BASEBALL

Howard College 0, S. P. U. 2;
Howard College, 9, S.
P. U. 0.

One of the best games of the season was the first of a two game series played with Howard College. The varsity took the first game with little effort, but were unable to hit King in the second and were easy for the visitors.

The first game was a treat to the baseball fans of Clarksville. Stringer for Southwestern held the visitors to four scattered hits, that netted no score. Head for the visitors allowed only two hits, but they were hits when needed, and two men made home. The stellar support given Stringer by both the infield and outfield out-classed that of the visitors. The Howardites played good ball, but the errors made by their infield were costly. The features of the first game were the pitching of Stringer for Southwestern, and the fielding of Walker for Howard.

The second game was a one sided victory for the Howard bunch. The varsity was unable to hit King while the visitors succeeded in getting eight hits off Cole, four of which were made in one inning. Until the eighth inning there was a chance for the Red and Black, as the visitors had only two scores. In the eighth Howard bunched a few hits, and ran the score up. Had the work of the varsity infield been as it was in the first game a more even score would have resulted. The ten errors made by the home boys were costly, and were not in accord with their usual playing. The features of the game were the remarkable work of Wilson in the left field, and the hitting of Lynn for Southwestern, and the pitching of King and work of Acton and Walker for Howard.

BASEBALL

S. P. U. 6, M. T. N. 0; S. P. U. 1,
M. T. N. 1.

On May 14 S. P. U. played Middle Tennessee Normal from Murfreesborough, Tenn. For three innings neither team had scored, but in the fourth S. P. U. scored three runs, and again in the fifth scored three more, cinching the game for Thomas. Thomas pitched a good game for S. P. U. never having to extend himself the entire game. The hitting of Thomas, Hanner, Wilson, and Love featured.

In the second game the varsity played nine innings with Mt. N. with the score tied 1-1. The game was called account of the visitors leaving on an early evening train. Stringer for Southwestern pitched a very creditable game. There is no doubt in the mind of the spectators but that he would have had a victory had the visitors been able to play extra innings. Strange as it may seem the visitors even hoped to win from the Red and Black and were at times in hot dispute with the umpires.

Dillon for the visitors pitched a stellar game giving us only four hits. The M. T. N. team as a whole played a fast game and are worthy opponents. We are in hopes that Stringer and Dillon may again tie up on Shearer Field and complete their pitching duel. Stringer for SOUTHWESTERN starred in his hitting and his pitching. Dillon for M. T. N. in the same.

Accredited Higher Institutions in the U. S. Universities and Colleges With Authority of Law to Bear Such Names.

"Certain institutions with full authority of law bear the name 'college' or 'university' which are not equipped either with professors or material to offer instruction of the grade commonly recognized as collegiate.

The institutions named below are those accredited by agencies such as "The Association of American Universities, and The Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States."

In order to let the students know the position of SOUTHWESTERN as compared with other McAtee, rf ... 4 0 0 0 0 0 schools in the neighboring states the following is given:

Accredited higher institutions in:

Alabama—University of Alabama.

Georgia—Agnes Scott College, Emory University, Mercer University, University of Georgia, Wesleyan College.

Kentucky—Central University of Kentucky, Georgetown College, Transylvania College, University of Louisville, University of Kentucky.

Louisiana—Louisiana State University; Tulane University of Louisiana.

Mississippi—Millsaps College, University of Mississippi.

Tennessee—George Peabody College, Maryville College. SOUTHWESTERN PRESBYTERIAN UNIVERSITY, University of Chattanooga, University of Tennessee, University of the South (Sewanee), Vanderbilt University.

You might note that Arkansas has no accredited institution. Not even the state university.

Now when anyone want to know about S. P. U. in comparison to other institutions, just sight them to this and see if they are on the list.

The above does not include all states with A. H. I.'s.

SEASON CONTINUES.

Monday night (and Tuesday morning) will be long remembered by a happy group of boys and girls who were the participants in a hay-ride and supper—and who had many exciting experiences.

It was destined to be one of ill-luck, but like Pollyanna we made the best of our misfortunes and thoroughly took advantage of the time that fortune smiled upon us. However, there were some who took more than the necessary advantage of moonlight from 1:30 to 3—Tuesday morning.

Oh, of course, as all inspired people begin at the end, so has the writer of this article done; but to make amends for these errors the story will be told in a most coherent, unified, chronological order, with due emphasis where emphasis is due.

To be correct a jolly party of 19 'S.P.U.' students and friends assembled at the home of Dr. Scott C. Lyon. Here a big truck bedded with hay awaited them, and at 6:30 the bunch, presumably, bade farewell to the city. Out Second street they whizzed, to be stopped suddenly by the report of a blow-out. One and one-half hours were spent awaiting repairs. At last they rolled forth again,—not a moon in sight, but not disheartened, on they sped into unoknwn distance. After a jolly ride, without the least mishap, they were told to abandon the truck at Ringold Bridge, and they were led to happy "Eating Ground" by the side of the roaring mill stream and fascinating dam.

Under the supervision of "Porky" Grizzard of football fame, and who on this occasion proved his worth as a woodsman, two large fires were built, one for cooking, the other for light. Soon couple after couple were lost in the darkness which enveloped the rocky cliffs and the inviting dam. About 9 o'clock the aroma of fried eggs and crisp bacon enticed the wanderers back to the camp. A most delightful feast was enjoyed of bacon and egg sandwiches, hot coffee, and many other kinds of sandwiches. Everyone ate to his limit, and of course, this necessitated a long walk with only one companion and perhaps a flash light. The writer does not comprehend the use made of these, but from interviews with those who used them frequently, this one learns that they are used to spy upon other couples, or the much more frequent use to blind those who wish to spy. We shall let each person use them to his best advantage. One was hardly able to walk far, or use the flashlight in search of "snakes" without running upon some couple sitting in the shadows of a large rock or tree gazing longingly into the eyes of some fair lady while seated upon the dam. At 10 o'clock the happy merry-makers assembled for the trip homeward. The journey was continued out the Dover road to Miss Carolands home. Joyously the return journey was begun by the happy group. Those, so inspired, that they considered themselves regular "night-in-gales" burst into song and as the car hummed over the smooth pike everyone expressed his appreciation and enjoyment of this grand and glorious trip. A stop was made at a lovely well by the road side, and the parched throats of singers were relieved. On the

Pull.

When a man who says "have saw"
And who writes that "I onct seen,"
Gets to be the high and might
On a college magazine.
That's pull.

When a guy who don't know "A"
From the old proverbial "Izzard,"
Makes the mark on all his classes,
Same as if he were a wizzard,
That's pull.

When a man who can't tell "do"
From its sister note called "re,"
Gets to blow the might fog-horn
In the orchestra,—I'll say
That's pull.

Now the way to get that pull, Bo,
Is what worries Uncle Ed.
But a boot-black sure should have
it,
Judging from what I've heard

truck buzzed, gaining more and more speed, before it stretched a long white pike, the stars sparkled in the sky. Bang! Another blow-out! Here was a party at midnight eight miles from town with a blow-out, but no extra tire. Energetically the boys went to work, and after worrying over a broken pump, a blow-out which failed to be patched, and another similar misfortune, the tire was placed upon the wheel and "all's well" was announced. Couples began straggling in from walks up and down the pike, for the long looked for moon had risen and why should a fellow worry when another is at work for him? All clambered upon the truck, some half-asleep, and the last lap of the journey began. Regardless of the late hour and the misfortunes the crowd was as jolly and happy as before. The rest of the way was made without a single mishap and the bunch declared, in spite of all misfortunes, the evening, and morning had been unexpressably enjoyed. Those in the party were: Mrs. S. C. Lyon, Mrs. Beebe, Eleanor Caroland, Louisa Rodriguez, Angie Orgain, Margaret Catlett, Lillian Wilson, Priscilla Duer, Agnes Smith, Ursula Smith, Regen West J. Lindamood, L. Lindamood, Grizzard, McAtee, McCutchen, Adger and Draughn.

Dr. Scott C. Lyons made a very interesting address before the Y.

did not have such a large crowd

change this next Sunday?

Dr. Lyons, said: "The simple
act and words of everyday life
largely determine our influence.
We judge people by their actions and these actions determine the nature of their influence on their surroundings."

"We should take advantage of
our opportunities here to accumulate wisdom that we may exert our influence for the better.
In order that our influence may be
for the best we should abhor that which is evil and cleave to that which is good."
