SOUTHWESTERN GETS NATIONAL SPOTLIGHT

Queen For A Day And MBS Welcome Poochie

Special to the Sou'wester

Hollywood, May 21. — Esther Jane "Poochie" Swartzfager, a student at Southwestern at Memphis, Tennessee, was one of five college co-eds who had their wishes come true on the Mutual Broadcasting System's QUEEN FOR A DAY program today. Miss Swartzfager asked for baseball and playground equipment for the Porter-Heath Home in Memphis. More than sixty neglected and dependent children between the ages of six and eighteen live at the Home. As one of the finalists in the College Queen of America Contest, Miss Swartzfager received a typewriter, a wrist watch, and a hope chest of wearing apparel and jewelry.

Miss Jacqueline Dumbol from Monticello College in Monticello, Illinois, was chosen by the program's studio audience as the College Queen of America for 1954. The new Queen's wish was for household appliances for her deserving mother.

All of the girls received gifts from the Mutual Broadcasting Company and the program's sponsor, Old Gold Cigarettes.

The program was recorded this morning by Ben Miller here at Southwestern. It will be replayed in Hardie Auditorium at one o'clock Saturday afternoon for the benefit of students who missed the broadcast because of exams.

The five finalists were flown to Hollywood, Wednesday by American Air Lines. They were met by All American football stars (from U.C.L.A. and U.S.C.) who have been their escorts during their holiday in Hollywood. Wednesday night they dined and danced at the Mocambo. Miss Swartzfager was a special guest on her escort's TV program. Yesterday noon they were guests for lunch at the Brown Derby and spent the afternoon touring the RKO and Paramount Studios. The girls met movie stars and posed for pictures with Rosalind Russell. Thursday evening was spent at the Moulin Rouge with a midnight supper at Don the Beachcomber's. After a round of shopping and sightseeing the girls will dine tonight at the Coconut Grove. They will be flown back to their campuses Saturday.

Nine Elected To Psi Chi

The following have been elected to Psi Chi, national honorary fraternity in psychology: Joanne Danielson, Robert Deupree, Albert Evans, David Guinley, John Howie, Jack Kahn, Kirk Osoinach, Helen Walker, and Don Wilkins.

Election requires a "B" or better average in psychology and a "C" or better average in all other courses. Professor Queener is Psi Chi's advisor.

Girls Change Dorm Rules

Several changes have been made in the Constitution of the Women's Dormitory Governing Boards which will become effective next fall. Many of these practices, which have been incorporated into the Constitution, have been in effect for some time but have been unwritten rules. An amendment to the Constitution may be proposed by a majority of the Governing Board or by petition of 3/4 majority vote of the residents of the dormitories and the approval of the

PiKA Convention To Be Held Here

Over 700 men representing every state in the Union will gather in Memphis late this summer for the Pi Kappa Alpha National Convention. Highlighting the week will be the dedication of their new National Headquarters across the street from the Southwestern campus.

The Convention will be held September 2 through 6 with meetings in the Peabody Hotel. Memphis alumni and the active chapters at Memphis State and Southwestern will be the hosts and will provide entertainment for the delegates. Already planned are trips to the local campuses and a full day at the home of a PiKA Alum in Wilson, Arkansas.

Southwestern congratulates Pi Kappa Alpha on the opening of its new National Headquarters, and wishes them a happy and successful week in Memphis.

Lynx Business Managers Named

The Publications Board has named Erin Moody and Nola Nurnberger business managers for the Lynx for 1954-55. Both Miss Moody, whose home is in Hammond, Louisiana, and Miss Nurnberger, who lives in Memphis, worked on their high school annuals. They will be juniors next year. These girls join Mary Wood McClintock and Geraldine Dozier on the Lynx staff. The Publications Board had previously named Dan Adams to edit the Sou'wester and Rachel Gobel to be the paper's business manager.

Senior Services Set

Plans for the Baccalaureate Service and Commencement were announced recently. The Baccalaureate Service will be held on Sunday, May 30, at the Second Presbyterian Church. The Sermon will be delivered by Dr. John K. Johnson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Oxford, Mississippi. Dr. Johnson graduated from Southwestern and received his Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Theology from Louisville Seminary. He has also done graduate work at Union Theological Seminary in New York.

The graduation exercises will be held in the Fisher Memorial Garden on June 1. Mr. Robert M. Lester will give the address. He is the secretary of the Carnegie Foundation and the holder of a number of honorary degrees. His alma mater is Birmingham-Southern College, which conferred upon him the Bachelor of Arts degree. After a year at Vanderbilt University he went to the University of Michigan, where he held the Buhl Fellowship in classics, and thence to Columbia University, which awarded him the Master of Arts degree.

Senior Girls Plan Varied Futures

Joanna Kindig

As summer looms ahead with its picnics and scorching heat, Southwestern seniors are fitting caps and gowns, breathlessly awaiting the time when they will be graduated. While as yet many senior girls have no idea what will occur from now until graduation, they have made specific plans for the summer.

Ruth and Rebecca Beasley will journey to Europe. While continuing to study voice, Gene McFarland also has Europe in mind for graduate work.

After her marriage to Bob Stewart in August, Wade McHenry plans to teach music in Austin, Texas. Joanne Cunningham wishes to teach public school music, and Carolyn Milton will give piano lessons at the College of Music. Margaret Hagood is undecided whether to go to Julliard or to teach violin or piano here.

Graduate Work Men Will Begin

Bill Seeds

In a very few days now classes will have disbanded and exams will have been weathered; and for most of us juniors, sophomores, and freshmen "formal education" will have ceased for at least three months. But the graduating seniors are faced with the problem of looking farther ahead into the omnipotent, omnipresent FUTURE.

In talking to the senior men, I encountered various reactions to my question: "What do you plan to do after graduation?" Here are some plans; some positive, others tentative, yet hopeful, all interesting.

John Butterworth, Lane Erwin, and Tommy Crais all plan to go to Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Virginia. Douglas Marsh will be at the graduate School of Religion, Harding College. Buck Looney has decided to go to the General Theological School, an

Alumni and Senior Class Celebrate May 29 and 31

June 1 is the big day the seniors have their eyes on, but two other days are circled in red on the full graduation calendar.

Alumni Day is set for Saturday, May 29. The Alums will register that morning. At 12:30 the Southwestern Men of Memphis will honor the graduating men and the reunion classes with a luncheon in Neely Hall. The guest speaker will be Mr. Lee B. Waller, '29, executive vice-president of the Storer Broadcasting Company in Miami, Florida. The returning Alums will include the classes of 1949, '44, '39, '34, '29, '24, '19, '14, '09, '04, '99, '94, and '84.

From 2:00 to 5:30 the Alums will vote for the Alumni Association officers in the SAE House. At the same time the athletic events will be held behind fraternity row. The softball teams of the fraternity Alums will battle for the prize of Dr. Diehl's Old Green Hat, now in the possession of the Sigma Nu Alums. They will also compete in a horseshoe throwing contest. The athletics will be followed by the Alumni Supper at 6:00, and an Alumni Association Business Meeting at 7:15. At 8:15 they will hold a dance and other special entertainment on the tennis courts.

Monday, May 31, is Class Day. At 4:00 the Southwestern Women of Memphis will honor the women graduates with a Garden Party in Fisher Garden. The mothers of the graduates and visiting Alums will also be guests.

The Dedication of the Senior Tree and Gift will be at 5:45. An informal faculty reception will be held on Palmer Hall terrace at 8:00 for the seniors and their husbands, wives, parents, and friends. The class officers will compose the receiving line.

The final event of Class Day will be the Senior Class Ceremony in Voorhies Recreation Room at 10:00.

Notes From The Desk Of The Student Council

The Student Council has met every Thursday evening since its election to plan the affairs of the Student Body for the remainder of the year and to lay the groundwork for the year beginning in September.

Reg Germany, Vice President of the Student Body, is in the process of organizing the Elections Commission composed of representatives from the fraternities and sororities to draw up the constitution and rules for conducting all campus elections.

Claudia Owen, Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Body, has been faithful and efficient in keeping the records of the Student Council. She has drawn up the budget for next year which has been approved by the Student Council.

Smoky Russell, Commissioner of Athletics, has been working with the problem of how to encourage the school to give more support to the athletic teams. He was in charge of the recent assembly to acquaint the Student Body with the plans for the football team.

Handbook Test

Mary Rodriguez, Commissioner of Publications and Publicity, has already completed the editing of The Student Council Handbook for 1954-1955. The Student Council feels that it is important for every student to be familiar with the campus regulations and activities, and will provide enough copies of the Handbook for each student next year. A test on the Handbook will be administered to new students during orientation in September. Mary has organized the Publications Commission to be responsible for all publicity bearing the name of Southwestern. She is also in charge of the publicity for Student Council functions, assisted by Harriette Mathewes, Sophomore Class Representative.

Ann Barr, Commissioner of Religious Activities, is in the process of organizing the work of the Protestant Religious Council composed of the president and representative of each of the religious organizations. The P.R.C. has overall supervision of campus religious affairs.

Social Committee Active

Joe Eades, Commissioner of Social Activities, has with the assistance of Mr. Pack, the Commissioner of Publicity, and the Social Committee (composed of fraternity and sorority representatives), taken full charge of the Clearpool party. The success of it is attributable to their work and planning. Under the direction of the Commissioner of Social Activities, the Student Council and the Social Committee are planning the activities of the orientation program given to the Student Council.

Dorothy Henning, Commissioner of Undergraduate Women, and Reg Germany, President of the Sanhedrin, have worked together in drawing up the freshman regulations which have been approved by the Student Council. The Student Council has considered many good ideas on hazing, and we are in need of your cooperation at the beginning of next year for a successful hazing program which will be under the direction of the Board of Undergraduate Women and the Sanhedrin (composed of the male members of the Student Council and the Vice Presidents of the classes.)

Ann Caldwell, Senior Class Representative, is in charge of keeping the Student Council scrapbook for the year.

Suggestion Box

The Student Council has voted to put in the Lair next year a Student Council suggestion box into which anyone may drop a suggestion to be considered by the Student Council. The purpose of this is to provide an easily available contact between the Student Body and the Student Council. Tom Tosh, President of the Junior Class, is in charge of this project.

The Student Council must necessarily rely upon the cooperation of the Student Body in the functions it plans and the expressed opinions of the Student Body regarding the policies of campus activity. Please help us in these ways for a successful program.

Administrative Committee.

The amendments are as follows:
Article I. Membership and Officers

Section 2. The Governing Board of Voorhies Hall shall be elected by all dormitory students and the distribution of the membership shall be as follows: 3 seniors, 3 juniors, 3 sophomores, and the president. The president must have the following qualifications:

1. Senior or Junior classification.
2. Membership on the Dormitory Board for at least one year previous to her election.

The proposed changes in the rules for Evergreen and Voorhies Dormitories are the following:

1. Quiet hour will begin Sat. night at 11:00 p.m. in Voorhies and 12:00 midnight in Evergreen and will be extended until 10:00 a.m. Sunday morning.
2. The washing machines may not be used after 9:00 p.m.
3. Upon second offense of receiving a "Noise Slip," a student shall have a Sunday night campus, and upon each succeeding offense thereafter, she shall receive a Saturday night campus.
4. Any student making undue noise after 11:00 p.m. and after 12:00 midnight in Evergreen on Sat. night will receive a Saturday Saturday night campus upon first offense.
5. Any student who signs only "out" instead of indicating destination will receive a Sunday night campus.
6. Any student failing to sign out will receive a weekend campus.
7. The penalty for violation of rules for spending the night out in Memphis — leaving off either address or telephone number carelessly — will result in a Sat. night campus.
8. Listed under the rules for out of town trips is the following rule. A student must sign out before leaving indicating the time she expects to return and must sign in immediately upon her return.
9. Other infringements of the above rules should be immediately reported to the Resident Head and the Dean of Women and will be dealt with according to the circumstances of each individual case.
10. Failure to sign out to go home for a vacation will result in a weekend campus.

Gentlemen Visitors

Several new rules were requested by dorm members through the use of a suggestion box in reference to the men visitors in the dorms. The new rule provides that visitors may be permitted Monday through Friday in Evergreen from 12:00 noon to 8:00 p.m. Also added is the clause which states that signing out is not necessary for a student who only wishes to speak to a boy in the social room for no more than 5 minutes.

After a discussion with a board of sorority representatives, the Governing Board decided a few changes were necessary in relation to appropriate attire to be worn on the campus. A student may wear blue jeans or Bermuda shorts without a coat or skirt to and from an athletic event in which she is to participate. Under no circumstances will a student enter a college building, including the Lair, other than the gym in either attire. Students should remember at all times that they are representatives of Southwestern in the public eye off campus as well as on it, and they should be careful about their appearance.

Executive Dormitory Council

Any infringements of dormitory rules which the Dormitory Board does not have authority to handle, and which do not come under the Honor Council will be referred to the Executive Dormitory Council. The decision of the Executive Dormitory Council will be reported

Our Final Thought

Putting out a newspaper such as the Sou'wester is no simple task. One essential factor is cooperation from both students and faculty. Another is a staff capable of reporting every detail that might be of interest to someone. And finally, there must be a publications crew that is willing to work sometimes far into the night to get an issue ready on time. The Sou'wester has been fortunate in each of these areas this year.

We have not been perfect and have welcomed criticism of all types—be it for an injustice done to a team or reversing names under a picture. At the same time there have been some who have given us encouragement in our work and have thanked us for the effort we have put out. We, in turn, wish to thank each person who has helped make our job easier. The Sou'wester is indebted particularly to the Elections Commission and other campus organizations that have given us "scoops" on new officers and programs. We appreciate the cooperation of the staff members and those from whom they had to get their stories.

To the seniors we say "Good luck and God speed," and to the rest of you it's "See you next fall." And to everyone: "Have a Happy Holiday."

Last week I urged y'all to go see Marilyn Monroe in "River of No Return," and when I entered the Palace, I found that practically every unpinned Southwestern male had followed my advice. Now is the hour when we must take exams, and I've developed a deep-set guilt complex about my sending you ON THE TOWN when you should have been studying. Alas, what can I do but urge you to adopt the great indoors as your living quarters now?

However, if you should happen to decide to partake of some wholesome, nerve-soothing relaxation, I know of a few events in which you might like to indulge. (That is if you indulge.) Certainly, everyone realizes the vast cultural importance of American jazz, so the "Special Show for White" in the Hippodrome at 8 P.M. should attract all y'all Kats. It's no less than the simply great Louis Armstrong and his orchestra. Why even Tallulah loves Sachmo.

Lana Turner in The Flesh

The Cinema is a tad less jazzy. Lana Turner traipses volumptuously around Naples in "The Flame and the Flesh" at the State. Lana is a girl who likes to live around a bit, while Pier Angeli is a sort of girl-next-door (not next door to Lana, mind you, but next door to someone). Thus from the title we might gather that for obvious reasons Miss Turner is "The Flesh," and we might guess that for less obvious reasons Miss Angeli could be "The Flame." (You know, I burn with a hard gem-like flame," and all that.) It's in Technicolor, yet.

If Miss Marilyn Monroe can get finished with her aqua antics at the Palace, the intense Miss Barbara Stanwyck will star in "Witness to Murder" with George Saunders who strangles more than a friendly impulse and who likes Nietzsche ("The Will to Power," "My Sister and I," etc.) The Warner's new movie will be "Arrow in the Dust" with Sterling Hayden and Coleen Gray. This one is advertised as being "from the blood-stained pages of the West's most savage days," which sound perfectly messy.

The Malco will usher in Vittorio de Sica's "Indiscretion of an American Wife." Jennifer Jones plays a housewife from Philadelphia whose chief tourist attraction is Montgomery Cliff. It should be curious to see what De Sica, who used so many nonprofessionals in fine Italian films like "Shoeshine" and "The Bicycle Thief," is able to do with the American stars in a script worked over by such diverse writers as Carson McCullers, Paul Gallico, and Truman Capote. The advance notices have not been kind.

Good TV Program

On T. V. Saturday there's a program I think you'll want to see in spite of exams or high water. Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca, nearing the end of their long association on Show of Shows, will repeat some of the outstanding sketches of their past six seasons.

Art Mooney and his orchestra open at the Peabody on May 24, for two weeks. That's also the date for the official opening of the Plantation Roof, weather permitting. So if you can still stand up on Monday, there's a place to dance.

My association with you seems also near an end, but the Lord and Dan Adams willing, I'll be back next year, same time, same station. For now I'll say toodle, and to be literary I'll close with a quotation from T. S. Eliot's "The Waste Land": HURRY UP PLEASE, IT'S TIME—to go ON THE TOWN!

(Ed. note: So be it. Scott Byrd has been writing "The Town" for several weeks and has done a good job. Beginning this fall, "ON THE TOWN" with Scott Byrd will be a regular feature of The Sou'wester.)

The gentleman looking you straight in the eye is Dr. Llewellyn Queener, Professor of Psychology. Dr. Queener holds degrees in Psychology and Religion, and is an ordained Baptist Minister.

Pressing the Profs

Geraldine Dozier

"A psychologist usually creates his 'magnum opus' at the age of 39 and with only a few years left, I'd better get started." These were the words of Dr. Llewellyn Queener, professor of psychology. His "long term aspiration" for this work concerns the psychology of ethics. The psychologist grew up in Knoxville, Tenn., and while attending high school there, he became a "big journalist," serving as editor of the Blue and White. One six weeks he found himself flunking algebra and supposedly to take his mind off the dreadful matter, he and several ROTC boys tied their belts together and put them around the bottom of the desks in the classroom so the people would fall as they came down the aisle. I wonder if that helped the algebra grade any?

Dr. Queener received his B.A. from the University of Tennessee and then went to Yale and earned a Ph.D. in psychology and religion. While at Yale he also received a B.D. and is an ordained Baptist minister. His Ph.D. dissertation, entitled "International Attitude Formation," a "great, big, heavy thing," was read by one of the outstanding social psychologist writers in the country and, in his own book, the author used more quotations from Dr. Queener's dissertation than he did from Freud's writings. Our professor claims that he owes everything academically to his wife—he didn't like for her to lead him in the race for grades. Mrs. Queener took her masters in history at Yale.

By Zeus, By God

While in college, he held the office of president of the Baptist State Student Union and was regarded as "a kind of Abelard, to be watched." One Christmas he didn't have enough money, so he entered a Greek translating contest in order to win $35, the contest prize. Every time the actor would quote "By Zeus" in Greek, Dr. Queener would translate it "By God." The saucy professor liked his translation and awarded him the $35. Another time, he again employed his skill and won enough money in a speaking contest to buy his fiancée an engagement ring. He was named to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, the Phi Beta Kappa equivalent given in engineering colleges.

Dr. Queener's first teaching job was the University of Tennessee and in '49 he came to Southwestern. He had been previously invited to Southwestern, but wished to spend the first few years with his home university, where he taught psychology and philosophy.

As for publications, he has more than his share. In 1951, many of his articles on social ethics and psychology were published, but his main publication was a 175,000 word text book entitled "An Introduction to Social Psychology" which is now being used on this campus as well as at Brown University, Cornell, N.Y.U., and Penn State. Everything spelled correctly in the text he says he owes to his wife. His current enthusiasm lies in the field of relating psychotherapy to Christianity, and he is beginning a book now which he hopes to complete in two years.

National Memberships

At the present time, Dr. Queener is a fellow of the American Psychological Association and is also a fellow on the National Council of Religion and Education. Another membership is with the American Philosophical Association.

The professor of psychology is right now interested in setting up a human relations panel here on the campus in which social science majors would work with local citizens and imported specialists on some regional social scientific problem, such as a study of race relations, or the success of newspaper circulation to the people who really need them.

Dr. Queener has some advice to students. The only ultimate guide for living is experience. There is nothing sinful about going by your own experience rather than that of someone else. Of course, experience should be as informed as possible, particularly about the self. This may be the goal of psychology. The point of life is living, and the best living is done by reacting to all facts of nature, including the self. This point shows more faith in God than the following of given creeds, which shows some lack of faith. The professor stated this position—"I believe in reason, not rationality."

to the Administrative Committee for consideration and final action. Also any student has the privilege of asking to appear before the Administrative Committee for a review of the case.

The council consists of five faculty members as follows:

Dean of the College—Johnson, Chairman
Secretary of the Administrative Committee—MacQueen
College Chaplain—Reveley
Dean of Men—Diehl
Dean of Women—Bosworth

If any of these faculty members cannot be present the Dean of the College will appoint another faculty member to serve.

Also on the council are three Voorhies officers and two revolving members which may be Evergreen president and one other if Evergreen is involved, otherwise two members of Voorhies Board.

How to Stay In College

1. Bring the professor newspaper clippings dealing with his subject. Demonstrate fiery interest and give him timely items to mention to the class. If you can't find clippings dealing with his subject, bring in any clippings at random. He thinks everything deals with his subject.

2. Look alert. Take notes eagerly. If you look at your watch, don't stare at it unbelievably and shake it.

3. Nod frequently and murmur, "How true." To you, this seems exaggerated. To him, it's quite objective.

4. Sit in front, near him. (Applies only if you intend to stay awake.) If you are going to all the trouble of making a good impression, you might as well let him know who you are, especially in a large class.

5. Laugh at his jokes. You can tell. If he looks up from his notes and smiles expectantly, he has told a joke, believe it or not.

6. Ask for outside reading. You don't have to read it. Just ask.

7. If you must sleep, arrange to be called at the end of the hour. It creates an unfavorable impression if the rest of the class has left and you sit there alone, dozing.

8. Be sure the book you read during the lecture looks like a book from the course. If you do math in psychology and psychology in math, match the books for size and color.

9. Ask any questions you think he can answer. Conversely, avoid announcing that you have found the answer to a question he could not answer, and in your younger brother's second grade reader at that.

10. Call attention to his writing. Produces an exquisitely pleasant experience connected with you. If you know he's written a book or an article, ask in class if he wrote it.

As to whether or not you want to do some work, in addition to all this, well it's controversial and up to the individual. — The Daily Tar Heel, University of North Carolina.

Mary Mainard and Mary Ann Wachel will return to Southwestern where they will further their musical studies with Mr. Leighton. Bobbie Thomas will also continue to study voice and practice teaching.

Both Anne Riley and Mary Frances Forbes will teach the fourth grade, the former at Cherokee School and the latter at Birmingham, Ala. Mary Ann Hackleman will be a math teacher here in Memphis. Ann Jon McAllister will also teach in Memphis or Brighton, Tenn.

Several girls have received fellowships to continue their studies. Among these are Peggy Fitch and Gerry Hensley who will go to Assembly's Training School. Others included are as follows: Margaret Ann McGehee, who will study for her masters' degree at the University of Iowa, Emily McKay, who will do graduate work at the University of Minnesota, Berk Rucker, who will enter the University of Chicago, and Bettie Worthington, who has a Carnegie fellowship to study at Vanderbilt or Peabody.

Patsy Braswell will be youth director at a church in Nashville. Millye Bunn will begin work as receptionist and secretary for a lawyer June 7. Barbara Curtis plans to do office work for Carrington Mason and Sons. Mary McDonald has a position in a bank at Camden, Ark., and Elizabeth Price will obtain a job in Jackson, Miss.

Paula Richardson will continue to work at the Commercial Appeal. La Verne Myers may work in a travel agency in Jackson, Miss. Jean Enochs will attend Katherine Gibbs' Business School. Jennie Lee Davis will continue in the field of Dramatics. Ethel Harrell will enter med-school in July.

Betty Fischer will marry Jimmy Wilson in Starkville, Miss. Ann Marie Davis is the wife of Russell Bruce, Ann Feemster is married to Charles McAllister, and Marilyn Mitchell is married to Milton Wray. Best of luck to y'all!

Several graduates will pursue their studies abroad. Among these is Jim McLin, who will study music at the Conservatory in Brussels. Bill Harrison plans to study French at the Sorbonne in Paris.

Planning to study law at Washington University is James Bernard. Both Wheatley Beard and Roy Coats are going to the UT Med School. Roy hopes some day to be a medical missionary. Wiley Umphlett will study Journalism at Columbia University in New York. Sid Vise said his plans are indefinite, but that he hopes to continue his music studies at the University of North Carolina. Doing graduate work in Medicine at the same college will be John Howie. Orley Lilly will do graduate work in Economics at Princeton.

Bennie Lamberth, Ray Tanner, and Burton Henry will be, so they say, in the Marine Corps. Larry Bone hopes that he'll enter the Library School at the University of Southern California. Chandler Warren will continue his studies at Columbia, and Bill Burch will enroll at Duke on a fellowship in Spanish. Bill Hamer is sure he will go to graduate school, but has not yet decided which school he'll attend. Both Amel Peterson and Tommy Cunningham have no definite plans yet.

George Goode will enroll at Duke University this fall to do graduate work in Political Science. David Morris says quite positively that he's going to be drafted. Bob Goodson, who will be assistant minister at Huntington, West Virginia, will study theology at Louisville Seminary.

Baseball Team Downs Memphis State & Union

Southwestern's baseball team finished the season at home with wins over Memphis State and Union. Both were close games with big innings counting for the Lynx.

Bill Williams closed out his college career by beating our city rivals 6-2. Williams scattered six hits and batted in a pair of runs himself in the eighth when Southwestern scored three times to put the game on ice. The victory avenged an earlier loss to the Tigers in a high scoring contest on the State diamond. This time the Lynx collected hits including doubles by Young and Maddux and a three bagger by Street.

Southwestern got only seven hits against Union, but some daring base running brought home enough runs to win 8-5. Harry Heidelberg allowed seven hits, but was in trouble only in the ninth when Union scored three times. Crawford Street again tripled in a 2 for 3 day, and Williams and Horton added doubles.

Prospects for next year's team are bright. The Lynx will move to the new gym and a new diamond next season.

Netters End Good Season

Coach "Beaver" Barton and his 1954 tennis team ended the season with a record of nine wins against seven defeats as they beat Delta State 5-4 in the final match last Thursday afternoon here. Ailing Burton Henry was unable to play singles, so the rest of the team jumped up one notch. The Lynx copped four of six singles matches and one doubles contest.

Tommy Crais easily rolled past his No. 1 opponent, Wilber Roland, 6-2, 6-2, to complete a highly successful season in which he has lost only two out of sixteen matches in regular play. Tommy Buford also turned in a straight set singles victory, 9-7, 6-2 over Roy Williams. Eric Mount and George Morris accounted for the other two singles wins, both in three sets, as they edged Ken Wyatt and Willie Box respectively. Vogt and Mount picked up the only Southwestern doubles win by whipping Box and Groner, 6-2, 6-4.

fourth place finishes. Sigma Nu had one first, three seconds, and a third. Ironically, the outcome was decided, not on the field of competition, but in attendance at Inter-mural Board meetings where ATO picked up 130 points for perfect attendance to SN's 109.

SAE and KA got off to a fast start with first and second places in tennis competition, but faded as ATO and SN took practically everything else. In volleyball it was ATO first and SN second. SAE grabbed another first in basketball with SN again second. Sigma Nu pulled into the driver's seat with a win in badminton, but ATO kept close with second place point. Then in the softball playoff game, the Alpha Tau's came from behind to take the game, the championship and the intramural trophy.

"Well, what do you think of my game?" said the enthusiastic golfer to his girl-friend.

"Oh, it's all right," replied the little darling, "but I still prefer golf."
