conduct a nationwide educational attack on cancer among Negro women.

Announcement was made by Mrs. Charles B. Hayes, president of the Auxiliary.

First step in the program is distribution of a new Cancer Education Program Kit especially prepared by the American Cancer Society for the NMA Auxiliary. The kits will be distributed to NMA State Auxiliaries which in turn will send them to their locals throughout the nation.

In making the announcement, Mrs. Hayes said:

"As a doctor's wife, I am keenly aware of the heart-breaking and needless loss of life through cancer. I know that my fellow-workers in the Auxiliary share my eagerness to lend every effort to this important life-saving program."

ENORMOUS JOB FACED

"When we face the fact that more than twice as many non-whites die of cancer, we recognize the enormous task we face. Nearly 16,000 American women are making a strong bid for the second half, after winning the first half by a narrow margin. Close behind is the Tate Red Sox who have added much strength in the final cut and stand, and could easily throw Hunter Fan into a tie and play-off. It will be youth against experience, and age, and almost anything could happen, with only three more games left to play. Beyond a doubt there will be plenty of action.

In its just-prepared Program Kit, the Cancer Society points out that as "key individuals" within their communities, the members of the Woman's Auxiliary of the National Medical Association can be of tremendous help. They can urge friends and neighbors to recognize the fact that millions of Americans destined to die of cancer in the years ahead need not die if present medical, social and personal resources are put more fully to work."

The kit was designed to serve as an introduction to the Society's program and to prepare the reader for meeting with ACS Division or Unit leaders responsible for community planning.

"Not only will the Auxiliary leader have the latest life-saving information for her own benefit, but she will be equipped with reference material for the guidance and counsel of those in her community," the kit declares.

Man Accused of Taking Money From Register

A Negro man is accused of walking into Volman's Shoe Shop at 272 N. Main St. and taking $50 from a cash register, Tuesday morning.

The report was turned into the police department by Mrs. Ann Volman, who said she was in the rear of the establishment when the man entered. She said he escaped by knocking down a rear door and hurdling a back fence.

She described him as being in his early 20's, about six feet and weighing about 175.

D. C. Citizens Press Fight For Home Rule

WASHINGTON (ANP)— President Eisenhower suggested this week that supporters of home rule for the District of Columbia should get grass roots people back home to urge their Congressional Representatives to support it.

The President made this suggestion to a delegation of home rule advocates who visited the White House, Tuesday, seeking the Chief Executive's support.

While the delegation was visiting the White House, other activity was in process on Capitol Hill to get wheels rolling on this piece of legislation.

Hearings were being held by the Senate District Judicial Subcommittee in favor of the measure. During the two-hour session Tuesday, more than a dozen representatives of civil groups called upon Congress to turn the city's government over to citizens of the District.

No Clues In Death Of Miss. Woman

GREENVILLE, Miss. (ANP)— Despite the jailing of three persons, no clues have been uncovered in the murder of Mattie Bell Phillips of Winterville.

The decomposed body of the woman was found in a wooded area five miles from Greenville. She had been missing since July 4.

She is said to have left her home in the company of the three persons recently jailed pending further investigation of the case. They admit being with the woman, but claim to have no information concerning her murder. The county sheriff said that all three would be held without bond.

More Group Insurance Protects U. S. Families

NEW YORK — Group insurance made record gains in 1956 and now stands as one of the great bulwarks of family financial protection. Covering death, disability and retirement, it has grown to one of the important parts of the insurance structure. Many millions of people are now covered by one or more group plans and well over $4,000,000,000 annually goes into premiums for this protection of workers.

The past year's gains and the huge gains of the past ten years are shown in the annual analysis of group insurance made by the Life Insurance Association of America and released today.

"The one exception to the upward trend of group insurance coverage," the Association reported, "was the decline in group annuity considerations. This is due primarily to the fact that the way in which the Federal income tax is applied to the life companies places insured pension plans at a competitive disadvantage with uninsured pension plans. This tax discrimination is more serious for the larger pension plans than for the smaller programs."

During 1956, according to this report, increases as great as 5,574,000 were recorded in the numbers covered by specific group insurance plans, that being the gain in those covered by group hospital expense protection. Other 1956 group gains were: life insurance, 3,270,000; credit life insurance, 3,471,000; annuities, 250,000; major medical expense, 3,530,000; and accidental death, 1,653,000.

At the start of 1957, over 35,000,000 persons were covered by group life insurance alone, of whom just over 33,000,000 were employees, and more than 2,000,000 were dependents. This protection was set up under 106,240 master contracts. The aggregate number of persons covered was 3,270,000 more than the year before, and about 22,000,000 more than ten years ago.

400 Jamaican Boy Scouts Jim Crowed In Hamilton

BY WILBERT E. HEMMING

KINGSTON, Jamaica (ANP)—Four hundred colored Jamaican scouts bound on the Reina del Pacifico for Britain's Jubilee Jamboree, got the first rude shock of snobbery in their life, when they were promptly jim crowed in Hamilton, Bermuda.

The scouts were part of 600 passengers riding a ship which holds a proud record for crossing the south Atlantic in the shortest time, but, which some years back had an engine room explosion that killed over 20 persons.

Stopping off at Hamilton, the Reina allowed some of its passengers to go sightseeing in the tourist-chest-beating land that boasts itself, "hub of the universe." Some scouts thought it would be good not alone to sample Bermuda's dazzling scenery, but its food as well. So they entered a Chinese-run cafe that served chop suey on Red St.

HOPES DOWNE

Taking a seat at the table, the visitors waited for nearly half an hour to get service, although the hands were not busy, and when they saw a restaurant assistant at last coming to them, they whined their appetite with hope, only to be told, "We do not serve Negroes. We serve only white people."

The scouts were further shocked when the manager of the shop refused to speak to any but their fair-skinned colleague Keith Thompson, whom he told: "We serve only white people 'cause it's for the good of the business."

Thompson then burning under the collar, retorted: "I am perfect-

Daily Graphic In Ghana Not Banned

ACCRA, Ghana (ANP) — Refuting recent rumors that the Daily Graphic newspaper had been banned in Ghana, reports reached here this week from London, speaking in glowing terms of the successful record of the Graphic, and giving figures which speak for themselves and give grounds for satisfaction.

In London, at the annual meeting of Sunday Pictorial Newspapers, Ltd., Cecil H. King, chairman, referred to the "success story" of West African Newspapers, Ltd., which operates subsidiaries in Ghana, Nigeria and Sierra Leone.

Achieve Step Forward In March Toward Constitution

BY A. J. SIGGINS For Associated Negro Press LONDON, Eng. — The Nigerian conference in London has ended and the Nigerians have returned with half a loaf instead of the whole loaf they demanded.

The Sardauna of Sokoto, Prime Minister of Northern Nigeria, issued a statement before leaving in which he said that the conference had achieved much more than it would appear from Press communiques. We who attended the conference definitely appreciate that point. The conference has been a real step forward in our constitutional advancement.

"By granting the Eastern and Western Regions self-government this year, Her Majesty's Government have thrown to the people of the Northern Region a challenge to prepare themselves for self-government within the next two years. It is a challenge which we joyfully accept, and we shall set ourselves a high standard of preparation which will provide a firm foundation for the future."

He said much more, but nothing that showed just how the 18,000,000 poverty-stricken illiterate people of Northern Nigeria will be able to add an inch to their shirts or an ounce of food to their meals.

SELF GOVERNMENT "BY 1960"

The Premier of Western Nigeria, Chief Awolowo, said at London Airport that he was confident that Nigeria would become self-governing by April 2, 1960. (The British Government refused to commit themselves to that date though). "Though everything has not gone according to what we have been able to achieve at the conference," Dr. Nnamdi Azikiwe, Prime Minister of Eastern Nigeria is not reported as having commented on the results of the conference.

Obviously the Prime Ministers of the Northern and Western Regions are already thinking of their receptions when they return home. "Too many Nigerians believed that as a result of the London conference in some manner their lot would be bettered. By that I mean that they would get more to eat, - better medical services, better opportunities for education and for jobs.

Nkrumah's Trip To England Cited

LONDON (ANP) — Doctor Kwame Nkrumah, prime minister of Ghana, left England last week after attending the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' conference. He left with the good-will of the British people still echoing in his ears. He enjoyed during his stay in Britain what many other Commonwealth prime ministers envy. That is, the favor of the British press.

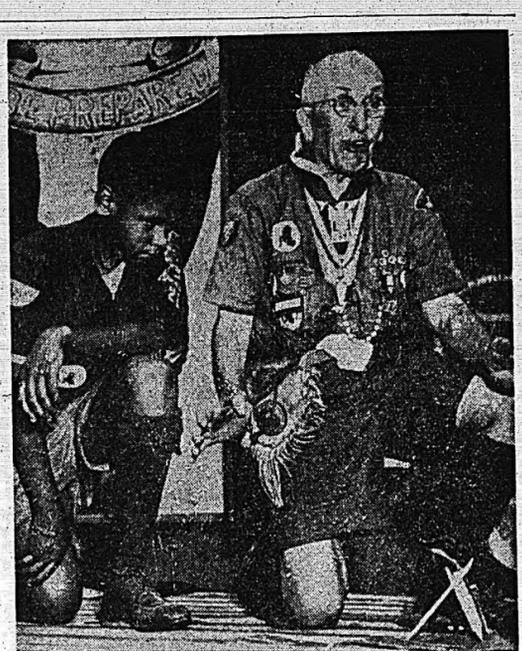

Dr. Nkrumah had the best press he has ever had in his whole career. There is not a British newspaper which did not have something good to say about him. His every movement was complimented.

If the press can — and there is no doubt that it does have some influence — make a statesman, Dr. Nkrumah, who came to the conference with some misgiving, can be assured that he has been an overwhelming success, thanks largely to the newspaper editors and journalists of Britain. Dr. Nkrumah rec-

Herndon Foundation Makes $3,000 Grant To NAACP

ATLANTA, GEORGIA (SNS)— The Herndon Foundation has contributed $3,000 to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund and has made a grant of $500 to the American Red Cross according to an announcement by N. B. Herndon, president of the foundation and president-treasurer of Atlanta Life Insurance Company.

Commenting on the donation, E. M. Martin, secretary of the Atlanta Life Insurance Company, said "no donation to any organization in America pays greater dividends by the cause of practical freedom, and Democracy than a donation to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund."

Martin described "ungodly forces in America" which are aimed at keeping the Negro "servile and in inferior positions." He added: "A million Negroes in the state of Georgia, with a few exceptions, other than school teachers and social workers, are shut out from any and all jobs passed out by the state, county and city, beyond that of servants and laborers."

The state capitols, county court house, city governments and the millions of tax dollars that go to support them are dedicated to the elimination of Negroes in every job that does not bear the tag of inferiority.

The noted insurance executive made a sweeping indictment of "judges, sheriffs, tax collectors, clerks" and governmental agencies which "are barred to Negroes, and asked: "If this isn't slavery, what is it?"

He charged that "Negroes are shut out from state schools by laws which have effectively kept them from the acquisition of knowledge of business, medicine, law and technical education. These conditions are created and maintained by skillful politicians and an electorate who vote down to the god of white supremacy and the inferiority of Negroes, Catholics and foreigners."

In his conclusion he observed that "unless the Federal government is strong enough to protect the rights of individual citizen, it is just a matter of time before the Southern forces will tell the Federal government where to get off."

Herndon Foundation contributed $3,000 to the United Negro College Fund, and last year gave $2,500 to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund.

U. S. Senators Hold Applause On Pakistani Equality Talk

WASHINGTON (ANP) — Prime Minister Huseyn Shaheed Suhrawardy of Pakistan reminded Congress this week that old imperialism is dying and decaying. Many countries are now gaining their independence. But these new countries, he admitted, are coming under new imperialism which is more destructive than that which has gone on before.

He received applause from Senators when he expressed thanks and gratitude to the United States on behalf of the smaller nations of the world for the assistance it has given them.

Illinois Woman Wins $3,000 Network Prizes

CHICAGO (ANP) — Mrs. G. H. Baker, of Western Springs, Ill., came within 17 cents of guessing the price of seven items displayed on the "Good Old Days Showcase" segment of NBC-TV's "The Price Is Right," show recently and as a result was declared the winner.

Mrs. Baker won the showcase of goods by outguessing 64,000 other home viewers of the program when she gave as her answer $3,097.47. The actual price was $3,097.63.

The items she won (the same items on which she made her guess) were a dupe piano, $1,330; air conditioner, $840; grandfather's clock, $550; hi-fi set, $209.63; cobblets bench, $110; women rug, $52.75 and model scooter, $4.98.

Relaxed Travel Restrictions For Newsmen Seen

WASHINGTON — Charles H. Slavman, Jr., Chief Counsel and Staff Director of the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Constitutional Rights, issued the following statement:

"The reported State Department tentative plan to permit less than half a dozen accredited American newsmen to enter Red China appears to be an extremely modest step in the direction explored a few months ago in public hearings conducted by the Senate Constitutional Rights Committee, to obtain more adequate news coverage for the American people.

"Although the Chairman of the Committee, U. S. Senator Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., (D.-Mo.), repeatedly invited Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to present his views in person on the rights of American citizens to travel freely abroad, it may be recalled that Mr. Dulles declined each invitation.

"The printed record of the Senate hearing, containing the testimony of editors, publishers, reporters, and radio and television commentators, will be released in the near future."

Lionel Hampton Thrills Waldorf With "Wine Song"

BY GLADYS P. GRAHAM
NEW YORK — (ANP) — Lionel Hampton, recently returned from a State sponsored tour of Europe was in top form when he and his orchestra opened New York's most exciting summer show, "CALYPSO CARNIVAL" in the Waldorf-Astoria Sky-Light Roof, to a S O R audience of socialites.

The master of the drums and his international orchestra were featured with Dishern Carroll youthful singing star and Haitian Moon Dancers at New York's Park Avenue Hotel.

Hampton got with a fast start with his swinging aggregation which features a female B Flat Tenor saxophonist. The group swung several new types of instruments heretofore unique to swing combos. Notable was the new bass fiddle and the brass section.

There always has been gold in these pro tennis tours. Bill Tilden made a fortune from them but unfortunately went through it. Bobby Riggs, Fred Perry, Elsworth Vines and big Don Budge all salted away more than enough to make them financially independent.

Even the secondary members of the touring cast have done well. For instance, Pancho Segura draws down $25,000 a year for playing

Jamaica Philanthropist Gives 20 College Grants

BY WILBERT R. HEMMING
KINGSTON, Jamaica — (ANP) — Jamaica's youngest colored philanthropist, Frank E. Spaulding, whose son, Tony, lost the Harvard Student Association presidency for 1957 by just one vote, hearily rammed his fist down the throat of a city council colleague who, on rebuking him for aiding poor colored children, referred to the kids as "black hen's chicks."

Spaulding used self-control to curb his emotion and went on to aid the poor of the country some more. He even gave the Government of Jamaica a lesson to emulate in uplifting the race. The example which stunned the whole Caribbean area was his individual and single-handed award of 20 full scholarships to 20 poor children who would not have the benefit of college education due to the poverty of their parents.

He backed up the offer when he placed in the trust of an educationist the full sum for the six-year professional university tuition fee of any of the 20 students who turns out to be the brightest and best of the batch GOVERNMENT FOLLOWS SPAULDING'S LEAD

A year later, the Government emulated the gesture by throwing scholarships for 80 per cent of Jamaica's elementary school children who would not have the benefit of higher education due to poor circumstances of their parents.

The tiff between Spaulding and a council colleague whose name has been withheld for obvious reasons, came just at the time when the big-hearted councilman thought of helping a few children after looking around at the poor. He had suggested to his colleague that both of them should award scholarships to about four poor children. His colleague said he could not do that; he had already given what charity he could. Furthermore, Spaulding had been stupid to consider "wasting money on black hen's chicks."

But to show that Spaulding was not disturbed, he faced the task himself, scooped out all that he could find in his account, and gave 20 scholarships. He said he believed he would be rewarded in some unseen way.

Japanese Pledges To Carry MRA Ideology To More Asians

MACKINAC ISLAND, Michigan — "We will carry to the rest of Asia the ideology we have found here," declared a former president of the Seinenidan, the 4,300,000 - strong Japanese Youth Federation, to the Assembly of Nations for Moral Re-Armament. "This is the only way we can make restitution for the wrong we Japanese have done."

Hikue Kuribayashi spoke of the hundred leaders of this organization who had had nearly forty days training at Mackinac. "All of us are convinced," he said, "that before we can speak of world peace we must live the ideology of Moral Re-Armament within ourselves. We will fight that it becomes the ideology of Japan."

"Arriving here," he continued, "I was reminded of the time in 1945 when I graduated from the Officers Training School in Manchuria. We were told by my Commanding Officer, 'Your lives are given for the nation. Here the question before us is how to live for our nation and for the world. I want to get to the bottom of this ideology and to live it.

"Three-quarters of our delegation are now on their way back to Japan. The rest of us are staying to plan together the strategy for the future. We are getting ready the weapons, including plays and songs, for our fight that Japan may be the lighthouse of Asia."

49 NATIONALITIES

The session was chaired by Socialist Senator Shidzue Kato, the woman who was elected to the Senate with a record majority. Japanese delegates, the women in kimono of striking color-contrast, massed the platform behind her.

The audience of 49 nationalities listened in silence to two who had spent eleven years in Siberian prison camps. One of them had lost his wife and child during that time.

Tomiji Iseda spoke of the many Japanese prisoners still held in Siberia. He described his brief meeting with Japanese who had been taken prisoner during an incident in Manchuria in 1938 and were "forgotten by the world, even by the Japanese. These men said to us, 'You will go back to Japan but we never will.'

"We returned from Siberia to Japan," he continued, "with an intense hatred of the Russians. We were resolved to arouse public opinion about these prisoners. But when I met MRA I saw that as long as I hated the Russians I could never save these people."

DEEPLY MOVED

"When Dutch and Philipinos at Mackinac apologized for their hatred of the Japanese I was deeply moved because they had even greater cause for hatred than I had. I faced the fact that hatred could only lead some day to war."

Iseda concluded, "If we want to see Russia different we Japanese must start with ourselves. Because I want to see Japan different, I have started with myself."

"It was a shock," said Massichu Kawaguchi, Tokyo university student, "to recognize friends in an American newspaper photo of students rioting and demonstrating against the U. S. Embassy in Tokyo. Here at Mackinac we have found the answer to these hatreds. I have decided to fight for the ideology of MRA for my college and for the world."

Activities Center Around Ruler Johnson

PHILADELPHIA — Preparations are complete for the 1957 Grand Lodge Convention of the Improved, Benevolent, Protective Order, Elks of the World, to be held in Philadelphia, home of Grand Exalted Ruler, Robert H. Johnson.

This Convention, which includes that of the Grand Temple, the Woman's affiliate, is scheduled to cover the week beginning Sunday, August 25, in the spacious, air-conditioned new South Philadelphia High School.

These "World Elks" claim to be the largest, most representative and prosperous of chiefly Negro fraternalists, representing more than a million colored people in Lodges, Temples, Councils from the Virgin Islands, Bermuda, in the Caribbean, Canal Zone, Hawaii, and South Africa, where there are a lodge and a temple affiliate of more than 1,800 members each.

Philadelphia's hospitality has never exceeded, seldom equaled, so the week Elks have held Annual Conventions here often. The Grand Lodge Convention Committee, Joseph H. Brown, Chairman, Judge Robson R. Reynolds, secretary, has perfected arrangements for housing in a score of the largest, and best hotels and private homes, and declares that the Convention Parade, always large and spectacular, will be the finest ever.

CATTO BUILDING HEADQUARTERS

Headquarters of the committee will be in O. V. Catto building, corner 16th and Fitzwater Streets, and all Convention sessions will be held in the fine, new Philadelphia High School, where the Grand Ball, an accompaniment of all World Elk Conventions, will be held, at which announcement will be made of a grand "Give Away" high-class family automobile.

Everyone of many departments will exhibit progress, from the Education Commission, which during 30 years has given 4-year scholarships to scores of ambitious youths and girls, without distinction of race, color or previous condition, in leading colleges and universities throughout the country, and every graduate is said to have "made good." These scholarships, costing above $1,000,000, have been paid from members' dues.

New Scholarships Worth $4,000 At Prairie View

PRAIRIE VIEW, Texas — A total of $4,000 in new scholarships for Prairie View A & M College students have been awarded for September, 1957, President E. B. Evans announced.

A two-year scholarship in the amount of $1,000 has been established by H. G. Haynie, President and general manager of Western Compress and Storage Company, Abilene. The Haynie Scholarships will go to a male student from the areas around Abilene, Hemlin and Sweetwater.

The Lee C. O'Neil Scholarships, two amounting to $500 each, have been awarded to Janie B. and Gwendolyn M. Davis of Youkum. An announcement has been made by the Imperial Sugar Company, Sugarland, concerning the award of a four-year — $600 per year — scholarship to Donnie G. Sampson, M. R. Wood High School honor student, to pursue engineering studies at Prairie View.

HOME ECONOMICS GRANTS

A total of $3,000 represents the Mary Gibbs Jones scholarships in home economics. Twelve female students will receive $250 each during the school year 1957-58. Houston Endowment, Inc. is the donor of this $25,000 scholarship program which was started in 1946 by Mr. and Mrs. Jesse H. Jones, Houston philanthropist. A total of $81,000 in scholarships to Prairie View students have been awarded by Houston Endowment, Inc. The Jesse Jones Scholarships in Agriculture and the A. Jeanette Jones Nursing Education Scholarships are included in this largest student assistant program at the college.

Mary Gibbs Jones Scholarship awards for the ensuing year have been announced by Dean J. M. Drew chairman of the college scholarship committee. Recipients and their home towns are: Mary Ann Allen, Dallas; Ella L. Ardoin, Port Arthur; Clara N. Clark, Gonzales; Reva O. Dunkin, Waskom; Dorothy J. Edmond, Lodi; Bettie J. Epps, Linden; Jewel J. Joe, Palestine; Bessie M. Mize, Conroe; Shirley R. Peacock, Jasper; Elsie O. Williams, Point Blank; Bernice J. Wright Angleton; Geneva D. Statin, Houston.

Solons Predict Passage Of School Construction Bill

WASHINGTON — Passage of a measure for Federal aid for school construction by a bipartisan coalition in the House of Representatives late this week was predicted Sunday by a Republican and a Democratic member of the House Labor and Education committee.

Rep. Samuel K. McConnell, Jr., (R.-Pa.) and Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (D.-W. Va.) said on "As We See It," AFL-CIO public service radio program heard on the ABC network that the vote was expected to be close. Bailey predicted that the House would "turn thumbs down on the Powell Amendment, which would attempt to inject into the situation a factor that is without justification." The Powell Amendment, offered by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D.-N. Y.), would deny Federal aid funds to any state that has not integrated its public schools.

"President Eisenhower has said many times that he is definitely in favor of Federal aid for school construction," McConnell said. "He has personally told me so as recently as within the last few weeks."

WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE

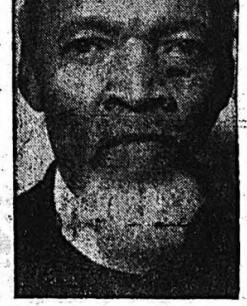

The broadcast was made in Representative McConnell's office shortly after he had come from a conference with the President at the White House.

Both McConnell and Bailey reported that the need for the legislation is urgent. They based this on the results of personal surveys they made during the Easter recess.

"The need is greatest," said McConnell, "in those areas where recent real estate developments have resulted in the construction of small dwelling houses unable to carry the needed tax load, and in many of which are three to four children. Many of these communities are in desperate straits."

Bailey, who surveyed schools mostly in Kentucky, said that many buildings had been in use for almost a hundred years, had dark hallways, and outside toilet facilities. The school that was attended by the late Supreme Court Chief Justice Vinson is more than 70 years old, he reported and has but one drinking fountain for 525 high school students.

Charcoal Gray Goes On Dress Not On Stove

Charcoal gray may be popular on my fair lady's fall suit, but it doesn't wear well off the kitchen stove.

In Grandma's day, anyone passing in the general vicinity of the stove was liable to go away resembling a minstrel in the Rotary club winter show.

The modern kitchen is as clean as a hospital operating-room without retaining the monotony of clinical whiteness.

If the countertop is made of ceramic tile, which is both stainproof and waterproof, it can be easily cleaned with just a swish of a damp cloth, grease and other foreign particles disappearing as though you had passed over the stove with a magic wand.

In Grandma's day the stove generally dominated the kitchen, extending nearly clear across the room. In contrast today's kitchen stove is a fraction of the size, often aligned with all the other kitchen facilities under a single ceramic tile countertop.

The most intriguing thing about kitchens today is that they can be as attractive in their color and design as any other room in the house. With ceramic tile now available in more than 200 colors, the housewife is allowed a freedom of action in design bounded only by her imagination.

Fluorescent lighting over all work centers as well as centrally located lighting also has helped popularize the kitchen. In short families are again congregating about the kitchen stove but no longer do they fear brushing against it.

BRIDGE CHAMPIONS TO MEET IN PITTSBURGH

WASHINGTON — (ANP) — Victor R. Daly, president of the American Bridge Association, stated this week that this year's national championships will be the best attended in the 24-year history of the Association.

The annual tournament will be held at the Hotel Fort Pitt, Pittsburgh, August 10 through the 17. So great has been the demand for hotel accommodations, that the Fort Pitt announced last week that it was booked to capacity. Overflow space was being provided at the Penn-Sheraton, the Roosevelt and other nearby down-town hotels.

All of the ball-room space in the hotel has been contracted for by the A. B. A., which estimates that a minimum of 125 tables will be in play throughout the entire eight days and nights of the tournament. Mr. Daly said that the nearly seven hundred players will enter an average of five events, making a total of 3,500 entries.

For these entries they will pay approximately $9,000 in entry fees. One hundred and sixty engraved trophies will be awarded to the winning contestants, and Life Master emblems will be presented to those who have acquired a total of 100 national master points during the past year.

The president stated that all of the current champions who won their titles in Chicago last summer will defend in Pittsburgh. From New York will come the National Individual Champion, Sam White. Dr. Joseph Henry, Washington, D. C. and Major Robert Friend, Dayton, are the Men's Pairs champions.

CHICAGO — (ANP) — Louis Jordan celebrated his birthday Monday by appearing on "In Town Tonight" TV program but his natal almost came a cropper. Seems as how his personal manager Ben C. Waller and members of the famed "Typany Five" had purchased an expensive suit for the maestro several days previous.

Enroute to Chicago, Waller stopped off in Toledo on business. His car was broken into and along with the suit and several other valuable items were pilfered.

Attended well however when the insurance co. arranged to make good the "heft" — and Waller and

Missouri Educator Becomes Science Teacher In West

OAKLAND, Calif. — (ANP) — Stafford C. Daniels, Jr., was recently appointed as instructor in the Biology and Physical Science department at Oakland High school here, becoming the school's first Negro science teacher.

Daniels, of St. Louis, Mo., was awarded a master of arts degree from San Francisco State College last month, has also completed requirements for a master of science degree at the University of California.

Majoring in entomology, Daniels is currently doing extensive research in the field of insects and diseases.

A number of Phi Delta Kappa, professional education fraternity at San Francisco State, Daniels is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stafford C. Daniels, Sr. of St. Louis, and brother of George Daniels, prize-winning Chicago newspaper reporter and freelance writer.

YOUR TEETH

AFTER EXTRACTION AVOID INFECTION

BY PETER GARVIN, D.M.D.

Few individuals go through life and escape the most common of all surgical operations, the extraction of one or more teeth. Dental extractions far outnumber all other types of surgery performed on human beings.

Because of this fact and because surgery of this type today is relatively painless, many people are prone to be lax in their post-operative responsibilities.

It is only normal procedure to keep any wound on the body surface clean and to protect it from further injury with a bandage. Unfortunately, too many people disregard these sensible precautions when the wound is in the mouth. And, in fact, an open tooth socket must be considered as susceptible to infection as an open wound anywhere in or on the body.

Cream sauces are easy! The secret is Carnation Evaporated Milk.

Double-rich Carnation blends better with other ingredients so there's never a lump. Less flour and butter are needed so there are fewer ingredients to blend. You'll find many uses for creamy-rich cream sauces. Here's an easy-to-prepare dish your family will enjoy. Try it soon.

DELUXE DRIED BEEF AND RICE

(Makes 4 servings)

1 1/2 cups (4 ounces) dried beef
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups (large can) undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK
1/4 cup diced celery
2 tablespoons diced green pepper
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 cup cooked rice

Place dried beef in a strainer. Rinse with hot water. Drain well and chop. Melt butter in saucepan over medium heat. Add flour, salt and pepper. Stir until smooth. Gradually add Carnation and cook until thickened and smooth, stirring constantly. Add drained dried beef, celery, green pepper and eggs. Mix well. Arrange rice and dried beef mixture in layers in a buttered casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve at once.

Being "Different" Fear Often Spoils Family Recreation

Students of suburbia often tell some startling stories regarding what their friends are "allowed" to do in their spare time by neighbors and acquaintances.

The current issue of Cosmopolitan reports that one man and wife in Park Forest, Illinois, had to lock their doors and draw the blinds before listening to Mozart on their phonograph. "We'd be finished here if anyone found out we like classical music," the couple explained.

Sociologists have noted that this compulsion to conformity is especially evident in suppressing leisure value in today's families. Too many suburbanites, leading "row lives in row houses," lack the courage to buck group tastes, are so anxious to "belong" that they overlook the opportunity to uncover in leisure what sociologist David Riesman calls "the buried parts of ourselves." One recent poll of top New York executives showed over 60 per cent not really satisfied with the way he used his leisure.

However, once the fear of being "different" is surmounted, many leisure interests can be highly gratifying. For example, a New York public relations man was persuaded to volunteer as a hospital aide. — Aware that most people regard hospital work as a woman's preserve, the head of the recreation department did not expect him to last a week on a long chance, after learning of his interest in current events, she suggested he organize a discussion group built around relatively unnoticed news items in the Sunday papers.

Today, two years later, his discussion group is the most popular recreation in the entire hospital, and for him it has become "the most satisfying job" he has ever done in his life.

Dining Car Employees Launch Drive For NAACP Life Memberships

NEW YORK — A campaign to enlist 18 locals of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders International Union as life members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has been announced by William E. Pollard, president of the Joint Council of Dining Car Employees embracing the 18 locals.

Initial payments on the $500 life memberships have already been made by 10 of the local units of the dining car employees. Mr. Pollard announced. Decision to launch this drive for $9,000 in life memberships in the NAACP was made at a recent meeting of the Joint Council in Chicago.

"As president of the Joint Council of Dining Car Employees, I have made this my personal project," Mr. Pollard said, "and I will be responsible for installments hereafter from each local."

The labor leader, who resides in Oakland, California, expressed the hope that other unions will be encouraged to take similar action in support of the NAACP.

ket or probe at it with your tongue. This will only disturb the formation of the blood clot and delay the healing process.

5. Avoid strenuous exercise and stimulating beverages during the first 24 hours following extraction, since this is a frequent cause of hemorrhage.

6. Chew on the side opposite the extraction for a few days following the removal of the tooth.

7. Avoid vigorous mouth rinsing for at least two days after the extraction. Gentle mouth rinsing can usually be done after the first 24 hours.

8. Notify your dentist immediately at the first sign of fever, swelling, or unusual bleeding.

Remember that a dental extraction is still a serious operation, even though it is relatively painless and very common. When a deep-seated infection develops in the wound left by an extracted tooth, the consequences can be severe. Don't unwittingly invite them upon yourself.

Sunday School Lesson

GIDEON: COMBATING PAGANISM.

International Sunday School Lesson for July 28, 1957

MEMORY SELECTION:

"Thou shalt have no other gods before me."—Exodus 20:3

LESSON TEXT:

Judges 6:25-32

During the centuries which follow Edgemoor, there was no united organization of all the tribes, but time and again, as a crisis developed, it would be met by the nearby Israelites usually galvanized into heroic action by the inspiration of some courageous leader. These periodic deliverers were called Judges. Our lesson this week considers the heroic faith of Gideon, generally recognized by all as the most outstanding of the Judges.

Gideon lived in a disturbed period. The Israelites were being harassed by the Amalekites and the Midianites. Swarms of the latter descended upon them from across the Jordan and stole their crops and cattle and other possessions. Finally Gideon realized that he had been chosen by Jehovah as His agent for deliverance. He began by destroying the altar to Baal in his community, and insisting upon repentance and worship of the true God.

To tear down this altar to a heathen god required extraordinary courage because it meant possible conflict with his father and with his own people. Taking ten men of his servants, and working by night rather than by day because of fear of his family, Gideon destroyed the altar of Baal, and did as God had directed. He erected an altar to Jehovah, and offered one of his father's bullocks as a sacrifice thereon.

When the townspeople heard what Gideon had done, they were very angry. Upon learning that it was Gideon who had done this, they demanded that Joash bring out Gideon, his son, but the father refused to do so, saying, "Will ye plead for Baal? he that will plead for him, let him be put to death if he be a god, let him plead for himself."

GIDEON, WANTED PROOF While Gideon was convinced that the Lord wanted him to deliver Israel from the Amalekites and the Midianites, he wanted further proof. So, summoning the members of nearby tribes to gather under his leadership, he made trial of Jehovah, using a fleece of wool. God patiently convinced him. Being of a very cautious nature, Gideon wanted further proof, so he asked God to reverse the former miracle. Again, it was even as Gideon had requested, and from this time on, Gideon raised no more questions and sought no more signs, but did explicitly what God told him to do.

Then, Jehovah put Gideon's faith to a severe test, advising him so that over two-thirds of his men departed for home, leaving only ten thousand to help him fight their enemies. These were further selected until only three hundred remained. Using a carefully devised stratagem—Gideon was successful in defeating the Midianites. They were pursued until utterly shattered with a destruction so great that Isaiah later referred to it as a party with that of the Egyptians at the Red Sea.

After this victory, the Midianites

Let's Have A Party!

How often have you given a party only to find that you're so busy being hostess, chief cook, waitress and busboy that you don't enjoy the party yourself? The Orange-Crush Party Bureau believes any woman can enjoy her own party.

The big secret lies in advance planning, not only the menu but the way you'll serve the food. The menu should be simple but attractive, says the Party Bureau. Buffet dinners are simplest for serving. The simplest for the hostess. Make full use of your electric pans and chafing dishes to keep warm food warm. A one-dish casserole will make an ideal main course with fresh radishes, cucumber strips, tomato slices, and celery served from ice-filled bowls. Serve already-sliced and buttered bread or rolls.

In arranging dishes and plates and silverware on your table, take tip from the caterers, the Orange-Crush Party Bureau says. Be sure everything is within easy reach and has its own serving tool. Serve soft drinks in bottles with colorful paper cups and straws.

Let the guests eat where they will but provide lap trays and/or small tables. Have plenty of large napkins on hand.

Dessert may be served from a tea cart or a table placed in the living room. An electric coffee maker will allow you, the hostess, to make it in advance and to keep it warm.

To enjoy your own party, remember to plan simple, tasty meals and to let the guests share in the work by serving themselves.

Time To Change To Hot Weather Diet

The diets of many persons consist mainly of the dishes they like best. On the surface this seems a good diet policy, but to continue eating, during the summer heat, the dishes you enjoy in winter, is not a good diet procedure. Common sense should tell us that heat-producing foods can be eaten in greater quantity in cold weather than in the summer. The intake of carbohydrates and sugars, which are heat producing, should be sharply reduced. The consumption of sweet rolls, cakes, cookies, and starchy foods should be decreased but not necessarily eliminated. Heavy, greasy foods should be eliminated in hot weather.

Soft drinks and soda fountain concoctions with a heavy sugar content should be taken sparingly. Starchy breakfast foods, hot-cakes that contain starch, plus butter and syrup however well liked, will reduce your vitality, and resistance. Candy should be eaten sparingly, if at all.

The diet should be amplified with fresh fruits, green, leafy vegetables, salads, eggs, fish and lean meats. The amount of salt used should be increased so as to replace the extra amount of this mineral lost during excessive perspiration. The citric acid fruits, oranges, lemons, limes, and grapefruit should become part of the daily diet during hot weather. It is normal to drink more in hot weather to replace the body fluids, but drinks should be cool, not iced. Plenty of sleep will help to restore depleted energy. An occasional visit to your doctor of chiropractic for dietary advice and relief from nerve tension is sensible procedure. Basic hot weather diet is a heavy intake of essential vitamins and minerals—a decrease in starches, fats and sugar. Follow the simple rules and you will feel better and enjoy life to a fuller degree.

Good Nutrition Means Good Food

LONG BEACH, Calif. — Diet and nutrition are important for good health and can help promote better health but diet is not a cure-all for whatever upsets the human race, Frederick J. Stare, M. D., Chairman of the Department of Nutrition of the Harvard-University School of Health declared here recently. He spoke at the 24th annual meeting of the Western Branch, American Public Health Association.

"A small segment of the public, egged on by unscrupulous food faddists who have something to sell, look on diet as a cure-all," Dr. Stare said, "but there are many other facts involved in health."

"Good nutrition means good food and a balanced diet — meat, enriched or whole grain bread and cereals, fish, milk, eggs, fruits, vegetables. Variety in food consumption and maintenance of desirable weight are probably the most fundamental practical rules for a good nutritional state."

Dr. Stare warned against the purveyors of certain dietetic products of those who sell books which recommend peculiar diets and who seek to promote their products by making exaggerated statements about common and accepted foods.

Brown sugar and honey may have a speck more nutritional elements than white sugar but the difference is negligible, he said. Organic fertilizer makes no difference in the nutritional values of fruits and vegetables and the question of whether to eat whole wheat bread or enriched white bread is strictly a matter of taste preference.

They are both highly nutritious products, he said.

"I have yet to hear of a human disease caused by a lack of trace minerals," he said. "I exclude the common goiter because it can be prevented by the use of iodized salt or the occasional use of sea foods. Certain trace elements may not be present in some refined foods, but they are present in other foods which are common to the complete diet."

Speaking of recently publicized fad diets, Dr. Stare said fat in the diet does not "oil joints to protect arthritis," that this idea is "pure nonsense"; that the idea that certain foods may cause cancer in many is not substantiated by facts; and that there is no evidence that candy or any specific food causes diabetes.

He urged the public health representatives to work closely with nurses, dietitians and others, to combat the false ideas of diet and to help promote good health through proper eating.

troubled Israel no more, and the land had peace for forty years. The people were so impressed with Gideon's leadership, they wanted to make him their king, but he refused them, saying, "The Lord shall rule over you."

CHARACTER OF GIDEON Among the many excellent qualities which may be found in the character of Gideon, four are outstanding: They are his humility, his caution, his courage and his faith in God. Gideon, an humble man, was transformed by divine power into a mighty champion of Israel's faith and a successful leader of Israel against its foes.

Of all sad words of tongue or pen The saddest are these: "It might have been." Let's add this thought unto this verse; It might have been a great deal worse. — G. J. Russell

Dear Eleanor, I am 22, have finished high school and have served in the U. S. Army.

I am thinking quite seriously about getting married. What do you think about my doing so? Answer: — If you are in good health and are in love, and have a good means of support (I mean a good job) then why not, if you believe that the girl of your choice is the one for you?

Love is a tender plant that must grow or die. With the proper crop of marriage, any two well matched people can stay married and be reasonably happy.

ABOUT BREAKFAST OF SCHOOL CHILDREN

What school children eat for breakfast, how their breakfasts rate nutritionally and how much time they spend on this first meal of the day are among questions studied by the Ohio Experiment Station recently. Records of food eaten for three successive days by 341 children, 9 to 12 years old, in city, village and rural schools in southern Ohio showed that the large majority were short at the morning meal of foods needed for growth and activity.

EFFECT OF POOR BREAKFAST HABITS

Teachers have been especially aware of the effects of skipping or skipping breakfast, the Station says. Teachers often report that the child who has no breakfast or too little breakfast is likely to be tired, inattentive "cross" or poor at his lessons. Poor breakfast habits carried over from childhood may be a handicap to adults. Industry studies have traced accidents and slow-up in work to little or no breakfast. Then, the midmorning snack all too often is food that dulls the appetite for lunch.

TOWN AND RURAL DIFFERENCES

City and village children in this study had more citrus fruits and juices for breakfast than rural children, but rural children made up some of their vitamin C by fruits and vegetables at other meals. More city than rural children had eggs for breakfast, but rural children had eggs more frequently at other meals.

TIME FOR BREAKFAST

Because lack of time and a hurried atmosphere in the home on school day mornings have been given so often as the reason for poor breakfasts, the Ohio study included questions on time allowed. About 14 minutes was the average time spent by children in eating breakfasts. Some mothers reported only 8 minutes, others as much as 30 minutes but all said their children had plenty of time. Breakfasts of children who spent 30 minutes were found to be no better than those who ate in less time.

For Safer Closets

An economical way to build "plus" quality into closet walls and ceilings is to line them with asbestos-cement panels. Easily applied, the stone-like material provides extra protection against fire spread and rodents. It is tough, durable and easy to clean.

Sturdy Bench Top

To protect your work bench from the scuffs of tools and give it extra strength, cover it with asbestos-cement panels. Asbestos paneling is a hard, concrete-like material with a smooth surface and an attractive gray finish. Dirt won't cling to it so it's easy to keep in order.

New Ways To Arrange Guest Towels

Fold and roll your terry guest towels—smart arrangement for shelf or ledge.

A tidbit tray is a clever idea for combining colorful soaps and fringed terry guest towels.

Finger-tip towels can be placed casually in any shallow basket you happen to have—a simple and chic arrangement.

Do you have a letter rack of wood or metal? It serves as a decorative, space-saving guest towel holder. (ANS)

Color and Shadow Lines Enhance Ranch Home

This appealing, moderately priced ranch-style home gains added luxury and charm from its modern exterior finishing. Here the choice has been asbestos-cement siding in pastel green, for a house that invites outdoor living. The smart siding combines with a white trellis and an irregularly patterned flagstone floor to provide a perfect framing for the breezeway terrace. The asbestos siding, applied over shingle backing, accentuates the horizontal shadows between courses, adds stature and beauty. A light colored asbestos-cement roof complements the siding and further emphasizes the home's long, low lines. This treatment blends the house into its surroundings. Both siding and roofing are permanent, fire-safe and inexpensive to maintain.

SPORTS OF THE WORLD

BY MARION E. JACKSON

Bobbysockers, rock 'n roll enthusiasts, and mamba artists of today will only faintly recall Barney Ross, one of the fightingest men of the great era of pugilism. Millions are getting acquainted with the dapper, voluble little ex-champ whose fancy and furious fists projected him to the lightweight, junior welterweight and welterweight championships through a sordid, stark and realistic movie "Monkey on My Back" which soars to the stars when falls to the bottomless pits of degradation.

Hollywood has always liked to tear the cover off boxing. It has done so in a long series of expensive flickers such as "Golden Boy", "Ringside", "The Squared Circle" and "The Harder They Fall", but the saga of Barney Ross is more engrossing than any of the past offerings.

The movie is a hard-hitting profile of Ross' battles with poverty and narcotics. Let's go behind the scenes and meet the man who boxing made mighty and famous and except for a fondness for gambling, would have made him rich.

Ross witnessed his career take many unusual twists -- triumph in the ring, heroism in the U. S. Marines during World War II and victory over drug addiction later. Yet today the former ring king denies that boxing is the racket-blackend sports it has been portrayed in literature, movies and television.

He built an empire and an era by ruling the world of little men with his fists. Now gray-haired and philosophical, Ross at 48, is hoping that the story of his life will warn others of the pitfalls of high-living.

Barney hung up his gloves after making the only serious beating -- from Henry Armstrong in a welterweight title fight. He was less than 29 when his legs gave out, but he knew that his fighting days were over. Until this day, Ross tells of his gratitude to Armstrong for not knocking him out and carrying him the final rounds of the bout.

I hope this revealing movie hits the jackpot during its Atlanta run. It is in the class of realism stories which has enjoyed success everywhere. Small town movie houses are still billing Jimmy Piersall's biography "Fear Strikes Out", and Lillian Roth's story "I'll Cry Tomorrow."

Hard-bitten critics found "The Harder They Fall", closely similar to the life of Primo Camera, the Italian heavyweight whose bulldog and ballyhoo were more impressive than his ability.

In a few years, the movies will exploit "The Jack Dempsey Story" and the life of "Hammering Hank" Armstrong. Already, best-sellers on the lives of these pugilists are in the bookstalls.

Ross, interviewed by Charles Benton of International News Service in Hollywood, paid a high tribute to boxing. He said: "If I had a son, I wouldn't particularly want him to be a fighter. But if he wanted to fight, and I saw he had natural ability, I positively would want him to."

"There's one condition He would have to want to be a champion. And there's only one champion in each division."

Ross insists "Boxing gave me all I have. I've been out of it 19 years now, and I still think I earn my living through the medium of my boxing."

"It's far from the dirty game they make it. There are still a lot of good people in boxing. I've seen very few fight pictures that were any good at all."

"They all show too many rackets in the business -- too many fights in the bag. And it's not like that."

But while boxing may have been maligned from the moral standpoint, Ross shrugged, the professional abilities of its representatives certainly has deteriorated since the days when he was trading socks with the likes of Jimmy McLarnin, Cefarino Garcia, Henry Armstrong and others.

"There never will be fighters again like there were in my era," he said, "because those were depression years, and we were all hungry. If you weren't good, you'd better stay out of a ring."

"The kids don't train any more. I used to run five miles a day. Today a kid runs a block and goes home. I'll bet there were 10 fighters in every division in my day who would run today's champions right out of the ring."

"Today the kids take up fighting or kicks, and I don't think that Lord help you. With me it was like a religion. I didn't know anything else, and I didn't want to go back to bookkeeping, which was the vocation I originally trained for."

You get an insight from this profile of man you'll be seeing in "The Barney Ross Story". It is not a pretty cinema story but one blunt with realism and sordid in content. It contains much of the ugliness of the depravity that comes from gambling and narcotics but it may be fair warning to many who believe success has a primrose path. The stairway to the stars may look easy to ascend but those who reach the top have undergone a grueling and exhausting climb.

Joey Giardello Wins Nod Over Chico Vejar

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (INS) — Joey Giardello ran his string of midweight victories to 10 straight Wednesday night with a unanimous 10-round decision over unranked Chico Vejar in a nationally televised boxing match in Louisville.

Giardello, now fighting out of Brooklyn, N. Y., piled up his lead in the first four rounds and then held his own to take the decision, which was roundly booed by some 4,000 spectators who packed the arena.

Vejar, from Stamford, Conn., had his best round in the fifth, when he opened a cut over the left eye of Giardello. Both weighed in at 159 pounds.

The decision was scored for Giardello this way: Judge Walter Beck, 50 to 46; Judge Tom Nuckles, 47 to 44; and referee Dan Leslie, 48 to 44.

Wife Confesses, Man Charged With Murder

MOORESVILLE, N. C. (ANP) — A Negro here was arrested and charged with a murder that took place more than 18 months ago, following the confession of his wife. The Sheriff of Mooresville identified the defendant as Elbanks White, 43.

The arrest was made after the discovery by a group of prisoners, on a work detail, discovered the skeleton of 32-year-old Albert Mills in a sawdust pile.

About two weeks earlier, Mrs. White had told the police that she and her son had watched White kill Mills and then helped him drag the body to a pit and cover it with sawdust.

Rockdale Rawhides Lead In Ga.-Ala. Amateur League Race

ALLIANCE GEORGIA (S N S) — The league-leading Rockdale Rawhides kept ahead in the Georgia-Alabama Amateur League standings, but the red-hot Atlanta Yankees and the defending champion Atlanta Braves, were baying on their heels as a result of games played last weekend.

All three of the pacesetters swept twinbills as the torrid race continued onward a down-to-the-wire climax.

The Rawhides dealt the Apaco Lions a double defeat winning 5-3 and 6-1, to stay a game ahead of the Atlanta Yankees in the win column. The teams are tied in losses with 6 all.

The onrushing Atlanta Yankees stumped the Gadsden Stars twice 16-1 and 7-3. The Atlanta Braves defeated the LaGrange City Cats 7-4 and 2-0 to keep pace with the leaders.

The first game of the twinbill between the Rawhides and the Apaco Lions, Willie Davis dueling Willie Stout of the Paperman. The score was tied three times in the game. Loser Stout deserved a better fate but errors and the well-placed bunt meant the difference. W. Lindsay pitched and his brother, E. Lindsay was the catcher as the Yankees beat Gadsden Blue Daniels was on the mound for the Yankees, with veteran Stubbs, catching. Lindsay pitched an excellent game but spotty support led to his downfall. W. Lindsay blasted two home runs in a losing cause.

Walker breaks in win column; Butler, Forrest hold positions.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA (S N S) — Witnessing the Extra-Point Club Little League teams, the crystal ball shows that the small white cowhide baseball took a beating this week from Walker, Forrest, Butler and Ware as weekly winners.

So far, the white cowhide baseball, now complicated at times, as some little leaguers are finding the bats with a hole within, never-the-less teams will be out to win the two remaining games.

English Ave., trying desperately to stop and overcome Walker, failed in their attempt, but Billy Tyson and Walter Jones definitely tried to tuck the game away Tyson was two for one and Jones one for two. Walker led all the way with a 5-4 score at the end of the first inning.

Final wrap-up Walker eight runs, seven hits and one error, English Ave. six runs, five hits and two errors.

Ware shades Carver, 6-4. Kenny Williams and Charles Winfrey led Ware past the Carver Cubs, 6-4, as Roger Howard picked up his second victory. Howard was one for one, while Williams and Winfrey were two and 0. Howard knocked in the winning runs, along with the lone one-hit pitching by the Cubs.

Curtis Willis, Israel Benefield and Jesse Grant were one for one with Freddie Banks and Richard Change belting the white cowhide. Coty Tug also scored a run in their losing battle.

Final tally: Ware, six runs; one hit, and no errors; Boys' Club; four runs, five hits and no errors.

East Point Bears Still On Top In Bid For Branch Rickey Flag

ATLANTA, GEORGIA (S N S) — Making an all-out bid to capture the flag in the Branch Rickey Baseball League, the East Point Bears swept both games of a crucial doubleheader with the Atlanta Hawks, Sunday afternoon, at East Point. After winning the opener, 6-2, the Bears took the nightcap, 8-6.

Richard Whately went all the way for the Bears on the mound in the opener and D. D. Vaughn duplicated in the second game, with Clarence Jackson working behind the plate in both tilts. Benny Lovett took batting honors with a hard-hit triple in the curtain-raiser with two mates aboard.

SECOND PLACE DODGERS ALSO WIN DOUBLEBILL The second-place Robinson Dodgers also won a doublebill in keeping striking distance of the front-running Bears. Marvin Stephens supplied much of the long-distance batting power as the Dodgers romped to a 10-5 triumph in the first game and breezed to a 7-4 victory in the second game.

With three hits in five at-bats in the opener, Stephens hit a round-tripper in the first inning with one man on base, and then slapped out a three-run home run in the fifth inning of the nightcap as the Dodgers wiped out a 4-0 lead by the Hawks and went on to win.

CUNNINGHAM SETS PACE FOR HAWKS Eugene Cunningham set the pace for the Hawks at bats, collecting three hits in six trips to the plate in the first game.

Adolphus "Peanut" Williams spaced eight hits in going the distance for the Dodgers in the opener, while his mates got 15 hits off Robert Davis. Manager Willie Gilstrap and Willard worked behind the plate for the Dodgers, with Manager William Johnson and Amos Raving catching for the Hawks.

In the nightcap, Theron "Drake" Reeves, the Dodgers brilliant left-hander, chalked up 13 strikeouts and gave up only five hits, while the Dodgers tapped out 13 hits off Bobby White and "Knapp" Aldridge. Gilstrap and Raven were the catchers.

Saturday night, the Forest Park Braves battered the Eagles 14-3, under lights, at Clarksdale; and won the second game by default. The third-place College Park Indians also kept in the thick of the battle for the pennant by winning two games by default.

South African Prime Minister Tells Why He Shunned Meeting

CAPETOWN, South Africa (ANP) — Johannes Strijdom, Prime Minister of South Africa, explained in the House of Assembly why he had not attended the current gathering of Commonwealth Prime Ministers.

It had been freely speculated that the reason was that the race-hating Strijdom did not wish to sit around the council table with the premier of Ghana, the first African to be accorded that honor.

IBC Restricts Aid To Moore-Anthony Championship Bout

CHICAGO (INFA) — Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, Friday informed the California Athletic Commission by telephone that the I. B. C.'s participation in Archie Moore's defense of his light heavyweight title against Tony Anthony in Los Angeles' Gilmore Stadium Sept. 11 will be restricted to the national television presentation of the fight.

Co-promoters will be the Los Angeles Olympic Auditorium and Hollywood American Legion Stadium.

Gibson said TV fights to the fight have been sold for $75,000 to the sponsor which usually sponsors the IBC's Friday night TV bouts. The fight will be shown over the network of the National Broadcasting Company.

Of the $75,000, $70,000 will go to Moore, $4,000 to Anthony, and $1,000 to the IBC.

Moore has been guaranteed $85,000 by Cal Eaton of the Olympic and Jackie Leonard of the Hollywood Legion. He also gets $5,000 for training expenses.

Anthony, former New York Golden Gloves champion, is to receive 20 per cent of the net gate receipts, in addition to the $4,000 from TV, which Gibson said will be paid by IBC for training expenses.

AMERICAN DAVIS CUP TEAM MAY GO TO AUSTRALIA

BY PAT ROBINSON NEW YORK (INS) — Take it from Lew Hoad, the American Davis Cup team may enjoy a nice trip to Australia this fall and have a pleasant time while picking up some much needed experience. But the Americans will not take home the cup.

As you know, Hoad is the Australian Tennis Ace "sacrificed" his amateur standing to accept Jack Kramer's $125,000 to turn pro.

Hoad is now romping through Kramer's professional Round-Robin at Forest Hills and his match Sunday with Pancho Gonzales, the world's professional, probably will decide the tournament.

"I suppose you will send Sammy Giammalva and Vice Soxas after the match," said Hoad. "But I don't think they have a chance to beat several of our best players in Australia. I believe Dick Savitt will be our best, if he would take the time off from business to make the trip."

Vinnie Richards, a former amateur king who is something of an elder statesman in tennis these days, agrees with Hoad about our Davis cup chances but disagrees about the team's make up.

"I think it would be a waste of time to send back an old guy like Soxas," says Richards. "We'd do better to send young fellows who look like winners to get some experience."

Kramer and Gonzales watched Hoad's pro debut with the closest attention because he represents a small fortune to both. Gonzales said:

"Hoad's real good. Better than I thought he would be and he'll be tough to handle."

As for promoter Kramer, he was just as much interested in the crowd's reaction as he was in Hoad's play, and he laughed out loud when he overheard a sweet young thing remark:

"Look at that boy's hair. It's just the color of a new copper penny, and want a build." "If the femmes are that much

Publishers Sue Country Club For $500,000, Charge Racism

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (ANP) — The publishers of the Westchester County Press, a Negro weekly newspaper, filed a $500,000 damage suit against a country club here last week for allegedly discriminating against their daughter and cancelling a party because of the girls race.

The suit names the Beacon Hill country club as defendant in the case claiming it discriminated against the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alger Adams, publishers of the Negro newspaper.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams said they made reservations for a "Sweet 16 party" for their daughter last June 28, informing the club of their daughter's race.

They said that five days before the event was to be held, the club cancelled the affair "because some of the directors didn't like the idea."

The manager of the club, Mrs. Francis Holzheimer had denied discriminating against the Adams. — Beacon Hill Country Club is in Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.

A Victory For Law And Order The verdict of "guilty" by an all-white jury of ten men and two women against John Kasper, staunch segregationist, and six other white defendants, including a woman, came as somewhat of a surprise to us.

Each convicted person is subject to punishment up to six months imprisonment, or a fine up to $1,000.00, or both. Because of the nature of the case - involving the school or racial issue - we are frank to admit, that while we felt certain Kasper would be convicted, but feared, due to the obvious racial prejudice appeal by the long list of defense counsel, the all-white jury would be governed by feelings rather than facts and evidence.

We have followed closely the case since Federal Judge Taylor of Knoxville, Tenn., ordered the High School to admit Negro students, beginning with last September's school term. We saw how this East Tennessee community apparently accepted the court ruling until Kasper came to Clinton and organized resistance to the judge's ruling.

The government prosecutor hammered on one main point during his argument before the jury. He said, and we agree, that the case involved the simple question of law and order. He argued it was not a case of segregation nor integration. It was a case of whether a judge's order was to be obeyed or disobeyed. And it was just that.

On the basis of ethics and a deep sense of duty and respect for law and individual rights, it would have been in error to free the Clinton group. We can't afford to let racist elements take over the reins of an orderly governing process. To accept this sort of practice would be to submit to mob rule, a situation we must strive to avoid at all cost.

The jury is to be commended for living up to its oath to decide the case on the basis of evidence rather than emotion. In its decision, the Clinton jury has established a pattern for respect of law and order. Its verdict should stand as a symbol of justice and obedience to the U. S. Constitution. It should be a standard for the whole nation to follow.

The Court And Girard

The United States Supreme Court has authorized U. S. authorities to turn over G. I. William S. Girard to Japan for trial. The decision is in the best interest of the United States, in our opinion.

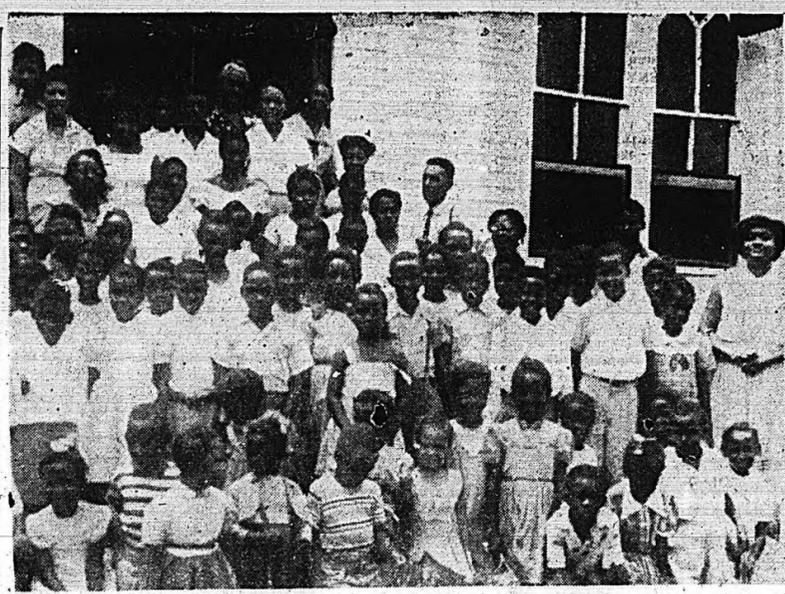

Nevertheless, from a practical standpoint and leaving aside the question of jurisdiction and the Court's decision, the result is certainly in the interest of our mutual security. Japan and Germany are quite possibly our key allies today and the record shows that those Americans who have been tried by Japanese courts have been treated extremely leniently.

Moreover, Japanese courts have waived jurisdiction in most of the cases in which they could have tried Americans. In other words, the Japanese have bent over backwards to be fair and more than reasonable. In this case, however, which was fanned by public indignation in Japan and the fact that the mother killed was a prominent member of a small community, the question became one of national pride.

We felt all along that the Japanese court will be more lenient with Private Girard than would a U. S. military court. So, from all standpoints, the best interest of this country is served by the U. S. Supreme Court's decision.

RIPLEY'S VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL: - Above are the students and teachers who attended the vacation Bible school held at Canaan Baptist church. Rev. J. L. Burkley of Memphis was the pastor.

CAPITAL SPOTLIGHT By LOUIS LAUTIER - NNPA and Atlanta World Reporter

FROM THE MAILBAG A RECENT COLUMN about the Rev. Joseph H. Jackson, pastor of Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, Chicago, and president of the National Baptist Convention, USA, Inc., brought quick repercussions from the Rev. Roland Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Little Rock, Ark., and secretary of the National Baptist Training Union Board Nashville, Tenn.

As a refresher, it was reported here on good authority that the tenure provision in the Convention's constitution was not valid because it had not been adopted in accordance with the article governing changing the constitution, or, if valid, it had been repealed by a resolution providing for its "lifting" from the Constitution. First came a telegram from Dr. Smith asserting that the constitution of the National Baptist Convention is clear on tenure, that Dr. Jackson is ineligible for reelection, that he was "completely repudiated in Denver" last year, and "will decisively be defeated at Louisville in September."

The telegram was followed by a letter by a letter from Dr. Smith, as follows: "This is a follow up of my telegram to you of July 10, which I trust you have received. I am astounded at your position in attempting to enter into the politics of the National Baptist Convention and I say 'politics' with great regret, in an attempt on your part to aid a candidate for the presidency of the National Baptist Convention, who is trying to override, not a position but the Constitution of the National Baptist Convention."

"The constitution of the National Baptist Convention was properly, legally and constitutionally adopted in Chicago in September of 1952. The constitution has not been amended at any annual session 'lift trick' procedure. All of the 'lift trick' propaganda emanates from the president of the National Baptist Convention, who is attempting through deception to mislead, confuse and frustrate our Baptist constituency."

"It is interesting to hear you say in your article that Austin T. Walden (Atlanta attorney) and that will rule at the coming session of the National Baptist Convention at Louisville, and that the present constitutional was not properly adopted. 'I am sure that Mr. Walden has not told anybody pro or con that he could rule either way in this matter.'"

"Enclosed you will find an article in the April edition of the National Baptist Voice which is a reprint by Dr. Marshall Sheppard, one of America's most distinguished citizens and one of the great characters of the National Baptist Convention. This article by Dr. Sheppard gives in clear, factual and unmistakable language, the truth. 'Your attitude and position as a newspaper columnist is unfair, non-factual and biased.'"

THE REPLY My reply to Dr. Smith follows: "I resent the statement in your letter of July 11 that I am entering into the politics of the National Baptist Convention to aid a candidate for the presidency of that organization."

"I am not a Baptist and it makes no difference to me who is elected president of the National Baptist Convention. But there are 5,000,000 Baptists and a great number of other persons who are interested in the outcome of the controversy over that office. 'As long as I am a newspaper

Li. Lee, Little Man (Continued from Page One)

Donelson pie, she said the Republican party in Shelby county would be placed under the domination of Li. Lee. "Otherwise you will be killing the party in Shelby county," continued Mrs. Allen. Lee's proposal to table the resolution brought to the meeting by the New Guard, won 29 to five. Tom Turley, also from Shelby county, supported Mrs. Donelson's position. He said, "If the resolution isn't adopted, you will be passing control of the party in Shelby county into the hands of Li. Lee. And we cannot continue to get respectable support when one man on Beal Street can pull the string and kick us out."

During an exclusive interview with Li. Lee, he told the Memphis World, that he favored the County Committee being made up of three representatives elected from each precinct in the city. "In Memphis there are 160 precincts. However, I discovered that Negroes could hold successful election in about 70 of the precincts. No Negroes are living in the other precincts." Under the proposal Lee's majority could be nullified by the 90 precinct in which Negroes are not living because of segregation housing.

Lee continued, "I was responsible for obtaining 40,000 of the 65,000 votes cast for President Eisenhower in the last election. Of that number 30,000 were Negroes. He went to explain the reason behind the bitter committee fight. Who controls the county committee, controls the district committee, which controls the county, who will vote in the next presidential election? Also the same man who controls the district is also in control of political patronage political jobs. It estimated that Lee is the representative of 54,000 Republican voters in the county.

Lee told the representatives in Nashville that he had offered to resign his leadership several times but certain white people requested that he remain because there was a need for his leadership. He related how he had braved the dangers of the wrath of Mr. Crump for 25 years to keep the Republican party alive in Shelby county. "The only other Negro on the committee is Roscoe Grant of Nashville."

segregation, because we feel it's not over yet." In charging the jury, Judge Taylor said the question of whether school integration is right or wrong should not be considered by them in arriving at a verdict. The jury should proceed under the assumption that the injunction was properly issued, the judge said, and determine if that injunction was ignored by the defendants. The historic 12-day trial was the first attempt of the government to enforce the 1954 Supreme Court decision which held that schools must desegregate and declared that the doctrine of separate but equal facilities is "inherently unequal."

POSTPONED SENTENCES Federal Judge Robert L. Taylor gave the defense until Aug. 14, to file motions for a new trial. He has postponed sentences, which could run to six months in jail and fines of $1,000, until some indefinite time after that. Kasper, meanwhile, set his sights on a new field of activity -- Nashville, Tenn., where the school board has decided to integrate the first grade when school opens in Sept. Nashville pro-segregation leaders have made it clear that there is no welcome mat out for the 27-year-old New Jersey man whom they brand an "interloper." To that, Kasper said, as he avidly studied out-of-town newspaper accounts of his Knoxville conviction: "I've been an interloper for a long time now -- in Maryland, Virginia, Florida, North Carolina and other states -- and my plans are to get to Nashville and continue being an interloper."

a deadline for the move. The decision was delivered by Judge Richard T. Rives who said that faith without deeds was not enough on the part of the Dallas School Board. U. S. District Judge William H. Atwell had previously dismissed a suit filed by Negroes on the grounds that the school board may have ample time, as it appears to be doing, to work out this problem."

Other school districts in Dallas County are expected to delay integration as long as possible, according to school superintendent L. A. Roberts. He said they would not integrate "without a court order." Circuit Court of Appeals Judge Rives also said that a federal district judge would have to hear a suit filed by Negroes to enter all-white schools in Miami. The federal district judge, upholding a contention by the Miami school board that a complaint filed by Negroes was not justifiable because the Negroes did not seek to enter any specific school, was in error when he dismissed the case filed by the Miami Negroes Rives said. Negroes are not required to make application for admission to a specific school, according to Judge Rives.

The school boards of Charlotte, Greensboro and Winston-Salem, all in North Carolina, voted separately to assign a total of 12 Negro students to all-white schools. Integration is expected to take place in September.
