Val Peterson Speaks Here Tomorrow

Val Peterson, former governor of Nebraska, head of the Federal Civil Defense Administration, will speak at ten a.m., Saturday, October 30, in Hardie Auditorium. His subject will be "Defense against the Hydrogen Bomb."

Governor Peterson's address is the fourth in Southwestern's current "Free World Issues" series, in which outstanding lay and military leaders bring to the college community the benefits of their practical experience in dealing with the problems confronting the peoples of the free world.

Governor Peterson's appearance in Memphis is occasioned by the national meeting of civil defense experts at Hotel Peabody.

Formidable Task

It is Governor Peterson's awesome responsibility to alert and prepare the nation against the danger of a surprise H- or A-Bomb attack," Professor David M. Amacker, chairman of the Faculty Committee on FWI addresses, points out. "He faces a task of formidable difficulty owing to popular inertia and disbelief and totally inadequate appropriations.

"The College authorities regard his appearance on the campus as so important that Chapel service has been scheduled on Saturday morning to replace the regular Friday morning convocation, in order to permit the Southwestern students and the general public to hear him," Prof. Amacker said.

Workshop Trains Students Interested in Speech Arts

A speech workshop is being conducted in the speech shack each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon by Professor Raymond Hill. The first class begins at 1:30 and the second starts at 2:30. Those participating will work on scenes from plays and will strive to increase their ability to work in speech.

Jerry Bennett, Scott Byrd, Edgar Crisler, Margaret Jenkins, Joanna Kindig, John McKinney, Ben Miller, and Don Williamson attended the first meeting. All other interested persons are invited to join the workshop group.

Higgason and Martin Outstanding

Lynx Trounce Hendrix

It was just a case of too much Big Johnny Martin and Little Jim Higgason running behind a fired up Southwestern line for the Hendrix Warriors as the Lynx routed them 33-13.

The Lynx offense finally clicked for the first time this year as the line started opening up holes in the opposition and the backs raced through them. The first half was nip and tuck with neither team gaining a deciding advantage, but Coach Rick Mays inserted ailing quarter-back Billy Young who directed the Lynx men downfield where Martin scored the first of his three touchdowns, as he bulled his way over from the 14 yard line. The conversion was good and put

Players To Present Oscar Wilde Comedy

The next production by the Southwestern Players will be Oscar Wilde's farce, "The Importance of Being Earnest." The play, one of the greatest comedies of the English language, has long been on Director Ray Hill's "favorite" list, and the cast chosen for the occasion promises to be worthy: George Hearn, Don Williamson, Pat Turley, Suzanne McCarroll, Ben Miller, Mary Wood McClintock, Mary Margaret Storck, Horace Wood, and Scott Byrd.

Mr. Hill hopes to have the show on stage in late November or early December. The important role of "Ernest" not yet having been cast, readings are still being held at all hours.

Religious Evaluation Program Concluded

Is it natural to doubt God's existence? Does Christ really matter in the complexities of today's life? How do you know when you have a call from God to a vocation?

These questions and many others were asked and discussed during this past week of Religious Evaluation. Dr. William A. Benfield, pastor of the Highland Presbyterian Church, was the speaker for the week. The students of Southwestern came to know Dr. Benfield as a dynamic preacher, outstanding scholar, and understanding friend.

After beginning the series on Sunday afternoon, October 24, Dr. Benfield gave lectures Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday mornings in chapel on the following topics: "I Believe," "Are You a Doubter?", "Does Christ Really Matter?" and "Impossible Possibilities." Accompanying the lecture series were informal discussion groups held in the dormitories in the evening and conferences held in the afternoon.

The Religious Evaluation week was intended to encourage us to think seriously about our personal religion and to evaluate our own life and its relationship with God. If we have been reminded of our responsibilities and made more aware of a stronger personal faith, then Evaluation Week at Southwestern was a success.

Betty Lunati

Marian Cobb

Lunati, Cobb, Whatley Win Talent Trophies

Zeta Tau Alpha broke tradition Saturday night by awarding trophies to two Miss Talents at their annual Talent Night. The Miss Talents are Betty Lunati and Marian Cobb; Mr. Talent of 1954 is Malcolm Whatley. Chi Omega and Alpha Tau Omega were the winning sorority and fraternity for the best all-around talent.

Betty Lunati, who was the Independents' entry, played "Glow-worm" and "The High and the Mighty" at the organ. Chi Omega's soloist, Marian Cobb, won with her performance of "Chansons Dans La Nuit" on the harp. Malcolm Whatley captured the judges' attention with his enactment of the "No Thank You" scene from the play, CYRANO DE BERGERAC.

Chi Omega's entries were Marian Cobb and also the twosome, Sherrye Patton and Lody Warner, who offered a record pantomime of "Up Above My Head." Alpha Tau Omega presented two outstanding acts; they were Tom Huff, who played a trumpet solo, and Lewis Bledsoe, who gave a dramatic reading, "Bury the Dead."

Excellent Introduction

Zeta Tau Alpha, who sponsored the Talent Night, called their presentation "New Faces." They opened the show with the "Hoedown" number from the Broadway show "New Faces of 1952." Outstanding members of the cast were Ruby Sloan as the judge, Carrie Edwards as the sheriff, and Shirley Melton as axe-brandishing Lizzie Borden. Special recognition of ZTA was made by the judges for this opening number.

The judges were: Miss Lala Stephens, Music Supervisor of the Memphis City Schools; Mr. Roy Coats, Band Director of Humes High School; and Mr. Raymond Hagg, Piano and Composition Instructor at Memphis State College.

Rare Shakespeare Editions To Be Shown At Festival

A fair is coming to Southwestern November 4, 5, and 6. It will not be the usual type fair, but will feature exhibits, movies, informal teas, forums—all concerning books. The Book Festival will take place at Burrow Library.

Students and other visitors will be able to see exhibits of books published in 1954. This extensive display will be furnished by various national publishers and the Memphis News Company.

The festival begins at noon on Thursday, November 4. Many well-known literary personalities have been invited to attend, among them Eudora Welty, William Faulkner, and Shelby Foote. Ex-mayor Walter Chandler has accepted an invitation to the event.

Shakespeare Originals

A special display will be that of the traveling Shakespeare exhibit of the Folger Shakespeare Library at Washington, D.C. This is the first traveling exhibit of early editions of Shakespeare ever to be put in circulation. The most important book of the traveling exhibit is the Gaisford copy of the First Folio edition of Shakespeare's Comedies, Histories, and Tragedies. It was published in 1623, seven years after the author's death, and it contains the first printing of half of his plays, which otherwise might be known to us only by title.

Burrow Library Festival Features Book Bargains

One of the features of the Burrow Library Book Festival which begins November 4 will be a Book Bazaar. "This Bazaar will be an excellent opportunity for students and other book lovers to secure outstanding volumes for practically nothing," Jay Stein, Burrow librarian, reports. "Prices will range from 15 cents to around 60 cents. The books will come partly from libraries of faculty members, and will include duplications and discards from Burrow Library. All proceeds from the sale will go to the library."

The books will be on sale in the workroom.

Student Body Hears Orgill

Mr. Edmund Orgill, president of Orgill Brothers, addressed the Southwestern student body and friends of the College last Friday on "The Growing Unity of the Atlantic World." The lecture was the third in Southwestern's "Free World Issues" series of convocation addresses.

Mr. Orgill's appearance on the Southwestern platform was occasioned by the recent manifesto signed by leading figures from eight of the member nations of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization suggesting a closer tie-up of the NATO powers, following the London Pact.

Mr. Orgill has been identified since its beginning with the movement for closer co-operation of Atlantic democracies. He is an official in the Atlantic Union Movement organization and through his activity has attracted nation-wide attention to the Memphis community as a center of interest in Atlantic co-operation, Professor Amacker said.

The FWI series at Southwestern, now in its third year, has proven highly popular with students and public alike, and has helped place before Southwestern students the issues confronting America today both in the National and International fields.

Directory Ready

The compilation of the Student Body Directory has been completed and the handbook is now at the printers. The directory will be available to students as soon as they are delivered to the school, probably about Wednesday of next week.

the Lynx out in front of the Warriors to stay.

In the second half the game changed in favor of the Memphians as Martin scored twice more from the four and ten yard lines. His last score was a tremendous exhibition of running, for Martin carried three Hendrix would-be-tacklers with him as he crossed the goal. Both of these scores were set by passing as the Lynx took to the air for the first real time this year and were very successful. Passing from Young to All-Memphian Bobby Rose looks to be one of the secrets to future football success here. Rose made a brilliant catch to set up one touchdown as he grabbed a Young pass right out of the hands of the defenders.

In the fourth period Speed Merchant "Digger" Higgason used his speed and uncanny running ability to rip 53 yards off tackle for a touchdown to put the game on ice. The final score came on an end run by Billy Young as the game came to a close.

Praising Brown October Ale

The 1890's was the period of Reginald De Koven's "Robin Hood" and its popular "Brown October Ale." The final lines said:

"So laugh, lads, and quaff, lads, 'twill make you stout and hale,
Through all my days I'll sing the praise of brown October ale."

Half a century later the world looks quite different, but the figurative effects of the ale of October, '54, remain the same.

The brown October ale began to run in the campus' trees this week. Reds and yellows have added a touch of color to brighten our days and warn us of the approaching emptiness of winter.

The Lynx Imbibe

In his opening address Dr. Benfield was surprised at the laughter that rippled through the audience when he asserted that "The Rebels would be damned to Hell!" The fact was that the Razorbacks had already done it the day before, and our own Lynx had been in Arkansas sipping from the same jug. Tomorrow we journey to Mississippi, and, if Millsaps is as hospitable as Hendrix was, it will be a very pleasant trip.

A Wealth of Talent

There must have been some of that good ale backstage last week, too, for the Zeta Talent Night turned out to be one of the best ever staged here. Although most students rarely agree with judges on group awards, we must admit that the individual honors this year were most fitting. Mr. Talent, Malcolm Whatley, is President of the only student theatrical group at Southwestern, the Alpha Psi Omega dramatic fraternity. In naming two talent queens, Marian Cobb and Betty Lunati, the judges confirmed what we have known all along: it's impossible to choose one alone.

Double Trouble

Even the staid Sou'wester has failed to escape the effects of a little October ale. The faithful reader will note that an unexpected upheaval among the columnists has changed "Poochie's Patter" to "Byrd's Banter," with "On The Town" suffering similar sorrow.

Festive Library

After achieving some success in their commendable drive to make a library out of the Library, the Burrow directors are giving us a chance to enjoy a few days of practical fun. Unfortunately the Book Fair doesn't begin until November, but, even though there may be little ale around, some time spent in the Library next week will be well worth your while.

Without a Taste of Water

The end will come when the Lair installs a John Barleycorn machine. Under the circumstances, it might be well to continue October all winter. Come Spring we shall have laughed and quaffed enough to last us through the lean days ahead.

Turpin President

John Turpin was elected president of Stylus at that literary organization's first meeting in Hardie Auditorium Wednesday, October 8. John is a senior and majors in psychology. He will be responsible for seeing that the organization produces a publication by Spring. Plans were formulated which cannot be revealed at present. Dr. John Quincy Wolf is faculty adviser.

Re-Pate-tion

If you're addicted to nocturnal strolls about campus on moonless nights, and, along with assorted trees, mud holes, and ghosts of departed Lynx tackles, you find yourself tripping over funny little men clad in black Homburgs and trench coats with pleats in the back, don't put in a call for the FBI—you've probably already got them.

Comes the time when the bloody Roosians start dropping nasty old germs, gasses, A, B, C, H, and Z-bombs all over the landscape, human nature and the inherent wisdom of the human feet are just naturally going to instill in us a craving for the wide open spaces and a place under the nearest haystack.

So the Great White Father in Washington and various and sundry Little Fathers all through the old 48 have been busily setting up Civil Defense programs for all our major cities—the object being to get the city-dwelling citizenry out of town with their scalps intact in case of an enemy air attack.

Hence the funny little men. If some dreary midnight those explosions which land you on your backside on the floor turn out not to be firecrackers popping in the powder room, head for the barren wasteland on the north side of campus, and a bunch of soldiers and their little vehicles will arrive to convoy you to the wilds of Raleigh.

As our private White House keyhole-peeper informs us in a direct quotation from a highly reliable source — "This is undoubtedly a very good thing." But don't get the misconception that this is a private project for Southwesterners alone. All citizens within a four mile radius are invited on the junket—dogs, cats, goldfish, turtles, and faculty members included.

All you dear readers must—simply must—toddle over to the library to take in the gala social event of the season. We refer of course to the Book Festival. Anybody who is simply anybody will be there.

There'll be plenty of books to gaze at with only a slight fee for touching, and we have it first hand that, especially for this occasion, the five-cent fee for use of water fountains will be rescinded.

The librarians will leave their whips at home, whispering will be permitted in the vestibules, and the ash trays will be emptied in the downstairs lounges. Furthermore, and as a special added attraction, freshmen girls will be permitted to leave their muzzles at home.

Be it ever so restricted, there's no place like our library.

As long as this Civil Defense thing has been installed, why not practice it a time or two. Could be quite realistic. Have planes flying overhead, guns firing, freshmen fainting, the old gym, speech shack, and the G.I. Gothics burning—make a bloody good show.

THE LAIR PHILOSOPHER says:

Never could understand why Southwestern girls go to the library at night just to get out of the dormitory. If they've got to be in stir, why make it solitary confinement?

Baptist Student Union Plans Activities For Year

The Baptist Student Union, under the leadership of Geraldine Dozier, has launched a series of programs for the coming year. The third meeting of the group will be at 6 p.m. Wednesday, November 10, in the Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority house. An effort has been made to secure well-known speakers for the forthcoming meetings. All Baptist students and any other interested students are cordially invited to attend.

with Esther Jane Swartzfager

Are you tired? Blue? Despondent? Need a change? If so, I have the news for you—no, not Hadacol, but better. This news consists simply of "go—go—go" on the town!" Memphis is your town, and it is filled with opportunities to make one forget. Forget Spinoza! Forget Biology! Forget Wordsworth! Let's Go—

THE KING AND I is still playing at the auditorium. Ben Parker gave it a terrific write-up, and who am I to say different?

La Swartzfager

Now, truly, dear readers, who could ask for anything more?? You can still see it.

If THE KING AND I doesn't appeal to you, try the Malco where WHITE CHRISTMAS is showing. The cast is tremendous—Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye, Rosemary Clooney, and Vera-Ellen. The songs are Irving Berlin's. And to top this—it's in VistaVision! Heaven only knows what VistaVision is, but it sounds good. At any rate, the advertisement got a full-page in the Commercial—

And, girls, if you're having sleepless nights, worrying over dateless nights, fretting over the male situation in general—GO TO Loew's State and see WOMAN'S WORLD. Of course, we know better, but we can dream. Besides, it's a good show. Clifton Webb, June Allyson, Van Heflin, Lauren Bacall, Fred MacMurray, Arlene Dahl, and Cornel Wilde are the stars—everything from laughs to love!

If sitting still won't shake your blues, go to the Skyway. Larry Faith is finishing up the week there with that "soft, sweet, danceable music." (To quote Scott for 2 weeks past. Just don't know what I'd do without these quotes!)

And if you are the sneakie type. Don't miss THE HUMAN JUNGLE! It was banned in Memphis and is now showing at the Sunset Drive-In at West Memphis. It stars Gary Merrill and Jan Sterling, who says, "My dance may have been a little sexy, but it was sedate." I also heard that this picture was used in New Orleans as an example of how an efficient police force works. It was shown behind closed doors to the police force there—Good example!!

If you prefer opera, catch MADAME BUTTERFLY's act at the Auditorium next Thursday evening. Tickets are on sale at Goldsmith's Central Ticket Office.

And if you are a History Major, especially one of Dr. John H. Davis' students, do not under any circumstances miss SECRET CONCLAVE. You'll learn all sorts of things—especially how the Pope is elected.

Sublime and Ridiculous

THE BARBER OF SEVILLE comes to town Sunday at 3 o'clock. This is the first in a new series of Musical Concerts. You can buy tickets for this performance or the entire season at Goldsmith's Ticket Office—That is, if you like it!!

And just the biggest news! Eddie Arnold and His Plowboys are coming Sunday. The big shows are 6 and 8 Sunday night. To top off his show, he has that wonder of all wonders, Minnie Pearl. So, that takes care of all you Arkansas and Mississippi people—

If none of these outlets of entertainment appeal to you—we'll try again.

If you are more the intellectual type, go to the Art Museum! If you are still the Frosh type, go to the zoo (amazing things can happen at a zoo). And if you are the adventurer at heart, try the Pink Palace. In other words, just go!!

This is your town! You are young, it's Autumn. (Ah, just feel the breeze) Let's go—See you on the town!! Scott, Scott, Scott!! Please, I'll never say anything again—Just give me back my column!!

Poochie's Patter

with Scott Byrd

Esther (Titania) Swartzfager decided that she was getting stale, so she's gone ON THE TOWN this week and left me here to patter away on the high society of Southwestern. It's not exactly the patter of tiny feet or the patter of rain on the sodden grave, but it's patter. So read on.

Three cheers go to Mary Margaret Storck and Will Johnson, who can now be listed among the pinned. And the same for Peggy Lynn Jones and Jimmy Carter who are once more pinned.

Congrats at Malcolm, Marian, Betty, Chi Omega, and Alpha Tau Omega for winning the Academy Awards at Zeta's Talent Night; and as long as I'm at it, I may as well congratulate Miss Zizer for getting the jug. It was just fabulous!

The Byrd

Zeta's opening "Lizzie Borden" number was priceless, and then the talent — why "talent" just isn't the word for it. (It was "genius.") Right before Talent Night, the ATOSweet-heart Club held a marvelous spaghetti supper for the ATO actives and the ATO pledges at the ATO house. (I bet ATO hasn't been in one sentence so many times since THE ANABASIS burned down.) Among the girls who saved themselves and ATO from that potato supper in the cafeteria were: Frances Van Cleave, Millie Bunn, Nita Saunders, Joan Earl, Nancy Howe, Catherine Earle, Ruby and Joanna Sloan, Sue Robinson, and Vera Watson. Robert McClelland highlighted the supper with a couple of somewhat unique monologues.

Chaucer For Laughs

The Saturday Afternoon Poetry Club met Saturday and read Chaucer's "The Miller's Tale." Afterwards ice cream and cokes were served.

Emory Johnson's luncheon was the big thing Sunday for Joanna Kindig, Rachel Gobbel, Charlotte Robinson, Dan Adams, Bill Seeds, Emmett Buford, Edith Jean Cooper, Bill Ford, and James Smith. When they'd dispensed with the fried chicken, they took up with some of Emory's old, old sheet music.

Johnnie Sudduth found out at last how the mothers at parties always feel in the kitchen, when last Monday the Zeta pledges gave an informal party for the pledges of Kappa Alpha and Kappa Sigma. To be quite specific, it was a desert. Among the things they did (besides eating) were the hokey-pokey, the bunny-hop, the cheeksey-cheeksey, and "Rabbit." According to Dick Baldwin, the hit of the evening was the Havana cigarettes which came in shades of green, tan, blue, rose, and lavender. (Doesn't that sound utterly mad, darling?)

Before and/or After

With Religious Evaluation over, Halloween parties have been popping up all over the place. Didn't you just have a scrumptious time at the Tri-Delt Open House Thursday? It really was nice; it was the most! (If this sounds rather indefinite, it's because I wrote this last Wednesday.) The Student Council party is Friday at dinner (from 6 to 8), and since Poochie couldn't go home to be with her mother for Halloween, she's going to appear as a witch. It should also be scrub-dubb. Maybe even double-double.

Freshmen Select Four New Officers

Reg Germany, president of the Elections Commission, announced the Freshman Class officers Tuesday, October 26. "I never saw a closer run-off or a better turn-out for elections. These frosh are really on the ball," he commented. Officers named were: President, Louis Zbinden; Vice-President, Walter (Mike) Cody; Secretary-Treasurer, Mary Ann Lee; and Student Council Representative, Nancy Carter.

Louis hails from Chattanooga, where he attended McCallie Military Academy. He played football and basketball in high school and plans to play basketball at Southwestern. Louis received a senior leadership award and was in the top part of his class. He is not positive about his college major, but is thinking about studying for the ministry.

The new Vice-President, Mike Cody, is from Memphis and attended East high. There he was a trackman and played basketball. He was also elected friendliest boy during his senior year. At Southwestern, running on the cross-country team, he won the Memphis Intercollegiate Cross-Country race October 16.

Mary Ann is also a Memphian and attended Lausanne School. She was Salutatorian of the senior class and editor of the annual. Outside of school she served as secretary of Four Seasons Club.

Nancy comes to Southwestern from Laurel, Mississippi, and is another scholarship student. At Laurel she was one of the top ten in the senior class. Active in church work, she was secretary of the Meridian Presbytery Council and Vice-President of her church Senior High Fellowship.

Spirited campaigning resulted in a near record vote. Today the freshmen voted on Honor Council Representatives.

Congratulations are also in order to the new editor of STYLUS—John Turpin. May he gather together many fine literary creations.

Well, I can't think of anything else, but if you don't like my patter, rest assured that you'll never find me in this column again.

Lynx To Millsaps—Seek Second Win

Tomorrow night the Maysmen will take on the powerful Millsaps Majors in Jackson in their second outing away from Fargason Field. The upsurging Lynx will be out after their second win in a row to match their two initial losses.

The Majors, who according to Coach Mays are stronger than any team faced by Southwestern this season, boast a record of four wins and two defeats and are touted as one of the finest squads to represent Millsaps on the gridiron in the past ten years. The Mississippians sustained their losses in their first two games with William Carey (14-6) and Delta State (22-6). Before the next game their ace quarterback "Red" Powell returned to school. They have since victimized Livingstone, Alabama, Howard of Birmingham, Mississippi College, and Sewanee. The lineup they start against Southwestern will probably contain ten lettermen with the lone exception being outstanding freshman center Hood. Standout performers include Powell, mentioned before fullback Lowry, left half back Nall, the leading ground gainer on the club, guards Boone and Awad, who act as captains.

Tougher Team

In comparing Millsaps with Centre, our coaches rate the Majors as tougher. They are not as big but they are faster than the Colonels. They will weigh about even with the Lynx Cats. They can boast more experienced men, more game experience, and the comparison of the scores of them and us against Mississippi College, but this does not take into consideration the vast improvement of the Lynx and the presence of eight men who were out of action for the Mississippi College game.

Coach Mays named the following probable starting line-up: ends, Rose and King; tackles, Gillis and Simpson; guards, Lee and Gracey; center, Brazeale; and backs, Young, Higason, Martin, and Lawhorn. Guards Smith and Templeton, tackle Kopsinis, and backs Turner, Russell, Heidelberg, and Bowen are breathing on the heels of the first group and might be in the opening eleven. Only three injuries are reported at this point with Tosh out of action for sure and Weed and Brankstone on the doubtful list.

Intramural Plans Set For The Year

The intramural program for the year has been set up. There are twelve events in the program including the tennis tournament which has already taken place.

Flag ball follows tennis and it is a single round robin setup. The ping pong tournament follows flag ball and it will be run in the same way as the tennis tournament. There will be an individual and runner-up trophy and a team trophy. Volley ball comes next and fraternity and independent teams may enter. It will be a double round robin affair.

Handball Tournament

Handball is next on the agenda and it is purely individual. There will be no team trophy. After the football season is over there will be a handball tournament for all varsity football players.

There will be two different basketball events this year. The first one will be made up of fraternity teams only and will be double round robin. The second one will include teams from the whole school with a minimum of eight men on a team. This will be a tournament if enough teams are entered; otherwise it will be round robin.

Badminton follows and it will be run exactly as the tennis tournament was. Horseshoes will be individual as was handball.

The golf tournament will be medal play. It will be open to both individuals and teams. A team consists of four men or more.

Softball Round Robin

The last event will be softball which will consist of fraternity and independent teams. It also will be double round robin. A shuffleboard tournament for individuals only will be played also, but the date for it has not been set.

Flag ball began last Tuesday with five teams entered. The schedule for next week is:

- Mon.—Nov. 1, SAE vs. ATO
- Tue.—Nov. 2, PiKA vs. KA
- Wed.—Nov. 4, KA vs. SN
- Thurs.—Nov. 4, KA vs. SAE

Cross-Country Team Competes

Last Saturday night five members of the cross-country team competed in a steeple chase at the half of the Memphis State football game at Crump Stadium.

The race was won by Jim Ethridge of State, but Lynxman Mike Cody added another good race to his credit as he took second over the gruelling 1-1/4 mile course over hurdles.

Julian White captured sixth place for Southwestern, and George Morris and Eddie Horton were seventh and eighth respectively. Mark Coleman was tenth for the Lynx.

Race Here Saturday

The team will run against Centre and Sewanee here next Saturday afternoon on our own course. The race will be 3-1/7 miles and will begin at 1:30 p.m. Southwestern will enter its complete distance team in that race, Coach Johnson says.
