WHITAKER ASKS TEACHERS PROF TO DEBATE HIM

Oratorical War Flares Over W.C.T.U. Talk

FIRE EATER IS RILED

Walton Presents Image of George In Chapel

George Whitaker, stormy petrel of Southwestern oratory, has become involved in what he believes to be an unnecessary oratorical "war." Newspaper publicity and unfavorable comment have followed the issuance of a challenge to Prof. H. S. Hincks by the Southwesterner in which the student charges Hincks with "attempting to make a fool out of him before his class at Normal."

Whitaker recently won the West Tennessee division of the nation-wide W. C. T. U. oratorical contest on Prohibition.

Prof. Hincks has assumed a conservative position after the personal remarks he is alleged to have made in class disparaging the speech of Whitaker and showing why the Normal contestant should have been awarded the decision.

Harry Walton, student body president, presented Whitaker with a scowling image of himself Thursday in chapel. Whitaker delivered a nicely turned speech of acceptance when called upon to express himself. Whatever else may be said of Whitaker he doesn't lack the ability to defend himself.

It is expected that the affair will blow over, the Normal professor resting securely on his seniority and elderly position.

Stove Spouts Music

Mrs. William Flenner, of Tiffin, O., has a stove which talks. She was sitting before the heater recently when a program from Station WJZ, New York, burst from the firebox. There is no radio in the house and the heating equipment is no different from any other group except that a metal top on the chimney is equipped with long guy wires.

Greeks Demand Decent Grade

With the black cloud of exams in the offing pledges of the respective fraternities and sororities on the campus are settling down to hard labor in order to be initiated per schedule. In compliance with the rules of Southwestern no young man may be initiated into a fraternity without passing at least four out of five subjects or four out of four if he takes only four. The school is a bit stricter on freshmen, demanding a general average of C.

The K. A. S., Kappa Sigs., A. T. O.'s, and Pi K. A. S. have not seen fit to increase the scholastic requirements for initiation and have been content to abide by the regulations set by the college. The Beta Sigs require their pledges to pass five out of five. Going the Beta Sigs one better the S. A. E.'s and the T. N. E.'s will not initiate a pledge unless he has made a general average of at least C.

All five of the sororities on the campus demand a general average of C.

College Guys Rival Samson

Stealthy feet moving cautiously in the corridor where dear old Calvin and Robb Halls rub noses on the first level. Low whispered commands and a sound of creaking and groaning. Something gives way with a jar. A grating sound of a heavy object being dragged and then lifted. The measured march of silent feet. And the door on the first floor joining Robb and Calvin Halls has disappeared into the black void of night.

Comes the dawn. Bobo, porter of the castle, toddles along on his daily inspection of the premises and finds the corpse of the door hidden on the third floor of Robb.

Rollow and assistants work feverishly to get the barrier back up to meet the insurance requirements which stipulate that the door must be kept shut between the halls.

And several college males laugh uproariously at their little joke played Tuesday night. Ain't college fun!

FINAL PANEHLL PLANS AGREED

All-Southwestern Party Idea Is Dropped

The second Pan-Hellenic party of the year will be held Monday night, February 2, at the Casino, from 9 until 1 o'clock. The music for the occasion will be furnished by Nate Evans and the ten-piece Casino orchestra. There will be four No-Breaks, two Specials, and an All-Fraternity Leadout.

Owing to the nearness of the examinations and the resulting scarcity of time, plans for an All-Southwestern party were dispensed with by the Council. However, the third of the series, which will be given in the spring, probably at Eastertime, will in all probability be for Southwestern students and alumni exclusively.

Prof. Haden Will Talk to Bible Men

Professor Eric Haden will speak to the Southwestern Bible class Sunday morning at 9 o'clock.

Professor Haden will begin a new series of talks contrasting the modern standards of living with those of Christ. He will bring out the fact that Jesus did not base living standards on wealth as most people are prone to do in the present day.

The Bible class has drawn goodly numbers with most of the dormitory and many of the town students attending. Much of this success is due to obtaining able men to address the class.

Psychology Class Has Weird Dreams According To Startling Revelations

Students List Crazy Nightmares and Seek Causes In Attempt to Explain Why We Dream

By BETTY CO-ED

Fifteen men on a deadman's chest, yo-ho and a bottle of—MILK. At least a certain would-be campus sheik says it was milk he drank while lolling upon the wing of a soaring airplane. But this daring deed was only a part of a dream about a quiet little spin in the air. And we always knew that dreams were a fantastic jumble of facts.

For instance here is an amazing assortment of dream revelations turned in by Dr. Atkinson's Psychology class. This is a yearly event.

And then there is the husky grider who dreamed that he was out in the rain and getting soaking wet.

He explains that he was awakened by a clap of thunder to find the window by his bed open and rain pouring in on him. Sounds all right.

A precipitate nocturnal excursion a la nude is another eerie creation of the same brain. Because it was unusually hot one night the subject retired minus one part of his pajama suit, and dreamed that his house had caught on fire whereupon he rushed forth in the altogether—and encountered a female! He concludes the narrative with, "Imagine my embarrassment!"

One of the big country boys imagined he was at home and happy. He dreamed that he was driving cows and awoke to find himself standing

Rollow & Company Move Giant Timber

At last the unsightly logs which have been lying between Calvin Hall and University boulevard for a month or so have been moved. It was with great effort that Johnny Rollow's crew loaded them upon a truck and hauled them off, to transform them and bring them back for more beautifying and practical purposes.

It was muscle rending for those who had to move them and heart rending for some students who stood by and sadly watched them trucked away. Many couples were known to use them, in place of the broken benches, at all hours. They afforded much amusement when they were felled because of the honey found in them.

But now that their usefulness of this kind is over, they come back to adorn the campus as little posts along the drives. Be kind to them and do not run over them with automobiles.

Jess Neely Named As Clemson Coach

Former Southwestern Man Leaves Tide

Jess Neely, former Southwestern coach who has been assistant to Wallace Wade at the University of Alabama for the last three years, was signed up last week as head coach at Clemson College in South Carolina.

Neely became affiliated with Southwestern as head coach in the fall of 1923. He moved from Clarksville with Southwestern and took up his duties as head coach in Memphis in 1925. His work with the Lynx elevens was so outstanding that officials of Alabama persuaded him to leave Memphis and he was made first lieutenant under Wade, that great master of football strategy.

Neely is a capable football man and is well deserving of his latest promotion. Clemson is fortunate in getting such a man as Jess.

SINGERS PLAN PIRATE COMEDY

Work Starts After Exams On Big Production

Intensive work on the Pirates of Penzance, a musical comedy to be given the latter part of April, will begin the week following examinations. Professor Haden has already issued a call for volunteers, both male and female, and a considerable number have signed up for the several choruses. The leading roles have not yet been officially designated, and Professor Haden says that he may select some of the principals from singers other than students on the campus. He is endeavoring at present to get in touch with Marion Bickford, a former Southwestern student, and Paul Ballard of Tupelo, Mississippi, who sang in conjunction with the Glee Club when they joined with Miss Jean Johnson's studio in presenting the Elijah two years ago.

Professor Haden is urging everyone with a suspicion of a voice to come and try out for the choruses, as there are to be twenty each in the three separate choruses of pirates, police, and daughters to the Major General.

BOBCAT SQUAD AT JONESBORO

Play Junior College Five In Second Game

Hoping to erase the sting of defeat at the hands of the Senatobia Aggies team last week the Bobcat basketball crew journeys back to Jonesboro, Ark., tonight to take on the Jonesboro Junior College five. It will be the second engagement for the junior Lynx this season.

The starting line-up for the game will be much the same as the one that started against Senatobia last week. Joe Morris and Syd Johnson will be stationed at their usual forward positions, Charley Lawhorn will play center and Wesley Busbee and Lee Hines will hold down the guard positions.

The Bobcats were handed a defeat of 44-27 for their efforts in their first engagement of the season against Senatobia Aggies last Thursday night in the Southwestern gym.

Coach Billy Hughes has been drilling his charges hard during the last week in an effort to iron out the defects and put the team to working as a unit.

Skiers Break Bones

When an ice-crust suddenly formed over the snowfields around Vienna one Sunday recently, 120 men and women skiers broke legs, arms, ankles or fingers before the alarm could be spread to all riding down the hillsides. The court yard of an emergency hospital resembled a first aid station back of a battle line.

STUDENTS PRAY FOR VICTORY IN ACADEMIC FRAY

Last Minute Cramming Goes On Full Force

Second Semester Begins February 2

Examinations are due to begin tomorrow and will continue through next Saturday with a pause only for Sunday. With the exception of the exams to be given on the two Saturdays and on Wednesday, the schedule of examinations will follow the same schedule that has been followed throughout the year in classes.

Biology 1 will be the first exam to be given and will come at 1 p. m. tomorrow, Saturday. Monday morning examinations will be given in the first hour classes of Mondays, with the afternoons being devoted to the second hour classes. Tuesday's exams will be given in the third and fourth hour classes of Mondays. Freshman English and Shakespeare for Dr. Townsend's sections will be given Wednesday morning at nine o'clock and several exams will be given in the afternoon of the same day. Thursday and Friday examinations will be given in classes that come on Tuesday and will follow the same plan used in connection with the Monday classes with respect to schedule. Biology 23 will be given on Saturday Jan. 26 and any other subjects that have not been covered up until that time.

Far, far into the night lights have been seen burning in the dormitories as the hopeful prepared for the coming ordeal. Term papers, long due have been written for presentation before the fatal hour, and the library has had its quota of delinquents in parallel readings who are trying to complete the required amount of reading before it is too late. Reviewing for the examinations and a goodly amount of cramming has been done and resolutions to study next semester are to be heard on every hand.

The second semester will begin formally on February 2 with the registration of students, and class sessions will be resumed on Tuesday, February 3.

Death Checks Historian

Sudden death of Dr. Edward Channing, has brought to an end the work of this country's outstanding historian.

Dean Hartley Has Hot Time

Dean Hartley had a hot time Tuesday night from all reports which have drifted out to Southwestern. He was present at a warm affair until things got entirely too warm for him.

Even a dean can go only so far. When they started turning on the heat Dr. Hartley decided to put a stop to things. Even small children in the street outside were noticing what was going on.

With fire in his eyes, Dr. Hartley rushed to the telephone and called the fire department—the roof of his house was on fire.

Damage was small. Jan. 20 was thus a hot date for the dean.

Lampoons

Done In A Nice Way

Teacher: Didn't I tell you to notice when the soup boiled over?
Student: I did. It was half past ten.

Painter says that there are three classes of women; those that are tardy, those that are late, and those that can't get here on time.

How much do you charge to make children's pictures?
"Five dollars a dozen"
"I'll come back later. I only have ten kids."

"Do you remember way back when they used to say 'What, no women? What kind of a party is this?'
"Now it's 'What, no party; what kind of a woman is this?'"

Just so a pretty girl fits her dress well, there's not much else she needs to be fit for.

"Say, did you ever take chloroform?"
"No. Who teaches it?"

"YES, IT TOOK HIM TWELVE LESSONS TO TEACH ME TO SWIM."

"THE CAD, HE TAUGHT ME IN TWO."

Elise: Tom is so thoughtful.
Alice: I thought you were divorcing him?
Elise: I am, he sent me the darlingest lawyer.

Bearden: "I want some notebook paper."
Miss Gates: "What size, please."
Bearden: "Oh, I don't care. Just so it fits."

Rooster: Why didn't you answer my letter?
Kate: I didn't receive it.
Rooster: You didn't?
Kate: No, and besides I didn't like some of the things you said in it.

A GIRL IS LIKE MONEY; HARD TO GET, AND WHEN YOU HAVE HER SHE'S HARD TO KEEP.

Do you think you could learn to love me?
"Well, I learned to like spinach?"

Doc Shewmaker: What four words do pupils use most?
Freeman: I don't know sir.
Doc Shewmaker: Correct.

Joe Mac: I have often marveled at your brilliancy, your aptness at repartee, your—
Newton: If it's more than a dollar, old man, I can't do a thing for you. I'm nearly broke myself.

SUE TO LOU

Dear Lou:
I have been trying to find time to write you for the past week, but because exams are right here staring everybody in the face (specially me, it seems) time is dreadfully hard to find.

The basketball team has made off for parts unknown to show people what basketball really is. Here's hoping they do all the big things they are planning to do!

The girls basketball has gotten under way during the past week. The juniors are ahead so far. They defeated the seniors and the freshmen in a couple of exciting battles. The freshmen and the sophomores stopped at the half Monday with the freshmen a little in the lead. Anne Galbreath is a star, if you haven't seen her play you have a treat in store. The inter-sorority tournament starts not long after the new semester begins. We shall see some basketball then.

I wonder what's the matter? I haven't seen Harriet Shepherd and Johnny McFerrin together lately. Is there trouble or is it just because exams are so near? I wonder!

My goodness, I know that you are ever so tired of hearing about all the weddings and engagements, but people will do things like that. This time it is a sophomore, Grace Carkeet. I dare not tell you who the lucky boy is. You probably don't know him and anyway she's keeping it quiet. You have my permission to ask her tho.

BASKETBALL VS. EXAMINATIONS

We often hear the cry of sports interfering with academic work. Although much of such talk is not founded on fact some of it is true and should be listened to.

This week the basketball team went to Jackson to play Millsaps college. Exams begin Monday. If the basketball men are like the rest of us they need all the time they can get to prepare for examinations. Trips at such a crucial time as this are to be deplored.

Next week, during examinations, there will be basketball games at night. No matter how much the team enjoys a good fast game and no matter how much the spectators like to sit in on the games they seem highly out of place until something more important, even if more distasteful, is out of the way.

A LITTLE WORD OF THANKS

Southwestern eds and co-eds have taken to Ping-Pong with great enthusiasm.

The table was built and given to the college store by the Dr. Pepper Co.

Not only is the table good advertisement for the firm which so kindly donated it, but it is the result of sincere good will on the part of the salesman who noticed the lack of a suitable table not long ago.

We want to thank the Dr. Pepper Co. for the courtesy and kindness they have shown us.

EXAMINATIONS! LET'S PASS THEM

That age-old cry of examinations is pounding like seven demons in our ears and will continue to pound for several days to come.

Every year somebody has to urge students to study for their examinations. Too often the warning is not heeded. It occurs so periodically that it loses its effect.

But this year more than ever before each student ought to see that he passes his work in every class. Families back home are hard put right now to keep their sons in college. Money is conspicuous by its absence. Let's not add our failures to the already heavy burdens of many of our families.

Remaining in college now is a distinct saving instead of an added expense. With jobs as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth it is better for men to be engaged in preparing for a bigger and better future than to be out looking for a little job. When good jobs and good money walk hand in hand then is the time to begin work, perhaps. Family fortunes would be augmented. But now is the time to stay in school.

Red Veazey spent last week-end at her home in Coldwater, Miss.

Well, I don't suppose that you have heard about the new addition to the Radiator-Sitters Association. None other than that lady-killing George Hightower and Louise Barbee. I guess that will give you something to think about.

Well, I must go and do a bit of cramming! Pray for me! I will write you all the news after the new semester is started. (That is, of course, unless I am not here then.)

Always yours,

Marion Painter

Marion Painter, president of Phi Chapter, Kappa Sigma, was born in Caney, Kansas, on October 14, 1910. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Painter, of Memphis. He graduated from Central High in June, 1927.

Marion is recognized as a leading social lion, but he has also managed to do a number of other things on Glee Club and of the Southwestern the campus. He is president of the Players; and a member of the Pan-Hellenic Council, A. P. O., the Lynx Club, Thirteen Club, Press Club, and the Stylus Club. Last year he was a member of the Sou'wester and Lynx staffs.

Last of Mohegans Still On Warpath

Norwich, Conn.—(I.P.)—The last of the Mohegans are on the warpath. They have fared forth to fight what they term encroachment of the white man on their hallowed precincts and they have armed themselves with the legal weapons of their pale-face brethren, instead of the more destructive instruments of their forefathers.

The Mohegans, or their descendants have brought suit in Superior court against the State of Connecticut, its attorney general, the city and town of Norwich and others, demanding $1,000,000 for the alleged desecration of a small Indian burial ground near here, in which the body of the great Sachem, Chief Uncas, supposedly is buried.

THE RASBERRY SPECIAL
Then there was the Raspberry pride and joy of two years ago. That was in truth a noble vehicle, but very few people remember it because it stayed only a short time. In that time, however, most of the student body had the hood covered with names, addresses, telephone numbers, and hearts with arrows through them. It also had the added rumble seat, but this one was of the tin variety such as one sees in the high class racing cars of bygone days. "Razz" used only Esco, kerosene, Mufti, gin, and tobacco juice for fuel.

Now that Raskob's Ford has appeared on the campus there is still room for speculation as to whether it runs. No one has ever seen it running, but Raskob claims it really does. However, we know those old timers did, because many a sore arm was caused by something besides baseball practice.

AND THE TWIN CARS
Then there were the twins: Aristides, the sole property of Bob Sanders; and Alcibides, the property of Maclin B. Riley. Aris as she was sometimes lovingly called, was of the same vintage as Jake's chariot in respect to chassis, but as to the motor—there Henry made a noble experiment. No. 8,900,251 was turned out in 1920. Aris was a sport phaeton with permanently lowered top and sound effects. It cranked with utmost ease; just like juggling the Chrysler Building.

Alcibides was the aristocrat—she had a starter. Of course it never worked, but then you cannot have the glorious parade of the bolt and nut strewers, it must be remembered that in the campus existence of one reporter there can be many Fords which are important enough to be written of, but time is limited. Many of you will remember the source of Jake Fleming's pride when out of the air. You could see the glow of pleasurable excitement emanating from the inmost depths of his sensitive soul when he loped on the campus. The vehicle was coined in 1914 and had the added feature of a wooden bench for a rumble seat. It gave one quite an ecclesiastical air to ride in it. The motor ran occasionally, but when it did, there could be no criticism thereof. The only trouble was to quell its animation once that magnificent power plant got started. Switch keys were only a gesture to the Ford—its ardor was undimmed. The most effective way to stop it was the time-honored method of killing via the "low gear plus brake" method. The final touch was the radiator cap which consisted of a very red rag. Jake's color scheme was a mild green and yellow pleasingly blended.

Inquisitive

The question for discussion at this direful era in the history of the school is: "Do you cram for examinations?" We have it on reputable authority that Franklyn Kimbrough has been storing away vast amounts of knowledge for the past two weeks.

In answer to this question Schuyler Lowe says: "Although it is quite distasteful to one of my years and mental incompetency to burn the midnight oil I estimate that I have burnt at least four whales full. For even though with depression the price of whale oil is relatively much higher than usual, still one must pass."

Miriam Heidelberg kindly responds: "I have never had much experience with examinations, but I think that cramming is a foolish waste of time. My philosophy is 'If you don't know it now, you can't learn it by cramming'. However, for those who like it, I can't say that cramming is entirely an evil."

Sylvester Thorn with his usual sagacity informs us thus: "MY classes are not sufficiently interesting to cause me to study during the term. Wherefore, it naturally follows that I must cram to pass. I think that anyone with average mind can cram for an examination and pass it with two days study."

Grace Carkeet says: "I find it absolutely necessary to begin studying intensively two weeks before exams. I fear that I am not capable of assimilating enough learning under the professor's hegemony to pass a course by merely attending his classes."

Under due persuasion, Russell Cross consents to set forth his opinion. "That I have to cram, and that I think everyone else should, has long been my opinion. I can't understand how anyone could value himself so highly as to think that he could pass any subject by listening to the professor."

Lynx Basketeers Drop First Game To Millsaps In Four Tilt Series 60-42

Wickermen Get Rough and Three Players Put Out of Game for Personal Fouls

Southwestern's basketball team failed to stop the first half attack of Millsaps College at Jackson, Miss., Tuesday night and dropped the opening game of their four game set, score 60 to 42.

Millsaps took an early lead which they held throughout. Southwestern trailed at halftime by 12 points.

In the last half Southwestern fought the Majors on fairly even terms but were unable to overcome the Majors early lead.

The game was very rough with two Major players and Herbert Newton of the Lynx being eliminated on personal fouls.

Passeau, Major center, was high scorer with nine field goals and five free throw efforts. Chauncey Barbour, Lynx star forward, trailed him with 16 markers.

Southwestern Wins Two of Three Down Hattiesburg Twice. Lose Tilt to Union

Flashing an offense that was well nigh impossible to stop, the Southwestern Lynx defeated the highly touted Mississippi State Teachers College twice last week. Friday night the score was 43-37 and Saturday night the Lynx duplicated the performance by scoring a 43-25 victory.

Both games were spirited and each team showed a lot of fight, with plenty of rough stuff mixed into the play to give the games a little more spice.

In the game Friday night the Lynx gained an early lead and were not threatened until the last minutes of play when the Tutors made a determined effort to overcome the lead and were almost successful until Coach Willis McCabe made several desirable substitutions and the rally was stopped.

In the last game Southwestern early took the lead and just breezed through the rest of the game. The Lynx showed that they are improving with every contest.

Sheriff Knight was by far the outstanding man for Southwestern in shooting goals. He had his eye fixed squarely on the basket in both contests and was dropping them in from all angles. Captain Charley Diehl and Herbert Newton were the outstanding floor men for Southwestern. Chauncey Barbour, starting his second game of the season, helped the Lynx cause considerably by scoring several points.

The Lynx were defeated in their first conference game with Union last week, score 37-35. The game was nip and tuck all the way with Southwestern taking the lead one minute and the Union Bulldogs the next. The game was decided in the last minute of play when Logan, guard for Union, made a field goal from the middle of the floor.

in the middle of the bed shouting. And he also had the nerve to imagine a hot debate between Dr. McDougall and Dr. Shewmaker, on the subject of prohibition.

Huckleberry Finn up to his usual pranks is responsible for this dream of a perfectly sane young man who imagined that he was floating down the Mississippi on a pool table and shooting bullfrogs on the bank. He also relates a dream in which he fancied himself going around curves all night. The explanation that it was due to some 350 miles of driving over a curving road the day before is plausible.

Other dreams, having all the earmarks of nightmares, include fancied flights from pursuing lions or wolves. Imagine one person's horror when she discovered that a lion was chasing her and she could not make her feet move. Or imagine the disappointment of the student who dreamed that a robber climbed in the window and shot at his roommate—but missed!

SPORT SCRIBBLE

By PALMER CHAFFER
A well known authority on basketball—none other than Dr. Walter E. Meanwell of the University of Wisconsin—says that games scheduled just before and shortly after semester examinations will invariably be played poorly.

Scholastic examinations, he states, entail mental strain, late hours, and anxiety as to the outcome—all of which combine to cause staleness and weakened conditions among the players.

Southwestern will play a half dozen contests which fall under the head of danger points in the schedule.

The Lynx will have played, at the time of this publication, two games with Millsaps College. A pair of tilts are booked here against the same team during the week of examinations, and shortly after the exams are over, Southwestern will meet Louisiana College here for two games.

Southwestern is about on a pair with these two teams. It will be interesting to note the success of Coach Willis McCabe's charges in these six games.

Our new athletic director, Jimmie Haygood, was with us for a few days last week; but he left without giving the slightest hint as to who and how many assistants he will have next season.

All of which causes us to wonder more and more about the status of Webb Burke.

O'Goofy thinks maybe those in power were not completely sold on Burke as an athletic director, and when Burke asked for more money as a seasonal coach in order to tide him through nine months he is not coaching, thumbs went down with a loud pop.

This column would like to see Webb Burke back next year as varsity football coach. His past record is explanatory.

And no slams are intended for Haygood. We are pretty well acquainted with Haygood and are sure he is going to make Southwestern a very fine coach. He has plenty of experience, having been in the coaching business for 25 years. His personality will win him strong backing in Memphis.

But when a coach succeeds in building up a sport which certainly had been floundering, he does not deserve to be cut adrift without a fuller explanation.

Zeta Tau Alumnae Schedule Benefit

The Zeta Tau Alpha alumnae will give a benefit bridge party Saturday afternoon, Feb. 7 at the Nineteenth Century Club. Tickets will be on sale for $1.00, the proceeds to be used to help pay for the Zeta lodge which was recently erected on the campus.

Janice Coke will have charge of the sale of tickets. The active members of the sorority will sell the tickets during the first week after exams.

During the afternoon a chest of linen will be raffled off at twenty-five cents a chance. Individual and table prizes will be given. Pledges will serve refreshments.

Einstein Shakes Mittens for $3

Pasadena, Calif., (I.P.)—Where he to grant all the requests for autographs which he receives daily, Prof. Albert Einstein, great philosophical scientist, would find no time to even read the morning paper, let alone accomplish whatever it is he came here to accomplish.

But Mrs. Einstein revealed recently that if folks are anxious enough to have his autograph to be willing to pay, say $3 a piece for them, he will be glad to sign.

But don't get the idea that this is
