Lynx Defeats Millsaps Five

One Point Win Is First For Varsity

Scoring In Last Quarter Racks Up Twenty-Two Points For Victory

By Jack Worthington

The Lynx Cats squeezed out a 66-65 victory over Millsaps College on Wednesday night in the biggest last-quarter basketball thriller that the Southwestern fans have seen in a long time. Trailing from 4 to 14 points right up to the end of the last period, the Southwestern basketekers entered the last 53 seconds 2 points behind the still-fighting Millsaps five.

John Austin was fouled as he was shooting. The stands intermittantly went crazy and dropped to their knees in silent prayer as both of his free throws swished through the net. The score was tied 65-65.

Johnny Maxwell intercepted under the Millsaps goal, and the Cats sped the ball toward their own. Frank Horton was fouled. He had one shot. In the suspense-filled silence, he dropped the ball neatly into the basket for the winning point. The Millsaps five spent the better part of the remain-

Ministerial Club To Discuss Fraternities

The Ministerial Club will meet Thursday, December 13, at 7:30 p.m. in 100 Palmer Hall to discuss "The Social Fraternity."

The program, postponed from November 15, will be a general survey of the social college fraternity—its assets and its disadvantage. Each fraternity at Southwestern will be represented on a panel discussion led by Ronald Davis.

Timely questions which the panel will study in particular include the following: the extent of the social life of a ministerial student, petty politics on the campus, attitudes in interfraternity competition, the blackball system and prejudices, and the assets of fraternity life in training for the ministry.

Hill's Christmas Play Presented By Players

An opening night party for the Oedipus Rex cast was given yesterday afternoon at the regular player's meeting.

Program of the meeting was a Christmas Mummer's play, written by Professor Ray Hill and produced several times at his alma mater. Cookies, cokes and conversation dominated the refreshment period.

Arabs Studied In Panel Discussion

IRC President Describes Program Of Activities For December

A panel discussion will be presented on the strategic importance of the Arab League states next Wednesday at 7:00 p.m. in room 100 Palmer. Friday, December 14, in assembly the critical situation in Egypt will be discussed by a member of the Commercial Appeal editorial staff.

Two guest speakers have already been presented to the student body this week: Mr. Maudi, a distinguished Arabian who spoke under the auspices of the Memphis Ministerial Association, and Mr. Abe D. Waldauer, who spoke yesterday on the new nation of Israel.

IRC Statement

Jimmy James, president of the IRC, made the following statement about the choice of a subject for this series of talks:

"Lying within the shadow of the Iron Curtain, the Middle East represents today the most desired area in the world, coveted by both the East and the West. Its strategic importance lies in a strangely mingled picture of the ancient and the modern: tremenedons pipe lines now traverse sands that once marked the footsteps of Cyrus the Great, Abraham, Mohammed, and Christ.

"Realizing the critical situation which at present threatens to make this region the first battleground of World War III, the IRC has particularly chosen the Middle East for its December emphasis. During this period they will attempt to stir student interest through a series of programs and publicity, the later centered especially in thought-provoking posters around the campus."

Lardner Moore Visits College To Study Christian Education

By Toby Horn

Rev. Lardner W. Moore, President of Shikoku College in Japan, visited Southwestern's campus December 4-6. He was here at the invitation of Dr. R. P. Richardson, Vice-president of the college.

Rev. Moore is making a brief study of southern colleges run by the Presbyterian Church, U. S. The purpose of the survey is to acquaint Mr. Moore more thoroughly with the educational facilities and methods of the American Christian college.

Concerning his interest in Southwestern and other Presbyterian colleges, Mr. Moore stated that he hoped at Shikoku College to be able to more nearly fulfill the purpose "of giving Japanese students, who are interested, the benefits of what we think is the highest type of education found in America, namely, the schooling of the American Christian college."

A second purpose of Mr. Moore's visit was to interest people in doing mission work, especially in the field of education in Japan.

While he is in the United States, Mr. Moore will also visit Austin College, Davidson College, King College, and Westminster College.

Guest Editorial—

Opportunity In Japan

With the occupation of Japan there has been a marked turning of the people to things American. This is true not only of economic, social, and educational things but of Christianity as well.

It may not be true that thousands have actually become Christian in the sense Christians mean, namely, an acceptance of the Lord Jesus Christ as Saviour, but there has been created a desire to know something of the spirit which motivated the conquerors. The Japanese people have been released to look into Christianity if they wish. It is no longer regarded as the religion of hated foreigners, but as the religion of the nation which defeated Japan and which is now helping to build her back again.

It is in this situation that the Christian missionary finds a new attitude on the part of the Japanese people.

The American people have sent clothes, drugs, and food as well as financial subsidies to their former enemies. Libraries have been established in most of the prefectural capitols, giving every high school student a chance to learn something about America in the original.

The books sent by Southwestern to Shikoku College recently was but one of thousands of gestures of the generosity of the American people. Japan is wide open to those who come bringing the treasures of the United States to a burned and defeated Japan.

What greater treasure have we than the Gospel of Jesus Christ which has a promise for this life and also for that which is to come? The door has been opened wider than ever before. Let us not neglect this wonderful opportunity.

The Patriots

To the Mid-South Red Cross Blood Drive Southwesterners—faculty members, staff members, and students—gave 104 pints of blood. This is an outstanding contribution to the national defense program.

A complete list of the donors can hardly exclude those people who offered their blood but who were rejected. Their patriotism was necessarily tempered by the better judgment of the Red Cross medical staff. The list of donors is on Page 3.

And, thank you, John Berry, for your honest, factual chapel talk.

Rossoff Sends Praise For First Convention

Council Commended For Excellent Job

Miss Betty Wood, Editor
The Sou'wester
Southwestern at Memphis
Memphis, Tennessee

Dear Miss Wood:

This is to thank you very much for the wonderful Sou'wester coverage of the Student Model Atlantic Union Convention held at Southwestern at Memphis, November 1-3. I also wish that you would commend Mr. Douglas Marsh for the fine follow-up that he did on the convention and for seeing that copies of the paper were sent to me.

It was indeed a pleasure to be associated with the students of Southwestern and their guests during the period of the Model Convention, and it was a special privilege to be associated with Dr. Rhodes, Dr. Lowery, Mr. Stephenson, and the members of the Student Council. The council and the Southwestern student body did a magnificent job in handling the convention, and I am happy that the Model Conventions Series got off to such a fine start. Southwestern has set a perfect example for the other conventions in the series.

I wonder if I could ask one favor: I would greatly appreciate having a copy of the front-page photo of Senator Kefauver and the convention delegates printed in your November 9th issue. I would like this photograph for my files and for possible use in a convention publication soon to be released.

Sincerely,
Harold Rossoff, Director
Student Model Atlantic Union
Convention Series.

Mr. Harold Rossoff
700 Ninth Street, N.W.
Washington 1, D. C.

Dear Mr. Rossoff:
I am sending you both pictures taken at the Model Convention for the Sou'wester. Thank you for your letter concerning the convention. It will be printed in the next issue of the Sou'wester, and I will send a copy of this paper to you.

I think I speak for Southwestern in expressing our appreciation of being chosen the site of the first convention. The meetings and the delegates left our student body and faculty with a new understanding and interest in an Atlantic union and the part we may play in such a union.

Yours very truly,
Betty Wood, Editor

Crescendo and Diminuendo

The Julliard String Quartet presented a program of chamber music by Schuman, Mozart and Beethoven last Tuesday evening, December 4, in Hardie Auditorium. Members of the quartet are Robert Mann, violin; Robert Koff, violin; Raphael Hillyer, viola; and Arthur Winograd, cello. They are members of the ensemble faculty of the Julliard School of Music in New York City. The quartet is organized on a non-profit basis and appears only under the sponsorship of the school.

Musical Memphis

Musical Memphis: Guimar Novaes' piano concert at Ellis Auditorium on Tuesday, November 27, was enthusiastically received. Mme. Novaes is regarded as the foremost woman pianist of the world today. Her performance was one of mature, sensitive artistry tempered with technical brilliance—a serene, deliberate flow of melody interpreted through sensitive fingers. . . .

On Sunday afternoon, December 2, at Ellis Auditorium, the Memphis and Mid-South Piano Scholarship Association presented Joy Brown, violinist; Clifford Tuckre, pianist; Dolores Hanke, soprano; and Norman McLean, bass-baritone.

Coming Attractions

Coming attractions: The Memphis Youth Symphony will play a half hour concert from 3:00 to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, December 8, over stations WMC, WMCF, and WMCT with Joy Brown, violinist, as soloist. Organized in September, 1950, under the sponsorship of I. L. Myers' Arts Appreciation, the Youth Symphony will present a public concert the night of December 15 at Ellis Auditorium. . . . The Xavier University Concert Choir of New Orleans will present its annual Memphis concert at 8:00 p.m. Sunday, December 9, at the Metropolitan Baptist Church. Primarily for Negro audiences, the event is free. . . . "Oklahoma," the hardy perennial of musicals, returns to Ellis Auditorium on December 21-22 to brighten up the Christmas holidays. . . . The Metropolitan Opera of the Air presents Verdi's opera "Rigoletto" on Saturday afternoon, December 8, at 3:00 p.m. over radio station WMPS. Richard Tucker, Hilda Guedsen and Leonard Warren will sing leading roles.

The fifth week of the WSSF drive will begin next Monday. This project is a vital part in Southwestern's international outlook. Let's hurry up and make those pledges and contributions.

The World's Conflict Demands Leadership

By Bob Starr

Throughout the history of the world great men have risen in times of crisis to take helms and guide the various great nations through times of tribulation.

Napoleon arrived on a scene bloody from the after-effects of the French Revolution and molded a France that was a dominant power in Europe for a decade and a half. Alexander the Great carried a waning Greek culture through the civilized East. Augustus found a Roman ship of state which was storm-tossed between democracy and empire and gave it a foundation which lasted four centuries.

The Test In Korea

This country, weaker and with weaker, if not fatally weakened, allies, is locked in a death struggle with world communism, more deadly and greater in scope than the recent war fought against world fascism.

For the communists, unlike the fascists, will give no quarter. The war in Korea is a test, a test to see how much we are willing to give for what we believe. And the communists will employ any tactic to win this so-called minor decision, whether it be by stalling along with phony peace proposals until winter gives the Chinese Reds a chance to rebuild their battered armies, or whether it be by poisoning the minds of the rest of the world against us.

The Modern Marathon

Korea is not the end. Nor was Marathon the end of Persia's yearnings for dominion over the Western world. Perhaps it is absurd to draw a comparison between Korea and the Battle of Marathon. The Greeks fought only one battle to preserve their way of life, we are fighting a drawn-out and costly war. But they are alike in that Marathon was decisive, and Korea is as decisive. It is the old story of East versus West which the Romans refought after Marathon and won a second time for the West. Today's Marathon pits the two ways of life as enemies for the third and what will be the final time. Everyone in the world is concerned in this battle.

But where is our Themosticles? Where is our Scipio?

Chapel Chimes

The Westminster Fellowship is still sponsoring their Coffee Hour each Thursday night from 6:30 until 7:30 in Fellowship Hall of Evergreen Church.

Dr. Laura Robinson, professor of classical languages, will speak at the convocation exercises on Monday morning, December 8, and Prof. Charles Diehl, assistant professor of English, will speak on Tuesday morning, Thursday morning, December 11, the exercises will be led by Dr. Martin Storn, professor of romance languages.

Regular student assemblies will be held on Wednesday and Friday mornings.

At the year's first Sunday night meeting of the Canterbury Club, Dr. L. F. Kinney spoke on predestination. The club meets at the Good Shepherd Church on the first Sunday of each month following the evensong which is presented by the Southwestern liturgical choir every Sunday night at the Church of the Good Shepherd.

To The Contest Staff—

The Sou'wester wishes to express its appreciation to the many people who helped stage the Southwestern Maid of Cotton contest.

A special thanks to Ray Hill, master of ceremonies; Henry Freund, stage manager; and Ann Gill, contest manager, for an excellent job in their departments.

Helen Walker, Vera Burns, Carol Clemens, Glenda Selman, Joan Clas, Eleanor Bosworth, Rita Cunningham, and F. F. Walker provided the refreshing intermission.

Entertainers Louis Wener and Billy Ford were great at making the judges time out seem short.

And, judges, (Mrs. Mary Allie Taylor, Miss Edith Pirtle, Mr. Julian Bondurant, and Mr. Charles Taylor) thank you for picking our Maid of Cotton.

Ann Brown and Mr. Rollow, your help was indispensable backstage.

Posters are to the credit of Ann Milner.

Thanks, Douglas Marsh for handling ticket sales and the door.

Finally, a hearty thanks to all the candidates and the fraternities and sororities who sponsored them. Without you the contest would have been impossible.

Congratulations Miss Jane McSpadden, and good luck in the national contest!

Adult Education Program Is Big Teaching Factor

Southwestern's Plan Encompasses Three Courses For Memphians

By Douglas Marsh

While Southwestern's principle responsibility is to its own students, it by no means limits its education activities to its undergraduate inmates.

The Faculty Committee on Adult Education, of which Professor John Osman is chairman, assumes responsibility for directing programs for men and women in the community who wish to continue their educational development. Two such programs are now in progress, and a third will begin next January.

The famous Great Books Discussions Series is sponsored in Memphis by Southwestern in cooperation with the First Unitarian Church. Two first-year groups, discussing such works as the Confessions of St. Augustine, The Prince by Machiavelli, and Plato's Republic, meet here at the college, while a third meets at the Unitarian Church.

A fifth-year group—"seniors" in Great Books—also meets at the Church. Cost of membership in the Great Books Foundation, the coordinating organization, is one dollar per year.

The college is also sponsoring a great books leadership training course.

Design For A City

Southwestern's second adult education program is concerned with the problems of city life and planning and is really two programs in one. A series of symposia on The Design for a City are being held on nine Tuesday evenings at 8:00 in Hardie Auditorium. The first symposium, on the role of cities as centers of civilization, has already been held.

The next meeting, scheduled for December 11, will view the city as a socio-historical problem.

These symposia feature brief lectures by faculty members and local authorities on the various aspects of city planning and development.

Twelve Seminars

As an adjunct program to the symposium, twelve seminars on the Idea of the City, led by Professor John Osman, are being presented on alternate Wednesday evenings at 7:30.

The fee for this series of seminars is ten dollars. There is no charge for attending the symposium. Students are cordially invited to participate in both.

World Politics

Southwestern will sponsor a series of twelve group discussions on world politics beginning early next year. This program will be presented in cooperation with the American Foundation for Political Education, a non-profit organization of which Mr. Charles Nelson is director.

A selected group of about thirty Memphis leaders in the fields of business, industry, labor, and the professions will be invited to participate at first; gradually other interested persons will be admitted to the program.

S'westerners Invited To City Y Banquet

A Christmas banquet will be held at the Memphis YWCA Monday night, December 10, at 6:30 p.m. Southwestern students are invited to take advantage of the special student tickets which cost $1.25.

The banquet is designed to broaden the international outlook of those who attend.

Foreign Students

Foreign students from Southwestern will participate of the program. Friedrich Stieglitz of Austria, Johanna Clas from Germany, and Alvey Marques of Brazil will describe Christmas customs in their home-lands.

Hsioh-chien Li and Timothy Liu, both from China, will sing Christmas songs in Chinese with another

Atty. Preston Battle, Frank Faux, Edwin Quinn, Richard Dennis, and Mrs. Charles Fleet discuss the meaning of life at a meeting of the Great Books Leadership Training course at Southwestern. Mr. Dennis, regional director for the Great Books project, comes to Southwestern from Chicago on alternate Monday nights for these discussions.

Foundation of the meetings is Plato's maxim that "the unexamined life is not worth living." These people are examining life as expressed in literature and contemporary thought.

of their countrymen who is attending U.T. Medical School. Three Memphis State foreign students will also be on the program.

World Fellowship

The World Fellowship Committee of the Memphis YWCA is sponsoring the banquet in order to aid their relief work. $1.00 pays for the dinner; 25c goes to the national Y and is used in their worldwide relief program.

Mrs. R. P. Richardson and Mary Francis Steen represent Southwestern on the committee.

Dabeters Win In Regional Meeting

Four Southwesterners Compose Teams Participating in the TKA Contest

Southwestern's representatives to the Southern Regional Meet of Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary forensic fraternity, have returned bringing with them an excellent record.

Bill Hughes, Holly Mitchell, Patricia Riegle, and Yvonne Burns composed the two teams attending the meet. The question on which they debated was, resolved: that the federal government should adopt a permanent program of wage and price controls. The two boys took an affirmative stand on the issue while the girls defended the negative.

At this contest they met such teams as Vanderbilt, University of Arkansas, University of Mississippi, Lincoln Memorial, Murray State Teachers College, University of Alabama, University of Florida, and Louisiana State University.

Excellent Speakers

All four debaters received awards as "Excellent Speakers" for the part they took in these debates and the points that the judges gave them.

Immediately preceding the big tournament at Ole Miss the teams participated in a practice session at Memphis State.

Monday night Patricia Riegle and Bill Hughes represented Southwestern and addressed the Memphis Public Opinion Forum concerning the same question which was debated at the TKA tournament.

YW Christmas Party

The annual YWCA Christmas party will be given Tuesday, December 11, at 4:00 in the Zeta Tau Alpha house.

Maer To Give Next Of Faculty Recitals

Miss Lois Maer will present a faculty recital at the College of Music on Sunday afternoon, December 9, at 3:00. Miss Maer is one of the better known piano teachers of Southwestern's music faculty.

The three parts of her program will include works by four well known composers. She will open with Handel's "Chaconne in G" followed by "Sonata in B Flat, K. 333" by Mozart. The second part of the recital will consist of Chopin's music: three etudes, Op. 10, No. 3; Op. 25, No. 2; and Op. 25, No. 12; and his "Fantaisie," Op. 49. Four preludes by Debussy, "Bruyeres," "La Serenade Interrompue," "Voiles," and "Feux d'Artifice," will conclude the program.

Publications Board's Policy For Sou'wester

The editor's policy established by the Publications Board is presented in this issue in order to acquaint the students of Southwestern more fully with the responsibilities, the freedoms, and the restrictions upon the student newspaper.

This policy was prepared by the Publications Board. It is the constitutional expression of the methods, the content, and the purpose of the Sou'wester.

The Publications Board policy has been included in this issue to clear up questions concerning the news matter and editorial columns.

Article I—General Policy (To be printed in the first edition of the Sou'wester each year.)

1. The Sou'wester will, at all times, attempt to be the honest voice of the Southwestern student body, of the faculty, and of the various college and student administrative bodies.

2. The Sou'wester will not be a "gripe sheet" to air personal grievances or campaigns.

3. The Sou'wester will, in a responsible manner, accuse, defend, or promote—as the situation may be. This activity will, at all times, be conducted on a highly constructive plane. Statements made in the form of news accounts or editorials in the Sou'wester will be substantiated at all times.

4. The Sou'wester will not contain columns of the "back fence gossip" types. Campus social news will be featured in sorority and fraternity columns especially reserved for that purpose, and in other articles as the editor sees fit. Cheap tales and person tattling concerning the social lives of the students or faculty will have no place in the Sou'wester.

5. The duty of the Editorial Staff of the Sou'wester will be to inform, criticize, and recommend, in a straightforward, constructive, and unbiased manner.

6. There will be no racial or religious prejudices expressed in the pages of the Sou'wester.

Article II—Statement of Policy

The candidates for the position as Editor of the Sou'wester Newspaper will formulate individual statements of policy and individual outlines of their qualifications and past experience. They will present their policies to the Publication Board at a time designated by that body.

Article III—Responsibility and Amplification of Policy

1. The right of a newspaper to attract and hold readers is restricted by consideration of the students' and college's welfare. The Editor may write critical editorials concerning functions or policies of various campus organizations so long as the general argument of the editorial respects the legality of the existing rules and regulations of those various organization.

2. The Editor is expressly forbidden to write editorials which encourage students to disregard the regulations and policies of student or college organizations. In all controversial issues involving campus organizations, their rules, and their policies, due recourse to petitionary means is to be pointed out to the student body, if such means are provided by the organization under criticism. A direct request for action may be addressed in editorial form to the legislative elements within the organizations which are being criticized, in cases where an organization has no petitionary machinery.

3. In no case will the Editor take it upon himself to pass sole, arbitrary judgment within an editorial upon any segment of legislation, policy, rule, or tradition of Southwestern College, or upon its various campus organizations, which involves unsupported contradictions of existing rules or legislation or which, without evidence, endangers the potency of any existing campus legislation, rules, or policies.

4. The Editor is directed to personally assist and work with committee members of any organizations that he has criticized, in which arguments over policy, rules, procedure, and regulations are involved.

5. The Editor will not bring any issue before a general student assembly unless a workable agreement has been arrived at with the organization with which he is in conflict. The Editor is reminded that an ill-informed or misguided student body at the election boxes can work hardships and damage upon the college's or student organizations' welfare.

6. The Editor will be very particular to exercise good judgment in the printing of editorial matter which involves the discussion of undesirable elements or persons upon this campus, whether they be within the student body or within the faculty. Irreparable damage may be done to the character and integrity of the college if foreign ideologies or radical measures, involving national interests, are attached to persons on Southwestern's campus without documentary or un-reproachful proof to that effect. If such information is within the Editor's possession it will be his duty to present it to the Publication Board of the college for consideration. If such matter is considered beyond its jurisdiction, the Publication Board will confer with the President of the college, and fair dispensation of the information will be made as agreed upon in such a conference.

7. The Editor will remember that he is the responsible head of the Sou'wester Newspaper, a publication which circulates among several hundred students, which enters into scores of homes, and which is read by a large circle of alumni, friends, and church members of the various Presbyterian Synods which contribute their support to this school. The Editor will, therefore, exercise the utmost discretion in the news and editorials which he prints.

8. The Editor will remember that Southwestern College is a privately owned and an endowed institution, and, as such, constitutes private property. Due regard for the rules and regulations and judgments laid down by the school's owners will be exercised in the editing of all news or editorial matter.

9. The Editor will remember that Southwestern College spends several thousand dollars annually on advertising matter and correspondence of interest to prospective freshmen and business sources. The Editor will not permit the publishing of any news or editorial matter which nullifies or jeopardizes this expenditure.

10. The Editor will remember that the Memphis daily newspapers and other news agencies carefully scrutinize each edition of the Sou'wester. News or editorials which have been carelessly or thoughtlessly thrown together may provide newspapers with erroneous or "sensational" items detrimental to the best interests of the college or students. News matter or editorials which instigate such conditions will not be condoned.

Article IV—Editorials

Editorials will be regarded as the purely personal opinions of the editorial writer. The editorial writer will have freedom to express his opinions so long as he stays within the bounds of common decency. The Publication Board reserves the right to interpret violations of "common decency" contained in editorial matter as that Body sees fit. Editorials will not be written ambiguously so as to be construed as conflicting with those bounds.

Article V—Independence

The Editor will be free from obligations, except those of fidelity to the students and the college and the conditions of his office under the policy of the Publication Board of Southwestern.

Seniors Defeat Sophs' Quintet

Class league play went into its second round last Tuesday night when the white-clad seniors downed the sophomore squad 38-33 in a hard-fought game.

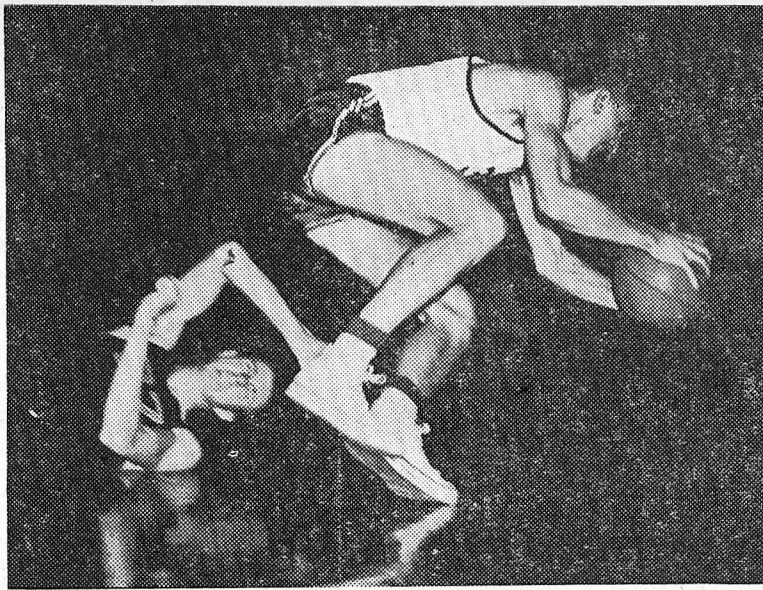

The seniors jumped to an early 11-2 lead at the end of the first period and were never headed although the younger squad put up a good fight.

Halftime score showed that the sophomore team had come to life scoring eleven points to but six for their elders to make the count 17-13 in favor of the seniors.

The black clad sophomores inched up still further in the third frame and moved within three points of the seniors as the third period whistle showed the score 21-18 still in favor of the senior squad.

The final quarter showed an outburst of scoring with the senior group on the top end and the final count registered 38-33 with the sophs making a desperate last minute drive which failed five short of the mark.

Leading scorer of the game for the seniors was Charlie McAllister with seventeen points to his personal credit, closely followed by teammate Bob Palmer with fifteen.

Cheerers' Faith Is Reinforced By Cats Outstanding Victory

By Don Ramier

"Seek and ye shall find." Loyal Southwestern rooters have sought success on the hardwood for over a year, and now they have found it. Words cannot describe the enthusiasm displayed during the Millsaps game or the gratification derived from the victory.

The student's support of the basketball team has been phenomenal, and the sweet taste of victory has rewarded their devotion. It is needless to say that 200 Southwesterners left Fargason Field House Wednesday night glowing with pride. Coach Johnson and his team have proved to our victory-starved student body that Southwestern can win a major athletic contest.

But, the world has not come to an end, as some students seem to believe. There are more basketball games coming; there will be more victories and more defeats.

Thus far, the basketball team can be compared to a rising curve on a graph. The pre-season practice games were disgusting exhibitions. The first game, with Bethel, was a rout, but a ray of sunshine could be distinguished through the dismal clouds of defeat. The next game, with Ark. State, was more-or-less a repetition of the first. The main benefits gained from these games were experience and an opportunity for Coach Johnson to become more familiar with his players.

Miss. College was the next obstacle to meet. This game marked the first time that our boys looked at all like a college team. They fought hard, made their passes better, and hit the basket with more consistency. But still they made errors. The pivot men were adverse to shooting when they were open. They passed back out to the guards when they could have made points and seemed afraid to take small chances. And too, the boys missed more than their share of free throws.

A Different Story

But the Millsaps game was a different story. They fought hard, jumped at every opportunity to score, handled the ball well and consequently became heirs to a story book victory.

One fact that can't be overlooked is the never-say-die spirit they showed. When the Lynx were behind by 10 or more points, as they frequently were, they could easily have let up and been trounced soundly. But Coach Johnson rallied his boys and kept them fighting all the time. This coach isn't accustomed to continual defeat, and apparently he isn't going to accept it.

18 Seconds To Play

Horton won the game on his free throw with 18 seconds to play. It is such a shot that separates the men from the boys and produces heroes or heels. And Frank emerged the hero.

But Austin's contribution along the same line was perhaps an even greater feat. He sank not one, but two charity tosses under severe pressure to know the count and pave the way for Horton's glorious deed. These two boys were the stars throughout the game.

The Main Problem

Six foot, six and one-half inch center Wallace was the main problem with which the Southwesterners had to deal. They had met him last year, but he showed a remarkable improvement Wednesday night, chalking up 26 points and high score for the night.

Austin and Jimmy Cunningham tied for top honors for the Lynx with 17 points each. Cunningham put away all but one of his in the first half, and Austin all but four of his in the second.

In this and the previous games of the season, guard Frank Horton has shown that he is always aware of what is going on at least on most of the court at all times. Whenever a teammate was in doubt, Horton posted him as to what was up. Bob Crumby, the other guard, who, with Horton, played the entire game against Millsaps, has shown marked improvement since the season opened.

Center Charlie Treadway spent about half of the game trying to guard "Skyscraper" Wallace and did a good job of it.
