

STUDY HALL FOR FAILURES BEGINS MONDAY NIGHT; ODK AND ALPHA THETA PHI TO COACH

3 NIGHTS WEEKLY
101 Failing In 4 Subjects Is Reported

Monday night Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary fraternity, working in collaboration with Alpha Theta Phi, local scholastic society, will begin their annual study hall for freshmen who are failing in subjects during the first report period.

Three nights of every week will be devoted to this study period, beginning at 6:30 and ending at 8. There will be three classes of forty-five minutes each night. Only two subjects will be tutored during a night, but during the weekly period a total of four subjects will be covered. Three nights will be devoted to each subject.

Freshmen failing in English 1, Mathematics 1, Chemistry 1, or Bible 1 are invited to attend these study sessions, and all freshmen football players failing in any of these subjects will be required to attend. Coach Harold High will report any of the football men who need coaching.

A chapel announcement will be made as to the place of meeting and the subjects to be discussed on the particular nights. Under the direction of Francis Benton, president of Alpha Theta Phi, the study group hopes to place on the dean's passing list those now listed as failures in subjects.

Able assistants have been selected from the student body to help in the coaching of the delinquents. English assistants are Jameson Jones and Rayford Herbert; mathematics assistants, William Walker and Richard Drake; Bible assistants, Young Wallace and Herbert Cain; and chemistry assistants are Glen Gates and William Cox. All of these men stand high in the courses in which they have been chosen to assist.

A grand total of 101 were reported as failing for this first half report period in the four above subjects. Failures in English totaled 34; chemistry failures were 20; mathematics, 30; and 17 failed Bible. Such a report does not mean that the students fall the course for the semester, but it does indicate that much work must be done to catch up in the subjects.

COLLEGE ROSTER SWELLS TO 491

Students Here

Due to the unceasing efforts of the committee headed by Mr. Poston Maury to enroll 500 students this year in Southwestern, the school almost reached this goal by classifying 471 day students, and 20 extension students who are studying at night under the direction of Dr. Robert Pond.

Thirteen states and one foreign country are represented in this number, led by Tennessee, which contributes 330 students to the college. However, 289 of these are residents of Memphis. Mississippi is second in number with 55, followed closely by Arkansas and Alabama with 38 and 32, respectively.

Tabulation of students according to residence are:

Alabama	32
Arkansas	38
Florida	1
Kansas	1
Kentucky	1
Louisiana	5
Michigan	1
Mississippi	55
Missouri	2
New York	1
Rhode Island	1
Tennessee (Memphis 289)	330

Reveal Talent

The final tryouts for the Southwestern Players will be held next Monday, October 28th, according to Bob Armstrong, president of the organization. The preliminary tryouts were held last Wednesday and are being completed today. The committee chosen to assist in the picking of the new members consist of the following: For Wednesday tryouts, Sarah Louise Tucker, Kate Galbreath, Walter May, and Bob Armstrong; and for Friday tryouts, Betty Hunt, Marian Spencer, Charles Taylor, and Joe Bell.

The tryouts are showing promise of new material for the dramatic organization and some real competition is expected during the final tryouts. The new members will be chosen from a long list of those who signed up for the tryouts and it has been reported that not over 30 of this group will be made members. Thus, it will take real talent and hard work to make the Players, which should result in excellent performances. Those asked to try out are:

What Is Omicron Delta Kappa?

By DR. SAMUEL H. MONK

The national honorary society, Omicron Delta Kappa, was founded in 1914 at Washington and Lee University by a group composed of students and members of the faculty. Since that time it has spread rapidly throughout the South and the West, where it has established itself as a useful organization on many campuses. From the first the aims of the society were as follows:

1. To recognize men who attain a high standard of leadership in college activities.

2. To bring together the most representative men in all phases of college life and thus to create an organization which will help to mould the sentiment of the institution on questions of local interest.

3. To bring together students and faculty on a basis of mutual interest, understanding, and helpfulness.

These aims in large measure determine the peculiar organization of the various circles—four members of the faculty form a constant element in the membership, each man serving for a term of four years; student members are elected on a basis of achievement, their number being determined by a fixed percentage of male students in the institution where the circle is located. In bringing together representatives of the student body and of the faculty, Omicron Delta Kappa, wherever it is established, offers a unique opportunity for the exchange of varied views and for common action on the part of the two elements that make up a college. But it remains primarily a student organization, existing for the purpose of fostering ideas that may be of benefit to the college as a whole.

Phi Circle was established at Southwestern in 1927, President Diehl, three members of the faculty, and twelve students becoming the charter members. Since that time it has functioned continuously and has initiated sixty student members, in addition to a number of faculty and honorary members. The present membership of the circle is as follows: Jameson Jones, president; Richard Dunlap, vice-president; Francis Benton, Harvey Jones, Professors P. N. Rhodes, A. Theodore Johnson, Gordon Siefkin, and S. H. Monk, secretary and treasurer.

FIRST SERVICE HELD

Johnson, Herbert, Fuller,
Cannon Are Neophytes

Omicron Delta Kappa, national honor society, completed its first tap service of the year this morning in student assembly with the selection of Curtis Johnson, Rayford Herbert, Thomas Fuller, and Dunlap Cannon as new members. The service will be duplicated in the early spring with a similar selection of men students. Jameson Jones, president of the local chapter, presided over the program.

Membership of the organization is limited to three per cent of the men students in college. Acting Dean A. T. Johnson is a member of ODK.

Selections are based upon leadership ability, character, and activity in campus affairs. The following things are also taken into consideration before the choices are made: scholarship, athletics, non-athletic activities (exclusive of publications), and publications.

Rayford Herbert has distinguished himself in many ways during his four-year stay at Southwestern. At present he is president of the senior class, editor of the year book, chairman of the Elections Commission, member of the Honor Council (junior and senior years), and is reading for scholastic honors. Herbert is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity.

Thomas Fuller, during the three years that he has been a student at the college, has become the editor of The Sou'wester, student newspaper, president of the Southwestern Christian Union, member of Tau Kappa Alpha, national debating fraternity, was former business manager of the Southwestern Players, and former member of the Lynx Club and Honor Council. He is a member of Kappa Sigma social fraternity.

Curtis Johnson is a member of the senior class, president of the student body, and head of Sigma Nu social fraternity. Last season Johnson was a valuable member of the varsity debating team and was one of the four men chosen to make a 2,000-mile tour, debating colleges in Tennessee, Georgia, North and South Carolina. Johnson is a charter member of the local chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, debating fraternity. He is a member of the Elections Commission.

Dunlap Cannon, junior, is star tennis player, making the varsity in his sophomore year, debater, and member of The Sou'wester staff. Cannon last year won the ODK cup presented to the most outstanding sophomore. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity.

HUBER ELECTED TO CHI BETA PHI

Faculty Members Limited To One A Year

At a meeting held last week by the Chi Beta Phi, scientific fraternity at Southwestern, Dr. F. C. Huber was elected to their group. Other faculty members include Dr. Davis, Dr. Pond, and Dr. Baker. Dr. Huber is professor of chemistry and is the first honorary member to be chosen from the science faculty. William Cox will preside over the initiation, with Yonts and Armstrong to be in charge of the ceremonies and rituals. The Chi Beta Phi limits its faculty members to one new member each year.

Meteorologist Brill will be the guest speaker at the next meeting to be held on Wednesday at 7:30 in the Science Hall. Meteorologist Brist is at the head of the Memphis Weather Bureau. The members of the Chi Beta Phi extend to the student body an invitation to be present at their next meeting.

HALLIBURTON TELLS ALL IN SPECIAL INTERVIEW

By JOE P. STUART

(Special Interview to the Sou'wester.)

Richard Halliburton has wanted to be a writer ever since he was old enough to spell. And his prescription for a successful journalist is simple—just play baseball with yourself.

"To get to first base," according to Dick, as he is known to his friends, "eagerness is essential, while determination is what gets one to second. Willingness to sacrifice parties, friends, and other distractions puts him in scoring position, and home base is reached if the writer is a little 'crazy.'" "Crazy," according to Halliburton, is his own word for an exaggerated imagination. "A writer who does only ordinary things and associates with people who know and do exactly as he does can never write anything very interesting."

Editor of his school paper in Lawrenceville, N. J., was Halliburton's first effort toward authorship. Then he became editor of the daily paper published by Princeton University. Interrupting his college career, he shipped on a freighter, hoping to find material to be used later in a book. He took very little money with him, believing that the less money he had, the more of the life he wished to write about would be seen.

He finished college and spent two more years on a freighter at the age of 21. While on the second trip he took notes of what he saw and wrote several articles for the Commercial Appeal. C. P. J. Mooney, who was publisher of the Commercial Appeal at the time, suggested that he take his notes and write a book.

During the next year nine publishing houses rejected the book now known as "The Royal Road to Romance." Each time he received a rejection he would rewrite. Finally, the tenth time, Bobbs-Merrill Publishing Co. printed the story, a best seller. Over a half million copies have been sold to date.

More books followed, "The Glorious Adventure," and then "New Worlds to Conquer." All of his books have been best sellers and most have been translated into 15 or 20 languages.

The king of Arabia, Ibn Saud, is probably the man who has impressed Halliburton most in recent years. Halliburton is credited with solving the Romanoff mystery. Modestly he says that the executioner would have given the story to anyone who had been present at the moment. "I believe the story to be the truth," Halliburton says, "since the man was on his death bed and felt that he had to get the horrible murder off his conscience. He was half-delirious, which probably made him tell the truth and not try to distort facts, as he probably would, if he had not been dying, since he would have realized what would have been his punishment.

For a man in Halliburton's seven league boots, French is the most important language to know. "French is the language used throughout Europe, Asia, and Africa. If I had not known French, it would have been much more difficult to travel as I have. Even in Ethiopia, French is a predominant language."

Halliburton is an exceedingly tall man. He is around thirty-five and talks with a half-Northern accent, although he is a Memphis man.

He has followed his prescription for reaching home base, for who, lacking an excessive imagination, would think of swimming the Hellspont or following, on an elephant, Hannibal's path across the Alps?

PARAGRAPHS

ODK

This issue of The Sou'wester is dedicated to the aims and purposes of Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary fraternity.

Appearing in this edition is a short account of the history of ODK, both nationally and on the campus of Southwestern. Read this article by Dr. Samuel H. Monk and you will without fail realize the value and importance of such an organization on any college campus.

This organization is fast coming to be recognized as the leading honorary fraternity on the American campus, because of its valued assistance to the institutions where chapters are located and the high type of all-round leadership Omicron Delta Kappa recognizes and rewards.

Phi Circle has accomplished numerous achievements since its installation and has proven its worth many times in the comparatively short time Southwestern has been the possessor of an ODK chapter. These achievements are to be found elsewhere in this edition.

Yes, Phi Circle has been successful on the Lynx campus. But that is not the whole story. No groups, or group of groups, can hope to accomplish all, or even half, they set out to do without the co-operation of the students at large. In the past ODK has had the aid of the student body and has the right to expect it in the future.

In all probability, the chapter has plans in mind for the coming year. When the members announce their intentions, students should not hesitate to back them up. If this is done, Southwestern will receive full benefits for its trouble.

SCATTERING PAPERS

From the looks of the campus last Friday, about 12:30 or 1 o'clock, someone would have thought that a low-flying aeroplane had swooped over the campus and, without mercy, sprayed us with several loads of newspapers.

However, such was not the case. The terrible appearance was the result of thoughtless action on the part of the students who, after a careless glance at The Sou'wester, had thrown it to the mercy of the wind. Not that the writer is advocating a closer reading of the paper, but only suggesting that those taken from the distribution box be dropped in a nearby wastebasket after they have served their purpose, and not scattered over the campus.

POWER OF YOUTH

(Syracuse University Daily Orange.) European youth has long been recognized as a vital force in government affairs. "Every nation abroad tries to contact her young people and draw them together. Their vast political influence cannot be overemphasized," as Robert A. Klein, president of the New York University day student organization, said after a European tour during which he studied the youth movement.

Theorists here have always been awake to the strength of the student body. Political parties are also awakening to the strength which the thirty million votes of students can give them. Both Republicans and Democrats recently made bids for college student followings when they began the organization of young Democratic and young Republican clubs.

These thirty million votes can exert a vast and beneficial influence. But the strength of the present student body lies even more in its intelligence and leadership, yet to be proven.

With politicians and theorists beckoning them, students are being bombarded with propaganda from all sides. They need to discuss what they hear, dissect their information and discover the truth.

Here as nowhere else, the student has the opportunity to study current politico-socio-economic happenings. He can challenge, criticize, and learn. His two greatest assets are his critical outlook and his open, far-sighted, and intelligent mind.

Youth can make today's student opinion tomorrow's government policies.

Exchange Notes

In 1933, a state university in the South discovered and trained a brilliant halfback through his freshman year. In the fall of 1934 he did not return. An intensive search found him on the squad of a Western school. A prominent political figure whose heart was with the Southern team notified the boy that if he did not return his father would lose his position with the state highway department. This apparently was a perplexing problem for the boy, but listen to what happened. The whole family of the lad was transported en masse to the Western university, where his father got an even better position in the highway department in that state.—The College Profile, Hendrix College.

To the wallflowers: Don't grieve and wince with envy as you watch a gifted pair of dancers glide by, floating effortlessly as peanut shucks in a mud puddle. They may be in love, but on the other hand a criminology class at Syracuse University has discovered that morons can dance as well, if not better, than most people of normal mentality. They are gifted with an abnormally developed sense of rhythm, the students declare.—The College Profile, Hendrix College.

Penn State frosh are this year paying for the privilege of being rushed by fraternities. Contrary to the time-worn tradition, the yearlings are being assessed a fee of fifty cents when they apply for date cards prior to the opening of the rushing season. Non-payment of the fee results in deferment of pledging for thirty days... should the freshman be asked to pledge.

The fraternity coffers will profit to the extent of about three hundred and fifty dollars as a result of the new method, which has been employed with much success at the University of Michigan and the University of Wisconsin.

Prominent liberals, professors, and student bodies of Western colleges have started a campaign of protest against the refusal of President Ruthven, University of Michigan, to allow the return of three students this fall. The three were requested not to re-enter for reasons not clearly stated by President Ruthven, who wrote them vague letters during the summer notifying them of the action taken. The students' involved claim that they were requested not to re-enter because of their political beliefs, as their anti-war and anti-fascist activities were frowned upon last year by the administration.

Cambridge, Mass.—Dr. Kirtley F. Mather, Harvard geology professor, indicated that he would refuse to take the "loyalty oath" prescribed for teachers by the new Massachusetts law should the university ask the faculty to subscribe to it. He said he believed most Harvard professors would be with him. Dr. Mather characterized the oath bill as undemocratic and as constituting "the entering wedge in America for additional legislation that ultimately would regiment all schools, churches and cultural institutions in obedience to whatever state officials happen to be in power."

Twenty states now have laws re-been varied. Each year it sponsors a study hall for students who are failing and who wish to have special tutoring. The study hall is carried on by volunteers from the student body and has been an effective means of helping men to catch up in work in which they have been delinquent. This year Alpha Theta Phi, the local scholastic society, is co-operating with Phi Circle in organizing the tutorials.

Other yearly activities include the smoker given each fall for new students, to which all men undergraduates and members of the faculty are invited. The circle has also co-operated with each senior class in collecting the gift that each graduating class makes to the college before it leaves.

Last year Omicron Delta Kappa was active in other ways. It procured a new marching song, which was composed by Mr. Louis Nicholas, a former member of Phi Circle. It promoted a program to urge the fraternities and the sororities to work with the college, the result of which is evident today in benches, shrubs, etc., all the gift of one or another Greek letter society. It was largely through the interest of O. D. K. that the Sandhedrin was reorganized so as to permit a freshman representative and in order to diminish hazing of the strenuous kind. Perhaps the best single contribution of the circle to college life last year was the organization of the Elections Commission, which supervises all student elections and which is intended to do away with political machines on the campus, thus increasing the spirit of democracy which is the essence of a healthful campus life.

Tank Tops Terrain

Well, well, boys and girls, here I am back on the air again with the latest on "Blessed Events." I scooped this from Winnie Winchel's column, which I happened to see before going to press. It happened exactly at 10:25 C. S. T., unbeknownst to everybody except the elements themselves. Quote from Winnie: "I didn't think Old Mother Earth had it in her, but I 'Tank' she has now." Do you get it, children? Some stuff, eh, what!

CHAPEL YODELERS REGISTER REASONS FOR "8:30 MEEKNESS"

Why don't more people join the singing in chapel and make it louder if not more harmonious? The weakness has been troubling many students who, like Jane Leavell, really enjoy singing, or like Kate Galbreath, who sings each verse in a different voice.

A reporter investigated and found many different reasons for the students' failure to sing.

Here are some of them: Harry Webb: Don't know songs and tunes.

Floy White (who sits next to Harry): When Harry does know the tunes, I can't hear myself, so that's why I don't sing more.

Porter Chappell: I can't sing. Lillian Price: I enjoy listening to other people sing.

Lola Sale: I sing when I know the tune, and that's not very often.

Tom McLemore: Some mornings I'm moody and some I'm sleepy. Jane Bray: My voice is rather hoarse in the morning.

Roy Littlefield: Don't know how. Neely Saufley: Haven't a voice. Nell Thompson: I start off beautifully.

Ralph Brown: I don't get a chance. Mary Anna Stockard: Some of the songs are pitched too high.

Bernadine Taylor: I'm too sleepy. Audrey Townsend: I don't know one tune from another.

William Nakajima: I always have a cold in the morning.

Betty Kate Davidson: I am so fascinated by the faculty's gusto that I forget to sing.

Professor Kelso says that it is possible to get moonstroke same as sunstroke. I add, however, that the results are far from being similar; the chief difference being a park bench.

From the contents of Winnie Winchel's column, I think it should be renamed The Garbage Can.

If a putrid odor greets your nostrils when you open this paper, I am sure you can find the trouble in this column or the above referred Garbage Can.

Above a chorus of awful "oh yeah's" from the squad, we proceed to broadcast that the Lynx enjoy a week's vacation.

Coach Propst taking advantage of the fact that the next game is a whole week distant, proceeds in pre-season style to elucidate this ticklish job of tackling.

Coach lines the Bobcats on the 50 yard line and the Lynx on the 20. One of the Freshmen takes the ball and starts sailing down towards one of the varsity men.

It seemed that Richard Parker, George McDonald and little Rick Mays are the best form tacklers. By the way, Rick is just a short for maverick, meaning "little bull."

The Intra-Mural Board is considering a new rule, which has practically already passed, to the effect that every fraternity and the non frat group will be represented in the Intra-Mural Club.

With the season only half over, the Lynx have already scored over 50% more points than the total of last year. The points stand 71 to last year's 41.

STEWART HALL

The regularity with which the time to write this column comes around gives this contributor a terrible feeling of remorse—not that Stewart is scarce ground for newsworthy items, but rather that such an abundance of material exists, and it is the sad duty of this columnist to sort and select this matter—would that it could all be printed—but, alas, it cannot be.

Stewart's newest Cassanova King, Mont Wood, religiously devotes his first thirty minutes after dinner and his last thirty before retiring to the entertainment of his lady friend, via the telephone route.

Look-a-likes—Gauchet and Gable (at least he says so).

CALVIN HALL

The interior of historic old Calvin, last week saddened and bleak, seems once again to have taken on a cheerful air. Reason: That prince of humor, James Alsop, alias Dave Alfop, has returned from a sojourn in the hospital. He talks not of operations or doctors, but only of blond Nurse McNally.

Gem of the week was Harry 'Snake' Phelan's fruitless nocturnal journey to the Peabody and its accompanying disillusionment. But to be specific, Rodney Brasher told Phelan a girl had called him on the phone. From Phelan's questions, he found out the name of a girl who would possibly have called him. Then he asked P. S. Weaver, that ace female impersonator, to call from Robb and imitate Phelan's Sally. The pseudo-Sally told Phelan she was staying at the Peabody and that he could see her tomorrow.

PASS RECEIVER

Jimmy Haygood, senior end, who has been playing good football for two years, is expected to be on the receiving end of several passes in the Howard conflict.

WHO'S WHO

Note: This is the first of a series of articles featuring a prominent senior athlete. They are in appreciation of the hard work and sacrifice of these men for Southwestern.

James J. Haygood, Jr., who is the senior end for the Lynx, has been associated with this football business for quite some time. In fact, this is his seventh year in the manly sport.

Jimmy was born some 22 years ago in Arkadelphia (believe it or not), Arkansas. Soon after, when the family moved to Tuscaloosa and when young Jimmy was in Junior High, the teacher sent him out of the room for "cussing" when he told her, in answer to her dignified inquiry, that he came from Arkadelphia.

Jimmy remained in Tuscaloosa through his second year in high school where he was first string center.

Jimmy continued high school at Tech, where he continued to play center for the Yellow Jackets.

Came time to enter college and logically enough Jimmy came to Southwestern, where Jimmy Haygood, Sr., one of Southwestern's best liked coaches, had just begun to coach "his boys." Jimmy, Jr., incidentally, was elected president of his freshman class.

Under the experienced eye of his dad, Jimmy made great progress as a footballer. However, he was switched to end because of his height and because of his ability to snag passes. The Lynx have won games and they've lost some too during Jimmy's time; but in each the opponents were well aware of the fact that the Haygood chap had been in the game.

Haygood ends his football as well as his scholastic career this year. He is a member of Kappa Sigma social fraternity and president of the S Club.

When asked what he will do when out of school, Jimmy answered that he didn't know. But when his little sister, Nancy, was asked the same question, she replied that "He is gonna earn a lotta money for me"; which only goes to show who's boss around the Haygood camp.

lan she was staying at the Peabody and that he could see her tomorrow. But Phelan couldn't wait. With a gleam in his eye, he took a bath, slicked down his hair, and dressed within an inch of his life. 'Twas a long trip on the street car and bitter was his disappointment when he discovered the ruse.

Gilbert Pitt comes over every night from Stewart (which has been called a practical laboratory to test the survival of the fittest theory) to call up certain girls, among them Ann Maury and Elizabeth McKellar.

Erskine Fall's name has been linked with a certain Lucille Logan.

Calvin men regret to admit that their heretofore undisputed title of best-dressed must be relinquished to Robb's Herbert Cain, who, resplendent in sombrero, boots, and tarpaulin, has not only captured that title but is reported to have many feminine hearts a-twitter.

George Humphrey keeps a list of his girls in a notebook. From time to time he scratches one out or underlines one. The list is at present about fifteen strong.

LYNXCATS DEFEAT MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE 13-0 AT STATE FAIR

Nickells And Williams Are Outstanding For Lynx

Although the underdog, the Southwestern Lynx came through to trounce Mississippi College, 13-0, before 2,500 fans at the Mississippi State Fair in Jackson Friday.

The Lynx, although outplayed during the first half, never allowed the Choctaws within their 20-yard line.

Clay Nickells, Lynx back, was responsible for both touchdowns. Prewitt made the extra point.

Coach Propst started his second team. With Morton and Jennings doing most of the ball carrying, the team advanced to the Choctaw three-yard line, where they lost the ball on downs. The regular team then went in and advanced the ball to the point where it was lost on downs. The Lynx's next thrust at the Choctaw goal proved successful, with Nickells taking the ball over center.

Early in the game Lynx supporters received the big scare of the game when the Lynx were penalized to their one-yard line. Neil Tapp came to the rescue, however, and kicked to the 40. Then Cy Williams, who was backing up the line, stepped back to grab one of Hitt's passes. The Lynx then, with the ball on the 20, pulled a pass which was intercepted by the Choctaw center on Southwestern's 30. Cy Williams again saved the day for the Lynx when he intercepted his second pass, and from then on the Lynx were never threatened.

Southwestern's second score came early in the last period, when Nickells took the ball over from the Choctaw 41 after the Lynx had some consistent ground gaining.

INTRAMURAL TO CHANGE RULING

Quanyth And Sibley Aid In Directing Activities

A new ruling, making only one man from each fraternity eligible for an intramural coat at the end of the year, is under consideration by the intramural board. In this way each fraternity will be equally represented for the intramural club. The man participating in the greatest number of athletic events for each fraternity will be awarded a coat and an honorary membership in the intramural club.

Johnny Quanyth and Payton Sibley have been selected as assistants to aid in the direction of the various activities.

A complete standing of each organization will be published in the Sou'wester next week.

ROBB HALL

Johnny Watts is paying the price of dating a football player's girl. Every time he dates her he has to carry along a bodyguard.

Who would have suspected Bull Benton of being a lover of poetry? He gathered an audience the other night and recited "The Death of Jim Bludso" in such a manner that it brought tears to their eyes. The freshmen swear that they will go before the Sanhedrin before they will listen to it again.

The strain of college life has proved too much for Henry Mobley and Robert Montgomery. They went strolling over to the zoo during the heavy rain Tuesday without hats or raincoats. The general opinion is that they picked an appropriate place to walk to.

Sidney Strickland goes into a rage and stays that way for hours after seeing another admirer with Nannice. He threatened murder when two freshmen hinted that he couldn't take it.

Complaint note: Harvey Heidelberg, striving to keep his Adonis-like figure, keeps everyone awake all night by moving chairs around and skipping a rope.

"The time has come," the walrus said, To speak of better things . . . So I shall try to tell about The fun Southwestern flings."

And here is your Aunt Winnie back at last, mine readers.

The first on my list of notables for this week is Harvey Heidelberg. At last the truth will out, so they say. Because so-o-o very many co-eds have been questioning me about his stand-offishness, having only a date with Frank Oliver's girl, Braxton. I looked into the matter with great thought and this is what I found: The "Prince's" heart is still "Over There" in Munich. It seems that our prince left the touring party to date a lassie there, hence . . . Henry Nall is still everybody's "Uncle" as he traipses about with first one then another of the young misses, Chi O.'s and A. O. Pi's, both college and high school girls (I hope he notes that I called myself "Aunt" Winnie and takes the hint) . . . A little Chi O. is sporting the pin of one of the campus' most well known characters, an A. T. O. called "Lamb" by those who admire him most . . . And one of our smallest ladies went back to the olden days by swooning—only this was in class of one of the newest profs; because she might be embarrassed I shall not say her name, only that she is a blond A. O. Pi . . . Levin Coe is seen around and about with Ward Archer, called "Kansas City Roast Beef" by some little Chi O. . . That joy of Evergreen, "Womack," is pulling the well known wool over some mans about the campus' eyes by following in Betty Foley's footsteps in that she goes with Sivley Moore . . . What happened to the S. A. E. pin that Lucille Doane has been wearing for a few weeks? . . . I don't see it any more . . . If Tommy doesn't cut this you will know that he is still shaken by the happenings of last week, as his true lerve was hereabouts in the person of Beck McCormick . . . Dickie Thomas is becoming quite a man of the news, but this time I have a real scoop—he and Margaret Jones (of the Kentucky Jones) are seen together all the time these days . . . A new romance hereabouts is that of Wynn and Cobb—why, they even took each other on their own sorority and fraternity parties! . . . Dr. Strickler got the meanings of the letters M. and F. mixed up when he signed both girls and boys for the same gym class . . . A brilliant remark: "I didn't know old Mother Earth had it in her, but I tank differently now." Did you notice . . . With that I go to the football game just in time to hear the lovely cheers led by Cholly and the boys . . . one in particular, "He's Claudia's darling, he's Claudia's dream, but he means nothing to our team." Can you guess who I mean? . . . Barnyard viewing the game from under the stands . . . thence to the S. A. E. house and out of the drizzle . . . Freshman Poole living up to his name . . . at the Tri Delt tea dance it seemed that Hinky has become enamoured with a certain pledge . . . McKellar seems to be "pearcing" a last year's romance . . . Virginia Buchman gets the fur-lined pickle dish for being the best stander-upper . . . Milton, losing your power? . . . How did Gemmill get a date with the Sports Editor? . . . and then Shannon Fisher and Palmer Simpson have a five-dollar bet on a certain Chi O. . . those taxi fares are going to make a big dent in that five dollars, Palmer . . . BENNY'S CHATTER PACKS 'EM CLOSER TO LYNX RADIOS

Jack Benny's the tops! At least according to Southwestern students who were interviewed concerning favorite radio programs, and why.

His popularity is due to his natural wit and his ability to enjoy himself, say the students.

Some of the reasons for liking Jack Benny are:

- Dorothy Roberts: He's so dumb.
- Bob Williams: He's mighty funny.
- Will Tate: Because I love Jell-o.
- Betty Wells: He's really funny.
- Sara Louise Tucker: So clever.
- Shirley Ham: He sorta peps you up.
- Next to Mr. Benny comes Fred Waring.
- Adele Bigelow: Because of the inventions and Stoopnagle and Budd.
- Mary Frances Aydelotte: It's the best entertainment.
- Jimmy Haygood: It's the best.

Many others have different ideas about programs:

- Carolyn Cullum: Joe Sanders—he plays sweet and slow.
- Frances Flournoy: Guy Lombardo—I just love his music.
- Sam Mays: George Burns and Gracie Allen.
- Flossie Ray: Joe Penner.
- Fontaine Johnson: Eddie Cantor.
- Sarah Gracey: Frank Munn's voice.
- Georgianna Awsumb: The House of Glass.
- Ewing Carruthers: Grace Moore—I love her voice.
- Jack D'Arcy: Little Orphan Annie—nearer my state of mind.
- Rick Mays: Ted FlöRito.
- Lucile Woods—Clyde McCoy.
- Sarah Fox Martin: Glen Gray—he has such crazy skits.

Guess Who's Who

To satisfy the curiosity of every freshette . . . This is an ACTUAL interview with your favorite professor.

- Q. Where were you born?
A. Lexington, Ky., the center of culture and agri-culture.
- Q. How old are you?
A. As old as I feel—which is becoming too old—alas!
- Q. How long did it take you to acquire that Oxfordian accent? Do you find it hard to keep?
A. The accent was acquired gradually in the course of four years. It is now a tradition rather than an actuality. (Ask anyone who heard Prof. Jones.)
- Q. What do you think of freshmen girls here at Southwestern?
A. "Divinely fair and extremely intelligent." (What else could one say?)
- Q. Does it embarrass you each semester when the new crop of freshettes choose you as their Favorite among the faculty?

A. This is news to me and, if true, is due to the fact that freshettes haven't heard the real "powerhouses" of the faculty, Profs. Monk, Siefkin, Atkinson, etc.).

Q. Why did you choose being a college professor as your special calling?
A. So I could always face eternal youth and beauty.

Q. Do you realize that all we freshettes take delight in laying bets as to which outfit you'll appear in next? How do you feel about this?
A. Young ladies should not gamble—besides how can one bet on outfits when I have only one pair of trousers and two coats?

Q. If I told you that the upperclassmen had warned us that you'd appear in a brown tweed jacket with leather elbows, and that there was a certain passage in the Bible you'd refuse to read, what would your reaction be?
A. Some day upperclassmen will be wrong. Just because I've worn that coat nine years is no sign it's immortal. As to Bible passages, there are several I'd prefer not to read in public.

Q. Please enumerate your favorite activities in college (no matter what).
A. It's been so long ago I've forgotten—I believe I remember some dates.

Q. Is there any special ambition, desire, trip, etc., that you'd like to fulfill? If so, what?
A. Only that I be spared interviews.

Q. Had you rather waltz to "Liebestraum," or dance to something more modern?
A. I neither want to hear nor dance to "Liebestraum" (which I detest). Give me the Blues—I'll be singing them if you ever publish this.

"The old maid next door is repenting her sins; that's why she's so gloomy."

"I'll bet she never committed any sins."

"Those are the ones she's repenting."

Passenger (on aeroplane): "Is New York the next stop?"

Porter: "Yes, sah. Brush you off, sah?"

Passenger: "No thanks. I'll get off myself."

MALE STUDENTS HONORED BY ODK

Dickie Dunlap In Charge Of Entertainment

Last night at the Parkview Hotel, Omicron Delta Kappa were hosts to all men students and faculty members, honoring the new members of both groups. Under the direction of Richard Dunlap, master of ceremonies, two hours of entertainment were provided from 7 until 9.

Several talks, including one by Coach "Shorty" Propst, a short skit, and songs, were all enjoyed. Cigars, cigarettes, and Coca-Colas were provided for the guests.

Alvan Tate, feature clown of the campus for four years, furnished several of his inimitable imitations to the accompaniment of Bill Harwick and his band. Freshman Brown gave his own version of several of the most popular songs, and Perrin Hailey and McDermott featured the "12th Street Rag" among their piano duets.

Q. Had you rather waltz to "Liebestraum," or dance to something more modern?
A. I neither want to hear nor dance to "Liebestraum" (which I detest). Give me the Blues—I'll be singing them if you ever publish this.

ESQUIRE RELEGATED TO BACK PAGE BY MANY CAMPUS "STYLITES"

By OUIDA BICKNELL
Stylish men need not go to "Esquire" for advice any more. All they need to do is to keep in touch with the Southwestern campus.

Now, the white felt hats as worn by Gus Pitt are most fetching. No color relieves this creation except a slight smattering of dirt and grease here and there.

The football team has started the mode of wearing white shoes with the darkest of fall clothes. Those of Robert E. Lee and "Jug" Owens are especially smart.

Some young gentlemen (noticeably Stewart Hall) have set the fashion of sitting on the lawn in the latest of styles minus the shoes. Little pink toes give such an alluring touch to the costume.

Ties, a most important article of M'Lord's dress, seem to be leaning toward checks. There are 100,671,084 made from blue and white checked gingham. It has been intimated that the wearers are members of a secret order, headed by Miss Sara Carter, who has a dress of the same unusual material.

One wishing striking color combinations should follow the lead of Professor John Henry Davis (teacher of history in these here parts). One particularly charming ensemble worn by him is grey trousers and brown tweed coat with leather elbows. He wears with this a dark blue shirt and a contrasting green tie. Brown flats and blue and white checks are also worn.

However, one wishing the enchanting checked combination should see the one worn by Professor Jared Winger. His outfit consists of black and white sport shoes, black and white checked trousers, white coat, a dull gray shirt and green and red plaid tie.

Rainy day creations are most fetching. Almost any costume is accepted.

Milton Shoes is very alluring wearing no shoes or socks and with his trousers rolled midway between knee and hip. A black sweater should be worn with this, with a raincoat draped over the left arm.

Bobbing black umbrellas above masculine heads save the shiny, slicked coiffures which they have slaved hours to arrange.

Where there's smoke there's a kitch-nette.
