With the accuracy of a Norden bombsight, Dick Gilliom prepares to release a one-handed jump shot which all opponents agree is deadly. Jackson gives aid by taking Dick's guard, Joe McGrory out of the action. Finding the short end of the score on the Lynx side of the scoreboard, they came from behind and gave the students a 71-63 victory, wrapped, sealed and ready for delivery. It was a fitting dedication for the new gym.

Queener To Head Psychology Group

Dr. E. Llewellyn Queener, head of the department of psychology at Southwestern, has been elected Vice-President of the Tennessee Psychological Association for 1955. He was elected at a meeting of the T.P.A. in Knoxville, December 3. As president-elect Dr. Queener will serve as Vice-President and chairman of membership in the coming year, and will take the office of president in 1956.

The T.P.A., an organization of 250 members, in addition to stimulating research in psychology, has been primarily instrumental in codifying licensing laws for psychologists in Tennessee.

U. T. and Yale

Dr. Queener, who came to Southwestern in 1949, was born in Maryville, Tennessee. He graduated from the University of Tennessee in 1942 with a degree in psychology. He then entered Yale where he obtained his B.D., and in 1947 his Ph.D. in Social Psychology. Before coming to Southwestern, Dr. Queener taught at his alma mater for two years.

Baptist Minister

In 1951 his textbook for Social Psychology, Introduction to Social Psychology, was published by the Dryden Press. He has been active in the development of the mental hygiene movement in West Tennessee and has worked with civic leaders and organizations to improve the facilities for the mentally sick in this area.

Dr. Queener, an ordained minister, has spoken in many Memphis churches. At present he is working on a book dealing with religion and the psychology of personality, one of the most progressive fields in both psychology and religion. In addition to writing this book, his publishers have asked him to bring up to date his first work on Social Psychology.

PRC Drive Ends With $250 Collected

The Protestant Religious Council's drive to obtain funds for Christmas presents for colored children ended Monday, December 13. A total of $250 out of an anticipated $300 was raised.

"Our goal was five dollars for each of the sixty colored children under the care of the Children's Bureau of the Community Chest," reported Frances Van Cleave, one of the sponsors of the drive. The bureau is handicapped by a lack of money for all the needs to come under its jurisdiction. Therefore, the bureau has to depend on funds raised separately for projects such as that sponsored by the PRC.

If students have any suggestions for improving the PRC drives, they are urged to give them to any PRC member.

Torch Backwards Dance is Tonight

"I don't know who to ask" and "I hate to ask boys for dates" are the two most repeated statements of the week. The reason—Torch is holding its annual Backwards Dance.

For a change, the girl gets to ask the man of her choice out on a date. At the dance the girls will do the "breaking" and the boys will have to worry about getting "stuck."

The Torch "Dream Man" will be announced and some lucky lass who draws the right number has the honor of dancing with him. So, girls, take this opportunity to ask the guy you've been dreaming about and come to the Backwards Dance in Voorhies basement tonight from 8:00 to 11:00.

Poochie Patters To Hollywood—V

Midnight For Cinderella

(This is the last in a series of articles by Miss Esther Jane Swartzfager, Southwestern senior. "Poochie" was entered by The Sou'wester in the Mutual Broadcasting System's "College Queen of America" contest, and awarded a trip to Hollywood by the "Queen For A Day" program. In these stories she has told of her experiences during that trip.)

The Pacific was quite cool at 2 o'clock in the morning—to say the very least. Being a Southern girl, I was freezing! So, I grabbed a blanket and wrapped up like the Number One Squaw of the year and watched my playmates play in the waves. Mr. Mynatt was definitely getting the "beat-out," and he finally joined me before the fire declaring that he just couldn't compete with the All-Americans.

I suddenly decided that I'd stake a claim on the beach for Mississippi. With the help of driftwood plus my date's handkerchief I claimed the land in the name of Governor Hugh White and the State of Mississippi. My oration was interrupted by screams from the ocean. I whirled around and saw that it was Angie who was yelling to all the Greek and Roman gods who were even thought to exist plus Buddha and a few more.

Monster of The Deep

Mr. Mynatt yelled for Gil, my date, to drag her in. I honestly thought she was drowning. Gil, playing the hero of the hour, rushed to her and pulled her out of the ocean. Angie was still screaming—I then realized she was not dead or anywhere near it. We kept asking her what happened, and she kept screaming! Finally, Gil shook her hard and she whispered, "Something bit my foot."

Cagers On Road After Successful Home Stand

GILLIOM SCORES 34 AGAINST DAVIDSON

Last night's win over Missouri Mines brought the record of the young season to 3 victories and 3 losses. The current road trip continues tonight with Westminster as the opposition, and the Lynx move over to Drury tomorrow night. During the holidays they will be in Jackson, Miss., for a tournament with Howard, Mississippi College and Northeast Louisiana.

Volume Number Has Been Corrected

How observative are you? The majority of the readers probably failed to notice that The Sou'wester has lost a volume since last week. Several students had asked why the volume number didn't agree with the year of publication, so the staff checked the bound copies in the Library to solve the mystery. Back in 1949, the December 15th issue was printed as Volume 31, Number 11. The following, January 12, 1950, was rightly numbered 12, but for some reason the Volume skipped to 32. Apparently no one at the time, or in the years since, noticed the error, believing that all mistakes should be straightened out as soon as possible—even in a case as this—The Sou'wester today corrects an error of five year's standing. All papers printed since September 14, 1954, will be officially listed as a part of Volume 36.

Writers Arise!

Stylus, the campus literary organization, is now considering manuscripts for its magazine to be published in the spring. Short stories, essays, poetry, and light verse of a high calibre are wanted. Anyone who wishes to submit can simply give his manuscript (preferably typed) to any Stylus member, and the member will number it and present it anonymously to the group. At present there are only eleven members of Stylus.

The Dedication game win over Sewanee 71-63 and the Monday night victory over Davidson 97-63 are achievements to be proud of, but perhaps more noteworthy is the great battle which the Lynx put up against Ole Miss on Saturday night as they were edged by eleven points 83-72. From the improvement shown in the three games, it looks like Johnson's men are in stride.

Close Contest

The play against Sewanee Friday night was rather ragged and the score was close throughout the contest, but Southwestern kept plugging, sparked by the accurate jump shot of Dave Kaylor who kicked in with 15 points in the second half, and the fine defensive work of Jim Winslow, who held Captain Dezell of the Tigers to 14 points. All five Lynx starters scored in the double figures with Carlisle and Kaylor having 16 and 17 respectively to lead. Southwestern led at the half 35-33 but were back 60-56 with only five minutes left in the game. Little Joe Allgood's set shots and Larry Heppes' jump shots around the goal kept the S'westers in hot water all night.

Christmas Party In Neely Hall Tonight

However trite it may be, "Old Saint Nick" will be on hand to greet the Southwestern kiddies at the Student Council's annual all-school Christmas party in the dining hall tonight at the regular dining hall hours from 5:15 to 6:15. Playing the role will be the boy with the Santa Claus face (face?), Jim Gillis.

Harrylyn Graves will provide holiday dinner music on the piano until the entertainment begins at six. Ann Caldwell will open the program with a vocal solo.

Poochie's Patter

When jolly Santa makes his entrance, a sweet young thing, Poochie Swartzfager, will perch upon his knee and read her yearly epistle to the lover of all little girls. After the roar has died down, Malcolm Whatley will lead the diners in another kind of roar, which Papa Tut would generously call Christmas carols.

In the journalistic pattern all society stories must describe in flowery terms the decorations in the place of festivity. But it would be more than an imposition on the good natures of students in this holiday season to describe the glittering festoons, brilliant santas, "Merrie Christmas" banner and mistletoe that have adorned the cafeteria these past weeks.

The turkey and dressing fare will be served to town students at a fee of 75 cents. Joe Eades, social chairman, is in charge of arrangements.

Our New Year's Wish

What a difference a day makes! And how many things have happened since we made our resolutions for 1954.

Memories

It's easy to look back and decide what might have been done differently, for each day has some ill-spent moment. Christmas is coming with its memories of candy-filled stockings, dolls and trains, and big presents under the tree—"Backward, turn backward, O Time, in your flight, Make me a child again just for tonight!"<sup>1</sup>

Drudgery

Rejoice! About term papers, tests, required work? "Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow, Creeps in this petty pace from day to day, To the last syllable of recorded time."<sup>2</sup> Exams aren't far away, so what of the morrow? Unless we alert ourselves now, the work will pile up suddenly, and the pace will be far from petty.

Determination

"Time goes, you say? Ah no! Alas, Times stays, we go."<sup>3</sup> We're ready to make new resolutions—promises to ourselves, promises too often made only to be broken. Look at the seal of Southwestern at the top of this column. There are the three most important New Year's resolutions for us to make: Truth, Loyalty, and Service.

Drive Carefully

Memories; Drudgery; Determination. "Time was—Time shall be—drain the glass—But where in Time is now?"<sup>4</sup> Where, indeed, are we? The next will be an important year in our lives, a crucial one in the history of mankind. The road ahead is a difficult one to travel: When it curves, we must travel slowly to keep from crashing through the rail and down the mountainside into oblivion; When it's straight and tempts us to drive too fast, we must be alert to avoid being hypnotized by the devil's white stripes down the middle.

The Sou'wester sends this New Year's wish for you all: May each day's journey on life's highway be pleasant and profitable.

Ein Frohes Weihnachtsfest

If you heard the strains of "O Tannenbaum" and "O du frohliche" coming from the ATO house Tuesday night, you probably guessed that the German classes of Drs. Stein and Storn were celebrating a Christmas party in the German style. What a grand and glorious time we had!

Laden with a big sack, big Ben Miller came in donned as Der Weihnachtsmann. There was a thin blanket of snow on his shoulders, and from his big book, he read the names of those who were eligible to receive some "Spielsachen." Herr Ben Miller hesitated in presenting Fraulein Jerry Wittmann a present, since he had confused the word Rinderbraten (beefsteak) with Kinderbraten (?) in German class.

Joanna Kindig, one of Dr. Storn's "sechs arme Kirchenmausse" read a lovely German poem, and Hajo Hug told some foreign Christmas stories. Woodrow Moore gave a talk telling how he spent two Christmas seasons in Germany.

Letters to the Editor

1954 Grad Sends Season's Greetings

Dear Friends,

At this Christmas season especially my thoughts turn many times to Southwestern and all you wonderful people there. Since it would be impossible to write each of you a personal note (and I wanted to extend you Season's Greetings), I decided to write a letter to be put in the Sou'wester. It is my prayer that you will each remember the true meaning of Christmas and that the significance of the birth of our Lord will remain in your hearts throughout the New Year. May God bless you students as you prepare for your Life's work and you professors as you share your time and knowledge and Christian spirit with all with whom you come in contact.

My courses and experiences at A.T.S. are so exciting and challenging. I will ever be grateful to each of you who had a part in preparing me for coming here. I continually thank God for Southwestern. And I miss y'all very much.

May each of you never lose sight of the manger, the cross, and the empty tomb—and may you have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Students Fail To Support Fine Team

To the Editor of the Sou'wester:

Something must be done about student support at our basketball games. Friday night at the dedication there was a pretty good representation of students. Saturday night, the Lynx played Ole Miss, after beating Sewanee the night before 71 to 63. (Sewanee lost to Miss. State Monday night 77-74.) At the Ole Miss game there were about 800 people—187 students. Monday night Southwestern played Davidson and only 114 students out of near 600 showed for the game which Southwestern won 97-63.

There is no excuse for this sorry representation for a team that is as good as Southwestern's. Every night we out do Memphis State on the basketball court, and yet they have a fine per cent of students at their games.

I know many of the students have complained about having tests, but that still doesn't account for the pitiful support of the students at the Ole Miss game Saturday night.

We can't expect to have a winning ball-club, nor can we expect the people of Memphis to support the club, when most of our own student body isn't interested enough to show up.

Our hat goes off to those who have supported the team so far. And also we congratulate the faculty for their fine support. In fact the basketball team has been getting support from almost everyone—except the student body as a whole.

Now, the team goes on the road this week and during the holidays, but will return January 4th. Let's fill it up. This team needs your support, and the least you can do is show up.

During the football season, all home games were played on Saturday, and we had the best season Southwestern has had in quite some time. Many letters just like this one appeared in the Sou'wester, and yet this student body didn't average 200 people at four ball games.

Athletics on this campus is just as much for you as it is to train, teach competition, and American life for the athlete. You are as much a part of the program as the players. Without your help, the ath-

Especially For Those Who Stay

Attention, all Guinness fans! (There is no ON THE TOWN this week due to the fact that most of us will leave Memphis for a spell; but I decided to call your attention to one film anyway since the Ritz Theater was kind enough to invite me to a preview of it.) THE DETECTIVE, starring Alec Guinness, will begin a run at the Ritz on Christmas Day and is sure to please man, woman, and/or beast. Guinness has the challenging role of Father Brown, whom many of you first met in the stories of Gilbert Kieth Chesterton, and his chief support comes from the unique Joan Greenwood as a rich widow and Peter Finch as a gentleman thief. Guinness, deserting the role of a sanctimonious rogue, does well as a roughish saint, and Joan Greenwood, who has little enough to do, is completely charming. This isn't the sort of Guinness film that causes you to split your sides laughing, but the skillful blend of the amusing and the sentimental will make you come out smiling.

Campus Challenges

Joe Eades

Luke 2:7

—And she brought forth her first born son and wrapped him in swaddling clothes and laid him in a manger because there was no room for them in the inn.

Because there was no room for Christ in the inn, Mary laid Him in the manger. Those crowned with only worldly success find the inns of life fully illumined, and doors flung wide open for their reception, but struggling on its way to sublime attainment and heroic effort to save the world. Truth finds only a manger welcome and a lonely path through the Garden of Gethsemane.

As a baby there was no room for Him in the inn; as a boy there was no room in Herod's domain, nor in Israel's empire; as a man condemned by Pontius Pilate, there was no room for Him in the world.

Is there room for Him in our life at Southwestern?

letic program will continue to be blocked.

For instance, why should some sororities and fraternities have parties on the night Southwestern plays a game? In the first place, the Dean of Women should never place parties on the so-called calendar the night Southwestern plays. Nevertheless, the students should not want a party that night. There are many other times when parties can be held.

The April Fool issue, which has already been settled, is a fine example of the non-cooperation of students with the athletic program.

People have accused this school of being a party school, and whether it is or not I can't say. But if it is, and if we must have parties, let's have them on nights Southwestern is not playing here. And let's support our team.

Sincerely,

Jack Bugbee

Human Rights Day

Last Friday was observed by most of the Colleges throughout the nation as "Human Rights" Day in accordance with a proclamation issued by President Eisenhower at the special request of the United Nations organization.

"Human Rights" Day was set aside to call special attention to the new Declaration of Human Rights, proposed by the United Nations. In order to be accepted, this new declaration must be ratified by all of the member nations of the U.N. There are ten great declarations of human rights which have been proclaimed since the Magna Carta, including, "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." The new declaration, even if it is not passed, will serve as goal for governments to aspire toward.

William Harrison Adams, class of '49, a young lawyer here in Memphis, explained the details of the "Declaration" to the Student Body.

A GOOD PLACE TO EAT

"Joe's" was quite the place—no lights and a druggy-looking combo. The bacon and eggs were good—believe it or not; and everyone felt better after two cups of coffee, even Mr. Mynatt. We left "Joe's" about 5 o'clock and Marilyn had to catch a plane at 6:30. So, we went back to the hotel and helped her pack, then rode with Freddie to take her to the airport.

It was awful saying "good-bye" to one of our buddies, and everyone was blue. So, Freddie decided we should go to U.C.L.A.

Goodnight Ladies

At U.C.L.A. we toured the campus and fraternity houses and left our dates. We were really worried about them for they had football practice at 3 that afternoon, and they were beat!

Back at the hotel again, we began to pack, for the rest of us were leaving at 10:00. Angie, Jackie, and I went to my room feeling horrible—no sleep, the plane trip, exams facing us, and most of all—leaving H'wood and our new friends. But Phil, the bellhop, cheered us up by bringing us breakfast again. We stuffed in silence while Phil chatted.

My telephone rang and Freddie said he was ready if we were. We lumbered to the lobby, said good-bye to all the hotel employees, and walked to the car. Phil was waiting at the car with tears in his eyes. We kissed him good-bye and reminded him that next year he'd be College King again when the '55 College Queens came. His parting words to me were, "Please Miss Tennessee, if you see Eddie Arnold, tell him he was right—Tennessee does have the nicest women."

Crying In The Chapel

Freddie got us in a good mood on the way to the airport by talking his Bronx brogue. But, at the airport, it was the worst!! Mr. Mynatt, Mr. Bailey, and our All-Americans were waiting to see us off. Mr. Mynatt looked terrible. He said, "Girls, I've never had so much fun. If you can, come on out this summer and we'll give you those modeling jobs. I'll write your parents. We'll really have fun this summer."

He gave me a note from Mrs. Mynatt telling me good-bye, and I was in tears. I felt like an oaf, but Jackie was crying, and Angie was sobbing. We kissed everyone good-bye and with our treasure chests of Old Golds and our cans of Maxwell House coffee we boarded the plane. Freddie shouted, "E. J., I'll call your uncle the next time I'm in Las Vagas, and maybe, I'll see you there." (By the way, he not only called my uncle, but went to see him, and Uncle Jimmy's comment was, "Esther Jane, just where do you pick up all these people?")

The plane started, and we were off. "Goodbye, Hollywood, we're going home" was our song. I don't remember much about the trip since I slept all the way to Dallas. At Dallas, Angie, Jackie, and I promised to write and caught our different planes.

Gone With The Wind

When my plane landed at Memphis, I could have cried—but I was too tired. A gang of buddies met me, and I could hardly believe that I had ever gone.

I took exams, passed everything, and went home to the chaos of my sister's wedding. But Hollywood will never be forgotten by this kid. I saw Mr. Mynatt when I was in Las Vegas this summer, and two of the All-Americans called me from Florida this summer. I have received a wedding invitation from Marilyn and letters from Jackie, Shirl, and Angie. It was truly the greatest time I've ever had! Now, talking about it seems like a dream—in fact, it was a dream come true. So, girls, any one of you may be a college Queen; for, dreams do come true!!!

For once Lynx efforts were successful in bottling up the Rebels' Brackeen (22), All-American center in Junior College. David Kaylor (8), and Bob Jackson (13), "cut him off at the pass," so to speak, and he doesn't even get a good look at the target. The Lynx really gave the mighty Ole Miss a scare and we think will do even better in the next meeting. Mississippi won 83-72.

The One Man Team

In the second lap of the Saturday night double-header the Lynx out-scored the Rebels in the second half by two points after trailing 42-29 at the half, but former Junior College All-American Denver Brackeen was a little too much with his 34 points. When Southwestern started cutting the lead, big Denver was always there with his sure hook shot or unerring free throw to stifle the rally. David Kaylor was again a horse for the locals as he hit for 20 points, and Jim Winslow worked beautifully on tap-ins and close-in shots to add 17 markers. After the stomping the Rebels gave us last year, they were glad to escape with any kind of a victory this year. The box scores:

Gilliom Leads The Way

Paced by big Dick Gilliom with 34 points, Southwestern massacred Davidson here Monday night. The Lynx, with Gilliom finding himself as we knew he would, were just too much for the Wildcats. But for stalling by Davidson in the last minute, the century mark would probably have been reached. Southwestern had broken up Davidson's zone defense for the halfway mark of the first period with its accurate shooting. Kaylor, whose shooting percentage last year ranked him with the top twenty in small colleges, was again hitting that hole as he poured in 22 points. Making 16 was Billy Young who played a whale of a game in his first starting performance. Cobb led Davidson with 20 points. Walker and Shaw scored 11 and 12 each before leaving on fouls. Davidson was noticeably off, but Southwestern was really on. The scores:

Southwestern has a team to be proud of without a doubt. Any loyal student will enjoy seeing them play, knowing they will give a good account of themselves. It is a shame that such poor crowds as those at the three home games are all the support we are giving this team.

Brackeen, the big center for Ole Miss, is in the act of hooking in two points for the Ole Miss Rebels. Jim Winslow tries to stop the deadly shot to no avail. Mississippi won 83-71.

KA Wins Volleyball

KA cinched the intramural volleyball title last Tuesday by beating SAE in their final game of the season. KA went through undefeated, winning six games. SN came in second losing only one game to KA. The final standings are:

SN	5	1
SAE	4	2
ATO	3	3
PiKA	2	4
KS	1	5
IND.	0	6

The trophies for Tennis, Flagball, Ping-pong, and Volleyball were given out in student assembly Wednesday by Bernard Hooler. The MOST VALUABLE PLAYER medals were also awarded. Those receiving medals were: Tommy Buford (KA), Bernard Hooler (ATO), Buddy Whiteaker (SN), and Bob Kaufman (PiKA).
