

Warden, England, DeVall, Neal, Armstrong, Butler, Are Elected by Students

WIDESPREAD FIELD IN PRIMARY

More Than Three Hundred Votes Cast by Students; Each Of Winners Separated From Opponent by A Large Majority

Results of the fourth annual popularity contest sponsored by the Sou'wester are announced today. The elections were held under the direction of the Elections Commission, headed by Alfred Page. In both the primary held Monday and the finals held Tuesday, voting was heavier than it has been in previous years. Over 325 votes were cast in each election. Voting was scattered in the primary with around thirty nominees named for each office.

Carrying a large majority of votes in both the primary and finals, Nancy Warden defeated Elizabeth Cobb for the title of Miss Southwestern. In the first day's voting Mildred Poindexter and Rebecca Laughlin offered competition. Nancy is a senior, the secretary-treasurer of the Student Body and president of the Chi Omega sorority.

Bob Armstrong won the title of Most Popular Boy by defeating Johnny Watts in the run-off. Alfred Page and John Farley put up a good race in the primary. Bob is a senior, a member of O.D.K., and president of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Margaret England was voted Most Attractive Girl, winning over Rebecca Laughlin. Competition was presented by Nell Thompson and Letitia Montgomery in the first voting. Margaret is a junior transfer from Gulf Park and is a pledge of the Chi Omega sorority.

For the title of Best All-Round Boy, Woody Butler defeated Dunlap Cannon. The nearest competitor for the office on the first day was Thayer Houts. Woody is a senior, a member of O.D.K., and a past president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

The title of Most Stylish Girl went to Marjorie DeVall who won over Sally Harding. Both Ann Jeter and Letitia Montgomery received strong support in the primary. Marjorie is a sophomore, a member of Pi inter-sorority, and Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Piling up the largest number of votes received, Clois Neal was voted Most Handsome Boy, defeating Charlie Taylor. Harry Webb, Alfred Page, and Bob Lee also drew a number of votes in the preliminaries. Clois plays halfback on the football team, guard on the basketball team, and is a pledge of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

DRAMATIC GUILD AWARDED KEYS

Recognition Given to Eleven Members

The Proscenium Guild met Wednesday morning for the purpose of distributing keys of recognition to its members. This group is the successor to the old Theta Alpha Phi honorary dramatic fraternity which has become obsolete during the past few years.

The Proscenium Guild was organized last December for the purpose of "recognizing students of outstanding histrionic talent and to foster, encourage, and promote interest in the dramatic arts on the Southwestern campus."

Members of the group are Randall MacInnes, president; Marjorie DeVall, secretary; Nell Thompson, Thomas McLeone, Ben Lewis, Marion Keisker, Sam Mays, Steve Frazier, Henry Mobler, Herbert Bingham, and Prof. C. P. Lee.

The Southwestern Players will present "War Is Hell" on March 2 and 3, using members of the Proscenium Guild as backbone for the cast. The play is a nineteenth century melodrama centered around the Civil War.

Spring Footballers To Start Practice Monday

ODK SMOKER HELD INTERESTED MEN INVITED TO TRY TUESDAY NIGHT

Fraternity Sing is Feature of Program

Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary fraternity, entertained with its annual smoker last Tuesday evening. An unusual feature of the evening was a fraternity sing. Woody Butler presided and introduced the new professors: Caspari, De Sipio, and Lee. Dr. Baine made the introductory speech which concerned one of our faculty members who has been remade since taking the fatal step. Dr. Monk refused to make any comment on the matter. Following this the various fraternities sang their songs, Sigma Nu starting with "White Star of Sigma Nu," and "For He's a Sigma Nu"; S.A.E. sang "Violets," and "Sing Brother Sing"; K.A.'s followed with "Kappa Alpha Rose," and "Drink It Down Kappa Alpha"; the Kappa Sig's sang only one song, "Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean"; and likewise the Pi K.A.'s sang only one, "Pi K.A. Dream Girl." The non-frats had no song to offer, but Norman Shapiro made an appropriate toast. The A.T.O.'s rendered "A.T.O. Sweetheart" and "Song of A.T.O."

Tackle Posts Expected to Cause Trouble

Spring footballers will take to the gridiron Monday at 3 P.M. when a five week session in the finesse of the pigskin art will begin. Coach Clyde "Shorty" Propst said that equipment will be given out at that time.

Propst emphasized that he intended to work with any man who was willing to be serious in his desire to learn the fine points in the game. He stated that it made no difference to him whether the prospective player had had any experience or not. "I feel that quite a few boys would make good men. If they are willing to sacrifice just a little, then I'm willing to help and give them every opportunity to show what they have. They must be willing to play according to the rules, however," said Coach Propst. "I've no doubt that there is plenty of good football material that has as yet been untried; I'm willing to do my part if they will do theirs," Shorty Propst continued.

The first two weeks of training will be devoted to light work-outs and drills. Heavy work, scrimmage and regular games every Saturday will start then and continue for about three weeks.

Coach Propst is expecting trouble only in one department; the tackle posts left vacant by the graduation of Big Red Davis and Bob (I-almost-won) Lee. Bob Lee's little brother, Charles, from Goodman Junior College, is expected to fill capably one of those sore spots. Two other new Lynxmen available are Ed. French, a guard, also from Goodman; and Rex Wilson, whom Coach Propst thinks is a flashy back, from Arkansas Tech.

A slight modification of the system used last season will be given the acid test in the scrimmages. "But I don't intend to discard the old system," explained Shorty. "My only object is to get a few more open plays which will be possible with the new modification, if it works—and it will work all right; for Minnesota used it very successfully."

Coach Propst repeated at intervals that he thought there was much useful material on the campus which was going to waste, expressing his willingness again to work with such material in every way he could.

LYNX DEBATORS MEET SPRING HILL

Southwestern's debating team, under the direction of Professor C. P. Lee, met Spring Hill College Wednesday night at 7:45, in Hardy auditorium. The question argued was: "Resolved: That Congress Should Be Empowered to Fix Minimum Hours and Minimum Wages for Industry."

There were no judges and each speaker talked ten minutes. Southwestern's first speaker was Steve Frazier. W. J. Chiapella was second.

Coach J. H. Fishter, before bringing Spring Hill's team to Southwestern, had been to Macon, Georgia, and Atlanta. They are on a tour which will include Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Tennessee.

ATO-SAE VOLLEYBALL FINALISTS

The Alpha Tau Omega volleyball team defeated the non-fraternity team in intramural competition last Wednesday afternoon. The A.T.O.'s will play the S.A.E. team today to determine the winner of the intramural volleyball championship.

Intramural standings are as follows: K.S., S.N., K.A., S.A.E., A.T.O., Non-frats, and Pi K.A.

PROGNOSTICATOR'S PICKS PROVE POTENT

Bear with us, dear readers, while we get a stiff shoulder from patting ourselves on the back over our prognostications of last week about the elections results. If you can remember that far back—which you probably can't 'cause we had to re-read it ourselves—we predicted that Elizabeth Cobb and Nancy Warden would battle for Miss Southwestern, and that there was even "the possibility of a landslide" in Nancy's direction. We have to quote figures, but twenty-seven more votes and she'd have won the primary against no less than twenty-six opponents. The crowning nomination which practically had the undignified Elections Commission rolling in the aisles, tho, was a ballot with Oney Ellis named for the queen of our college. And don't think he wasn't enthusiastically nominated for some of our other feminine offices as well. We also predicted that Bob Armstrong had as good a chance as the next one for the title of Most Popular Boy, but we somehow overlooked Johnny Watts. Our humblest apologies, Johnny, and we'll know better next time. Oney came into his own for Most Popular, also, with Richard "Mamie" Parker, Red Davis, and Abe Pletchnow getting a vote apiece. Our statement that the two old hands in this popularity business, England and Laughlin, would fight it out for Most Attractive Girl also hit the nail on the head. That gal Margaret really goes to have so recently appeared on the campus. Miss Charlie Taylor was also in the running with one vote to her credit. For Best All-Round Boy, may we say "nein-nein" with a decidedly nasal twang. The only other person we mentioned besides Woody Butler and Dunlap Cannon was Billy Lapsley, but then the A.T.O.'s had to decide between one or the other. Also considered quite all-around by a stray fellow student or so were Mr. "Brain-Trust" Herbert Cain and Murr'h Gattis, not to mention Henry Hammond who excels in debating and scientific experimentation as well as athletics. We hope you realize that we are pretty good when it comes to noticing these stylish co-eds as they truck across the campus. This wouldn't be so remarkable were this a male edition, but when the gals give each other a hand—that's something! Those named were Marjorie DeVall and Sally Harding, and also Ann Jeter and Letitia Montgomery who were very much in the picture.

Our heads are bowed in shame about Most Handsome Boy. We're still gasping in amazement over Charlie Taylor's getting in the run-off—even tho he's been called Miss Southwestern all these years. As for "Pretty Boy" Clois Neal, we've always wished he'd pay more attention to more gals—but about that time we must have been asleep. "Bull" Cain crashed through by running for a second title, and "Mamie" Parker, "Roughhouse" McLemore, and Cy Williams all scratched once. These elections are lots of fun but they're fast adding to our collection of gray hairs. We're glad they don't come more than a few times per year, though, so au revoir 'til we go to bat for the April Fool Carnival Court selections.

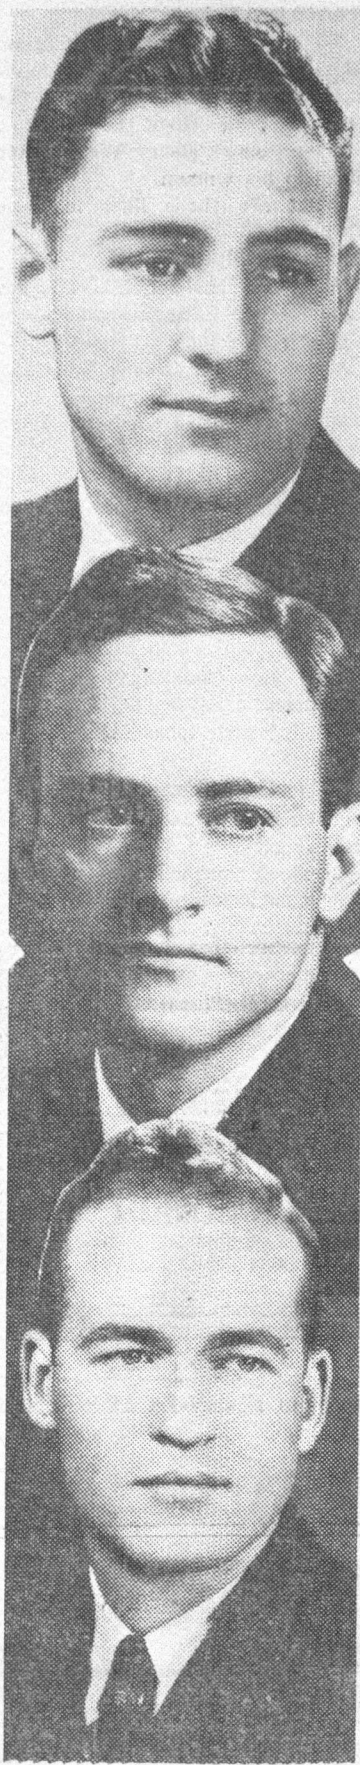

Bait

Oh, SISTER, dear, come closer, do,
And let me tell you a thing or two.

Since time first was—since the world began,
The prey of woman has been a man.
She'll work and scheme and plan and plot,
And sometimes she gets him—and sometimes not.
But, sister, on this you can always bank;
If you've tried and failed, you've yourself to thank.
You can blame your stars and rail at Fate
But the fault was yours—and your kind of bait.
Now a man is a male; and the male, you know,
Has always thought he's the whole blamed show.
He wants to think that he stands alone,
That brains and sense are his very own.
He doesn't like women to poach around
On what he regards as his sacred ground.
They can smile and be pretty and sweet and all that,
But they mustn't possess the brains of a gnat;
Because if they do, they'll quickly see
How vain is his boast of supremacy.
They'd see that he wasn't the whole darn show,
So he falls for the woman who doesn't know!
A man may admire a woman with brains
And sense enough to come in when it rains,
But he falls for the one with the curly hair
And the great big, blue-eyed, baby stare.
The woman who does things he thinks is fine—
But he marries the helpless clinging vine.
And the wise virgin will bait her hook
With that "aren't-you-simply-wonderful" look.
Who "loves his strength" and "adores his skill",
Who confesses to having no mind or will,
Who clings to and leans on the masterful male
Is the one who has never been known to fail.

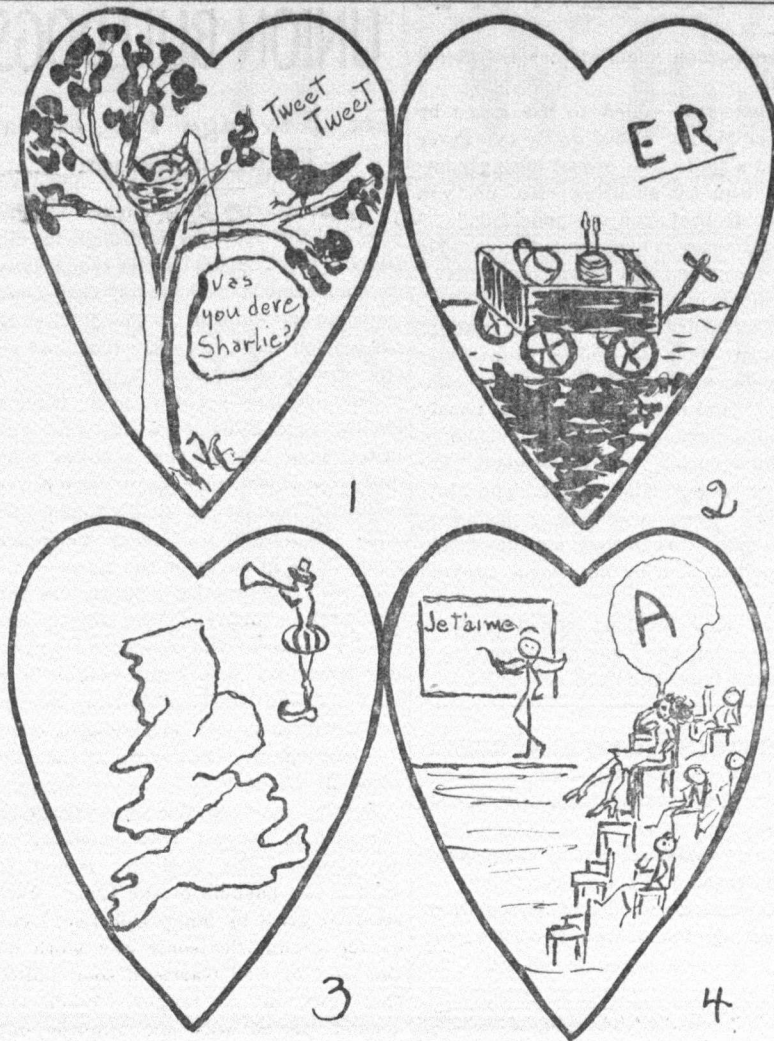

Oh, sister, these things are so,
I've landed my fish—and you bet I know!

"The Voice of Experience"... the man with the million dollar throat insists on a light smoke

"My voice is my career. It has inspired more than five million people to confide in me their personal problems. During 25 years, first on the lecture platform and then on the air, I have never missed a single engagement because of my throat. I am a steady smoker, and because my throat and voice are vital to my career I insist upon a light smoke. In Luckies I find a light smoke plus the enjoyment of fine tobacco... and that's why Lucky Strikes have been my choice for 14 years."

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

"The Voice of Experience" verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". (EDITOR'S NOTE: A sports event as seen by a society editor.)

A recent event of great interest in the social and sports worlds alike was the basketball tilt last week between our own Lynx Cats and the Coca-Cola Bottlers. The game was an exciting fray between two evenly matched groups of very charming young men, with our dear boys winning by a score of 37 to 32.

The Lynx were clad in beautiful suits of cerise (cherry-colored to you who are not among the intelligentsia) velvet embroidered in black, carrying out the color scheme of their Alma Mater. Their opponents wore exquisite suits of emerald green satin fashioned along clinging lines, bearing the name Coca-Cola beautifully applied in white. Together they made a colorful spectacle as they skimmed gracefully hither and yon across the floor, before an enthralled and breathless audience.

It was indeed exciting to see the ease and delicacy with which the two teams tossed the ball into the awaiting basket. Gaylon Smith was especially outstanding on the Lynx team for the dainty manner in which he handled the ball. The work of Clois Neal as he skipped down the court was likewise enchanting. Among others who played a delightful game were Bob Lee, Billy Lapsley, and Mike Pepper.

Numbered among the opponents who were noticeable were Billy Hughes, the graceful captain, and Dennis Harrison.

The game was a close one with first one team in the lead and then the other. At the end of the first half the score was tied 14 to 14. In the final moments of play, however, the Lynx managed to squeeze out a few extra scores, being on the top side of the 37-32 score when the final whistle blew.

Between the halves a lace draped table was wheeled onto the floor and refreshments consisting of tea and dainty sandwiches were served. Toto

LYNX TRIM HOUSE OF DAVID; ARCHER LEADS SCORING 34-20

In one of the most exciting games of the season the Lynx were led to another triumph by their stalwart captain and center, "Bull-neck" Farley. The score was tied up until the third quarter, when Coach Frank Oliver Goodlett, better known as "Tarzan" from his college days, sent in "Speedy" Archer. He is one of the fastest and most accurate forwards of the Dixie Conference.

The Lynx squad gave an enthusiastic crowd a brilliant exhibition of fast pass-work. The passing attack of the H. of D. was broken up by the two shifty guards, P. S. Weaver and Sumerfield. But Sumerfield was fouled out by Referee J. T. Houts, for unnecessary roughness. The substitute was "Muscle-bound" Charles Barton, who kindly posed for the press before entering the game.

Archer's rapid scoring was backed by the looping shots of forward Harry Webb.

Humor was added to the game by Referee Houts, whose quick eye never missed a foul. The crowd jokingly imitated him by shouting "No, no, you cannot do that, you are pooching."

Moral support was given the capable first team by the "bench-warmers." The most pitiful of all was "Little" Red Davis, crying because he wanted to play, too. Consoling him was "Baby-Face" Hammond. In the excitement, "Sunken-chested" Tapp nearly caused a fight by rumping CV's thick jet black curls. "Bantam-weight" Ellis, "Curly-top" Mike Pepper, and "Little-Tex" Roth were busy bringing "meek" Bob Lee to from another fainting spell caused by his recent typhoid shots.

After this brilliant showing, it is rumored that the Lynx are expecting a challenge from the Celtics.

Houts and Carl Roth presided over the tea services. The former wore an evening model of vivid blue with splashes of yellow, and Mr. Roth was clad in a charming pink net model, fashioned along flowing lines.

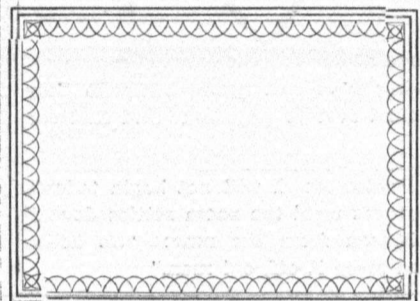

Among the socialites glimpsed chatting with one another during the evening were: Margaret Jones, wearing an orange knit number; Elizabeth Henning in luggage tan; Rosa Landess, looking sweet in green and white; Ben Ellis in brown suede; Charlie Taylor in a becoming black jacket, wondering who the blond was that Chester Carden was escorting; Frances Weaver wearing a bright red hat; Margaret Thomas, Dot Robinson, Lucille Coleman, Kate Scott Patterson, and Mary Carrick representing Evergreen Hall.

LYNXCATS TOP UNION BULLDOGS

Get Revenge For Defeat Earlier in Season

Southwestern's Lynx turned the tables on the Howard Bulldogs in the Lynx gym Tuesday night when they packed away a well played basketball game to the tune of 35-23. Earlier in the season the Lynx were trounced by the same Bulldog team 50-19.

An overflow crowd saw Gaylon Smith, star Lynx forward, sink the initial goal after a few minutes play and from then on the Lynx were never seriously threatened except once just after the second half when the score stood 22-18 in favor of the Lynx.

During the first half, Smith was the outstanding man on the floor. He scored eight of the Lynx's 21 points. Red Garrison was right behind him with six, and Bill Lapsley sank one or two beauties as well as playing a great defensive game. The score at the half stood 21-12.

At the start of the second period Howard, it seemed, was intending to go places. The Bulldogs pulled to within two baskets of the Lynx. Two straight goals by lanky Bob Lee, Lynx center, along with some nice work on the part of Red Garrison soon pulled the Lynx out of danger. When the second period was six minutes old, Norman Cooper, Bulldog forward, fouled out, helping to stop the Bulldog rally. With nine minutes to go, Red Garrison was called out due to a sprained ankle. He had been in the game long enough to tie for high-point honors with Bob Lee, however; both got ten points.

Smith, who seemed to be snake-bitten in the second half, for everything he threw, at the basket only hit the rim and bounced out, fouled out with four minutes to go, and Red Garrison went back into the game. Then Bob Lee was ordered out with four fouls with only 20 seconds to play. Levon Self went in but the ball was never tossed again.
