Stein Gets Appointment As New Head Librarian

Dr. Jay W. Stein has been named the new librarian for Burrow Library and will assume his duties on March 1. Dr. Stein will also serve as Assistant Professor of Social Studies.

He replaces Miss Mary Marsh, librarian on Southwestern campus since 1930, who resigned last November. Miss Marsh plans to undertake advanced studies in more specialized fields of library techniques—an ambition which she had deferred until the completion of the Burrow Library last fall.

Researcher

Dr. Stein has worked the past year as catalogue planner in economics and related fields of New York Public Library. Before this he served as researcher for government regulation of communications for a Ford Foundation political television project.

Dr. Stein, native of Sauk Centre, Minnesota, and the son of a Lutheran clergyman, has earned degrees in several scholarly fields. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree cum laude, with a major in German and French languages, from the University of Minnesota (1942). While at the university, he earned membership in Phi Beta Kappa. In 1949, he received his Master of Arts Degree in political science from Stanford University, and the following year he earned a Master of Science degree from Columbia University's School of Library Science. He later received his Doctor of Philosophy from Columbia's Faculty of Political Science, Department of Public Law and Government, where he took a major in political theory and a minor in library administration and documentation.

Studies

In between times, Dr. Stein studied modern European and Ancient Grecian civilizations at Oxford University in England; he did further graduate work in Georgetown University's Graduate School at Washington, D. C., in political science and international relations. He mastered the Russian language at the United Nations Academy of Languages and at the University of Colorado Navy School of Oriental Languages.

Commissioned

Dr. Stein was commissioned ensign in the Navy in 1943 after study at Columbia's U. S. Naval Reserve Midshipman School. During his four years with the Navy, he saw service in the Pacific Islands, and also had educational, welfare, public relations, intelligence, language, and chemical warfare duties.

His numerous positions in the academic and professional world have included those of research assistant at Hoover Library and Institute, Stanford, California; bibliographer for Russian Collections at Columbia University Libraries and Russian Institute, in New York; consultant with the Communication Study of the Bussell Sage Foundation at Columbia; organizer of the Library of the American Arbitration Association in New York; instructor in public communications at Columbia's School of Library Science; and part-time cataloguer in economics at New York University, Washington Square Library.

Besides being a Phi Beta Kappa member, Dr. Stein is also in Lambda (national languages and literature honor society). His writings have been numerous and indicative of his academic and professional versatility. Besides his Ph.D. dissertation on "The Ideological school in the fall of 1955 (a study of the Intellectuals under Revolution and the Napoleonic

Competing for Most Stylish were Vi Deavours, Kappa Delta; Patricia Hesselbein, Zeta; and LaVerne Myers, Independent; and for Most Attractive was Martha Holcombe for Zeta.

Candidates for Best All-Round were John Bethel for PiKA, Reg Germany for Kappa Sigma, and Bill Williams for Sigma Nu. Competing for Most Handsome were James E. Edens for Kappa Alpha; Bernie Larr for Pi KA, and Clark Young for ATO.

Civil Service Tests Set

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Prison Library Assistant for positions, paying $3,410 a year, in Federal penal and correctional institutions in various cities throughout the country. Men only are desired.

To qualify, applicants must have had appropriate education or experience and must pass a written test. Further information and application forms may be secured at many post offices throughout the country or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Applications will be accepted by the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, Bureau of Prisons, c/o U. S. Penitentiary, Leavenworth, Kansas, until further notice.

Seven In Phi Beta Kappa

Bettie Worthington, Mary Ann Hackleman, Viola Deavours

Douglas Marsh, Orley Lilly, Chandler Warren

Southwestern's Gamma of Tennessee Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa chose seven seniors for membership last Monday, calling them from class sometime that morning for official notification. Those invited to membership are Viola Deavours, Betty Worthington, Ethel Harrell, Mary Ann Hackleman, Douglas Marsh, Orley Lilly, and Chandler Warren.

Vi Deavours is a candidate for honors in Political Science. She is president of Kappa Delta Sorority, member of Torch, senior women's honorary organization, STAB intersorority, and on the Dean's List.

May Day Pi

Candidate for honors in Bible, Betty Worthington, is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, president of the YWCA, member of Torch. She was May-Day Pi last year for Pi Intersorority.

Ethel Harrel, a major in biology, is a member of Chi Beta Phi honorary science fraternity. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and on the Dean's List.

Mary Ann Hackleman is also a member of Chi Beta Phi. She is a math major and is now president of the Methodist Student Fellowship and on the Dean's List. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta.

Doug Marsh, a candidate for honors in Greek, is a member of Stylus (honorary literary organization), on the Honor Roll, and president of Eta Sigma Phi, the national honorary classical languages fraternity. He has served as religion editor of the Sou'wester.

Editor

Orley Lilly, last year's editor of the Sou'wester, is grand marshal of Kappa Sigma and has served as secretary and treasurer of the frat-

College Invited To Conference

Southwestern University is one of 92 colleges and universities invited to Lindenwood College to send student representatives to a Conference on Human Relations to be held on the Lindenwood campus here March 18-20, it was announced today by Dr. F. L. McCluer, president.

Three speakers will address the conference. Dr. Morris I. Stein, clinical psychologist at the University of Chicago, will discuss tensions within the individual. Dr. Thomas Eliot, chairman of the department of political science at Washington University, formerly of Harvard and formerly a U. S. congressman from Massachusetts, will discuss tensions in group relations, involving the area of prejudices, group contacts and international conflict.

Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review, will deliver the concluding lecture on the general theme of what the individual can do about these problems. Discussion sessions, with student participation, will follow each lecture.

TSC Meet Set

The annual Tennessee Student Christian Conference will be held in Nashville, Tennessee. This is an inter-racial inter-denominational meeting of the students in Tennessee.

The main speaker, Dr. Nels F. S. Ferre, Professor of Religion at Vanderbilt School of Religion, will talk on Christianity and higher education. Group and panel discussions, a banquet, and recreation are to be included in the program.

The Conference begins with Registration on Friday afternoon and closes Sunday morning. The registration fee is $2.50. Total cost of food, room, and registration is $8.25.

Everyone who can should go. It will be quite a rewarding experience.

New Students

With the beginning of the new semester, we have seen some new faces on our campus. Also four of our former students—Ruby Sloan, Claude Trusty, John Richards, and Sonia Sarge—have returned.

The new students have already added greatly to our campus by pithing right in and "getting in the spirit" of things. Many are in the Singers and various other organizations on the campus.

Among the new freshmen are: Suzanne Berliant, Billy Goodwin, David Hutcherson, Carolyn Marsh, Eric Mount, Joseph Murray, and Billy Woods.

New sophomores are Joyce Bloch, Hallam Boyd, Donald Cronauer, Charles Herrick, Nancy Howe, Jack Hunt, Jack Jayroe, James Phillips, Earle Sloan, and William Wisner.

The juniors are Wilson Caruthers and James Mason. We have two new seniors, Mary Dallah and Bill Baker.

The old students of Southwestern will be very glad to help out in any way they can, so don't hesitate to let us know. Welcome to our school and we'll all be anxious to meet you!

McLin To Study In Belgium

James McLin, Southwestern senior, has been announced as the winner of a Rotary Foundation Fellowship for Advanced study. The fellowship provides for one year of study at the Conservatory of Brussels in Belgium. All expenses, including transportation to and from Belgium and travel within a three-hundred mile radius of the school will be paid.

Applications for the fellowship were sent in last October, and winners were announced last week. Jimmy, who will enter the Conservatory next fall, plans to study some branch of music, possibly piano.

Senior Awards For Girls

Two national scholarships for college senior girls are again offered for 1954-55 by the Katherine Gibbs School. These awards were originally established in 1935 and are in memory of Mrs. Katherine M. Gibbs, founder and first president of the school.

Each scholarship consists of full tuition ($620) for the secretarial training course, plus an additional cash award of $500, totaling $1,120. Two winners may select any one of the five Gibbs school for their training—Boston, Chicago, New York, Montclair, Providence.

Winners are chosen by the Scholarship Committee on the basis of college academic record, personal and character qualifications, and potentialities for success in business.

Each college or university may recommend one candidate and each candidate must have this official endorsement. Students who may be interested in trying for one of these Katherine Gibbs awards may obtain full information from the Dean or the personnel office.

Listen Sinners

Calling all Presbyterians, Methodists, Baptists, and Episcopalians! You have these groups organized here on campus. How about supporting them by means of your participation in them?

Everyone complains about not having time to participate in all the activities on campus. That's true. No one has time for everything. But the religious organizations should be top on your agenda. This is a Christian college, and you chose to come here. A decidedly Christian atmosphere on campus can be furthered and felt through participation in these organizations.

Approximately only a third of the students belonging to these groups attend. It is noted that this is an improvement over last year. This is encouraging but we should aim at a goal of one-hundred per cent participation.

If you do not belong to either of these four denominations, there is no need for you to feel or be left out! You can always attend functions at your own church, and you can visit or even participate actively in one of these groups. Any group is always eager to have visitors. The hours from 5:30 to 7:30 every Wednesday evening have been set aside by the Protestant Religious Council for denominational group meetings. No other activity can be scheduled for that time so you have no excuse along that line. If the publicity chairmen of the various groups will cooperate, we will try to have information on these meetings in the Sou'wester each week. So keep posted and we'll be seeing you on Sundays and Wednesday nights.

Formula Living

The "lucky seven" are certainly to be congratulated. A lot of hard work went behind those grades.

During the days of suspenseful waiting to learn our grades, we remember the hard "grind" and the last diligent and necessary hours of study before exams. Many a time we asked ourselves "Will we ever get it all done?" It is amazing how things eventually worked out.

But take another look at the article on the Phi Beta Kappa. They not only "made the grade" in grades but also in outside activities of every sort. Since some organizations on the campus were cut out, the remaining ones have become more meaningful. All a person has to do now is to choose "his" activities, then concentrate his efforts on them. We all can't be Albert Sweitzers, but we should set high goals and not be satisfied with being mediocre. We shouldn't be discouraged at the thought of hard work over a period of several years. Just think of how long it must have taken Sweitzer to become proficient in medicine, music, and philosophy.

We have a new semester ahead of us. We can make it what we want it. How about trying the formula: a lot of hard work plus some wholesome recreation—both in a Christian spirit—equals a Christian campus life.

Re-Pate-tion

This being National Boy Scout Week, the forty-fourth anniversary of the founding of the group, I am reminded of some of the experiences I had with the organization.

I became a Tenderfoot the week after my twelfth birthday and kept that august rank until, two years later, I became convinced that being a girl scout was more fun.

In another two years I discovered that there was no sense bothering since the girls were so proficient in getting a beau that we poor males just didn't stand a chance against a gal with determination. I have often thought that if the government had espionage and propaganda services even half as efficient as those set up by high school females, the subject Russian peoples would have been incited to revolt years ago.....

I even had a friend who, at the age of seventeen, was so impressed—and frightened—by this menace to the young male, that, after a brief fling as a Casanova, he wrote an essay on the subject entitled, "Fifteen Years' Observation, Two Years' Experimentation, and Retirement."

Unfortunately, one of the more enterprising young ladies around decided to remove this obstacle to the domination of the weaker sex. As a result the poor fellow is married and has a set of twins.

But back to the original subject. I suppose that in scouting one learns all sorts of useful things—I guess I was just a little dumber than most. I learned how to use a compass, for instance, and how to use the stars to see which direction I'm traveling in. But I still get lost in Overton Park, and it took me a year to be able to tell where I was when I wandered into certain parts of the men's dormitories.

And—let's see—I learned to take off the gauze covering before trying to apply a bandaid; I was taught how to light a fire using only two matches (and a can of lighter fluid); I now know how to cure Indian cigars but not how to smoke them; and I'm an expert at pitching a tent so that I'll have to sleep with a rock pressing into the small of my back.

And I will never forget that the most essential item to take on any camping trip expected to last over 24 hours is a large economy-size bottle of Pepto-Bismo.

One last thing I mustn't forget are the many deathless creeds and mottos the Boy Scouts of America have adopted for their own—the best remembered being the marching song:

If you're looking for adventure of a new and different kind, And you run into a Girl Scout who is similarly inclined, Don't be nervous, don't be scared, Don't be frightened—BE PREPARED. 6

From the Soapbox Orator:

If you were to kick the person responsible for most of your troubles, you'd probably have to use your heel instead of your toe.

I see from glancing at a copy of the weekly paper from Subnormal State Teachers College (Memphis State to the uninitiated) that their campus is now confronted with two burning issues.

The first is whether or not to change their nickname from Tigers to Fighting Pharoahs. The writer of the story suggested that since most of the students there didn't connect the proposed new name with the fact that Memphis is named for a town in Egypt, it might be better to make it something for which this town is famous.

Origin of Day For Lovers

By GERALDINE DOZIER

February 14th has long been designated as the day on which gay, young gentlemen present their fair ladies with bright posies, lacy tokens of admiration, or heart-shaped boxes of chocolates. On this Valentine Day the grumbling postman treads his streets laden with cards of endearment and children in grade school decorate a box filled with similar material.

The early Martyrologies mention three saints, each associated with Feb. 14th. One is described as a priest of Rome and another as a Bishop. They suffered martyrdom in the second half of the third century and were buried in the Flaminian Way, later called the Gate of St. Valentine.

There is little evidence as to how the name of Valentine came to be connected with the day on which lovers send tokens to one another and thus this day for love and lovers has claimed several origins. One simple theory which existed in the Middle Ages was that birds began to mate on Feb. 14th, St. Valentine's Day. Younger members of the generation observed the birds and thought they had a nice idea. Chaucer expressed it this way:

"For this was Seynt Valentine's Day.

When every foul cometh ther to choose his mate."

Another suggestion has been the similarity between the Norman word "galantin" meaning a lover of women, and the name of the saint. They think that "Gallantin's Day with the initial "G," frequently pronounced as "V," led to confusion in the popular mind.

A third theory is that the lovers' custom is a survival and a Christianized form of a practice in the Roman feast of the Lupercalia occurring in February. The names of young men and women were put in a box from which they were drawn by chance, an arrangement under which a young man became the gallant of a young woman for the next year. It is said that the Christian clergy objected to this custom and substituted the names of the young people; each young person was to try to emulate the saint drawn for him or for her during the next twelve months. As this drawing occurred on Feb. 14, the day of the saint, the association with Valentine was established.

It has been the opinion of some that Valentine means the first woman seen by a man or man seen by a woman, on Feb. 14. Train those eyes!

A writer once mentioned a sort of sport used in Kent during the month of February where girls burned in triumph a figure which they had stolen from the boys, called a Holly-boy while the boys did the same with a figure called an Ivy-girl. Admiration? Sounds more like vengeance, doesn't it?

It seems a bit ironical that a day dedicated to a martyr should be chosen by lovers as their day to lure each other into captivity, by the way of gifts and sentiment; and again, maybe it isn't so ironical after all!

Choir Members Use Tour For Fun, Frolics and Revivals

By DOT HENNING

It all started with the singing of the Alma Mater on the lawn, in front of Palmer Hall. Seventy-two Southwestern students were about to embark on a 6 day tour through Mississippi and Louisiana, presenting eleven different times in eleven different cities a program of sacred music. We were accompanied by "Papa" Tuthill and Jack Funkhouser, our directors, Mrs. Cable, our "mama" for the trip, and two of the greatest guys we've ever known driving our buses. Bill Metz and Bill Oakley have driven the singers for years, and have become our chief critics and best friends.

Our first journey was the longest, and after a week of exams we were ready for a roaring good time on our buses. Before long, every type of "bus amusement" possible was taking place. Suitcases were used for stools and pillows for tables for the bridge games that soon began. The more domestic girls brought along knitting and embroidery. A group, who couldn't limit their musical repertoire to the mere tour program, began a big "revival" at the back of the bus. So it went to Jackson and for the next six days.

Turkey

A turkey dinner awaited us at Jackson, Mississippi. It had been prepared by the wonderful women of the First Presbyterian Church, among whom were several of our mothers. The concert that night was one we were very proud of; especially since it was our first of the tour and we had our largest audience. Afterwards we were assigned to homes of various members of the church. That night there were several little "affairs" at the homes of LaVerne Myers and Robin Sprague. Yes, Jackson is a great town!

We bid farewell to our hosts and hostesses bright and early the next morning and headed for Gulfport. There was no concert that night, so we had plenty of free time to "do the town" and see the beach. Several of us were lucky enough to get to go on a yacht ride. That night open house was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barber, members of the church there. Dancing, singing, wonderful "eats," and even a "revival" were on the agenda for the evening. The next morning we presented part of our tour program for the morning service at the First Presbyterian Church. After a quick meal, we were back on the buses again heading for Laurel.

Natchez

The next morning we left Laurel

at 7:30, so we would have time for our long day's journey to Shreveport by way of Natchez. But we got lost en route and found ourselves back in Jackson only one hour before the time scheduled for our Natchez performance. We were an hour late to Natchez but got there in time for a mighty good lunch before our program. We had to perform and run, because we were still about two hours behind schedule. As if enough had not happened already, one of our busses broke down during the afternoon. We all got out and helped put water in it the first time, but later in "flaked out" on us for good and all seventy-two of us crowded on one bus for the last seventy miles to Shreveport. The show must go on! That night we felt really professional eating, cleaning-up, and warming up in twenty minutes between the time we got to the church and time for the concert. Five people fainted during the performance. What martyrs we were!

Monroe

The next day was much less strenuous. Our first stop was at Monroe, Louisiana to sing at the high school. We all enjoyed visiting with several prospective students of Southwestern there. Then, on to Vicksburg. Most of our hosts and hostesses took us to see the damage that the recent tornado had done to parts of the town. Then we enjoyed another wonderful meal at the church along with members of the Singles and Doubles Class who sponsored us there. The concert went beautifully, except for a little harp trouble. Marian Cobb's harp had slipped out of tune and took about (Continued on Page 3)

Danforth Awards Scheduled

The Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Missouri, invites applications for the third class (1954) of Graduate Fellowships for college seniors and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of college teaching, and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1954, for their first year of graduate study. The Foundation welcomes applicants from the fields of Natural Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities and other fields of specialization to be found in the undergraduate college.

President P. N. Rhodes has named Laurence F. Kinney as the Liaison Officer to work with the Danforth Foundation on the selection of candidates. These appointments are primarily "a relationship of encouragement," carrying a promise of financial aid within prescribed conditions as there may be need. Students with or without financial need are invited to apply. A Danforth Fellow is allowed to carry other scholarship appointment, such as Fulbright, Woodrow Wilson, G.E.B., etc.

All Danforth Fellows will participate in the annual Danforth Foundation Conference on Teaching, to be held at Camp Miniwanca in Michigan next September. The qualifications of the candidate as listed in the announcement from the Foundation are:

- Evidence of superior intellectual ability in college record.
- Good record of health and emotional stability.
- Outgoing personality and the concern for people, essential for successful teaching.
- Choice of vocation of teaching as form of Christian service.
- Deep religious convictions and growing religious perspectives. (The Foundation is looking for candidates who are seriously examining their own religious life, and are seeking a maturing faith and a social outreach.)
- Each institution is asked to limit its nominations to two, or at the most three. Any student wishing further information should get in touch with Laurence F. Kinney.

Men Wanted Stylus Deadline

Roy Coats

If ever such a sign was needed it would be over the office of the Methodist Student Fellowship (if we had an office). There has been a decided lack of men at every MSF meeting this year. The ratio of girls to 'men' has been about 10:1. Now this has not been at all hard on the few males but the fairer sex seems to be unhappy over this situation.

The Methodist Student Nurses are invited to all of the meetings also. They have been very faithful and have added much to the fellowship. There are so few mediums through which Southwesterners may become acquainted with the nurses that this is a rare opportunity. (Here's your chance men!)

Last Wednesday night at Springdale Methodist we started off the new semester with a supper meeting. After the food and frolic we had a lively discussion on Race Relations.

The emphasis for the early part of the semester is on missions. This week the entire group will visit the Bethlehem Center, a Negro Settlement House in South Memphis. All Methodists and friends are cordially invited to meet with us. Meet Wednesday night (Feb. 17) at 5:30 in front of Voorhies for a ride. We will be back before 8:00.

Chandler Warren, president of Kappa Alpha fraternity, has served as corresponding and recording secretary of this group. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa national leadership and scholarship interfraternity and president of the senior class. Chosen for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities, Chandler is head cheerleader this year and has been a cheerleader for three years.

Dr. A. P. Kelso, president of Phi Beta Kappa on campus, will later announce the coming banquet and initiation.

The second issue was the institution of an honor system. This seems doomed to failure, however, since, as one of their professors said—there's really no need for one there, and anyhow, why flunk out or expel half the school.

ten minutes to tune while all of us stood.

The next morning we really put on a concert at Chamberlain Hunt Academy in Port Gibson. The students there responded so well to our singing of Negro spirituals that "Papa" finally stepped down and let us put on a real revival for them. After lunch we really got to know the boys that the principal had referred to as our Presbyterian "little brothers."

Greenville

Our last night stop was at Greenville where we were once again well received at the church and in the homes. "Papa" complimented us that night on singing so well and with such flexibility that he "could do anything with us." He will never know that it was through no fault of our own, only that we were so tired that he had us nearly hypnotized.

People in Leland must have thought we were from the zoo—we enjoyed the playground at the school so much before and after our morning program. It was fun to "play" though after so much sitting, standing, and riding. Bill Barnett receives the "best and most daring acrobat" award.

Our last stop was at Shelby, where even the little first-graders listened with great attention. After cokes there we "hit the trail" for Memphis and Southwestern, ending our tour, as it began, with the singing of the Alma Mater in front of Palmer.

Thanks to Papa Tuthill, Jack, Bill and Bill, all the people here at school, and all the wonderful hosts and hostesses who took such good care of us on the way, our 1954

Draft Test

All eligible students who intend to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test in 1954 should file applications at once for the April 22 administration, Selective Service National Headquarters advised today.

An application and a bulletin of information may be obtained at any Selective Service local board. Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application immediately and mail it in the special envelope provided. Applications must be postmarked no later than midnight, March 8, 1954. Early filing will be greatly to the student's advantage.

Results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student, according to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test.

Poochie's Patter

Welcome back!! Exams are over and a touch of spring is evident on faces around the campus. And, as always, here we go again—rocking, rolling, all night long!!

Last Saturday night the Delta gals began the series of spring dances with their annual formal at the Continental Ball room of the Peabody Hotel. Charlie Jones played for the dance. The highlight of the evening was the leadout which was announced by Malcolm Whatley. The girls came down in twos from a double stairway to join their dates. The stairway was covered with white balloons.

The president of the pledge class, Mary Rogers, escorted by Bob Kerr, presented the president of Tri-Delt, Patsy Braswell, escorted by Bill Hughes, with a huge bouquet of yellow roses. Dr. and Mrs. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Diehl, and Dr. and Mrs. Wolf were chaperones.

Pledges

Congratulations to SAE's new pledges—Jack Hunt, James Dees, and Billy John Woods! Go Sig Alpha!!

Pi Intersorority brought out Mary Williams last Tuesday. Mary is a Junior, a member of ZTA, PRC, and vice-president of Westminster Fellowship. Furthermore, she looks awfully good in green and white.

The Pikes' announce their new officers: president, Meredith Bollinger; vice-pres., Kirk Osionach; treas., Ed Cresler, sec., Jimmy Fortune; pledge master, Bernie Larr. Also their new pledge is Jimmy Cunningham. Congratulations!!!

Wow!

It's nearly time to get that talley sheet ready, boys. The Lynx Beauty Revue is Feb. 29.

The Chi Omega dance is next Saturday. They will announce their new officers.

Tonight is the night for the Alpha Tau's. They hold their annual spring formal at Fargason Field House from 9-12. Bill Justis is playing for the dance. Bob McClure and Bill McAttee are in charge of decorations. Big Deal

And don't forget Bill Hamer's invitation, you married men and stags!

This afternoon at 2:00, the GHT leaves for their first picnic of the year. The destination is unknown, but it sounds like fun. For further information I refer you to Jim Gillis.

Don't forget—WF goes to Kennedy tomorrow night at 5:00. Will leave from the church. See you there!!!

Staff Meet

There will be a short staff meeting at 10:30 this morning in Hardie Auditorium to give out assignments for next week's Sou'wester. If you can't come, please see Dot Harris to get them.

Lynx Pictures

Group pictures for the 1953-54 Lynx are now being taken. Emily McKay, editor, urges all students to take it upon themselves to be at the appointed place at the time scheduled for each specific picture. This is of utmost importance because each group will only be taken one time, and those not there will not be pictured with the group in the annual.

Snapshots are needed for the annual. If anyone has any pictures which they would like to see in the Lynx, turn them in to Mary Ellen Chambliss by February 22. Seniors are also urged to turn their activities in to Gay Rush as the deadline on activities is February 15.

Stein Appointed

regime), he has also produced "A Classified Bibliography of Arbitration," in cooperation with the American Arbitration Association; "A Classification for Communications Materials" for Columbia University; and many other articles and papers, including "The Soviet Intelligentsia," published in the Russian Review in 1951; and "Inventor of the Airplane: New Soviet Version," published in American and East European Review in 1951. In the latter article, Dr. Stein gives the lie to Russian claims of invention of the flying machine, by making use of citations from Russian writers who themselves have described its development elsewhere than in Russia or by Russians. Other titles of Dr. Stein's include "Bacon and the French Revolution," "The Origin of Ideology," and "The Symbol of an Ideal."

Dr. Stein will arrive on the Southwestern campus the latter part of this month, accompanied by Mrs. Stein, who herself holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Barnard College in New York, and the Master of Arts degree from Columbia.

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co. says . . .

FOR more than thirty years we have used research day in and day out learning about tobaccos and cigarettes in the public's interest.

Continuously we and our consultants have analyzed, experimented with and smoked all kinds of tobaccos . . . especially Southern Bright, Burley, Maryland and Turkish cigarette tobaccos.

Our own cigarettes and competitive brands have been submitted to the most exacting scientific scrutiny including thousands of analyses of millions of pounds of tobaccos.

From all these thousands of analyses, and other findings reported in the leading technical journals, our Research Department has found no reason to believe that the isolation and elimination of any element native to cigarette tobaccos today would improve smoking.

For four years we have maintained in the smoker's interest an intensified larger scale diversified research program. A half-million dollar 30-ton machine, the world's most powerful source of high voltage electrons, designed solely for our use has tested tens of thousands of cigarettes. This program has already given to us direct and significant information of benefit to the smoking public.

Our consultants include Arthur D. Little, Inc. of Cambridge, Massachusetts, "one of the largest and most reputable industrial research organizations in the country" (From Business Week Magazine) and eminent scientists from leading universities.

Today the public can confidently choose from a variety of brands—by far the best cigarettes ever made by the tobacco industry.
