MEXICAN SENOR TURNS OUT AS A RANK IMPOSTOR

Poses as Cousin of Ramon

ARRESTED SATURDAY

Authorities Plan to Send
Youth Back Home

Posing as the nephew of President Ortiz Rubio, as the cousin of Ramon Novarro, and as a man of general renown and importance, Jose Luis Samaniego, formerly a new student at Southwestern, was well on the way to become one of the school's most colorful characters, when Dr. M. W. Storn, who was instrumental in getting him entered in the school, broke up his little game and turned the new student over to the Memphis police. They made investigations and found that he was an impostor and was guilty of violating the immigration laws.

The new student matriculated Saturday morning, and through the help of Dr. W. M. Storn and Dr. H. J. Bassett had secured a room in one of the dormitories.

His fame spread fast and furious. He at once struck the heart strings of all of the co-eds with his supreme courtesy and gentlemanly manners. What's more, he had carried his

Griffin Shocks His Economics 42 Class

Members of the Economics 42 Class have been using the latter part of this week in an effort to recuperate from the shock they received Tuesday morning when Prof. C. H. Griffin, apparently with no good reason at all, let the class out before the bell had rung.

Prof. Griffin is a true economist in every sense of the word. He has made the study of the science of economics his life work, thereby earning money to buy shoes, clothes, and other incidentals of every day life. Furthermore, he believes in not throwing away good time in his classes. His policy is to keep the students in until the tap of the bell and, if possible, a few minutes afterward.

Becoming accustomed to his policy of conservation, the shock of getting out before the bell last Tuesday was too much for the exuberant students. They marched slowly, but cheerfully, out of the class room with the hope that there was nothing seriously wrong with the professor.

He gave as a reason for his unexpected action the fact that he had a light case of the flu, and that it was a hard matter for him to keep going with the lecture. The students accepted his statement without argument or protest.

Malcolm Richie Orates

Malcolm Richie, wielder of potent phrases and equally potent thought, addressed the Nitist Club, philosophical group, last night in the Bell Room on the subject "Liberty or Repression."

The meeting waxed fierce as verbal barrages were thrown back and forth over the center table. As usual, the philosophers divided into two elements, radicals and conservatives.

All students interested in discussion of a philosophical nature were invited to attend. Coffee was served.

Adelaide Anderson and Leon Webb are Youngest Members of Freshman Class

Survey Shows Startling Facts Concerning Ages of Southwestern Eds and Co-Eds

Sweet sixteen and never—well, you can ask Adelaide Anderson about the rest of that. But anyway, she is the only girl in the school who can lay claim to only sixteen summers.

Freshman Leon T. Webb is the youngest of the eds. He and three other Freshmen are just sixteen. Twenty-one of the Freshman class have chalked up seventeen years, and fourteen can count a total of eighteen years. Because of the number of Freshmen who were somewhat late in starting their college careers, the class average stands at about nineteen. The oldest Freshman is twenty-three.

The oldest Sophomore is 28; the youngest, Garrett Ratcliff, is 17. Between the two extremes comes a mean of something like 20.

The average age among the Juniors is somewhere between 20 and 21.

PAPER PUTS ON GIRLS TOURNEY

Girls Will Wield Paddles In Ping Pong Matches

The recent Men's Ping Pong Tournament aroused such enthusiasm among the boys that the Sou'wester will sponsor a similar tourney for the girls, to determine the singles champion of the college. Unless at least sixteen girls turn in entry blanks the tournament will be automatically called off. More than a score of girls have already indicated that they would sign up for the matches should a tournament be staged.

The same methods will be used in running off this tourney as was used with the boys. A box clearly marked "Girls' Ping Pong Tournament," is in the college store now. Anyone wishing to enter the tournament must fill out the entry blank found on page three and put it in the box not later than 1:30 Monday afternoon.

The entry blanks will be put in a hat and drawn impartially by the editor. The players will be entered in the brackets in the order in which they are drawn from the hat. The schedule will be posted in the store as soon as possible. Announcements will be made from time to time in chapel to give the dead line on the respective rounds.

The semi-finals and finals will consist of the best two out of three sets. The early rounds will be decided by one set.

This tournament is made possible by Dr. Pepper, who has donated the ping pong table to the students.

MacQueen Issues Alumni Magazine

The spring number of the Southwestern Alumni Magazine, which is issued four times a year under the editorship of Professor M. L. MacQueen, was circulated about ten days ago to subscribers and other members of the Southwestern Alumni Association. Over eight hundred copies were sent out this time.

The magazine is the official organ of the Southwestern Alumni Association of which Professor MacQueen is secretary

Ogden Baine Will Study In New York

Ogden Baine will continue his education next year at New York University. He has received a Junior Teaching Fellowship which will include his tuition and eight hundred dollars for the school year. Each week he will give ten hours instruction, eight hours of laboratory work and two for quizzes.

Evidently Ogden has a great love for his chemistry. Besides his teaching, he is taking three courses in this department at the University. After two years he will receive his Master of Arts degree and will continue his work for his doctor of philosophy.

Ogden will graduate from Southwestern in June with 145 credit hours. He is reading for honors in mathematics under Dr. Hartley and chemistry with Dr. Huber as supervisor. For three years he has been lab assistant in chemistry, and math assistant for one year.

Classes Cook Plans For Carnival Night

Plans for the April Fool Carnival are coming along in great style. The king, Mr. Harry Walton, and the queen, Miss Meredith Davis, are to be dressed in formal attire for the occasion, and the court will wear costumes of all descriptions as will the other participants. No one will be admitted without costume, and a prize will be awarded for the best one. The gym will be artistically decorated in the school colors, red and black, for the gay event.

There will be many and marvelous side shows and freaks. Two stunts will be given by each class, a negro wedding and an operation by the freshman class, a minstrel show by the sophomore class, and a take-off on a stylve show by the juniors.

Raise Fund Quota

In three days of volunteer subscriptions the amount desired from the student body of Southwestern was more than raised. Due to the fact that the students had so liberally subscribed to the unemployment fund recently it was decided that the sum of twenty dollars would be a sufficient amount for a contribution to the Community Chest. Boxes were passed around in chapel and a box was left out in the hall in front of the auditorium for any subscriptions to be put in. The first day netted $6.01, the second $3.46, and the third $11.91, a total of $21.38.

DOCTOR YOUNG WILL SPEAK AT EASTER VESPER

Services Will Be Held In Hardie Auditorium

BEGIN AT 5 O'CLOCK

Song Program Arranged
By Christian Union

The Rev. T. K. Young, pastor of the Idlewild Presbyterian Church, will give an address at the vesper services to be held in Hardie Auditorium at 5 p. m. on Sunday, March 29th. This service, the last of its kind for the year, will be the Easter vespers and the music has been chosen with this fact in view.

Rev. Mr. Young, who is to give the address, has not been in his present pastorate very long, having recently come to Idlewild from Roanoke, Virginia, where he had a church. Previous to his pastorate at Roanoke, he was located in Lexington, Va., the home of Washington and Lee University. He was very popular there with the students and is therefore expected to meet with great approval of the students in his address here Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Young attended the Union Seminary in Virginia.

The program for the vesper service Sunday will be as follows:

- Prelude
- Chanson Triste.....Tschaiowsky
- Violin Solo by William Morehouse
- Processional
- Come Ye Faithful.....Arthur Sullivan
- Prayer.....Dr. E. D. McDougall
- Old Testament Scripture
- Response—Gloria Patri
- Russian Easter Hymn
- Alleluia, Christ s Risen...Kopolyoft

Forensic Boys Will Fuss On Free Trade

The next intercollegiate debate for Southwestern will be on March 31, when the local Disciples of Demosthenes encounter Millsaps in Hardie Auditorium. The subject will be Free Trade. The verbal artists who will represent Southwestern have not been definitely named, but two of the following will be chosen: Hull, Ritchie, Hayhoe, Berson, Mitchell, and Oliver. The foregoing will undoubtedly be the varsity debating team this spring.

It is very probable that Southwestern will participate in a radio debate with Princeton University over WMC. This event will take place during the early part of April.

Other dual debating meets pending are University of Tennessee on April 10, and Davidson on April 16. However, the biggest event on the program will be the convention of Pi Kappa Delta, the national debating fraternity, at Centre College. This tournament will consist of debates, extemporaneous speeches, declamations, and orations. If plans materialize, Southwestern will be well represented at this convention.

Lampoons

Done In A Nice Way

A dumb waiter is a fellow who asks a girl for a kiss and then patiently waits until she says "yes."

H. Walton argues that women are wearing fewer clothes nowadays. If you don't believe it, look at the figures.

Male on the telephone: "Guess who this is?"

B. Hagan: "Make a noise like a kiss."

Pitt: "Which would you prefer to be—rich or beautiful?"

Richie: "I should like to be rich, too."

Joe McKinnon: "I'm going to take up horseback riding. It will increase my social standing."

Johnny Hagan: "I don't know about the social part."

Jeff: "You look rather broken up, what's wrong?"

Hinson: "I wrote home for money for a new study lamp."

Jeff: "Well, what of it?"

Hinson: "They sent me a study lamp."

Lorraine: "Why did you buy that referee's whistle?"

Red: "I have a date with a football player tonight."

Love thy neighbor as thyself, but don't let your wife catch on.

Cabiness: "Say, give me a box of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylic Acid."

Druggist: "You mean aspirin?"

Cabiness: "Yeh, I never could think of that name."

Passenger: "Captain, there's a girl stowaway on board this ship."

The Captain: "Tell her to hide in my cabin."

Fred: "Did you quit your work in the shirt factory? I saw you down town this afternoon."

Carl: "No, we are making night shirts this week."

Dentist (to patient who is opening her purse): "No, don't bother to pay me in advance."

Jimmy: "I'm not. Don't worry I was only counting my money before you give me gas."

The story is told that a politician when informed by the nurse that he was the father of triplets, immediately demanded a recount.

CLEARING HOUSE

Editor's Note: Anyone wishing to air an opinion about anything appertaining to Southwestern college life may place his or her views before the public through the Sou'wester. Write a letter to the "Editor of the Sou'wester," but sign your real name. If you do not want your name to appear under your letter, say so and the editor will see that your article appears in the paper under an anonymous name. No letter will be published unless the editor knows the identity of the writer.

LETTER

Dear Mr. Editor:
In answer to a recent letter in the Sou'wester which was unintelligible to the average student, and which unjustly criticized the Honor Council at Southwestern, we wish to express our support of the Honor Council and its policies.

In the first place, the author of the letter exhibits a deploring ignorance of the Honor System. He states that justice is not tempered with mercy. How can he know how far mercy has gone in the case when he knows nothing of the necessarily secret investigation of the Council? He has not seen the evidence against the offender and is therefore not qualified to say that justice has not been tempered with mercy. We have not seen the evidence either, but we feel sure the Honor Council has done all it can do toward tempering justice with mercy.

With a flow of eloquency he calls the members of the Honor Council "Judiciary Executioners." He seems to think members of the Council take savage pleasure in convicting helpless students. We are quite sure that this is untrue, and should he question such members as we have done, he would be convinced too.

The Honor Council members are

LOST ARTICLE BUREAU

It is evident to the students that too much time in chapel is being devoted to announcing lost articles. Every morning, Harry must needs hold up four or five fountain pens, gloves, compacts, or what not, and ask the owners thereof to see him about recovering their property. This job is by no means relished by Harry. As president, he must announce these articles simply because the college has, at the present, no means of contact between the owners and finders of lost property. It is not fitting with the dignity of the office that the president of the school be made a repository for everything that is lost around the campus.

There should be a special bureau created in the college to take care of lost articles. Students who have lost or found anything could report to the one in charge of the bureau and see what could be done about it. It is argued that the students would not take an interest in lost articles unless the loss is advertised in chapel in the mornings. This is just another argument for the bureau. If the owners fail to call for their property by a specified time, a public auction could be held in the college store or out on the campus and the money derived from the sale of unclaimed property could be given to the student council. In this way a source of revenue could be provided for many worth-while projects which the council would carry through had it the money.

HELP ANGELO

The gravity of the unemployment situation is brought home to the students of Southwestern in the form of Angelo, former employee of the school, who has been selling apples on the campus for over two months. To see this able-bodied worker standing around earning a mere pittance is depressing. Angelo does not like to sell apples. He honestly wants some hard labor to rebuild his strength which has been weakened by hours of standing in the cold winter winds.

Spring is really here now and every family in town will soon be cleaning house or starting work on the yard. Why not let Angelo do this work? Years of experience at Southwestern have made a first-class handy man of Angelo. He can cut grass, repair fences, and clean houses as well as anyone, and he needs the work. He doesn't ask for charity. He wants honest work.

It would be bad enough if Angelo were alone in the world, but he has a wife and family to support beside himself. This is not a sob story. It is a harsh fact. Help Angelo.

SUPPORT THE COLLEGE CLUB

It is a depressing thing to see the students of Southwestern failing to support and back the very thing that they have been clamoring for over a period of years. Always there has been the desire for All-Southwestern parties where attendance could be regulated, where students could be sure of finding the crowd gathered at one place. Bill Brinkley started up the College Club, believing that the students really wanted such a meeting place on Saturday nights and would turn out. The students do want the college club. The opinion on the campus is overwhelmingly in favor of it, but for some reason or other, the students do not back Bill.

It is indeed perplexing why the students do not attend the College Club dances on Saturday nights in greater numbers. There are very few people on the campus who do not like Brinkley's music. Many have returned from the club with nothing but praise. The management has left the matter of attendance regulation entirely up to the students. The dances have been, for the most part, cleaner than other dances in the city. The hall is beautifully lighted. A good but small crowd is always on hand. What more can the students ask?

Bill has announced that unless a good sized crowd turns out for the dance tomorrow night, the College Club will have to be given up as a failure. It is earnestly hoped that the student body will not allow such a desirable thing as the College Club meet such an ignominious end.

elected by the student body and if they are to be called "judiciary executioners" the whole student body is guilty of the same offense, for they have put the men in office. The author of the letter, if he wants the Honor System at all, wants it without force to act. A passive organization like this would be useless. It would be only a semblance of the Honor System at Southwestern and violations would pass unmolested. It is unfortunate that the Honor System must be carried out forcibly, but since other means have proved useless, force has necessarily been resorted to. In time, the ideal Honor Spirit instead of Honor System will prevail at Southwestern, but until that time, the Honor Council will be necessary.

We resent his unfair statement that students have "banded together and performed barbarously cruel indecencies in the name of the Honor Council." Members of the Honor Council are elected by the student body as a whole and do not seek office. Just because the dirty work of treating offenders falls on the Honor Council is no just cause for accusing the Council of performing "barbarously cruel indecencies."

In closing, we want to say that we stand strongly for the Honor Council as a necessary organ of the Honor System. Until the Honor Spirit prevails at Southwestern we feel that the Honor System deserves the support of every student.

SUE TO LOU

Dear Lou:

Along with all the other stupids, I am suffering from re-exams—that dread disease. I knew I'd catch it sooner or later. In spite of that, though, I always manage to find time to scratch you a line—well—Here tis!

I've been awfully busy working on the April Fool Carnival. You know Harry Walton is the king. I think the choice is perfect. Harry is so-o-o cute. Remember the carnival last year? I had a grand time till someone put peanuts down my back. I hope he enjoyed it.

I can hardly wait for the T. N. E. party. (They put me with the cutest boy!) Their costume party last year was a whiz. I have a jumbled impression of big mugs, balloons, confetti, and Elizabeth Alley with a mass of long hair down her back.

Spring is getting almost too complicated with all the fraternity parties, spring fever and all fancies turning to—you know the rest. My studies are being sadly neglected.

The Kappa Delta party was grand! If you could have seen Margaret Kimbrough and Schuyler Lowe dancing the lead-out you would have no doubts.

The College Club dance last Saturday was too good to be true. You just ask Dan Ross if it wasn't fun. Guernsey Livaudais sang some of the no-breaks. He had a stick of dynamite in his pocket—and I know why! I'll tell you, but be sure to keep it under your hat. He was gonna blow up anyone who said anything about the flowers he sent Grace Rowland last week.

You should see the big rush Coach Razz gives Jane at every dance. Could he be smitten? If so, there may be another triangle on the campus.

Jeff and Jerdonne looked sweet dancing the K. D. lead-out at the Century Club. Jerdonne was completely overshadowed by her big, brawny date. Well, "Oiseau," as the farewell saying is.

NOVEL CONTEST BEGINS TODAY

Best Essay Will Win Five Dollar Prize

Believing that students of Southwestern have many useful suggestions under their hats concerning the welfare of the school, the Sou'wester will conduct an essay contest to bring these useful ideas to the front. A cash prize of $5 will be awarded the winner of the contest.

The title of the essay will be "The Most Needed Thing on the Campus." Essays are limited to 250 words or less. Anybody may compete. All essays must be laid on the editor's desk in the Publication Office by midnight, April 15.

If possible, typewrite your essay. By all means do not try to be funny. This is no humorous affair. Strike at some needed reform and strike hard. Don't mince words. All essays must be signed of course. Unsigned essays will be ruled ineligible for the prize. Grammatical accuracy is not as important as depth of thought.

The Sou'wester will print the prize-winning essay and will turn all essays containing useful suggestions over to the president of the student body for consideration.

This is a chance to help the school and win a prize at the same time.

MEXICAN SENOR IMPOSTOR

scheme out so well that he had succeeded in borrowing ten dollars from President Charles E. Diehl.

He gave as a reason for entering the college the fact that he was a friend of Dorothy Jordan, movie star and former Southwestern student, who advised him to enter this school in his effort to master the English language.

With the process of registration and matriculation completed the senior's next problem was to secure some money. He was taken to Dr. Diehl by Earl Howry, who helped him to solve his problem by lending him $10. Dr. Diehl quizzed him and finally decided that he was truthful.

"He said he was expecting a check from his father who was in New York on business. I offered him $5, but he declined, saying that he would rather have $10. So, I let him have it," said Dr. Diehl.

Dr. Storn was delighted with the new student as it gave him an opportunity to converse with someone in his favorite language. Senior Samanigo proposed to know several people in Mexico City with whom Dr. Storn is intimately acquainted.

In their conversation Dr. Storn became suspicious, after the new student failed to show his immigration papers. Thereupon he called the hotel where the Mexican was supposed to have been registered and found that no such person was registered there. The information was immediately turned into police headquarters, and they started work on the case.

The investigation proved the up-setting of Samanigo's well laid plans. He was arrested in Robb Hall Saturday night at 11 o'clock by three detective sergeants, after Howry had kept him busily engaged in a conversation in one of the rooms in Robb Hall for more than an hour.

At police headquarters, Samanigo admitted that he had slipped into this country through California about seven months ago. Since then he has been traveling over the country.

When asked why he had deceived the authorities, he answered that he wanted an education and felt that if he could enroll in some college, his parents would pay his expenses.

Lynx Team Works Out In Scrimmages

As Southwestern winds up its fourth week of spring gridiron practice under the supervision of Coaches Jimmy Haygood and Jess Neely, there is a stout feeling of confidence coursing the campus that the Lynx of 1931 will be a faster and more powerful aggregation than last year.

Since the first of March Coach Haygood has been drilling his charges in blocking and charging, with plenty of scrimmages interspersed to give the candidates an opportunity to display their skill in opening holes and in tackling. A strong believer in a full knowledge of fundamentals, Coach Haygood will continue to send his players against the blocking dummy and bucking board until he is satisfied that the boys are ready for more advanced instructions in such important phases of the game as forward passing, defense against passing, and a thorough mastering of running plays.

At present the Lynx appear to stack up as a formidable outfit as far as the regulars are concerned. There still is an alarming shortage of reserve material. Only twelve letter men are back. In addition there are approximately another dozen players up from the Bobcats and last year's varsity squad who should add strength to the team.

BASEBALL BOYS BEGIN BATTING

Seek to Revive National Game Long Dead

By the time this typing reaches the weary eye of the student noblesse, the grand old game of baseball at Southwestern may have risen to unwieldy proportions or else again be relegated to moth balls and fond memories.

Monday afternoon baseball was brought out of a long period of hibernation which began in 1929 at the conclusion of the playing season. Whether baseball will bask again in summer's sun or crawl back in its shell depends a great deal upon how that small portion of the student body which is baseball-minded responds to the following privations:

In 1930 Southwestern had no varsity baseball team because the college authorities saw, rightly, that the quality of the material was dwindling and the expense of maintaining a team went unrequited in student appreciation and public pocketbooks.

A student petition failed to bring baseball back. This year, with the athletic association under new supervision, another effort was made to bring baseball back. The effort, as viewed by supreme optimists, proved successful. Southwestern authorities have given baseball back to the students and right in the neck.

Billy Hughes will help organize the team. Some financial aid has been promised Hughes. How much no one seems to know. Candidates for the team will have to grade the football team's practice field into a baseball diamond. Uniforms which served Lynx baseballers in 1929, and possibly before then, will serve the team this year. No new uniforms will be procured. And lastly, the college authorities have yet to sanction scheduling of intercollegiate games.

If the boys like the game well enough, baseball may flourish anew at Southwestern. But, if the boys like their baseball tempered with spirited cheers and press clippings, Johnny Hoyt may as well start dusting off the shelves in the supply house.

SPORT SCRIBBLE

BY PALMER SHAFFER.
Like a damp firecracker which sputters instead of BANGING, a new sport—something to do with bird hunting sans guns, sans dogs—suddenly flared up on the campus Saturday and as suddenly faded out when the bird migrated—charter members Erle Chesley Howry, Emily Wallace, the Drakes, one and two, and Mary Powell Abbay were caught holding the bag—Game Warden Professor Martin W. Storn graciously levied no fines.

Coach Jimmy Haygood is all set for the 1931 football season—except that he would like to have a pair of good tackles—therein lies the rub—Russell Brigrance of "Bru won that game" fame, drove up to the athletic supply house in Professor Cooper's car Monday afternoon ready to put the baseball reformation act in effect—

The irrepressible O'Goofy bursts in with kindergarten eagerness to ask: "But numps, isn't it against the law for Rasberry to pull a gun on Sheriff to make him run?"—No wonder people jump out of hotel windows—

As vice-president of the newly organized Dixie Conference, Dr. Swan will have the very tedious task of checking the list of athletes of the eight member colleges other than Southwestern for ineligibles passing as eligibles—carry your sympathies at tongue's end, for Dr. Swan may come tripping across the campus some morning with a handful of pansies and start chasing squirrels up trees.

That nervous, restless energy which actor-director Albert Erskine and actress-directors Meredith Davis and Elizabeth Smith instill in their players certainly should be carried to the gridiron where it will do the most good.

JONESBORO AND LYNX MEET IN TRACK CONTEST

Southwestern Track Boys Invade Arkansas

FIRST CINDER MEET

Fast Lynx Team Expected To Triumph

Hoping to open the present season of track meets with a win, Coach W. C. Rasberry and fifteen of his star pupils will ford the father of waters tomorrow and journey over to Jonesboro, Ark., to take on the Jonesboro A. and M. college team in the first intercollegiate track meet of the year for the Lynx.

The meet Saturday will follow very close on the heels of the intra-mural contest. It, however, should not handicap the performance of the stalwart track men against the Aggies.

The comparative strength of the two teams is unknown since this is the first meet of the year for both teams. It will be the first meeting of Southwestern and Jonesboro on the track.

The Lynx's strong point last year lay in the fact that some of the best distance men in the south were carrying the red and black. Roger Wright, Malcolm McMillan, and Perry Bynum were the main distance runners last year. This year all are back with the exception of McMillan. To this list is added Riley McGaughran, one of the best long-winder runners Southwestern has ever had.

Rasberry worried much last year over the problem of entering good men in the dashes. This year his mind has been put at ease by the three exceptionally fast men, Herbert Newton, Harold High and Sheriff Knight. Newton and Knight specialize in the quarter mile and 220-yard dashes, with High running the 100 meters.

The team this year appears weak on the broad and high jumps. Newton is well capable of taking his share of the responsibility, but he needs someone to help him. Last year, Morris Ford was exceptionally good in the pole vault, but he has graduated without leaving anyone in his place.

The weight tossing department has been strengthened with the graduation of Sid Hebert from the ranks of the Bobcat team. Teddy Johnson has been practicing some and is looking good.

Beginning their training season in the middle of February, the track men have been looking long and faithfully trying to get in shape for the first engagement of the year. Spring football has been working hardship on some of the boys who are so proficient that their services are demanded both on the football field and also on the cinder path. Several of them don track clothes at 2 o'clock, exchange them for football togs at 3:30, and work until 5 o'clock or after on the essentials of the gridiron sport.

Rasberry is undecided as to who will compose his little party going to Jonesboro, but it is pretty well understood that McGaughran, Wright and Bynum will enter the distance runs. High, Newton, and Knight will participate in the dashes. Thomas King and Harvey Drake will do the hurdling for the Lynx. Johnson and Hebert will go along to throw the weights.

The second meet of the year will be held on April 11, with Vanderbilt as the foe. The Vandy track will be the scene of combat.

Brazelle Talks To Club

"Red" Brazelle, police reporter for the Commercial Appeal, spoke to the Press Club Wednesday night in the Bell Room. An interested crowd hung entranced over his accounts of exciting murder stories and escapades as a police reporter. He has had thrilling experiences and the club shared in them as he reminisced of bygone days.

A musical program followed the regular dinner.

Glee Club Busy

The Glee Club is devoting its entire time and energy to insuring the success of the "Pirates of Penzance." Consequently, the Southwestern Songbirds will not have any more activities this year unless a program is worked up to be presented near the closing of school.

PORTEUS LEADS SIX MILE RACE

Last Minute Entry Breaks Tape in "Y" Run

Clark Porteus, freshman track star, proved the best mudder Saturday and splashed his way to a victory in the six mile marathon sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. He finished the six mile trek in 33 minutes and 40 seconds.

His entrance in the race was permitted by the fact that the intra-mural race in which he was to participate was called off on account of rain. Coach W. C. Rasberry for a long time refused to let his star pupil enter the grueling race, but at the last minute recanted and Porteus proved himself the better runner by finishing 200 yards ahead of Robert McCullough, of the University of Mississippi.

Only six men were entered in the race. Porteus started out slow, being ranked in second place for the first two miles. He began closing in on the leader at this point and by a sudden quickening of speed soon gained the lead. He continued to gain on his nearest rival and finished far out in front of McCullough. His superiority is evidenced by the fact that he covered the last few hundred yards in a full sprint.

He has been training since the opening of the track season, and will enter the mile and half mile runs of the freshmen competition this year.
