ROTARIANS SPEAK ON CITIZENSHIP

Bailey and Conroy Make Addresses at Chapel

The local Rotary Club celebrated the eighteenth anniversary of the organization with a city-wide campaign to stress the importance and the important requisites of good citizenship. Mr. C. W. Bailey, president of the Chamber of Commerce, addressed the students at chapel on Monday morning. His subject was "Leadership." In his speech, Mr. Bailey said that there is an obligation on every one of us to perform some public service, to take some part in the affairs of the city, state or nation. The avenues of service are very numerous. Good business men are needed at the head of every charitable institution and school. We would have waiting lists of leaders if everyone of real ability would cultivate it and give some time and thought and energy to that work. Unfortunately, we do not have this condition. On the contrary, sometimes we have difficulty in persuading someone to take the lead in some very helpful activity. Cooperation, weekly gatherings, close associations and fellowship have brought men close together and have awakened slumbering civic activities and have brought forth leaders. More co-operation is what we need; more and better leaders, for leadership often determines whether a project will succeed or fail. We should strive to make ours the ideal community, where the men and women are alert, energetic, happy, where business standards are high, and

ALPHA PHI EPSILON MEETING

The regular meeting of Alpha Phi Epsilon Honorary Literary Fraternity was held on Wednesday, February 21, in Professor Arrowood's classroom. After the meeting was called to order, Miss Carrie Tyler McDaniel was initiated into membership. Further business was then attended to.

The program for the afternoon was most interesting. Miss McReynolds gave a most entertaining talk on "How a Meeting Should be Organized and Conducted." This was taken from "Roberts' Rules of Order" as had been decided at the last meeting.

FIRST CONTRACT FOR SOUTHWESTERN AT MEMPHIS LET

Work Begun on Administration Building

The first contract for the erection of the administration building, to be known as the "Palace Memorial" of Southwestern at Memphis, which is to be located on the North Parkway, was let on Wednesday in the offices of Jones and Furbringer, Architects, to Kancher and Hodges, general contractors. This unit of the college will cost between $250,000 and $300,000. Work was begun on Thursday and will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

Twenty cars of stone have been delivered on the college grounds and additional cars are expected to arrive daily. It is thought that about forty cars per month will be received until the 10,000 tons of stone for this first building has been delivered. The stone is being quarried in Arkansas, less than 100 miles from Memphis, from a quarry purchased by the institution. The coloring of the stone is such that will make the building very beautiful, shading from blue grey through yellows and tans to a rich chocolate-brown. A sample wall was built to show the contractors exactly what was wanted and President Diehl assures us that it is as beautiful as expected.

This first building will be a three-story edifice, 265 feet long. It will house the business and administrative offices, a Board of Directors' room, classrooms, and social rooms. Temporarily it will house the chapel and library. It is to be of the Collegiate Gothic type of architecture, very substantially built. Only the best materials obtainable will be used, and everything possible is being done to the end that this building, like those ancient structures of the Old World, may defy the ravages of time.

The main approach to the building will lead to a broad tower about 60 feet high. The interior of the tower is to be of stone vaulting and will be very attractive.

President Diehl, who is chairman of the building committee, said that he hoped the college would be open for work in Memphis in September, 1924, and that the institution would continue here until June of that year.

S. V. CONVENTION

A Student Volunteer Band at S. P. U. Urged

S. V. is the abbreviation or rather the symbol of one of the most praiseworthy organizations in existence today, the Student Volunteers. It was founded in 1885 by Dwight L. Moody at Mt. Vernon, Mass. He with a few consecrated, praying students met to formulate plans for a missionary band which should try to get volunteers for foreign field. The first general meeting, there were two hundred and fifty present with twenty-one volunteers. Robert P. Wilder was among those who had given their lives to the foreign work. By the time the conference had closed, there were one hundred volunteers for service abroad. There were four of this number picked to go to other colleges to organize more bands, but three could not go, and this left Wilder to carry out the plans. The first school which took a definite step and had a Student Volunteer band was Harvard. This was in the year 1888. From this time to the present, the movement has spread

SIGMA UPSILON MEETING

Stylus Club Enjoys Good Program

The Stylus Chapter of Sigma Upsilon enjoyed one of the best meetings of the year on last February 22 meeting in their room at the Commons. The business of the evening was first accomplished.

The entertainment was begun by Prof. Arrowood, who gave a review of "Captain Blood" by Rafael Sabatini. This review proved to be one of the best given this year, due to the book itself and to the delightful manner in which it was given. Mr. Haden followed this with his initiatory paper. In this paper, Mr. Haden gave every proof of having the qualities which Stylus desires in its men. He chose to give a short one-act play, entitled "Treason," which contained plot, originality, and style. From the moment he began his reading, he held the attention of all, and at its close, many were the expressions of pleasure.

"Y" OBSERVES DAY OF PRAYER

President Diehl Speaks

Last Sunday the Y. M. C. A. observed the day as the Sunday set aside for prayer for schools and colleges. The program was a very enjoyable one. Mr. Shelby read the Scripture lesson from Phil. 4 1-13. Dr. Diehl delivered the address on "He Went About Doing Good."

To the normal person wickedness and evil have a singular charm. Most of us think of it as especially alluring. A man can behave himself for fifty years and no comment will be passed about it; but just let him get into something questionable or wicked and the newspapers run it in the headlines. However it may seem, the good life is the most fascinating thing in the world.

The life of Christ was not a dull listless existence. Probably no one had a life of a more romantic nature. We see him born in the manger in Bethlehem; later on we see the crowds following him through Galilee and the surrounding country. He was a friend of publicans and sinners. "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance," he said. He healed the lepers, and cured all the defective of various classes. Then Christ classed his life with Calvary. There is no dull line in the life of the perfect man. He is the master of men.

Christ was natural in all his goodness. His life was not merely an acted part. Some people go to symphony concerts not from love of music, but because of style. They do not really love music but

Interfraternity Tournament

The Varsity basketball season is over, but there is to be quite a lot of basketball yet. There is the annual Interfraternity tournament to be played off. Ten games are required to determine the winner. It is earnestly desired to get these games played as soon as possible. The following games of the Fraternity tournament are announced:

Game 1. A. T. O. vs. P. K. A. Wednesday night, February 28.

Game 2. S. S. K. vs. S. A. E.—Thursday night, March 1.

THE MOST VALUABLE THING IN COLLEGE

Some students come to college with the idea of getting book knowledge. They are commonly called book worms, and always offer this as an excuse to relieve themselves from other activities. Others leave the books as a side issue, and boast over never cracking a book, but spend their time in athletics and loafing. Both are missing a valuable experience that would help them later.

Experience in extracting knowledge from books is necessary for success in life. Also the ability to associate with men and to compete physically is an essential requisite of character. In college we should learn to strike the happy medium.

But more valuable still is experience in leadership that we can get in college. On every campus there are numerous organizations that claim our time, thought, and energy. By working in these, we see how the work is carried on and then we have the opportunity to direct the work. Executive ability will carry us farther in any field of work we choose than any amount of book knowledge. The captain of every athletic team should be a leader. Just so every captain of industry or everyone in any position of responsibility must know how to organize and keep pushing his job.

Are we getting this most valuable thing in our college life: Experience in organizing and running some organization? If we are not, whose fault is it? Right here each of us has plenty of chances to show his ability and prove his leadership.

Mr. Chapel Fenwick gave a talk on "The Importance of the Sociology Department in the University." This was a most instructive talk and showed clearly that the aim of such a cause should not be the mere learning of subject matter in the text book, but observation work as far as possible. Miss Settle had also prepared a talk for the meeting, but was unable to be present.

The next meeting was called for Wednesday, March 7. All members are urged to be present as a most entertaining program has been prepared.

SOCIOLOGY CLUB DISCUSSES NEGRO

On Saturday evening, February 24, the revived Sociology Club met and was called to order by President Fenwick. As no business had to come before the meeting, the program was immediately begun and the first number on the program, a paper discussing the question of educating the Negro, was very much enjoyed by those present. The next number on the program was an original talk by Mr. Joseph Kitchell, on the subject: "Characteristics of the Negro and Remedies for Existing Conditions." Mr. Kitchell showed in his speech that he had put forth real effort and thought, and all he said in substance was sound and truthful. Let us hope that as time goes on we may rebuild a Sociology Club which will never fail to attract all the student body, and let us strive to keep the work going on the foundation which was laid last Saturday.

STUDES' EXPRESS

What's wrong with Dickson-Sadler Company? We give them the majority of our trade which amounts to a good many dollars, and still one or two of the head men always get excited when we desire to loaf with them. I heard that Saturday two of the college boys were asked to go out to the front. No doubt these two men had just bought a drink and were standing around a few minutes listening to the Victrola. Shall we stand for this treatment? You know it's entirely up to us for we can and have stopped it before. There are too many other good drug stores in town to allow the two men who own Dickson-Sadler to run us out after we have spent our money with them.

The Senior Class has expressed the opinion that they were the class champions here. They have even gone so far as to condescend to meet any team from the other classes who might think they are not the champs.

It would be of interest to know what state has the best basketball team at S. P. U. Our enrollment makes it possible to recruit a team from each of the states of Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi. Why not find out which is best?

Has Calvin Hall a basketball team? Has Robb Hall? How about the town students; have you a team?

MISS SETTLE HOSTESS TO KAPPA DELTA

Miss Frances Settle was hostess to the Kappa Delta Literary Society on Friday, February 23, at the home on Fifth Street.

After a short business meeting a very interesting and attractive program was given.

A debate, "Resolved, That a Small Town is a Better Location for a College than a City," was the first feature. The affirmative was taken by Misses Frances Edwards and Lillian Wilson and the negative by Misses Mary Culberson and Mary Durrett. Both sides were admirably supported but the judges unanimously gave the decision to the negative side.

Following this Miss Georgia Hodgson gave a splendid and very interesting talk on "Mount Vernon and Its Master—a Gentleman." The attention with which her audience listened showed the spell with which the speaker held it. Every one present was enthusiastic in her praise of this, another of Kappa Delta's talented members.

The last number was an ukalele solo of a humorous nature, which was given by Miss Coralie Derr.

After the conclusion of the program, the hostess served tempting refreshments, consisting of tea, sandwiches and bon bons.

The next regular meeting is to be held with Miss Annie Small.

success is evident. If we succeed, we will have the consciousness of a duty well done.

Mr. John J. Conroy spoke to the chapel assemblage on Tuesday morning on "Citizenship and Education." The savage, he said, is a law unto himself, but the citizen must recognize that there is a point where his rights end and those of his neighbor begin. Nations must follow this in their relationship, one with another. History records the rise and fall of nations and in every instance internal moral decadence was the cause of failure. The youth now in colleges is the hope of the world in the near future. History of education shows that in all ages, in all countries, the fundamental aim of education is and has been to make a good man. Education must do more for a man than to make a good soldier of him like the Spartan system. It must make him appreciate what is good and also must qualify him to perform the requirements of good citizenship. In this life we all have a part to play. Let us prepare ourselves now while we have the opportunity, so that we can take our place and hold up the sacred traditions that are ours.

We enjoyed having these visitors with us very much, and hope that they will come to see us again and bring us just as helpful messages.

PERSONALS

Mr. William Ruffin was confined to his room for several days on account of a slight attack of flu.

Prof. Townsend could not meet his classes on Friday and Saturday, being the victim of influenza.

We were honored by several fair damsels on Friday evening, February 23, at supper. The party consisted of Miss Elder and Mr. Patrick, Miss Rodriguez and Mr. Saunders, Miss India Jones of Franklin, Tenn., and Mr. Reynolds, Miss Sadie Hurst of Montgomery, Ala., and Mr. Henry, and Mr. Nolan McLean and Mr. Miller as waiters.

Prof. Cooper and G. A. Newton were absent from school for several days on a short trip to Mississippi.

Miss Sara McReynolds spent the week-end in Nashville visiting friends.

Mr. Erie Mount was on the campus for several days visiting friends.

Mr. Walter Johnston was suddenly called home on Saturday night because of the illness of his sister.

Misses India Jones and Kitty Pointer of Franklin, Tenn., Miss Marvin Cole, Memphis, Tenn., Miss Marie Parent, Nashville, Tenn., Miss Virginia Carlton, Springfield, Tenn., Messrs. Milton and Frank Davenport, W. T. Farmer, Maurice Spech, William Gaither, William Tandy, and J. H. Martin, of Vanderbilt University were guests of the Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity at their entertainment on Wednesday evening.

they realize that they should love it. Then Christ's goodness was spontaneous. The Pharisees lived by rules and laws. Their religion was composed of so many rules, and so much red-tape. But Christ was good in conduct because he was naturally good. Some people are good because they are afraid to be bad; and some are good because their hearts and lives are pure. We all belong to one of these classes. I wonder which is mine? Jesus Christ was and is real. Some people think that he is a character in a very good book—the bible. Still others think of him as a fit figure for a stained-glass window but not one that can stand the stain and dirt of modern life.

Our one aim should be to gain real goodness, and the only way to gain it is to live it. The real life is the life that is hid with Christ in God.

"How'er it be it seems to me
 'Tis only noble to be good."

Development

Freshie: "Please, mother, may I go?"

Soph: "Let me go, mother, I'll be in by eleven."

Senior: "Good night. Leave the door unlocked."

Nurse: "Oh, that won't do any good. I've threatened them with that already."

TIGERS MAKE HARD TRIP

Lose Four Games in a Row

The basketball team on the Mississippi trip did not carry away any victories from the "Cotton-pickers" but report an eventful trip and all agree that the Commons is the best place to eat in the South. Coach Kenny took only seven men on this trip, Capt. Alexander, Culberson, Jesty, Flemister, Hall, Wilson and Robison.

THE BEMIS GAME

The first game was played against the Bemis Y. M. C. A. team. The S. P. U. quint couldn't get going and this game went to the "Y." team, 34-21. For the Bemis team Moore at center starred. He is a Union University star and proved a dangerous man when the score was shifting. Winston the "Y" secretary at Bemis starred at forward. This midget was a constant puzzle for the Cardinal and Black guards who could not keep his scoring down. "Chief" Culberson was rushed into the wall in the first half and had to be relieved. Wilson goes in at guard. Robison switching to forward. "Hap" Wilson made two beautiful shots as running guard.

OLE MISS. WINS

On the next day February 15. Ole Miss. was tackled. Although the Cardinal and Black usually takes the count at Oxford the teams always like to play there

BASKET BALL SUMMARY

Season Very Successful

The regular basketball season ended with the two games the past week-end with Bryson College at Fayetteville and with Middle Tennessee State Normal at Murfreesboro. As we look back over the season, we find that S. P. U. won 5 and lost 7. This is not a bad record at all when we consider how light our team was and what good teams were played. A glance at the scores further shows that the Tigers put up a fine brand of ball, for we find two games lost by only two points, and only once were we defeated by more than 15 points and that was against a Y. M. C. A. and not a college. The total points made by S. P. U. were 339; her opponents made 352. The men who made the trip and played in the majority of games were Culberson, Hall, Robison, Flemister, Alexander, "Squeedwick" Newton, Wilson and Jesty. McInnis, Hatcher, Darden, G. Newton and Rennie played in some of the home games and are bright prospects for a team next year.

THE GAMES

January 16. Ogden College, here, (Ogden 32-S. P. U. 34.)
January 24. M. T. N., here, (M. T. N. 37-S. P. U. 29.)
January 27. West Kentucky S. N., here (Normal 33-S. P. U. 31.)
February 6. Bryson College, here, (Bryson 38-S. P. U. 48).
February 10. Ogden College, at Bowling Green, (Ogden 28- S. P. U. 34.)
February 14. Y. M. C. A. at

Bemis, Tenn., (Y. M. C. A. 35-S. P. U. 19.)
February 15. Ole Miss., at Oxford, (Ole Miss 31-S. P. U. 18.)
February 16. Miss. College, at Clinton, (Miss. College 21-S. P. U. 10.)
February 17. Millsaps, at Jackson, (Millsaps 32-S. P. U. 25.)
February 23. Bryson College at Fayetteville, (Bryson 17-S. P. U. 23.)
February 24. M. T. N., at Murfreesboro, (M. T. N. 20-S. P. U. 18.)

and are favorites with the student body. Ole Miss had the best gym floor of any college played on the trip. This floor was so much larger than any the S. P. U. quint had played on that a telling effect in "fag" was experienced. Capt. Alexander had trouble with his knee during this game which accounted for his getting only three goals. Ole Miss claimed the contest by a score of 31-18. "Hap" Wilson started in Robinson's guard and played entire game. Robinson went in for Hall in the last half. Until the last five minutes of play the score stood: Ole Miss 20, S. P. U., 18. Ole Miss then made the last five minutes count rolling up eleven points. Montgomery at guard for Ole Miss was an outstanding basketball man. His huge stature and rapid-fire dribbling made him a tornado on the floor. Swartz the Miss. forward performed exceptionally well for a big man.

MISS COLLEGE TAKES ONE

The team had breakfast at Ole Miss at 7:30 and arrived at Miss. College at about 4 o'clock, dressed and played immediately without having had any lunch whatever. The college basketball court is an open platform out on the football field. A rather strong wind made any accurate shooting impossible and the chill together with the weak condition of the players made any showing they might have been able to make a very creditable one. Capt. Alexander was sick and did not play in this game. Very probably hunger was mistaken for illness. Flemister took center and Robison went in Hall's forward. "Chief" Culberson was the star of this miserable conflict and contributed 6 of S. P. U.'s total of 10. Mississippi College bested the Clarksville quint 21-10. Parks the Miss., forward was the best man on the opposing team. His shooting and foot work was superb.

WE SHOULD HAVE WON

The following night Millsaps was played. The team speaks very highly of the college and the treatment they received while there. Every courtesy possible was shown our team and we trust that Millsaps and S. P. U. will come to be athletic rivals in the future. The game put up by the Tiger quint was positively brilliant. The handsome uniforms spoke of by President Deihl were forgotten in the whirlwind style of play demonstrated by the Presbyterians. Capt. Alexander returned to the game with Millsaps and behind him the Tigers carried a fight to Millsaps that swept them off their feet for the first half. At the end of the first half the score stood, Millsaps 16, S. P. U. 21. The team after the grind of three straight games could not keep the pace and in the second half Millsaps ran up 15 points to S. P. U.'s 4. Final score, Millsaps 31, S. P. U. 25. Jesty went for Flemister and seemed to show his last season's game more than anytime this year. "Hap" Wilson put up a good fighting game at guard during the whole game. The whole team deserves unstinted praise for this game. The three straight games proved too hard a grind for so light a team or the last half of the Millsaps game would have been a different story.

SIGMA UPSILON MEETING

As the novelty of the evening, Mr. Bayne gave a guitar reading of "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" by Robert W. Service. And to cap this seemingly impossible climax, a course of hot chocolate and sandwiches was served.

The pleasure of the meeting was marred only by the absence of two of the members who were out of town.

S. V. CONVENTION

over the whole country, and today we have bands in almost every college of any note.

In Tennessee, there are about one hundred volunteers for the foreign field. These include ministers, teachers, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. workers, and numerous other Christian workers.

The slogan of the organization is "The Evangelization of the World in This Generation." This is the war cry of the conferences and should be the aim of every Christian today. The conferences are held each year in some college in the state and every school sends representatives.

In a well-working school there should be a group organized for the study of foreign fields and the general discussion of the work. These bands should meet two or three times a month for study. One of the main things stressed at the convention, was the necessity of the morning watch, for it is from this source that the student gets himself in touch with the work of the day. If a man or woman would start the day by asking God to guide them in their actions throughout the day and would endeavor to constantly be in a spirit of prayer for this guidance, the Kingdom would be brought to that person, then and there.

To those who have never attended a conference, one cannot begin to tell of the help and benefits that await them at such a gathering. The conference is not primarily for men, but is made up of college women as well.

Southwestern had only two representatives at this conference. However, it is the hope of the writer that a Volunteer band can soon be organized here including men and women, and that next year, we can send at least half a dozen volunteers to the convention. Union University asked for it next year and we ought to be able to send a large delegation down there.

WIT AND HUMOR

She (in tears)—Why come to the game drunk?

He—'s economical: see two games for one ticket.

Fair (Exultingly)—I've been to three balls this week.

Brave—See anything of my watch?

Minerva—Don't you think Tosti's goodbye is thrilling?

Uydele—Why my dear, he has never called on me.

TRY GEORGETTE

Are you the music professor?
Yes. I wrote "Annie Laurie"—but she never answered me.

Chief—would you accept a pet monkey?

Sara—I'll have to ask father. This is so sudden.

Dorsey—It's hard to pick a girl in this town. Every one I've been introduced to is so pretty. Yes, even beautiful.

Mary (all a'flutter)—Then why did you pick me?

Dorsey—Oh you're so different.

When I first went to see her, I showed a timid heart,
And even when the lights were low

We sat this far apart.

But as our love grew stronger,
And we learned its joy and bliss,
We knocked out all the spaces
And sat up close like this.

Elderly friend—"That pair of silk hose must have cost you an awful lot."

Co-ed—"Yes, but think of the interest they draw."
