Southwestern at Memphis

35 Year

MEMPHIS, TENNESSEE, SEPT. 26, 1953

35
Vol. 36; No. 1

"DEAR ALMA MATER, KIND THE FATE"—Under the direction of Upperclassmen Joe Eades and Truman Nabors (backs to camera), four freshman girls gave one of the hundreds of renditions of Southwestern's Alma Mater being heard frequently these freshman hazing days. Performing the song all bonnet, cap and sign-wearers must know (with severe punishment if they don't) were (left to right) Marilu Whiteside of Cotton Plant, Ark.; Carrie Edwards, Harriette Mathewes and Katharine Talley, all of Memphis.

St. Louis Asks Singers Back For Choral

The Southwestern Singers have been invited for a return engagement with the St. Louis Symphony, to sing the difficult closing movement of the Beethoven Ninth (Choral) Symphony.

Dr. Burnet C. Tuthill, head of the Music Department and director of the Singers said, "We have tentatively accepted the invitation to sing March 25-26 with the St. Louis Symphony, subject to the quality of the Singers themselves and their ability to do a first class job. Beethoven's Ninth Symphony is one of the hardest and most demanding things to sing in the world of music. We are starting the year with a terrific responsibility."

Harder Than Bach

The 12-minute vocal acrobats of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony are considered by many professional singers even more taxing than the 3½-hour St. Matthew Passion of Bach.

As he drills his Singers, Dr. Tuthill will have a rich backlog of experience with the massive Ninth to draw upon. He has sung the chorus of the Ninth about 15 times in public, under conductors Felix Weingartner and Josef Stransky of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony; Walter Damrosch of the New York Symphony; Arturo Toscanini in the Metropolitan Opera House in New York; and under Serge Koussevitzky with the Boston Symphony in the Berkshire Festival of 1946.

Sang This Spring

Last March, the 80-voice choral group performed with the St. Louis Symphony, conducted by Vladimir Golschmann. They were invited back by William Zalken, manager of the St. Louis Symphony.

The Southwestern Singers will also perform several times in Memphis this year and will take their annual spring concert tour around the Mid-South.

NOW IT'S YOUR TURN—The boys come in for a bit of freshman hazing, too, under the able guidance of Anne McGehee (left) of Paris, Tenn., and Anne Thomas of Memphis. George Gracey (standing, center) of Covington, Tenn., waited his turn while Ray Gwin of Hayti, Mo., went through the motions of respect to two upperclasswomen.

Neely Has Balcony, Seating 60 More

Work has been completed on the new balcony in Neely Hall which increases the seating capacity by 60. Construction of the new balcony was supervised by H. Clinton Parent Jr., of Nashville, one of the architects associated with the original plans of this college.

New assistant in Neely Hall is Sheldon Harris from Montgomery, Ala. Mrs. Celestia Allen is supervisor of the Lynx Lair.

Applications Open

Applications for the Nov. 19 and the April 22, 1954 College Qualification Tests are now available at Selective Service System local boards throughout the country. Eligible Southwestern students who intend to take this test on either date should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Southwestern Starts 105th Year With Large Student Enrollment And Traditional Frosh Hazing

By GUY DAVIS

SOUTHWESTERN BEGINS its 105th session with an estimated enrollment of 516, 468 of them regular students and 48 student nurses from the Methodist Hospital.

According to Malcom Evans, college registrar, Southwestern has "about five per cent more students enrolled this year than last year, and last year's enrollment was five per cent more than 1952's. The 1953 enrollment is our largest since the veterans swelled our ranks around 1946."

Mr. Evans also said that he had not yet made a complete count of the students here, and expects the final figure will be even larger than his estimate of 516.

This is the third year that Southwestern has had the Methodist student nurses on campus. They will take six courses—anatomy, physiology, micro-biology, sociology, psychology and chemistry, as part of the training given them by the hospital in cooperation with Southwestern.

Official Opening

Saturday's convocation marked the official opening of the college's 1953-54 session. For the first time in Southwestern's history, a woman was the convocation speaker.

She was Prof. Margaret Huxtable Townsend first Dean of Women here. Professor Townsend is still serving as sociology professor, although she resigned as Dean of Women last year. She spoke on "The Value of A Liberal Education," and pointed out the need of liberal arts in releasing man's innate possibilities and training his thinking.

Saturday's orientation climaxed a busy Orientation Week for Southwestern's freshman and transfers. After a long summer of sleeping until 11 every day, they began their Orientation program at 8:30 Tuesday morning. Five classification tests were taken on Tuesday and Wednesday with a physical and chest x-ray on Thursday, and the final assignment of classes on Friday.

Highlighting the week's events were the Freshman Mixer Tuesday night, the Protestant Religious Council's hearth supper Thursday night, and President and Mrs. Peyton N. Rhodes' open house Saturday afternoon.

Frosh Hazing

This past week's activities have centered around freshman hazing. Tommy Crais, Student Council vice-president, in charge of hazing, gave this warning yesterday, "Up till now you people have had it too easy, so get braced for this next week. The San Hedran has its nets out and some more of you will fall. The High Priest, Crais, is on the warpath, so beware, Freshman! Your only haven of rest is the Lair, so high-tail it there after class. And remember, no freshman moves a finger in chapel until your superiors have left!"

The brief entertainment in assembly Wednesday by a group of Freshman girls proves only too well that Crais means business.

Summer Performers

Four Southwesterners had a busy summer on the stage of the Little Theatre's Summer Workshop, directed by Prof. Ray Hill. Before the footlights were Mary Ellen Chambliss, Anne Thomas, Elizabeth Carter, and Lou Wener.

Buddy Allison Is New Editor Of Sou'wester

Granville "Buddy" Allison of Memphis, a Southwestern senior, has been named editor of The Sou'wester for the coming year.

His appointment was announced yesterday by Pat Riegle, chairman of the Publication Board. The board met Wednesday afternoon to decide on the editorship.

Last semester, "Buddy" authored the entertainment round-up feature, "On The Town," for this newspaper and also served as one of its reporters. He has continued his popular column in this issue. A member of Sigma Nu, he has just finished editing the current edition of the fraternity's news magazine, "The White Star."

Editor Allison has called a meeting at 1 p.m. today in The Sou'wester office for last year's staff members and any students who would like to help publish this paper.

Dean Announces New Rulings

Three changes in reporting and excusing class absences have been announced by Dean A. Theodore Johnson.

The faculty will report all absences from classes and laboratories not later than the Monday after the week on which the absences occurred. Absences reported later will not be entered on the record.

Students absent from classes who wish to present excuse for such absence must do so within one week after their return from such absence. Absences not excused within one week will continue to stand.

On one afternoon each month, a student assistant will give to any student his record of unexcused absences in classes and convocations.

"Formerly, students have been required to use up their absences before applying for excuse. The result has been a great rush for excuses at the end of each semester. The principal reason for the change is to make sure that excuses are presented promptly, while the reason for absence is fresh in mind. The penalty for excessive absences continues to be loss of hours of credit. The attention and cooperation of both students and faculty is requested," Dean Johnson said.

For Freshman Ears

An old, grey, forgotten senior is writing this for freshman first — as a welcome; second — as advice. Digest both.

It is redundant to tell you we're glad you're here. By this time, you must have heard it from a hundred official sources.

And you may suspect that the upperclassmen, notwithstanding their orders and importance, are secretly glad to see you—one of the most spirited freshman groups around here in a long time.

Freshmen are the miracle that makes college timeless. For your eyes see Southwestern for the first time, in a way that makes us all see it as if it were the first time.

And a college is as good as its freshmen. For freshmen become upperclassmen; then alumni; and if what they feel for their college is great and strong, then that college will be great and strong.

We are glad to count you among us.

And, in turn, we hope you are glad to count yourself among us. There is much to be proud of here. We have a record enrollment this session; we have the magnificent new Burrow Library; we are building the impressive Neely Mallory Memorial Gymnasium; we have some of the keenest minds in the country on our faculty; and we are one of the three colleges in Tennessee with a Phi Beta Kappa charter.

Southwestern is a college of excellence. You can well be proud of it.

You should make it proud of you.

Sou'wester Policy

(The following is a condensed statement of the Publications Board policy for The Sou'wester. This general policy is printed in the first edition of The Sou'wester each year.)

The Sou'wester will, at all times, attempt to be the honest voice of the Southwestern student body, of the faculty, and of the various college and student administrative bodies.

The Sou'wester will not be a "gripe sheet" to air personal grievances or campaigns.

The Sou'wester will, in a responsible manner, accuse, defend, or promote—as the situation may be. This activity will, at all times, be conducted on a highly constructive plane. Statements made in the form of news accounts or editorials in the Sou'wester will be substantiated at all times.

The Sou'wester will not contain columns of the "back fence gossip" types. Campus social news will be featured in sorority and fraternity columns especially reserved for that purpose, and in other articles as the editor sees fit. Cheap tales and personal tattling concerning the social lives of the students or faculty will have no place in the Sou'wester.

The duty of the Editorial Staff of the Sou'wester will be to inform, criticize, and recommend, in a straightforward, constructive and unbiased manner.

There will be no racial or religious prejudices expressed in the pages of the Sou'wester.

New Prof, Staff, Assume Their Duties

Southwestern has added a new professor to its faculty and six new members to its staff for the 1953-54 session.

Dr. Daniel Durham Rhodes of Rocky Point, N. C., formerly dean of students and professor of Bible and philosophy at Elkins College in Elkins, W. Va., is the new associate professor of Bible and philosophy. He is no relation to Dr. Peyton N. Rhodes.

Spanish Teacher

Mrs. Lula Cullen, a Memphian with 48 years' teaching experience in the city schools, is associate in conversational Spanish, and E. A. "Oscar" Wright Jr. of Nashville, who has worked on his master's degree in physical education and football at Vanderbilt, is assistant football coach.

Miss Annie Mary Jones-Williams of Montevallo, Ala., who has a bachelor of science degree in library science from Columbia University, is cataloguer in the new Burrow Library.

Other Staff Members

Three former students have returned as staff members. They are Miss Joye Fourmy Thompson, instructor in modern dance in the women's physical education department; Mrs. John Rex Maxwell, a 1951 graduate, assistant dean of women and William H. Marsh, a 1949 graduate, part-time instructor in freshman English.

Both Miss Thompson and Mr. Marsh are Memphians. Mrs. Maxwell, the former Miss Martha Ellen Davidson of Dyer, Tenn., has lived here several years.

Family Ties Bring Many To College

Among Southwestern's newcomers this year are many whose relatives attended this college.

For instance, Connie White of Kalamazoo, Mich., is a fourth generationer at Southwestern. Her mother, grandfather, and great-grandfather all came here.

Others who have close family ties here are Billy McLean, whose father graduated with John Rollow when Southwestern was at Clarksville, Tenn.; Camille Deaderick, whose great-grandfather and grandfather were students here; and Joy Hays and Marilu Whiteside, who both had brothers graduating here.

Elizabeth "Tootsie" Haire's sister received her diploma from Southwestern in 1951, as did Betty Fay Hand's sister. Some of this year's students whose aunts, uncles and cousins were enrolled at Southwestern are Libby Shaifer, Dixie Howard, Miriam Heard, Shirley Dickerson, Diane Worthington and Sally Williamson.

Players To Present Three-Act Comedy

The first major production of the season by the Southwestern Players will be "Behold—The Star," a three-act comedy by Noel Weaver, which has parts for ten men and eight women.

The play is a backstage story of rivalry between an actress-agent and her 19-year-old daughter over the lead part in a certain hit play.

October 22-23 are the performance dates for this comedy which is sponsored by the Kappa Delta Mother's Club. The play will be directed by Prof. Ray Hill.

Professor Hill also announced that on Nov. 23, 24, the players will present Sophocles' "Electra," with Barbara Cason, recent winner of the "Main Street to Broadway" contest, guest-starring in the role of Clytemnestra. Miss Cason also directed "The Cabalist of Durance" last year.

Many Aussies Fail, Reports Frances

"The failure rate in Sydney, Australia, is terrific," writes Frances "Fritz" Freeman, a 1951 Southwestern graduate, to Prof. J. O. Embry. Frances is studying folk songs in Australia on a Fulbright Scholarship.

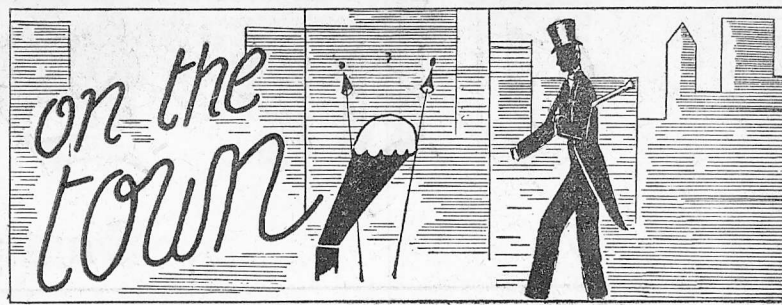

"Only 50 per cent of the 30,000 students will ever get a degree and only 30 per cent of those will go through without repeating at least one full year," she added.

Frances has discovered that the staffs at Canberra University College have a bit of contempt for American education. She writes that "No Australian University would think of teaching people how to audit, keep books, teach, or manage a business."

Frances and five other girls are now living in Canberra in a government hostel. The Australian News and Information Bureau is making a news-reel travelogue of the Fulbright group.

Joanna Is Alternate

A pretty Southwestern freshman will share honors during the Memphis observance of Fire Prevention Week, October 4-10. Joanna Kindig of 2404 Lowell was chosen alternate to Miss Fire Prevention, Joan Bedwell. Joanna was sponsored in the competition by Bethel-LaBelle Civic Club.

HI!

WELCOME BACK!

It seems almost impossible that the summer has gone so quickly, but it has, and Southwestern is fast gearing down to the routine of the year. This does not mean, freshmen and new students, that you are in for unrelenting drudgery spaced by a few short vacations between now and June 1; Memphis is a town where you can have a lot of fun—if you go to the right places at the right time. And that's exactly what this column plans to tell you—the right places, the right times, the right prices, and the right ways. You students new to Memphis will find things in this town you never dreamed were here.

Bookshelf Is The Most

For instance: there's a place over at 1793 Union that is the most, to say the least. It's called "The Bookshelf," and it has within its green and ivory walls many things. First of all, books (naturally) that are the best; pictures, prints and paintings, (the joint is almost an art gallery); but the sauce, the punch, the big gun, is the greatest collection of "cool jazz" in the city. They don't have much in the way of volume, but the quality, man, the quality! Everybody is there: Gerry Mulligan, Teddy Davis, Dave Brubeck, George Shearing, and more. You can listen all day if you want to, and never hear the same sound come twice from a single artist. To you squares, go over and listen to just one record—"My Funny Valentine" by Mulligan, and if you have the least bit of music in your soul, you'll flip. To you cats, fall in on this place, man, and dig it all. It's the most nervous there is, and all the real great ones blow the most in there. Walter Pistole is the owner, and he's a real fine joe and likes Southwestern a lot. He'll appreciate it if you drop in.

Both the Peabody and Claridge Hotels offer fine opportunity for dancing. The Peabody's band at the moment is Chuck Foster, but if you want to hear him you'd better hurry—his last performance is Monday. Dean Hudson comes in for an extended engagement starting Monday. Tommy Reed and his group are holding forth at the Claridge, and all reports say that he makes fine music.

The Mid-South Fair began Thursday, and will run through next Saturday. This event, hailed as one of the largest and finest fairs in the country, is an event that should not be missed. There are so many events in the fair that space does not permit listing, but a few of them are: the Sports Show, Rodeo, myriad of stock shows, and of course, the Midway. You can have an awful lot of fun at the Mid-South Fair, and since there are ten days of it, there is ample opportunity.

Good Seafood At The Benbow

If you like good seafood, you should try the Admiral Benbow Inn, on Union across from the Pig'n Whistle. Their main dish is shrimp, and what shrimp it is! Fried, boiled, raw—anyway you want it, it is superb. Personally, I like their French Fried Shrimp Dinner: shrimp, slaw, french-fried potatoes, rolls, and drink—for a buck and a quarter. They have a wide variety of other seafood; also steaks, and the prices are quite reasonable.

The best movie downtown this week opened yesterday at the Loew's State. It's "Lili," with Leslie Caron and Mel Ferrer. I haven't seen it yet, but from the reviews it promises to be one of the best comedies of the year. Caron is a wonderful little actress, and they say she does a wonderful job with her part in this, too. Jeanne Crain and Michael Rennie are at the Warner in the thriller "Dangerous Crossing," the story of a couple on their honeymoon and what happens when the groom disappears. Another one full of action is "Inferno" at the Loew's Palace, starring Robert Ryan and Rhoda Fleming. Also action-filled is "Wings of The Hawk" with Van Heflin. This one is at the Malco. A picture that has actually broken a house record at the Strand last week is being held over. Martin and Lewis cavort in "The Caddy," ranked as their best effort so far. And well it might be, with the box-office records that are being broken. If you like Dean and Jerry, you shouldn't miss this one.

See you—On The Town!

CAMPUS LIFE falls into a rather regular pattern as our first week of classes ends. New and old students mix in classrooms, dorms, and Lair . . .

The frosh really had their first week of school jammed with parties. Their first night on campus all freshmen women were honored with a student counselor-counselee party in Voorhies Basement. Marilyn Mitchell, "Sam" Melton, Mary George Beggs, and Pat Riegle were in charge of refreshments and entertainment . . .

It was amazing on the next night to see all the lively, friendly faces at the Freshmen Mixer. No one could have guessed that the Frosh had been taking tests all day. The highlight of the mixer was the announcement of the traditional shoe race by Commissioner of Social Activities Tommy Cunningham. The student council was then introduced to the freshmen and president Bill Hughes welcomed them.

Together were Gladys Coppock of Memphis; Caroline Cecil of Mt. Pleasant, Miss.; Tom Huff of Forrest, Miss.; Ben Miller of Bogalusa, La.; Grace Villee of Columbus, Miss.; Dixie Howard of Luxora, Ark.; Susanne McCarroll of Memphis; Betsy Bell of Blytheville, Ark.; Margaret Ann Fagan of McComb, Miss.; Betty Hand of West, Miss.; Virginia Lind of New Orleans; Kay Lueders of Alexandria, La.; Marilu Whiteside of Cotton Plant, Ark.; Frank Cothran of Selma, Ala.; Bill McLean of Spring Hill, Ala.; Jim Winslow of Jackson, Tenn.; George Armstrong of Bolivar Tenn.; and Bob Armstrong of Memphis . . .

Getting Name Tags

Waiting in line to receive their name tags from Student Councilors Lisa Rollow, Marilyn Mitchell and Bede Beasley, were Lucy Huff of Meridian, Miss.; June Burns Campbell of Pulaski, Tenn.; Kay Rausin of Sweetwater, Tenn.; Gene Maddux of Nashville; Edna Patton of Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Ellen White of Hammond, La.; Jim Holmes of McKenzie, Tenn.; Nancy Hair of Crossett, Ark.; Judith Davenport of Scott, Miss.; Emmett Buford of Forrest City; Gordon Robertson of Memphis . . .

Among the eager lads stampeding for their favorites in the shoe pile were Harry Heidelberg of Huntsville, Ala.; Jimmy McCoulla of Grenada, Miss.; George Morris of Sheffield, Ala.; Joe Aquino of Caruthersville, Mo.; Johnny Anderson, Jimmy Higgason, Jack Wiese and Charles Wiese, all of Pine Bluff. Generally speaking a good time was had by all . . .

"S" Club Party

Saturday night the "S" Club gave their annual "back-to-school" dance. Over 200 turned out for the party which was held in the gym. President of the "S" Club, Bennie Lamberth gave a welcome speech and introduced entertainment which included Mop Spruell singing two popular songs and Mary George Beggs and Loyd Templeton combining forces with a comical version of "You Know You've Been a Liar." After the entertainment Coach Johnson acted as master of ceremonies and gave out last year's letters to the lettermen who were present . . .

Flashes . . . The KDs are doubling the size of their house. There's a rumor that the new house will have 3 living rooms!

Also the Chi Os have had their house remodeled—furniture, rugs, and paint jobs . . .

Work on the ATOs kitchen is underway—good cooking, Alpha Taus!

Monday night the fraternities had their first rush party. Sixty-six new men participated in the rushing. Each fraternity is looking forward to a most successful season. Earl Browne has pledged KA . . . There is a rumor of a picnic to-

Anyone For Debate?

A call for debaters was issued yesterday by Prof. Ray Hill, who announced that this year's intercollegiate debate topic is: "Resolved: That the United States should develop a policy of free trade." Professor Hill asked that those interested in being on the debate team contact him Monday.

Varsity Footballers Practise; First Game Is Oct. 3 With Miss.

By JIP WALTERS

Thirty-one Lynx gridsters are pounding the turf and each other regularly every afternoon under the watchful eye of Coaches Glenn A. Johnson and E. A. Wright. Their opening game is with the Choc-taws of Mississippi College in Clinton, Miss. the night of Oct. 3. According to the coaching staff, the outlook is good and much brighter than last year.

Returning lettermen and regulars are bolstered by a host of enthusiastic freshmen and able transfers, plus some ex-intramural athletes now giving the varsity a try. The backfield is three deep in all positions and should be able to go against all competition if the line shapes up as is expected. If the determination and drive of the boys, and the Lynx's new line coach, E. A. "Oscar" Wright, is any evidence of what is to come, the forward wall should produce the goods.

Experienced Players

The line contains quite a few good men with experience and drive that should prove invaluable to the offensive and defensive game they will have to produce, now that the two-platoon system is gone. Jack Bugbee and Jim Gillis, two returning lettermen, should fill up the middle slot at center very well. Jim tilts the scales at a neat 210 pounds, and Jack is six feet, one inch and weighs in at 180.

At the guard position, Gerald Smith, sophomore, and Lee Weed should be able to deal plenty of misery to any Lynx opposition. They both are returning lettermen and weigh 170 pounds. "Mo" Bollinger, Bob Gillespie, Gordon Robertson, a freshman from Memphis, and Dick Brankstone, also from Memphis make up the group of guardsmen.

At tackle, Captain Reg Germany is the stalwart backed up by a 190 pound freshman, Joe Clark, from Grenada, Miss., and Bill Hughes, who is getting to be an old hand at the game, and should turn in his best performance for the Lynx. James Jones, a 190-pound junior who lettered last year, rounds out the tackle position.

Bill Lawson, with two years experience, and Tom Tosh also a letterman, are making it a rough go for their competitors at end, but they are being pushed hard by Jim Breaseale, an 18-year-old freshman from Crenshaw, Miss., who lettered four years there; James Edward Edens, a three sport letterman from Okolona, Miss., Charles Wiese from Pine Bluff, Ark., a husky freshman and Sonny Colvert, from Bessemer, Ala.

In the backfield it will be speed plus ability and practice which will determine the performance these men give. The Lynx have changed to a split-T offense and this suits the speedy Lynx backs just fine. Smokey Russell, Petesie Street, and Don Wilkins make two good halfbacks and a good fullback. Other additions are Crawford Street, Petesie's sophomore brother and a fast hard-running halfback; George Gracy, a 180-pound freshman fullback from Covington, Tenn.; George Harmon, a letterman at halfback. At quarterback, Coach Johnson is working Smokey Russell; Harry Heidelberg, 155-pound freshman from Huntsville, Ala., who has shown up well in practice so far, and "Jip" Walters, sophomore, who is out for the varsity for the first time this year.

All-State Halfback

Jimmy Higgason, an All-State halfback from Pine Bluff, joined the squad late but is shaping up fine and should be a spark plug in the Lynx offense with his hard running and blocking.

Tommy Crais also joined the team late and is putting in some good time at halfback along with Jim Turner, a sophomore transfer from Georgia Tech, where he played freshman ball. They both should see plenty of action in the

Seven Foreigners Enroll At College

Seven foreign students have already enrolled at Southwestern and others from abroad are on their way, Prof. Joe Embry, professor of modern languages and foreign student adviser, has announced.

Among the new arrivals in the international set on the campus is Michel Paradis of Nice, France. He was graduated from high school in London and spent a year studying law at the Sorbonne in Paris. He will study sociology and philosophy.

Returning to the campus where they have studied the past few months are Alvey Marques of Campinas, Sao Paulo, Brazil; Timothy Liu of Taipei, Formosa; Frederick Wang of Formosa; David Chang of Taiwan, China, and Sonia Sarg of Guatemala, the only co-ed among the foreign students.

Intramural Season To Begin Monday

Southwestern's intramural program begins Monday with tennis first on the schedule. The intramural program, under the direction of Coach Bill Mabry, includes seven sports. Arrangements are now being made to include handball next year and swimming as soon as the new Mallory Gym is completed. Tennis ends Oct. 7. Other sports scheduled are: touch football from Oct. 12 until Nov. 20; volleyball from Nov. 24 until Dec. 17; basketball from Jan. 6 until March 12; badminton from March 15 until March 26; softball from April 5 until May 7; golf from May 10 until May 14.

Elias Koulobaritsis of Zante, Greece, who enrolled at Southwestern in 1950, will return to complete his senior year.

coming season. Rounding out the backfield is Don Carnes, a freshman halfback from Shreveport.

"We have the backfield that can go against any in our league and others; and if the line comes through and blocks as it should, we expect to have a good season," Coach Johnson said.
