SGA Proposes New Constitution

A proposed new constitution will be brought to the students in a referendum this Tuesday. The vote, which must pass by only a majority, will determine whether or not the SGA is to be restructured and expanded in scope. Because copies of the new constitution are not freely circulating (none of the organizations which have voted on the constitution have seen copies of the constitution), a brief summary of the proposal is listed below.

The most prominent feature of the proposed constitution is the creation of a "Student Executive Board." The purpose of this board is to "promote the welfare of the individual Southwestern student, initiate legislation, and coordinate the activities of its (the Board's) constituent bodies..." which are the Honor Council, the Social Regulations Council, the Publications Board, the Student Union Board, and the Board of Commissioners.

The Student Executive Board is to be composed of 2 delegates each from the Honor Council, the SRC, the Pub Board, and Student Union Board, and of 7 delegates from the Board of Commissioners (specifically, the SGA president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, plus 3 delegates elected from the Board of Commissioners). The total membership, then, is 15; seven from the Board of Commissioners, and eight from the other member bodies.

The Student Executive Board has restricted powers. No matter may be handled by the SEB if a delegate to that board feels that the organization he represents (such as the Honor Council or the SRC) has jurisdiction in that area. Two thirds of the members constitute a quorum.

Legislation will pass by a majority vote.

Another innovation of the proposed constitution is the creation of the Board of Commissioners (taking the place of the former Executive Council). This body will consist of all elected commissioners, including the newly created Commissioner of Minority Affairs. It will also include the president, vice-president, secretary, and treasurer of the SGA, the Men's Undergraduate Board (MUB) Commissioner, and Women's Undergraduate Board (WUB) Commissioner. The MUB and WUB Commissioners will be appointed by the SGA president with the approval of the Board of Commissioners.

The Board of Commissioners will meet bi-weekly and its duties include suggesting legislation to the SEB, ensuring that elected commissioners fulfill their duties of forming, filling, and holding monthly meetings of the commissions. If the Board of Commissioners finds that a commissioner has failed in these duties it can remove him by a two-thirds vote.

The president holds the "executive power of the SGA." He presides over meetings of the Student Executive Board and the Board of Commissioners, serves as an ex-officio member of all student-administration committees, appoints the MUB and WUB commissioners, and asks students to serve on faculty, administration, and board committees (with the approval and advice of the Board of Commissioners).

The vice-president is head of the Information Service of the SGA, which is responsible for communication between the SGA and the student body (the class vice-presidents also serve on this committee). And, of course, the vice-president takes the president's place in case he is absent.

The secretary keeps all records of SEB and Board of Commissioners meetings and handles correspondence of the SGA. The class secretaries are to be members of the Secretariat and are to aid in this task.

The treasurer is to preside over the Budget Committee, which is to be composed of the Board of Commissioners and the class presidents (the Elections Commissioner, MUB, and WUB Commissioners do not have voting privileges).

The Budget Commission is to meet weekly at a publicized time and controls all student monies (except those of the Publications Board).

Provisions for amending the constitution are: a two thirds vote in two successive regular meetings of the SEB, or a petition by 10% of the student body.

Exact times for its presentation to the Student Union Board and the Honor Council have not been announced. While failure of one of these bodies to pass the constitution would not render it invalid if it passes the student referendum, such an action could create an interesting situation, since the SGA has no authority under the new to demand that an organization join the Board.

Two of the four autonomous bodies to be represented on the SEB have passed the constitution. The SRC, in a meeting last Wednesday, gave "tentative approval, but with reservations," according to Susan Smith, SRC president. The reservations deal mainly with matters of jurisdiction and autonomy. Tentative approval was given because the SRC had only 10 of its 18 members present at the meeting and the feeling was that the proposed constitution is revolutionary and important enough to require full attendance when final passage is considered. The meeting is scheduled for this Sunday.

The Publications Board passed the constitution and elected Bill Dodson and Barbara Fowlke as the two delegates to the SEB. The constitution was passed only after a resolution stating that the Publications Board is an autonomous organization and is not part of the proposed Information Services branch of the SGA.

Communist and Scholar Scheduled

The International Studies department announced today that Dr. James N. Rosenau and Dr. Yuri I. Roslyakov will speak to two department seminars next week. Dr. Rosenau, who is on the faculty of Ohio State University, will speak next Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. on "Linkage Politics"; and Dr. Roslyakov, who is a member of the Soviet Communist Party, will speak Friday on "UN Development in the 70's."

Rosenau received his Ph.D. from Princeton University in 1957 and has done post doctoral study of statistics, sociology and social psychology at Columbia and New York Universities. Before becoming a member of the faculty at Ohio State, Rosenau served on the faculties of Douglass and Rutgers Universities. Dr. Rosenau has either written or edited some forty articles and books on Political Science and International Relations.

Dr. Roslyakov, who received his Ph.D. from Moscow University, is a Senior Research Fellow at the Institute of World Economy and International Affairs Academy of Sciences of USSR. He presently is serving as an advisor on economic and social affairs to the permanent Mission of the USSR to the United Nations. Since 1969, Dr. Roslyakov has served on the Center for Economic and Social Information, United Nations.

SUMMER READING PROGRAM TUTORS WANTED

This summer four reading programs are being held around Memphis. Volunteers are being sought to tutor first grade students in reading. The program will begin June 21 and go through July. There will be three pre-training sessions before the program.

Tutors will work with students on a ratio of two students for each tutor. The first graders include children from disadvantaged homes who have had trouble in reading.

No experience is needed. If you are in the field of education, psychology, sociology, etc., you might check to see if you can receive credit for independent study.

New Board Elected

by F. Clark Williams, Jr.

A new Student Center Executive Board has been elected in a general student body election. Slated to the board, needing only student body approval, were Mona Mizell and Jane Howze. Elected from a field of nine candidates were Jeannette Birge, Rick Barkley, and F. Clark Williams. Also on next year's board is Susan Schaeffer, who is presently studying in France. Each of the new members has temporary duties for third term but will be assigned offices next year. Bruce Albright has been appointed film secretary and will serve on the Student Center Film Committee.

Outgoing officers are Joe Brady, president; Johnny Rone, film chairman and vice-president; Sylvia Friedman, secretary; Sam Marshall; and Ronnie Anderson. Also leaving is Bilbo Short, chairman, friends of the Student Center Plants.

Minorities Represented

by Eileen Hanrahan

The election for the newly created Commissioner of Minority Affairs will be held next Tuesday. The deadline for turning in petitions is midnight, Monday, May 3.

The Commission will be composed of students, faculty, and administration. This structure, it is hoped, will help eliminate problems of communication, enabling things to be accomplished more quickly. The duties of the commissioner will be to expedite the assimilation of minority groups on campus, both academically and socially. He will also deal with problems that are the specific concern of minority groups. This will provide an opportunity to express dissatisfaction and, hopefully, to arrive at solutions.

Mortar Board Has Election

The Mortar Board announced the election of new officers earlier this week. The new officers are Susan Sims, president; Cathy Orr, vice president; Sally Stitt, secretary; Jane Schmidt, treasurer; Carol Ann McCurdy, elections Chairman; Allison Cowan, editor; Susan Smith, historian.

The Mortar Board is an honorary organization of collegiate women selected for distinguished ability and achievement in scholarship, leadership, and service.

Opportunity In Vote

Next Tuesday the student body will vote on one of the more important issues to come before it in quite some time—the new constitution. It provides the answer to two of Southwestern student's most pressing problems—the inability to coordinate student activities and the lack of a single body to voice unified student opinion.

For two years the Student Government Association has had to operate under an inadequate interim system, hastily devised when the Student Senate was abolished. It is a credit to those who have worked under it to have worked as well as it has. Under Article III, the core of the new document, a Student Executive Board is to be established. The organs with constitutional power will join with those which hold the purse strings to form a single coordinated body. This will remedy the problem of bringing together the affairs of all student government organs.

The second problem the new document should help to solve is that of a unified student voice. Not only does it broaden the power base of student government, but more importantly, it creates a body, the SEB, which the administration and others may look to for overall student opinions.

There has been little opposition to the document, except for some concern on the part of organizations which will be serving as constituent bodies of the SEB and feel that their powers might be undermined. But this argument holds little in light of the advantages the document holds and the fact that it explicitly states that constituent bodies have the final say in what comes under their jurisdiction.

Tuesday will undoubtedly be an important vote—an opportunity to vote for a new constitution—one that will answer our more pressing problems and put our student government affairs in order.

Memphis To Vote On Consolidation

by Hershel Lipow

Memphis and Shelby County may have a consolidated government next January. Special elections June 22 will determine if city and county residents favor the plan to unite their governments under a 13 man metro council and mayor.

Efforts to eliminate governmental duplication began a year ago by the ten member Shelby County Charter Commission. Voters turned down a similar consolidation plan in 1962, but Commission sponsors are confident their present plan will pass. They cite a new receptivity to change as expressed in the city's switch to mayor-council government four years ago and the obvious advantages of consolidated organization. Albert C. Rickey, chairman of the commission, pointed out that Jacksonville cut its tax rate after consolidation.

The first Memphis-Shelby County government election is to be held on Oct. 4 for a mayor, a 13-member council and three city judges. Other government officials will either be appointed or popularly elected in the future.

Generous attempts have been granted by the charter to assimilate present officials into the new government. All boards and commissioners now operating in the city and county would also remain undisturbed by the charter. Board powers would be given to the new council to eliminate duplication by consolidation in due process.

Under the new charter the mayor would be paid $30,000 a year; council members $6,000 with the option of an increase effective next term. Both mayor and council would serve four years.

Eight of the 13 council members would be elected from districts drawn from the 1970 census figures. Three of these districts are predominantly black. Seven of the district are controlled

New Constitution

An Opposing View

by Duke Cain

Tuesday of next week we will be asked to vote on a new constitution for the Student Government Association. This constitution is being presented as a means of resolving differences between the existing campus organizations and supposedly will coordinate these organizations in a common direction. Viewed with skepticism by the bodies it plans to coordinate, there have been fears that the constitution is a plan to take some of the powers of these bodies (the SRC, Honor Council, Publications Board, and Student Union Board) from them and place it in the hands of an SGA controlled committee. Neither of these views is correct. The proposed Student Executive Board is directed under the proposal to "promote the welfare of the individual Southwestern student, initiate legislation, and coordinate the actions of its constituent bodies . . .", but is given no powers for enforcing its decisions which may deal only in matters that the delegates from the member bodies decide are not in the area of jurisdiction of the bodies they represent. The Board will not, then, be able to take anything from any body represented on it, but neither will it be able to coordinate the actions of these bodies any more than is already possible. The new constitution simply creates a large, complex, powerless "suggestion committee" which students have no direct voice in. All members of this committee are to be chosen from and by the membership of the various campus organizations represented on the Board. In effect what is to be created is the Southwestern politicians' pipe dream—a large "super-committee" with no ability to solve problems, no voice in the areas it is supposed to coordinate, and little to do except meet long hours in hush-hush sessions so characteristic of present campus organizations.

The proposed constitution misses the mark on the following points:

1) There is no need on this campus for a committee of the scope of the proposed Student Executive Board. To say that one is needed to coordinate student efforts and speak with the voice of the students is naive for two reasons: first, student organizations are perfectly capable of coordinating themselves without going through hours of committee meetings. A perfect example of this is the march held last Spring which coordinated more students in a non-social effort than anything in the last few years around here, all without the existence of "Super-committee." Second, the SEB would not speak with the "voice of the students," but would speak instead with the "voice of the SGA, Honor Council, Pub Board, Student Union Board, and SRC." Remember that no provisions are made for direct election by the students of delegates to this board. If it is to hold the important position claimed, then perhaps students should elect the members of this board who would appoint the lesser important offices of SGA president, vice-president, and so forth.

In short, the point is this: that students have been and will be able to coordinate their efforts and voice in important matters. The existence of a Student Executive Board will not help, or hurt this ability; it will simply have no effect at all on it.

2) The Student Executive Board would not be able to coordinate campus organizations. Having no powers (other than those of suggestion), the SEB would be helpless in any situation of conflict. Since one of the main reasons for this board is to resolve such conflicts, it seems rather clear that the SEB would be a totally ineffective committee when it was needed the most, and its ineffectiveness is written into the constitution in realization of the fact that campus organizations are autonomous and need to remain such. The function of the board (characterized by lack of power) and the purpose of the board are contradictory.

Further, on the subject of conflicts between constituent bodies of the SEB, the bodies themselves work out problems of jurisdiction. Conflicts between member bodies of the SEB are not foreseeable and rarely, if ever, occur, but conflicts between the member bodies and the Student Executive Board, particularly over jurisdiction, are foreseeable.

3) The present structure of campus politics keeps the divisions between judicial organizations and legislative organizations, whereas the proposed constitution would remove these separations by creating one large committee.

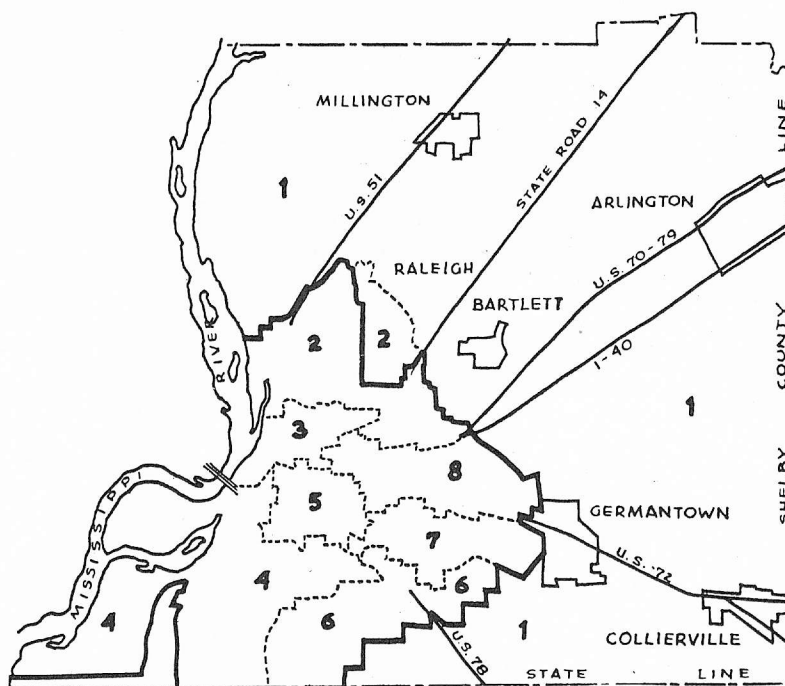

4) The proper realm of the SGA can be found in the Board of Commissioners. This should be the constitution. Such a structure would preserve the "checks and balances" caused by the diversity of campus organizations, while establishing an effective SGA organization.

You are urged to vote against the proposed constitution in its present form. Were the planned Student Executive Board left out, the proposal would be sound and workable (if student government needs to be organized at all, the Board of Commissioners is perhaps the best way), but the attempt to expand the realm of the SGA can only cause confusion and conflict.

New Black Library

Southwestern Black Students Association, in cooperation with Burrow Library, officially announce the opening of a new black studies shelf. Its chief purpose is to promote an interest in and an understanding of the black experience in America. This is the first step in making the community aware of the need for black studies at Southwestern, and is the first attempt at establishing a real "black library" to benefit the whole community. Ask about it at the desk, and help it grow.

Herman Morris
Chairman
B.S.A.

The new districts under the proposed plan of consolidation.

by city voters. The eighth is an area almost completely in the county. The remaining five council members would be elected at large.

Schools would continue as separate city and county systems for three more years. At the end of this time, a nine member county-wide board would be elected—two at large and seven from districts. One district would be an area entirely out of the city. Terms are set at four years. Board elections under this system would be separated by one year from regular elections, thus in part taking them out of local politics.

The charter provides for appointment of the police chief by the sheriff, who will continue to be elected every two years. This appointment would be subject to a majority confirmation by the council. Salaries of the chief and the sheriff would also be fixed by the council.

The Memphis Light, Gas, and Water Division would undergo two changes. First, its rates would become uniform for everyone. Second, in lieu of taxes, assessments would be based upon each taxing area. Presently, the division pays only to the city.

In the beginning taxes would fall under two rates: urban, which is now the city, and general, which is now the county. An act of the 1971 legislature gave the council authority to establish a third tax rate in the suburban district.

The charter also guarantees other provisions. For example, it requires the council to reapportion its districts following the Federal censuses. It also leaves the county's five incorporated towns undisturbed. In time they could join the consolidated government under broad powers given the council.

The law requires the city and county separately approve the consolidation plan before it can go into effect. If it does not pass, regular city elections will be held on Oct. 7 with runoffs Nov. 4.

Tennessee no longer has a residency requirement, but year-round residence is necessary to register to vote. Eighteen-year-olds may register in local elections, but voting will be predicated upon ratification of the Constitutional amendment now being presented to the States. Registration closes 30 days before the June 22 referendum.

SW Students Lobby for Passage of Tuition Bill

by Jym Crosby
Bruce Allbright, III

At 6:15 a.m. Tuesday, the Southwestern Delegation in Favor Of House Bill No. 447 (Tennessee Tuition Grant Program) gathered at Voorhies to begin their journey to Capitol Hill. On the way to Nashville the group, Jackie Rutledge, Bruce Allbright, Duke Cain, Jym Crosby, Ellen Osterbind, Alice Cockroft, Jane Headrick, and Coble Caperton, carefully studied the bill.

At 10:00 a.m., a beige Mercedes Benz pulled up in front of the Lem Motlow Tunnel at the Tennessee State Capitol, eight Southwestern at Memphis students emerged dressed in tailored clothing and bejeweled fraternity and sorority pins. They met briefly with student leaders from other institutions in the state and were informed as how to lobby effectively for the bill, which would allow resident students in need of financial aid to attend the college of their choice, rather than being forced into state controlled institutions. They were also advised that the Bill could save the state an estimated $100,000,000 over a ten year period by filling 6,500 vacancies in the state's forty private institutions rather than having to construct and operate a state supported institution of higher learning.

The bill was narrowly passed by the Education Committee. The student lobbyists split up the members of the House of Representatives who were opposed to or undecided about the bill and sought these gentlemen out individually, only to find out the majority of legislators were out to lunch. They rapidly gathered their forces and took positions in front of the House Chamber and on the floor of the House of Representatives, initiated discussions with total strangers, and tried to convince them to support the bill. During one of these discussions they were informed by a representative that he was against the bill since the people of his district opposed No. 447. This honorable spokesman for the people then informed them that the media interfered with law making since it was over-informing the public of the bill; causing them to support the bill, therefore, causing a needlessly long, difficult struggle to defeat the bill.

In another discussion, Alice Cockroft and Ellen Osterbind were asked by a representative to join him for lunch, since he had never heard of it. The two girls, although loyal, declined the invitation, feeling that they were not that desperate for votes.

From 12:30 p.m. to 1:20 p.m. they did their lobbying and then proceeded to the galleries and listened to the House of Representatives of the State of Tennessee change commas, colons, and periods. (During this "grammatical session" the loudest and succinct speech from the floor was a single—gin!)

During four hours of discussion with the members of the House they all discovered that they were able to help these men make or change a decision by simply presenting sound arguments and remaining calm when opinion was either difficult for them to accept or immediately understand. This led to the realization that in this particular case the system might be the reason that this bill, which was passed in the Senate last week, will pass the House next week.

Tigert Presents Guidelines

Bob Tigert, Social Commissioner, issued a statement this week concerning the policies of his commission and tentative guidelines for the commission next year. Tigert stated this was "by no means the final thoughts of the commission"—the statement was made to offer guidelines. "The attitudes of our students towards social activities is changing. Obviously, we are going to need some creative ideas and quality programming."

The statement dealt with the areas of movies, dances, concerts, the Common House and promotion.

"The original intent and purpose of the Social Commission movies was to provide a light study break. Therefore it seems to me that two basic premises are obvious: 1) that movies should be more frequent in times of academic distress, and 2) movies should be light and not bad." In conclusion about movies Tigert stated, "Let's not make FJ-B into one large TV set."

In terms of dances, the report stated, "we can't spend as much this year as we have in the past." The report went on to state that dances in the gym will become a reality. They should save students a great deal of money and be accessible to those students unable to get off campus. It was also noted that another effect of having dances in the gym would be the enhancement of Greek off-campus dances.

In studying the possibility of increased concerts, Tigert stated "every opportunity should be made to present as many different artists as possible." John Stewart and Jennifer are already booked for a concert in the gym for October 10, 1971. Tigert went on to state that he hoped the commission would be able to get a discount for Southwestern students for concerts here in Memphis.

"The Common House has been a successful innovation." As for plans for next year the report stated a hope for the establishment of an annual event to work on the Common House and the end to the "open every night policy."

Discussing promotion, Tigert said it is "the lifeblood of any social event—if no one knows about it—no one comes. The commission individuals need to be enthusiastic about their programming and convey that enthusiasm throughout their individual associations and contacts."

Carnival Planned

The newly formed Raunchy Attractions Troupe (RAT) will sponsor a May Day carnival tomorrow to raise money to remodel the Black Student's shack. The carnival, running from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Student Center parking lot, will kick off the Riverboat Dance to be held aboard the Memphis Queen beginning at 8 p.m.

The carnival will begin with a Saga-catered picnic held from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in front of Palmer Hall. Booths will then be opened by various organizations to the music of a local band.

Dorm Heads Nominated

by Bruce Allbright

Early next week the men residents of Southwestern will elect dormitory presidents for the 1971-72 school year from a list of nominees submitted by the ODK leadership fraternity and approved by the Dean of Men. Of the seventeen nominated, nine will be elected to serve as counselors, security officers, and general keepers of the peace for the men residents in Glassel, Ellet, White, Robb, and Bellingrath Halls.

Dean Diehl has yet to exercise his option to eliminate any of the nominees, accepting the esteem of the ODK as testimony enough for the qualifications of the dorm president hopefuls. As the dorm presidents are in fact employees of the Dean of Men, they are interviewed and given an opportunity to decide whether or not they wish to run for the positions. Throughout the year they must work with Dean Diehl and carry out the policies set forth by his office. The ODK, in choosing those who will be on the ballot, take into consideration the character, stability, and availability of the various students. They are expected to remain on campus whenever the dorms are open; therefore, varsity athletes are not all assigned to the same dorms.

This year controversy marred the nomination meetings of the ODK, and Dean Diehl was approached by several student leaders. On the question of whether or not financial need for the $950 should enter into the criteria for eligibility, some students argued that since student aid from the Scholarship Fund has recently been reduced, the $950 would free more aid funds for the students at large. In fact, the money for the dorm presidents stipend does not come from the Scholarship Fund, nor do any of the elected presidents lose any status on their own financial need. Some feel that it is not in the best interest of the students to exclude those who cannot qualify for $950 student aid to be dorm presidents. There has been discussion to place the dorm president positions under the work-study program, but again one must qualify for the aid. Especially in the case of the freshmen floors, the responsibility of the individual seems the logical priority, as he is often called upon to give advice and set an example for the often maladjusted freshman. There is no doubt that the position of dorm president is work and quite often difficult. Most do a good job, but it is possible to neglect the responsibilities involved. As long as the job of dorm president is treated as a position of responsibility and respect, many feel the qualifications must remain along the lines of personal merit.

Those nominated were Ralph Allen, Bill Dodson, Phil Doss, Bob Flowers, Gary Goodman, Wayne Herbert, Dan Heiber, David Hume, Tom Jones, Bill McBride, Clark Williams, Clark Malcolm, Herman Morris, Jackie Rutledge, Mike Sadler, Claude Stayton, and Alex Yielding. This is the list presented to and approved by Dean Diehl, pending acceptance by the individuals. The dorm assignments will be decided by Dean Diehl, who will also consider who is living in the particular dorm, what are the activities of the elected president, and which of these presidents are interested in working with the freshmen. The ballots will be distributed via the school mail system, and results will be announced by the office of the Dean of Men.

Allen Leads Lynx to Title

by Wayne Herbert

A strong showing in the field events and an outstanding performance by Ralph Allen paced the Lynx cindermen to their third consecutive Southwestern Invitational Relays title Saturday at Fargason Field.

Allen, who spent a great deal of his time on that sunny Saturday afternoon sprinting from event to event, won five events and placed second or third in two others, piling up 33½ points. The total bested his previous personal high of 32½ points set last week in a dual meet with the University of Tennessee at Martin.

Allen's outstanding performance was a 45½" leap that got him a first place in the triple jump and a new Southwestern record in the event. The sophomore from Memphis also scored first places in the long jump (21'10½"), the shot put (39' 8½"), javelin (168'8"), and the 120 yard high hurdles (15.3). A third place in the high jump and a second in the mile relay completed the record breaking effort. Allen was awarded the John Quincy Wolf Trophy.

Several other Lynx trackmen recorded outstanding performances as Southwestern outdistanced the second place finisher, LeMoyne Owen by 14 points. Phil Doss, the jolly jumping junior from Jackson, Mississippi, recorded his best performance in the high jump with a 5'10" bound that was good for a second place finish. Tom Keller soared to a third place finish in the pole vault with no little effort.

Phillip Johnson continued his outstanding performance in the jumping events with a second in the long jump. John Churchill and Harold Jones finished 1-3 respectively in the discus while Steve Burkett's second in the shot put gave the Lynx a 1-2 finish in that event.

In the running events, Southwestern took a back seat to a strong LeMoyne Owen team but garnered enough points to carry the Lynx through. Herman Morris finished second in the 100 and fourth in the 220. David Hume and Andy Pouncy finished 2-3, respectively, in the 440 yard intermediate hurdles. The Southwestern relay team finished second both in the mile and 440 yard relays.

This Saturday the team travels to the Tennessee Intercollegiate Athletic Conference meet at Cookeville, Wednesday, May 5 the Lynx will complete their season in the C.A.C. meet in St. Louis.

Congratulations are in order both to Coach Bill Bretherick and to the members of this year's team, who have compiled a spotless 6-0 record thus far this year.

Batter Up

by Bill McBride

The Lynx diamondmen opened their season with a 4-0 victory over the Millsaps Majors.

Steve James hurled an impressive two hit shutout, striking out seven and not allowing a runner past second base. James was backed by a strong fielding performance by Jerry Stauffer, who roamed far to his left on two hits. Stauffer also excelled at the plate, going 1-3 with 2 walks, 2 stolen bases, and scoring 2 runs. Also hitting for the Lynx were David Seiler, Mike Sadler, Mike Walden, and Rick Barkley.

Lynx Drop 12-6 Decision

Saturday, March 20th, the Lynx again played the Majors in the season's second game. This time the Lynx came out on the short end of a 12-6 score.

The Lynx jumped out to an early lead and after five innings led 5-2. In the top of the sixth the Majors jumped on Ernie James for six runs and then continued to stretch their lead for the final 12-6 score. In defense of the Lynx hurlers it must be noted that the Lynx committed six fielding errors in the game.

Leading the Lynx hitters were David Seiler with a double and a single, Mike Sadler with two singles, and Jim Habernicht with a triple. Ernie James, Ronnie Dillard, Jerry Stauffer, and Mike Walden also hit safely for the Lynx.

Lynx Top St. Olaf 4-1

March 22nd, the Lynx faced St. Olaf of Minnesota. The visiting nine from St. Olaf are considered strong contenders for the NCAA small college championship. After spotting St. Olaf a 1-0 lead the Lynx rallied behind the pitching of Steve James to defeat St. Olaf 4-1.

James turned in another brilliant mound performance, limiting St. Olaf to five hits, while striking out 12 in seven innings. The Lynx scored their runs in the first and sixth innings, as they put together five hits sandwiched around nine walks. The five Lynx hitting safely in this game were Ronnie Dillard, Jerry Stauffer, Mike Sadler, David Seiler, and Barry Rhodes.

This victory ran the Lynx record to 2-1.

Lynx Drop 5-1 Decision in Error Filled Game

In the second game of the double-header the Lynx lost to St. Olaf by 5-1 score.

Barry Rhodes limited St. Olaf to one hit for the first three innings; but after two were out in the fourth, he began to have problems with his control, and St. Olaf pushed three runs across in the inning. Southwestern pushed one across in the bottom of the fourth on a single by Jerry Stauffer, a sacrifice by David Seiler, and a single by Mike Sadler. The Lynx threatened again in the fifth and seventh innings but never could put anything across the plate.

Lynx Split Double Header with Capital U

On April 7th the Lynx took the field against Capital University. The first game found Steve James on the mound, and the Lynx responded with a 2-1 victory.

Steve scattered seven hits and whiffed eight, while chalking up his third victory of the young season. The Lynx were held to six hits but put them together in the first inning to push across two runs. This proved to be all the offensive support James needed, as he effectively shut off Capital's hitters.

Lynx Split Two with Harding 2-9, 11-2

In the opener Barry Rhodes was plagued by control problems as the Bisons scored four runs on four walks and two errors. Harding took it from there to win 9-2.

The Lynx had one of their better days at the plate, banging out eight hits, but they were unable to put together a big inning and were held to two runs. Leading the Lynx hitters were Mike Sadler and Jerry Stauffer, with two hits each.

Steve James and Pray for Rain

In the second game the Lynx took the field behind Steve James, and in a rain-shortened game came out on top of a 10-2 score.

Steve scattered three hits over the five innings and struck out twelve. The Lynx again were impressive at the plate rapping out nine hits. Leading the Lynx parade were Allen Shelton, Mike Sadler, Rick Barkley, and Mike Walden all with two hits.

CBC Walks Over Lynx 12-2

The Lynx pitching staff was again plagued by control problems as they issued 16 walks, six wild pitches, and 12 hits to the Bucs from CBC.

The Lynx again looked strong at the plate rapping our nine hits, but it was not enough to overcome the Bucs. Mike Sadler led Lynx hitters with a double and two singles.

Lynx Stops Bucs 3-2

The Lynx ended a seven game losing streak. The last victory over CBC by a Lynx nine was in the spring of '69.

Led by Steve James who scattered nine hits while going the distance, the Lynx downed the Bucs 3-2. James also whiffed eight men in the nine innings. The Lynx matched the Bucs hit totals smashing out nine hits. The Lynx were led by Mike Sadler and Jerry Stauffer, both having two singles.

Bisons Blank Lynx 5-0

Robert Helvering threw a one-hitter at the Lynx, as the Bisons defeated the Lynx for the second time in three games this season.

Tony Haygood in his first starting role this year pitched a good game, allowing only four hits over the first five innings. However, he fell victim to a brilliant pitching job by the Bisons ace pitcher.

The second game of the double header was called because of rain in the third inning with the Lynx ahead 3-1.

Lynx Shell Majors 15-6

The Lynx exploded for fourteen hits and fifteen runs, as the Lynx kept a steady stream of Major's pitchers coming from the bullpen.

Steve James pitched an excellent game before tiring in the ninth, as the Majors were able to push across four runs. However, Barry Rhodes came in to shut off the rally and save the victory. Big men at the plate for the Lynx were Mike Sadler with two singles and a home run, David Seiler with a triple and a home run, Steven Warren with a single and a home run, and Jerry Stauffer with a single and a double.

Lynx Split Double Header with the Majors

The Lynx dropped the first game of a double header to the Majors by a score of 9-3. Steve Warren, making his first start after missing the first few games because of arm trouble, looked good through the first four innings. However the lay off began to show its effect as he tired in the fifth and was touched for six runs.

If Steve can regain the form he showed before his injury the Lynx should have a potent 1-2 punch in their starting rotation.

Haygood Spins Two Hitter

The Lynx took the second game of the doubleheader behind a strong two hit performance by Tony Haygood. After giving up a three run home run in the first inning, Tony blanked the Majors for the next six innings as the Lynx won 4-3.

The Lynx tallied all their runs in the third on a two run home run by David Seiler and a two run single by Rick Barkley.

Lynx Drop Two To Henderson

The Lynx were guilty of seven errors; and Henderson rapped out thirteen hits, as they scored eleven runs to stop the Lynx 11-2.

Steve James, the workhorse of the Lynx staff, was touched for nine hits and seven runs in six innings in what was one of his poorer performances of the season. Steve was pitching with only three days rest for the second time in a row, and that possibly had an effect on his performance as both of his last two appearances have been sub-par for him.

Henderson Top Lynx 13-6

The Lynx were again plagued by control problems, as Henderson worked Barry Rhodes for nine walks and eight hits. Coupled with three Lynx errors, Henderson pushed across thirteen runs to defeat the Lynx 13-6.

The Lynx managed six runs on seven hits. Leading the Lynx hitters were Mike Sadler with a 335 foot home run to left field, Barry Rhodes with a double and a single, and David Seiler with two singles.
