Chandler to Assist In Money Drive

Expansion Funds Sought

Mr. Walter Chandler, attorney and former mayor of Memphis, has been named associate chairman of the second phase of the $750,000 Southwestern Development Fund Campaign in Memphis. Sidney W. Farnsworth, chairman of the Southwestern Executive Committee, is leader of the drive for funds which will help finance a gymnasium, men's dormitory, endowments and scholarships.

$375,000 Raised

Since last January, $375,000 has been raised, and the prime objective of the committee is to add $175,000 to this fund, making a total of $550,000. The remaining $200,000 needed to reach the $750,000 goal will be solicited through Memphis contributions early next year. The first phase of the campaign was begun last January 18, and the present drive will run for a period of six weeks.

"Memphis is a very wealthy community, in character, integrity, and material things," Mr. Chandler observed in urging a swift end to the fund-raising phase. "We are very near the goal; the money needed to fulfill Southwestern's present requirements is very nearly raised, and we must not think about putting off any longer getting the amount needed to put Southwestern on the road to the future."

Mr. Chandler accepted the associate chairmanship at a Peabody luncheon attended by about twenty-five prominent Memphis business, professional and educational leaders, approximately half the number of those who will canvass business houses and individuals for contributions.

Next Generation

Mr. Chandler reminded that "life is short, and the highest achievement of any of us lies in completing something for the next generation. The greatest objective for us is to complete those things which will enable Southwestern to carry on its great work."

The money being raised here in Memphis is half the money needed by Southwestern. The remaining portion of the $1,500,000 is being raised by the Synods in Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and part of Tennessee. Part of the fund will be used as an endowment for the new library, which was donated by Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Burrow at a cost of $942,025.

Present Worth

It was pointed out at the meeting that in view of present day values, Southwestern's campus, buildings, equipment and furnishings approximates $10,000,000. The funds which are now being raised will go toward supplying $400,000 needed to erect the Mallory Memorial Gymnasium; $250,000 for a men's dormitory; $600,000 for additional endowment, and $250,000 for scholarship aid fund.

President Peyton N. Rhodes told the gathering that "Southwestern needs operating and expansion funds."

"We must look to people with vision and foresight for the gifts we need," he declared, stressing that Southwestern, unlike tax supported colleges, cannot "look to State Legislatures for more money."

"Y" Sponsors First Vocational Program

TEACHING IS TOPIC

Tuesday afternoon, November 18, the YWCA and Torch, senior women's honorary society, sponsored a vocational guidance program for all students interested in the teaching profession. Miss Margaret Williams, a member of the Administrative Staff of the Board of Education, a graduate of Southwestern, and former president of the YWCA, addressed the group of prospective teachers. Miss Williams, in a very capable and entertaining manner, told the group of the present requirements for certified teachers, discussed the need and demand for qualified teachers, and laid out the basic characteristics and traits essential to the teaching profession.

This program was one in a series of vocational guidance programs which have been planned for presentation from time to time throughout the year.

Waves

Last Wednesday, November 12, Lt. Noreen Maloney was on the campus to discuss the WAVES as a possible career for women students. Next Monday, November 24, Mrs. Beppler, YWCA Personnel Consultant, will be on campus for conferences from 1:00-2:00 p.m. Those interested in the YWCA as a possible vocation should arrange for a conference with Mrs. Beppler.

PRC Retreat

On December 7, the PRC will sponsor a "Vocational Retreat" at the ZTA house from 1:30-8:30 p.m. for both men and women students. At this retreat Christian vocations will be discussed. Further information regarding this particular phase of the vocational guidance series will appear in a later issue of the Sou'wester.

The Dean of Women's office is cooperating with these various organizations on campus to promote this vocational guidance series. Students should go by the office of the Dean of Women to let them know what vocations you are interested in, so that they might plan programs to include those vocations which interest the majority of the students.

$50,000 Fashion Contest Announced

Is there a typical American-made fashion for the typical American Maid? The answer to that question may lie in the fashion-know-how which you exhibit in your campus wardrobe and the current AMERICAN MADE FASHION AWARD, which ends November 30, is designed to uncover this typical American fashion—do you have the answer?

Just ask yourself how you would dress the typical American maid of today; how would you dress lovely Dawn Addams, for instance? Dawn, who will soon be seen as "Priscilla" in MGM's "Plymouth Adventure," asks you to find a fashion for her that is as typical of today's "modern Priscilla" as her pilgrim garb is of the first American fashion! Would you put her in a sweater and skirt, blue-jeans and a shirt, a date dress? Whatever your idea of the representative American fashion for the typical American girl is—that idea can put you in line for fifty-thousand dollars worth of prizes!

LYNX LOSE TO MAJORS, 34-7

Last Saturday, playing with seven regulars missing, the Southwestern Lynx lost to Millsaps College, 34-7. Following is a short summary of the game:

The Millsaps Majors won the toss and elected to receive. On their second play from scrimmage they went all the way for the first score of the game. On the kick, Pete Street took the ball and started around his own left side of the field and then completely reversed his field to go all the way for a Lynx touchdown. Bob Crumby converted and the score was 7-7.

Later in the first half, the Majors scored again to break into the lead. The Lynx had two heart-breaking events—eligible receivers twice broke beyond the secondary on pass plays but could not manage to get the ball. The first half ended with the Majors leading 14-7 after a very hard-fought game.

A Good Showing

We had made a strong showing that was definitely a surprise to the Majors. This was made evident by a remark one of them made while leaving the field for the half. One of their players is reported to have said, "Who said that the Lynx don't have a team?" The second half was a different story, however. We were playing at our lowest ebb with McAllister, Simonton, Henry, Beard, McLin, Horton, and Bostick not making the trip. The Lynx, without the aid of these men, could not stand sixty minutes of hard playing.

The big question is: Had the Lynx evened the score at the half, would the Majors confidence have been shattered?

Gleason Speaks At IRC Meeting

"A great gap in the material welfare of the world is one of the greatest blocks to world peace. This is the philosophical basis on which WSSF operates," stated John C. Gleason, regional director of the World Student Service Fund at a regular meeting of the IRC, November 18, in the Bell Room.

He further pointed out that the U. N. is merely a super structure without a foundation. It is an effort confined entirely to the government and to representatives appointed by the government and not elected by the people. The very set-up is inadequate, for if world peace is to be achieved, it must come through voluntary and cooperative methods, and through understanding among the peoples of the world.

It is not only essential to give to these people. But the gifts must bring the givers to the point of understanding the persons to whom they are giving. They must not be thought of as merely a group of nations on the receiving end of a generous mood but each person must be considered as an individual. The American people must rid themselves of the idea that everything American is right and everything not American is wrong. If citizens of other countries differ from what the United States thinks, then each and every American must try to see why they think differently.

Another hinderance is that these people do not understand why we

Anne Hebert Is Chosen As Our Maid Of Cotton

MITCHELL, JONES ARE ALTERNATES

Southwestern's Maid of Cotton contest was held Wednesday evening, November 19, at 8:00 p.m. in Hardie Auditorium. "The Sou'wester" was sponsor of this event again this year.

Out of a group of sixteen lovely girls, Miss Anne Hebert was selected to represent the campus in the National Maid of Cotton Contest which will be held in Memphis next month. Miss Marilyn Mitchell was chosen as first alternate, and Miss Margaret Jones as second alternate.

Professor E. L. Queener served as Master of Ceremonies and introduced each candidate as she appeared on stage. Each girl gave a short talk about cotton and why she would like to represent King Cotton as his ambassador to the world.

Emcee

After a short intermission, the contestants reappeared on stage in formals and were interviewed privately by the judges. Dr. Queener kept the audience "in stitches" during this period, by telling them about the faculty's opinions of the qualifications a girl should have to receive this honor. He made very many interesting comments about the contest and added greatly to the entertainment of the evening.

The girls appeared in the following order: Marilyn Mitchell, sponsored by Kappa Delta; Claudia Owen, Pi Kappa Alpha; Meredith Newman, Delta Delta Delta; Anne Feemster, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Daisy Glenn, Zeta Tau Alpha; Mary Ellen Chambliss, Kappa Sigma; Beverly Mayhall, Alpha Omicron Pi; Mary Katherine Lindsay, Kappa Sigma; Martha Holcombe, Zeta Tau Alpha; Carolyn Milton, Sigma Nu; Katherine Hinds, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Margaret Jones, Delta Delta Delta; Anne Hebert, Kappa Alpha; Jennie Lee Davis, Chi Omega; Jane Pyron, Alpha Omicron Pi; and Janet Green, Chi Omega.

A short intermission followed the girls' second time on stage. During this period George Hearn sang two pieces and Anne Thomas told of her experience at the theater.

The Big Moment

Finally the big moment arrived. Orley Lilly, Editor of "The Sou'wester," stepped to the microphone. He expressed his appreciation to the people who had helped stage the contest and to the judges, who were Mary Allie Taylor, of the Memphis Press Scimitar; Bill Killebrew, of Radio Station WMC; and Clyde Patton, of Patton Brothers Hardware. The judges' decision was then announced. The two alternates were presented with large bouquets of red roses by Miss Mary Rodriguez and the Editor, and Miss Hebert was given a bouquet and a loving cup which will be properly inscribed.

Miss Hebert then thanked the judges for the honor they had bestowed upon her and the audience which had been so patient during the contest.

The contest was under the direction of Mary Rodriguez, and she was assisted by Esther Jane Swartzfager, Bob Pate, and Mary Pelham Findlay.

Maid Anne will appear on Mr. Killebrew's television show next Monday afternoon at 5:45 p.m. over

Sou'western Band Plays At Millsaps

The Southwestern Band made its first out-of-town appearance at the Millsaps-Southwestern ball game last Saturday, November 15. About fifteen members were present with their instruments, and they added greatly to the pep of the Southwestern cheering section by playing "Roll, Lynx Cats" and other pep songs.

Millsaps, a school with a larger enrollment than Southwestern, was not represented by a band of any form, although this game was played on their home territory. Several of the Millsaps students commented on this and felt rather "sheepish" about the matter.

Jack Funkhouser, band director, said at publication time that plans were underway for the band to go to the Union-Southwestern game, at Jackson, Tennessee, and play there tonight. A bus will be chartered to take the band to the Lynx-Bulldogs game.

Incidentally, many Jackson people commented favorably about the good show that our cheering squad made last week. Although we were greatly outnumbered by the Millsaps squad, they were amazed that we were louder and showed more school spirit. They were told about "Southwestern spirit."

Congratulations to the band and to the cheering section for representing our school so well.

Players Postpone Next Production

Professor Hill has announced that the next Player's production, "A Phoenix Too Frequent" will be postponed until the 15th and 16th of January. Professor Hill said that there are so many things going on around the campus that he thought he'd wait until after the Christmas holidays to open the play.

Work on the musical is really going fine. Lyrics and music are popping up like everything, but it's due largely to work of one person. Anybody who can help is urged to come forward and help make this venture a success.

MSF Has Social

The Methodist Student Fellowship met at 4:00 p.m., Wednesday, November 19, in the Zeta Lodge for a Social. The group participated in games led by Jean Johnson and Albert Evans. Hot chocolate and cookies were served, while everyone sat around the fireplace and toasted marshmallows.

IN APPRECIATION

"The Sou'wester" wishes to express its appreciation to the many people who helped stage the Maid of Cotton Contest.

A special thanks is extended to Professor E. L. Queener for the wonderful job he did as Master of Ceremonies.

Mary Rodriguez, contest manager, and her assistants, "Poochie" Swartzfager and Bob Pate, are to be commended for their excellent work in staging the contest and adding to its success.

Entertainers Anne Thomas and George Hearn were great at making the judges' time out seem so short.

A well-deserved thanks to our judges, Mary Allie Taylor, Clyde Patton, and Bill Killebrew, for your difficult decision in choosing our Maid and alternates.

The backstage crew was indispensable in getting the girls on stage at the right time.

Finally, a hearty thanks to all sixteen candidates and to the fraternities and sororities that sponsored them. Without you the contest would have been impossible.

Congratulations, Miss Anne Hebert, and good luck in the national contest! Southwestern is proud of you.

National Judges

Carolyn Schnurer, an outstanding American sportswear designer and trend maker in the fashion world, will serve as chairman of the board of judges at the 1953 Maid of Cotton contest, the National Cotton Council announced yesterday.

The noted designer will head the judging committee composed of six leading members of the cotton industry.

Named to serve with Mrs. Schnurer at the 1953 contest are: Harry R. Altick, Memphis, president of the Memphis Cotton Exchange and prominent cotton merchant; A. L. Durand, Hobart, Oklahoma, president of the Chickasha Cotton Oil Co., vice-president of the National Cotton Council, and chairman of the board of the Oscar Johnston Cotton Foundation; Charles C. Taylor, Memphis, president of the 1953 Memphis Cotton Carnival and secretary of the Taylor Machine Co. Ellison S. McKisick, Easley, South Carolina, president of the Alice Manufacturing Company, vice-president of the Southern States Industrial Council and of the Quartermaster Association of America, and past president of the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute. Ed Lipscomb, Memphis, sales promotion and public relations director of the National Cotton Council and president of the Public Relations Society of America; and Edward J. Meeman, Memphis, editor of the Memphis Press-Scimitar.

National Finals

Finals of the 1953 contest will be held at Memphis, December 29 and 30. After a two-day intensive screening and judging period, the winner of the 1953 Maid of Cotton contest will be announced at Ellis Auditorium over a nationwide radio network.

The committee will judge the Maid of Cotton contest finalists on the basis of personality, poise, background, intelligence, and appearance. The two-day judging period will consist of personal interviews with finalists, appearances at luncheons and dinner dances, and finally a public appearance at Ellis Auditorium.

The Maid of Cotton contest is open to any girl born in a cotton

Squirrel Interview Is Unsuccessful

By Chester Anderson

Interviewed a squirrel this week. Tried to, anyhow. Failed miserably.

The whole thing came about when I noticed how fat and saucy the squirrel that appears at my bedroom window every morning to hear the alarm clock ring has been getting lately. I figured that he was getting ready to hibernate, but I remembered hearing somewhere that squirrels in Memphis don't hibernate. Unfortunately, I couldn't find anyone who could tell me definitely whether they do or not, so I decided to ask a squirrel.

The first one I approached squeaked and ran away, so I went over to the Fisher Memorial Garden to find a squirrel that didn't know me. No such luck.

However, I did have an odd experience with one of the "wee beasties." I came up to a roly-poly little fellow and said, "Pardon me, sir. I represent 'The Sou'wester.'" At that he turned and fled, head first, into a tree trunk. He must have been stunned, for he turned himself about and started toward me. Have you ever noticed how easy it is to outrun a squirrel when he's behind you?

I think I'll set up an office in the Lair. The strangest things happen there. More material roaming around per square foot than any other place on campus.

Silver Threads

For example, last Monday I stumbled into the Lair and noticed a strange silvery haze over everything. At first I thought it was just my eyes; they do strange things sometimes. Then I noticed a brilliant silver streak down the back of Chandler Warren's head. My eyes, at their worst, don't do things like that.

I sat down, covered my hair with my notebook, and watched. Lo and behold! I saw Amel Peterson hopping around like something out of Swan Lake, gracefully dabbing everyone's head with silver dust.

Amel's last victim was Jack Poss, who arose with fury in his eyes and silver in his hair and chased Amel out of the Lair.

Later I met Jack washing the dust out of his hair. He grumbled quite audibly, but refused to make a statement.

I have been haunting the Lair ever since.

ODDEST SIGHT OF THE WEEK:

Dr. Queener, with his hair silvered by the vicious hand of Mary Ellen Chambliss, another victim of the ruthless "silver-dust brigade."

MOST GLORIOUS SIGHT OF THE WEEK:

That early run for a touchdown last week in the game. A beautiful play. Wonderful! Tremendous! Swell!

The rest is silence.

state who has never been married, is between the ages of 19 and 25, and is at least 5 feet 5 inches tall. Miss Hebert is a resident of Lake Charles, Louisiana, and is nineteen years of age.

The Tour

Winner of the contest will represent the thirteen million members of the American cotton industry on an exciting six-month international tour. She will visit Paris and three other European capitals, as well as more than thirty cities from coast to coast in the United States, and three Canadian cities, to carry King Cotton's message.

She will be the fifteenth girl to make the tour sponsored annually by the National Cotton Council, the Memphis Cotton Carnival, and the Cotton Exchanges of Memphis, New York, and New Orleans.

Good luck to Anne in the national contest. We know she will represent us well!

PLEDGE NOW

On Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday of this past week the Protestant Religious Council presented to us the purposes of this year's PRC Drive. An appeal was made, and pledges were taken for the support of the student body. To hear of the needs of students who are so less fortunate than we makes us all ashamed of our frequent selfishness and our all too prevalent complaining over trifles.

In so many places students are homeless, sick, hungry, lacking opportunity and the basic tools of education. Financial help from us will make it possible for them to help themselves! This is our opportunity to help the future leaders of Asia and Europe to become co-workers with us in the struggle to establish community among the universities of the world.

We, as unbiased Christians, are striving to overcome racial prejudice. Such a gesture as giving funds to a needy Negro family and to Lemoyne College is another important step towards curbing, in part, the prejudice that is so obvious in America today.

So, let us all make a pledge to support the PRC Drive while the enthusiasm is at its initial peak! Help our fellow students to help themselves!

CAMPUS CHALLENGES

by Douglas Marsh

Somebody has written a piece entitled "Blessed Are The Maladjusted." The idea expressed in this sarcastic phrase is quite valid, if not taken too seriously. Anyone whose conscience imposes upon him the agony of being unable to "fit in" will know what the author means.

We hear and reach much about "adjustment," about maintaining a "balanced personality," about avoiding "fanaticism," and so on ad nauseam. Such terms used by the psychologist are meaningful; in the mouths of most people they are childishly superficial. The big idea seems to be that our religious faith must never go beyond a certain fixed point, that it must be modified discreetly, and prevented from making us seem overly religious or embarrassingly devout.

It is one thing to say that the DIRECTION of our faith should be controlled so as to express itself in appropriate ways; but it is quite another to say that the DEGREE of devotion to which we aspire must always be a moderate one. It is a misuse of Aristotle to assume that all means are golden; Heaven help us if we are only "moderately Christian."

Jesus Christ can do little with a part of your life; He does not want an "aspect." He demands the whole thing; which means that you as a Christian must strive, with His help, to be totally Christian; that you must refuse to "adjust" to anything which you and your conscience know is wrong; that you must be more interested in discovering the will of God than in maintaining some comfortable balance between what is right and what may be merely respectable.

"... How long are you going to limp upon two diverse opinions? If the Lord be God, follow him..."—I Kings 18:21.

KA Sweetheart

Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Alpha Order presented their 1952-1953 Sweetheart, Miss Anne Hebert, at an open house at their Lodge from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m., Thursday, November 20. Miss Hebert was presented at this time, since last year's Rose, Miss Hattie Edens, is not on the campus this year and since the KA formal will not be held until March 28. This will give Miss Hebert the opportunity to serve as Rose for the entire year.

The Receiving Line

Greeting the many guests at the door were Miss Hebert and her date, Ed Sugg; Don Ramier, president, and Joan Smith; and "Buck" Looney, vice-president, and Meredith Newman.

The guests were ushered into the living room of the chapter house, which was decorated with fall flowers and greenery. At one end of the room, the refreshment table was set with a beautiful silver service and candelabra. The centerpiece consisted of red roses and gilt leaves, carrying out the colors of the fraternity. The Alphas assisted the members in serving coffee and light refreshments.

Miss Hebert is a sophomore member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. Last year she served as Freshman Dormitory President and as a member of the April Fools' Court, and was chosen as a campus Beauty. This year she is a member of Voochies Governing Board, the YWCA Cabinet, the Student Counselors, and Pi Intersorority. She is also the WAA representative for AOPi and was chosen Football Princess for the Homecoming festivities.

Congratulations to Anne and to the KA's.

CRESCENDO—

Tuthill Rhapsody To Be Presented

by Louis Wener

"Come Seven," a rhapsody for orchestra by Dr. Burnet C. Tuthill, will be broadcast by the Oklahoma City Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Guy Fraser Harrison over the Mutual Network from 7 to 8 Sunday night. Station WHBG is the Mutual affiliate in Memphis.

This work has been performed only once before. Dr. Tuthill appeared as guest conductor with the St. Louis Symphony when it was done several years ago.

The title, "Come Seven" was derived from the fact that the entire piece is written in 7-8 time, and the rhythmic pattern is extremely difficult to master. Dr. Tuthill, however, heard a recording of the performance and reported that it was done very well.

Piazza Performance

Marguerite Piazza, famed Metropolitan Opera star, will give a concert at Ellis Auditorium Tuesday night, November 25 at 8:15. This promises to be a most enjoyable evening.

We'd like to offer our belated congratulations to Miss Jacqueline Roland, of Carruthersville, Missouri, who graduated from Southwestern last June with a major in voice. Jackie was one of the two winners of the Salzburg scholarships, which entitle her to a year's study at the Mozarteum in Salzburg, Austria.

Miss Roland will spend next winter in Salzburg coaching for opera and will have the opportunity to sing in various Austrian and German cities.

Also we send our best wishes New Yorkward to another alum, Clifford E. Tucker. Cliff left us in 1949 with a B.M. In the October issue of the Calvary Pulpit, it was announced that Cliff was appointed Music Director of the Baptist Music Program.

Little Theater

Southwestern is again well represented in a Little Theater play, The Mad Woman of Chaillot. Professor Hill, Coach Abbot, and Kirk Osoinach are taking part. Here's hoping for a terrific season.

The characters that cut Chapel on Friday surely do miss some good programs. Last week, the string quartet gave a preview and it was very good. I especially liked the Vaughn-Williams selection.

Guess that's about all for now. See you next week.

Congratulations to Pat Reigle, who was recently brought out by Pi Intersociety. Pat is a member of Kappa Delta, a junior, and president of the Publications Board.

The SAE's had an informal party at their lodge last Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. John Rollow were the chaperons. Some of the couples attending were Lisa Rollow and Tom Cunningham, John Maxwell and Janet Green, Nicky Lawton and Rodney Feild, and John McKinney and Anne Thomas.

Last week, nearly half the campus migrated to Jackson, Mississippi, to see the Lynx play at Millsaps College and attend an open house given by "Jip" Walters and Robin Sprague. The party was held at the Walter's home and lasted off and on from early Friday morning until late that night. Everyone from Southwestern who went to Jackson dropped by, and all are still talking about that Mississippi hospitality.

KS-XO Party

Monday night the Kappa Sig's and Chi O's had a "little-sister, big-brother" supper at the Kappa Sig house. The Chi O pledges gave a skit, "Ma and Pa in the Country." Those who had leading roles were Elaine Dies, Marian Cobb, Virginia Anthony, and Elizabeth Walker. The Kappa Sig's also performed. "Jip" Walters and "Roomie" Smith gave a hilarious radio skit, and Mark Waters presented an excellent fifteen-minute drum solo. After a supper of minute steak, potatoes, salad, ice cream sandwiches and cokes, bridge and other games were enjoyed.

The AOPi's have scheduled their Founder's Day Banquet for December 8. At this time the annual Ruby Fund will be collected. Last Friday the Mother's Club of AOPi held a tea for the new pledges and their mothers at the AOPi lodge from 3 to 5. Mrs. Graham greeted the guests, and Helen Swartzfager and Nancy Carrell served.

Sigma Nu initiated Gerald Pierce last Monday. Congratulations, Gerald!

The KD's were presented with a cultural program last Monday at their meeting. Miss Jean Enochs is in charge of these culture affairs. She presented a guest speaker from the Arena Theater to speak to the group. Miss Enochs believes these programs will be very beneficial to all who attend.

At Ole Miss

DDD Banquet

Delta Delta Delta will hold its annual Founder's Day banquet on November 25 at the Claridge Hotel. Mrs. Claburn H. Kennard, Tri-Delta National President, will address the group which will include alumnae, members, and pledges.

Meredith Newman and Annette Vaughn received the Trident degree of initiation yesterday and will receive the Star and Crescent degree Monday. Mrs. Kennard will be present for the Star and Crescent degree.

All Banana Club members are requested to pay past dues so the club may have a formal dinner soon.

Lynx, Bulldogs Play Tonight

By Dave Walthall

Today the Lynx journey to Jackson, Tennessee, to play the Union Bulldogs in their last game of the season tonight. The Lynx players and the coaching staff are in high spirits and expect to win.

We have had a long and impressive record against Union in former years. We have played them ten times and amassed a large total of points. We have scored 305 points to their 48. We last played them in 1941, when they came as close to beating us as they ever have, 21-14.

Seniors' Last Game

Playing for their last time at Southwestern will be seniors "Mac" McAllister, outstanding fullback and defensive linebacker; Bill Allen, tailback, who has played good ball for the Lynx this season; and captain Bob Crumby, offensive quarterback and defensive linebacker. These boys will be playing their usual good ball and backed by the rest of the team whom we know will want this game to be a winning one; so, we're expecting a victory.

The Record

The Lynx record hasn't looked so impressive this season but many of the games have been closer than they have appeared from the score; on the other hand, the Bulldogs, also have not had a very impressive season. They have won only one, while losing six. Therefore, by comparative scores we definitely aren't very big underdogs.

Standouts in tonight's game would seem to be Crumby, Street, and McAllister, ripping up the field on the ground, and the aerial combination of Crumby to Flaniken and Henry. Burton Henry, who has been out of the line-up with a torn ligament, seems to be well and will probably be back in tonight, holding down his defensive end and snagging those passes.

Injuries

The Lynx will play this game with less injuries than have been present most of the season. Except for quarterbacks Frank Horton and Jimmy McLin there will be only two players not dressing for the game. Bob Ridley, one of our outstanding linemen, was hurt in last week's game and "Smoky" Russell, one of our defensive halfbacks, will definitely not play tonight.

WAA NEWS— XO, KD Undeclared

PING PONG TOURNEY BEGINS

Only two teams remain unbeaten and untied at the end of the second week of intersorority basketball—Chi Omega and Kappa Delta. The DDD team emerged unbeaten, but with one tie. Of all the games this week, the DDD-ZTA game proved to be the most exciting. No one ever increased the lead by more than four points, and when the final whistle was blown, the score stood 17-17. During the closing seconds of the game, Tillie Walker basketed a beautiful shot to tie the game. According to the girls' rules, a tie is not played off.

Other games this week saw the XO's defeat the ZTA's; the KD's defeat the Independents; and the AOPi's defeat the Independents.

Ping Pong

The ping pong tournament was slow in getting started, but now several important matches have been played. Nola Nurnberger defeated Betty Sue Wilcox; Joan Stewart downed Marilyn Drash; Marijane Ragland topped Ann McAllister; Beth Holden beat Bebe Hagood; Ann Barr defeated Joan Womack; Martha Rooney topped Jean Enochs; Anne Thomas lost to Paula Smith; and "Dee" Wright was beaten by Emily McKay. In the second round of games, Smith beat McKay in a very close battle.

Expert Presents Memphis Design

W. W. Dibble, city planning expert, presented the "Dibble Plan for the City of Memphis" at 8 p.m. Thursday (November 20) in Southwestern's Hardie Auditorium. Dr. Lawrence F. Kinney, chairman of the Division of Adult Education of Southwestern, was in charge of the program.

The program, the third in Southwestern's current series on "The Design for a City," was open to the public at no admission charge as a contribution by the college to the welfare of the community. Dr. Kinney said.

The lecture was followed by a 15 to 20 minute period of questions and answers and closed at 9.15. "The opportunity for interpretation of this plan by its originator is offered to the people of Memphis as a free educational service by Southwestern," Dr. Kinney said.

Bridge Tourney To Be Started

Mrs. Aileen D. Latura, tournament director in the Tennessee Bridge Association and a familiar figure to Southwestern bidders as director of the 1952 Sigma Nu Bridge Tournament, is interested in starting a duplicate game among Southwestern players.

"Young people should have a chance to play duplicate bridge," Mrs. Latura said last night. "The facilities in Memphis are such, however, that the young, average player is hopelessly outclassed and has little chance to learn the fine points of the game."

Duplicate bridge is the same as regular rubber contract, but the hands, after play by one table, are placed in trays and passed on to another table. All players sitting North and South play the same hands, and the same is true for East-West players. This puts each pair against the other pairs in his section (North-South or East-West), and through a complicated scoring system, a winner is determined in each section.

Amateurs Only

Mrs. Latura is adamant on one point—any player with more than ten master points will not be allowed to play. "There are the larger tournaments that cater to the better players. With the average player playing against another of the same calibre, desire for more bridge knowledge will come much more quickly than the average player against the expert."

There will be cash prizes awarded to the winners of these early games. If the game is sufficiently popular, Mrs. Latura has promised to try to receive sanction from the American Contract Bridge League and have master points awarded on a rating point system. She has also promised that there will be one full master-point game each month.

Time and Place

The games are tentatively set for Thursday evenings at 8:00 p.m. at the Colonial Country Club. However, Mrs. Latura will be glad to move classes to the school if there is sufficient interest to merit it.

This is a tremendous advantage for young players who are interested in improving their game. Duplicate bridge virtually eliminates all luck from the game and reduces it to an extremely fascinating science.

"Buddy" Allison is taking the names of all Southwestern students who are interested in joining this club, and if anyone has questions about it, he should see "Buddy."

Lynx Play First Basketball Game

The Southwestern Lynx opened their basketball season with an unscheduled practice session against the Southern College of Optometry. The game was held Tuesday night in Fargason Field House.

The first quarter started out rather even, with both teams playing nip-and-tuck ball. The Lynx five soon pulled ahead, however, as their training began to show results. After about the first four minutes of the game, the Lynxmen pulled out in front and held their position beautifully. The game ended with the Lynx cagers having racked up a cool 85 points to our opponents' 41.

The Team

Standouts in the scrimmage were Johnny Maxwell, our tall, first string center, who was a high scorer with seventeen points. Following close behind Johnny, was our new freshman forward, Bob Jackson, with sixteen points. From Tuesday's performance, Jackson promises to be a starter and a standout this year. Other outstanding players for the Lynx were our two returning guards, Frank Horton and Benny Lamberth, with ten points each.

Tuesday night's scrimmage cannot be taken as a complete showing of the team, since John Lawhorn, promising freshman forward, was unable to play because of football. All in all, the cagers showed up magnificently Tuesday night, and this year's team promises to give an excellent showing.

give and do not understand the American people. This is not their fault as far as the Marshall plan and other agencies sponsored by the government are concerned. For the government has been giving with the thought that the people should be so indebted to the United States that they should be willing to accept anything that is said to them or asked of them by Washington as sacred.

The WSSF approaches this situation in an entirely different outlook, for the WSSF's reason in giving is neither political propaganda nor the idea of fighting Communism, but it is simply the idea of fighting hunger and poverty

INTRAMURAL NEWS— Touch Football Ends With SN Victorious

Last week the touch football season was ended as ATO defeated a determined PiKA team 19-12, KS forfeited to KA, and SN trounced the Independents 27-2. The trophies for horseshoes and touch football were presented Wednesday in chapel.

Table tennis is now in full swing and should be completed by next Tuesday.

and ignorance. It believes that Communism is not the major problem of today but that it is just one of the competing answers to this problem,—the problem of the world's poverty, disease and economic chaos. All such institutions must not concentrate their being on fighting communism but the things that make communism attractive to such nations.

"One great achievement of WSSF and its idea" said Mr. Gleason, "is that today most of western Europe is now on the giving end instead of being receivers."

At the end of the talk, the floor was open to discussion. The exchange students gave their views on many of the ideas expressed in the talk and in the following discussion.
