WF Retreat At Chickasaw Begins Today

At noon today fifty-four Southwesterners with pillows, tooth brushes, bathing suits and Bibles climbed aboard the bus or "pick-up truck" headed for Chickasaw State Park for the three-day annual spring retreat of Westminster Fellowship. The bulletin instructed them not to take worries, school books, or closed minds and hearts. They will not have time for these with the crammed schedule of lectures, discussion groups, worship services, swimming, boating, badminton, and softball.

Friday the first thing on the program is supper, then recreation. The welcome will be given by the vice-moderator, Libby Shaiffer, and the worship service led by the moderator, Newton Todd.

The first address of the main speaker, Dr. Samuel Stumpf, professor of philosophy at Vanderbilt, will be Saturday morning. It will be followed by discussion groups led by outstanding ministers, theologians, and professors. Dr. T. M. Lowry will direct "God and Country," and Dr. Dan Rhodes, "And What Is Your Calling." Other groups, all of which will meet again in the afternoon, will be: "Is It Love" by Rev. George Chauncey of Brownsville; "Let's Join the Human Race" by Dr. John Compton, professor of philosophy at Vanderbilt; and "The Church and Life" by Rev. Alexander Hunter, Synod Advisor for Westminster Fellowship.

Dr. Stumpf will again address the group, students from Southwestern, Vanderbilt, Memphis State College, and Austin Peay, on "The Human Response" that evening. After the installation of new officers, the Southwestern WF will direct the worship service.

Eight a.m. Sunday will find the retreaters seated by the lake for the Morning Watch. Assembly's Training School and seminary students, including Bob Crumby of Union Seminary, a 1953 graduate of Southwestern, will lead Bible studies. The Sacrament of Holy Communion will follow.

After lunch the fifty-four, laden with new ideas from the discussions and new religious literature from the book store, will return to Memphis.

Singers Present Spring Concert

The Southwestern Singers will present a performance of a Bach Chorale and Schubert's "Mass" in Evergreen Church, Tuesday, May 4, with the Orchestra. The Singers have been invited to sing with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra next year.

Democratic Senator Briefs Geneva Stakes

Senator Albert Gore, Democrat from Tennessee, paid Southwestern a surprise visit last week. Mr. Gore, now serving his first term in the U. S. Senate, stopped off on his way back to Washington.

In line with our Free World Issues Series, Senator Gore gave us an advanced view of this week's Geneva Conference. The nations of the world, he said, are playing for high stakes at Geneva. For Red China and Russia immediate expansion is at stake. Asia holds rich stores of strategic commodities which can be used for war or peace—according to who has access to them. The conflict is now centered around Indo-China, the Orient's only rice surplus area. America has at stake the survival of western influence in the Orient. If Indo-China falls, the gate will be opened for the Communists to take over all of Asia. The natives of this area have at stake their right of self-determination, political concessions and their personal freedom.

Negotiation Door Closed

Senator Gore said that the Republicans had apparently closed the door to negotiation. He hinted that Communist China and Soviet Russia have not been hindered in their immediate objectives. While the Communists took China and invaded Korea during a Democratic Administration, it is under the Republicans that the tragedy of Indo-China stares us in the face. Senator Gore attacked the present high position of the military and declared that to win in Asia we will need a "greater force than military power." He closed by suggesting that we find a way to imbue the population with an appreciation of and a desire for freedom.

Albritton To Head MSF

Annelle Albritton was elected President of the Methodist Student Fellowship at the last meeting on April 22. Other officers include Rachel Gobbel, Vice-President, Sara Jane Seissinger, Sec.-Treasurer; Gordon Robertson, Recreation Chairman; Mary Ann Wachal, Worship Chairman; Sandra Ellis, P.R.C. Representative; and Bevington Farnsworth, Publicity-Membership Chairman.

Dr. Dan Rhodes gave a talk on Love, Courtship, and Marriage. Next meeting will be a picnic on May 5. All members are urged to attend. Make your reservations with Mary Ann Hackleman or Sandra Ellis before Monday, May 3.

WAA Officers

New W.A.A. officers have been recently elected. They include Sallie Myhr Thomas, president; Carolyn Williamson, vice-president; and Jerry Whittman, secretary-treasurer.

The W.A.A. Representatives are Mary Frances Files, KD; Sue Earp, AOPi; Mimsy Townsend, Chi O; Joan Womack, ZTA; and Tri-Delt, unannounced.

Pre-registration

Pre-registration for the first semester of the 1954-55 session will be held next Monday through Wednesday, May 3, 4, and 5.

Students who will be juniors or seniors next fall will work out their new program with their major professor; freshmen and sophomores will do so with their present faculty adviser.

Schedules and registration cards will be available in the registrar's office Monday morning, May 3.

Faculty members have been asked to keep office hours on the mornings of the three days except while conducting class, and in the afternoons from 2:00 to 3:30. This arrangement will permit all students to prepare their 1954-55 program now with a minimum of trouble and avoid the rush next fall.

Malcolm Evans, Registrar.

BSU Installs Officers

The Baptist Student Union held a banquet on April 26 for the installation of the new 1954-1955 officers at Union Avenue Baptist Church.

Ann Caldwell entertained with music using as her theme, "Religious Music with a kick!"

Margaret Reeves, student nurse, was introduced as the speaker for the installation ceremony of the new officers. As each officer came forward to receive a golden tinted key, symbolizing authority, Miss Reeves explained the duties of each officer.

Geraldine Dozier received the key of authority as the new President, Rita Cox as First Vice president, Claudia Owen as Second Vice president, Nancy Clements as Third Vice president, Sue Earp as Secretary-Treasurer, and Jim Holmes as Reporter.

DDD Officers Announced At Soc-Hop

The Music stopped and all eyes turned toward Patsy Braswell, retiring president of Tri-Delt, as she invited the new president, Vera Watson, to award the prizes for the evening at their annual Backward Soc-Hop in Voorhies Basement Thursday night. As her first official duty, Vera presented the door prize of a box of candy to Dick Brankstone, and the prize for the wackiest-tackiest socks, which were shocking pink, to Bill Williams. The admission fees will go into Tri-Delt's Scholastic Fund, which will provide scholarships for one or more Southwestern co-eds, to be announced in May.

The other new officers are: Jean McLean, vice-president; Margaret Jones, recording secretary; Josie Clemens, corresponding secretary; Catherine Coleman, treasurer; Anne Hixon, assistant treasurer; Peggy Crocker, marshal; Anne Barr, chaplain; Robin Sprague, Pan representative; Mary Ann Short, assistant Pan representative; Elaine Vickrey, historian; Margaret Jenkins, rush party chairman; Lollie Speir, recommendation chairman; Carolyn Townes, assistant recommendation chairman; Marilu White-side, house chairman; Sallie Myhr Thomas, social chairman; Libby Shaifer, assistant social chairman; Sandra Ellis, Trident correspondent; Frances Van Cleave, sponsor

A Job Well Done

A lot of work is done at Southwestern that most students don't even know about. It is to our credit that the calibre of the leadership we have makes it possible for the majority of organizations in this highly organized school to function well. The students who are able to take advantage of the extra-curricular opportunities we have here should be very grateful to those who are so unselfish in giving of their time and talents.

Unfortunately such is not the case. Those who do the work rarely get the credit. This has been called to our attention by the swift and silent passing from the scene of Bill Hughes and this year's Student Council. Bill and the Council have done a great deal of fine work, both in front and behind the scenes, and have been responsible for the relatively smooth course of Student affairs. It would be a dreadful error to permit their term to end without offering them our thanks publicly. So here's to Bill Hughes and the out-going Student Council with a pat on the back for a difficult job well done.

Campus Challenges

"Be ye therefore perfect even as your father in heaven is perfect." Matthew 5:48.

This seems to me to be one of the chief dangers that we face on our campus today. In almost every local church you will find that type of person who is morally perfect and yet who lacks what we might call goodness. In "Huckleberry Finn" Mary Twain brings this out very vividly in Huck's two aunts. One is naturally good, while the other is morally fine and yet exceptionally mean. His revulsion for the mean aunt is a typical reaction of all people.

In my opinion, it is this type of person that hurts the Church and Christianity more than anything else. People on the outside look at them as typical examples and yet they show little, if any Christian love and consideration.

Another Type

Another type of "good person" that I dislike is the one who is not tempted by certain sins and yet criticizes those who are bothered by those sins. It seems that these moral people should have no say so in an ethical question that they are not bothered with. This is one danger of people who have led a sheltered life—they are unfamiliar with the problems of those who have been exposed to sin and corruption. You do not have to commit a sin in order to understand it, but you should make an effort to find out the motives, results, etc. before you attack it.

Morality and Goodness

The ideal, of course, is to combine morality and goodness. This is a goal to be constantly sought after. But if a person must be either moral or good, I'll choose the good person every time. Don't look down your nose at people, try to understand and help them.

—Bill Hughes

Aydelotte Tells Role Of Christian Layman

Southwestern's Religious Seminar met Friday, April 23rd in the library. The meeting was opened with prayer by the chairman, Bob Goodson. Afterwards he turned the program over to Jimmy Aydelotte who introduced the speaker, his father.

Mr. James Aydelotte took the topic "Opportunities and the Significance of a Christian Layman." During his talk he pointed out what a Christian layman could do to supplement the minister in the work of the church. After the talk the floor was thrown open for questioning. Mr. Aydelotte is now the chairman of Tennessee's Home Mission Board, and an elder in Second Presbyterian Church.

The next meeting on May 7th is to be for electing officers and also for an inspiring program.

Burrow Here

We stated in our first column that from time to time we would deal here with rules and regulations. There is one rule which has caused some confusion and misunderstanding this year, and we would like to explain it to you.

This rule is the one concerning the desk closing hours of 9:30 on week nights and 4:30 on Saturday. Some of you have tried from time to time to check books out after these closing hours and have not understood why we could not do it. The reason for this early closing is that it takes at least a half hour of uninterrupted work for us to close the building. At the time the desk closes, we change the date stamps to the next day's date. After this any books checked out must be separated from the other books checked out that day as they have a different date due. This also complicates our second task of counting statistics of the day's circulation. The biggest job of all is closing the building which takes almost a half hour by itself as we have to check the whole building to be sure the lights are out, the windows closed, and all the doors locked.

We feel sure that, if you know and understand the reasons for this rule, you will be able to find time before 9:30 or 4:30 to check out the books you need or to pick up your reserved books.

Dr. A. I. Smith Becomes Fellow Of The AAAS

Dr. Arlo I. Smith, associate professor of biology at Southwestern, has been made a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, according to information received in Memphis today.

The bid came largely as a result of Dr. Smith's outstanding services as secretary of the Tennessee Academy of Science, an affiliate of the AAAS. As a fellow in the Association, Dr. Smith will become eligible to election to the national council of the organization, and to participate at policy making levels in the business of the scientific group. Dr. Smith joined the faculty of Southwestern in 1946.

Apply For Publications Positions

Anyone interested in becoming Editor or Business Manager of the Sou'wester or of the Lynx is requested by Mary Rodriguez, Publications Commissioner, to file his application with the Publications Board immediately.

Here's a tired old question for you to muse on for a moment. If you could go anywhere in the world, where would you go? Germany or the School of Music, maybe? Miami or Evergreen Presbyterian Church? How about the South Seas or Ellis Auditorium? Perhaps Spain or Calvary Episcopal Church?

O.K., you can stop drooling and read on. I've got it mapped out how you can stay right here in Memphis, Tenn. (Cotton Carnival City!), and take a world tour at the same time. And I don't mean seeing a travelogue or reading "Ten Weeks on a Raft" by Ava La Marr.

The South Seas will splash in at the Malco in the form of a film entitled "Laughing Anne." It's a Technicolor drama based on a Joseph Conrad story, which is almost enough to make you hope it's as good as "Outcast of the Islands" was a couple of years back. Among those who'll be wading through it with you are Wendell Corey, Margaret Lockwood, and Forrest Tucker.

Saturday in "Carnival Story" the Palace gives us, not only Germany, but also a movie with a theme right down our alley—"Like a dollar goes from hand to hand, a woman goes from man to man; she keeps travelin' . . ." Steve Cochran bullies his way around a merry-go-round, and as the travelin' gal, Anne Baxter, who was so good here in "John Brown's Body," has herself one Bette Davis of a time snarling, spitting, and writhing between trips on that merry-go-round.

On our world jaunt you'll find another "story" at the Strand, "The Miami Story" which stars Adele Jergens and Barry Sullivan. (Wonder just how many movies have had the word "story" in the title? I can think of "Philadelphia Story," "Story of Three Loves," and "The Stratton Story.") Oh, well, the Warner at least has a film which doesn't claim to be a "story" or to go any place in particular either; it's "The Mad Magician," and it is content to concern itself with Eva Gabor and a buzz saw.

A little closer to home are the senior music recitals this weekend. Joanne Cunningham's is at 8:30 Friday at the College of Music, where she'll play works by Beethoven and Debussy. Sarah Jane Wood will give her organ recital at Calvary Episcopal Church at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, and at 4 P.M. Jackie Coker, Charles Malham and Wade McHenry will jointly recite at the School of Music. These recitals are really a bargain at the price; they're free.

Similarly priced will be the concert given by the singers and orchestra over at Evergreen Presbyterian Church on Tuesday. Works by Schubert and Bach will be among the offerings.

If you've got your heart set on Spain, remember that the Metropolitan Opera Company is going to sound off on "Don Giovanni" on May 7. But if you won't be able to make that, on May 2 America's other national opera company, The Grand Ole, is bringing in a jamboree featuring Red Foley, the Cumberland Mountain Boys, and The Neal Kids. Both operatic presentations will be in Ellis Auditorium.

If you would like to dance to music from any country, Hal McIntyre and his orchestra might be able to help you on that score. They will be playing at the Skyway until May 8.

And so as the setting sun sinks low in the west and Hawaiian guitars twang in the distance, I say, "Farewell, ivy covered walls." For a while I won't see my books; I'll see you ON THE TOWN!

Poochie's Patter

It's May 1, and Pi Intersorority is proud to announce its May Day Pi, Miss Louise Aikin. Lukie has been in headlines quite a bit lately. She's new president of KD and vice-president of the Honor Council and a long list of other things.

Outings, outings and more outings have been taking place—Blue Lake and Shelby Forest have been overrun by Southwesterners lately—the more the merrier!

Today a gang of W.F.'s left for Chickasaw to join forces with other W.F.'ers from the state to participate in a retreat of fun, frolic, and inspiration.

Friday the Zeta house was rather crowded with a bridge party (benefit) given by the Mother's Club and a dessert party given by the actives for the KA's that night.

Congrats to Chi O on their new pledge, Jane Johnson, and new members, Nancy Nearn, Erwin Hansch, Lucy Huff, Mary Lewis Myatt, and Judy Davenport. Chi Omega May Festival is today and the Chi O's have invited members of the Memphis Girls' Club.

Tri Delt is having all kinds of parties. The Scholarship Supper is May 3 at the Tri Delt's house. May 8 is the Pansy Desert in Fisher Memorial garden honoring Senior Women. The entertainment will be a fashion show after which the Tri Delt Alumni will receive the Circle degree. The Tri Delt Scholarships will be announced then.

Congrats to Pinnees — Carolyn Townes and Bill Lawson and Martha Jane Morrison and Charlie Weiss—

Pi KA's are having Bridge lessons on Monday nights for those of you who don't know how to play—. There are still three more Monday nights to go, so take advantage of this opportunity.

The AOPi's will have a scholarship supper Monday, May 3, at their House. Those who have from a 3.0-4.0 average will wear anything and eat filet; those having 2.5-2.9 will wear skirts and sweaters and eat club steak; those having 2.0-2.4 will wear blue jeans and eat hamburgers; and those having below 2.0 will wear sheets and eat cereal. The Mary DeWar Cup for Scholastic Improvement will be presented to the member having the greatest improvement in grade average from second semester of last year to first semester of this year. Sounds like lots of fun!

Don't forget only three and a half more weeks of school—make hay while the sun shines!

Cotton Court Includes Eleven

Cotton Carnival time is almost here again. The plans are as colorful and magnificent as ever. The first official function was last Saturday when the Queen was crowned at the Crown and Scepter Ball.

In the court from Southwestern are Betsy Ball, Nancy Deupree, Miriam Heard, Anne Thomas, Helen Walker, Harriette Mathews, Nancy Pickens, Kay Rausin, Connie White, Lucy Huff, and Sue Earp.

There will be a Royal Club Tea Dance for the ladies of the court and their escorts on Monday, May 11. On Tuesday there will be a display of fireworks and the royal barge will come in. All day Wednesday and Thursday pilgrimages and parades will take place. On Friday the Children's Parade, which has for its theme, "The March of the Toys," will move through the city. Then to climax the week of festivities, the Last Nighters Party will be held Saturday night.

Intramurals

At the end of the second week of play in boys softball, Sigma Nu leads with a 4-0 record followed by ATO and KA with 2-1 records. The Standings to present are:

	Won	Lost
A T O	2	1
K A	2	1
S A E	0	3
Pi K A	0	3

Scores on post games since the last edition of the paper are: ATO 15, SAE 3; ATO 11, KA 10; SN 12, SAE 9; KA 20, PiKA 15; SN 14, ATO 13; SN, Pi KA (forfeit); KA 17, SAE 10.

The white clads met a brick wall in the form of Western Michigan's top-flite racket wielders. Only Crais was able to come through with a win as he topped Ed Foster 7-5 and 6-3. The rest of the team lost in straight sets except for Crais and Henry's three set loss in doubles to Farrell and Donnelly. These northern lads undoubtedly had the best team the Lynx will face this year.

The Lynx bounced back on Tuesday after the Western Michigan loss to trounce High Point College reversal of the score of the previous day.) Crais had a tough three set match as he dropped Carlos Horcasitas 4-6, 6-2. Henry also had a close skirmish as he outlaid Rudy Frazier 16-14, 0-6, 6-1. Horcasitas and Frazier, however, truned the tables in doubles by besting Crais and Henry 0-6, 6-4, 8-6. All of the other singles and doubles matches were won in straight sets by the Cats.

In the Howard return match last Saturday four out of five singles went to Southwestern in straight sets. Both doubles teams had to go three sets to win.

Tennis Team Boosts Record

Coach Derrick Barton's tennis team compiled a two and two record on their Easter road trip and then returned to their own rubico to win two and lose one. On the road the Lynx dropped heartbreakers to Millsaps and Alabama by 5-4 scores, but finished with 6-3 and 5-4 wins over Howard and Emory respectively. After Western Michigan's powerhouse whalloped them 8-1 here last Monday, they stomped High Point 8-1 on Tuesday and Howard 6-1 on Saturday.

At Millsaps there were a lot of long matches. Crais, Buford, and Mount turned in three set victories over Moore, James, and McCormick. Crais and Henry defeated Moore and James in No. 1 doubles in another three set match for the only other Southwestern point. The match was not over until eight o'clock at night.

Alabama
In the Alabama match Crais, Henry, and Vogt came through with straight set singles victories over Cox, LeCroy, and Bowman, but the other three singles were lost in straight sets. Vogt and Morris got the only win in doubles over Kramer and Plott.

Southwestern swept five out of six singles matches to cinch the match early against Howard. Crais and Henry picked up the other point with a well-played three set win in No. 1 doubles.

Led by the play of Tommy Crais, as he whipped outstanding No. 1 man John Fraser 6-3, 7-5, the Barton boys pulled a surprise win over Emory in Atlanta. Henry, Vogt, and Mount also won singles matches. The No. 2 doubles team of Buford and Mount came through with a straight win over Loudermilk and Zimmo for the fifth point.

Torch Taps Nine; Thomas Is Outstanding Sophomore

Torch, Honorary society for senior women, held its May tapping service in chapel. Nine junior women were invited into membership because of their accomplishments of leadership and scholarship. Those tapped were Lisa Rollo, last year's outstanding sophomore, Dot Harris, Mary Williams, Claudia Owen, Vera Watson, Carolyn Williamson, Esther Jane Swartzfager, Mary Rordiguez and Margaret Jones. Sallie Myhr Thomas was chosen as this year's outstanding sophomore.

TRACK MEN QUIT TEAM

By Perry Dannelley

The track team has been reduced to two men, Pete Street and Tom Tosh. Street is a good sprint man, and Tosh is 880 runner. Most of Southwestern's scoring thus far this season has been limited to these two men. The third highest scorer, Bob Jackson, quit the team. Jackson tallied in pole vaulting and the broad jump. At the beginning of the year a total of 17 men were on the track squad.

The team had a rough time getting started and has lost all the meets up to this point. Most of the boys were slow in getting in shape, but they worked hard to prepare for the meets. As the season proceeded the competition became tougher, and the boys had to be more in shape. The team tried hard, but the opposition was too strong to overcome.

From this point on the team would be out of town for every Saturday, and the boys would miss their Saturday classes. This class cutting would be hard on the team particularly the freshmen members of the squad. Also it is hard for Coach Johnson to give the proper amount of time to coaching boys as he has the ball team to coach also.

Building Program

Coach is planning a rebuilding program for the track team next year. He hopes to get boys who have competed in high school track and would make good material for the squad.

On the other hand it may be noticed that much of our school spirit lies on our athletic events. A good showing such as that made by our basketball team means a good school spirit. A poor showing may be a sign of poor school spirit.

This year our track team had more men out than last year. We had 17 this year in comparison to 9 turnouts last year. At the beginning of the season Coach said that the team had better material than last year. This could be partially due to the larger turnout this year.

A college of this size has to give complete support to its teams for them to be a competitor. There is an old saying that competition makes a stronger competitor. To have competition you must first have the men, and after that you must have team spirit.

This year's cinder team had quite a few freshmen that may have in a couple of years been the nucleus of an outstanding track team. To do this they would have to give the team their all. This year's members gave the team a better chance than it had last year, and next year may even be better.

Coach is sending Street and Tosh to represent us at the TIAC meet on May 8. This afternoon a meet is scheduled here between Memphis State and Union University. The meet was transferred here because of damage to the Memphis State track. Tosh will be entered in the 880 and possibly Street in the dashes.

Lynx Nine Drops Three

Jerry Spaeth checked Southwestern on eight scattered hits as his team mates gathered twice as many and scored seven runs in the first two innings, then held off a determined bid by the Lynx to pull the game out of the fire. The Irish went on to score a 3-2 victory. The Irish started off like their famous football squad, but slowed down to score only one run in the final seven innings. Six errors by Spaeth's team mates kept him in hot water on several different occasions.

The Lynx scored twice in the third on a walk to Tommy Jones, a single by Waters, and two Irish errors. They threatened in the last three innings, too, but three double plays quenched the fire.

Colloton and Reilly shared hitting honors for the Irish with three hits apiece. Jim Gillis hit safely in seven of his last nine appearances.

The Lynx were rained out of two appearances in Birmingham against Howard. The games were reset for when the Lynx came home.

Howard Blasts S.W. 11-3

Lefthander Charlie Worthy spun a neat four-hitter and his mates backed him up with a 14-hit barrage as the Bulldogs bested the Lynx 11-3 on the Lynx diamond. Worthy had a no hitter until the fifth inning. His no hit record was ruined when right fielder Aubrey Dickinson lost the ball in the sun for a double. The other three hits were more legitimate and well hit.

The Bulldogs had two three-run innings—the first and the eighth. In the first, the first two batters fanned, but then shortstop Marvin Breeding got the first of his three singles for the day, a hit to deep short. Tommy Jones then misjudged a long fly to center and it went for a triple. Two singles and two walks accounted for the other two runs.

Larry Wilson popped to start the eighth, but then Breeding singled. Dickinson hit a liner past third and left fielder Harry Masterson let it get through him, and Dickinson came all the way around, Charlie Robinson stroked a long home run into center to end the scoring.

Two brilliant fielding plays were made. Breeding made a nice stop of Jones' smash in the hole between short and second to throw him out by a step. In the seventh, center fielder Lee Weed made a sensational diving catch of Bob Norred's fast sinking fly ball.

Howard 15, S.W. 12

A four run rally by Howard in the fatal ninth with the Lynx leading 12-11 and two outs produced a 15-12 triumph for the Bulldogs.

The win was the second in a row over the Lynx, and came in the first game of a scheduled double header. The second game was called at the end of the fourth inning because of darkness.

A nine run outburst in the sixth for the Lynx routed starter Jasper Jenkins and his successor, Jim Harrison. Knuckleball artist, George Scott came in and quenched the fire for the next two innings, although he needed help from Dick Worthy in the ninth. Scott received credit for the win.

In the ninth with two outs and trailing 12-11, the Bulldogs staged a storybook finish that produced four runs and victory. Jack Humphries drew a walk and on the first pitch set sail for second, but catcher Frank Horton pegged perfectly to cut him down cleanly. Fred Smith was Bill Williams' eighth strikeout victim. Hawkins got his second single and fourth hit of the day. He stole second and came home on Larry Wilson's base knock, and the score was tied. Breeding then walked and went to third on Aubrey Dickinson's smash into center that scored Wilson. Breeding then attempted to steal home, but Williams balked and Breeding got the base.

Gillis tripled into Southwestern's nine run outburst in the sixth. Street got two hits in that inning as did Williams.

The second game was marred by injury to two outfielders, Tommy Jones and Lee Weed who ran together in an attempt to catch a long fly. Lee Weed had a mouth injury and Jones hurt his arm. The game was called at the end of four because of darkness.

Lynx Golfers Win

Southwestern shut out Lambuth 18-0 at Jackson's country club. This was the first time this year the Lynx had accomplished this feat, a sign of better things to come.
