BETHEL DEFEATS SOUTHWESTERN ON HOME GROUNDS

S. P. U. Brought Down Off Perch By Bethel for First Time in Ten Years.

The baseball team, which has been lauded to the skies as one of the best ever produced at S.P.U., went to pieces Saturday in the game against Bethel College, and was defeated to the tune of 12-2. The game was played on Shearer Field, in a drizzling rain that threatened at times to break up the game, and did actually force the players from the field at one time. The defeat came as a complete surprise to the large crowd which turned out to see "Aunt Fanny" Thomas win his first game of the season. "Aunt Fanny" failed to show up to his usual form and with rather slow backing, especially from the infield, he allowed two runs in the first inning. It will be remembered that Thomas pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Bethel last season. Has "Fanny" lost his "stuff" or was this an off day? The team plays Bethel in Russellville on the 16th of April and if there is anything to Thomas he will prove it then.

The S.P.U. team needs coaching and lots of it, from the catcher to the center-fielder; and in the terms of one of the players, "The coach should give every man on the team a rule-book and a tennis racket."

Nelson was the only man on the team who did not make an error, and as he didn't have a chance we can't say anything about him. McClanahan at center-field and Patton at second-base were the distinct stars for Southwestern. Both far out-classed their teammates and showed both speed in their fielding and ability to get on base.

The Bethel team is a well built organization, has a strong pitching staff, an air-tight infield, and a fast fielding out-field. Every man on the team certainly swatted the old horse-hide. Special credit should be given to Underwood, the Bethel pitcher, who laid the game on ice and then retired to center-field to give their second man, Lasley, a semi-pro, formerly of Kentucky State, a chance. Lasley pitched two innings and showed very good form after hitting his stride, retiring three men in succession in the ninth inning.

Following is the box score:

SOPHOMORES

Class '22 Represented in All Phases of College Activities.

Which is the liveliest class in school? President, professor, senior, junior, freshman or whatever you may be, you can make but one truthful answer to this question: that answer must be, The SOPHOMORES.

Let me tell you a little about us. Our colors are Red and Gray; our motto is, "Not seeming, but being." Who can deny that we do not live up to our motto? Take a look at our officers: Kirby P. Walker, President; Vassar H. Pritchard, Vice-President; Horace Y. Kitchell, Secretary and Treasurer. They are peppy leaders of a peppy bunch.

We are actively interested in everything that goes on around the school. Make whatever tests you may, in every school activity you will find a trace of the Sophomore, and the spirit dominating them. Turn your eyes to the Honor Council, that body which represents the ideals for which Southwestern stands, — Ursula Smith and Harmon Ayers are there. On the Editorial Staff of the Sou'wester, the backbone of the student life, are four Sophomores: Kirby P. Walker, Editor-in-Chief; J. B. Love, Jr., Advertising Manager; Ursula Smith, Society Editor, and H. M. E. Jones, Athletic Editor. Look at the Y.M.C.A. Cabinet: Harmon Ayres as Secretary and Treasurer ably represents us. Shall we look at the Tennis Association? Well, there is Ursula Smith, Secretary and Horace Y. Kitchell, Treasurer. Now turn your eyes to the Athletics, where we are well represented. In the "S" Club there are seven members, H. M. E. Jones, Wm. McClanahan, Horace Y. Kitchell, Harman A. Ayers, Paul V. Draughn, Wm. Downing, and Wm. V. Ruffin. We have two Athletic Managers: Paul V. Draughn, Manager of Basketball team, and Kirby P. Walker, Manager of baseball team. Harmon Ayers was captain of the basketball team, and Wm. McClanahan captain of the baseball team. Look now at the Philosophy Club, here Ursula Smith is Vice-President.

Who originated the information contest? Which was the first class to put out an edition of the Sou'wester. The SOPHOMORES! If you are looking for school spirit, for the bunch which puts things over, for the real live wires, just hunt us up, we are there with the goods.

POPULARITY CONTEST

There Will Be No Landslides

The contest box was opened Saturday evening in the presence of a very few, but before the count was ended there was as much noise and excitement as if there were dozens witnessing this scene. Nearly everyone in the University was voted for one of the honors. Only those over 50 votes are published below.

The contest to date is as follows:

Prettiest Girl—Lillian Wilson, 390; Margaret Trahern, 110; Elizabeth Ellis, 9b.

Handsomest Boy—S. H. Monk, 210; H. A. Ayers, 130; V. M. Pritchard, 70; Carl Huber, 60.

Most Popular Girl—Louisa Rodriguez, 220; Lillian Wilson, 150; Ursula Smith, 140; Margaret Trahern, 110.

Most Popular Boy—H. S. Morrow, 200; Paul V. Draughn, 80; J. B. Love, Jr., 70; W. M. McAtee, 70.

Best Athlete—R. H. Cobb, 290; S. L. Lindamood, 230; P. Moore, 60.

Most Popular Prof.—L. I. MacQueen, 430.

The professor who can sling the "Bull" farthest and make it stick—L. I. MacQueen, 520.

We might say here that J. Milton Williams received 10 votes for being the most Popular Baby in the University. And furthermore R. P. Richardson has received votes for being the Best Athlete in the University.

On page 4 of this issue you will find the vote, clip it and drop it in the Contest Box

School spirit is always manifested in the athletic, intellectual, religious or social life of the institution. However, when we consider the spirit of one of the groups of the college world we must still judge from their actions, for "actions speak louder than words." We all know that a class is made of a peculiar, motley group with as many ideas and aims as there are individuals. It is through the predominance of certain ideas that we see the spirit. Boys and girls yet in college are like a flock of sheep, stubborn, yet ever ready to follow one recognized as a leader. This leader must have initiative, and lead them into paths yet unexplored; he must have individuality and possess qualities whose attainments are envied by others; he must be filled with an overflowing optimism, for we all have times when this is our only salvation; and a keen sense of humor is a necessary asset. The qualities of a leader are also the qualities which the individual followers consider their aim. Such a leader has the Sophomore class chosen, and how lucky they should consider themselves. Although the Sophomores were late in organizing, yet were the first class to do so, they have aroused interest in the entire school life. The motto chosen by the class of '22 is one most appropriate: "Not seeming, but being." This is our aim, and our creed,—to be pure gold, unfurnished by hypocrisy.

You ought to be fine for the sake of the folks

Who think you are fine.
If others have faith in you doubly you're bound

To stick to the line.
It's not only on you that dishonor descends:

You can't hurt yourself without hurting your friends.

You ought to be true for the folks
Who believe you are true.

You never should stoop to a deed that your friends

Think you wouldn't do.
If you're false to yourself, be the blemish but small,

You have injured your friends;
you've been false to them all.

For friendship, my friend, is a bond between man

That is founded on truth:
It believes in the best of the ones that it loves,

Whether old man or youth;
And the stern rule it lays down for me and for you

Is to be what our friends think we are, through and through.

The editor of this issue of the Sou'wester wishes to thank all members of her class who have so eagerly assisted in securing the material for this publication. We may not be acquainted with this verse, yet we have the feeling expressed in actions if not in words:

"Better than fame or applause
Is striving to further a cause!"

PHILOSOPHY CLUB

McCutchen Delivers Very Interesting Paper.

The meeting of the Philosophy Club on March 30 was one of the most interesting and instructive since its organization. But for lack of space the paper by Mr. McCutcheon would be reproduced in whole. The subject was "A Comparative Study of Religion." The similarity and contrast of the two great religions Mohammedanism and Christianity was thoroughly traced. The Christian ethics is based on the Mosaic code, which Mohammedanism had its origin in India. The two parent religions came down the paths of history side by side in many respects; the idea of one God; the same blunting of barbarian ideas; the difference in the ethics of the nation and private ethics; homicide, any violence, dishonesty, and sexual impurity were repudiated. Mohammed, born 600 years after Christ, accepted the idea of angels, the creation, the prophets, and even admits the divinity of the birth of Christ, but holds that Christ is only an apostle and a prophet, second only to Mohammed himself. They have an idea of the resurrection and of purgatory somewhat similar to that of the Catholics. A comparison was drawn between the two religions as to the special blessedness of the poor, the civil laws, the place of woman, marriage and divorce laws, children, and means of converting others. The differences between the types of the present day Christianity and the teachings of Christ and between the ethics of the modern Moslem world and the teachings of Mohammed were discussed. These are the two religions striving for world supremacy, one is bound to overthrow the other. It is only a matter of conjecture as to which will succeed.

After the paper was read, a very lively discussion was engaged in. This brought out the view that the fundamental principles of all great religions are similar. Included in these religions are: Christianity, Mohammedanism, Buddahism and Confusaiism. The principles are: a religion for all, universal; a divine being, as upholder of righteousness and for benefit of all; some idea of universal brotherhood; some idea of immortality, as a reward for righteousness. The differences are only the minor, petty things and theological creeds.

LITTLE THEATER TO HAVE NEW HOME

Work on Castle Noted With Pleasure.

With the beginning of the work on the Castle, in repairing the damage wrought by the recent fire, the work in the Mathematic room is particularly noted with pleasure.

This evidently means that the hoped for plan, as outlined briefly some weeks ago in THE SOU'WESTER of changing the Little Theater from its original home, to the much more suitable location upstairs, is now materializing; and that in the course of the next few weeks The Pals can announce a definite date for the future presentation of their plays. All eyes are on the progress of the Little Theater, in particular, and it is hoped that The Pals will have a new home in a short while.

The Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity room is being speedily repaired, and with the attractive new wall paper and other decorations, the chapter will soon be situated in their old home, artistically finished in a most tasteful way.

Rev. Clotfelter Delivers Short Address to Student Body.

Rev. J. C. Clotfelter and alumnus of this institution honored us with a very interesting talk on April 2nd, choosing his subject from the 13th verse of the fourth chapter of Hebrews: "But all things are naked and opened unto the eyes of Him with whom we have to do."

It is indeed a privilege for me to have the pleasure of coming before you in this, your day of Golden Opportunities. I cannot help but think that I look into the faces of future great men. I see governors, lawyers, and leading business men.

In my estimation you all have a two-fold privilege. In attaining an education you can spend sufficient time in grinding your axes. You can do greater and more efficient work if your axes are well ground. In saying this let me explain that by grinding your axes I mean to aiming your minds. An education means both accurateness and alertness of the mind.

The modern line of thought among the young men of today is, "Why should I get an education? It's the laboring man of today who is receiving the wage. Time lost cannot be regained, why spend time on an education?"

It is the after effects of this great world struggle which have brought about these economic changes. The aftermath of the world war cannot last forever. We are Americans and the American psychology is to forget quickly and to start anew.

The most effective gun that the Hun pointed at civilization was the open school door in Germany.

This old world is going to move just as Old Glory moves. Old Glory is going to move just as the church moves. The church is going to move just as our young people are brought up and educated along Christian lines. Oh! let us have Christian education.

Mississippi River Power Company, Keokuk, Iowa

A casting for one of the huge water-wheel driven generators installed in the Mississippi River Power Company's plant at Keokuk. This installation will ultimately consist of thirty of these machines, giving a total capacity of 216,000 kilowatts (300,000 horse-power). It is the largest hydro-electric development in the world. The General Electric Company builds generator for water-wheel drive in sizes ranging from 37½ to 32,500 kilowatts and the aggregate capacity of G-E units now in successful operation is in excess of four million horse-power.

Utilizing Nature's Power

ELECTRICAL energy generated by water power has grown to be one of our greatest natural resources — and we have only begun to reach its possibilities. It mines and refines our ores, turns the wheels of industry, drives our street cars and lights our cities and towns. The power obtained from Nature saves many million tons of coal every year.

At first the field of its utilization was limited by the distance electricity could be transported. But soon research and engineering skill pointed the way to larger and better electrical apparatus necessary for high-voltage transmission. Then ingenious devices were invented to insure protection against lightning, short-circuits, etc., which cause damage and interrupt the service. And now all over the country a network of wires begins to appear, carrying the magic power.

The General Electric Company, with its many years' experience, has played a great part in hydro-electric development. By successfully co-ordinating the inventive genius of the company and its engineering and manufacturing abilities, it has accomplished some of the greatest achievements in the production and application of electrical energy.

The old mill wheel of yesterday has gone. Today the forces of immense volumes of water are harnessed and sent miles away to supply the needs of industry and business and the comforts of the home.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING

Sunday Afternoon Y. M. C. A. Service Enjoyed.

Mr. R. P. Richardson, religious director, made a very interesting talk from the fortieth verse of the sixth chapter of Luke: "The disciple is not above his master but everyone that is perfected shall be as his master."

He chose from this, "Christ as a model." Christ lived a perfect life; is it not most fitting that we should choose a perfect man for a model? How did Christ come upon the earth? He came as a babe in a manger, the mere fact of his appearance on the earth proves that we in using Christ as a model, are not attempting anything impossible.

Christ was the teacher of his disciples. Jesus taught them how to carry on the work after his death. It is an absolute necessity for instructors to be men of character. The instructor curbs, or shapes the character of his students.

We all have a tendency to imitate. Jesus Christ then is perfectly suiting to be our model.

Mr. Richardson in his talk brought out three of Christ's characteristics: (1) His utter devotion to his work; (2) His deep concern for the salvation of the world was saving souls; (3) His unquestioning submission to the will of God.

Then in using Christ as a model we should first think more of Christ and things in our own lives that are not Christ-like.

APRIL FOOLERS FOOLED

John Henry "Duz" 'em Up Brown.

On being interviewed by the Sou'wester reporter, John Henry, (the janitor) submitted the following facts for the edification of the patrons of the Sou'wester. Note this report was much sought after by the Leaf-Chronicle and other leading publications of the state but was saved for the exclusive use of the Sou'wester by heavy bribes.

When the aforementioned gentlemen, Mr. John Henry arrived as usual at five o'clock he seems to have had a slight amount of trouble in getting into the Administration building, to clean up the chapel. All doors were locked, nailed or otherwise secured so that he couldn't get in.

Reverting to the strategy which he "raised" during his seventeen years experience as janitor, John climbed a ladder to one of the upper windows and breaking the lock, finally made his way into the interior only to find that the clock had been removed from the library and hoisted to a high perch in the front corridor, the chapel door nailed, the bell rope cut and the mail box over-turned. By very industrious application John removed all these evidences of Hayseed wit and journeyed forth to inspect the Castle. Yellow paint was very much in evidence everywhere. Such labels as "Bobby Beale," "Roberta—the rival of Solomon," "Ole Hoss" Chrysler, "A Bad Deal," "Mac and Meechy," all garishly illustrated, were found on all the profs doors on the first and second floors. On the various frat room doors were "daffynishuns" of the symbolic Greek words, i.e., A.nybody T.ried O.nce—S.imple A.nd Egostitical—P.unk K.iddish A.pes and K.rap S.hooters. John Henry flatly refused to wash off these "yellow streaks" but did finally consent to crawl through a window and extract the nails from the door of the Chemistry Room so that class could be held.

While John Henry was busy at the Castle building, someone, origin unknown, filled up the chapel piano with prayer books, tied tennis shoes to the Bible stand; carried out the faculty chairs, so that our faithful few were forced to sit on one of the benches. An attempt was made to swipe Frenchy's prayer book but it proved to be a "lost cause" and chapel rolled merrily along while the accompaniment to the perennial faculty solo was disjointedly played on the aforementioned piano, after Dr. Beale had removed seven consecutive song books, one bass violin, and one xylophone from the inside of the musical instrument. If the Sou'wester had been running a contest to decide who is the most popular singer on the faculty there is no doubt but what that on this fair morning, it could have decided beyond the least doubt that Professors Clyde Pharr and Louis Townsend, M.D., are the leading lights on the faculty Glee Club, which, it is reported will serenade the Girl's Dormitory at an early date.

John Henry and the rest of the faculty have been at a loss as to how the student, students or otherwise invaded the sacred domains of the library, etc. John Henry says that its evident that somebody must have a key to the library door. WHO IS IT?
—A Sophomore.

Wanted—A pitcher.

Plan Campaign to Land University In Memphis.

Dr. Diehl Makes Address to the Committees.

Tentative plans to raise the half a million dollars necessary to bring the Southwestern Presbyterian University to Memphis from Clarksville, where it is now located, were formulated at a meeting of the committee in charge of the matter, held at the Chamber of Commerce Building recently.

No active "drive" is contemplated at present because of the approach of the summer season, the between cotton seasons and because of the fact that so many Memphians active in municipal affairs soon will be leaving the city for vacations.

Committees on finance, site and publicity were directed to begin their work at once and an active campaign to raise funds probably will begin early in October. In the meantime individual members of the committee will meet with prominent men of Memphis and discuss donations to the fund. Any one wishing to assist in the work is at liberty to turn contributions over to L. C. Humes of the Guaranty Bank & Trust Company, secretary and treasurer of the committee.

DR. DIEHL EXPLAINS

Because of the misunderstanding of some of the committee members and the public in general as to the real purpose of the school and the work it is to conduct in Memphis, Dr. Charles Diehl, president of the university and recently elected president of the Tennessee College Association, has issued a statement covering the distinction between a college and a university and giving details of the work the school will accomplish in Memphis.

Dr. Diehl states that a college is an institution that fosters ideals, that stands for a liberal education for trained minds, that makes men the leaders of men, placing its emphasis on character and service.

A university, he declares, is an institution which takes the product of the college and trains him technically and vocationally.

"The college is the incomparable need of the community," he continues.

"After the college has performed its function and the student goes forth a man of training and ideals, a man of character, filled with the spirit of service, he may be trusted anywhere.

"The paramount need of any community is trained personalities of the highest character and fitted for the largest service. Horace Bushnell well said 'the wealth of a nation is in the breasts of her sons.' The college turns out men and women who are heroic and holy, generous and good; men and women who are trained, equipped, fearless, faithful, aspiring, self-reliant, true to their conscience and their God.

"It is such a college that we have at Clarksville, an institution with a heritage and with years of unparalleled success in training leaders of men. It is an institution owned by the Southern Presbyterian Church, but it is not narrow or sectarian. Young men and women from every denomination are welcomed, and there are more students of other denominations among the student body than there are Presbyterians. We have among our students members of the Catholic Church and of the Jewish race.

NOT A SEMINARY

"We are not a theological seminary, indoctrinating men in specific denominational tents. But we do stand broad and earnestly for the principles and teachings of our Lord Jesus Christ, and, what is more, we try to live them. We are second to none in our standards of scholarship, but we place character in the forefront. We believe that any education that is not Christian in principle is false and subversive of the highest in man.

"This college in Memphis would exercise a tremendous influence on the entire community. Its location here would be of immeasurable advantage. It would be of great financial benefit. If Memphis gave $500,000, or even $1,000,000, for its establishment the city would get all of that back at once and far more. All that money and more would be spent here, and each year hundreds of thousands of dollars would be spent by the faculty and students. Then there would be the feeling of proper pride in the heart of every Memphian. He could lift up his head educationally. No longer could Memphis be pointed to as the one city of its size in the

AID TO YOUTH

"More also of the young men and women of this community would be able to secure a college education. It is a matter of record that, as a rule, students do not go far away from home for their education. Seventy-five per cent of the young people in the colleges over the country come within a radius of 50 miles from the college. East Tennessee is crowded with colleges. Middle Tennessee is amply supplied. West Tennessee has only Union University at Jackson. That is why it is that West Tennessee this year has only one-half as many young men and women in college as either East Tennessee or Middle Tennessee.

Then there are the cultural advantages which would obtain, the exaltation of ideals, the emphasis on the unpurchasables. Slowly, subtly, silently, there would be felt a refining influence in the community, such as is felt in a small company by the presence of a dignified, cultured woman. Atmosphere is an intangible thing, but it is real, and a college creates this intangible thing. It is said by some that Memphis is commercial, that she does not care for the cultural, that the material is crushing out the finer things. If there is a tendency of that kind, the presence of a first-class college will help Memphis save her soul. The college would be ever bearing witness to the highest ethics commercially, professionally, politically, socially, industrially.

OUTLET FOR GENEROSITY

Further, its presence here would afford an outlet for the generosity of well-to-do citizens, giving them an opportunity to invest money in a way that would help without hurting humanity. So often our charities, our bequests, our well-meant kindnesses injure those we desire to aid, and our investment proves a failure.

There is no investment that brings such large returns as an investment in life values. There is no investment that is so satisfactory, so far-reaching, so permanent as that which is made in a first-class college, such as this is, which is charged not only with the intellectual but with the moral development of leaders of men for generations to come.

Can Memphis raise $500,000 for this purpose? Why, certainly she can raise all that and much more, and I think she will. Evansville, Ind., is only about one-third the size of Memphis, and she made a similar proposition to a Methodist college in that state. This college was not a standard first-class college, as Southwestern Presbyterian Union is, but only a junior college. Evansville said we will raise $500,000 for you if you come here with an additional $1,000,000, and they did it. If Evansville, with one-third the people, can put it across for a junior college, what can Memphis do for a standard college?

There are doubtless many people in Memphis who will desire to establish memorials for loved ones, and there are all sorts of opportunities in connection with this college for honoring and memorializing a loved and honored name.—Commercial Appeal.
