The News Beat

by John Crabtree

Tuesday night the President used his version of Roosevelt's fireside chats to protect his enormous budget. Apparently Congress turned a deaf ear to his plea.

With the kind of knife peculiarly used to dissect appropriations bills, Congress went to work Wednesday morning. The pieces taken out to date will probably prove to be only a start. It is impossible for the layman to assemble enough of the factual matter necessary to give a complete picture of the fiscal situation. We do not propose to say that the budget is too big or too small. It is evident, however, that when the figures run into billions of dollars the average business mind is lost in the green. You can only stretch the imagination and try to comprehend the magnitude of seventy-two billion dollars. We do not have the imagination necessary. Once again we can only weigh the bits of information both pro and con, hoping that we can come out with some reasoned solution.

All seems to have boiled down to a slow burn in the Middle East, so for spectacular news we will have to look elsewhere. Having inquired elsewhere we find that no spectacular news exists. Or at least nothing that has not appeared in this column in some form or fashion during the now about over semester.

We could take up some more space and look again at some of the happenings since February, but that too seems like a waste of time. If you read the papers at all you know as much of the history as we do.

One of the professors on this ivy-covered campus who inhabits a portion of the G. I. Gothic is often caught saying that "the time has come, the walrus said . . ." and Open Hearings Proposal Goes To Adm. Com.

The faculty-student committee appointed to consider the "Student-Administrative" proposal made last month by the IFC met on May 8 and recommended the establishment of a Disciplinary Committee to hear and try cases of student discipline referred to it by the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women.

This recommendation has been submitted in detail to the Administrative Committee for their final action.

If approved, this proposal will provide for open hearings and public announcement of findings and penalty assessments unless request otherwise is made by the student or students involved.

The proposed Discipline Committee will be composed of the Dean of Men, the Dean of Women, and presidents of the Student Council, Honor Council, and Undergraduate Women.

Students Give Senior Recitals

Jimmy McCaulla of Grenada, Mississippi, was presented in his senior recital last Wednesday evening, May 15, at the College of Music.

Emmett Buford of Forrest City, Arkansas, will be presented in his senior piano recital before the close of this semester. He has studied under Professor Myron Myers.

CHEERLEADER ELECTIONS

In elections held in student assembly Thursday, Clara Stephens, Elizabeth Rodgers, and Sandra Bain were elected to be cheerleaders for next year.

Also in Thursday's elections, Beverly Bowden, Mary Parish, Sissy Raspberry, Ann Rust, and Kip Shoaf reached today's run-off slots.

Calendar of the Week May 20

May 21: Chi Omega Alumnae SAE Mother's Banquet 6-8 p.m.

May 24: 24-31 final exams Faculty picnic 6 p.m.

May 25: Student Council picnic or students involved.

Religious Groups Select Officers For Next Year

The student religious groups on campus have been busy during the past month choosing their officers for next year.

The Westminster Fellowship Group at Evergreen Presbyterian Church, which is the Presbyterian organization for Southwestern students, has chosen Sam Martin, president, Dick Crais, vice-president; Nancy Wooddell, secretary; Richard Park, treasurer; Beverly Finch, Sunday school representative; Dick Baldwin, PRC representative, and Linda Hardesty, Synod representative. The group also elected chairmen for its various commissions: Ann Myers, Faith; Deanne Runyon, Citizenship; Donnie Cross, Outreach; and Carol Ann Quade, Fellowship.

Presidents of all organizations and departments on campus are requested to read carefully in the Student Council Handbook for 1956-57 those sections concerning their areas. New officers and regulations as well as other desired and necessary changes to appear in the handbook for 1957-58 are to be reported by letter before the end of school. Sections without submitted changes will be included in the new booklet just as they are in the old.

FLEMING, JONES WILL CLOSE 108th S. W. YEAR

A businessman from Houston, Texas and the pastor of Memphis' Idlewild Presbyterian Church will be featured speakers at Southwestern's 108th commencement and baccalaureate services respectively. These ceremonies will mark the completion of their college careers for some 85 Southwestern seniors.

Lamar Fleming, Jr., chairman of the board of Anderson-Clayton Cotton Company will deliver the commencement address in Fisher Memorial Garden at 10 a.m., Tuesday, June 4.

Byrd Presented In Senior Recital

Harriet Byrd of Wynne, Arkansas, was presented in her senior recital last Friday, May 10, at the Southwestern College of Music.

Harriet opened the program with a Bach Partita, followed by "Variations on a Theme by Paganini"—Brahms, in which her technical skill acquired during her four years of study with Professor Myron Myers made this "one of the most brilliant performances heard in any student recital at Southwestern," said Mr. Neuman Leighton of the College of Music.

The consensus of opinion of many who heard the recital was that her playing was of high professional standard and another outstanding example of what Southwestern College of Music is doing to develop and promote cultural values in this area.

Dr. Paul Tudor Jones, a Southwestern graduate of 1932, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at 11 a.m., Sunday morning, June 2, at Second Presbyterian Church.

At commencement exercises, honorary degrees will be conferred on the following: the Rev. Landern Childers, pastor, Whitehaven Presbyterian Church, Doctor of Divinity; the Rev. David Henry Edington, Jr., Pastor, Spring Hill Presbyterian Church, Mobile, Alabama, Doctor of Divinity; the Rev. John M. Crowell, pastor, Central Presbyterian Church, Mobile, Alabama, Doctor of Divinity; the Rev. Charles Albert Harper, Memphis, minister to Hospitals under Memphis Presbytery, Doctor of Humanities; and Mr. Julian B. Bonduant, Memphis, Doctor of Laws.

Fleming is a trustee of Rice Institute, Houston, and a regent of the University of Houston. In 1953-54 he served as vice-chairman of the Randall Commission on For-

SOUTHWESTERN ERA ENDS

A group of students gathered in a professor's home last Tuesday afternoon.

It was an informal sort of get-together—school clothes, coffee, Cokes, cake, and friendly conversation.

The informality of the occasion, however, in no way lessened its significance to those present, for they gathered out of a spirit of love and respect for a great man.

Dr. Alexander P. Kelso is retiring this year as head of Southwestern's philosophy department after more than 25 years of loyal service to the school.

The retiring professor's remarks for the occasion were typically concise. "One of the big ideas we get from Plato," he said, is the need for intelligent leaders." The hundreds of Southwesterners and ex-Southwesterners who have experienced his unique teaching method will testify to the magnificent way in which Dr. Kelso has helped to meet that need.

The wealth of illustrations par excellence drawn from a mind that seems never to have forgotten or misplaced any of even the most inconsequential details which have entered its ranging scope of inquiry, the obvious pleasure in teaching philosophy which has made the searching out of its intricacies a pleasure to those who have come to learn, the almost boyish curiosity and humility in the search for truth, the warmth of a personality that will always be younger than any retirement age—these things will be missed here next year.

Engraved on an ash tray in Dr. Kelso's living room (made from a shell from a destroyer's five-inch guns) is the following: "For Dr. Alexander Peebles Kelso and good briar pipes, both firm friends of mankind." The mark made by the great spirit which inspired these words, made on the lives of Southwesterners past and present, will not quickly pass away.

Kremer, J. L. Jerden Will Edit Campus Publications

Pem Kremer and J. L. Jerden will edit Southwestern's campus publications, the Sou'wester and the Lynx, next year following their selection by the Publications Board this week.

Miss Kremer will be editor of the Sou'wester, Jerden will fill that position on the Lynx.

Also named by the Board this week were Dickie Jones to the position of Business Manager of the Sou'wester and Sandy Calmer to that of Lynx Business Manager.

Both new editors will be juniors next year. Pem has had two years experience on the Sou'wester staff and has been copy editor this year, in addition to extensive experience in high school journalism. J. L. has written for the Sou'wester this year, and was editor of his high school yearbook his senior year at Whitehaven High School.

Jones will be a senior next year, and Miss Calmer will be a junior. Both have had extensive experience qualifying them for their respective positions, and the Publications Board said that it feels "the people we have chosen for these four positions of leadership are eminently qualified and should be able to give the student body top-quality publications in all respects next year."

Across The Desk

This is the last time this year the Sou'wester will bring the good tidings of great joy to all Southwestern students.

For the campus as a whole, this has been a good year. There have been times, for all of us, when it did not seem so to be, to be sure, but in the perspective of the end of the year, things seem somehow to look a little brighter.

Let us look at the things which have been done. IFC and Pan representation on the Student Council is already proving its merit in closer co-ordination between these bodies. Progress of the open hearings disciplinary procedure shows promise of being a lasting solution to some of the problems which have marred this year's peace for student minds. The "old" Student Council set a standard for efficiency in its operations which will be difficult to match.

More space than is available here could be taken with the accomplishments of one individual—a Mr. Bill Young, by name—while wearing the Red and Black in a variety of athletics.

The point is that these things have happened, and even more important, there is every indication that they will continue to happen.

And just as the Sou'wester, inadequate as it may have been, has tried this year to bring you closer to what has happened on this campus, so there is every indication that it will continue to do so in the future.

And thank you for being so very kind in bearing with our often-erring ways.

Widgibus

Well, another year has almost ended and this is probably the last Widgibus you'll have to suffer through. Next year the 'congratulations' will be done in the "Peacock's Tale" by Bates. I've enjoyed throwing Widgibus together for the last two years, and I apologize to the paper staff, past and present, for all the times it's been late, forgotten or horrible.

Congratulations to all the people who received those beautiful keys in chapel last Wednesday upon the occasion of their induction into Sigma Phi Nothing. I haven't seen any of the keys being worn around school—I can't imagine why.

Goodby, to all the Seniors, we're sorry you're going away. Good luck on comprehensives and may you all pass. (In case you don't, we'll be glad to see you next year; in case you do, please come back and see us next year.)

Talking about seniors, the Tri-Delt Pansy Dessert, held each year in honor of Southwestern's senior women, was a lovely occasion this year, and the models did a great job of showing off the very pretty clothes. Wonder why someone doesn't do something in honor of the senior men?

Here's hoping we all get through exams. Have a wonderful summer. See you next year.

YOUR Student Council

The regular weekly meeting of the Student Council was held last Tuesday evening at 6:00 p.m. It was opened with prayer by John Quinn.

Reports

Athletics—Welsh reported that the date for the S-Club dance has been set October 5, coincident with the end of hazing. He will work the remainder of this year on setting up an effective program to encourage school spirit next fall.

Publications—Wilkins reported a recommendation to appoint a Student Council Publications Committee for the purpose of organizing campus publicity of Council activities. Council voted to have such a committee appointed.

Religious—Quinn reported that a retreat for all groups' councils rather than just the PRC has been set up for September. Plans are also underway for organization of a functioning Campus Christian Fellowship.

Social—Lupfer reported plans for the Student Body Picnic next Saturday at Maywood, and for the Freshman Mixer on September 10. It was also voted to have a Student Council dance September 21.

UGW—Underwood suggested and it was approved that all women students elect the vice-president and secretary of the Undergraduate Board after student assembly Thursday.

Elections — Zbinden suggested that some action be taken in line with the dearth of boy cheerleader interest. Action deferred.

IFC—McLellan reported that the IFC had voted to send its president as their representative to the Student Council, with an alternate also chosen.

In connection with the IFC report, Sam Martin reported on the tentative set-up resulting from the IFC's "Student-Administrative Proposal."

USNSA—Underwood reported a USNSA communication regarding the crisis in the suppression of academic freedom by the French in Algeria. Wilkins and Reynolds moved that the Council declare war on France in the interests of academic freedom. No action taken. President Cody instructed the Publications Commissioner to inform the USNSA of the Council's distress over this matter and see what Southwestern can do to alleviate the situation.

Special Committees—Robert Templeton reported that a letter from the Council to President Rhodes regarding the Student Center has been drafted and will be sent.

John Bryan reported that sections of the sophomore class recommendations to the Council will be given to Council members for their consideration over the summer. The advisability of a letter regarding hazing to incoming freshmen was discussed, and the question of a mascot will be turned over to the cheerleaders. Bryan suggested that class cabinets be activated.

Old Business

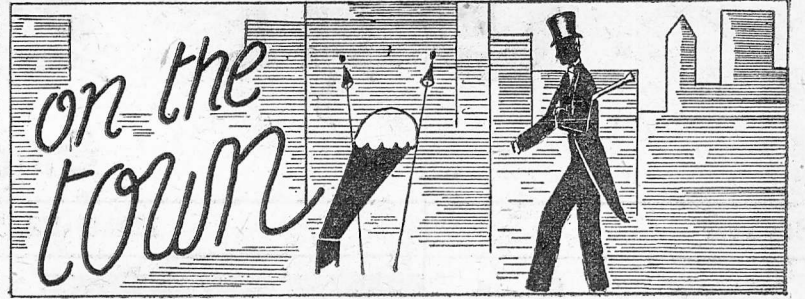

Adoption of a budget was suspended until next year.

New Business

Sam Martin was delegated to look into the possibility of activating the campus radio station.

Wilkins, Cody, and McMillan were appointed a committee to check students points and see that there are none who have excessive activity point totals.

Meeting adjourned.

with J. L. Jerden

The sun is setting in the blue summer sky and the twilight casts its colorful shadows over our ivy-covered campus. This scene brings sadness to our hearts, as we realize that the year is breathing its last and it seems only nine months ago that we started this eventful year. Tears trickle down our cheeks when we think that we must face three months of vacation and separation from this Gothic atmosphere of pointed gables and a few pointed heads. It is with misty eyes that we must take this last trip On the Town. (Pain and agony.)

The Strand, understanding our misery, presents an outlet to this sorrow in "The Buster Keaton Story" which is just chocked full of laughs, grins, smiles, and snickers (not to be confused with the candy bar of same name). This delightful diddy tells the life of the funny man of silent movies and stars Donald O'Connor.

"The Vintage" is a high tone love affair at the Loew's State with Mel Ferrer, Pier Angeli and John Kerr. This is a grape-picking story about two men involved in a murder who mingle with the vineyard workers in France. This mingling leads to romantic complications. As far as grape stories go, this one is way uptown.

There has been much discussion on the low salaries of teachers and the Loew's Palace is showing a film which stresses this point to the nth degree (writer's note: this term is the product of two years' study in the field of higher math and exemplifies the extensive use to which one can use his knowledge. This is another point in favor of a liberal education.) Meanwhile, back at the Palace, Jean Simmons and Paul Douglas star in this public service film, "This Could Be the Night."

A story of rural Mississippi as written by Tennessee Williams is produced in the movie, "Baby Doll," at the Warner. Carroll Baker and Karl Malden are the stars of this story of a child bride who has to become grown too soon. The Malco has a double feature of horrors in "Zombies of Moro Tau," and "The Man Who Turned to Stone." This type of entertainment is more highly recommended than even the submarine races. There is a return engagement of "Rififi" with Jean Servais, Robert Manuel, and Carl Mohner now playing at the Ritz.

The Cotton Carnival, going into its last few hours, will be the ending of good times for this week end. The darkness has now completely covered our campus and the next opportunity to go On the Town will come next September.

P. S. After much research the secret of Allen play-it-cool Reynolds' success with the girls has just been revealed. At the end of every date he soothingly murmurs, "Here I stand on two little chips; will someone kiss my sweet little lips?"

Campus Challenge

Let your light shine before men; that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father who is in heaven. (Matthew 5:16. A.S.V.)

In our daily contacts, we are touching other lives. We cannot shut ourselves off from other people. We find this especially true in our college community.

"Is he a Christian?" a young coed asked her companion as they watched a particular student cross the campus. "Yes," the companion answered. "I have never heard him say much about religion, but I am sure he is a Christian. Why do you ask?"

"Well," said the young coed, "I thought he must be. I have several classes with him and have watched him closely this past year. He is so different. He always has a smile on his face. He rarely complains. He goes about his daily tasks cheerfully. If someone needs help, he is the first to lend a hand. Everybody respects him and has a good word for him."

How important is our daily life! What we say may have influence, but what we are and what we do are even more important.

The Nosy Reporter

by John Farris

This week we went to several professors on the campus and put to them this question: "Sir, what is your secret ambition?" As usual, our column is spontaneous and unrehearsed, and the answers received are printed verbatim.

Axel McCorquedale, Doctor of Romance Languages: "I have gladness that you asked such a question, little one. Always I haf dreamed of retiring from ze deaphtment and settling down in a little villa in Spain where I could live out the rest of my years raising flamenco dancers for Ed Sullivan. Alas, it cannot be, because for me to retire from the department would be to leef it in the hands of imcompetents. I haf much sadness over this cruddy state of affairs."

Vincent B. Pollyp, professor of Romance Languages: "Well, I'd sort of like to be head of the department, but Old Man McCorquedale will hang on to the job with his palsied old hands until they carry him out in a basket. How about handing me that voodoo image and another package of pins before you leave, junior?"

Boswell Brambley, president of Plant Science: "I want to fail my freshman botany class. Everybody. The whole shooting match. Every last dumb one of them. Ha. Haha. Hahahahahahaha"

Rodney L. Winch, professor of Philosophy: "I could get twenty years in the clink just for saying it out loud."

Adelaid Mopp, Professor of Ancient Civilizations: "You know Clark Gable? I'm crazy about Clark Gable. I'd like to talk to Clark Gable for one minute. Just one minute. Gee, that Clark Gable. Wowie, I'll bet it would be an experience to have a guy like that rub your back."

Sid Mumbley, professor of English: "What gives you de idee I ain't perfl'y habby teachin' English, sonny?"

Schuyler B. Shin, Doctor of psychology: "I've seen too much of this crummy life and I'm fed up with the crummy psychos. this crummy world is crawling with. Some morning I'd like to shave too close to my windpipe and expire."

Religious Groups

The Baptist Student Union on Campus has elected Princess Hughes president, Marion Forsythe and Corwinna McCharen, 1st vice-presidents in charge of enlistment; John Alford, 2nd vice-president in charge of devotion; Richard, Dortch, 3rd vice-president in charge of programs; Sarah Ann Drinkard, secretary; Kip Shoaf, treasurer, and Sandra Andrews, publicity chairman. Other officers of BSU are: Sarah Longino and Joyce Walne, social committee; J. L. Jorden, PRC representative; Stacy McAdams, pianist; Patsy Smith, song leader; George Crabb, BSU news reporter; and Virginia Johnson, philanthropic chairman.

The Episcopal group, called the Canterbury Club, is headed by Jimmy Curtis, president; Bates Peacock, vice-president; Sharon Gaskill, secretary; and Dolly Cook, PRC representative.

The MYF, Methodist Youth Fellowship, has elected Henry Holloman president, Jean Scott, vice-president; Jerry Evans, secretary-treasurer, and MoMo Waller, PRC representative.

Helen Landon, 1957 Maid of Cotton, was honor guest at a tea at the Tri-Delt house Tuesday afternoon. The Maid is a Tri-Delt at the University of Tennessee. Films of the tea were run on a local television station Tuesday night.

Campus Groups Elect Officers

Elections mark the close of the school year at Southwestern, as many campus organizations choose their officers for the coming year.

Chi Beta Phi, national honorary scientific fraternity, has elected as President: Ed Dorman, Vice-President: Henry Wadsworth, and Secretary-Treasurer: Alan Lutz.

New officers of Eta Sigma Phi, national classical languages fraternity, are: President: Jane Alexander, Vice-President: Bob Booth, Secretary: Sandy Calmer, Treasurer: Sally Stockley, and Sergeant-at-Arms: Young Kul Roy.

Elected to office is Psi Chi, national honorary psychology fraternity, are President: Betty Jean Payne, Vice-President: Meg Caldwell, and Secretary-Treasurer: Jane Lee.

Co-chairmen of next year's Student Counselors, who help with Freshman Orientation, are Alice Fitch and Gloria Smith.

In a recent election held by the Southwestern Singers, Dick Baldwin was chosen President, Richard Todd, Ann Myers, Jean Scott, Vice-Presidents in charge of robes; Mary Regen, Sally Hicks, Deanne Runyon, Vice-Presidents in charge of Music, and Joan Waggoner as Secretary of the organization.

Opinion Please

by Mary Ann Lee

As a senior, what is your considered opinion of comprehensives?

Charles Riegle: "Always defended outside, yet controversial at home, 'Aude Sapere!'"

Anne Shannon: It seems to me that there could be found some less nerve-racking way to bring together what we have learned in four years. Maybe a required course in the senior year in which the professors could help us coordinate this material.

Suzanne McCarroll: I'm too busy now to answer!

Peggy Ross: I don't know how to phrase it nicely.

John McConnico: It has a tendency to freshen in our minds all that we've learned in the four years. This makes us better prepared to face the business world.

Sally Meek, Senior: I think so. When do they start?

Newly elected officers of the "S" Club are Shep Crigler, president; Robert Templeton, vice president; Richard Dortch, secretary-treasurer.

The German Club has recently named Henry Wadsworth as president and Caroline Gibbs as secretary-treasurer of their organization for the coming year.

New officers of Sans Souci, honorary French club, are Nora Petersen, president; Truly Brown, vice-president; Mary Jane Smalley, secretary; Alice Fitch, treasurer; and Lynn Jaseph, assistant treasurer. Carol Ann Greaves, Sandy Calmer, and Elaine Donelson were chosen Commissioners of culture, music and entertainment.

truly it has for us mortals to turn inward for news. The national scene no longer has much interest to us since the depths of the Senior Bible books, the Economics, Philosophy, etc., are calling. For some of us it is the final call and we can hardly afford not to be off and running. Yours truly finds that the call must be heeded and other things forsaken for a time. That is the reason this column is full of absolutely nothing past the second paragraph. And there are doubts that those paragraphs say much.

We have enjoyed writing this column for you this semester and feel that if you have gleaned anything from it we have fulfilled our duty. It has been nice, and parting is such sweet sorrow and all that rot.

Fifty Spring Athletes Awarded Monograms

Spring Teams Enjoy Good Season Returning Athletes Elect Captains

Tuesday night at the Spring Sports Banquet 50 Southwestern athletes received their awards for their participation. The captains for next year were elected and announced.

After a fine meal of shrimp salad, filet, French fries, peas and apple pie a la mode the evening's guests were introduced. The coaches of their respective teams announced their next year's captains and gave out the awards.

Jettie Bowen who is also a Co-captain for football next year was elected Captain of the baseball team by his teammates. Jettie played centerfield for the Lynx this year and led the team in RBI's and Home Runs.

The golf team picked Bobby Weaver for their Captain next year. Bobby is the only returning letterman from this year's squad and was a consistent golfer this year.

Jack Biedenbarn and Walker Wellford were named Co-captains for next year's tennis team.

Both Wellford and Beadenbarn were mainstays of this year's T.I.A.C. Championship team.

The track team elected Bill Carrell as Captain and MoMo Waller as Co-captain. Bill Carrell was a work horse on this year's team and is always improving. MoMo set the school high jump record this year and will be in charge of the field men next year.

Gifts were given to the coaches by their teams and in all it was a very fine evening.

TIAC Meet Closes Lynx Track Year

The Lynx trackmen finished a very successful season last Saturday at the T.I.A.C. meet. The Lynx had a record of 4 victories as opposed to 2 defeats in dual meets. This season marked the first time in Lynx track history that a team won 4 dual meets.

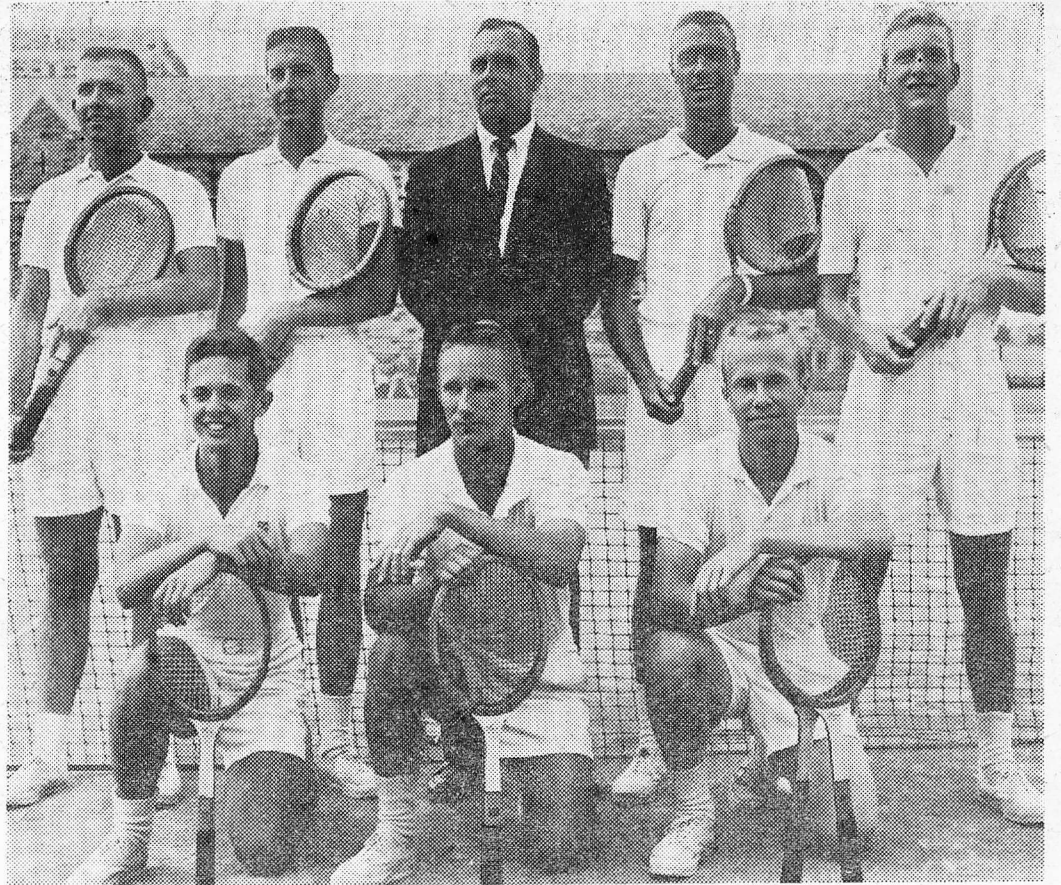

The season, though successful, had its disappointing moments also as injuries to key men never let the Lynx operate at full strength. Richard Vollmer, Lynx sprint and broad jump star, had a pulled muscle and was unable to compete in two meets. Finis Carrell, freshman quarter-miler, also pulled a muscle and could never reach his peak. Bob Welsh, the Lynx 2-miler, also injured his leg and never could run his best race. These along with numerous other lesser injuries kept Coach Freeman Marr busy figuring who would run where.

Despite handicaps the Lynx turned in very good performances and some records were broken. Morton Waller broke the high jump record. Bob Welsh, Mike Cody, and Bill Carrell bettered the times in the existing records for the 2-mile, 880, and high hurdles respectively but as the times were non-winning the old records still stand.

Cody was the leading point producer but was closely followed by Bill Carrell and Vollmer. The outstanding performance of the year was given by Cody in a dual meet with Austin Peay. Cody won the mile, 440, 880, and 2-mile and was on the winning mile relay team. This amazing feat is unparalleled in Southwestern history and Coach Marr had said, "Mike's performance was the greatest I've ever seen on the track and I'll never forget it."

Coach Marr was happy with the track season but said, "We should have won them all." Nineteen men lettered in track this year and took all of these plus a few more to make the season what it was. The support accorded the track team was the best ever and with only three seniors things look good for next year.

The Southwestern tennis squad which captured the TIAC championship for the second year in a row at Nashville this spring appears here on the campus courts. Front row, left to right, are George Crabb, Tommy Buford (TIAC singles champion for the second year), and Eric Mount (who teamed with Buford to capture the doubles crown). Back row, left to right, are Hal Henderson, George Morris, coach Derrick Barton, Walker Wellford, and Jack Biedenbarn.

7-6 Baseball Record Leaves High Hopes For Next Year

by Joe Weeks

The close of Southwestern's 1957 baseball season found the Lynx riding on a 7 won, 6 lost record thus giving them their first winning season in several years. Had not Coach Frank Horton's boys hit a midseason slump they could have compiled an outstanding record. The Lynx team this year was a well-balanced squad, but two players can be cited for their outstanding performances. C. D. Kilpatrick, the stocky redhead, with his astounding batting average of .456, and Bobby Rose, with his iron man duty on the mound, were the big sparkplugs throughout the season.

The Lynx started off fast and reached their peak when they stunned a powerful Illinois nine by a score of 9 to 6. They had previously beaten Hillsdale 6-0 in their opener, and they unleashed a torrent of base hits in walloping Millsaps 19-0. After the Illinois victory the Southwestern nine took a disastrous trip to Birmingham during which they lost 3 games to Howard. After returning to their home park they were upset by a weak Toledo nine, but rebounded by sweeping a doubleheader from Mississippi College. To close the season the Lynx split a pair with their crosstown rivals, Memphis State, lost to Union, and defeated Mississippi College in their final.

The season was marred by rain, six games being cancelled because of it. Also troublesome to the Lynx was a lack of stable pitching. Rose, the only hurler on the staff not a freshman, was forced to bear practically the entire brunt of the mound duties. The big blow to the staff came when Andy Gandy, while hurling shutout ball in the season's opener, hurt his arm and had to retire to second base. The Lynx often supplemented weak pitching with resounding bats. Four players, Kilpatrick, Rose, John Dunlap, and Joe Weeks, hit over .300 and several were christened around the coveted mark. Jettie Bowen led the team in runs batted in with 14, and he also hit a pair of homers. Southwestern's lineup received its shot-in-the-arm when Coach Horton, after the loss to Toledo, inserted freshman Jack Hoelscher into the third base slot and placed Shep Crigler behind the plate with Tom Reed. Billy Young had a fine year at shortstop and compiled a .290 swat mark.

The Lynx lost only one man from the team. Duane Hoover is transferring to Georgia Tech. The Lynx are now looking forward to next year. Coach Horton is leaving to his successor a group of veterans, well versed in winning, so it should be rather interesting.

19th Hole

by Lewis W. Bledsoe

Yes, this is your ole 19th Holer again with the very last on this year's edition of the Southwestern Golf Team. The team this year never did live up to the expectations which were predicted at the start of the season but all in all a good season was witnessed.

The team wound up the season with a not-too-lustrous 4 wins and 8 losses record, many of the matches which were lost could have gone either way, the final holes usually being a deciding factor as to the outcome. The two trips that the team took proved to be very exciting although not always too fruitful. New Orleans was the most in enjoyment and entertainment for all concerned and we Seniors will miss the jaunts down Bourbon Street next year. The highlight of the season, the Southern Intercollegiate Tourney at Athens, Ga., did not add lustre to the record but only dashed hopes and gave futile memories. The TIAC which was played in Jackson, Tenn. this year, was most enjoyable too, but as two of our top four players were unable to go we could not enter as a team. Lewis Bledsoe, Bobby Weaver and Harrison Herron made a fair showing for the Red and Black in this event, however.

Since the season is at an end I suppose a tribute should be made to the departing Seniors. John Mostellar, Lewis Bledsoe, and Billy McLean have sunk their last putt carrying the colors of the Lynx. These three were awarded gold golf balls at the Spring Sports Banquet. Also announcement was made of next year's Captain, who is Bobby Weaver. Congratulations Bob and good luck next year!

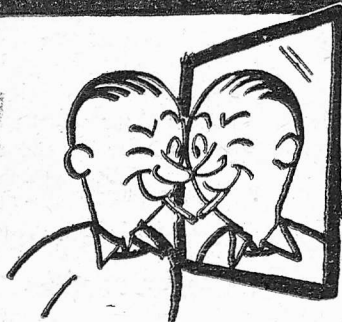

Well, it's been fun but all things have to come to an end sooner or later so as the season is over I guess I will leave you with this parting thought:

"Old golfers never die, they just lose their balls."

IT'S FOR REAL! by Chester Field

TO BE OR NOT TO BE*

Philosopher Berkeley did insist That only things we see exist. But if what's real is what I see, When I'm not looking, who is me?

MORAL: You know it's real when it's the BIG, BIG pleasure of Chesterfield. More full-flavored satisfaction from the world's best tobaccos. PLUS King-size filter action . . . a better tobacco filter because it's packed smoother by ACCU-RAY!

Chesterfield King has everything!
