Six-Weeks Course Will Close on July 27

SEVEN ON FACULTY

Especial Stress to Be Given Teachers

Registration for the summer school session at Southwestern will be held in Palmer Hall on June 17 at 10 a. m., according to college officials. Classes will begin the following morning at 8 o'clock. The six-weeks session will end with final examinations on July 27.

Dean Robert W. Hartley, who will be in charge of the summer school, announces that all students who can meet the entrance requirements may enroll, that is, all who are graduates of either an accredited high school or who are more than 20 years of age.

Summer school credits from Southwestern will be accepted by all colleges and universities in the United States, according to the college catalog. Special students not desiring college credits may also enroll.

STRESS TEACHING

Especial attention will be given to teachers in elementary and secondary schools who desire to qualify for a teachers certificate, students from other institutions who wish to earn credits which may be transferred to the institution of their choice, or officers and teachers of Sunday schools and other Christian workers who are interested in courses in Bible and religious education.

Dean Hartley states that four courses in Bible and religious education, biology, chemistry, educational psychology, English, history, mathematics, German and French will be offered.

The summer school will be composed of Dr. Hartley, director and professor of mathematics; Dr. Francis C. Huber, physics and chemistry; Dr. A. P. Kelso, religious education and history; Mrs. Kelso, English; Dr. James B. Lackey, biology; Mr. Eric G. Haden, French and German, and Dr. W. O. Swan, chemistry.

Those desiring to attend Southwestern this summer may receive full information by communicating with Miss Annie Beth Gary, assistant registrar.

The college dormitories and dining hall will be in operation for summer school students.

Jane Hyde Chosen Chi Omega Leader

The new Chi Omega sorority officers for the coming year will be installed Friday afternoon in the chapter lodge on Sorority Row at Southwestern.

The new leaders who will assume their duties are Jane Hyde, president; Frances Gray, vice-president; Mary Douglass Watkins, secretary; Fannie Owens, treasurer; Lina Hughes, chaplain; Elizabeth Hampton, chapter correspondent, and Frances Crawford, Panhellenic Council representative.

Garrott Orders 120 Senior Invitations

Members of the senior class have ordered an average of 10 invitations each, Catherine Underwood, committee chairman, states. The invitations have not been printed as the committee is waiting for certain copy to be received from the college relative to the program.

Altho the average is 10, or a total of about 800 invitations, T. M. Garrott has done his part by placing the largest individual order, which is for 120.

Sleepy Seniors Can Doze Later

Late for Breakfast! Well, Eat at 9

Members of the senior class may sleep longer each morning thru the courtesy of Mr. Woodson Harrison, college dietitian, who has announced that special privilege will be given to seniors who miss breakfast.

Regular breakfast time is from 7:45 to 8:15 a. m. Now seniors may sleep thru the regular hour, go to chapel at 8:30 and eat breakfast in the private dining hall from 9 to 9:15 o'clock.

"Only those seniors who have attended chapel will be served at the new time," states Mr. Harrison.

FIFTY NET MEN BID FOR TEAM

Book Games Soon With Strong Teams

More than 50 men will try out for the varsity tennis team which will be picked within the next few weeks, Herman Bevis, president of the Southwestern Tennis Association, has announced.

A spring tournament will be held to select the college champion and also to help in building a team. Eligibility for the varsity will not depend solely on the showing made in the tournament. Best all-round playing at any time will also be a strong factor in the selections.

Drs. P. N. Rhodes and J. R. Ross will be the judges and will name the varsity men. The tournament will get under way as soon as the weather permits.

Games will be scheduled with Millsaps, Sewanee, Memphis Country Club and University Club, Bevis states. Southwestern will not meet Ole Miss this year because tennis has been indefinitely dropped from the Ole Miss sport list.

A co-ed tournament will be held soon to select the best woman player in school. The date has not been set.

George Parks Dies Following Sickness

George Parks, 19, who attended Southwestern last semester, but enrolled at the University of Louisville for the spring semester, died on April 3 from complications which set in following an attack of pneumonia.

His body was accompanied from Memphis to Drew, Miss., last Friday by several of the local Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity men. Burial was at Drew on April 6.

Parks was a freshman at Southwestern two years ago. Last year he worked with his uncle in a brokerage firm in Louisville. He returned here last fall to start his sophomore year. He was initiated into Pi Kappa Alpha before he transferred in February.

Swan In Charge

Dr. W. O. Swan, professor of chemistry at Southwestern, is in charge of arrangements and entertainment of visitors to the semi-annual convention of the Tennessee Academy of Science which will be held in Memphis on April 26, 27.

President Charles E. Diehl, of Southwestern, and Dr. Francis Huber, associate professor of chemistry, are also members of the Academy.

Returns Next Week

Mrs. C. L. Townsend will return the last of next week from the Isolation Hospital where she has been confined for the past three weeks with a light case of scarlet fever.

Student Council Outlaws Politicking In Spring Elections Starting May 2

Twelve Senior Members Have Full Charge of Ballots, Voting, Run-offs, Disputes

With the memories of past political fights still fresh in their minds, the members of the Student Council at Southwestern are determined to stamp out political cliques and office patronage among the fraternities and sororities.

The 12 senior members on the Council will have full charge of the coming spring election when officers will be chosen for the next school year.

"The present seniors are the most disinterested class on the campus in the coming election," President Crawford McGivaren states. "We will not be here next year, and we are in a better position to see that the right man gets the right place. We are less influenced than the other classes by fraternal affiliations and combines."

Preparation of ballots, voting, counting of votes, and settlement of any disputes which might arise, are in the hands of the following seniors: McGivaren, Warner Hall, Catherine Underwood, Luther Southworth, Harold Avent, Moore Moore, Eleanor Beckham, Dorothy Green, Mike Wailes, John Johnson, Catherine Richey and Dode Farnsworth.

PEEPING About

TO THE GLORY OF WOMEN
In days of old men got their gold
By sweat and blood and pain.
They rose at dawn and struggled on Thru sleet and snow and rain.

The filthy muck, they won by pluck,
For pluck will always win.
They used their might thru day and night,—
They never would give in.

The time was ripe for such a type Of manhood for the West:
The kind of man who says "I can,"
And always gives his best.

Their days are o'er, they are no more,
They've reached the final rung;
Their honest names and earthly fames
Are still by poets sung.

But alack, alas! the worldwise lass,
With cheeks of flaming red,
Now takes the place of such a race
Who now are with the dead.

She dyes her hair and doesn't care
What anybody thinks;
She flirts outright by day or night
With all the sheiks and ginks.

And with her charms
She wins more gold
Than with their arms
The men of old.
—Freshman Johnny Hughes.

Do you know why the Scotchman threw one of his triplets in the lake?

Rubye Sebelsky, looking at picture in contraband art magazine, "He's ugly, but look at that physique!"

It is reputed that a certain campus couple were having a good time on one of the back stairs leading from the chapel late Tuesday afternoon.
Someone happened to come up—but no one was with him. The couple were so engrossed in certain ways that they didn't see the interloper.

The faculty should pass a ruling that everyone should whistle when walking in unfrequented places.

Congratulations To The New Editors

We retiring editors of the three publications—Sou'wester, Lynx and Journal—have received the elections of the Publications Board with a great deal of approbation. No one knows the duties which these offices carry with them any better than we retiring officers.
The new editors and business managers, in our estimation, are wise selections.

It would be impossible for us to relate the peculiar sensations which were ours when we wrote the headline story in this issue.
Never in our college career have we written that so-and-so "has been elected editor of the Sou'wester for next year." As for the Journal and Annual, we have written a new story each during our four years; but of the Sou'wester, no one has been foolish enough (and this is correct) to want the weekly grind.

We rejoice with the student body that the new officers have ability, initiative, imagination (and a matured one is necessary) as accomplishments to aid them in their work.

Handling student publications is a hard job, especially when students are lax and indifferent about doing their share in writing or co-operating with the staffs. The least mark of appreciation which students can give to those who serve them thru the publication channels, is to give the new officers the heartiest aid possible.

The outgoing editors and business managers are all seniors.
Naturally we are keenly interested in our successors, not because we will have any active interest next year, but because we know what lies before them. We feel that we have successors who will carry on our respective offices with admirable success. May they profit by the mistakes which we have made, for we have "sinned" too often for the best welfare of the public at large.

It Was A Grand Open House

The present Men's Panhellenic Council should be thoroly chagrined at the magnificent failure of their final dance, which was given last Friday night. We are in accord with the vast majority of guests in decrying the "success" of what should have been the major effort of the out-going Council.

The crowd—where did it come from?—swarmed out in large uninvited numbers. No effort was made to collect bids, which was an open invitation to the flock of Memphis parasites who follow the Panhellenic dances with avid glee. No attention was given to any form of decoration, with the result that as for distinctiveness, this dance was a failure.

We contend that as only four dances are given by the fraternities at Southwestern each year, they should be carefully planned as to decorations, music, entertainment, guest list, and strict adherence to a definite prearranged plan should be followed.

The final dance given at the Elks Hotel at which only Southwestern active and alumni men could attend, was the best of the year. The incoming Council is faced with the problem of devising some scheme whereby those co-eds who would not be invited by this method could bring Memphis boys with whom they go.

Know Your Own Property

The appeal which Billy Hughes made in chapel Wednesday should strike a deep chord in the ranks of the student body. Hughes, speaking for the O. D. K. chapter, deplored the prevalent wave of "disappearing books." Books have no legs; they have no preference as to their owners. When they are "lost," they do not walk off.

Doubtless many of the "lost" books are merely misplaced books, and the owners are responsible. But many books are taken from dormitory rooms and are not returned. Many books are picked up on the campus by those who have no right to touch them.

The most honorable policy to follow is "laissez faire." What is not yours, let it be. If you want to borrow a book, ask for permission. Borrowing a book and not returning it, no matter what intentions were held when borrowed, is stealing.

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.—(IP)—About the University of Minnesota campus they're calling him "Bad Luck" McQuaid.

McQuaid is a senior in the school of agriculture, is working part of his way by tending a filling station.

For the fifth time in three months last week he was robbed while working at the station.

Co-eds Argue Old Question of Speed On Cinder Path

Two Cups Are Offered to Fastest Teams In Institution

The long-contested question as to which of the four Southwestern sororities is the "fastest," or whether the non-sorority girls have a larger consignment of celerity, will be settled via the new Lynx cinder track.

Don Fuller, athletic manager, is sponsoring the co-ed track meet, and is offering two cups, one for the sorority or non-sorority team amassing the largest number of points, and one for the class team.

Nearly every co-ed in college is anticipating a place on one of the teams. The Chi Omega, Kappa Delta, Alpha Omicron Pi and Chi Alpha sororities will enter the competition.

Mr. Fuller announces the following events—quarter-mile run, 60-yard dash, 50-yard hurdle relay (two girls to team), basketball throw for distance, baseball throw for distance, high jump, standing broad jump, 40-yard potato race, quarter-mile baton relay race (four girls to team).

After the sorority and non-sorority cup has been awarded on a basis of highest total number of points, the scores will then be computed according to class membership.

Ford Is Elected Cinder Captain

Morris Ford was an overwhelming choice of his teammates for the captaincy of the Lynx runners. Ford specializes in the broad jump, pole vault and high jump.

Ford hails from Whitehall, Illinois, where he played football, basketball and was track captain. During his high school days he was the champion broad jumper of southern Illinois.

Captain Ford will lead his fellow runners in their first meet on April 28 against Union University.

Last Minute Rally Results In Victory In First Of Series

Millsaps Come Back In Second and Win Easily 23-5

The Southwestern Lynx split a two-game series with the Millsaps Majors, of Jackson, Miss., at Hodges Field Friday and Saturday, staging a thrilling ninth-inning rally to capture the first game 6 to 5, but blowing up in the second tilt to lose 23 to 5.

Captain "Lefty" Garrott turned in his second victory Friday in two starts. The game was a presentation affair. The Lynx, after leading 4 to 1, tried to give the game to Millsaps but the kind-hearted visitors gave it back in the ninth and spoiled the politeness.

Parnell batted for Terry and grounded out. Hightower forced Garrott at second. Brigrance came thru with a smashing single and both scored when McDaniels muffed Viers's high pop-up back of second.

MILLSAPS RUN OUT

The second tilt started off like a ball game and ended like a track meet. The Lynx outthit the Majors 12 to 10 but Millsaps scored 23 runs while Southwestern eked out only five.

A parade of pitchers were used, John Porter, George Hightower and Crawford McGivaren working for Southwestern while Ellison, Simpson and N. Miller pitched for Millsaps.

T. M. Garrott slapped a home run in the seventh to knot the count and carried off batting honors with four hits in five trips to the plate.

Orpheus Charmed Satan With Sax

Stokers Paralyzed By Crooning Greek Jazz

By VERN BAUMGARTEN Music was not a lost art among the old Greeks, and of all the slide trombone players, trap drummers, piano pounders and cornet tooters, young Orpheus led the lot.

Orpheus, like other young men, fell badly in love with a young flapper named Eurydice, a warm little trick he ran into on one of his vaudeville tours.

It is not speaking well of Eurydice when the old histories state that she passed on to the lower regions, but sad as it is to relate, she did.

Hell grew pretty cold, altho there is no record of it freezing over. The devil saw that his place was losing prestige, so he told Orpheus to take whatever he wanted and beat it.

phone he was all right, as everybody listened, but when he saw Eurydice he dropped the saxophone in order to kiss her.
