Southwestern Meets Wabash Saturday

Opening Game Lynx First Test

Southwestern football gets its initial test of the 1948 season this Saturday when the Lynx squad opens its seven-game schedule with Wabash College at 2 p.m. in Crump Stadium. The Little Giants from Crawfordsville, Indiana will doubtless prove to be one of the toughest foes of the year for the Cardinal and Black, and a victory in this opening encounter could well assure Southwestern of a very favorable season.

Coach Glen Harmeson is bringing approximately one half of his 90-man squad from Indiana and consequently his charges will far outnumber Coach Al Clemens' in reserve strength. The latter mentor will have to depend largely on his first string to push over the necessary markers and hold the fleet Little Giant backs at bay.

Wabash boasts of having one of the finest centers in the Mid-West in Joe Lovas, a fine offensive pivotman and a bulwark on defensive line-backing. Other outstanding performers should be Frank Roman; who will be holding down the quarterback position for the third consecutive year, and Len Wahl who is the hardest runner on the team in the fullback slot.

Coach Al Clemens is starting ten lettermen in the fray, the only exception being Conrad Carroll, a 220 pound tackle who was sidelined most of last season with a leg injury. His back field talent is plentiful, and twelve or more performers will possibly see action.

Men's Pan Announce New Pledging Rules

At a meeting of the Men's Panhellenic Council Monday a discussion and revision of the pledging rules for those students now eligible, resulted in the following rules. All men who have completed twelve hours at Southwestern with an average of 1.2 and who wish to pledge a fraternity are to sign a list in Dr. Cooper's office by 2:00 Wednesday, September 29. Fraternities are to submit their bids by the following Saturday morning at 9:00. Bids must be picked up by the rushees before 1:00 Saturday and they must at this time inform Dr. Cooper of their fraternity preference. The new pledges are to report to the fraternities of their choice sometime after 7:00 Saturday evening.

TKA Meets Tonight

Southwestern's Chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha Debating Society will hold its first meeting of the year this afternoon at 2.00 p.m. in Prof. Totten's office. The debating schedule for the year will be discussed.

Open Houses Saturday Honor "Little Giants"

The Men's Panhellenic Council, following a successful custom started last year, has again made plans to entertain the entire student body at fraternity open houses after men's pledging, Saturday evening, September 25. The open houses will have a dual purpose this year, however. Sharing the limelight with the new pledges will be members of the Wabash football team.

The parties, to be held in each fraternity lodge, will begin at 8:00 p.m. immediately following pledging ceremonies and will continue until midnight.

Bridge, billiards, and dancing will be among features of the evening. Refreshments will be served at all houses.

As the midnight hour approaches fraternity members and their dates will gather in their own houses to sing fraternity songs.

Turner Reports On USNSA Meet

James M. Turner, Southwestern Student Body President and official delegate to the First Annual Student Congress of the United States National Students Association, returned Sept. first from the meeting place of the Congress at the University of Wisconsin with reports on its function and actions.

The heart of this student meeting was a series of workshops where college students from all parts of the United States met and discussed the problems facing them and their schools. Ideas were exchanged, information concerning accomplishments of one school were passed to the others. Among the latter were phases of student government, student exchange systems, faculty grading, and student orientation programs.

Dear Sophomores,

It is with deep regret that I resign my position as your representative on the Publications Board. But the constitution of the Board reads that no person shall be a member of both, due to conflicting duties, and my job as Ass't Editor of the Sou'wester will in some ways conflict.

Thank you so very much for the honor. I hope you will again give me the chance to serve you.

Sincerely,
FRANCES CROUCH

Frosh Registration Sets New Record

300 New Students Begin Classwork

Wednesday morning, September 15th, some three hundred knowledgeable hungry freshmen and transfers began Southwestern's one-hundredth orientation program. This is a record crowd for Southwestern and the College Administration has stretched the capacity of the school to the utmost in order to admit as many of those wishing to enter college as possible. It has in fact, stretched to the point that many students who were unable to obtain rooms in the dorms have been forced to obtain lodging in town.

The orientation program began with the assembly of all new students in Hardie Auditorium. The greater part of the day was spent in different classification and measurement tests broken by a luncheon at 1.15 in Fargason Field House.

Wednesday evening the Christian Union Cabinet entertained all new dormitory students with a picnic supper at the Campus Hearth.

Thursday brought freshmen registration and important meetings designed to acquaint the new students with the rules, regulations, and customs of the college. As a finale the Student Council entertained all new students with a Freshman Mixer in the Field House Thursday evening.

Physical examinations and chest x-rays Friday for all new students ended the orientation period with the upperclassmen registering that day also.

The college's one-hundredth session opened officially Saturday morning with a convocation held in the Hubert F. Fisher Gardens. Dr. Charles E. Diehl delivered the convocation address. Professor Thomas A. Schafer led the devotional.

Having completed the program, without a single fatality, all new students — properly capped and labeled — have settled down to the serious business of being friendly to everybody, staying off of the grass, and getting a college education.

CUC Meets Friday September 24

Tomorrow afternoon, September 24, the Christian Union Cabinet will hold its first forum type meeting of the year. The meeting will be held at 4:00 p.m. in the SAE Fraternity lodge with the topic of conversation, "The Christian College Student." Margaret Loaring-Clark, Denby Brandon, and Jimmy Davis will participate in a round table discussion followed by a general discussion. These meetings will take the place of last year's popular C.U.C. "Forums" which the cabinet has enlivened and reworked.

SCIENCE HALL

Five Join College Music Department

On Monday night, September 27, the Southwestern orchestra, with Dr. Tuthill conducting, will hold its first rehearsal in the Band House, and anyone who is interested and talented will be welcome to attend. Plans are under way for one or possibly two concerts to be given by the orchestra, featuring student soloists. The orchestra will also assist the choir in the presentation of the entire Bach B-Minor Mass next May.

The College of Music is very fortunate this year in having added to its staff five new members. Mr. Albert V. English, who has received his AB and MA from the University of Iowa, will be band director and teacher of the brass instruments. Miss Marjorie Ashcraft, of Caruthersville, Mo., will teach voice, and Miss Phyllis Thornburg, who graduated with a BMS from Drake University, will be instructor in cello and piano. Miss Mildred Seay, who has both her Bachelor's and Master's Degrees in music from the Cincinnati Conservatory, will teach piano, and Mrs. Ruth Marie Moore Cobb, from the Curtis Institute, has been engaged as teacher of harp.

Plans for the band, conducted by Mr. English, will be announced later.

Federalists Plan Meeting Tonight

Tonight at seven o'clock, the Southwestern chapter of the United World Federalists will hold its first meeting of the semester in the Tau Kappa Alpha clubhouse (between Science Hall and the Infirmary).

Planning the Federalist program for this year will be the first item on the docket Thursday evening, so it is hoped that all chapter members will make an especial effort to be present. In addition, all other students interested in world federalism are cordially invited.

"Recent developments in international affairs have injected such an urgency into this problem of world peace that the Federalist movement is growing by leaps and bounds — here and in Europe," says UWF president Irvine (Dusty) Anderson. "We're hoping the Southwestern chapter can keep pace by sponsoring some valuable discussions this year on the whys and wherefores of international harmony. So we'll more than welcome anyone interested in threshing out current problems in student bull sessions."

Southwestern's UWF chapter was founded at the end of school last semester, but the student response was so great that the group was able to complete several projects — including a panel on American political parties and a petition to Congress on the "Displaced Persons" bill — before the semester closed.

Sou'wester's Policy

The following is the general policy of the Sou'wester as decided upon by the Student Publications Board of Southwestern, which is printed in the first edition of the Sou'wester each year.

1. The Sou'wester will, at all times, be the honest voice of the Southwestern student body, of the faculty, and of the various college and student administrative bodies.
2. The Sou'wester will not be a "gripe sheet" to air personal grievances or campaigns.
3. The Sou'wester will, in a responsible manner, accuse, defend, or promote—as the situation may be. This activity will, at all times, be conducted on a highly constructive plane.
4. The Sou'wester will not contain columns of the "back fence gossip" types. Campus social news will be featured in sorority and fraternity columns especially reserved for the purpose, and in other articles as the editor sees fit. Cheap tales and personal tattling concerning the social lives of the students or faculty will have no place in the Sou'wester.
5. The duty of the Editorial Staff of the Sou'wester will be to inform, criticize, and recommend, in a straightforward, constructive, and unbiased manner.
6. There will be no racial or religious prejudices expressed in pages of the Sou'wester.

Pay Telephones Felt Justified

There has been quite a bit of discussion among the students as a result of the recent installation of pay telephones in the Boys Dorm. Before condemning this action so severely we believe it would be wise for the students to consider the other side of the question. Last year alone the school lost around one thousand dollars on long distance calls that were not paid for. The school has no way to determine the source of the call except through the honesty of the student making it. They only get the destination and the bill. Mr. Springfield went through the proper steps of moral deliberation before taking action, because he did not wish to punish all students for the sins of a few. He first wrote to all surrounding colleges and asked what they did and was told that Southwestern should have installed pay telephones ten years ago. He then consulted the Telephone Company as to whether or not it were possible to install a system whereby local calls could be made free and long distance calls by the pay system. Since this was impossible he thought of allotting each student a certain amount of nickles, but it is obvious that such a plan would not work. Hence we have pay telephones, not because the school is run by tyrants, but because a few students are not honest enough to report the calls they make.

Frosh Regulations To Be Enforced

Certain rules, regulations and traditions have been set up that all freshmen and new students of less than junior standing are expected to comply with.

The main idea of these rules is to build up a better school spirit. Without school spirit, a college would be a mere dull, dreary institution. However, with the proper spirit, these will be the most enjoyable days of our lives.

The rules that have been set up will do no one bodily harm or cause a great deal of embarrassment. We hope that the new students will cooperate fully in carrying out these rules which will be found on page 48 of the Student Council Handbook.

A "Board Committee," composed of college athletes, has been named to see that all freshman regulations are carried out and offenders will be punished accordingly. These regulations are imposed in a friendly spirit, but we owe it to the fine traditions of our college to see that they are carried out unflinchingly.

Changing Ideas On Education

The great exodus of college students in America is underway and once again our nation's most important industry begins to hum with activity. Is it just another year or is it a year which demands that each of us prepare ourselves for a new era, an era of understanding and cooperation among all men and all nations. Do we dare drift back into the gay, carefree prewar years?

During and after the recent war, American colleges were swelled with service men, a strange, new species thrust upon tradition bound institutions enjoying the ennu of the middle-aged. These institutions were forced to change their antiquated ideas and methods of teaching and to recognize change as the order of the day. They began a period of tremendous expansion not only in plants and faculties but also in vigorous, robust thinking; in short, they suddenly grew up into full manhood. As the intake of veterans becomes less and less and the recent war becomes more and more a memory, there is a danger that we may return to a less exacting and more comfortable academic life, one in which we feel free to avoid an issue, to compromise, or to isolate ourselves from a world which needs our help.

What should be our aim as we start this very important school year? Should we have lots of fun? Is not fun a part of college? The answer is yes indeed, but college life is a great deal more than merely having fun. Football, fraternities, and fun do have a decided place, for, as Dr. Hutchins has pointed out, these three F's have a decided value in training men and women for the social demands of life.

In thinking our way through the intricate maze of learning we are about to begin, first of all let us not put emphasis upon securing hours and grades at the expense of getting understanding and retaining it. If we work chiefly for grades, our real goal is lost. Recently there has been a movement underway which seeks to eliminate all grades except Pass and Fail for it is felt that grades create false standards. Too often in order to secure good grades, the student substitutes memorizing for mastery of subject material and this is a poor substitution which pays no dividends. Secondly, let us develop and

PRESIDENT DIEHL OPENS CONVOCATION

Southwestern was born one hundred years ago. The administration, faculty, and staff of Southwestern welcome all of you students into the college community of which you form a very significant part and in whose interest, primarily, we are beginning our second century of educational activity. Those of you who have been here before are familiar at least to some extent with the honor spirit and the ideals of genuineness and excellence to which, with your cooperation, we are endeavoring to attain. Those of you who are here for the first time will, we hope, soon become familiar with that spirit and those ideals, and prove yourselves, by your sympathetic and loyal cooperation, to be worthy members of what, without boasting, we dare to term a select company.

We believe in freedom under law, in the discipline of hard work, in high academic achievement, and we are deeply concerned also with morals and manners. We are the foe of that which is superficial or shoddy, and we know that one cannot get something for nothing. We do not regard a college education as a "right", but as a "privilege" which ought to be extended to those, regardless of their economic condition, who really mean to profit by it, and who are by character, mentality, and serious purpose prepared to profit by it. Southwestern is supremely the place for those students who have a high sense of honor, who are trustworthy and will not lie, who are qualified to do first class college work, who are motivated by a serious purpose, and who really want a well-rounded liberal arts education, and not merely a college degree.

For a decade the times have been fearfully out of joint, and today we face a new epoch in human history. The America which existed when I entered college is gone forever. Forces operating in the world at large have impelled the United States, unwillingly but nevertheless inescapably, into a position of dominant importance in world affairs. There has been thrust upon us the responsibility of leadership in achieving international security and laying the essential foundations for world economic reconstruction and enduring prosperity.

Three years after the cessation of hostilities, world conditions do not present a pretty or reassuring picture. Crisis after crisis abroad, intensified arming, diplomatic fiascoes, talk of another war, uncertainty, economic bewilderment, fear, hunger, age-old hatreds and national jealousies—either at home or abroad—these are the ghosts that walk the streets at noonday, and that haunt our uneasy dreams at night. There is little or no evidence that man is intelligent enough to make proper use of the new forces which his scientific genius has developed. General Douglas MacArthur has said that America's efforts to preserve peace "have been retarded by an evil spirit of greed and avarice and lust for power."

As a result of these world conditions, there are many who feel and say: "There is no hope. One more world conflict will bring the final catastrophe, and after that the mould and the fungus will take over again. All we can do is to 'die game'." Some of us, however, do not agree with these forecasters of gloom and doom. We are aware of the dangers, the tensions, the existing evils which must be recognized for what they are, and which must be cured. We are incurable optimists because we believe in a Sovereign God who is wise and kind and good, who rules the world by natural and spiritual laws, who has a definite plan and purpose for the world and for us, his selfish, stubborn, proud, and headstrong children. We believe that His will must be done, that it is possible for us to become teachable, to know and to do His holy will. Whatever we may think about the possibilities of changing human nature, we know that it is possible to gain a new point of view and to change human behavior.

This is not the first time that men have traveled along a dangerous road. The same traffic rules regulated them that govern us today. The only difference is this, that those men traveled at a slow pace, on foot or in ox carts. If they had a collision, the results were not fatal. Whereas if we, traveling the same road at eighty miles an hour, break the rules, we will bring about a major disaster. Dr. A. J. Toynbee, one of the world's foremost historians, a deeply religious man, believes that there is great hope for a modern society which will rebuild the world on a Christian foundation. In an article which appeared last month in a popular magazine, he said: "History warns modern man that nothing fails like worldly success."

In this article Dr. Toynbee affirms that patriotism has become the modern substitute for religion, and he adds "a very bad substitute, to my mind", as he illustrates his remark by references to Hitler and Mussolini. "The fanatical state-worship which we take for granted today is a peculiarly dangerous form of idolatry. So is our backward-looking belief that science can give the answers to our present problems. . . . History shows that civilizations which have depended on military prowess to survive have fallen: a soldier's skill will not solve the problems victory brings." Likewise, he feels that to expect a political solution to be found by the specialists for One World of friendly prosperous human beings is a dangerous delusion. "Man", he says, "has been very clever in gaining control over nature, but he is very backward in learning to control himself." We cannot hand the problem of world unity over to a group of scholars or specialists. The problem demands a spiritual change in modern man. Each of us has to do the job himself, beginning with himself. That is a disconcerting prospect, but, according to Dr. Toynbee, it is only by a spiritual rebirth that every great civilization has reached or can reach maturity.

These are dangerous days, but it is a great time to be alive, and to have a part in helping to solve the acute problems upon which the future of our civilization depends. We have freedom of will—as individuals, as societies. It is not necessary for Western Civilization to commit suicide. We can still shape our future for good or for evil. It depends upon our ability to replace prejudice, emotion, and ignorance with thoughtfulness, objectivity, and knowledge, and upon our determination to try to live in accord with the two Great Commandments—to love God supremely and to love our neighbors as ourselves. These fundamentals continue, as we enter upon the work of our second century, to be the goal of Southwestern's endeavor.

Southwestern has always been imbued with the spirit of public service, as its record convincingly shows. It has educated many for the Christian ministry, both at home and in foreign fields, for the professions, especially teaching, and for other vocations. Whatever the vocation, it has been and is our desire and purpose to send out men and women who feel a deep sense of responsibility for service to society. May all of you be men and women of honor and of courage, and we will try to assist you in achieving that sound learning and that real devotion which will enable you to help solve the problems of the world.

possess a common fund of ideals and convictions in order that we might stand as a strong and united group. Let us not specialize to the point where we have nothing in common. The state of the world today is a result of men and nations who do not share common, basic ideas which would permit them to live in harmony.

Thirdly, let us integrate our knowledge into a whole for it is only thus that we will be able to use it. One of the most encouraging aspects of education in the past decade has been a sincere attempt among certain colleges and universities to present highly specialized yet integrated programs of study. The University of Chicago must be cited as a leader in this movement.

Lastly, let us develop social perspective. As students of a great, liberal college, we are obligated to carefully weigh the facts and to take a stand on all vital issues of our time. Our help is needed in solving the great racial problems in our own area, the religious intolerance of our land, and the misunderstanding among the nations of the world. Education at Southwestern is a privilege and not a right. With it comes duties and obligations to our school, to ourselves, to our classmates, to our community, and to our world.

Federalist Plan Meeting Tonight

This year the World Federalists hope to continue in the same vein and present a series of panels, motion pictures and speakers on international affairs to the Southwestern student body.

S'western Honor

The Honor Council would like to remind the old students of the principles and operations of the Honor System which have been pointed out before, and which are briefly explained in the new Student Council Handbook. The Honor System has been explained to the freshmen and transfer students, and the Council expects their earnest support.

The purpose of the Honor Council is to foster the honor spirit at Southwestern. But the Council, a student organization, can by itself be only partly successful. It requires the cooperation of each student and a sense of responsibility on his or her part to enable the Honor System to function as effectively as possible.

This is your system. It's up to you to make it work.

Social Previews Of Coming Year

By Jim Davis

I didn't mind the first five hundred queries as to when we would be having any social activities on the campus, but now it has surpassed a mere mortal's capability of answering all the quizzers. Herein, hereon, and herewith I am giving a rocket's-eye view of the calendar for the coming year.

Southwestern averages about twelve formal dances each year; say we add three more for the record and call it fifteen. The majority of these are dated around the middle of the school year, namely those dances given by the fraternities. The good sisters' drags are usually staged in the early spring, and continue up until the last blow-out on the final day of school.

As the social calendar now stands the first big affair is that of the Alumni Dance on Homecoming Day, October 16. This one climaxes a full day of activities, not to mention Freshman Hazing. Homecoming Day begins with a parade through town, judging of fraternities and sororities decorations, the Southwestern-Millsaps football game, open house on frat row, and finally, the Alumni Dance.

Sigma Nu starts the fraternity dances rolling in November with their formal on the twentieth; Kappa Sigma entertains on the eleventh of December; and, the other greeks stage their brawls after the New Year. AOPi sorority hit upon a fine idea with their final blow-out ball on the last day of school. Their tentative date for the 1948-49 session in May 27.

Aside from the formal dances given by the greek letter societies, the joint Panhellenic Council entertains the student body at a formal dance at the end of the first semester.

All of the formal dates have not been arranged as yet; however, there will be a complete list of dates in the second issue.

Fraternal and sorority dances do not comprise the whole of social life at Southwestern. Open houses, date suppers, picnics, barbecues, and informal dances all

Joy Of Being An Editor

Getting out this newspaper is no picnic.

If we print jokes, people say we are silly.

If we don't they say we are too serious.

If we stick close to the office all day,

We ought to be around hunting material.

If we go out and try to hustle,

We ought to be on the job in the office.

If we don't print contributions,

We don't appreciate genius;

And if we do print them, the paper is filled with junk!

If we edit the other fellow's write-up, we're too critical;

If we don't we're asleep.

If we clip things from other papers,

We are too lazy to write them ourselves.

If we don't we are stuck on our own stuff.

Now, like as not some guy will say We swiped this from some newspaper.*

aid in rounding-out the calendar for the Student body.

This year the Independent Men and Women groups are planning their own organization on the campus, and have begun the year with elected officers. Their functions will assume an equal footing with greeks and full recognition as well.

Men and women of the fraternal and sorority orders have realized for a long time that their respective societies have been sliding into a moulding clannishness. With new blood and new feeling of inter-fraternal comradeship, we are all striving toward a greater year for all of the fraternities and sororities, and Southwestern.

The Social Committee consists of the following members: Eloise Cooper, Virgil Bryant, Jo Phillips, and Owen "Bud" Moore. With their help and the cooperation of all students on the campus, we are working for a full social calendar for 1948-49.

Shelby Forest Is Scene Of Retreat

The Southwestern Christian Union Cabinet held its annual "Retreat" at Shelby Forest, September 14 and 15. Jere Nash opened the "Retreat" with a worship program, after which Rev. Taylor Reveley spoke on "Rethinking Our Aims." The cabinet then divided into group meetings; (1) Christian Thought-Chairman, Audrey Brunkhurst, Margaret Loaring-Clark, James Bartlett, Denby Brandon and Prof. David Sprunt. William A. Jones Jr., was the resource speaker for this group.

Fay Tynes was the chairman for the second group, Christian Worship. Committee members were Paul Currie, Jere Nash and Robert Reed. Mr. James R. Weeks served as advisory speaker for this group.

John Millard was the chairman of the group on Christian Service with Mary Jane Millard, Mary Ann Ramsey, and Frierson Graves as committee members. Rev. Reveley served as resource speaker.

Highlight of the "Retreat" was an address by Prof. David Sprunt on "Positive Christian Thinking." The program was closed Wednesday morning with committee reports and the sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

Touch Football Opens Intramural Sports Here

"Intramural Touchfootball will get under way either the last week in September or the first week in October," said Athletic Director Al Clemens this week. The Men's Intramural Board met last Tuesday to make plans and schedules for this school year, but, as this edition goes to press, definite information of their decisions is not available.

In addition to Touchfootball, this year's intramural program will include inter-fraternity competition in such sports as Basketball, Softball, Volleyball, Golf, Tennis, Track, Table Tennis, and Indoor Athletics. Trophies will be presented to the organizations who are champions in the various events, and a huge Travelling Trophy will be presented to the fraternity having the best athletic average for the year.

tion in this department. The line reserves, however, are woefully missing.

Frank Boswell and Bedford Dunavent will likely draw the starting assignment at the terminals, John Thomas will be at the tackle posts with Carroll, Billy Joe Crissamore and Ray Ashley will get the nod at the sentinel positions, and Mark Harris will begin at center. Jimmy Goostree is slated to start at quarterback and Johnny Bryant at fullback, but the opening halfbacks are still in doubt. Either Sam Blair or Jack Doyle will get the call at left half, and the right halfback assignment will go to Forrest Flaniken or Bill Sparks.

Reserves who are likely to see action are Clyde Smith and Howard King, ends; Claude Hazel and John Remmers, tackles; Bill Durbin and Dick Smith, guards; Bill Cody, center; Milton Newton and Alan Smith, quarterbacks; Toby Nelson, fullback; and Vance Cartwright, Lester Crain, Tom Smith, and J. C. Seianni, halfbacks.

The only Lynxman who has thus far been unfortunate enough to be sidelined with an injury is Lonnie Stanford, who was counted on heavily for fullback duty. He will be out of action for several weeks because of a twisted knee.

CUC Forms Plans On Shelby Advance

Saturday, September 18 was a big day for members of the Christian Union Cabinet and their committee members, for that day was the day of the C.U.C.'s annual fall "Advance."

The group left Southwestern at 2:30 p.m. and retreated to Shelby Forest. Rev. Taylor Reveley was in charge of the opening devotions. Committee meetings followed which were interrupted only by Frierson Graves' announcement that dinner was ready.

After a delightful picnic supper, the group enjoyed an informal "Sing" at the lakeside. After committee reports by Chairmen Jim Bartlett, Audrey Brunkhurst, Vinton Cole, Frierson Graves, Margaret Loaring-Clark, Jere Nash, John Millard, Mary Jane Millard, Mary Ann Ramsey, Robert Reed, and Fay Tynes, Denby Brandon, president of the C.U.C., delivered an inspirational address. Margaret Loaring-Clark closed the meeting with a short devotional period.

Kappa Alpha Holds "Canada Outing"

Adanac Lodge, beautiful estate of Mrs. J. Walter Canada, was the setting for the annual Kappa Alpha rush party on Saturday, September 18, from 4 until 9 p.m.

A full program of entertainment including badminton, horseshoes, ping pong and swimming was planned for the alumni, active members, and more than 150 guests.

After a dinner of barbecued chicken, Dr. Carroll C. Turner showed color movies.

The evening came to a close as the group gathered together to sing fraternity songs.

Stylus Welcomes Creative Writing

William Marsh, president of "Stylus," Southwestern's literary organization, and Bill Hatchett, editor of the group's twice-yearly magazine, the "Journal," announce that all students interested in submitting material for possible publication should begin considering the various fields of writing with which they would like to concern themselves, and should watch this newspaper for further information about date of publication and method of submission of manuscripts.

The "Journal" this fall is to be larger in both dimensions and pages, and is expected to be published around the last of November. Any type of material is desired and will be considered; short stories, poems, one act plays, literary criticism, etc.; and acceptance of two manuscripts for publication entitles the author to membership in the organization.

Townsend, Dean of Women, and Mrs. Noble Hicks Jr., Assistant to the Dean of Women, spoke to the counselors on new rules and regulations and on how to best acquaint their counselees with the college.

Members of Theta Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity entertained with a hayride and barbecue at the Hurt plantation near Collierville last Friday night. Among guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lynn, national executive secretary of Pi Kappa Alpha; Dr. and Mrs. John Osman, of Southwestern and the University of Chicago and recently returned from Italy; Pat Clendenine, National Traveling Secretary, with Miss Mary Lewis of the National Office; and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Jolly, Sr.
