

LYNX JOURNEY TO NASHVILLE FOR BIG GAME

Smith, Chappell, Carden Will Not Play

HOME TEAM LIGHTER
Vandy's Actual Strength Is Unknown

The Southwestern Lynx will shoot for the heights of football glory, Saturday, when they take the field against the Vanderbilt Commodores. The Lynx go into the game decidedly the under-dogs, with everything to win and nothing to lose.

As to the strength of the Vandy machine, very little is known, as Middle Tennessee Teachers were not in their class, and the Chicago boys, with their smashing type of defense, were exactly what Vandy wanted.

The Commodores have a smooth offense, with many variations, being equally strong in both their passing and running attacks.

Though Southwestern has one of the strongest teams in the history of the college, they will be greatly hampered by injuries Saturday. Gaylon Smith and Porter Chappell will not see any service in the Vandy game, and Neil Tapp is still troubled by a shoulder injury. Chester Carden, a fine second string tackle, was injured in scrimmage Tuesday afternoon and is definitely out of Saturday's game.

The Lynx will be out-weighted by 15 or 20 pounds to the man from tackle to tackle, and this may be the deciding issue of the game, as in other departments the two teams should be about equal.

Coach Propst will depend on both his passing and running attacks in this game, and judging from the strength shown in previous games the Vandy contest should be close as to the score and definitely exciting.

The Lynx will leave Southwestern early Friday morning in order to reach Nashville in time to take a light work-out.

The officials for the game are as follows: Kane, referee; Moraity, umpire; Wessling, head linesman; Chambers, field judge.

C. U. CONTEST WILL CONTINUE

Names For Campus Hearth Not Satisfactory

Deciding that none of the names submitted in the "Name the hearth contest" was satisfactory, the committee of judges, consisting of Dr. Diehl, Elizabeth Cobb and Bob Armstrong, has ordered a new contest. The ballot box will be in the store again today and entries in the contest may be made until 6 P.M. Monday.

If the names submitted in this contest are not better, in the opinion of the judges, than those already received, the $5 prize will be withdrawn.

It was the unanimous opinion of the judges that none of the 25 or 30 names placed in the box before last Monday was worthy of either the hearth or the $5 which is to be awarded to the winner.

The names, said the judges, were too shallow and thoughtless. Samples of those submitted are "The Fire Fly," "The Ha-Ta-Ta," "Beef Broiler," "Diehlirone," and "Steak Stadium."

The hearth is at the southeast edge of the campus. Built of stone, its Gothic architecture is in harmony with the other buildings on the campus.

The hearth is available to all campus groups to use for their social functions. Permission to use the hearth on a definite date should be secured from the Christian Union.

SOCIETY FLASH

Messieurs Joe Linton and Fritz Caspari will be the week-end guests of Professor C. Pendleton Lee at his country estate in Arkansas over the holidays. Highlights of their sojourn will include quail and grouse shooting Saturday morning and a colonial ball in their honor Saturday evening.

STUDENT SCRIBE IN SOCIAL ROOM

Brown, Huber, Morrison, Floyd To Have Charge

Beginning Saturday, October 3rd, between nine and one, a student will be on duty in the General Social Room in Palmer Hall. This arrangement has been made by Professor Pond so that members of the faculty and staff may have someone to call upon to deliver messages or attend to any other matters in connection with college business. The Student Secretary may be reached by telephoning 7-9316.

Schedule

Monday-Wednesday-Friday: 9—R. Brown; 10—V. Huber; 11—H. Morrison; 12—C. Floyd.

Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday: 9—H. Morrison; 10—C. Floyd; 11—R. Brown; 12—V. Huber.

* H. Morrison on duty Tuesday and Thursday only. See R. Stewart in the business office on Saturdays between nine and ten.

NEW MEMBERS JOIN PLAYERS

First Play To Be Presented Early In December

Tryouts for the Southwestern Players were conducted Wednesday afternoon, September 30th, from 2:00 to 4:30 in Hardie Auditorium. Out of 70 applicants, 34 were selected, 24 actors and 10 stage workers. The students selected were: Marjorie Gage, Elizabeth Jones, Anne Potts, Nancy Donelson, Stella Jones, Jeanne Johnson, Emmie Slaughter, Ruth Johnson, Ruth Finny, Ralph Brown, Jack Ferris, Jim Ferris, Frances Smithwick, Alberta Whiteside, Jimmy Daugherty, Elaine Anthony, Nan Bloodworth, Joan Reid, Dorothy Steuwer, Amelia Manogue, Bob Montgomery, Joe Lee, Maxine Halliburton, George Jackson, as actors; and Kathrine McCall, Floy White, Cameron Clough, George Gage, Grace Daffin, Hylton Neil, Martha Moore, Ouida Bicknell, Nancy Warden, and Virginia Hoshall, as stage workers.

The first play is to be given in the early part of December, and is to be modern translation of the 2nd Shepherds Play.

DR. DIEHL TO SPEAK TO BIBLE CLASS

The Men's Bible Class will meet in the Music Building Sunday evening at 8:30. Dr. Diehl will speak to the class. All men students are urged to attend.

The Music Building has been selected as the permanent meeting place of the group.

SOCIAL PROGRAM FOR FALL TERM LACKS VACANCIES

All Dates Before Xmas Are Filled

FIRST PAN NOV. 25

"S" Club Will Give Three More Dances

Southwestern's social calendar for the first semester is being filled rapidly, with all available dates until the Christmas holidays already taken, according to the two Panhellenic Councils.

The first fraternity party of the year will be given tonight when the ATO's entertain with a steak fry. Next week is filled with the Kappa Alpha house-warming in their new lodge from 5 to 8, followed by the Chi Omega dance from 8 'til 12 in honor of the pledges. The week of October 24 will be taken up with the Southwestern-Hendrix game in the afternoon and the "S" Club dance that night. The A O P's are planning a dance on Saturday, October 31, honoring their pledges.

The Kappa Delta's are planning the first tea dance of the year to be given November 7 from 5 'til 8. That night the "S" Club will again entertain with a hop, this time honoring the Southwestern and Birmingham-Southern football teams. On the next Saturday night, November 14, the "S" Club will give its final dance of the semester. Zeta Tau Alpha will honor its pledges with a party at the lodge on November 21.

The Men's Panhellenic Council has set Wednesday night, November 25, as the date for the first Panhellenic. This is the night before Thanksgiving. The annual Pirate Party given by the pledges of Chi Omega will be held on the following Saturday night, November 28. Tri-Delta will entertain on the evening of December 5 with a party in their campus lodge; and the final affair before the Christmas holidays will be the Kappa Sigma Founders' Day banquet and dance on December 12.

KA'S COMPLETE NEW DOMICILE

Kappa Alpha is proud to announce the near completion of its new lodge on the Southwestern campus. Only a few fixtures remain to be finished.

Patterned after the Gothic structure of the school buildings, and designed in the same style, the new house is an asset to the campus grounds. The most unique thing about the lodge is the spacious living room with its lofty beamed ceiling and its dark panels. The front door opens into a small foyer, from which a stairway leads up to a balcony intended to serve as a reading room or band stand. A kitchen and a small dressing room adjoin the living room.

October 17 is set for the date of the formal opening. Everyone is extended a cordial invitation to visit the lodge between 5 and 8 p.m. on that evening.

SOUTHWESTERN CO-ED HONORED

Receives College Of Music Scholarship

Jane Alvis was awarded a year's scholarship in voice at the Memphis College of Music under Miss Clare Elby last week over 13 other contestants, four of which were Southwestern students.

Jane's vocal career has been brief, but full of startling accomplishments. Only in the past two years has she studied under competent leadership.

But in that time she has held the leading role in an opera, "Chimes of Normandy," produced under the direction of Ernest F. Hawkes at Central High School.

Last year Jane was awarded a year's scholarship in voice at Sophie Newcomb, but she turned it down in order to attend Southwestern. She is a sophomore and a member of the Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority. She is planning to take her B. A. here.

Besides singing, Jane can play a piano and pipe organ. She sings in the choir at St. Luke's Episcopal Church and is also assistant organist there. She is a member of the Southwestern Singers and is on the Board of the Junior Beethoven Club. A veteran of numerous recitals, Jane has also demonstrated her vocal ability before a large audience in Nashville.

EPISCOPAL CLUB PLANS PROGRAM

Rev. Loring-Clark Speaks On Purpose Of Club

The keynote of the year's program of the Episcopal Club was struck at the club's opening meeting last Tuesday by the Rev. Alfred Loring-Clark, who spoke on the purpose and program of the group. To deal with questions of practical Christianity and problems of vital interest to college students, he said, is one of the chief objectives of this club. A definite program along these lines has been planned by the officers.

Membership in the club is open to any Southwestern student who is interested in such a group and its program.

Miss Annie Morton Stout also gave a brief talk on the organization of the Memphis Club, which is composed of units at Southwestern, State Teachers College, the St. Barnabas Guild of Nurses, and University of Tennessee Medical School. This Club will hold its annual fall reception at the Grace Episcopal Church Parish House on the afternoon of Sunday, October 18, Miss Stout announced.

Wallace Quinn was elected vice-

SOUTHWESTERN BROADCASTS

Initial Program Held Last Wednesday Afternoon

With one of the most outstanding performances ever to be produced by Southwestern Players, Southwestern went "on the air" last Wednesday afternoon, presenting one of the most difficult plays to produce in a style that is a credit to Southwestern. The play, a miracle play, dating back to the fifteenth century, is well known in dramatic circles. It is an old time slapstick, the famous "Noah's Flood."

Dr. Charles E. Diehl opened the initial program, thanking WMC and the Commercial Appeal for their courtesy in giving Southwestern the allotted time necessary for the broadcast. He likewise commended the Southwestern Players headed by Prof. C. P. Lee for their undertaking in producing the broadcasts.

The sound effects this year are very realistic for the Players broadcast directly from the studios of WMC which are, of course, scientifically equipped.

Herbert Bingham, taking the role of God in a stentorian voice that would certainly scare the devil, did an excellent job. John Quanthy, as Noah, the hen-pecked husband, was more than convincing. Chief among the female thespians who swung the program into such a huge success was Marion Keisker. She carried the difficult role of two characters without betraying herself. Others who played well were: Marjorie Devall, Polly Jane Cohen, Virginia Hoshall, Ben Lewis and Bob Foley. The script for the broadcast was written by Prof. Lee. The broadcast was supervised by Randall MacInnes, and F. W. Roth, program director at WMC, did the announcing.

The next broadcast to be given by the Players will be from WMC next Wednesday at 4:30 o'clock. The coming play will be a sixteenth century thriller which gave our ancestors many a tense moment. It is known as "Arden of Feversham." But the third broadcast should be more than interesting for it will center around "The Tragical History of Dr. Faustus." Be sure to listen in and hear these plays dramatized over the air Wednesday afternoon.

ATO PLEDGES ELECT

Harold Falls was elected president of the Alpha Tau Omega pledges at a meeting held Monday night. Charles King was chosen vice-president; W. J. Hearn, secretary, and Tom Mobley, treasurer.

FROSH CHOOSE J. P. CAVENDER

Juniors Require 3 Ballots To Pick Vice-Pres.

Woody Butler was elected vice-president of the student body Wednesday morning. Other officers chosen in the election are Fred Dickson, vice-president of the junior class; and in the freshman class, J. P. Cavender, president; Ralph Bethea, vice-president, and Josephine Tully, secretary-treasurer.

In the race for the vice-presidency of the junior class three ballots had to be taken before Fred Dickson received a majority. In the preliminary voting Ed McCormick, Lewis Donelson, and Eldridge Armistead all tied for second place, Fred Dickson being first. Wednesday morning's vote eliminated Donelson and Armistead but there was still no majority.

Butler's victory over Page was by the narrow margin of 135 votes to 128. Paul Freeman, Billy Lapsley, and Thayer Houts, all candidates for this office, were eliminated on the preliminary ballot. The new vice-president is this year's president of Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership fraternity, president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, social fraternity, and a varsity tennis star. Page is president of the Elections Commission and of Kappa Alpha, social fraternity.

In the freshman election Cavender, the new president, achieved victory over Charles King, his opponent in the runoff, by the margin of 93 votes to 54. Ralph Bethea, the new vice-president, defeated Alex Corner in the runoff, while Josephine Tully won over Lillian Love for secretary-treasurer.

The elections for the student body and the junior class were necessitated by the failure of Walter May, vice-president-elect of the student body, and Henry Daniels, vice-president-elect of the junior class to return to college. May is managing a plantation while Daniels has entered the United States Military Academy at West Point.

BAND TO TRAVEL TO VANDY GAME

Forty Men Will Play At Game Saturday

Forty members of the band, three drum-majors, and Prof. Tutthill will leave this afternoon at 2 o'clock for Nashville and the Southwestern-Vanderbilt game. Traveling by special bus, they will arrive in Nashville Friday evening, get a good night's rest, and be rarin' to go Saturday afternoon. They will leave immediately after the game, and be back here sometime Saturday night.

During the past week with the "sound of marching feet and blaring trumpets" the band has been concentrating on drill work, in addition to numerous practices. If practice makes perfect, they will better the performance given at the Lynx-Millsaps game last Saturday. Three brand-new uniforms have been purchased for Drum-majors Taylor, Turner, and Paullus to replace the somewhat tarnished satin-and gilt braid of last year. Two sparkling new twirling batons will also make their first appearance.

Prof. Tutthill wants more recruits for the drum section. With six more games to be played and three of these out-of-town tangles, it will be worthwhile for aspiring drummers to get a couple of drum-sticks from dinner this coming Sunday and practice up on their tom-toms in spare moments.

BATTY BOTANISTS BEAR BURDENS BRAVELY

Ladies and gentlemen: the next few minutes will be sponsored by the Bat-tony Lab-hunters of big beasts and leaflets. In today's skit we have Emily Lee, Ann Jeter, Johnny Quanthy, Al Wunderlich, Shirley Wynn, Shirley Scarborough and Mildred Poindexter. Dr. Davis, the promoter of this wonderful search for nature, will be the prompter. The scene is laid—gently—in be-eautiful woodland (Yeah! Overton Park). The class is feeling very jaunty, except me, and I feel lousy. (Davis says he does, too.) We're off! We're passing a sewer. Jeter says: "Is that a sewer?" and

Quanto says, "Sewer that's a sewer!" (Get it or do I have to draw a picture?)

Oh but we're off the subject. Our goal is plants. Jeter goes up to a poor little something or other akin to the palm family and says with a beam, "Look! its leaves are pleated"; and Quanto again comes through with, "I wonder if it got what it pleated for?" That last one killed the worm on the plant.

Over on the other side, Shirley Scarborough runs excitedly up to a very droopy looking plant and moans, "Oh! look, the poor thing's had a hair cut."

Meanwhile Emily Lee is debating how to classify a leaf—finally, "Oh well, I'll just say it's lop sided."

Back to Ann Jeter (she's the heroine, you know). "Dr. Davis, will that little leaf over there grow up to be a big leaf like that one?" By this time, Davis has a sort of sickly grin on his face.

Shirley Wynn discovers a boxwood tree and says knowingly, "When they get higher you can sell 'em for $20. Says Miss Lee, "Well, I think I'll start raising them"; when Wunderlich bursts out with, "That's better'n raisin' children." Then Scarborough says in a timid voice, "Boxwood, but would you?" Then Poindexter makes the statement that Virginia is lousy with Boxwood.

Now the scene changes to the rubber plant. Wunderlich says he thinks he'll put in an order for a tire right away.

By this time the cast is in hysterics (those that have sense enough to laugh) and Dr. Davis is disgusted. So the curtain falls upon the Bat-tony lab slowly trudging back to the Science Hall. Do you think there's much hope?

The Same Old Thing

We print one paper for each student and we request that each student take one and only one paper from the box. It is very considerate and thoughtful of a student to want to take his best friend a paper, but it often happens that the friend has already secured his paper or someone else has brought him a copy. This practice along with the careless grabbing of extra copies often results in a shortage of papers and late arrivals find the box empty.

Please be thoughtful of somebody else's friend as you are of your own and let every student obtain his own paper from the box.

While we are on the subject may we add just a bit more?

Every Friday afternoon our campus is littered with torn and crumpled "Sou'westers" and while the paper may or may not be a good one, it certainly does not add to the beauty of our campus.

This paper is the property of the student body and is published for its benefit by some of the students who are especially interested in journalism.

If some of our number are not interested in the paper and its contents, the least they can do is to leave it in the box and not disgrace our campus with remnants of paper.

However, if some of us just throw the paper away, far be it from the editor to protest. He merely requests that when you throw it be sure it falls in one of the receptacles conveniently placed about our campus to receive such materials.

Thoughtlessness

Horns! Horns! Oh! how we would like to find the enterprising gentleman who invented these air horns with which all of the new cars are equipped.

Heading the list of people to be searched out and exterminated when we become dictator of the United States are those students who persist in driving around the Southwestern campus and blowing their car horns at all hours of the day and night.

We realize that this is just another evidence of thoughtlessness on the part of the offenders, but "tooting" automobile horns are not conducive either to study or sleep. And we seem to remember that some of our professors have quite a bit of trouble making themselves heard above the continual sounding of horns during the fourth period every morning.

If you want to find some fellow student, don't sit out in front or back and sound your horn—go somewhere and call the student secretary and ask him to help you. Please remember that some of us live on the campus and are unable to go home and escape the noise, so save your horns for use elsewhere.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNER-SHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACTS OF CONGRESS OF AUGUST 24, 1912, AND MARCH 3, 1933

Of The Sou'wester, published once a week at Memphis, Tennessee, for Oct. 1, 1936.

State of Tennessee, County of Shelby

—ss.

Before me, a notary public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared Ed McCormick, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the Business Manager of The Sou'wester, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, as amended by the Act of March 3, 1933, embodied in section 537, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to-wit:

1. That the name and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:

Publisher, Student Body of Southwestern, Memphis, Tenn.

Editor, Lauren Watson, Southwestern, Memphis, Tenn.

Business Manager, Ed McCormick, Southwestern, Memphis, Tenn.

2. That the owner is: Student Body of Southwestern, Memphis, Tenn.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

Interviewing Profs

By FRANK O. GOODLETT

Friedrich Wilhelm Edward Carl Caspari is the imposing appellation of Southwestern's new assistant professor of modern languages, who hails from Germany. To all whom it may concern, however, Mr. Caspari recommends Fritz as sufficient given-name. When Oxford University demanded his "full name," he confesses, he had to look up the particulars on his birth certificate.

Entirely new to American college life, Prof. Caspari is both surprised at the divergences from what he has known and pleased with the easy-going freedom of the Southwestern campus. Already, in common with most genial newcomers to our country, he "likes America." Specifically, he likes the soft Southern accent as heard in Palmer Hall and environs.

"You know, we have no dormitories over there; every student attends what lectures he pleases, and nothing is required of him until the final examinations at the end of three years," commented Mr. Caspari on the universities of his homeland. "There," he said, "sports are approached mainly with the idea of personal benefit to be derived, and each student leads much more completely his individual life." Prof. Caspari indicated that, under these circumstances, German universities would present a Sahara-like appearance to our boosters of "college spirit."

"Only a small number of young people are allowed to go to college in Germany," continued Mr. Caspari, "and everybody must first go through the 'labor service,' which is somewhat like your C. C. C." This latter requirement includes women students, whose number Hitler has reduced to ten per cent of the men.

Of his World War experiences, Mr. Caspari necessarily has a rather vague recollection on account of his youth. He does vividly remember being rushed to the cellar when the ominous even hum of distant planes suddenly announced and air raid. He also recalls how hungry he went in those lean days when he and his mother subsisted on scant bad food. His father, who was traveling in Russia at the outbreak of hostilities, was there clapped into prison, to remain for more than three years. "On the eve of the Bolshevik Revolution," Prof. Caspari relates, "my father luckily escaped and hurried to his nearly starving family on the Rhine."

Born in Baden, Switzerland, of German parents, Mr. Caspari later lived at Elberfeld, Germany, and was educated at Heidelberg. "And my surname, in spite of its deceptive form, really is German," added the professor, whose blondness must be the envy of those inhabitants of the Fatherland who buy peroxide under the Hitler regime.

The Italianate appearance of his name, though, doesn't fool Americans alone. When he was traveling in Italy,

TRANSFERS SHOW STRANGE TRAITS

One Has "Ice Box" In Car; Another Collects Pipes

We have a boxing champ in our midst. Jacob C. Niehuss, a transfer from Howe Military Academy, has a number of medals to his credit. We are expecting him to do wonders in the intramurals this year.

There are fifty transfers to Southwestern this session, and they seem to be a talented group.

Elliott Phipp from Missouri is a U. S. I. R. man, and boasts an "ice box" in his car.

Another athlete of note is Robert Bland. He is some tumbler, as the older students who met with him the other night will tell you. We're anxious to see his dust on the track next spring.

"Red" Hall, from West Tennessee State Teachers College, heads the list of boys for honors. He is vice-president of the Tennessee Synod of Southern Presbyterian Young People.

Wm. Martin, who was editor of his high school paper, has the honor of being one of the best type-setters in Arkansas.

If anyone is interested in collections, Bob Learned presents a unique form. He is just back from Europe, where he picked up a pipe in every country—all he needs is a package of tobacco. He and Wm. Maddox should get together. William is a tap dancer, and needs just one thing—an invitation. Let's have it.

Margaret England graduated last year at Gulf Park, and we hear she took all the honors with her. Kate Scott Patterson, who used to attend Sophie Newcomb, visited in Memphis last summer and liked it so well that she came here to school. Southwestern's reputation affected two other students, previously in other schools. John Spence came out last year, and this year, his sister joined him from Sweetbriar. Annie Rose Wallace, who also attended Sweetbriar, is out here, too, and brought her brother. Katreena McCall, who was a freshman at Southwestern, now returns to finish her college life where she began it.

Professor Schlitz wanted all his students to answer "here," instead of "present," when the roll was called, however, Mr. Space insisted on answering "present," when he heard his name, much to the displeasure of the dear old prof.

One day, when the prof was in an unusually bad humor, he called the roll, and, as was to be expected, Mr. Space answered "present." This irked the old boy considerably, so he came back with, "Present, Hell, you're here just like the rest of us. This ain't no Sunday School."

the similarity of his name to that of the Pope's secretary of state, Cardinal Gasparri, often caused animated whispers among hotel clerks, with subsequent reception into the "grand suite" and innumerable little favors from a very courteous management.

On German politics Prof. Caspari has very little to say. He does note, however, that Americans are likely to underrate Hitler's personal popularity among the German people, which he asserts is greater with all classes and regions than that of any other political figure for many years.

After a year in America Mr. Caspari will return to Germany, where he hopes to get some academic position, but where, he adds, "work is difficult to find."

New Books

"Boy Meets Girl," by Bella and Samuel Spewack, is an excellent dramatization of life in Hollywood, unusual, but true to life.

Budding young socialists, or those who think they are socialists, should read Gustav Mayer's life of Friedrich Engels, recently translated from the German, and now available on the shelves of our library. The biography of this upper class exponent of the doctrines of Karl Marx flows along in a scholarly and interesting manner.

"The Story of Scotland Yard," by Sir Basil Thomson, gives an easy reading account of the history of this famous organization for the detection of crime, and concludes with stories of some of its most prominent cases and exciting events. It should be ranked, in our opinion, at the extreme highest end of all so-called "detective" literature.

For those who have the time to laugh, and to read a thoroughly laughable book, full of satire and wit, "Oscar Wilde Discovers America," by Lewis and Smith, should afford great pleasure. This book contains many pages of cartoons ridiculing Wilde, and these are worth as much as the written matter towards making the reading of the book enjoyable.

LYNX DEFEAT JACKSON TEAM

Southwestern Wins Third Straight Game

Southwestern won her third straight game at Crump Stadium Saturday at the expense of the Millsaps Majors 26-0 before a crowd of 3,500 fans.

The Lynx, during the first half, completely outplayed the Majors and scored three of the four touchdowns in the first two periods. The scores were made by a varied attack of line plays, end around plays and passes.

George Jennings was outstanding in plays through the line. Henry "Ug" Hammond and Henry Bergfeld starred on the end-around plays and "Kite" Morton reigned supreme in the passing attack.

In the second half the Lynx slowed down considerably and the Majors took the offensive, threatening to score twice.

Arnold Hebert and "Red" Davis were outstanding on defense for the Lynx. Levon Self and "Nose" Williams proved to be excellent on the Lynx pass defense.

Southwestern covered 394 yards with the ball in their hands—quite a respectable distance.

A Dream Come True

Let Time March On

All of us have heard the familiar and somewhat trite saying, "Time marches on." With us at Southwestern, however (another example of how different Southwestern is from most colleges), time goes by fits and jerks, and this week time is standing absolutely still. It has been 2:20 for almost two weeks now. Won't somebody please get the clock on the north side of the tower of Palmer Hall fixed, and wake Father Time up?

Last year, Father Time never resided at all in such a lofty location. This year, when he moved into two new homes, namely, the library and the tower wall, all clock-watchers at Southwestern were much elated. But we plead with the powers that be not to let Time go to sleep, now that he has moved in!

BUSES CARRY FANS TO VANDY

Trip To Begin At 7 A. M. Tomorrow

Leaving the campus at 7 A.M. tomorrow, buses carrying Lynx rooters are scheduled to arrive in Nashville at noon. The buses will return to Memphis immediately after the game between Southwestern and Vanderbilt.

Coach Harold High, in charge of the project, announced in student assembly Wednesday that the cost of the round trip would be $4. Undergraduate tickets to the game may be secured for fifty cents at the Bursar's office. Admittance at the gate will be $1.10.

A special bus will carry the band which will perform at the game. Another special bus carrying the football squad will leave at 9 A.M. Friday. Each bus has a capacity of 40 passengers. Some students intend to make the trip in cars.

PARKER BEARS DOWN ON VANDERBILT

Richard "Mamie" Parker will see quite a bit of service in the Lynx line when the Southwestern team meets Vanderbilt tomorrow afternoon in Nashville. This 190-pound guard is expected to bolster the center of the lighter Lynx forewall considerably.

FRESHMEN BEGIN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Cannon In Charge Of First Class Sport

Drawings for the freshmen's fall tennis tournament were posted in the book store last Monday.

Dunlap Cannon, who is in charge, urges that first and second round matches be played by this afternoon. The remaining rounds must be played off the first of next week in order that the finals may be held on Friday.

This tournament will determine the ratings of participants who enter the spring tournament held annually late in March. Awards will be given the winner and runner-up.

The following freshmen entered: R. H. McKean, John McGrady, John Summerfield, H. K. Turley, W. C. Rowan, L. Freeburg, W. Belcher, G. A. Broadwater, Chas. Floyd, Bull Dawson, Bill Jemison, Wm. Tyson, Wm. Martin, Ralph Bethea, Burton Hendrix, E. C. Holland, Newton Jones, and John Woolsey.

Ralph Bethea, Chas. Floyd, R. H. McKean, and W. C. Rowan perhaps will be the strongest contenders for the number one position.

NATION'S FRESHMEN AS SMART AS EVER

(ACP) The latest list of freshman fantasies (stupid answers made on psychology tests) is revealed below.

A bladder is a spongy paper to absorb ink; a tamborine is a very small, sweet orange; a tabaret is a dine and dance place; a turtle is a body which has polarity and the property of strongly attracting iron; and a wharf is a person far below the average size.

SIGMA NU BEGINS ON NEW HOUSE

Nine Thousand Dollar Home To Be Completed Soon

The Sigma Nu's have started work on the construction of their fraternity house, and expect it to be completed in time for a good "House Warming" just before the Christmas holidays.

The house is to be one of the largest fraternity houses on the campus, being built at a cost of $9,000. There will be a roomy basement, in which will be located the chapter room, a recreation room, a study room, a closet, and a shower room.

On the first floor will be an open porch facing the north, from which the main entrance into the living room will open. A bedroom opens off the living room, and the remainder of the space on the first floor is taken up by the kitchen, a screened-in porch in the rear, and a bathroom.

The Sigma Nu lot is on the northeast corner of the fraternity quadrangle, and a drive is soon to be built around the entire quadrangle, starting at the Kappa Sigma house and circling beyond the Sigma Nu house to University Boulevard. When this drive is completed, and the A. T. O.'s build their house facing University, Fraternity Row at Southwestern will be one of the beauty spots of the campus.

GERTRUDE STEIN MAY BE OUTDONE

(ACP) Lou Harrison, a former student at San Francisco State College, is experimenting with a new type of poetic expression. Realizing that verbs constitute the principal part of poetry, he bases his idea on the use of special verbs made from nouns.

Illustrations are "Road yourself," "look lakely," "love cliffly," and "hill yourself." The current expression "to sun yourself" is an example of Harrison's basic idea.

. . . The inmates of Stewart Hall sent a formal complaint against the dawn bull-session of Professors Lee and Caspari . . . More to come . . . Stay away from that Sigma Nu house, DeVall. Don't you know the school rule about morning hours. . . Even Mona can't keep up with Billy Mac's A.T.O. pin, much less can he. Is it on the campus? . . . J. Spence, you better leave J. Reid on the south side of the science building.
