Avery Chapel To Worship In Newly Constructed Church

Members of Avery Chapel AME Church have abandoned their structure at 145 S. Fourth St. On Sunday they will worship for the first time in a building at Mississippi Blvd. and Jeannette St. until a new building is constructed at the corner of Neptune and Trigg Streets at a cost of $203,000.

The Rev. C. A. Ivory, who reported three threatening phone calls to police Friday night, took the stand Saturday that: "This boycott will last until we get justice. By justice I mean until my people are allowed to ride the buses on an equal basis." He added:

"All we want is justice and fair treatment. We're waiting until the other people agree to obey the law of the land. We know it is unconstitutional to be forced to ride in a segregated manner."

Paul Knight, owner of the city bus company, issued the franchise three weeks ago, maintained "I intend to obey South Carolina laws and only South Carolina laws as long as I am in this state. -- The buses will remain segregated."

The two-week old boycott began when Miss Arlene Austin, 23, a Negro, was ordered by a bus driver to leave a seat just given to her by a white woman. Miss Austin said it was the only vacant seat on the bus.

Ivory received three threat-phon calls last night, he said, by "probably two different men." In one call he was told "I just wanted to be sure you'd be there when it goes off," said the second caller.

"If you don't call off the boycott there won't be a n---r working in town."

The minister said he duly reported the threats to the police, "but I wasn't alarmed."

Chicagoan Under $6,000 Bond In Traffic Cases

COVINGTON, Tenn. — A 30-year-old man from Chicago was bound over to state court under a $6,000 bond after he was convicted on two minor traffic charges and fined a total of $100 and cost before Judge William Lanier.

The man, identified as Royal Rolland Hill, was fined $50 and cost on a speeding charge and $50 and cost on a reckless driving charge.

He was held over to state court on three charges — felonious assault, carrying a dangerous weapon and fraudulent use of driver's license.

Hill is reported to be wanted in Louisiana and Illinois on "bad check" charges. Reportedly, he also served terms in both state and federal prisons.

It all started last Thursday when Hill was stopped for speeding in a Cadillac which he admitted he stole from Chicago July 2.

He was stopped by a state patrolman. Hill unarmed the patrolman, jumped back into the car and sped about five miles down the road before ditching the car and escaping on foot.

He was captured about three hours walking down a railroad track.

Officers said Hill, appearing highly intelligent, seemingly had taste for "good books" and Cadillacs.

Use It Or Lose It

BY LOUISE LYNN

"Then they said to him (Jesus) What must we do to be doing the work of God?" John 6:23.

MAN'S IDEA

How can we use our talent in the work of the Kingdom? Once I watched a young child helping her mother in simple household tasks...

God does not always say to His children: "You must." Sometimes He says: "You may."

The supreme privilege of a Christian is to have a part with God in the work of His Kingdom.

What shall I do, Lord? The fact that salvation is a gift of free grace, has led some to believe that nothing more is required of a Christian than to profess faith in Christ.

We cannot, of course, earn a place in the Kingdom of God. True, we are saved as an act of grace. But if salvation is to have meaning for us or to have any effect on others, we must become "doers of the word, and not hearers only."

A British Actress tells how she found Christ in London. She told of Christ love and how she found Him before it was too late that saved her from suicide.

Are we as Christians suffering for Christ? How many of us are paying the price as Christians? Do we have scars to show? Make your decisions for Christ today.

NATION'S FIRST ATOMIC COOK ENJOYS IRRADIATED MEALS

CHICAGO — (INS) — The nation's first atomic cook is a pretty, 29-year-old woman who enjoys broiling year-old Bacon and baking three-month-old potatoes.

Jane Davidsaver thinks her unique job of cooking atomically irradiated foods for Uncle Sam is "wonderful."

She has only one small gripe: "Other women won't be cooking irradiated foods for another 10 years or so, and I'd love to show off my cooking. But nobody ever tells me how good it tastes, and I can't take home samples."

In fact, everything she cooks comes out of a locked vault—and it takes the signatures of a couple of atomic scientists to get it out. The vault is at the Chicago headquarters of the Quartermaster Food and Container Institute for the Armed Forces, where Jane works as a 575-a-week government home economist.

Her assignment, for more than a year, has been to cook and evaluate irradiated food—foods treated by atomic rays to last indefinitely without refrigeration.

Jane has cooked 300 rachers of bacon, 600 potatoes 20 pounds of shrimp, countless pork chops and steaks, strawberries green peas, carrots, even rolls—all of them irradiated.

PLEASES SECRETARY She's the inventor of "Davidsaver White Wine Sauce for stewed irradiated chicken," which Army secretary Wilbur Brucker liked so much he cleaned his plate.

"I have even baked an irradiated pumpkin pie," laughs Jane. "It was easy, irradiated bacon is the most fun and the most trouble. Never cooks the same, and sometimes it just won't get crisp."

Jane's cooking results are carefully written down for government study. So are all her ingredients and the exact cooking method used.

Since Jane works in a kitchen equipped with gas electric and even a GI gasoline field range, 30 kinds of pots and 200 different kitchen tools, each cooking assignment involves a great deal of measuring and writing.

"At home I'm the 'pinch of this and a pinch of that' kind of cook," she laughs. "I never measure anything and I taste everything."

"That tasting is a habit I can't break I nibble at all the irradiated foods, too." The girl who now serves test meals to generals and atomic scientists "fell in love with pots and pans as a little girl."

Va. Invitation To Clement Rescinded

ALTAVISTA, Va. — The chairman of the Altavista Golden Jubilee Saturday rescinded an invitation to Tennessee Gov. Frank G. Clement to speak at religious services here on Aug. 18 after anti-Clement sentiment began brewing because the Tennessee called out the National Guard to halt trouble when the Clinton, Tenn., high school moved to integrate last year.

Chairman R. B. Carpenter said the invitation was withdrawn "in the interest of harmony and public safety." He said segregationists in the area had hinted demonstrations if Clement appeared to speak at Sunday services of the Golden Jubilee.

He said local residents did not appreciate Clement's intervention in the Clinton school integration issue.

Last year 46 per cent of the nation's crime was committed by youths under 18.

Presidential elections in the U.S. have traditionally been between two candidates. The only instances when a third candidate threatened was in 1796 (Thos. Pinckney, Federalist), and 1800 (John Adams Federalist). The few attempts in the 20th Century of a third candidate to gain favor have failed miserably.

Calhoun College in Washington, D.C., with an enrollment of about 300 students, is the world's only college for the deaf.

It is estimated that about 60 per cent of the 1,750,000,000 ounces of gold that has been taken from the earth since 1493 is held by governments and central banks, 25 per cent by corporations and individuals. The remaining 15 per cent has been lost or is otherwise unaccounted for.

Along The Sports Trail

BY SAM BROWN

With the weatherman pouring it on with 90-odd degree weather, only the turrid race in the National League being set by the Braves, Cardinals, Redlegs, Dodgers and Phillies can compare any one of the five could take it all. The Phillies, six games out as this is scribbled could come home in front. So, the Nationals' race is keeping pace with the weather.

In the American League in which the Indians, Tigers and Red Sox were expected to make a five-team race with the Yankees and White Sox, the situation has changed to a two-team race with the Yankees trying to make it a runaway with the White Sox six games back. But, with the White Sox staying in contention, the Yankees are not yet out of sight.

Most of the expects have conceded the pennant to the Yankees in the Junior Circuit although a few die-hard partisans as well as wishful thinking on the part of others won't say die where the White Sox are concerned. We might add we find ourselves in the latter category, as we haven't given up completely on the Windy City boys.

In taking with several followers of the game, sports writers among them; most agree that Brooklyn will be the team to beat for the pennant, with Milwaukee a close second. The Dodgers being old pros in the business, with a good pitching staff and the experience and confidence under fire, they argue will make them the favorites for the flag.

It is also pointed out that the play the Cardinals are making during their surge to the league lead will make the contenders, if they can continue their pace. Some seem to feel that the Cardinals' recent spurt is only surface deep, and will not carry them all the way.

According to odds offered by book-makers who keep the fans informed in regards to the chances of the various teams, it is amusing to read the figures being offered. For instance the White Sox are listed at 12 to 1, with the Yankees 1 to 10, practically no bet.

Terrific odds are being quoted on those teams considered out of the running Baltimore and Kansas City 200-1, with Washington 500-1 in the American League. The Cubs, Giants and Pirates in the National League were listed at a whopping 500-1 to win. Other odds: National League-Milwaukee 6-5; Brooklyn 8-5; St. Louis 2-1; Cincinnati 4-1; Philadelphia 10-1; American League Boston, Cleveland and Detroit 20-1.

It was a tribute to the White Sox last week in their series with the Senators in Washington for President Eisenhower was on hand to see the Go-Go boys in action. Only seldom does the chief executive get a chance to see a ball game, and with the White Sox a contender for the flag, he selected to see them against the Senators.

He saw a good game although the hometowners lost, as Larry Doby and Minnie Miñoso of the White Sox put on a home run act for him, with each hitting two homers apiece and sending the Senators down to a 7-1 defeat, as pitcher Dick Donovan had one of his good nights allowing only three hits.

It was the most homers the Sox had hits in a game this year. "It's about time I got some," said Doby, whose home run bat had been silent since July 6. "I felt good up there at the plate for a change."

The excitable Miniso, who hadn't homered since July 1, indicated he hit his pair into the left field seats to make President Eisenhower happy, and president Batista of Cuba too. "He's a good sport," said Minnie of Ike. "He plays golf, he likes sport. I root for him. Washington not in pennant race, so I think he roots for me too."

Jim Banks, Memphis, Top Batter American League Jim Banks of Memphis maintained the lead among the batters in the Negro American League with a batting mark of .443, an increase of .25 points over his average of the previous week, according to statistics released by the Home News Bureau.

Isaac Barnes, also of Memphis held second place with .329. Ira McKnight of Kansas City moved from fifth to third with .328, followed by Bill Wyatt of Birmingham with .321 and Lonnie Harris of Memphis with .316.

Sam Allen of Kansas City has garnered the most hits, 48, and total bases, 75. He and teammate Frank Marsh are tied for the lead in runs scored, each with 42. Banks has the most doubles 12, home runs, five, and runs batted in 37. Marsh and Jim Mitchell pace the loop in triples with four apiece.

Lonnie Harris has stolen the most bases 23. Bill Jones of Kansas City has won the most games among the pitchers, 10. He also has pitched the most innings, 103, and has fanned the most batters, 95.

Naptown Musicians Work For Repeal Of Cabaret Tax INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — (ANP) — The march is on the American Federation of Musicians and bistro owners here and over the country to have Congress repeal the 20-percent Federal Cabaret tax. Many Musicians have been put out of work due to this tax also many clubs over the nation are closing their doors unable to pay their employees. Recently a House Ways and Means subcommittee approved a measure to cut this tax bill in half measure to cut instead of the present 20 percent tax. Some members predicted that it would clear the full committee and probably pass the House this year, others were not too sure. In the event, that this measure is made law it will be "happy days" again for the entertainers, musicians etc over the country and here. Secretary Lloyd E. Wilson of the International Indianapolis Musicians' Local No. 3 (AFM) and his staff are making an all-out fight for its repeal.
