Model AUC Convention Opens Four Meets To Public Today

Panel Discussion In Hardie Auditorium
To Be Held By National Leaders

The Student Model Atlantic Union Convention will convene at two separate meetings today all of which are open to the public. The plenary session, which will examine and discuss the reports of the three committees, will meet from 11:15 a.m. until 12:00 noon, and again from 1:30 until 2:45 p.m., and will conclude its discussion at a third session which will begin at 7:00 p.m. All three meetings will be in Hardie Auditorium.

A panel discussion open to the public will be held in Hardie Auditorium from 3:00 until 5:00 p.m. this afternoon. Members of the panel will include Col. E. W. Palmer, vice-president of the National Association of Manufacturers; Mr. Robert Bishop, attorney from Orlando, Florida; and Mr. H. A. Van Nierop, chairman of the board of directors of the Amsterdamsche Bank of New York. One other panel member has not yet been announced. Mr. Pierre Streit will be moderator at this discussion.

A Southwestern graduate, Mr. Irving Anderson, will act as parliamentarian of the conference. Mr. Anderson is currently working for the International Center branch in Memphis.

Southwestern delegates to the convention are Bill Rawlins, president of TKA, Ray Bryant, Ham Smythe, Helen Swartzfager, Ed Hamlet, and Connie Austin. These delegates were selected by the Student Council from a list of people recommended by the heads of the political science and economics departments of Southwestern.

All delegates registered yesterday afternoon in the cloister of Palmer Hall, after which a reception was given for them in the Chi Omega lodge. The first plenary session convened last night to discuss the agenda for the weekend. Later a seminar discussion on free enterprise was lead by Mr. Imrie de Vegh.

Freeman And Walker To Attend Conference

Frances Freeman and Ann Taylor Walker will attend the regional conference of the YWCA in Nashville this week-end, November 2-3. The conference is to make plans for the program of the regional YWCA for the coming year.

Good Humor And Fine Acting Mark "George And Margaret"

By Pat Riegle

A combination of a good cast and enjoyable comedy made the play, George and Margaret, a hit from all sides. As a season opener the play did its job admirably well. It was a delightfully light piece of English humor but not the type of show that we feel the average college group should make a steady diet.

Jackie Roland as Mother Alice once again proved herself an actress by portrayal of a congenial fussbudget who is guided by social standards. As Father Malcolm, David Morelock made absent-mindedness seem a bit sublime. Mary Ellen Chambliss did a nice job as Frankie, who suffered from vestal restlessness.

Jimmy Crow's debut as Claude was very successful. Claude was just enough of a stuffed shirt to be rather unbearable; yet the way he realized the feelings of the others about him was to an extent pitiable.

Fred Link and Betty Garrett, we hope, will see fit to continue their stage appearances for both showed themselves to be very welcome newcomers to our "footlights." An oldtimer who was most amusing as "Beer" the new maid, was Juliette Reid.

Congratulations to Professor Ray Hill for directing a swell play.

Football Plans Made For Next Fall Term

Alumni Plan Dance, Reunion Next Week

The Southwestern Alumni will convene next Saturday, November 10, for a fall celebration which will replace the traditional gathering at Homecoming. A dinner-dance at the University Club will highlight the occasion.

Dinner will be served at the University Club at 6:30 p.m. Dr. Robert P. Richardson will speak on the progress and development of Southwestern.

Dancing will last from 9:00 to 12:00. Bill Justice, Southwestern alumnus, and his orchestra will furnish the music. Dress for the evening will be semi-formal, and tickets for the entire evening will be $2.50 a person. The Alumni Office stresses the importance of making reservations in advance.

Debate Practice Begun By Tau Kappa Alpha

The first practice debate sponsored by Tau Kappa Alpha this year was held in the speech building last Tuesday, October 30. Another debate will be held November 3 at 4:00 p.m. in the speech building.

National topic for debates this year is "Resolved that federal government should adopt a permanent wage and price control." Taking the affirmative last Tuesday were Bill Hughes and Jim Bernard. Holly Mitchel and Louis Wener argued the negative side.

These practice debates will help select the people who will attend the TKA meets during the school year.

Few Pictures Made For Annual So Far

Picture-taking for the annual has been slow and irregular during the first part of the week. Today is the last regular day to have individual pictures made for the class sections.

Only eighty-five photographs were made during the first three days that were scheduled for them. Total number of pictures expected to be made during the week is four hundred.

Proofs of the pictures taken this week will be brought back on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week. Retakes will be made Thursday and Friday, and pictures of stragglers who did not get down to the basement of Palmer this week will be taken then also.

Friday, November 9, is the last day the photographer will be on campus. All pictures made after then must be made at the Lewin-Miller Studios. Mr. Miller is making the annual pictures.

Mental Hygiene Project Started Psychology Club To Help Collect Data

A new Psychology Club project has been announced by Dr. E. L. Queener, faculty advisor of the Psychology Club.

The club will work in conjunction with Memphis-Shelby County Mental Hygiene Society to determine just what facilities and services in the field of mental health are offered in this county. The project seeks, specifically, to make available information on facilities for negroes, on counseling on religious and marriage problems, on vocational guidance, on assistance for alcoholics and drug addicts, and on many other related topics.

Psychology Club members and other students who are interested in the project will interview officials and representatives of social agencies in the city and county to find out exactly what services each agency offers. Some of these service agencies are Alcoholics Anonymous, the Boy Scouts, Gailor Psychiatric Hospital, and the Crippled Children's Hospital. Anyone who would like to become a volunteer interviewer should see Dr. Queener.

The object of this project is to collect data suitable for publication. The information will be distributed, possibly in booklet form, to teachers, ministers, and others who regularly come into contact with problems of mental hygiene.

Dr. Queener's new book, An Introduction to Social Psychology, has been published by William Sloan Associates of New York. A copy has been received by the library.

Oedipus Rex Cast Is Selected By Players

The main cast of Oedipus Rex has been selected for the Players' production on December 6-7. Professor Raymond Hill will play Oedipus the king, Jennie Lee Davis, Jocaster, Frank Montesi, Creon, and Kirk Osionack, Tiresias.

The minor cast and chorus will be selected within the next few days. Anyone who wishes to try out for the play should contact Professor Hill.

The Southwestern Players sponsored a talk by Morgan Hudgins, public relations man of MGM, last Monday, October 29. Mr. Morgan showed slides of Italy and of the filming of Quo Vadis in that country. He accompanied the filming crew to Italy as public relations officer for the filming of this classic picture.

Competition To Be Reinstated

STUDENTS DECIDE

Faculty And Executive Committees Give OK

Intercollegiate football competition at Southwestern may be resumed in the fall of 1952. This announcement was made yesterday by Dr. Peyton N. Rhodes, president of the college.

The Faculty Committee on Physical Education and Athletics in an official meeting on October 5, 1951, unanimously recommended that intercollegiate football at the college be resumed in the fall of 1952.

This action was taken in light of the increased interest at the college in intercollegiate football. During the summer, interested and loyal alumni discussed this subject with President Rhodes. When the college opened in September, many in the student body urged that football be resumed.

On October 25, 1951, the Executive Committee of Southwestern's Board of Directors concurred in the recommendation of the Faculty Committee to resume football in 1952. The Executive Committee gave its endorsement subject to the enthusiastic support of the student body. It was pointed out that football could not be resumed successfully without the wholehearted support of the student body.

The third step in the resumption of intercollegiate football at Southwestern was taken on October 31, 1951. At that time President Rhodes presented the recommendation of the Faculty Committee and the conditional approval of the Executive Committee to Mr. Lindsay Stephenson, president of the student body, and to the Council of the Student Body at Southwestern.

The Student Council heartily supported the proposal and submitted it to the student body with its recommendation for approval at the student assembly, Thursday, November 1.

Ballots were distributed to the students before the assembly began. Each person is expected to express his opinion about varsity football and place his ballot in the chapel-card boxes stationed outside Hardie Auditorium.

It must be clearly understood by all at Southwestern that the football program, if resumed, will be carried out in line with the college's policy for all athletics. It will be completely amateur — not commercialized, not subsidized, not big-time football.

Action on this recommendation depends entirely on student opinion as expressed in the balloting. The matter will not be carried further unless a favorable response is given by a large percentage of the students.

Deadheads

Deadheads in campus organizations have already begun to rag club activities to a sluggish, half-functioning level.

If these organizations are to be more than names in the annual and large membership lists, the deadheads must be gotten rid of or put to work. Strict entrance requirements and continued activity should be imposed on people who join these clubs.

The student body should keep a critical eye on honor fraternities, the student council, and other more or less public organizations and apply the hot iron liberally when they begin to show signs of ossification.

In opening their membership only to those who speaks French, the French Club has demonstrated the first step in eliminating deadheads. Other clubs should follow their example.

Awful - Awful

The student council has suggested two ideas for next year's council as a result of students' fighting at the burning of the bonfire last Friday night. This year's Council refused to take any action on the grounds that hazing was over and no longer concerned them.

Suggested measures are (1) that the Commissioner of Undergraduate Women, the President of the "S" Club, and the Vice-President of the student body meet next spring to make definite plans for freshman hazing during the coming fall and (2) that the bonfire for Homecoming celebration be built on Friday afternoon to be burned Friday night, one night before the football game.

Immediate cause of these suggestions was the row between the freshmen and the "S" Club members which started when the "S" Club set fire to the material which the freshmen had gathered for the Saturday night bonfire. The premature burning of the bonfire has become a tradition at Southwestern which the freshmen constantly endeavor to break. Several students received minor cuts, bruises, and burns in the scuffling which accompanied the burning this year.

The Sou'wester hopes that these student council suggestions will prevent this awful, awful situation from repeating itself NEXT year.

Crescendo and Diminuendo

The Philharmonic Piano Quartet will present a concert of special interest to music lovers next Sunday afternoon, November 4, at 3:00 p.m. This is the first in a series of afternoon concerts to be presented by the Memphis and Mid-south Scholarship Association. This season, for the first time, the series will be presented at Ellis Auditorium and will include artists other than pianists. Ada Kopetz, Bertha Melnik, John Scales, and Max Walner make up the group.

The Southwestern Chamber Music society will give a recital at the College of Music at 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, November 7. Faculty members participating are Donald Warmack, violin; Ruth Wood Tuthill, viola; Phyllis Thornburg, cello; Virginia Myers, piano; and Dr. Burnett C. Tuthill, clarinet. There is no admission charge for this series.

"Peter Pan", starring Veronica Lake and Lawrence Tibbett, was presented for three performances at Ellis Auditorium on October 30-31. Music and lyrics are by Leonard Bernstein, brilliant young director of the Israel Philharmonic.

The artists series sponsored by the Memphis Beethoven Club opened with concert by Guiseppi de Stephano, Metropolitan tenor, at the Auditorium on Thursday evening, Nov. 1. De Stephano a 28 year old Italian, is making his fourth concert tour.

A joint organ-piano recital was presented by Adolph Steuterman, organist, and Myron Myers, pianist, at Calvary Episcopal Church last Sunday afternoon. Especially enjoyable was the excellent repeat performance of the "Classic Concerto" by Sowerby.

International House

By Hsioh-Chien Li

There are so many experiences in the New World that I could not tell them specifically. Only some adjectives, each of them in the superlative degree of comparison, could express my impression of America. Namely, they are . . . biggest, newest, greatest . . . and so on.

My first sight of America was New York, where the high buildings seem to climb up to heaven. The American term "sky-scrapers" fits them so exactly.

It was so exciting to see television when I got to America. I realize that it is the newest form of entertainment in the world, and only the Americans are lucky enough to have it on a nation-wide scale.

While I was passing through the various towns and cities, I realized that the only difference between them was size, for their inhabitants have just about the same outlook. They speak the same language and have the same customs, even though they are many miles apart. However, this is not the case in Asia. Sometimes you can travel only a few hundred miles there and find such marked differences in customs and speech that it is hard to realize that they are all of the same race. These differences are due to the communities growing up in isolation, owing to the difficulties of communication.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor:

The one and only reason for intramural athletics is to give the chance of competition to those men unable to compete in varsity sports. Though rivalry is necessary, the main emphasis should be placed on participation and added athletic activity for those unsuited for intercollegiate competition.

Anytime a varsity man or a potential varsity man competes in intramurals he is depriving another of his chance at competition.

The bigger the varsity program, the better your intramurals become because then the participation is from those men for whom the intramural program is designed.

For better athletics at Southwestern we need more men willing to give a year of working and learning a sport in which they have potentialities. The "B teamers" and "scrubs" of one year are the "first-stringers" of the following years. Southwestern athletes seem to have lost sight of this fact. If they cannot become stars immediately, they switch to intramurals, and play the role of the "big duck in the little pond," thereby causing confusion in both sports programs.

Ethelburt Rings The Bell, Confesses Her Infamous Crimes

By Ann Gill

You've been noticing my mischief for a long time now, and I think it's time I introduced myself—I'm Ethelburt, the elf, and I do it all and I'm glad.

Now you know, people have been wondering what made the college bells ring at the wrong times for just ages, but nobody ever thought it was anything but the fault of the clock. Well now they can know the whole truth—it was I, little, mean, ugly, scrunched-up Ethelburt the Elf, who climbed the tower and rang them whenever I felt like it.

Sometimes, I confess, I did it with a half-way decent motive, though I hate to admit it. When I was slinking through the halls, smirking with my sinister grin, I sometimes have noticed how some folks were praying for the bell to ring, while others wanted more time to finish a test.

Well, I figured I'd ring the bell to help the bored ones and at the same time, I could get my usual, wicked, sadistic pleasure from cutting short the time of those taking the tests. You will please excuse me if I have been too nice by considering the bored students.

Ringling bells at the wrong times is not my only vice, but I do not wish to disclose all my evil ways at this time since I might be thwarted in some of my ghastly plans for Southwestern's future.

I'd better run now—I have to see about stealing a professor's papers—you'll be hearing from me again—heh! heh!

Chapel Chimes

The past two years two students at Southwestern have received scholarships to study religious leadership at the American Youth Foundation. These scholarships have been made available by Mr. William Danforth who has written a book for college students entitled "I Dare You." The following is taken from his book:

H. G. Wells tells how every human being can determine whether he has really succeeded in life. He says: "Wealth, notoriety, place, and power are no measure of success whatever. The only true measure of success is the ratio between what we might have done and what we might have been on the one hand, and the thing we have made and the thing we have made of ourselves on the other."

I want you to start a crusade in your life—to dare to be your best. I maintain that you are a better, more capable person than you have demonstrated so far. The only reason you are not the person you should be is you do not dare to be. Once you dare, once you stop drifting with the crowd and face life courageously, life takes on a new significance. New forces take shape within you. New powers harness themselves for your service.

Who wants to do unimportant and uninteresting things: Who even wants to gratify an ambition that has grown into a passion for fame and fortune? To desire something permanent in life, to develop your gifts to the largest possible use—that is your dare. You have a wealth of possibilities, but maybe up to this time you have lacked a definite aim. You have a gun and plenty of ammunition. Now I dare you to aim at something worthy of the best that is in you.

My practical experience has convinced me that inner growth and broadening personality come from daring and sharing. You dare to use the talents you have. You find yourself growing stronger—physically, mentally, socially and spiritually. You multiply your daring a hundred fold by sharing its fruits. You give your life away and, behold, a richer life comes back to you. This principle works through all of life:

Our most valuable possessions are those which can be shared without lessening; those which, when shared, multiply. Our least valuable possessions are those which when divided are diminished.

Old or young, rich or poor, man or woman, if you are one of those audacious few willing to dare and then to share—then come with me. I promise you adventure. I promise you a more abundant life.

"All who joy would win Must share it. Happiness was born a twin."

The Sport Light

By Don Ramier

Quite a bit of confusion has resulted in the choice of the touch football all-star team. Members of the Intramural Board were reluctant toward permitting referees to select this team because of the scarcity of officials who had called enough games. Another point of argument was the number of players who were to receive the award. Should there be a first and a second team, an offensive and a defensive team, and what number should be presented with gold key-chain trophy, symbolic of an all-star?

So the board proceeded to arrange a new system, giving "Un-biased Bill" Maybry power to select the All-Star team, consisting of a defensive and an offensive platoon. The fraternities and the Independent group will each elect one member from their respective ranks to receive the two awards: "Most Valuable Player" and the coveted key-chain trophy.

This system will assure a top-notch All-Star team, for no one is more qualified to pick the group than Coach Maybry. It will also eliminate confusion and frat-partiality which have become accepted policies in the choice of All-Stars. The most valuable player award will stimulate more participation and a stronger will to play "heads-up" ball in the intramural league.

Speaking of confusion, can you imagine the dilemma that would be caused by a meeting of Maryland and William and Mary on the gridiron? William and Mary has an ace ball carrier who answers to the name of Ed Mioduszewski and Maryland has its Ed Modelewski. Pity the poor radio announcers!

Orchids to the freshman class for their spirit and interest. The "bon-fire incident", scorned by some, praised by others, is a good example of their providing that extra vitality that is necessary on a campus. Bon-fire activities, including attempts to prematurely set it ablaze, are customary parts of home-coming ceremonies at most schools.

The rivalry between the freshmen and upper-classmen reaches a peak at this ceremony and gives both elements a chance to "let off some steam." After that, the regulations are suspended and the campus returns again to normal. Congratulations to our freshmen for playing their part so well.

Social Notes

By Pat Riegler

Sigma Nu has set up an extensive social calendar for the remainder of this semester. Every week from now until Christmas will be an occasion for a party honoring the sorority pledges.

Last Friday night opened the series with a party in honor of the AOPi pledges. Tonight is set aside for the Chi Omega pledges and the rest will follow during the next few weeks. On Nov. 20, the Tri Deltas, on Nov. 30, the Kappa Deltas, and on Dec. 7, the Zeta's will be honored.

On Sunday, November 18, the Sigma Nu's will observe their National Memorial Sunday which is the day set aside in honor of their war dead. At this time the fraternity will attend St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral in a body.

November 17 is the date set for the Sigma Nu formal which will be held this year at the Town House of the Nineteenth Century Club. Ed Francisco is in charge of the arrangements.

Records Collapse In Football Final

Independent-Kappa Sigma Game Brings Two New Tallies

Three Southwestern Intramural Football records were broken in the closing game of the season, and one of the new records can be tied but not beaten.

The new records in comparison with the old are as follows: Most points by one team in one game—60, Ind., 1951 (53, KS, 1949); Most points in one game—73, Ind. vs. KS, 1951 (55, KS vs. PiKA, 1949); Least points against team in season—0, SN, 1951 (6, SAE, 1943).

Sigma Nu outpaced the other teams in the league from the first of the season with a vicious scoring attack and a deepset defense that made long gains next to impossible. They allowed many first downs, but were ready to make an impenetrable goal line stand when the showdown came.

SAE had not fallen as far this year as it seemed at first, for that team continued to improve until the season was over. From a very slow and unpromising start they rose to second place in the league with such spirit that they were one of the hardest hitting teams in the league despite their inferior size.

In the last few tilts of the season's round robin Sigma Nu dealt the expected defeat to KA, winning 26-0; PiKA upset ATO 13-0, the worst defeat that ATO received all year; and in the final game, the Independents racked up their record-setting score of 60-13.

A few individuals did a large part of the scoring in this season's contests. The leader of these was Tommy Crais (SN) with 63 points. Lee Weed and Prentiss Fulton, both of SAE, scored 43 and 27 points respectively. Bill Sullivan (Ind.) chalked up 25 points and Burton Henry, 18. The names grow thicker from there on down the point list.

Volleyball

The 1951 intramural volleyball double elimination tournament begins Monday night. All teams will play then, and those who remain in the tourney will play off on Wednesday and Friday nights. Each team, which will be made up of six men, will have to be defeated twice to be dropped from play.

Chamber Music To Be Played At CM

The first chamber music concert sponsored by the Patrons of Music at Southwestern will be given on Wednesday evening, November 7. The concert, one of a series of four, will be given in Bohlman Hall, 1822 Overton Park Avenue at 8:30 p.m.

Five faculty members of the Memphis College of Music will present the concert: Myron Myers, piano; Donald Warmack, violin; Ruth Wood Tuthill, viola; Phyllis Thornberg, cello; and Burnett Tuthill, clarinet.

Two quartets for strings and piano by Robert Schumann and Antonin Dvorak are the principal works of the program. They will be separated by a classical quartet for clarinet and strings by Karl Stamitz.

The Patrons of Music at Southwestern has been established to support these chamber music concerts and to provide funds in excess of the regular library budget for enlarging the collection of music, books about music, and phonograph records. The Patrons of Music at Southwestern replaces the Southwestern Chamber Music Society in its support of the concert series.

By subscribing amounts of five dollars or more, patrons of music may join this group.

Formosan Has Arrived After Weeks Of Red Tape Delay

Political Science Will Be His Major Study

By Toby Horn

Timothy Liu of Taipeh, Formosa, arrived at Southwestern on Wednesday evening October 31. He will probably be the last foreign student to enroll for the fall session.

Timothy wishes to obtain an AB degree in political science at Southwestern. His college preparatory work was taken in the junior and senior middle schools of Taipeh. He has also completed two years at the Provential Political college, which is a liberal arts junior college in Taipeh. At Southwestern Timothy will have the status of a second semester sophomore.

Timothy's father, principal of the Taipeh Senior Middle Girls School, was interested in sending his son abroad to study and sought advice about American colleges. Dr. James N. Montgomery, father of Bob Montgomery, 1950 Southwestern graduate, recommended Southwestern. Dr. Montgomery is a missionary in Formosa and is acting as sponsor for Timothy's education at Southwestern.

Difficulties involved in getting out of Formosa caused Timothy's late arrival. To reach Southwestern he flew from Formosa through Japan, Korea, Alaska, Seattle, and Chicago.

Dr. R. P. Richardson met the new student at the Memphis Municipal Airport at about 5:00 p.m. Wednesday evening.

Timothy has been assigned room 102 Robb Hall.

Alpha Omicron Pi will celebrate their Founder's Day, November 20, which is also Kappa Omicron chapter's twenty-sixth birthday. There will be a banquet at the Hotel Peabody. On November 11-12,

Helen Bramwell, AOPi district director, will make her annual visit. By the way, the girls think that they will be in their beautiful new house by the end of November or first of December at the latest. Congratulations!

Big Plans are being made for the Kappa Delta All-Sing which will be November 9 in Hardy Auditorium. All the fraternities and sororities are practicing hard, for that cup would look mighty good
