COUNCIL GIVES SEAT TO WOMEN UNDERGRADUATE

Worthington Is Made New Member Of Council

REVERSE DECISION

Lynx Club Petition Rejected; $24 Voted For Year Book

Reversing the decision at the last meeting, the Student Council voted Tuesday to allow a seat on the Council to the Women's Undergraduate Society. Thelma Worthington is president. It was voted to reject the petition of the Lynx Club for a seat on the Council, but help will be extended by the Council in furthering the organization of the Lynx Club.

The Women's Undergraduate organization was granted a seat on the Council in order to give the women of the student body more representation.

Emphasis was placed on the fact that the Election Commission should adopt its constitution and apply for a seat on the Council.

An appropriation of $24 was voted by the Council for the Honor Council and Student Council pages in the year book.

ANNUAL GRIDIRON BANQUET MAY 1

Barnes Is Toastmaster; Speeches To Be Made By Faculty

Southwestern's annual Gridiron Banquet will be held on the 1st of May in Neely Hall.

This affair, which has become a tradition on the Southwestern campus, has always been a big success because of the extremely unique atmosphere that exists between the students and faculty in regard to the purpose of the banquet. The purpose of the Gridiron Banquet is to promote a better understanding between the students and faculty of the college. This is brought about by the very nature and program of the affair, which, in short, is one of unusual hilarity and practical joking.

As usual, this year's program will be devoted to the electing of the various campus "honorarys", and "speeches" by several of the faculty.

John Barnes has been selected by the Christian Union to be the Toastmaster of the 1935 Banquet. Barnes has had much experience along this line and has several added attractions in mind for this event.

The usual prices will be charged this year, which are 50c for town students and 25c for dormitory students.

HORN TOOTERS REAP REWARD—FOUR LYNX WILL GO TO EUROPE

Simmons, Heidelberg, Eaton, Nicholas To Serenade Way Across On Trans-Atlantic Liner

Fiddlers must be paid, and a group of Southwestern musicians have decided that a trip to Europe is no unhappy wage for playing tunes on a trans-Atlantic liner.

July 13th, Harold Simmons, Harvey Heidelberg, Louis Nicholas and Clough Eaton plan to sail from New York on the Holland-American liner Veendam. The contracts were signed last week after an audition before Phillip Boone of Boston, representative for the steamship company.

How far New Deal fifty-nine cent dollars can be stretched will probably determine the itinerary of these travelers. In England the Silver Jubilee of King George's Accession, the Shakespeare Dramatic Festival, Royal Regatta and the Davis

Panhellenic To Be At Casino On 26th

Men's Council Sponsors Third and Last Dance Of Year; Assessments Must Be Paid to Treasurer By April 24th

The Men's Panhellenic Council will entertain with its third and last dance of the year Friday, April 26th, at the Casino Ballroom.

A committee has been appointed by Duff Gaither, president, to select the orchestra and arrange the program.

All fraternity assessments must be paid by Wednesday, April 24th, to Henry Watkins, treasurer, or a fine of five dollars will be imposed.

KD HAS ANNUAL SPRING FORMAL

To Be At Colonial Club Saturday Night; Taylor Plays

Kappa Delta will entertain with a "Ribbon Ball" Saturday night from 8 until 12 o'clock at the Colonial Country Club.

Bill Taylor and his new band of Royal Collegians will play and there will be four no-breaks and two specials. The sorority's song to "Roses of Picardy" will be played for the leadout.

The entire ceiling of the ballroom will be covered with ribbons in pastel shades, extending from a three tiered chandelier in the center of all sides of the room. In the center of the first chandelier will be a crystal ball on which a vari-colored spot light will be thrown.

Green and white balloons will be used around the sides.

Invitations carrying out the ribbon motif have been extended to all men on the campus and many friends of the chapter out of town.

Guests from the chapters at the University of Mississippi, University of Tennessee, and Louisiana State University will attend.

Members attending and their escorts are:

Alumnae planning to attend are: Evelyn Hester with Russell Perry; Mary Converse with Bill Stem; Cynthia Weathersby with David Sauls; Margaret MacNicol with George Gish. Representatives on the campus:

Sou'wester Will Not Publish Next Week

There will be no issue of The Sou'wester next week due to spring holidays which will begin Wednesday at 5 p.m. and last until the following Tuesday at 8:30 a.m.

The next publication will appear Friday, April 26.

The Sou'wester wishes a pleasant vacation for the entire student body.

SAE WILL ERECT TENNIS BENCHES

To Be Completed By The May Tennis Matches; ODK Plan

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, in cooperation with the plan of ODK for every fraternity to prove its right to exist, has plans made for the erection of benches around the tennis courts.

Dr. Rhodes has been consulted and is aiding in getting the seats so that they will be in readiness for the tennis matches in May.

Atkinson Begins Lecture Series On Improvement

Dr. W. R. Atkinson delivered the first lecture in a series, at the college Monday night, on methods of social improvement. The series is sponsored by the Memphis Council of Social Agencies.

Dr. Atkinson spoke on the practical value of mental testing to the social agency. Other members of the faculty who will contribute to the lectures are Mrs. C. L. Townsend, Dr. W. O. Puckett, Dr. Ralph Hon and Dr. John Henry Davis.

Noted English Novelist Gives Talk To Classes

Ford-Maddox Ford, eminent English novelist, spoke Monday at Southwestern to several classes of English students.

Mr. Ford is the son of Ford Maddox, and the godson of the eminent poet, Swinburne. His uncle was Dante Gabriel Rossetti and his aunt, Christina Rossetti.

He spoke on the development of the English novel and gave suggestions about the art of impressionistic writing, the school of which he is a member.

Dr. Hyman Lectures To Lynx Science Club

Last night at the regular meeting of the Science Club, Dean Hlman of the University of Tennessee Medical School talked. The Science Club, under the direction of William Cox, President, has been having speakers every week.

Several national scientific societies have requested the local club to affiliate with them, but as yet no action has been taken by the local club.

STUDENTS WILL GIVE VIEWS ON WAR TOMORROW

C. U. To Conduct Chapel In Honor Of U. S. War Anniversary

GOODMANTO SPEAK

U. S., Foreign Students To Express Opinions Against War

One hundred thousand students will consider the problem of war at 11 a.m., tomorrow. Students in the United States and many foreign countries will express themselves as opposed to war by various mass demonstrations.

The Southwestern Christian Union is to conduct chapel service tomorrow to commemorate the United States entrance into World War. Mr. Benjamin Goodman will be the speaker of the morning. Tommy Fuller, Prof. Eric Haden, Maurice Carlson and Tom Jones will also appear on the program.

The following quotation is encouraging to Southwestern students: "On Friday, April 13th, a long, black line wound through the streets of Poughkeepsie. Every few minutes a cry of 'No more battleships, we want schools,' would go ringing down the streets and by-ways of the city. Five hundred Vassar girls in caps and gowns, led by the President of the college, were marching in an anti-war demonstration. A far cry, alumnae said, from 1917 when in support of the war, there had likewise been a parade of Vassar undergraduates.

Does the World Head for War?

"A growing conviction that today war is more imminent than at any moment since 1918, and this despite such established tribunals of peace as the League of Nations, the World Court and the Kellogg Pact. These have thus far proved impotent in the Far East, in the Chaco, in Central Europe.

Students no longer are willing to be exploited by large manufacturers who stay at home and profiteer. In time of peace students by concerted action can draw up plans of procedure to be followed after the storm of military propaganda makes impossible clear-thinking. The problem of war must be thought about while there is still time for unprejudiced consideration.

Prof. Haden and the Christian Union are to present at the Vesper Service Sunday at five o'clock, a one-act play, The Terrible Meek, besides being a strong argument for peace, it is a fine dramatic work. The Southwestern Players, who are presenting the play, state that the cast is doing a splendid job.

Students are urged to remember the program tomorrow morning and enter into the consideration of outlawing war.

Final Vesper Service Will Be Held Sunday In Hardie Auditorium

Southwestern Players Will Present Play In Place Of Usual Address; Prof. Eric Haden Is Director

THE SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN UNION will hold its last vesper service of the year Sunday afternoon in Hardie Auditorium. Plans for the service are in charge of the freshman class of which Dan Wingo is president.

ANNUAL CO-OPS BEGIN 'MORROW

Psychology Department Has Charge Of Testing

Tomorrow morning sophomores will begin the testing program which Southwestern gives annually under the auspices of the American Council on Education. The tests concern literary acquaintance, English usage, and current problems.

The Psychology department takes charge of the giving and the grading of these tests. Each student is given a number and after the grading has been completed, each student's standing is posted opposite his number. No scores are posted in connection with the student's name.

The second session of the tests will begin at 2 p.m. in the chapel. The final session will be held Saturday at 9 a.m. All Sophomores will be excused from classes Friday and Saturday.

Fuller To Head C. U. Cabinet For Session

Southwestern Christian Union Cabinet announces the following officers for the coming year: Tommy Fuller, President, Francis Benton, Vice-President, and Betty Hunt, Secretary.

These officers take over their work immediately, and plan to carry on the work of Hinky Jones, Young Wallace, and Thelma Worthington, who are the outgoing officers.

Elizabeth Pierce To Head Chi Omegas

Chi Omega held its election of officers at the regular meeting of the sorority Monday afternoon in the lodge.

Officers for the coming year are Elizabeth Pearce, president; Bernice Cavett, vice president; Betty Hunt, secretary; Nancy Warden, treasurer; Sara Louise Tucker, pledge chairman; and Mary Brewster, herald.

DELEGATES GO TO NEW ORLEANS

Meadow, Tate, Duffee, Heidelberg Make Convention

Representing The Sou'wester at the meeting of the Southern Federation of College Students and the Southern College Press Association in New Orleans are James Meadow and Alvan Tate, editor and business manager, and Harvey Heidelberg and Louis Duffee.

With Tulane University and Newcomb College as hosts, they are in session with delegates from some 85 or more colleges and universities in the southern and southeastern states.

Discussions of current problems facing students, sessions on student activities, the honor system, freedom of the press, and entertainment are promised the visitors. Speakers at the opening luncheon yesterday were Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans; Dr. A. B. Dinwiddie, president of Tulane University; Dr. Pierce Butler, dean of Newcomb College.

A dinner was held last night in The Roosevelt with James M. Thomson, president of the New Orleans Item-Tribune Publishing Company as the principal speaker. He spoke on "College Journalism and the Nation's Press."

At luncheon today Dr. Pipkin, of Louisiana State University, will be the speaker. In the afternoon group meetings will be held and at 4 p.m. the faculty and students of Newcomb College will give a tea and reception.

The banquet is scheduled for 7 o'clock tonight. The principal speaker will be Dr. Rufus C. Harris, dean of the Tulane Law School and president of the Association of American Law Schools. Dr. Marten Hoos, head of the Tulane Philosophy Department, will act as toastmaster. Saturday afternoon will be devoted to sight-seeing trips in the Vieux Carre.

Clark Porteous, last year's editor of The Sou'wester, and now a member of the Memphis Press-Scimitar staff also made the trip to his former home.

Martin Will Head Zeta Tau Alpha

Zeta Tau Alpha officers for the coming year are: Sarah Fox Martin, president; Shirley Ham, vice-president; Irene Morehouse, secretary; Sarah Gracey, treasurer; Mary Frances Baker, historian; Lucile Woods, guard, and Gladys Crump, Panhellenic representative.

ONE FOR RIPLEY

In the medical museum of Harvard University is a crowbar, three feet, seven inches long, one and one-quarter inches in diameter, weighing one-quarter pound, which has completely pierced the skull of a man. The man did not lose consciousness after the accident and lived twelve years longer. —The Davidsonian.

HUEY INVITED

A "League for the Promotion of War" has been organized at the University of Iowa. This group believes that dictators will be the salvation of the world and they are in direct opposition to a peace movement which has been started on that campus. Huey P. Long has been invited to become the leader. —The Davidsonian.

BEFORE TOO LATE

The most hilarious story of the week comes out of the deep Southwest, from the University of Texas, where a young man made an "A" for the first time in his mental career. He immediately wired his folks to tell them about it. To be sprightly, he added humorously that he had suffered a nervous breakdown as a result. Four hours later, a dust-covered car skidded up to his fraternity house door and out tumbled his parents. The lad's "stopless" telegram had read, "Offspring Gets A Nervous Breakdown May Recover." —The Lafayette.

MAKING HISTORY

A professor at Roanoke College claimed that some of his pupils would soon be as famous as Napoleon at the rate they were going down in history.

While working in the Tulane University Medical School dissecting laboratory, a student discovered his father's head.

"BLUTED PLUTOCRATS"

An editorial from the Crimson White, University of Alabama publication called "Bluted Plutoerats": Last week the Senate concurred in a repeal measure sent from the house on the pink slip law. This repeals the law which would make public the essentials of everyone's income, and consequently the people who filed a pink slip this year may have no fear that it will ever be made public. It will not.

During the discussions a very interesting and amusing debate took place between the Senator Long and Senator Tydings. We quote from the Congressional Record:

Mr. Long: What is the harm in letting the entire income tax return be open for the public to inspect?

Mr. Tydings: I do not want to be personal, but as long as the Senator from Louisiana has no compunction about the matter, may I ask him what he made last year? (Laughter.)

Mr. Neely: And what he did with it! (Laughter.)

Mr. Long: I made as much money as I spent in the printing office and with the United States Government as postage.

Mr. Tydings: Will the Senator give us the exact figures? I am interested, because I know he gave a great deal to charity; he financed two or three football games and various other activities.

Mr. Long: I made about $25,000 last year.

Mr. Tydings: The Senator's salary was only $9,000. I congratulate him on having such a large law business outside of the Senate.

Mr. Long: The Senator from West Virginia (Mr. Neely) wants to know what I did with it. In order to set a good example I will say that I spent it for brass bands, for football games, for drinks for my friends, and things of that kind. I got some good out of it.

Mr. Tydings: I would not pursue this inquiry, but the Senator from Louisiana is good-natured, and he does not mind these things being known. May I ask him how he made his $25,000?

Mr. Long: I made it principally by people not having the sense that I have, because they hired me for their lawyer. (Laughter).

"Shortly thereafter," says the New York Times, "Mr. Long sailed into the Morgans and the Rockefellers as 'bluted plutocrats', making a speech which filled almost four pages of the Congressional Record."

BUTTER FINGERS?

What Other Editors Say On Collegiate Topics

From the March edition of the "Quill," official magazine of Sigma Delta Chi, is quoted the following passage from an article entitled "Do College Editors Think?":

"There are college newspapers, good, bad and indifferent. But most of them are indifferent.

"They seem to have but two purposes to fulfill—to give students 'practical' training in journalism and to act as the collegiate bulletin board.

"God save journalism from the college editor who can only produce a bulletin board. The college editor who fills his paper with handouts from the administration building will never have enough imagination to go beyond the handouts that government officials will give him. He will be in paradise when Mussolini comes along and gives him canned news."

Mr. Sexson E. Humphreys, the author of the article, is now doing journalistic work in Washington, D. C. He was the editor of the DePauw University paper from May through December of 1933, and while much of his article may be just criticism for a considerable part of the collegiate press, it is tinged ever so faintly with the contemptible attitude of a newly-made metropolitan newspaperman toward all college papers.

If, as the introduction to the article has us believe, Mr. Humphreys has "endeavored to keep his finger on the pulse of college journalism," we suggest that a more thorough diagnosis be made before the ailment is pronounced as needing any certain treatment. The fact that many college papers are mere bulletin boards is not entirely the fault of the editors.

It is realized full well that this publication must bow to a portion heaped upon college editors and publications of the nation, but thru its activities and the editorials appearing on this page during the last year we feel also that The Kernel is somewhat lacking in guilt in regard to many shortcomings found by Mr. Humphreys in his "pulse" record.

The DePauw graduate suggests that the college editor study and find solutions to campus problems, present them to his readers, and write on subjects affecting students as a whole. The Kernel has made both studies and suggestions on new methods of registration, disbursement of class funds, conducting of campus dances, teaching methods, grades, and numerous other important phases of campus life.

"Those editors who strive to inform rather than to entertain perform a thankless task, and often a task without profit, but they play a vital role in the preservation of democracy."

—The Kentucky Kernel

—so far as we know tobacco was first used about 400 years ago

—throughout the years what one thing has given so much pleasure..so much satisfaction

Today the Governor of North Carolina says to the Governor of South Carolina—

"Have a cigarette"

TODAY people all over the world use tobacco in one form or another.

They chew it, they smoke it in pipes, they smoke cigars and cigarettes, and here is what an eminent physician said about cigarettes:

"I have been something of a student of cigarettes, and it is my belief that they offer the mildest and purest form in which tobacco is used."

Yes, nowadays the cigarette is the most popular form in which tobacco is used. A good cigarette certainly gives men and women a lot of pleasure.

Have a Chesterfield— For one thing—they're milder. For another thing—they taste better.

It was a matter of pride with a host in Colonial days that his guests should smoke tobacco grown on his own plantation.

Lynx Open Net Season Saturday With Millsaps

SLOW MATCHES ARE EXPECTED

Southwestern Net Team Has Not Been Picked

Southwestern inaugurates the 1935 Tennis Year when she meets the Millsaps netmen Saturday, at 2:30 p.m., on the college courts.

Neither team has been able to get in a lot of practice because of excessive rains, and for this reason no outstanding tennis is expected. Nevertheless the Majors have seen more practice than the locals and should give the Lynx a much harder fight than they did last year.

Barring unforeseen circumstances it is probable that the following men will represent Southwestern on the courts, in the order named: Dunlap, Ledsinger, Barefield, Cannon, and Butler.

Dunlap, Lynx ace, will meet the Millsaps' No. 1 man, and in all probability will experience no trouble in taking him. Ledsinger, last year's captain, is slated to meet the No. 2 opponent. Barefield who is a steady and ready man on the courts will see service Saturday. The two last year freshmen, Cannon, and Butler, have yet to prove their worth in varsity competition, but it is expected that they will show up well.

The doubles combination is also in doubt because of lack of play,

REDS DEFEAT WHITES 7 TO 6

Spring Football Continues Through Another Week

The Reds defeated the Whites 7-6 in Saturday's game as Coach Propst divided the Lynx and sent them through a long game.

Continuing the fine work he has been doing all season, Jimmy Sasser, freshman, played first class football. Sasser is a deceptive runner and is no easy man to hold once tackled.

Spring football will continue one more week, with one more game played. Note books with all the plays diagramed were taken up yesterday. Each player was required to keep a note book.

A parring of Dunlap-Ledsinger for the No. 1 double combine, and Cannon-Butler for the remaining team would not be a wild guess. However, good 'double' material is not scarce in the Lynx camp and a sure prophecy is hard to make.

In spite of the weather and other hindrances that have befallen the Lynx netters this year, they are determined to make a good showing against their first foes and hope to start the season with a bang.

Sport Scribble

Mac Givens, protege of Coach Haygood, is making good in his first attempt at the coaching game. Reports from the Tech Highschoolers say that Givens is well liked and knows his game. It is also said that Mac, who has charge of the Tech High line, has the ability to show his charges how to do the work.

Nice going, Mac, and may you have a winning team next year. Our own linemen are getting along pretty well, also, according to talk that is going around. It seems that Flossy Ray, in particular, is gaining in his ability to hit.

The longer the Spring grind progresses, the more confidence the Lynx gridmen get. Even if we have got some good backs in line for next year this should not be the cause of so much optimism.

The golf situation is fast developing into one similar to the track slump. Nothing has been done in the way of arranging even a few golf meets. The loss of our "redoubtable" Weddington should not take all hope from us. Several meets could be made. This is proven by the fact that the University of Georgia has invited the Lynx to attend the Intercollegiate Meet held in Athens, Ga. Such men as Crosby and Bethea are well able to represent Southwestern in this event.

Southwestern meets Millsaps on the courts Saturday. This meet should be taken much more seriously than it is. While the Majors haven't the best team in the South, they certainly have a team that could easily take the Lynx if they should get half a break. For this reason it seems inconsistent that the locals should insist on this being an easy match.

It is true that the Lynx haven't lost a meet in two years, but it is also true that the Lynx haven't played any real teams in those two years. This year we get a shot at a big time team, and should show them a lively afternoon. Alabama doesn't look for much trouble from us, and it would not be impossible to surprise them.

But nevertheless, how can our netters feel so confident when they haven't played a great deal of tennis this year, and—another fact that shouldn't be forgotten—we don't even have a coach, that is, a professional or paid one like the colleges we think we can take.

EXPERIENCES OF LYNXITES AS EMBARRASSMENT GETS AHEAD

Situations Not Always 'Well in Hand' As Shown By Happenings On And Off Campus

What every young college student should know is how to keep his color down and his courage up when facing a delicate situation. But woe is us! Sometimes the book rules don't go, and this is what has happened in the past to various campusites.

Gus Pitt, the shrinking Paris panic, suffers great embarrassment whenever he is around members of the fairer sex. Or for that matter, anyone can cause Gussie to turn pink with the slightest glance in his direction.

Jean Reid says: "Running out of the girls' social room one sunny morning and seeing a very dear girl friend down at the opposite end of the corridor, I blithely threw her a kiss. At the same moment I happened to look over at Harte Thomas sitting on a radiator in the cloister, and several people who were scattered around got absolutely the wrong impression—they thought the kiss was for Harte."

Dorsey Barefield—"Way back when I was a freshman we had a shirt-tail parade. After the parade all the freshmen were planning to crash the Orpheum, but one other fellow and I found that we were the only ones and there were fifteen wicked-looking ushers ready to battle us. If only I could beat up those guys who got cold feet and caused me to get thrown out!"

Irene Battle, the cute freshette reporter, trying hard to get a feature story on the people going to the Clarksdale game, ups to Harvey Jones, and says, "Are you going to the game at Clarksdale?" Finally some kind soul told her that Harvey was the quarterback of the team. Murrah Rasberry's most embarrassing predicament was the time someone yelled, "Ray for Barefield!" after "Razz" had just made a touchdown.

Blanche Boyd: My face was the rosiest when after the third date the young man asked me what was my name.

Gordon Medaris remembers the time he was in the Jonesboro Baptist Church and dropped the collection plate full of Arkansas nickels and dimes.

Elizabeth Pearce lost her noted dignity and poise the time she and Max Ussery were feeling Halloweeny and such. "Max picked up a hearth broom and waved it over my head, announcing that he was passing a bad spell over me." To get even with him Lib grabbed up the poker, saying that she was going to pass a bad smell over him.

Sivley Moore, the handsome brute, is always having embarrassing moments when he is the only man in a group of girls. (With those good looks how can he?) But when he has one alone, his embarrassment easily fades away. (Note: He should take lessons from Dr. Shannon Fisher and overcome his shyness around the ladies).

Professor Shewmaker has never been embarrassed. He says that it is his job to embarrass freshmen, and only seniors have the power to turn his countenance pink. (The only senior scholars he has are reading students whom he teaches privately).

Rose Lynn Barnard tells us of a dream. "I dreamed I was holding a black cat in my arms, and it turned into a baby. Boy, was I glad to wake up!"

L. A. Duffee (once upon a time) found himself the center of attraction in a bunch of dames, and there was not a Chi O in the crowd. Was he mortified?

So my readers, if inferiority is a sign of superiority, Southwestern students have reached the peak of superiority.

JUST A BEDTIME ESCAPE IN DR. COOPERS' ROOM-ROBB HALL

True Dope Given Out On Robbites When Caught Off Guard By Sou'wester Reporter

Mr. Editor: While browsing around in Robb Hall, one night, looking for cigar stubs, I beheld the beautiful domestic scene which I will attempt to describe here. It of course occurred before Dr. Cooper went away. P. HIGGINBOTTOM.

Dr. Cooper was getting ready to tell his nightly bedtime story. Huckabee, a bundle of eagerness, climbed upon the professor's knee, from which position he spat a volley of Star Tavy tobacco juice in the general direction of the waste basket. Some—a very small part of it—got there. Some of it went in Lumpkin's eye—he was reclining on the floor at the professor's feet—and it made him just a little mad and he vowed to call on Huck to say the blessing tomorrow. He did not want to hear any old bedtime story either—he wanted to use Dr. Cooper's phone.

Dr. Cooper thrust his hands deep into his pockets—much deeper than should be necessary—and made one of those peculiar, but characteristic, grimaces which Dr. Atkinson would call a suppressed burp.* This over, he glowered at Lapsley—he didn't much like Lapsley any more. But, just the same, Lapsley squatted complacently on the floor, eagerly awaiting the doctor's story. Not that he gave a hoot, but some one would have to try to explain it to Huck the next day, and so it would be a lot less trouble if he listened.

Just then Lumpkin decided to open the door to let in a little air, and what do you suppose happened? Nothing. That is, nothing, except Benton and Womble, who had been listening at the keyhole, fell sprawling into the room. If you want to make something of that, well, all right. Benton let loose a string of oaths as he started to get up, but he had broken his glasses, and was getting down, rather than up, he was that blind. He couldn't see a wink—but who's gonna wink at him, anyway?

Womble had fallen under the table, but got right up, and didn't even notice it until he started to walk out and tripped over the center piece. A taller man—say Pop-Gun Kelley—might have bumped his head. Meanwhile, Benton was groping around wildly, hors du combat, without the glasses. As he groped out into the night, Womble leaned against the waste basket and sobbed, "Oh, dear, oh dear, what shall I do?" But finally—that is, after two hours—ever brainy, ever equal to any emergency, he burst out of the room with an ejaculation—at least, that's what I think it was. "I've got it. I'll put him to bed." And he wasn't a moment too soon, either, for where did he find Benton but on top of Palmer Hall, feeling his way along and muttering between curses, "That ——— door knob oughta be along here somewheres."

I guess you'll say, what were the other people in the room doing all this time? Well, Dr. Cooper was telling a bedtime story, and none of his listeners—even noticed the disturbance. I'm sorry we missed the

Sigma Nu Carries Out Project By Beautifying

Carrying on the beautification program of ODK, Sigma Nu Fraternity planted white roses on the campus facing University yesterday. The white rose is the national Sigma Nu flower; and cuttings were given by the Sigma Nu alumni of Memphis.

Mrs. Diehl selected the spot for planting and gave all needed information.

story. I know it was good because after Dr. Cooper put Huck's nightie on him and tucked him into bed he lay awake until 9 o'clock, just imagining what a swell orchestra leader Jack the Giant Killer would be.

*To the ordinary layman:** Dr. Cooper's burps, cultivated at Oxford, are scarcely noticeable, but if any of you have read my treatise, "A Burp's a Burp for a' that and a' That," you will spot them right off, although they are as they should be, seen and not heard. I wish, while I think of it, to thank Mr. Murray Raspberry, also, for valuable aid in the preparation of this masterpiece.

COOINGS Of A CO-ED

With many a tear we bid farewell to our editor and his cohorts who are journeying to New Orleans . . . wish we could go with them . . . and the news goes on and on and on . . . Henry Hammond's new nose seems to be a weakness with these here co-eds . . . he's always surrounded . . . prominent members of his group are . . . Thelma Drevvelbis, Maxine Alcott and Doris Bowden . . . safety in numbers? . . . Cheesie has a new heart beat in the person of Henry Nall . . . but Francis Smith figures on there somewhere . . . howsaboutit "Uncle"? . . . "Strick" has been known to sigh happily at the mere mention of the name Randolph-Macon now-a-days . . . better stop, Sidney, we girls are getting jealous . . . we've noticed our co-eds coming into their own against those high-school gals . . . for example; Margaret Stockard and Jimmy Watson . . . they study together daily . . . and this Bernadine Taylor-Warren Prewitt affair just keeps on and on . . . from high-school to college . . . isn't that sweet? . . . "Mag" Winchester quite lamed herself at that skating party t'other nite . . . among the well known faller-downers were, Shannon Fisher, Blanche Boyd and Erin Gary . . . We dare Dickie the Lamb to ask Betty Foley why she blushed so-o-o much at the truth game . . . wonder of wonders in this time of depression . . . Dorothy Walker was the recipient of an orchid the nite of the Tri Delt dance . . . oh, ecstasy! . . . Walter May was her date, girls . . . Wayne Paullus, 'tis said, has succumbed to the charms of a Hunt . . . not Betty (Mills), her sister . . . we have been hearing things about "Tiger" and J. O. . . quite a few girls are envious of Teresa's good fortune too . . . and Cunningham and Sam almost had a quarrel at the College Club but we see them together again so everything's all right . . . but we are wondering about the Mac Givens-Dorothy Jackson case . . . it has been going on so darn long but then those Tri Delt really keep their men . . . just why doesn't Glen Gates find a girl.

Calvin Hall

Well, it's been some time now since any news about us has been printed, and to tell the truth there hasn't been anything much we could tell you about. Everything we do is known before we ourselves know it, so what is there to do. Of course, Dr. Bassett is always news. He scored against the other night when he quelled a third story uprising. If you could only hear about it.

Duffee is up and about again after a long struggle with the mumps—if that's what he had is called.

Dunlap Cannon becomes a champion. He won some ping-pong tournament sponsored by the Commercial Appeal. Great stuff, eh what?
