Methodist Minister Leads Week of Services

STUDENT OF YOUTH

Rev. Stoves Makes Many Friends Here

Southwestern students have had a rare opportunity during the past week in listening to a minister of the gospel who knows the ways of modern youth as well if not better than modern youth itself.

Rev. George Stoves, pastor of the West End Methodist church, of Nashville, is the man who has fathomed the workings of the youthful mind. He is well qualified to conduct such a splendid series of religious meetings as he has done since he opened his talks here on Jan. 6, concluding his addresses on Jan. 12.

LIKES YOUNG FOLKS

Believing that great good can come of associating with young folks, Rev. Stoves is as regular student at Vanderbilt and Peabody college as students are at Southwestern. He delights in mingling with the younger set; in getting their ideas on life; in counseling them; in laughing and talking with them.

He has been received in like manner by local students, who have turned out in large numbers to hear him, and have taken to heart the ideas which he has given in his talks.

Rev. Stoves has dwelt upon many thoughts and conditions during his talks here. He has illuminated his arguments with experiences gained while with young people, examples which youth can readily understand. He has expressed simply many profound religious questions, and has as easily explained them. His preaching is of the best teaching, for what he says is straight from the heart and goes to the heart of his listeners.

Rev. Stoves bid Southwesterners au revoir with his final sermon Thursday, which ended a week of intensive preaching, for he has spoken twice daily, each morning in chapel and also at night.

Six Profs Journey To Nashville Meet

Six Southwestern professors journeyed to Nashville during the holidays to attend a gathering of the American Academy of the Advancement of Science.

Dr. W. R. Atkinson addressed the convention on the topic: "The Relative Predictability of Limits of Hearing by Intelligence and Mechanical Speed Tests." Dr. Berwind Kaufmann gave a series of private demonstrations of his biological findings during the past summer. Other Southwestern professors that attended the meeting were: Dr. F. O. Huber, Dr. P. N. Rhodes, Prof. M. L. MacQueen and Dr. R. W. Hartley.

Frat Pictures Sent To Annual Engraver

All fraternity pictures have been taken and the panels will be sent to the engraver the last of this week.

Full page pictures with a special border of all winners in the recent popularity contest are being prepared by the photographer, and these will be sent to the engraver next week.

The group pictures of all the organizations were taken Thursday morning and these panels will also be sent to the engraver next week.

GRID CAPTAINCY IN A. T. O. RANKS IN LAST 12 YEARS

Election of "Dago" Trelawney as football captain for next year marks the twelfth consecutive time the captaincy has been held by an A. T. O.

The A. T. O.'s started making this merely a fraternity office way back in the dark ages before Southwestern moved to Memphis, and so far they have continued to keep the position within their ranks.

The captains who have been elected since the school was moved here from Clarksville are: Bob Flemister, '24; Sid Davis, '25; Joe Davis, '26; Arthur Dulin, '27; and Dago Trelawney, '28.

EVANGELIST

The Rev. George Stoves, pastor of West End Methodist church of Nashville, who has been conducting the annual week of religious services at Southwestern. Rev. Stoves, a leader in Southern Methodism, has made quite an impression on Southwestern students, for he is a deep student of modern youth.

BOARD SELECTS JOURNAL STAFF

Catherine Richey Picked As Editor

The "insurgents" have given in and the Journal, literary magazine, again will be published.

Strong opposition against republication of the magazine grew into open denunciation recently when students were asked to back the Journal. But the protagonists won with the ballot.

As a consequence the Publication Board has named the following students to comprise the Journal staff: Catherine Richey, editor; Allen Haden, assistant editor; Leolin Wailes, business manager, and Charlie Snapp, assistant business manager.

The first issue of the year will be on the campus by Feb. 15.

BELOVED PARROT GUZZLES LIQUOR AND JABBERS ON

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—(IP)—Rinky Dink is safe!

The brightly colored parrot that screams raucously at Syracuse university undergraduates who visit the Hill Book Stall, has passed the crisis of his illness.

Rinky Dink had chicken cholera, an insidious and dire disease, and die he almost did—but aided by a sip of contraband fire-water, and the loving aid of Professor Struthers, he weathered the storm.

For a time things looked very black for Rinky Dink. The proprietors of bird stores, and even well known veterinarians, disclaimed all knowledge of the cause and cure of his illness.

But Professor Struthers and a sympathetic bootlegger saved the day, and incidentally, Rinky Dink.

Student Takes Arms Of Lonely Skeleton

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—(IP)—Dean E. P. Lyon recently had difficulty in locating two missing arms of a skeleton in the University of Minnesota dispensary, but he finally accomplished the feat.

Following the disappearance of the bony arms, a notice was posted by the dean to the effect that no grades could possibly be given out unless the skeleton recovered his missing limbs.

Soon after the dean received a neatly wrapped Christmas parcel, inclosed in which were the missing appendages and a letter explaining that the offender was sorry "this has caused you so much trouble, but it was necessary to borrow the arms temporarily for study and review."

"Mc" And The Women

Crawford McGivaren coached the Kittens Monday, giving them some signals and showing them some mighty fast plays, and he knows how to get sure 'nough work out of them.

COACH JESS NEELY RESIGNS

Name New Coach In 2 Weeks

EXPECT TO NAME LYNX HELMSMAN DURING BANQUET

In the Meantime the Boys Play Basketball

REESE SUBSTITUTES

Leads Wickermen Pending Coach Selection

Jess Neely's successor, as coach of the Southwestern Lynx, is expected to be chosen within two weeks and to be announced at the annual banquet to be given the Lynx eleven on Saturday night, January 21.

The new coach will be expected to take charge of spring football practice, which has been scheduled to start Feb. 13, lasting long enough for the new coach to drill the players into his system of football.

Following football training, the new coach will take charge of baseball.

REESE COACHES CAGERS

Gil Reese, former Vanderbilt star, was placed in charge of the basketball team when Southwestern accepted Coach Neely's resignation.

Following the football season, Frank Trelawney, star fullback, was chosen to lead the Lynx in 1928.

Prospects are bright for a winning eleven for the next year, with many coming stars being eligible from this year's Bobcat team. The Lynx suffered a hard blow, however, when Milton Hawke and Verne Baumgarten, halfback and center, were declared ineligible for next year's team when Southwestern entered the S. I. A. A. because they had played football on freshman teams at the University of Tennessee and Georgia Tech.

The graduation of former Capt. Arthur Dulin, Joe Davis, T. M. Garrott, and Ora Johnson is a severe blow to the team's defensive and offensive unity. But oncoming material is ready to step into the empty shoes.

Prexy Diehl Gives $100 To Girl Quint

Southwestern's Kittens asked for finances and Dr. Charles E. Diehl handed over $100 to Miss Louise Stratmann for the treasury.

Half of the fund has been spent on uniforms. The uniforms have red socks with black tops, black bloomers and red middies with a black "S" on the front.

The remaining moiety will probably be spent for sweaters.

The Kittens want to play out-of-town teams. Especially do they crave Jackson, Tenn., where they could take on three teams: Lambuth, Union and West Tenn. Business College, but there are no funds available.

BAUMGARTEN IS CHOSEN EDITOR

Named as Assistant Editor of Sou'wester

Verne Baumgarten has been appointed assistant editor of the Sou'wester by the Publication Board.

The appointment comes as a reward for unstinting work done thus far in sport writing on the paper.

To Baumgarten is accredited the honor of starting a series of sport stories never before touched upon by the great sport-writing scribes of the time. Ever read the "faked history" stories about the Greeks?—that's just one of Baum's periodical contributions.

Practical experience on local dailies gives Verne the title of best sport writer Southwestern has ever had.

HUMOR PURVEYOR PENS SWEET SONG FOR STRAY FRAT

Wilson Foote, song writer, artist and pugilist, has retired to his private haunts while he composes the official fraternity song of the Beta Lambdas.

He has not dedicated the "Sweetheart of Beta Lambda" as yet, but is sifting the freshest ranks for a suitable victim.

Carrington Bacon will represent the stray Greeks on the Boys' San Hedrin council, and Foote will be seen in the Boys' Pan-Hellenic council.

Members of the forlorn "baby lams" are still arguing over a suitable emblem for the official fraternity pin. The majority however, favors that of an infant lamb.

Montroy and Hughes Are The Prettiest

"Fritz" Montroy and Billy Hughes reign supreme among Southwestern students as the least hard on the eyes of all contenders. In the popularity contest held just before the Christmas holidays, under the auspices of the "Lynx," Fritz was voted the prettiest co-ed and Billy the most handsome boy.

Mary Bethany Sivley holds the honor of best all-around girl and Arthur Dulin was acclaimed best all-around boy. Margaret Layne was voted the most popular co-ed, and Eleanor Clinton the best dancer.

Pick Debate Teams For Coming Season

Fourteen debaters, eleven regulars and three alternates, have been selected to represent Southwestern in debates with various other colleges in this part of the country.

Those chosen include Gerald Capers, Abe Fortas, Billy Flowers, Pete Melvin, William Orr, James Randle, Malcolm Ritchie, Charles Rond III, Edwin Thompson, and Erwin White.

INITIATE 6 PALS IN THETA A. PHI

As Reward For Work Done in Dramatics

Following the impressive success of the first dramatic production of the year, "The Whole Town's Talking," given recently by new members of the Southwestern Pal players, an extensive season has opened, with a series of one-act plays acting as forerunners to the main production next spring.

Prof. Ernest Haden, faculty coach, and Price A. Patton, Pal president, are reading over the most popular classical and modern successes in an attempt to select a suitable play for the spring feature. Although problematical, it is thought that a heavy comedy will be chosen if an appealing one is discovered.

As a reward for histrionic ability shown both last spring and in the recent play, six members of the Pal club will be initiated soon into Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic fraternity. They are: Mary Allen, Catherine Underwood, Allen Haden, Ellen Thomas, Crawford McGivaren and Charles Rond III.

WARING LEADS CO-ED CAGERS

Also Coaches Freshman In Ball Tossing

The Southwestern Lynx Kittens, the girls' basketball team, has a new coach in the person of Henry "Chi" Waring. Waring has been named to take charge of the Kittens, and is lining up one of the best girls' quints in Dixie. In addition, Waring is coaching the Lynx freshman basketball team.

Coming to Southwestern from Central High, where he was one of the best athletes in the school, Waring has enjoyed a successful career in athletics, playing an end on the football team and forward on the basketball five.

In basketball "Chi," who gets his name because he came to Memphis from a Chicago high school, is considered one of the best floor men in the city, being a brilliant passer and an uncanny shot from any position on the floor.

Choose McGivaren New High Priest

The San Hedrin Council met and elected Crawford McGivaren to the exalted position of High Priest on Dec. 16.

The council took this action in order to fill the vacancy which will be caused by the graduation of the present high priest, "Dumpy" Beall, who has completed the required number of hours for his degree.

"Dumpy" will receive his degree next June. McGivaren has taken charge of the San Hedrin and will continue in office until June.

ATHLETIC HEAD JOINS ALABAMA COACHING STAFF

Unites with Wallace Wade His Teacher

PROMISING FUTURE

Will Coach Princeton Nine This Spring

TUSCALOOSA, ALA.—Coach Wallace Wade, Saturday, announced the appointment of Jess Neely, coach at Southwestern University at Memphis, as an assistant football coach at the University of Alabama. Neely will take the place vacated by Russell Cohen, who resigned to accept an appointment as head coach at Louisiana State University. Neely has had several successful years at Southwestern. He learned his football under Coach Wade at Vanderbilt.

Coach Wade announced that Neely will report here to assist in spring football training work, after which he will leave for Princeton, where he will coach the Princeton baseball team.

Next fall Neely will return to Alabama as assistant football coach and head baseball coach.

Jess Neely, who has been at the helm of the Southwestern athletic program for the past four years, handed in his resignation last Friday, which was accepted by Dr. C. E. Diehl. The resignation is to take effect Jan. 15.

Neely has accepted a position of assistant coach at University of Alabama, under Coach Wallace Wade, a former mentor of Coach Neely at Vanderbilt University.

TO SUCCEED COHEN

A vacancy on the coaching staff at Alabama occurred when Russ Cohen, assistant coach, resigned from there to accept a coaching position at Louisiana State University. Coach Neely, who has been offered several other coaching positions, was attracted to Alabama on account of his close friendship with Wallace Wade.

Coach Neely, former star at Vanderbilt in football, basketball and baseball, came to Southwestern when it was located at Clarksville, Tenn. Under his direction Southwestern entered the S. I. A. A. this fall.

LEAVES JAN. 15

Neely will sever his connection with Southwestern on Jan. 15. He started coaching in 1923 at Murfreesboro High School. In 1924 he went to Southwestern, which was at that time located at Clarksville, and he remained there four years.

Neely was a member of the Vanderbilt football eleven for three seasons, being a Commodore in 1920, 1921, 1922, and finished in the spring of 1923. He was captain of the Vanderbilt eleven in 1922. He played halfback and end.

Neely is 30 years of age and unmarried. He hails from Smyrna, Tenn.

Four To Convention

Four Southwestern students represented the institution at the Student Volunteer Convention, which was held at Detroit, Mich., Dec. 28, thru Jan. 1. Southwestern's delegates were: John Johnson, Mary Parker, Pauline Jones and Roger Wright.

NOTICE!

All notices, stories and material for the Sou'wester to be published during the present semester must be turned in by next Tuesday afternoon. There will be only one more issue of the Sou'wester this term due to exams which start on Jan. 23. The final issue will arrive on the campus on Friday, Jan. 20.

FROSH ANSWERS SHOW PECULIAR MENTAL TWISTS

At the beginning of the year all freshmen were required to take an intelligence test to see if there were any trace of brains among them.

After the test had been taken all pros were unanimous in the opinion that intelligence was a thing that could be found anywhere except in the freshman class. Of course, all students agreed with them, but they did not know exactly what had led the pros to this belief. Dr. W. R. Atkinson, who is known perhaps to some of the students, refused to say why he thought so little of the freshmen. However, he has finally consented to the publication of some of the intelligence test answers turned in by the freshmen. Only a few of the questions and typical answers are published, but these few throw a very insinuating light on the minds of the freshmen.

Q. How many legs has a Malay? A. Four.

Q. How is cribbage played? A. With dice.

Q. Who is Irvin Cobb? A. A ball player.

Q. From what are emeralds obtained? A. Elephants.

Q. What is Karo? A. A disinfectant.

Q. For what is Dewey famous? A. Dewey defeated the Spanish in Boston harbor during the Civil War.

Q. Of what is the "volt" a measurement? A. The volt is used in measuring rainfall.

Q. What is Plymouth Rock? A. A kind of horse.

Q. What is "The flavor lasts" used in advertisement of? A. Cider.

Q. How is a picolo used? A. The picolo is used in book binding.

Q. What is a bolt? A. A certain swift movement characteristic of a jackass.

The only question which was answered anywhere near sensibly was, "Why are you in my class?" The almost unanimous reply was "Because I am a freshman and am not supposed to have any sense."

Dr. Atkinson, after grading the tests, says that he is absolutely convinced that the old proverb, "A freshman has nothing but brains and none of that," is true.

PINCHED FOR PAWNING

SEATTLE, Wash.—(IP)—The checks failing to arrive from home on time, two University of Washington students set out to pawn a revolver. They considered this a very safe and sane way to help them over their financial crisis. But it landed them in police court.

As one of the students was presenting the gun for inspection at a shooting gallery, a passing patrolman sensed a hold-up and haled the youths into court on an open charge.

Upon confirmation of their explanation, the two suspects were released.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—(IP)—The undergraduate publications of the University of Utah are forbidden by the University Board of Regents to run tobacco advertisements in their columns.

Crosland, of the psychology department.

The new machine, which differs in many ways from the apparatus in use, operates without pain to the subject. Work on the new instrument has been going on for three months.

PASS OKEHS ON MATES

MONTREAL, Que.—(IP)—There was a fluttering of hearts and downcast looks at the United Theological College, of McGill university, recently when a notice appeared on the official bulletin board that the students in the future would not have as free a hand in their matrimonial affairs as has formerly been the case.

The authorities have passed a resolution making it necessary for Theology students who are serving pastorates to gain the consent of the authorities before taking on a wife.

One loophole appeared to the undergraduates—that no stipulations were made concerning companionate marriages.

MAKES DANCE RULES

WASHINGTON, Pa.—(IP)—President S. S. Baker, of Washington and Jefferson college, announced to the student body recently a new code of rules to govern the conduct of fraternity house parties. Among the restrictions are the following:

Lists of girls invited to fraternity parties during the college week-end functions must be submitted to the president's office for inspection and have his approval before invitations are issued.

All college men must be out of fraternity houses during college parties. At least two married couples as chaperones must at all times be in the fraternity houses during parties.

All visiting girls must be away from the chapter houses by 3 p. m. on Sunday following the party.

I'm The Ginkette
I'm the ginkette that comes out for basketball just long enough to have my beauty struck by the photographer and then I never return. I really am terribly interested in basketball, that is in seeing myself in such becoming togs in the Evening Appeal and the Sou'wester, and, oh yes, I stay long enough to be sure my picture gets in the annual. It sounds so terribly important you know to have a list of activities after your name and to be called one of the mainstays on the varsity team. I didn't fail to cut several copies from several Sou'westers and send them home so that the family might show it around and swell up with pride. Yes sir, their daughter can certainly play basketball. If you don't know all about it, a basketball is round, with a handle, and everybody tries to pitch it in the ring.

Trial Marriage

Prior to the Christmas holidays men of the Quibbler debate society conducted try-outs on the topic of "Companionate Marriage as an aid to Matrimonial Felicity."

At the particular time of the session the newspapers were carrying columns and columns of type upon this newly-agitated question. Not only the dailies, but also reputable magazines and other widely-read publications devoted space to this debatable topic.

Naturally, broad-minded editors looked to colleges and universities for expressions from the budding intellectuals upon this topic of moment.

Undue prominence and credence was given the opinions as reported by the local boys in their innocent talks; for the sole purpose of the try-outs was not in coming to some decision upon the noxious question of companionate marriage, but solely in winning a place on the teams which were to be picked in preparedness for the approaching intercollegiate debate season.

There were some "startling" remarks made by the affirmative speakers, some say; but they were made ready for the effect, and bore no cogency in the mind of the several speakers. When the topic was first announced as the theme upon which members would talk, every man in the club picked the negative (against companionate marriage). Finally, in desperation, club officers agreed that lots should be cast in order that there would be as many affirmative as negative speakers.

Judging from the similarity of speeches, there must have been some outside collusion between the two rival groups. Members of the affirmative agree with the negative; naturally, for they agreed with the opposing element in the first place.

This subject was discussed before a strictly male audience—the crowd was not mixed, as some think. The subject has been dropped, as planned by club members, for it was not intended to be a debate topic, but only as a try-out theme for the purpose of testing the original thinking powers of the several speakers.

This article is not written thru any kind of compulsion from "above," but merely to enlighten those inclined to be credulous that Southwestern boys are not radical socially, morally and spiritually, but only talk on those things which in the end will give a better understanding of those standards and conventions which have been accepted by the best of people.

A World-Wide Boon

Very few people know that an event of world-wide influence occurred on Jan. 14, 1906. The twenty-second annual observance of this momentous occasion will be indulged in Saturday.

This event was no revolution or murder or new joke on the Scotchman, but merely the unostentatious arrival of the editor into this world of studying and bank rifling.

As is the custom of all "great" editors, we wish the recipient of such international acclaim the best wishes on his birthday and the earnest desire that he will have at least one more birthday.

Consequently, "we"—it must be that because it is strictly an editorial word in journalism, accept with our usual eclat and sangfroid this panegyric expression from the world at large and those hemmed up.

Our Neely Has Gone

Coach Jess Neely has severed his athletic nexus with Southwesterners and is now assistant coach of the Crimson Tide at Alabama.

News dispatches reveal the fact that Neely will be head coach of baseball at Princeton this spring, but will be a permanent assistant coach of football and coach of baseball at Alabama next year.

There is a background to Neely's transfer to the larger athletic school. Coach Wallace Wade, high mogul of sports at Alabama, coached Neely when the erstwhile Southwestern coach was a football star at Vanderbilt.

Respect of coach for pupil and pupil for coach did not cease when Neely graduated. Neely was such a student of football that Wade deemed him a wise acquisition to the coaching staff.

During Jess' four years with Southwestern he has made a creditable showing; has developed many good athletes; has been popular with the boys; has shown himself a judge of character and has realized hidden potentials in students which only proper athletic training revealed.

Our best wishes go with Neely on his promotion to a greater field. We do not say that his vacancy will be hard to fill—as is commonly done in obituaries, but we will say that he acquitted himself well while officiating as chief helmsman of the Lynx.

Sailfish such as frequent the gulf stream can swim at the rate of 70 miles an hour.

Humane Profs (?)

It is a little early to accuse students of "boning", but some have started that semi-annual stunt of cramming for exams.

The college catalog states that exams will occupy the intervening time between Jan. 23 to 28.

Professors have counted the remaining recitation days and are piling the work on the laden backs of obsequious students.

As a warning let us venture the common assumption that students do not love their profs as they did before the holidays, because of their inhumanity in making the load unbearable during these remaining sweet days of the passing semester.

Why clot the calendar with papers, outside reading and the like, when a few lectures summing up the semester's work will be much more effective than students delving into the library archives reading and writing about some event that happened back in the musty ages of long ago?

We do not decry outside work, but at this season it should be light, with the burden shifting to the professors for succinct explanations of those knotty questions which have taken up the students' attentions during the semester of labor.

The word "reverend" occurs but once in the Bible, in the ninth verse of the one hundredth and eleventh Psalm.

The Drunk's Lament

Down in old Joe's barroom,
By the corner of the square;
The drinks went on as usual
And a goodly crowd was there.

Standing by my side,
Elbows upon the bar,
Stood curly Joe McGinty,
Driver of the lively car.

Turning to the bar keeper:
His eyes were bloodshot red;
Asked him for his reason
And this is what he said:

Went down St. Joe's infirmary,
Saw my woman lying there,
Stretched out upon the table:
So pale, so cold, so fair.

Sixteen coal black horses
Hitched to a rubber tired hack—
Seven pretty girls to the graveyard,
And only six of them coming back.

When I die just bury me.
In a box-back coat and a hat;
Put a $20 bill in my wallet, boys,
So they'll know I'm standing pat.

Six crap shooters for pallbearers,
A chorus girl to sing me a song;
Put a jazz band on my hearse, boys,
To raise Hell as we roll along.

When they let me down in the deep hole,
Have my best girl sing me the blues;
Then open a quart of liquor
And saturate my shoes.

Now that I've told my story,
I'll take another shot of booze;
I must be on my way, boys,
For I've got those gambling blues.

FRANK TRELAWNEY TO CAPTAIN 1928 SOUTHWESTERN GRID SQUAD

"Dago," Stellar Defensive Player, Named by Mates to Pilot Team Next Year—Fourteen Men Given Letters.

Frank Trelawney, fullback of the 1927 Southwestern football team, will lead the Lynx moleskinners in the 1928 campaign on the gridiron. Trelawney succeeds Arthur Dulin, who graduates. Trelawney is a sophomore, and a native of Memphis. He is the first Memphian ever to be chosen leader of the Southwestern eleven.

Trelawney's work at the fullback post was an outstanding feature of Southwestern's football warfare. His defensive ability was notable, and he was known as the best blocker and one of the surest tacklers on the team. Trelawney seldom carried the ball, his ability in running interference being of such value that it overshadowed his plunging and running skill. Trelawney can also pass and punt, but he was seldom called on for these parts of the game.

That he is extremely popular with the men on the team is attested by the fact that he earned more nicknames than any man in the history of Southwestern. Besides the "Dago" which he carried to college, he achieved a number of other pseudonyms that were constantly applied.

The athletic committee of the school awarded fourteen letters for 1927 gridiron performances. The letter men include: Captain-elect Trelawney, fullback; Captain Arthur Dulin, Flint Liddon and Warren Smith, guards; Lorin King, Crawford McGivaren and T. M. Garrott, tackles; Verne Baumgarten and Wilson Foote, centers; Henry Waring and Joe Davis, ends, and Bobby Lloyd, Dode Farnsworth and Havron Parnell, backs.

Of the fourteen awarded letters, three will be lost to the 1928 team by graduation. The three are Dulin, Davis and Garrott.

SCHEDULE 9 GAMES

Nine games are on the schedule, seven to be played at Fargason Field and two away from home. Four of the opponents are members of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, a body which Southwestern joined at the close of the last football season. The four S. I. A. A. teams are making their first appearance on a Southwestern list. They are Union, Western Kentucky State, Georgetown of Kentucky, and Chattanooga University.

Seven of the teams which appeared on the Southwestern slate last year will not be encountered next season. The seven are the University of Mississippi, University of Alabama, Henderson-Brown, Ouachita, Birmingham-Southern, Millsaps and the Quantico Marines.

Opponents of 1928 who were encountered last season are Lambuth College, Arkansas College, the West Tennessee Teachers and Hendrix.

Sticks Arm Out of Window—Fractured

MOSCOW, IDAHO—(IP)—Howard Marcellus has learned many things since matriculating at the University of Idaho here, most of them theoretical. But the other night he learned something of a more practical nature. As a consequence, Howard will not stick his arm out of a train window hereafter.

While returning from Spokane on a student special several days ago, Marcellus wanted to see if it was raining. So he stuck his hand out of the window. The train lurched, and a telegraph pole came in contact with the student's wrist. Now he is in the infirmary having it fixed up.

Moral: All that is learned in college cometh not from books.

Smokes 30 Cigars In Nicotine Test

BALTIMORE, Md.—(IP)—"Fifty cigars in 12 hours" was the goal set for himself by Vincent Maddi, student in the school of medicine at the University of Maryland, to settle an argument over the ill effects of tobacco. Friends sat beside him to record his physical condition. The first three hours were O. K. He remained normal. Then his pulse began to climb, until it reached 108 instead of 80, his respiration 30 instead of 17, and his blood pressure from 120 to 132. After eight hours, while on his thirtieth cigar, Maddi became ill and quit.

"I might have suffered serious ill effects had I continued," admitted Maddi later.

Two Grid Teams

ANN ARBOR, MICH.—(IP)—Two football teams are to represent the University of Michigan on the gridiron next year. This is as a result of the recent ruling of the Big Ten coaches that such action will be O. K. with them.

It is not expected, according to the Michigan Daily, that the new plan will have any decided effect on football, or student migration for the big football games. According to the newspaper, there simply will be a first and second team, and the first team will be the true representative of Michigan.

OPERATED ON

Verne Baumgarten, football star, recently returned to school after recovering from a serious operation.

Verne was hurt in a practice session before the regular season started and played thru the whole season utterly disregarding his injury, which at times prevented him from playing.

After the season was over Verne consented to the operation which was performed by Dr. Moore Moore at the Methodist Hospital.

Verne has played his last game for Southwestern as he was declared ineligible when we entered the S. I. A. A. because of playing with the Georgia Tech Freshmen.

FLOCK OF VETERAN BASKETBALL PLAYERS REPORT TO GIL REESE

Dopesters Figure Southwestern Will Have One of the Fastest Wicker Teams in the History of Memphis

Basketball practice at Southwestern started on opening of the college after the holidays. The Lynx have great prospects, with several of their old lettermen back, and former high school stars numbered among the freshmen.

Last year the Lynx encountered hard luck. Practically the entire team was barred because of poor studies. Present prospects point to the players being eligible. Among these are "Chi" Waring, Joe Davis, Flint Liddon, Dode Farnsworth, Billy Hughes, Bill Ford, Ora Johnson and Charles Terry.

Waring is one of the best basketball players in the city. He is a star floor man and a point scorer of unusual ability. Farnsworth is another star at running guard, while Flint Liddon is remembered for his stellar work at guard in prep school circles. Joe Davis is an old standby of the Lynx and is a capable guard. Hughes, Ford, Johnson and Terry all played last year.

Besides, Coach Gil Reese will have Chauncey Barbour, former Central High forward. He made the all-Memphis with Central and has since starred with the Earle, Ark., Cardinals.

George Hightower, freshman football star, is said to be a good basketball player.

NEW ARKANSAS FACES

The University of Arkansas will also be making their debut on the Southwestern list, playing in Memphis on Thanksgiving Day.

The annual game with the University of Mississippi, which had been one of the high lights of the Southwestern list, had to be abandoned because the teams could not agree on dates. Southwestern held open two dates, Oct. 20 and Nov. 3, at the request of Ole Miss, but the Mississippi authorities could use neither of the dates and the game went by the boards.

The schedule in full: Sept. 29—Lambuth College, Memphis. Oct. 6—Western Kentucky State at Bowling Green.

Oct. 13—Georgetown of Kentucky, at Memphis.

Oct. 20—Union University, Memphis.

Oct. 27—Arkansas College, Memphis.

Nov. 3—Chattanooga University at Chattanooga.

Nov. 10—West Tennessee Teachers at Memphis.

Nov. 17—Hendrix College, Memphis.

Nov. 29 (Thanksgiving)—University of Arkansas, Memphis.

STUDENTS MAKE MONDAY OFF-DAY

Prof Shows That Thursday is Peak Day

TORONTO, Ont.—(IP)—"Blue Monday" is a psychological fact.

The matter has been thoroughly investigated, but the problem is seriously complicated by the important contributing factor of overtime, type of work, season of the year, personal interest in the work, etc. Investigators are unanimous in finding Monday a least effective day in work. This is found to be true both when out put is measured and in more simple tests used in the psychological laboratories at Washington, who plotted a piece-work curve, showed that there was a difference of 20 per cent between the production on Monday and on the peak day, Thursday.

In the opinion of Professor E. D. MacPhee, of the Toronto University department of psychology, "The modern tendency to use Sunday as a day of recreation, as well as the general imposition by modern industry of a routine system upon individuals who were not so constructed as to comply with its demands, is responsible for the existence of 'Blue Monday'."

"Ecs" For Men

WHO'S WHO IN SENIOR CLASS

Thomas M. Garrott, Jr.

Garrott, popularly known as "T. M.", both here and abroad, was born at Senatobia, Miss., June 3, 1905.

In 1912 T. M. began his education by entering Sledge grammar school, graduating in 1919. Then in 1920 he entered the Tate County Agricultural high school, graduating in 1924. At Tate he participated in all branches of athletics, playing football, baseball, and basketball.

T. M. was not content with a high school education so in 1924, the following fall, he entered Miss. A & M College. There he played freshman football. When Southwestern opened in Memphis, T. M. came along and has been here ever since. His student activities here are numerous and it is with pride that Southwestern has his name on her senior roll.

His activities while here follows: Member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, president during 1926-27, Pan-Hellenic council, 1926-27, '27-28; President Golf Association, 1926-27, '27-28; president O. P. O., 1927-28; football, 1925, '26, '27, making the varsity this year; member of "S" club; baseball 1926-27; basketball, 1925, '26, '27.

T. M. played in the Southwestern-Millsaps game and made a sensational run of 25-yards. Since then he has been known as the "Chained Lightning." T. M. is popular with the girls, which is something to boast of.

When he graduates this June, T. M. will probably enter the cotton business or handle a Ford Agency.

SORROW STALKS STUDENT TRAILS THRU CHRISTMAS

Miseries and Woes Follow Behind Joys of Yuletide Season

Christmas holidays treated Southwestern students in different ways. Some were operated on, staving off pain and the surgeon's knife until time could be conveniently missed, while others caught pink eyes, measles, lost jewelry and other valuables, and were victims of accidents.

The hardest hit of all is Miss Louise Clark, senior co-ed, who first found that a negro girl living somewhere in Kansas, who worked in the Clark home for one day, had purloined her $1.50 diamond pin. The next day, in company with her family, she was in the family car which broke down somewhere in Mississippi 60 miles from Memphis. She was forced to stay out in the cold for five hours on the coldest night of the recent zero wave.

Warner Hall hasn't yet recovered from measles, having acquired the germs during the holidays. He is confined to the "isolation ward" in Stewart Hall dormitory.

Verne Baumgarten, football star, has just recently returned to college, having been in the hospital since the holidays began. He was hurt playing football, and underwent a very serious operation during the Yule season.

Freshman Sonny Beard went on a three-day house party during the holidays, and returned home with a bad case of pink eyes. He saw pink for several days and returned to college long after school re-opened.

Other personals about collegians and their friends—

Herbert Beck, erstwhile freshman here, visited on the campus Tuesday. He left his wife at Hotel Peabody while he negotiated the selling of his ice plant at Union City, Tenn.

Francis Howard, 1925 grad, is a guest of his Pi. K. A. brothers on the campus. Howard has been studying journalism at the University of Missouri.

Miss Laura Byers, of Clarksville, and a graduate of '27, is visiting her Chi Omega sisters, having come down for the initiation of Fritz Montroy which was held last Monday night.

Martha Roseborough was a visitor to the campus Saturday.

Gladys Works, a Chi Omega from Hollins, visited the campus Wednesday.

Mary Parker, Chi Alpha, has returned from the Student Volunteer Convention at Detroit, as also have Pauline Jones, Roger Wright and John Johnson.

Rubye Sebulsky has returned to the campus after undergoing an appendicitis operation.

Alice Rodgers, of Laurel, was a visitor of Alice Patrick last week-end.

Amalie Fair has returned to Southwestern after nearly two months absence resulting from an appendicitis operation.

Richard McCaslin's condition is reported to be improving.

Increase Insurance Rates On Frat Boys

NEW YORK—(IP)—Altho not planned to affect fraternity and sorority houses in particular, the revised insurance rates made recently by the New York Fire Insurance Rating has increased insurance rates on fraternity and sorority houses about 50 per cent. on an average.

The increase comes thru interpretation of a clause concerning the number of families represented in a house. Since the fraternity houses and their sister sorority houses usually have about as many families represented as there are residents, the interpretation lays a heavy load on them.

Yell Before Exams

AUSTIN, TEXAS—(IP)—Students at the University of Texas here have a tradition which calls for a few minutes of organized yelling just before entering the classrooms for final examinations. The theory is that the yelling will pep the students up before the funeral, and that they will not be in a condition to yell afterward.

BREAK THAT EGG!

Sycophantic Frosh Fawn To S.A.E. Men

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity pledges at Southwestern are enjoying with the greatest distaste "Hell Week," which started Monday morning and will continue in all its "nauseating fury" until Saturday night.

"Hell Week," an annual custom, covers a multitude of scurvy tricks.

Here are some of the humiliating stunts which the obsequious freshmen must do:

Carry a large hunk of limburger cheese in left pants pocket.

Wear same clothes thruout week without even changing a tie.

Wash no part of the body except hands and front of face, making certain the ears receive no dash of the limpid liquid.

Walk on tiptoe whenever on feet and traveling to and fro.

Bring three paddles each morning which meet the following requirements: two feet long, four inches wide, one-half inch thick, seven inch grip.

Carry two eggs in pocket at all times including sleep; and if one egg is broken freshman must carry four eggs, and if one of these broken freshman must carry eight eggs, and if one of these broken freshman must carry 16 cackle fruits. No freshman must allow either male or female to shatter the shells or else the paddles will reign. Broken eggs cannot be removed from pocket until Saturday night.

Besides all these petty stipulations during the week, each of the eleven freshmen has some certain duty to perform, such as obtaining 12 live fleas Monday and keep them alive until Saturday night, securing black cat with white left front paw, get left thumb of dead white man, beautiful feather from southeast corner of a male peacock, 600 cigarette butts, red rooster tail, and other items which are foreign to parlor argot.

Here are the victims of the fraternity dictum: Freshmen Bobby Carpenter, Richard Monk, Richard Harwood, Thomas Frist, Ritchie Morgan, Horace Harwell, Houston Minniece, Erle Howry, Battle Malone, William Fountaine and Harry Walton.

These neophytes, embittered to their lot, are receiving the curiosity and treachery of the campus. "Get an egg!" is the campus byword. Every egg broken means that the owner must leave that egg in the pocket and double his then present load of the oblongs. Even the girls are after at least one "aigg." Taunts about dirty ears will not be passed unheeded, for the freshmen can retaliate to the girls about their dirty necks (not put on by strange hands); the boys are receiving no such calumnious repartees.

93-YEAR-OLD MASONIC GRAD IS STILL WASHING IN COLD WATER

Washing his hair in cold water every morning has given him his present bushy, snow-white crest, Thomas Elliott, 93, oldest alumnus of Masonic College, now Southwestern University, declares.

Mr. Elliott left his farm in Christian County, Ky., recently, to come to Memphis to visit Dr. Charles E. Diehl, president of Southwestern. A gracious, distinguished looking old gentleman of 93, he does not wear spectacles and his hearing is normal. His walk is erect and his mind alert. Many of his reminiscences begin with the phrase, "When I was 70 years old," and deal with events of 23 years ago.

BOOSTS EDUCATION

He made his first public address when he was 70 and has been speaking in the interest of education at frequent times since then.

Mr. Elliott has made 73 crops, principally tobacco, on his farm in Christian County. He went there immediately after he graduated from Masonic College, Clarksville, Tenn., in 1854. "I think I am the only living human being who connects the Southwestern University in its incipency and its present magnificence," he said.

The Masonic College was turned over to the Presbyterian University and became Southwestern College in 1875.

FIRST SPEECH AT 70

His chief interest besides farming, he says, has been in trying to help those who want to get an education. "Finally, I made my first speech on 'The Best Use of Money.' At 12 years of age, my mother had told me to learn to be a good listener if I wished to have people like me. You know, everybody likes to be popular. But I broke my general rule at 70."

Conversation with Mr. Elliott uncovered another interest he had had and kept up until three or four years ago. He killed enough quail for breakfast every Sunday morning. "I could shoot quail now, but have got out of practice as I was with my wife for several years at sanitariums and different places during a prolonged illness before she died."

14 LETTERMEN IN FIVE FRATS

A. T. O.'s Get Lion's Share With Seven Letters

An unusual fact about the 14 football lettermen the past season is that all are Greek-letter men.

Out of the 14 who won letters, the Alpha Tau Omegas had the lion's share, claiming seven. The Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha and Beta Lambdas each had two, while the Kappa Alphas had one.

Besides the seven letters in the A. T. O. frat, next year's grid captain is from the same group, Frank Trelawney. The seven men are Trelawney, capt. elect Arthur Dulin, ex-capt. Joe Davis, Loren King, Flint Liddon, Havron Parnell, and Dode Farnsworth. The remaining seven are: S. A. E., Chi Waring, Bobby Lloyd; Pi K. A., Crawford McGivaren, T. M. Garrott; Beta Lambdas, Verne Baumgarten, Wilson Foote, and K. A., Warren Smith.

We believe that thinking people should ponder these truths.

Public Utilities render services that are essential to modern living standards.

These services directly contribute to the convenience and comfort of people hourly each day. They have raised living standards, brought us up to a new plane of material existence; and are, in fact, the agencies by which modern living standards are maintained.

In addition to their contribution to the convenience and comfort of people so constantly, utilities are economic factors of important worth to their communities—stimulating channels of trade and business activities with their large pay-rolls and immense purchases of supplies, as well as being large tax-payers helping to defray expenses of government.

These are facts that educated people should understand.
