Ten Highest Ranking Sophs On Recent Tests Are Announced

Goodlett, Cain, McGee, Ferguson, Benton, Merrin, W. Smith, Ratcliff, Bruce, Schabel Lead

Southwestern has completed its fourth annual program of Sophomore testing given under the auspices of the American Council on Education. Approximately 150 colleges and universities take part in this testing feature, and Southwestern has always ranked high in the national averages.

The ten sophomores ranking highest in the total points made on English, Literary Acquaintance, and General Culture, are the following, listed in order of their ranks: Frank Oliver Goodlett, Herbert Cain, Allen McGee, Dorothy Ann Ferguson, Charles Barton, James Merrin, Waldemar Smith, Kalford Ratcliff, Anita Bruce, and Catherine Schabel.

In the English test, Herbert Cain ranked highest followed by Frank Goodlett, Allan McGee, Dorothy Ann Ferguson, James Merrin, and Robert Armstrong.

Frank Goodlett was the highest scorer on the Literary Acquaintance test. Herbert Cain and Charles Barton ranked second and third, respectively.

Frank Goodlett again ranked highest on the General Culture section. He was followed by Herbert Cain, Allan McGee, Dorothy Ann Ferguson, and Charles Barton. Goodlett was also top man in the Current Affairs group. Charles Schwenk and David Gibson were other high scorers.

All Sophomore scores will be posted opposite their respective numbers on the bulletin board in Palmer Hall at 12 today. If any student does not remember his number, he is requested to call at the registrar's office and find out.

The Southwestern scores will be sent to the Cooperative Testing Service in New York where they will be compiled with scores from the other colleges participating. The national percentile scores will be published in September.

COUNCIL VOTES TO JOIN N.S.F.A.

Composed Of 150 Colleges And Universities; Pres. To Visit Here

The Southwestern student body will be affiliated with the National Student Federation of America for the 1935-36 session, after action taken by the Student Council Tuesday morning.

The Federation is an organization composed of over one hundred and fifty of the outstanding universities and colleges in the country. The purpose of the group is to secure a more vocal and coordinated student opinion on national matters as well as college problems.

Thomas Neblett of Louisiana State University, elected president of the Federation at its meeting in Boston last December, is expected to arrive on the campus in the near future to explain the aims and purposes of the national organization.

103 Women Petition For Free Telephone

A petition from 103 women students requesting the installation of a free telephone for the co-eds was presented to the Student Council Tuesday.

The matter was referred to a committee, although it is highly doubtful whether any action can be secured, according to Tom Jones, who was in charge of the recent installation of free telephones in the men's dormitories.

Stylus To Select Eight From Thirty Invited

Eight new men will be selected by the Stylus Club of Sigma Upsilon at its meeting on May 10. The new members will be selected on the literary merit of their papers to be chosen from the 30 selections submitted.

At the same meeting new officers will be selected to take the places to be vacated by Rodney Baine, president, and Richard Thomas, secretary.

FOUR STUDENTS SELECTED FOR HALL OF FAME

Elder, Tom Jones, Gemmill And Meadow Are Honored

ONE PERCENT LIMIT

Pictures To Be Placed In Glass Case In Library

Four students have been elected to the 1934-35 Hall of Fame by the Student Council. Those honored are MacLemore Elder, student body president; Thomas Jones, student body vice-president; Sarah Elizabeth Gemmill, student body secretary, and James Meadow, editor of The Sou'wester. Pictures of the four will be placed in the glass enclosed case for that purpose in the Library. The Hall of Fame is limited to one per cent of the student body.

MacLemore Elder, aside from making one of the best student body presidents that Southwestern has had in years, was president of his sophomore and junior classes. He has been a member of the Student Council and the Honor Council for three years, serving as vice-president of the latter this year. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa and was presented the ODK cup for the sophomore nearest approaching the ideals of the fraternity. He was King of the April Fool Carnival Court this year.

Elder Football Captain
He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity. He played three years of varsity football and was chosen captain of the 1934 edition of the team. He was a candidate for a Rhodes Scholarship this year. Elder plans to enter Northwestern Law School in September.

Thomas Jones, senior from Corinth, Mississippi, has distinguished himself as a leader in student activities since he has been at Southwestern. He has served as president of Omicron Delta Kappa this year and as president of the Ministerial Club. He has participated in intramural athletics. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity and served as president of the group the first semester this year. He is a member of the editorial board of the Journal, quarterly literary magazine, and has been a contributor.

Resolutions Must Be Presented Council First

All resolutions to be presented before the student body for approval will first have to pass through the hands of the Student Council, according to a ruling recently passed by that group.

The change of policy was adopted to avoid the hasty passage of any resolutions that might later prove detrimental to the college. Occurrences in connection with peace demonstrations several weeks ago prompted the action.

Shaeffer Elected To Head Kappa Deltas

Martha Shaeffer was elected president of Kappa Delta sorority at the last regular meeting. She will replace Olive Black.

Lucile Patton is the new vice president; Virginia Hoshall, the new treasurer; Eleanor Coppedge, secretary; and Margaret Lueck, editor.

Jameson Jones To Head Omicron Delta Kappa

Jameson Jones was elected president of Omicron Kappa Delta for next year at the last meeting. Richard Dunlap was chosen vice president and Dr. S. H. Monk will serve as secretary of the national honorary leadership fraternity.

List Posted

A list of students owing Library fines has been posted on the Library doors. Students will be required to pay up these fines before being admitted to semester examinations, Mary Marsh, Librarian, announces.

Curtis Johnson New Sigma Nu President

Curtis Johnson was elected president of Sigma Nu fraternity Tuesday afternoon at a special meeting. Bob Williams is the retiring president.

Richard Mays is the new vice-president and George Reames is the treasurer. Mays replaces Don Johnson, and Reames occupies the position formerly held by Ed Hutchinson.

Curtis Johnson and Mays were elected as delegates to the national convention to be held in White Sulphur Springs, Va., next summer.

Other officers elected were: J. Breyspraak, national publication reporter; J. Ricker, recorder; J. Quanthy, sentinel; R. Hazlewood, assistant treasurer; and Ed Hutchinson, chaplain.

FEW DINES WITH DIEHLS, BUT FEW DINERS NOTICE

Dr. William Preston Few, President Of Duke University, Guest Of Dr. And Mrs. Diehl

By HARVEY HEIDELBERG

Unnoticed amid the clatter and stir in Neely Hall one balmy evening last week, President William Preston Few of Duke University dined with Dr. and Mrs. Diehl.

Back in 1912 when Dr. Few was president of Trinity College, Southwestern conferred on him the honorary degree, Doctor of Laws.

Several years after that, Sewanee, rearing its proud little towers in the clouds of the Cumberland mountains, refused to change its name for the colossal fortune of a North Carolina tobaccoist.

Since then the dollars of James "Buck" Duke have made obscure Trinity College one of the nation's richest universities and Dr. Few a prominent educator.

In a recent edition, Time described with its usual impudence "frail, goateed" President Few's gratitude to James Duke for "blowing his

BOARD SELECTS EDITORS FOR '36 PUBLICATIONS

ANNUAL TO HERBERT

Williams Manages Annual; Carlson Relected As Journal Editor

Editors and business managers for Southwestern publications next year were chosen this week by the Publications Board. Tommy Fuller, this year's sports editor, will succeed Jimmie Meadow as editor of The Sou'wester. Louis Duffee, assistant business manager this year, will be business manager of the publication succeeding Alvan Tate.

Rayford Herbert, junior, will edit the Senior Year Book with Robert Williams serving as business manager. Maurice Carlson was reelected editor of the Journal, quarterly literary magazine.

President Harvey Jones, Jack Crosby, Jameson Jones, Charles Taylor, Dr. A. T. Johnson and A. H. Sarafian composed the board that made the selections.

GIVE SEAT TO ELECTION GROUP

Watkins Represents New Election Body On Council

At its regular meeting held in Neely Hall Tuesday, the Student Council granted the newly-created Elections Commission a seat in that body.

Henry Watkins, president of the Elections Commission, will represent the group at all subsequent Council meetings this year.

The action of the Student Council was taken following a chapel program conducted by the new body Tuesday morning. The aims and purposes of the organization were set forth at that time.

AOPi Benefit Party Tomorrow Afternoon

Alpha Omicron Pi will have a benefit party Saturday at 2 p.m., at the Parkview Hotel.

The feature of the afternoon will be dance numbers by Mary Walton Sohm. Attendance prizes will be offered and tickets may be obtained from any member of the group.

tiny Trinity College into big Duke University." Students had protested the erection of a 10-foot bronze statue of Mr. Duke before the university's chapel, which also has stately cloistered halls. Dr. Few defended the institution's maker.

Of more real importance was his recent announcement that Duke and the University of North Carolina would share their faculties and equipment. Students will be able to work with books from both libraries and take courses at both institutions with a ready transfer of graduate credits.

Dr. Few is also one of the organizers of a new association to develop higher standards of advanced study in Southern universities and colleges. His trip to Memphis was to meet with Methodist college presidents and discuss problems, for him, far from the noise created by the "vulgar cigar" in the bronze hand of Mr. Duke's likeness.

Once a year there comes a time when the university student must face reality; when he realizes that the pleasant days of loafing are gone and the time to take life and education seriously has come.

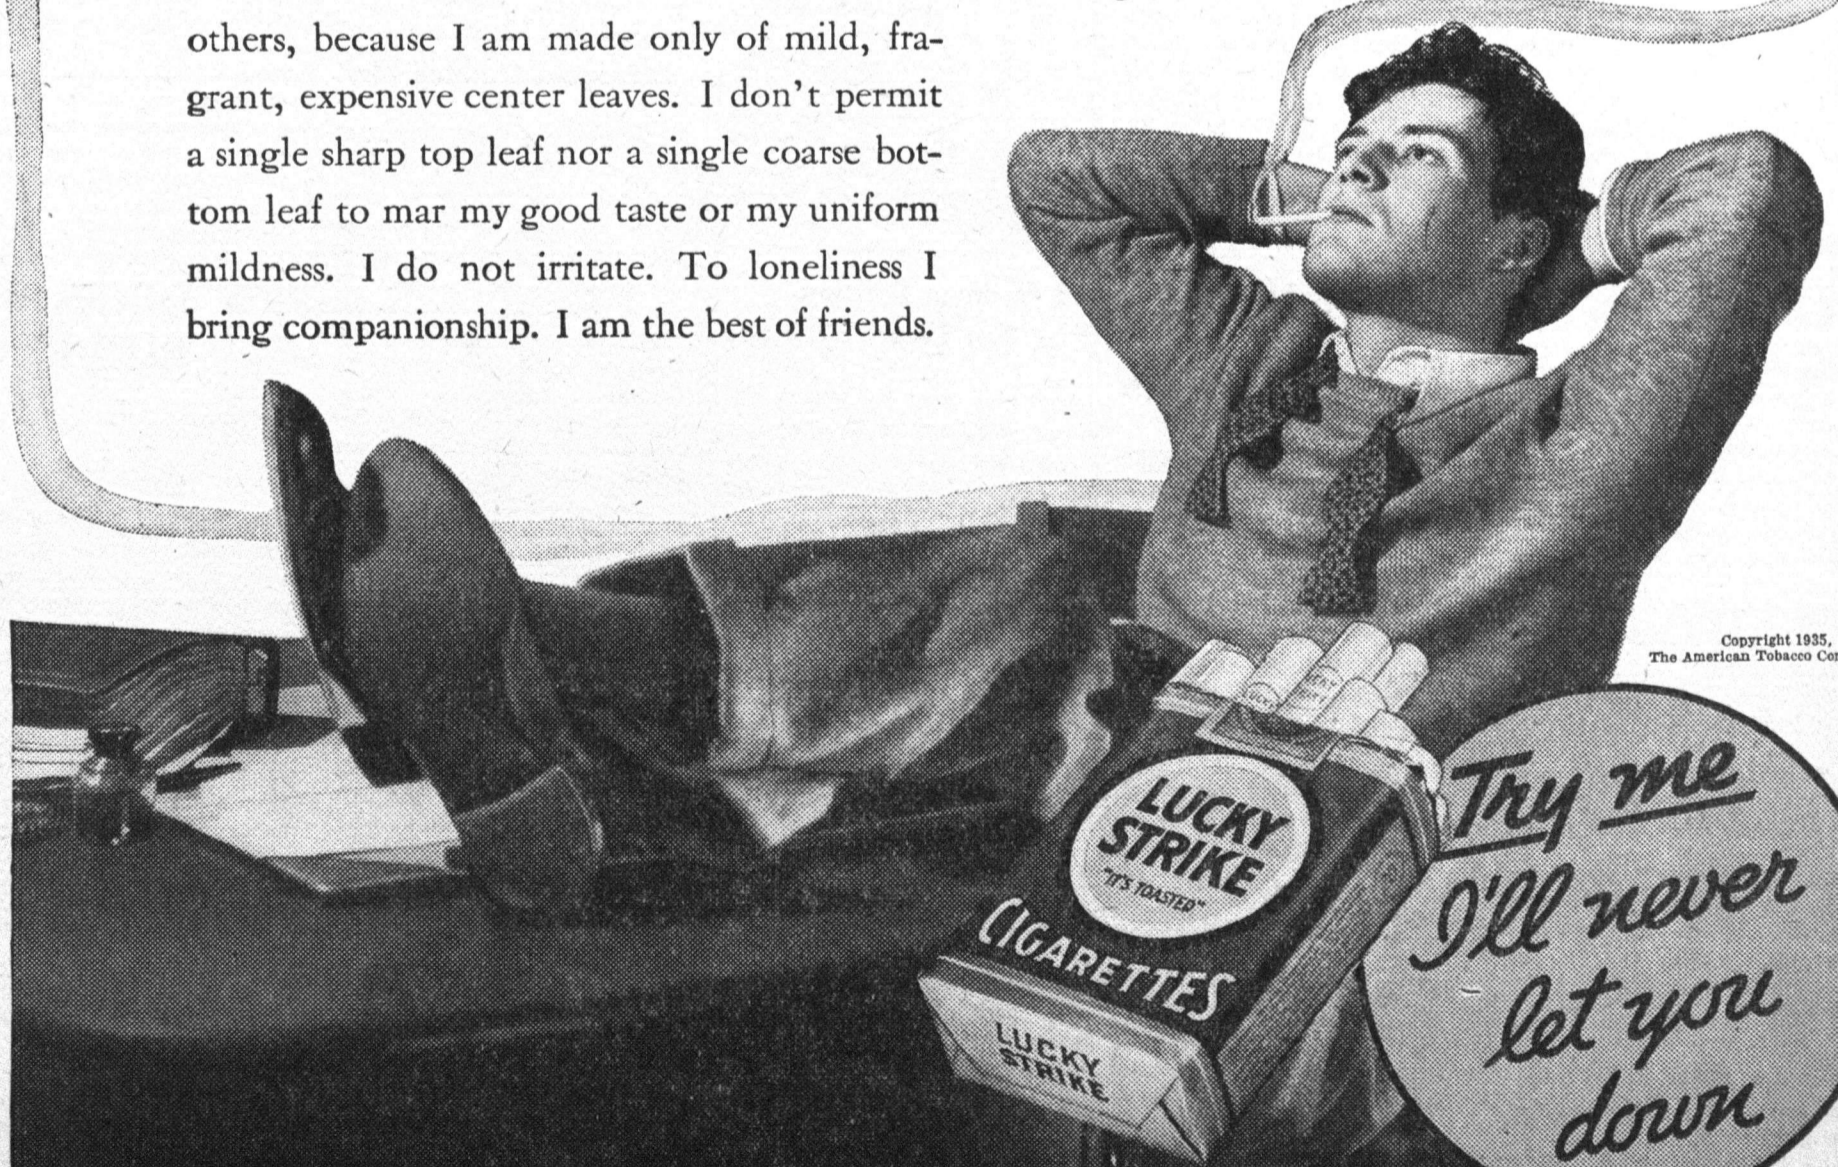

The cause of this unhappy situation is easily explained. From Easter to exams is usually four to six weeks, and the student is deluded that once this spring vacation is over he will really get down to work.

LYNX NETMEN CONTINUE DRIVE; WIN FROM MISSISSIPPI STATE

Makes Fourteenth Straight Victory For Tennis Team

By JOHN QUANTHY

Southwestern's undefeated tennis team defeated Mississippi State's team seven matches to none in a meet held at Beauregard courts Saturday. This was the final meet here and marked the fourteenth straight victory for the Lynx netmen. Five singles and two double matches were played.

The feature match of the meet developed when Charles Ledsinger, Southwestern, defeated W. S. McCormick, State, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4. Ledsinger's hard driving and consistency gave him the winning points.

Dickie Dunlap, Lynx ace, won his match from L. A. Wyatt, 6-0, 6-2. Dunlap Cannon took two straight sets from G. W. Drane, 7-5, 6-1. Edward Horned, of State, was defeated by Dorsey Barefield, 6-0, 6-1, in an impressive match. Woody Butler, Lynx, got an easy win over J. C. St. Clair, 6-0, 6-1.

Southwestern's No. 1 doubles team, Dunlap and Ledsinger, defeated the doubles team of State, McCormick and Wyatt, 9-7, 6-4, in two straight sets. Butler and Cannon, of Southwestern won the second doubles match from Horned and Drane, 6-4, 6-0, in the final matches of the day.

Lynx Debaters Hosts To High School Group

Sport Scribble

By TOMMY FULLER

Southwestern did her work well last Saturday when she took Mississippi State seven matches to none. It was a clean sweep and no one doubted that the Lynx were the superior team. Such playing was only half way expected but must be given whole-hearted applause.

It is entirely possible that Southwestern will go through the present Southern tour with no more than one defeat. Such a thing would be the best sport exhibition that Southwestern has shown in many years. Even as things stand now, we think that the Lynx netters are among the best in the South.

On a recent visit to a neighboring college it was learned that an extensive program was being carried on for the purpose of securing more athletes, and, incidentally, was meeting with considerable success. No one doubts the fact that Southwestern hasn't the resources for a very extensive campaign of this sort, but nevertheless, it doesn't seem entirely impossible for interested alumni, Memphians, and other school supporters to rally to our cause and start the football material race a little earlier.

Central and Tech were having a track meet. Several Southwestern eds were cheering very heartily for one of the schools. What should be heard but this remark, "That's just like those Southwestern boys, they always cheer against us. I wouldn't go out there on a bet." There's nothing wrong, with cheering and rooting for the team you prefer, but, be sure that in doing this you don't make yourself obnoxious to potential Southwestern students, and thus hurt your school.

The A. A. U. is coming off in Memphis, on Fargason Field, at Southwestern, in a few weeks. This might not mean a great deal to a lot of you, but to the people interested in the good name of Southwestern this means a lot. Why not be prepared to put our best foot forward at the right time and present a neat campus, welcome atmosphere to the townspeople, and a wide-awake college spirit. No harm could be done by this, and we might get a good athlete or two out of the visitors.

CO-ED FASHIONS FOR SEASON AIRED BY INQUIRING REPORTER

I was in one of the prominent downtown ladies' shoppes yesterday, and, with Miss Carpenter's assistance, really succeeded in discovering some of the novel new notes of the season.

We co-eds are going in for suits in a big way this spring. For sports there is the smart strictly tailored mannish suit; double-breasted, and with a belted back, of shark skin or suiting material. The blouses to wear with them are loaves; trim little things with pleated fronts and novelty buttons, or crisp linen ones with fluted and frilled jabots.

The dress suit of the maker type is very essential for that important tea-time date, or the inevitable prom week-end. These are—particularly lovely in soft woolens with three-quarter length sleeves, fur-trimmed in fox or wolf.

Spring coats will be mostly navy with wide laps of quilted taffeta (serviceable and smart), although there will also be a decided touch of white pique as to trim. Then there are the coats similar to the suits of the same soft woolens, with furs dyed to match the fabrics.

There is a particularly lovely beige coat with a gorgeous pale yellow fox collar and a blue, and so many more that I advise you to see them yourselves.

Select an afternoon dress with a little coat trimmed in taffeta with shirrings or tucks as street dress prints are as usual and always good. Taffeta, that very important spring fabric, is made into some very attractive spring suits.

Navy crepe, with a lingerie or pique trim, will be seen, of course, more than anything else, and some models feature white pique grape trim. One model in particular is rather startling, navy sheer with a huge corsage of white grapes at the throat.

For those fortunate ones who have any thoughts of the dotted patterns and the pastel crapes. Saw a darling pastel crepe with a terry cloth over blouse; ideal for watching a boat race or a swimming meet.

For spring, evenings will be glamorous. I know that's a very trite

TENNIS TEAM GOES ON TOUR

To Make Extensive Tour Of Southern Colleges

The Lynx tennis team left Southwestern Tuesday morning for an extensive tour of southern colleges.

The Lynx team, which has been undefeated in fourteen consecutive matches, opens against the Ole Miss netmen, playing two doubles and four single matches. The team next goes to Jackson where it will tangle raquets with Millsaps. The Lynx defeated the Millsaps Majors earlier in the season.

Tulane, Southwestern's toughest foe of the tennis schedule, will be taken tomorrow, and the team completes the tour Monday in a match with L. S. U.

Those making the trip are Capt. Dickie Dunlap, Dorsey Barefield, Charles Ledsinger, Woody Butler, Dunlap Cannon and David Flowers.

adjective, but so appropriate. We're going to walk under the moon and dance beneath soft lights in starched net. I saw a luscious scarlet dress with ruffles and bows in just the places to produce a perfect whole, and we guarantee a breath-taking effect. Laces of a soft, flimsy pattern are going to be widely used, as are flowered prints with a dark background.

For later on, there's a dear white pique flowers designed, and a large bunch of field flowers as the only ornament. The most unusual cotton evening frock I've ever seen is a linen batiste in a navy and white conventional flower pattern, supported by a necklace of sea shell.

Miss _____, in the hat department, told me that for the garden party and the afternoon dress, the picture hat of hair braid and Luscon straw would be very popular.

to the large brim and felts in the most gorgeous colors you ever saw are going to be worn for spring.

As for footnotes, there is an increasing importance of fabrics, especially gabardines, linens, duckling and the new asterline cloth for summer. By their diversity of weave and texture, fabrics lend themselves aptly to the simplicity of design that shoes are taking.

And so here you have it — not exactly in a nutshell, but just the same keep an eye on a few of the shop windows and an occasional peep into Harper's Bazar and Vogue.

GEE, BUT THESE KIDS WERE CUTE WHEN THEY WERE LITTLE

Past Comes To Life As Childhood Incidents Uncovered By Sou'wester Reporter

So little Audrey just walked right up to her granny and said, "Granny, I want the biggest, shiniest, sharpest butcher knife you've got in the house." And Granny said, "What for do you want the biggest, shiniest, sharpest butcher knife I've got in the house?" And little Audrey just laughed and laughed, 'cause she knew all the time that the little boy next door (who had his hair all powdered like a French aristocrat) wouldn't like it a bit when she started to play guillotine with him.

And that's not all little Audrey Townsend did at the tender age of four. She even told her teachers what she thought of their behavior. When Audrey had just started to kindergarten, the children planned a shower for the teacher, but they forgot to tell Audrey. The next day, when all the other "kindergartners" piled candy and fruit and nuts (oops! we almost said nertz) on the teacher's desk, Audrey was unhappy. But she brought the famous Townsend intellect to the fore, and he thinking herself of a large and juicy orange that was in her lunch box, she seized this fruit, walked up to teacher's desk, planked it down, and scolded: "Here, you can have this, too, but I want you to know we're spoiling you dreadfully."

Another fama est (translation: Mama always bragged —) that Dr. Baker, when but a mere lad — but a very bright lad — used to stand on his head in the corner drug store and drink strawberry soda pop. It was a kind of advertising stunt. They gave him the drinks free every time he would perform the trick.

Then there was the very naughty boy who used to sit up in bed in the dim hours 'twixt twelve and four and yell, "Paper! Paper!" This same chubby child used also to collect newspapers two and three weeks old, and race down the streets yelling, "Extra! Extra!" He came home with pockets full of change made on their sale. (The name of this precocious child is withheld, as his present position is so remote from the promise of his childhood. Yeah?)

Ernest Trigg remembers that at a very tender age she looked up at the stars and piped, "Oh, look at the pretty little pieces of moon!"

Mag Winchester, in addition to being a "duck" of a child, who always went in swimming with the drip pan of the ice box when she was decked in her best white starched dresses, was noted for a sense of the values that showed itself even in pre-school days. Having been consulted as to whether she preferred a little brother or a little sister, Margaret answered that she wanted a little brother. "But," said cautious aunts, "what if God sends you a little sister?" "I won't take it," she said. "If I can't have a little brother I'll take a billy goat."

Martha Shaeffer recalls an early visit to a hotel. She was three, and the day was Thanksgiving. Imitating her elders, she scanned the menu, considered for a long time, then demanded that she be served a mashed potato for Thanksgiving dinner. (P. S.: She got it.)

Tommy Fuller learned young the secret of keeping cool. Almost every day his mother used to rescue him, dripping icicles and frost, from the ice box, where he liked to sit and ponder.

You wouldn't believe us, possibly, but they say that Rebecca Laughlin once refused to accept a $5 present — but, then, she was still very young and her character hadn't fully formed. Becky had a birthday. Uncle John came to the birthday party. He gave little Becky a $5 bill — at least, he tried to. Becky smiled down at a $1 bill clutched tightly in her fist, and said, "You can have it, Uncle John. I got one."

Mrs. Davis always knew where to look for her progeny (or progidy-prodigy), Jayne, if they were separated in a crowd, for one day Jayne had accidentally discovered a coin in the money-return slot of a public telephone. From then on she always used to jump off trains, dash madly to the telephone booths, and make a hurried search. She usually came back showing a broad grin and several pieces of money.

Sunny tempered Alfred Page couldn't sleep nights (it's funny how some people never change). Papa Page used to take long nocturnal walks back and forth, back and forth, to calm the nerves of his first-born. But there must be a rhythm to such things, and though we hate to admit it, Page, Sr., had completed only six of his learn-to-croon-in-ten-lessons correspondence course, so he wasn't quite up to the standard required by Page, Jr. Ergo the victrol was tuned up. But victrols must be wound, and that one wasn't. The music stopped. Baby Alfred objected. He raised himself up, fastened his four shiny teeth in his pater's olfactory member (nose to youse) and held on. Papa yelled. Junior held. Finally the teeth were pried apart, but the prints remained. We don't dare get close enough to look, but we'll wager they're still there. When "the Dean" does something it stays done.

Headed C. U. Cabinet

Jones was president of the Christian Union Cabinet his junior year. He has been a member of the Honor Council for two years.

Sarah Elizabeth Gemmill has been prominent in co-ed student activities throughout her four years at Southwestern. She has been outstanding in sorority work on the campus and served as president of Delta Delta Delta sorority this year. She is a member of the Women's Panhellenic Council.

She was chosen "Miss Southwestern" in this year's popularity elections. She was a member of the April Fool Carnival Court her junior year and was a Lady-in-Waiting to the Queen this year. She represented Southwestern on the Armistice Day parade float.

Meadow Sou'wester Editor

Jimmie Meadow, despite having spent only two years on the Southwestern campus, started leading campus activities his first and junior year. In addition to editing The Sou'wester in a truly newspaper manner this year, he has been a member of the Student Council, Christian Union Cabinet, ex-officio member of the Men's Panhellenic Council, and the newly-formed Election Council. He was chairman of the Student-Council Committee to handle elections before the present form was instituted. He has served as president of the Press Club and is a member of Sigma Upsilon, honorary literary fraternity.

Last year as managing editor of The Sou'wester he instigated many of the popular campus features including the present popularity contest titles and the Co-ed edition of the paper.

Organizer of M.V.H.S.P.A.

He was one of the students responsible for the organization of the Mississippi Valley High School Press Association and arranged this year's program.

Probably the outstanding feature of Jimmie's college career was his work at the past Southern Student Government and Publications' Convention where he was instrumental in securing the convention for Southwestern next year. Approximately 200 prominent students in the two fields will be Southwestern's guests. He is one of a committee of four southern college editors appointed to draw up a constitution and organize the Southern Collegiate Press.

Robb Hall

The dormitory was suddenly quiet while the booming voice of Goodlett thundered down to New Orleans via telephone as follows: "Oh, Doctor, I can't sleep and how I long to die dormant!"—Said the doctor, "take a bromide."

We call him "Love In Bloom" Lapsley, but that doesn't mean he has to look dreamy while in Robb, there are no girls there.

303 has entertained the gals again, this time with a picnic. Jeter must have caught some of Leon's fog, for she started out in an evening dress, they say.

ciation.

Seven honorary degrees will be conferred at the graduating exercises June 4 at Hardie Auditorium. The Doctor of Laws degree will be conferred on the Rev. A. B. Curry, D.D., pastor emeritus of the Second Presbyterian Church, and now a resident of Greenville, N. C.; Chancellor Alfred Hume of the University of Mississippi and a former Southwestern faculty member; Hardwig Peres, prominent Memphian.

The Doctor of Literature degree will be awarded Stark Young, New York, writer and editor of The New Republic. Supt. R. L. Jones of the Memphis public schools will be awarded the honorary Doctor of Education degree.

Award Two D.D. Degrees

The Doctor of Divinity degree will be awarded the Rev. T. C. Barr, associate pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Nashville; and the Rev. Martin Hopkins, missionary to China. Mr. Hopkins is an alumnus of Southwestern.

Dr. John Erskine, New York City, president of the Julliard Foundation, will deliver the commencement address. Dr. Erskine is a nationally known educator, writer, lecturer, and musician.

Wise Guy: "What is the most deadly fluid?"

Chemistry Student: Potassium cyanide, because you're dead as soon as it touches you."

Ed Atkinson Elected President Of Bible Class

Ed Atkinson was elected president of the Men's Bible Class for next year at the weekly meeting held Sunday night. He was unanimously elected to succeed Young Wallace.

Lauren Watson was elected vice-president to succeed Reed, Brock. Jamerson Jones was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed Charles Hamilton.

Each of these officers are automatically made members of the Christian Union Cabinet.

IN SHORT

William Edington—It hasn't scratched yet.

Alvan Tate—For your own safety, Dunlap Cannon—All over ten years old.

Vernon Pettit—Distinction at low cost.

Bob Williams—Wish we had ten men like him.

Ben Weddington—You can't afford to take a chance.

Smith Brothers—They satisfy. Charles Ledsinger—The pause that refreshes.

George Willis—They laughed when I sat down at the piano.

Hiram Todd—A musical instrument of quality.

Drunk: Believe it or not officer, I'm huntin' for a parkin' place.

Officer: But you haven't an automobile.

Drunk: Yesh, I have. It's in the parkin' place I'm looking for.

8,271 men and women visited the Chesterfield factories during the past year . . .

A man who visited a Chesterfield factory recently, said: "Now that I have seen Chesterfields made, I understand better than ever why people say Chesterfields are milder and have a better taste."

If you too could visit our factories you could see the clean, airy surroundings; the employees in their spotless uniforms, and the modern cigarette making machinery.

You could notice how carefully each Chesterfield cigarette is inspected and see also how Chesterfields are practically untouched by human hands.

Whenever you happen to be in Richmond, Va., Durham, N. C., or San Francisco, California, we invite you to stop at the Liggett & Myers plants and see how Chesterfields are made.

Here he is folks—Rudy Bundy, who is opening at the Peabody—Bundy's Band is well known throughout the country and he comes with a fine group of talented musicians.

Fern: A plant that you are supposed to water it once a day but if you don't it dies and if you do it dies anyway only not so soon.
