Funds Campaign In City To Last Two Months

A $750,000 drive to support Southwestern's expanding liberal arts program will be conducted in Memphis during the months of January and February of 1952. President Peyton N. Rhodes announced the project today.

A luncheon conference of civic leaders and business men was held yesterday to discuss greater support of the ideals of a liberal arts college and greater contributions to Southwestern in particular.

Mr. Sidney W. Farnsworth, Chairman of the Board of Directors of Southwestern, presided at the meeting. Mayor Watkins Overton, President Peyton N. Rhodes, and Dr. Donald Henning, Rector of Calvary Episcopal Church, spoke to the group of over 750 assembled businessmen.

Each of the four synods outside of Memphis which support Southwestern will make contributions of $750,000, making the grand total $1,500,000.

The amount received in this drive will be apportioned in four provide scholarships for needy students, $250,000.

Lodge Rules Revised For Women Visitors

Two women, if members of the junior or senior classes, are now permitted to visit fraternity houses. Formerly it was required that no less than four women visit a fraternity lodge at any time.

Hours for such visits were extended from 1:00 p.m. until 6:00 p.m. on Saturdays by action of the Student Welfare Committee on December 15.

The regulations as revised require that to visit a fraternity house there must be either two junior or senior women and no less than a total of four women from any class in the group. Two junior or senior men, members of the lodge being visited, must also be present whenever women students are there.

the Classical Association of the Middle West and South, and the fraternity has forty-five chapters at leading schools including Northwestern, Duke, William and Mary, Vanderbilt, Agnes Scott, and Westminster.

The Small Colleges Are Indispensable

(Commercial Appeal, January 2)

The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has set up a permanent committee to study the problems of the 14 independent colleges and universities in the area. After the situation has been explored and analyzed, the committee will work out some feasible means of strengthening these institutions.

The Independent Colleges

In announcing the formation of the committee, OSCAR A. TRIPPETT, president of the chamber, said: "Our free society can hardly exist if the independent college, from which that society drew inspiration, is allowed to disappear and all education is taken over by the Government." Truer words were never spoken and it is encouraging to find them coming from a business man.

As a matter of fact, the lot of the average independent educational institution these days is not a happy one. Its costs of operation have doubled or tripled. Its income from endowment is ordinarily about half what it was a score of years or so ago. Finally, the great fortunes from which such institutions gained much of their support are being taxed out of existence and can no longer supply fresh support on a satisfactory basis.

Increased Tuition

The independent colleges and universities can raise and have increased their charges, but there is a limit there. Higher tuition and fees are also not desirable because they tend to deprive fine students whose financial condition is not flourishing of the special benefits the independent institution affords.

Certainly concern for the independent colleges does not imply criticism for the tax-supported institutions. It is just that each type of college has its own role to play and that each role should be played. As we advance in knowledge and use of science and the machine, it becomes correspondingly important to maintain a balance in the arts, the humanities, philosophy and the like. As we have learned at great cost, the ethics and motives of the scientist must be constructive if large harm is not to result.

A Systematic Plan

Apparently the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has in mind some systematic plan for sustained help for its independent educational institutions and that is sensible and as it should be. It means to finance and expand these indispensable aids to maintaining freedom of thought and it could not find any better investment. The program is one that might well be emulated in many other growing and prosperous communities.

Alvehy Marques, Southwestern foreign student, tries to send Christmas greetings to his parents over short wave. He contacted several stations in Brazil, but was unable to reach his home town, Campinas. —By Al Clemens

Brazil Answers Alvehy's Call, But Zequinha Can't Be Found

By Toby Horn

Two unsuccessful attempts at contacting radio station PY2ADV, Campinas, Brazil, were made by Alvehy Marques during the Christmas holidays. Working with radio engineer Claude Bass of Memphis, Alvehy tried to communicate with his parents on both December 27 and 28.

Alvehy wrote to his parents early in December telling them that he would try to contact them via short wave. With the help of Fred Prichard, Southwestern junior, he arranged to make his call from Mr. Bass's transmitter, W4DHQ.

Milan Recital Given By Former Students

Tchaikowsky's "Swan Lake" Ballet To Be Danced

The musical calendar for this first month of the year is rather light. However, there are one or two events well worth attending.

Ex-Students

Among engagements announced for midsouth members of the Young Artists Concert Management was a joint recital by Joy Brown, violinist, and May Mount, harpist, at Milan on last Tuesday, Jan. 8. Both are ex-students of Southwestern. Miss Brown attended as a special student and May Mount transferred to Memphis State after her sophomore year.

Southwestern can also feel proud of its own Betty Jane Boland, pianist, faculty member of the College of Music, who will appear in Leland, Miss. on January 24.

Swan Lake

On Saturday, Jan. 19, two of the top artists of the Ballet Theater will be presented in Tchaikowsky's famous "Swan Lake" at Ellis

Zequinha

Alvehy's parents were to receive calls on the nights of December 27 and 28 at a radio station belonging to one of his friends, "Zequinha." Evidently the letter did not arrive in time, since no stations near Campinas could be contacted.

Although Alvehy did not reach his parents, he was able to talk to several Brazilian radio operators working in the 20 and 40 meter bands. One station, PY3CF, in Rio Grande do Sul came in particularly well.

Alvehy says that he is going to keep trying until he does contact his parents.

Auditorium. Mary Ellen Moylan and Igor Youskevitch will portray the enchanted princess and the princely hunter in one of the most beloved of the classic ballets.

The Youth Symphony Orchestra of Memphis has announced plans for a second concert sometime in April. The orchestra is composed of amateurs, students, and professional students who play together primarily for the fun of it.

Spirit of '52

TO THE STUDENTS OF SOUTHWESTERN—

I welcome the opportunity afforded me in this first issue of The Sou'wester for 1952 to bring each of you hearty New Year's greetings. I hope that this year may bring many challenges to your best efforts, a rich sense of accomplishment in work well done, new discoveries among the treasures of the human spirit, and an abiding faith in God.

I urge you in 1952 to seek opportunity and not security, to pioneer rather than to long for a guaranteed existence. Captain Henrik Carlsen, who chose to stay with the Flying Enterprise, was not looking for an easy time. His dauntless courage and physical stamina were supported by the spiritual assets of a great faith and an inner assurance. He has set us a timely example for the New Year.

Everlasting Fight Liberates Some

Alumni Organizations Cavort And Raise Funds For College

By Douglas Marsh

A great many members of the Southwestern family do not currently dwell within its venerable walls. They are the brave souls who have nobly preceded us in the everlasting struggle for the B. A.—our alumni.

Anybody who has ever attended Southwestern for at least one semester for credit is eligible for membership in the Southwestern Alumni Association. An obvious good feature of this organization is the fact that it assesses no dues.

All officers of this organization, except our own Goodbar Morgan, the Secretary-Treasurer, are elected for a period of two years. Mr. Morgan is appointed by the College Administration. S. Shephard Tate is president of Association; the vice-presidents are Waddy West, Jr., Clark McDonald, Dr. Robert Black, Wave McFadden, and Mrs. James Breyspraak.

The Purpose

The purpose of the Association is, of course, to assist Alumni in keeping in touch with the old Alma Mater and to provide ways for alums and students to participate in joint activities.

At present there are two such activities annually—Homecoming in the fall (greatly altered this year because of the absence of football) and Alumni Day in the spring, when members of the graduating class are entertained by Memphis Alumni.

Placement Bureau

Of more practical benefit to students is the Placement Bureau sponsored by the Alumni Office. This service aids in securing employment for Southwestern graduates and part-time work for students currently enrolled.

From time to time, alums are asked to contribute to the Alumni Fund—the overall name for alumni contributions to the college. Under this general heading come the Living Endowment Fund (which, among other things, defrays expenses of the Alumni Office), the Neely Memorial Gymnasium fund, the Scholarship Fund, and "Friends of Southwestern."

Men Of Memphis

Organically separate from the Alumni Association, unless considered a Memphis chapter of the parent organization, is a group called the Southwestern Men of Memphis. This group is strictly a social organization with apparently no serious purpose. It holds monthly luncheon meetings and occasional dinner meetings. Obviously, there are dues—three dollars per year to be painfully exact.

Officers serve for one year; present officers are Frank Campbell, President; James F. Breyspraak, Vice-president; and Edward F. Thompson, Secretary.

A similar group for Southwestern Alumnae is now being considered.

Wings To The Word

By Margaret Jones

Wings to the Word, a movie about mission work in Brazil, will be shown at the Westminster Fellowship of Evergreen Church Sunday night, January 13, at 6:15. The Fellowship is studying during the month of January the mission word of the Southern Presbyterian church and its mission fields. After the meeting cokes and cookies will be served.

Chapel Speakers

Chapel services, featuring two outside speakers, will follow the regular schedule next week.

Dr. Price will have the devotional exercises on Monday morning, January 14, and Samuel D. Maloney, a graduate from Union Theological Seminary will hold chapel Tuesday, Jan. 15. Rev. M. Wayne Gray, assistant pastor at Evergreen church will conduct chapel services on Thursday morning, January 17.

Regular student assemblies will be held Wednesday and Friday mornings.

The Reverend Mr. R. B. Gibbs, of the Unitarian Church, will be the guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Christian Union Forum. He will give a review of the book, The Individual and His Religion, on Wednesday afternoon, January 16, at 3:45.

Review Of Year's Sports Has Promises For Improvements

By Don Ramier

The advent of a new year gives me the opportunity to review Southwestern's glories and miseries accumulated last year in all phases of sports. The year 1951 was a cruel one to our athletic warriors—a year that saw all of our teams finish their schedule with more losses than wins.

The football team played seven games in '51, losing them all. Our charges averaged 44 points in those seven games while the opposition tallied 72.

A Strong Link

Next in order of athletic chronology came tennis, which has for the past few years been a strong link in our chain of sports events. The team faced a tough schedule that included Tulane, Ole Miss, and Western Michigan, but emerged with 5 wins against 6 set-backs. The netsters placed fourth in the Tennessee Intercollegiate Tourney.

The 1951 golf team wound up its season in a manner typical of most Southwestern links squads. It beat all opponents from smaller schools, while losing to the big boys, including Wisconsin, Ole Miss, and a spectacular team from NATTC at Millington. The stokers won 4 of 11 matches and captured third place in the Tennessee Intercollegiate Tourney.

Baseball

The baseball team, plagued by weak pitching and inexperienced mask-men, notched 3 victories and dropped 4 contests.

Basketball under Coach Johnson came next on the agenda. Thus far his team has defeated Millsaps, while bowing to the eight other opponents. Our hardwood machine has average 53 points per game, and the opposition has hit for 73 each tilt. In 9 games this season we are 9 points better on offense, while one point weaker on defense; as compared with seven games played last season in 1951.

Participation

During the past school year 60 per cent of the male student-body participated in intramural sports. In this first semester 56 per cent have already joined the intramural ranks, and the figure is sure to grow as the year progresses. The following statistics compare the school years:

	1950-1951	1951-1952
Football	29%	46%
Volley-ball	27%	32%
Basketball	40%	63%

The percentages show that, under a new and progressive intercollegiate regime, intramural sports are not suffering. Could we be advancing toward a better balance between intramurals and a winning varsity program? The future holds the answer.

John Austin leaps high to try for a goal in the Arkansas State basketball game. Although he missed this one, Austin was high scorer of the game.

ATO And SN Boast Perfect Ball Records

A synopsis of the intramural basketball games played so far this season shows that ATO and SN are leading the intramural league. Each team boasts a perfect record of two games won and none lost.

Kappa Alpha has won two games and dropped only one, a thrilling one-point decision to SN.

Kappa Sigma has posted only one win while losing twice.

PIKA and SAE compose the cellar of the league, each having lost both of their games.

Spanish Club's Program Is On Mexico Vacation

At 4:00 p.m., Thursday, January 10, the Spanish Club met at the home of Prof. M. W. Storn.

Dr. Storn, who spent his Christmas vacation in Mexico, told the group about his trip. Mrs. Andrews, Spanish conversation instructor, also participated on the program.

Lynx Cagers Victims Of Bethel Basketeers

Early Scoring Handicaps Cats In Second Meeting On Hardwood

Bethel's Cagers downed the Lynx Cats for the second time in the season on Tuesday night 67-55. This was a considerable improvement for Southwestern's boys since they had lost the earlier tilt here on the campus 74-41.

The favored Bethel was out front most of the way, and the Lynx could hold them down some but couldn't catch them. Since the halftime score was 44-31 for Bethel, the Cats out-scored them in the second half and shortened the lead by one point.

It has been characteristic of the Southwestern Cagers this year to play a better second half game than they do first half. It gives them an advantage that they would certainly not have if they ran out of wind in the closing minutes, but woe unto them when they run up against a team that gets off to a large and fast lead.

Johnny Maxwell was top scorer for the Cats in Tuesday night's tilt with 16 points. The statistics are as follows:

Zeta Slumber Party Held Saturday

By Bill Hughes

Kappa Sigma will have its annual formal dance Saturday night, January 12, in the Forest Room of the Hotel Gayoso. Music for the dance, which will last from 9:00 until 12:00, will be played by Bill Justice and his orchestra.

Members of Zeta Tau Alpha held a slumber party Saturday night, January 5, at the ZTA lodge on the campus. Besides the usual mixture of refreshments and prank-playing, the highlights of the evening were an impromptu performance by the pledges and several hours of "harmonizing" by the night-owl quartette.

The regular monthly meeting of the YWCA was held Tuesday afternoon in Voorhies Playroom. Carole Macklin gave a report of the Student Volunteer Movement Conference she attended during the Christmas holidays. Mary Frances Steen and Betty Ann McFadden led the group singing which followed.
