CHESTER FRIST ADMITS WEDDING 8 MONTHS AGO

Marries Miss Swartz Last Summer, But Event Has Been Hushed

A secret marriage solemnized eight months ago has come to light by the admission of John Chester Frist, popular campus sheik and orator, to Miss Emma Swartz, noted artist's model, today. Mr. Frist and Miss Swartz were joined in connubiality early last summer while Frist was touring Mississippi with the Memphis Philharmonic society playing the harmonica.

The marriage consummated a friendship of long standing. In fact, Miss Swartz says she has been standing the boy up so long previous to her marriage that she married him that he might rest and she might repose in peace.

Frist has been a member of Southwestern's student body for several years. No inkling of the marriage leaked out until the recent rainy spell. Frist has been exceedingly moody lately, say friends who live in town and eat in the commons sometimes. He has been concerned by some matter known solely to himself. He has been accosted by several accosters but they could glean nothing from him. He is said to have tried to drown his sorrow and inward woe by outward expressions of joviality, but it was too affected to pass serious scrutiny. "Dutch," as he is known about the college, admitted to a friend that he is in dutch now, but reassures that he intends finishing his college education before partaking fully of the segregated life of matrimony.

When approached upon his reason for keeping the love match secret, Mr. Frist confided: "I know this action of mine and Miss Swartz's will shock my many boy and especially girl friends, but I cannot help it. I am only human. I have known Miss Swartz since my early childhood when she was my nurse. An affection and infatuation grew steadily until it culminated in our marriage. I am very happy now that the world knows my secret. I do not wish to state my reason for keeping the matter secret, but I will say that Miss Swartz has been waiting on the government in settling a pension claim which she has won by being a faithful civil servant for 42 years. I will be very happy if she gets it."

It is not known where Miss Swartz was employed while holding a government office. Advices from Lake View are to the effect that she was mistress of Moon Mullins' general store, which had a post office branch. Suffice it to say, Miss Swartz, like her husband, is experienced in running a boarding house establishment.

"The future is rosy for me," eagerly sighed Miss Swartz when advised of her spouse's confession as to their marriage. With my government pension I will buy a cozy little tin-roof shack on the mighty banks overlooking Hatchie river, where I can watch the shimmering waves tinkle lightly on the ooze-mudded shore. I will make Chester my Romeo and we will live happily ever afterward or until the larder is cleaned, then he will have to tend the house while I strike out into the business world. I am quite a good seamstress since I sewed Chester up. He is such a good boy."

The faculty and student body of Southwestern wishes both Mister Frist and Miss Swartz everlasting joy and bliss, and hope sincerely that the flapping of "his" wings will forsake their domain while Chester coos his natural bill. He was always known as a misogynist respecting the co-eds, but realized their position as regards a man. He will be missed from college circles. It is with reluctance that he passes from the stately circles about the campus to retire to sequestered circles about his eyes—that woman Swartz is a salamandering cuss.

To the unsoaked this story was set up last year to be run on April Fool's Day, but the day did not fall on Friday, hence it is run this year. The staff is composed of deep economists and members waste nothing, not even words, although you think they do.

"Who Is Ready?"

"The Days of Preparation" and "Who Is Ready?" are the morning and night sermon themes of Rev. E. L. Morgan next Sunday.

Carnival "Fool"

Freshman Allen Haden is the chosen Falstaff of the Southwestern student body. He officiated as court fool and squibbish wag at the All Fools' Day celebration held at the college last Thursday night. He performed his stock of antics before "King" Arthur Dulin and "Queen" Mary Frances Philips.

FRIST WILL MEET VANDY DEBATER

Series of 12 Debates Opens Monday Night

Chester Frist, who was selected in try-outs held recently as the Southwestern debater against Vanderbilt in a series of 12 debates, has received the following wire from Vanderbilt:

"Chester Frist, Southwestern—Meet Vanderbilt debater Monday night at Dickson, Tenn."

Frist says that he has not been informed of the other 11 towns in which he will debate on the Prohibition question with the Vandy representative. There will be five debates in Tennessee and seven in Mississippi, it is understood.

The debates will be no-decision matches, the audience accepting and rejecting the information presented it so desires and from this to form individual conclusions. Frist expects to be gone throughout next week.

PRIME BOOSTER CANDIDATES

Select College Orator Tonight

HOLD TRY-OUTS FRIDAY NIGHT TO SELECT ORATOR

Best Male Orator in College Will Compete Against West Tennessee Colleges

Try-outs will be held tonight in Hardie chapel at 7:30 o'clock for the Southwestern representative to compete in the Tennessee Oratorical League contest which will be held at Southwestern on April 22.

All men students are eligible to try-out. Each speech must be an original piece of work not more than 1800 words in length and not more than 200 words of quoted matter.

Judges during the try-outs Friday night will be Dr. R. C. Sommerville, Dr. R. P. Strickler and Dr. William Swan.

Southwestern is host to the western division of the Tennessee Oratorical League this year. Those schools competing are Union University, Vanderbilt, Sewanee, Cumberland and Southwestern.

The two winners of this district will then go to Vanderbilt where they will compete against the two winners of the eastern division. The best orator of the final four in the contest will receive a prize of $60 and the second best $40.

Sparkling Smut Will Shine From Pages of Annual Co-Ed Paper

Wit, wisdom, waggarisms and "the unpolished truth" is promised Southwestern students next week when the Co-ed issue of the Sou'wester arrives on the campus Friday noon.

Eleanor Beckham, editor, is supervising the gathering of the "uncontaminated truth" in large and copious quantities. Harriette Frank, business manager, is also gathering advertisements in large and generous sizes.

The issue will be printed on peach-colored paper in black ink.

SORORITY HOUSE COMPLETE SOON

Final Touches Being Applied A. O. Pi Chapter Lodge

A few warm days and workmen will complete final touches on the new A. O. Pi sorority house. Wet weather has prevented application of the stucco exterior. This can only be put on during dry weather to prevent dampness under the stucco.

The house was started early in February and was promised to the girls by March 15.

Freshette Is "Queen" Of The Carnival

"Queen" Mary Frances Philips reigned over the All Fools' Day celebration last Thursday night in the gym and around the bonfire. She sat on the royal throne in company with "King" Arthur Dulin, her spouse for the festival. She was extremely susceptible to the witticisms of Freshman Allen Haden, unanimously chosen court fool and wit for the occasion.

GREEK SYMBOLS WORN ON BROWS

Stylus Initiates Carry Letters on Foreheads

If you had your eyes open Wednesday morning, you might have seen about the campus seven men wearing inscriptions on their foreheads—the ancient symbols Sigma Upsilon, for Stylus Club had met the night before to welcome them as new members.

The initiation of the seven gave the club its full quota of twelve student members. The old men are: J. D. Causey, A. M. Hicks, Frank Heiss, Chester Frist, and Edwin White. The initiates are Earl McGee, Warner Hall, Louis Marks, Price Patton, William Meacham, Edward Dirmeyer, and Richard Hunsaker.

Claim Philosophy Often Stumps The Best Philosophers

Philosophy at times stumps philosophers. Tuesday night at the meeting of the Nitists Professor Davis read a paper on "Tendencies in Modern Philosophy," and had every one guessing thereafter. Nevertheless not to be so easily abashed each member strove manfully to contribute something to the evening's store of knowledge with only several of the most erudite succeeding.

Mr. Pat Patton was a little confused about his philosophy, but as an authority on painting and sculpture, he informed the gathering that the Sistine Madonna was a piece of sculpture.

At the next meeting, two weeks hence, Dr. Berwind Kaufman will read a paper on "Science and Modern Thought."

POLITICS SEETH AS TIME NEARS TO ELECT PREXY

Boosters' Officers Will Be Chosen Soon to Hold Office Next Year

Nominations for president of the Boosters' club for next year will be heard from the student body in chapel on April 25. All candidates nominated the morning of April 25 will be voted on in the primary balloting on May 2. Voting boxes will be placed at the west entrance to Palmer Hall on May 2. Votes will be secret and the poll will be open from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. on May 2.

The two candidates receiving the highest number of votes in the primary will be voted on again May 3.

The unsuccessful winner of the two high-vote men for president will automatically become a candidate for vice-president. Nominations for vice-president besides the unsuccessful president candidate will be heard from the floor on May 3. Nominations for secretary-treasurer will also be heard on May 3. Voting for both vice-president and secretary-treasurer will be polled May 3 from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. at the same booth as used for the president's election.

A committee from the Student Council will supervise the poll, answering questions of students desiring information. They will count the vote and announce the results.

All candidates for president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer must be members of the junior class this year. Successful candidates will be installed the week following election to office.

It is the custom at Southwestern for the president and vice-president to be men, and the secretary-treasurer to be a co-ed.

ARKANSAS TEAM TAPS DRY LAW

Debate Local Boys On The Prohibition Law

Debating team from the University of Arkansas debated the Southwestern men's team last Wednesday night in Hardie Chapel.

Chester Frist and William Orr debated the affirmative side of the question, Resolved, That the Eighteenth Amendment is a Sound Governmental Policy.

As this story goes to press the debate has not been held. But it is understood that the Arkansas team has defeated some of the strongest college debaters throughout the South. At present the team is on a tour of Southern colleges.

Dean E. D. McDougall, of Southwestern, presided as chairman. Judges for the debate were David Fentress, Sanford Morrison and R. M. Hammond.

WALTER JENKINS LEADS SINGERS

Will Direct Girls' Glee Club This Semester

Walter Jenkins, choirmaster First Methodist church, has consented to direct the newly formed Girls' Glee club of Southwestern. He will coach the girls in singing throughout the remainder of this semester.

Officers for the club have been chosen as follows: Ethel Brown, president; Frances Fisher, secretary; Eleanor Ferguson, treasurer.

HERE ARE SOME NOVEL "APRIL FOOL" STUNTS

April Fool's day was originated by Adam. When he was fooled into eating the apple he set a fashion that has endured ever since. The first of April is the national holiday for the type that is born every minute, that is, everyone.

There are many joyous and instructive ways of celebrating this day of days. Stand in front of Robb Hall and call a friend to the window. When he looks out, hit him in the face with a cobble stone. At the same time yodel, "April Fool," in a jolly voice.

Another excellent wheeze is as follows: Sit at a telephone and every three minutes call President Diehl up and croon, "April Fool." Then hang up. Repeat process until the prexy won't answer. In this way he may miss some important calls, and your day will be capped with success.

A freshman may enliven the day in the following manner: Take a short wind up and give Sid Davis a smashing kick in the seat of the pants. When he turns around punch him in the nose and carol, "April Fool." Sid will see the joke all right. It is even possible that he will allow you to explain it to the San Hedrin. You see he is from Mississippi.

If you want to make a hit with Coach Neely conceal a couple of beef livers under his office floor. When the livers begin to broadcast an odor, the Coach will probably smile gently and remember that it is April Fool's day. Perhaps he won't.

Another splendid device is that of letting the air out of the tires of all the cars parked on the campus. When the owner comes to his but shout, "April Fool," in a jovial tone. If you get to shout it four times you will be awarded your letter in boxing.

Another good but rather time-worn custom is to order some expensive flowers sent to a girl. Have them charged to any student. This will make a hit with both parties.

If you want to be really funny, pick out a man with a jealous wife. Write him a post card sizzling with passion and love and sign it Agnes, or Betty, or some other female nom de plume. This is a side splitter, and will prove to be quite effective.

But if anybody tells you that Washington has bought Babe Ruth, and then says, "April Fool," sneer scornfully and say, "So is your old man." This biting wit will spike their guns and leave them nonplussed.

Here's the sole warning—don't comment on the soup!

$100 TO STUDENT SOLVING SUICIDES

New York Paper Seeks To Find Suicide Cause

NEW YORK, Mar. 25.—The New York Evening Post today offered a prize of $100 to the college undergraduate who best explains the "wave" of mental depression apparently sweeping through American schools and colleges. "Has the American undergraduate a post-war neurosis?" asks the Evening Post in announcing the offer. "Just what is responsible for the melancholia which seems to have invaded the campus today? Does modern education foster too much independent, unguided thinking?"

We have the opinions of university deans, faculty members and psychologists as to why this morbid tendency has spread among students. Now we would like to know how undergraduates themselves interpret the abnormal attitude which some of their fellows have towards life."

Besides $100 for the best 500 word answer to this question, the Post has also offered $10 for every letter published.

President Diehl Is Editor of Booklet

"The Story of a Vineyard," a booklet telling of the work of the Presbyterian Church United States in the Synod of Tennessee, has been issued. President Charles E. Diehl, of Southwestern, is compiler and editor of the work.

There is a chapter in the booklet dealing with Southwestern, its history, ideals, advantages, faculty, relation to the church, financial condition, needs.

The book is to be a work for study by the Woman's Auxiliary.

Authority Visits College

Prof. Bushnell Hart, widely recognized authority on history and head of the history department at Vanderbilt, was the guest of President Charles E. Diehl, of Southwestern, Wednesday night to dinner in the college commons.

Prof. Hart is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Morison, on South McLean boulevard.

Miss Gay states that the man she marries must be a grand man, upright and square.

Pipes says she wants a piano not a man.

Becky says she certainly does believe in sports for girls. Every girl ought to have one.

And The Collegians Call Her 'Minerva'

Goddess Minerva is what Southwestern collegians call her. She is the center of their affections, and occupies a prominent spot where all might gaze and admire her delicate curves. From whence she came no one knows—at least, no one will say. She appeared mysteriously last week. Her ancestry is an oaken tree. She is the handiwork of some wood artist, for she is one piece of wood, including base. Goddess Minerva is an intelligent hunk of wood, say collegians, so they bring their books and study within her shadows. Freshman Johnny Crofton is shown absorbed in "deep research" work, while Ora Johnson (left) admires her staff and Tommy Taylor (right) wonders if she has "it." Since this likeness was made she has been draped in a long, flowing yellow dress, silk stockings, cap, lipstick, and a sorority pin. She was quickly fought over by the sororities and pledged to one of the Southwestern nationals. She should make a good man.

President Harding's Alma Mater Mothers Three Alumni Bodies

NEW CONCORD, O.—(IP)—Muskingum college, which celebrated recently its ninetieth anniversary, is now "Alma Mater" to three colleges.

Thirty-nine years ago Muskingum absorbed Ohio Central college, until then located at Iberia, Ohio.

At the Founders Day ceremonies this month Muskingum and the alumni of Franklin college "adopted" each other.

Franklin college, formerly located at New Athens, has not functioned since 1918, and her alumni have been without an "Alma Mater" since that date. With the new merger completed, they now consider Muskingum as their "foster mother."

Muskingum college, founded in 1837, has itself several times just escaped the fate of the two colleges which it has absorbed, because of a continuous struggle with poverty. On several occasions it has decided to close its doors and sell its property to pay its debts.

It was from Ohio Central college, the first to become a part of Muskingum, that the late President Warren G. Harding was graduated, and on July 7, 1922, Muskingum recognized the honor by conferring upon the president the degree of doctor of laws.

Grandmother Co-Ed Discredits Critics Who Deride Colleges

DENVER, COLO.—(IP)—Mrs. Francis W. Conklin, white-haired grandmother, who is a co-ed at the University of Denver, thinks the current derogatory criticism of youth is all wrong.

She knows that modern youth is all right, because she has been associating with the younger generation for two and a half years as a student of the university here.

"Critics of modern youth," she says, "are sex-obsessionists. They are afflicted with tangled complexes—or perhaps dyspeptic conceptions."

She declares that she is proud that her children have a better and healthier attitude toward life than she did in her youth.

Campus Touches

President and Mrs. Charles E. Diehl have returned to the campus after a 10-day absence. They toured through the east and north stopping at Washington and New York. The nature of their trip is not known.

Miss Polly Minor, former Southwestern co-ed and Chi Omega, visited on the campus over the week-end. She was the guest of Laura Byers.

Sidney Latiolais left Saturday afternoon for a week-end trip to Mississippi. He has returned.

Frank Heiss is up from bed where he has been confined for two weeks with mumps.

Pat Johnson has been absent from the campus for a week due to a measles quarantine.

Miss Marcelle Yard had as her week-end guest Miss Jessie Porter from M. S. C. at Holly Springs.

Miss Mary Satterfield, a student at Galloway college, but in Memphis for the spring holidays, was the guest of Miss Mary Frances Phillips recently.

Miss Dorothy Miller was the host to two guests over the week-end.

Miss Juanita Montroy suffered a severe attack of appendicitis last Sunday night at her home. She has not been operated on and it is thought that it will not be necessary.

DR. C. G. CHAPPEL TALKS AT Y MEET

Memphis Methodist Pastor Will Talk Sunday

Dr. Clovis G. Chappell, pastor First Methodist church, will address the collegians next Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Hardie chapel in regular weekly Y. M. C. A. service.

Prof. W. R. Cooper told Southwesternites last Sunday afternoon of the impelling effect of the wanderlust and roaming spirit. He told of his travels in Egypt, Mesopotamia, India and other mysterious thought provoking places.

Last Formal "Pan" Dance on April 21

The last formal dance to be sponsored by the Pan-Hellenic Council of Southwestern will be given at the East End Gardens the night of April 21.

The interior will be decorated in Southwestern colors, black and red, and a large mirrored glass ball will be placed so that it will reflect brilliant rays when a colored spotlight plays on it during the no-breaks.

Homer Guenette and his Washington Syncopators will furnish the music. Several unusual features in the way of entertainment are being planned for the occasion.

The no-breaks and lead-outs are as follows: Beta Sigma and Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Sigma and Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Alpha and Pi Kappa Alpha. There will be one special.

Five hundred bids will be mailed out for this dance.

Webster Would Blush With Ignorance If He Heard A Modern Collegian Tell It As "She Is Spoke"

LOS ANGELES—That anomaly of modern civilization—the collegian—who has gained fame through his flaming sartorial afflictions, is off on another tangent, this time to offer a queer jargon that is rapidly displacing campus discourse in English.

Those pedagogs who have dedicated their efforts and lives to the study of lexicology frankly admit their inability to trace or offer any reason for the trend toward "English" as "she is spoke" in some of our higher institutions of learning.

However, the collegian sees nothing strange in the fact that a "giraffe" is a "creature who spoons—one who necks."

If our potential leaders of state and business are heard to glibly refer to a "Powder House Fluff," they do not mean dynamite in the strict sense of the word but refer to a sorority girl. Likewise a "tong" is a fraternity house.

If a girl is full of life and animation she is a "fever frau" and a dream girl is a "hot-house bow-wow." On the other hand, a "pop-eyed pansy" or "green peas" refer to a young woman who lacks charm.

HERE'S A CHANCE TO CIRCLE GLOBE

$2,500 Scholarship on Boat Open to Any Student

NEW YORK—A $2,500 scholarship for a school year of study aboard the S. S. Ryndam on its second College Cruise Round the World, is soon to be announced by the University Travel Association, Inc., 285 Madison Avenue, New York City. It will be available to any young man, now an undergraduate in any college or university.

This scholarship includes full expenses of the "University Afloat"—tuition, lectures, steamship ticket, stateroom, shore trips and meals.

It will go to the writer of the best essay in a national essay contest, for which presidents of 150 leading colleges and universities are now selecting the subject.

The award will be made early in June of this year, and the winner will depart on a study-travel tour of the globe September 29.

The First College Cruise Round the World, now returning through European waters, was co-educational, but the second is to be limited to young men students only, with an enrollment of 375 instead of 500.

FORTY MEN CANDIDATES FOR BERTHS ON LYNX BALL TEAM

Coach Neely's Biggest Worry Is Finding a Catcher To Replace Alexander. Only Two Veteran Outfielders Back. Work on Diamond

After an interlude of rainy and cold weather, the Southwestern baseball candidates were once more able to get out for practice during the past week. Coach Jess Neely has about 40 candidates out which include some very likely looking material to form a strong team this spring.

The team is practicing on Fargason Field at present until the baseball diamond is in shape. Consequently, not much can be told of the infield and outfield prospects. Only two veterans are back in Ora Johnson and Arthur Dulin, both fought for by numerous candidates.

Neely's big worry has been finding a catcher to take the place of Newton Alexander. He has two good looking receivers in Harold Gillespie, former Central High player, and Buster Smythe, who caught for the University of Arkansas freshman nine last spring.

KITTENS SWAMP "Y" TEAM 50-4 IN FINAL GAME

Southwestern Girls Close Season by Walk-Away Win Over Y. W. C. A.

The Southwestern girls basketball team finished its season in a blaze of glory Tuesday night at the Y. W. C. A. by swamping the Fidelis team by the lopsided score of 50 to 4.

The Kittens played a great brand of basketball in their final game netting point after point while the defense effectively kept the ball out of the danger zone.

Louise Stratman, star forward for the Southwestern sextet, was unable to miss the basket and ran up a large score on her own hook, tallying 34 points, while Caroline Stockley, filling in Louise Ralston's place at forward, had a big night also, netting 16 tallies.

Eleanor Beckham and May Howry, playing jumping and side center respectively, both gave a good account of themselves. Howry had a strong opponent to watch in Ruth Davis.

Covington, Fidelis forward, sank the 4 points made by her team, the only ones registered against the Kittens.

The Kittens showed plenty of form in their final game of the season and the prospects look good for next year with practically the entire quintet returning.

Horace Lisenbee, former Southwestern pitcher, is making good in the big leagues with the Washington Senators of the American League. Lisenbee, working in an exhibition game against the New York Giants, pitched the full game and sent the National League players down in defeat, score 9 to 4.

Lisenbee allowed 10 hits. He pitched with Memphis in the Southern League last year.
